FROM WINONA LAKE, INDIANA

It has been my privilege to live in Winona Lake and see Grace College grow from the very beginning. I have associated with the young people who attend it and have listened to their discussion of its virtues and its faults, of the classes they attend and the professors who teach them. I have watched the lives of its students and have been deeply impressed by their love for the Lord and their growth in grace and the knowledge of His Word. Such daily observations as these have been used of the Lord to lead me in making my own choice of a school. I am enrolling at Grace.—Mary Bauman (No. 1 on front cover).

FROM LAKE ODESSA, MICHIGAN

There are many reasons why I chose to attend Grace College next fall. The most important, however, are the Spirit-filled and competent leaders it has, its spiritual environment because of its association with Grace Seminary, the practical experience I may receive, the fine academic training it offers, and the complete Bible training I can obtain along with the secular subjects which make up my college course.—Marlene Shoemaker (2).

FROM GREENSBURG, PENNSYLVANIA

We read in God's Word that He works in mysterious ways His wonders to perform. How true is the depth of this statement, when I ponder the events in my life since I became a Christian. Little did I realize three years ago, since Christ saved me and led me to the Greensburg Bible Institute, that after graduating He would direct me to Grace College.

God through His divine providence had led Bro. G. L. Lawlor, a graduate of Grace Theological Seminary, to the Greensburg Bible Institute, where he presently teaches English Bible and Greek. Being taught by the Holy Spirit through Brother Lawlor, God had revealed to me that the training he had received was of a high spiritual standard which produced a deep love, unwavering faith, and devotion to God's Word. These qualities constantly exalted Christ, the "Living Word."

In a short period of time these qualities were being incorporated in my Christian life through the Holy Spirit and, unaware at the time, God was showing me that the Grace College was the school of His choice for me. To Him I give all the praise and glory for His wonderful love, faithfulness, and His inexhaustible grace and mercy.—Nickolas Kurtaneck (3).

FROM WATERLOO, IOWA

I believe it was a calling from God that I have further Christian training after graduation. I know definitely now that it is God's will that I go to Grace College this fall. I know that the training received there will not only be of high academic value, but will strengthen my spiritual life.—Rozella Jean Lawrence (4).

FROM SALEM, OREGON

"Be prepared" is the modern password. Education is recognized as essential in all secular professions. I believe that a sound education is as necessary and beneficial to a Christian as it is to a businessman of the world. The tragedy is that all too few schools of higher education are spiritually fit even for attendance, and fewer still are capable of strengthening one's Christian life. But after considering a number of Christian colleges, I decided Grace College was one of the most fundamentally sound and still scholastically capable schools in our land. Therefore, I made application to Grace and urge others to meet me there in the fall.—Bill Hoff (5).

FROM WATERLOO, IOWA

This fall I will enter the college division of Grace Theological Seminary to study God's Word along with the subjects needed for my secular education in preparation for the full-time Christian ministry. I am going to Grace College because I know it to be a school devoted to the teaching of its subjects from the point of view which holds the Bible to be God's inspired Word to man. Here is a school fully sold on Jesus Christ, and I am looking forward to learning from its great faculty.—Bill Powell (6).

FROM MEYERSDALE, PENNSYLVANIA

I chose Grace College because I wanted to attend a school which is directed and taught by men of God. Grace College will give me the spiritual food I need and at the same time prepare me for my future life in His service.—Glenda Minnear (7).

FROM HAGERSTOWN, MARYLAND

Although I am not yet sure just what God has planned for me, I feel as though I should be in some type of service for my Lord. Since Grace College has the reputation of being one of the finest fundamental Christian schools in the country, I want to take advantage of this opportunity for training to serve Him.—Howard P. Stickler, Jr. (8).

FROM MILL VALLEY, CALIFORNIA

As the lack of good fundamental training among Christian workers today was the main reason why I felt called to serve, it was very necessary that I find a true fundamental college. After careful consideration and prayer, I decided that Grace College—part of one of the finest fundamental seminaries—was the school.—Jacques Crapuchettes (9).

FROM WILLIAMSPORT, MARYLAND

II Timothy 2:15 says, "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." I thank the Lord that He has led me to prepare for His service at Grace College, where the WHOLE BIBLE is taught.—Marvin E. Lowery (10).

GRACE SEMINARY NEEDS YOUR HELP

By Dr. James L. Boyer, Financial Secretary

It is characteristic of the Lord's dealings with His people that He always gives abundant cause for rejoicing and thanksgiving but never gives so much that we need not ask or depend on Him for more. This has been our experience at Grace Seminary through this past year.

One Year Ago

As you may recall, about a year ago our financial need had become so severe that we came to you with an urgent request for prayer and launched the dollar-a-month plan for regularly providing the needs of the school. The Lord has answered your prayers and richly blessed us with a very generous response to the dollar-a-month appeal, so that from then until now our every need has been taken care of. We ask you to join us in praise and thanksgiving for His unfailing goodness.

Our Present Situation

But past blessings will not suffice for the present. Again we must come to you with our need, and again solicit your prayers and your help. While your gifts throughout these past months have been very good, yet our expenses too have been high. This past month our expenses were the highest they have ever been. At the same time the income for the month of May dropped away down. Gifts were less than half what they were the month before, only one-third as much as two months ago, the lowest they have been since last fall when the dollar-a-month plan was getting started. The high expenses and low income combined to cut our operating balance dangerously low, so low in fact that we began the month of June with only about half enough to see us through the month. Of course, the offerings which come in this month will help out, but June is usually a rather poor month for seminary gifts. As you can see, we are facing a very serious need at the present time.

What Can We Do?

We can, first of all, pray about it. Perhaps we have all been guilty of neglecting prayer for the seminary because the Lord has been providing so well over the past months. In the time of need we call upon Him, then when He answers and provides we are prone to forget. Perhaps He lets the need arise again in order to prompt us to pray. The seminary needs more than money, it needs also spiritual guidance, grace, gifts. When we pray for the one we pray for the other also. When we stop praying for the one there is a danger that we stop praying for the other also. So please join us in prayer.

Then, we can all get behind the dollar-a-month plan with renewed purpose. It is impossible to tell what a help this plan has been to us this year, and we are expecting it to continue to maintain the support of the school. Right now, however, it seems to have been neglected a bit. Perhaps some of the churches have failed to send the money in promptly. May we urge you to send in immediately all money on hand for the seminary, to help us out in our need and to get it in so it will be included in this year's report. Our books will close July 31.

WHAT GRACE COLLEGE HAS MEANT TO ME

By Mary Ringler, Johnstown, Pa.

"And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose" (Rom. 8: 28). During the past two years at Grace College I have found this to be so. Whenever problems and trials have come into my life the Lord has been near to comfort and cheer.

There are many things for which I am thankful. First, for the teachers who have dedicated their lives fully and completely to the Lord and His service. Then for the instruction we receive in secular subjects and from God's Word and for the wonderful chapel services through which we are brought closer to our precious Saviour. Christian fellowship is another blessing which we will never be able to forget.

I am thankful for the Christians who have supported Grace College with their prayers and gifts. God bless you for your faithfulness.

I want to express my personal appreciation to the faculty and student body for their kindness shown to me at the time of my illness and bereavement. "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble" (Psa. 46:1).

Mary Ringler

The Chambersburg, Pa., Pond Bank church, pastored by Edward Clark, conducted special meetings May 25-31 under the leadership of Pastor Phillip J. Simmons, of Altoona. This church recently elected John W. Ritchey and Robert Cordell to the office of deacon.

Pastor Gerald Polman, York, Pa., trained the 197-voice choir for the York County Key to Life Crusade under the direction of Dr. Jesse Hendley and Rev. Stratton Shufelt.

The following address changes are effective as of July 1—

Pastor Lester Smitley to 855 Chestnut St., Parkersburg, W. Va. (Change Annual, p. 71.)

Pastor J. Ward Tressler, the new pastor of the Altoona, Pa., Grace church, to 225 Seventh Ave., Juniata, Altoona, Pa., tel. 9720. (Change Annual, p. 72.)

Pastor W. Russell Ogden to 1234 E. Bronson St., South Bend, Ind. (Change Annual, p. 70.)

Pastor Ward A. Miller, the new pastor of the Whittier, Calif., Community Brethren Church, to 8100 S. Vicki Dr., Whittier, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 70.)

If you are a normal Christian, you have undoubtedly thought much about your own church as to its growth and progress. In many churches progress seems slow and difficult. Many churches need a revival, but no real reviving ever seems to come no matter who the pastor is or who is called as the evangelist. And so the question goes up in churches all across the land: "Why is there so little progress in our church?"

It would be folly to suggest that there is one complete, all-sufficient answer to the difficulty. But in many instances there is positive indication that the trouble lies in the fact that there are many stunted Christians in our congregations.

While in college I met a splendid young man who was a vocal student. He had already been approached by many of America's finest musical organizations with splendid offers. Everyone liked him, but all felt sorry for him. This man had many superiorities, but he had a left arm that never grew after he had sustained an injury while in junior high school. We felt sorry for him, for he was physically stunted.

There is much mental sickness and disease today. We all know of men and women old in years, and perhaps mature in body, who have minds equivalent to a 5- or 6-year-old. We look upon these mentally stunted and turn aside with tears in our eyes and say, "What a pity!"

Most of us are not stunted physically or mentally, and for this we can praise the good Lord. But, brethren, there are thousands in our churches who are spiritually stunted. And the tragedy is, there are only a few who realize this to be true and shed tears because of the situation. Many do not even care about this problem, for they are busy spending their time gossiping, backbiting, and slandering.

It is an undeniable fact that there is much spiritual stuntedness in every congregation. But we are interested in knowing why this is true. In order to really get at the root of the problem, we must trace the three major stages in the life of many Christians.

I. The Birth and Early Life of the Christian.

Every child that comes into this world is born by means of processes in nature which have been ordained by God. The written account in the Bible concerning the birth of Cain gives us a splendid example of this. "And Adam knew Eve his wife; and she conceived, and bare Cain" (Gen. 4:1). We can stop here just long enough to note with what ease and simplicity the truth concerning a great question is given. Parents will find it much easier to tell their inquisitive children the truth about human conception than a falsehood.

Another detail must be given about this physical birth which we could desire to leave out. Adam and Eve were sinners. And Genesis 5:3 states that Adam "begat a son in his own likeness, after his image." The image of the father had been marred with sin. And every child who comes into this world has a sinful nature.

Moving on with the story of the birth and early life of the Christian we see that all those who have been born physically need to be born a second time that they might have spiritual life. Jesus said to Nicodemus, "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (John 3:3). Here is the great line that divides the human race. Some live physically, but never live spiritually. The Christian has this new life and has come into a proper relationship with God. The young Christian is happy with the knowledge that although the first birth ends in death after threescore and ten years, the second birth gives assurance of spiritual life forever.

There is another important Biblical fact concerning the one who has just come to know Christ as Saviour. This new spiritual life is begun with a period of spiritual childhood. He is just an infant, and this should never be forgotten.

We know that he is to have the diet of a child. I Peter 2:2 says: "As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby." How difficult it is for the pastor to give a balanced diet to the congregation! There must be both milk and meat in each meal from the Word that all might grow in the grace and knowledge of our Saviour.

Information is also given to us about the intelligence of the babe in Christ. In child psychology we learn that a trained doctor can ascertain the intelligence of a baby only a few days after it has been born. This is also true of God's child. Jesus said, "I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes" (Matt. 11:25). How it thrills our hearts to see young Christians understanding great truths concerning God, sin, hell, and heaven that the wisest of this world cannot fathom.

We know certain details about the character of the young Christian. An infant is only interested in himself. He does not care if his mother or his aunt is holding him, and it makes little difference to him if he is at home or in Uncle John's mansion. But he is really interested in having enough food, and in being warm, and in having comfortable clothes. As the infant grows older he becomes more interested in others and in their desires. The same is true of the Christian. After he is born again there is usually much of self remaining. Paul said to the Corinthian Christians: "And I, brethren, could not speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ" (I Cor. 3:1). These Christians had been saved for some time, but they were carnal, or fleshly. They were not very spiritual as yet. Soon the child of God, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit and the teaching of the Word, begins to build a strong spiritual life. Then his attention begins to turn from self to Him.

Brethren, perhaps we who are older in the faith expect too much of young Christians. We did not see the truth about the separated life, tithing, the need for personal devotions, the moment we were saved. These things are accomplished in the life of the believer over a period of time and under the continued ministry of the Holy Spirit.

Last of all, let me remind you that the Bible has something to say as to the position of the new-born child of God in the congregation. He is now a member of the family of God and should be treated as such by all believers, no matter what his past life has been. But he should not be given an office in the church immediately although he is a member of the church. Those who would hold any elective or appointive office in the church should "first be proved" (I Tim. 3:8-10). Many times we adopt this unspiritual philosophy: "Give him a job so that he will be faithful and interested in the work." That is not God's method. God says, "Prove him first, then give him a job." This period of observing the infant believer often reveals those who are merely professors, and not possessors.

Our discussion to this point has been of the birth and early life of the Christian. A man is born the first time through natural processes, and then finds Christ as Saviour and is born again spiritually. He enters upon this new spiritual life as a child, having the diet, intelligence, character, and position of a child. Let us move on to the second stage.

II. The Development of a Christian.

All of us like to watch babies as they go through the various interesting and amusing stages of life. You have heard many mothers say, "Oh, if he would only stay a baby a little longer!" But there is not a mother alive who would want to carry around an infant who has remained such year after year. The mother loves to see the growth and development, and if it is not apparent, the baby will be taken to a doctor. How much more true is this of the spiritual realm. God wants His children to grow and develop in every way.

There are three instruments bringing about Christian growth. The first of these is the Word of God. The human baby drinks milk for a time, but then goes on to a diet of solid food. The Word of God is spiritual food for believers in all stages. It would have to be so. Peter was told by Christ to feed both the lambs and the sheep. He had no food to give them but the Word. The lambs need milk, speaking of the fundamental truths of the faith which need to be understood. The

ON PRAYER-MEETING NIGHT

'Twas a prayer-meeting night,
And God's house was alight;
The preacher and God met in prayer.
'Twas a sweet time indeed
For the preacher to feed
On the blessings which God gave him there.

But the serious fact
Was the terrible lack
Of the children of God who weren't there;
Satisfied with one's self
With a home and some wealth,
They forgot when the time came for prayer.

When to heaven they came Through the Lord Jesus' name,
All received due reward for their acts;
Some were greatly surprised
At their former disguise
When the Lord revealed all of the facts.

To the prayerless He said:
"Faith without works is dead;
You are saved, yet so as through the fire!"
To the preacher said He:
"Faithful were you to Me;
Enter thou to thy restful desire!"

Now, on prayer-meeting night,
When God's house is alight,
May all children of God meet in prayer;
'Tis a sweet time indeed
For the children to feed
On the blessings which God gives them there!

—Charles Bergerson.

sheep need stronger food. In Hebrews 5:11-14 we read that meat should be the diet of the growing Christian. Meat speaks of deeper truths to be learned in the Word. Certainly one who has known Christ for a moderate period of time should be feasting upon every great truth of the Bible.

The Holy Spirit is the second instrument bringing development to the young Christian. John tells us that the Spirit "will guide you into all truth." It is wonderful to observe men and women who have been taught by God's Spirit. At times men and women who have had very little formal education are able to confound more intelligent and learned fellow believers simply because they have been taught by the great Teacher. If we are to attain "unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ," it will be because of the growth in spiritual things which the Holy Spirit brings.

None of us should overlook the fact that a third important instrument in bringing Christian growth is the church. The local church is the place in which the young Christian finds encouragement. Hebrews 10:25 reminds us that we should not forsake "the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another; and so much the more, as we see the day approaching." The word "exhorting" means literally to encourage. That is one great function of the church on behalf of the believer.

The young believer also finds in the church a place to exercise his faith and works in Christ. There is not a Christian who has not been given some gift by God. It is our divinely appointed obligation to find our gift and then to exercise it in the work of the Lord.

Not only are there instruments bringing growth and development to the Christian, but there are outward manifestations of this growth. There is tangible evidence of this in the realm of words and deeds.

Those who are growing in His grace and knowledge have a word of praise for the Saviour. Psalms 33:1 says: "Rejoice in the Lord, O ye upright: for praise is comely for the upright." If you love your relatives or neighbors you praise them to others. But did you ever see a man who hated his neighbor praise him to another? Men who are out of fellowship do not praise each other. Do you praise God? If not, perhaps it is because you are not in fellowship with Him.

The Christian who is progressing in the faith shows this in his deeds. The glory of God should be the chief end of every work of God's child. "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God" (I Cor. 10:31). One who is saved is also continually engaged in doing those things which Christ has commanded. Our Lord says to us, "If ye love me, keep my commandments."

To review for a moment, we have seen that the man who has come to know Christ as Saviour should show genuine progress and development in the spiritual life. This spiritual growth should never cease until the death of God's child, or the second coming of Christ for him.

III. The Stunting of a Christian.

All too many times we see believers progress to a certain point in their Christian life, but they never seem to go a step farther with the Lord. Some of these even seem to experience a retrogression to a lower spiritual state than one formerly achieved. Our churches have many of these folk on their rolls. We can honestly say that these are stunted Christians. They are simply infants spiritually. We bemoan the fact that they seem to stay that way year after year.

Logically we should ask ourselves the question, "Why does this stunting take place?" Two outstanding reasons for this failure to develop spiritually seem reasonable. First of all, many Christians fail to reckon with sin in their lives. Some come to the place where they are convicted by God's Holy Spirit about smoking, their failure to tithe, or perhaps their indifference to the things of the Lord. It could be any sin in the life. But these people rebel and say no to God. Spiritual growth cannot take place until this is dealt with by the believer.

Another reason for stunting in some believers is because they have not been having enough to eat. They have not been taking in the proper amount of spiritual food and so they have spiritual malnutrition. The Lord sets at least four fine meals before us each week. There is Sunday school, the morning worship service, the evening service, and the prayer meeting. It is only when we partake of all these that we get all of the spiritual vitamins and minerals needed. There is another meal that each Christian needs every day, but this is eaten in his own home. This is the time of personal devotion, which should consist of reading the Word and praying to the Father. Alas, some just are not getting enough to eat and so they are stunted. There are members in your church who have had their names on the roll for 5, 10, or 20 years, and they have yet to come to their first prayer meeting. How many there are who only attend one service in God's house on Sunday! And we wonder why they do not grow! They are just plain starving to death spiritually.

Brethren, let's stop right now for a moment and examine our own hearts and lives. Ask yourself, "How long have I been a Christian?" Some will answer a year, while others will have to say 10 or 20 years. Now ask yourself another question. "How far have I progressed spiritually?" You remember well the day you claimed Christ as your Lord. You took Him then as your companion and have been walking with Him ever since. But how far have you let Him lead you? Perhaps you have come to the place of reckoning with sin in your life, and you have re-

NAVAHO MISSION NEEDS MEN

A new mission home is being built at the Brethren Navaho Mission and there is an urgent need for an electrician, a plumber, and experienced carpenters. Do you have any of these talents? Could you donate some time? Write Rev. Evan Adams, Brethren Navaho Mission, Cuba, N. Mex.

belled and have allowed Him to lead you no farther. Some have been so careless about their spiritual diet that they have just had to sit down, not having the spiritual energy to walk another step. Resolve now to be more faithful to the house of the Lord, that you might be strengthened.

We admire men who are mature physically and mentally. God desires that we become mature and strong spiritually. Right now why not decide in your heart that you are not going to be a stunted Christian another day.

RADIO BIBLE CLASS EXPANDS

The Radio Bible Class, sponsored by Dr. M. R. DeHaan, is to be expanded on July 5, so that people not now hearing the program may be brought within the broadcasting range of the class.

Dr. DeHaan began his class 13 years ago over a local Grand Rapids, Mich., station. This small beginning has grown to where it now includes the entire Mutual network. Beginning July 5 the broadcasts may also be heard over many of the ABC network stations at 8 a. m. in each time zone.

WATKINS REPLACES CRYDERMAN

Rev. Stanley Watkins is to become pastor of the Winona Lake, Ind., Free Methodist Church on July 12, replacing Rev. Dale Cryderman, who resigned so he and his family could go to Japan as an evangelist under the direction of Youth for Christ.

For the past 2 years Mr. Watkins has served as promotional secretary for the general missionary board of his denomination, during which time he has resided at Winona Lake.

ALBERT L. LANTZ DIES AT FILLMORE

Rev. Albert L. Lantz died at Fillmore, Calif., June 6, 1953, after a long illness. He was 65 years of age.

The funeral service was held at the First Brethren Church of Fillmore June 10 by Dr. Charles H. Ashman, of South Pasadena, Calif. Pastor and Mrs. Leo Polman, of Temple City, Calif., and Mr. Maxwell Brenneman, of Huntington Beach, Calif., presented the music. Brethren Herbert Robinson, Bernard Scott, Ted Woods, Howard McDonauld, Harley Surret, and R. W. Kreiter, all of the Fillmore church, served as bearers. Interment was in a local cemetery.

Brother Lantz was born December 26, 1887, at Archbold, Ohio, the third oldest child of Rev. and Mrs. Eli Lantz. The father served as pastor of the large Defenseless Mennonite Church, near Berne, Ind., for 22 years. During this time a dozen missionaries and pastors went forth from that congregation, but his son, Albert, was not one of them. In fact, during those early days this son was considered the "black sheep of the family" by those who knew the family.

However, the prayers of the parents were answered and Albert finally yielded to the Lord Jesus Christ for salvation. He was baptized by his father and received into the Mennonite Church, where he became an active worker and teacher in the Sunday school. During these early days he managed his own hay baler with no success or joy. Next he bought a blacksmith and repair shop and learned that trade, but still he had no genuine peace of soul. While working in the shop his heart kept calling him to preach the Gospel.

Finally Albert Lantz yielded to the Spirit of God. Of this experience Mrs. Lantz wrote: "For several years, with a sore back and a heavy heart, he kept ringing the old anvil. God kept speaking to him. Then one night at the bedside of his 7½-year-old daughter, in agony the cry went out: 'Yes, Lord, I'll go where you want me to go, I'll be what you want me to be.' The next day the little one was transplanted into heaven and his life was transformed for service here on the earth. Indeed, 'old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new' (II Cor. 5:17)."

He entered Goshen College, a Mennonite school at Goshen, Ind., and took the Bible and music courses. For several years following, he taught music classes and did evangelistic singing. He was then licensed to preach in the Mennonite denomination and was for 4 years the pastor of a community church near Fort Wayne, Ind. He was also active in the rescue mission work in Fort Wayne. Then for 3½ years, with Mrs. Lantz, he worked in Fort Wayne at an orphanage sponsored by the Reformed Church.

Albert Lantz made his first contact with the Brethren Church at the Bethel Brethren Church of Berne, Ind. This church had engaged Dr. Louis S. Bauman for a 3-week evangelistic campaign and engaged Albert Lantz to be in charge of the music. During this meeting he learned of the denomination and could not put the things he learned from his mind. In August of 1927 he made public confession of his desire to unite with the Brethren Church and was baptized by Elder J. L.

CHARITY

Charity is God's own love,
An attitude of heart;
A nature deep within the soul
To hide the darker part.
It is to cover if we can
The weaknesses of all;
To lovingly reach out and help
Others when they fall.
The first impulse is not to judge
The erring one; but press
Our hand in his and lead him back To the path of righteousness.

—Leona D. Cole.

Kimmell at the Fort Wayne church. On September 27 of the same year he was ordained to the ministry in his new church home by Elders J. L. Kimmell, of Fort Wayne, and John Parr, of Berne.

His ministry in the Brethren denomination began in October 1927, when he accepted the call to become pastor of the Berlin, Pa., church, where he served for 3½ years. This pastorate he resigned to accept the pastorate at the Spokane, Wash., church, where he preached for more than 10 years. Then he went to the Conemaugh, Pa., church for 2½ years. On June 10, 1944, he began his pastoral duties at the Fillmore, Calif., church.

It was while serving this congregation that Brother Lantz was stricken with a severe illness that caused him much pain and discomfort during the last 5 years of his earthly pilgrimage. On March 27, 1949, after almost 5 years as pastor at Fillmore, he was compelled because of his health to resign from the church. Since that time he has been able to engage in no labor whatsoever.

In March of 1949 Mrs. Lantz passed the California State examination for nursing and secured a position at the California State Hospital at Camarillo. She continued in this position in order to support herself and her husband during those years of his enforced idleness.

Besides his widow, the former Neva Ann Agler, of Berne, Ind., Brother Lantz leaves among the survivors a daughter, Mrs. Mary Joe Cox, and a grandson, Glenn Cox, both of Glendale, Ariz. Four sisters are still living: Mrs. Harry Neuhauser, West Unity, Ohio; Mrs. Ed. Ougsburger, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Raymond Moser, Berne, Ind.; and Mrs. Ezra Mosesberger, Fort Wayne, Ind. Also a brother survives: Dennis Lantz, of Bluffton, Ind. Mrs. Lantz lives at 342 Sespe Ave., Fillmore, Calif.

The favorite Scripture passage of Brother Lantz were these words: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing" (II Tim. 4:7-8).

Everett, Pennsylvania

Greetings in His precious name from people and pastor of the Everett Grace Brethren Church.

We are still praising the Lord for our meeting here with Artist-Evangelist Ding Teuling during the first two weeks of May. Brother Teuling brought plain gospel messages, with good illustrations, and then painted a beautiful picture to drive the message home. We feel it was the first time hundreds had ever heard the Gospel.

We are grateful to the Lord for the way the people turned out for our services. The average attendance for our two-week meeting was about 170. The last night there were 341 present.

Many of these people are still coming to our services. There were outward decisions. We are not going to give the number, but we are waiting on the Lord to see what real decisions were made for Christ.

The town of Everett, which is very modernistic as far as religion goes, has made up its mind, we believe, that our little church is here to stay, and more are beginning to investigate us by attending our services, for which we praise the Lord.—Homer Lingenfelter, pastor.

More Victories for YRCA

We had another wonderful evening here at the Young Russian Christian Association Center June 7. When we announced that a returned missionary would show pictures of the Samaritans in Africa, we had no idea as to what the reaction would be, for, as we have stated before, the missionary idea is not popular among the Russian Molokan people.

Brother and Sister Albert Balzer, with Mrs. Balzer's parents, visited us and showed moving pictures and colored slides of Bill and his family. The auditorium was practically filled. How good it was to see Bill and Ruth looking so well, to see little Manya so happy, the good fruit, the nice home, etc. All these things were very important to the Russian elders who were there. They were content.

Then to show that they were pleased, they gave more than $75 to our plea to buy Bill and Ruth a large-print typewriter to use in translating a storybook.

Then we had chi (tea) and more than 100 stayed and enjoyed the fellowship that followed the evening service.

On June 9 we again bade farewell to another of our members. After the regular senior and college Bible classes, we had refreshments and an informal get-together and presented $50 to Vera Bukan to help with expenses as she leaves for Wycliffe.

Also it was a real thrill for me to attend the graduation exercises of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles and see two of our boys and one of our young girls graduate. We are sure the Lord will bless them as they serve Him in the field of service that He shall open to them.—Jack Green, director.

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (First)

We held special meetings at the First Brethren Church of Philadelphia May 17-24. Much prayer and advertising had preceded the campaign and the power of the Lord was evident in the very first service. Decisions were made in almost every service, there being 30 public decisions, of which 7 were first-time confessions.

Pastor John Aeby is a true yoke-fellow and greatly beloved by his church. Rev. John Neely was in charge of the music. It was a pleasure to work with these two men and with the people.

While in Philadelphia, Mrs. Lynn and I lived with Brother and Sister Maurice Hearn.

THESE ARE HERALD MONTHS

We are sure all members of the Brethren denomination are aware that the months of June and July are set aside in the calendar of the denomination for the interests of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company.

1. Pray for this company, a part of the work God has committed to the Brethren Church.

2. Help to secure new subscriptions to the Brethren Missionary Herald. Give a gift subscription to a relative or a friend, and help us reach the 8,000 goal.

3. Be sure your own church is on the 100-percent list. This means that the Brethren Missionary Herald is regularly going into every home represented in the membership of the local church. The single subscription price is $2, but when the church is 100 percent the price is only $1.50 a subscription. Where can you do better in quality and quantity for so little money?

4. Give a generous offering for this work. A gift of $5 or more in a single gift entitles the giver to membership in the corporation for 1 year, provided he is also a member of the denomination. A gift of $100 or more entitles one to life membership.

Give through your local church treasury. Envelopes are not being provided by the company since most of the churches are now using envelopes with provisions already made for special offerings, such as for the Brethren Missionary Herald Company.

Since this is the only publishing company in the Brethren Church every member of the denomination should join in its support.

REV. ELMER SACHS TO TOUR HAWAII WITH CAPT. FUCHIDA

Rev. Elmer B. Sachs, founder and director of the Sky Pilots of America, plans to go to Hawaii to preach the Gospel. He expects to leave June 30 and spend 30 days in the Hawaiian Islands.

Rev. Elmer Sachs

Brother Sachs will be accompanied by Captain Fuchida, a Japanese Christian who has traveled more than 30,000 miles throughout the United States with him. He is the man who led the Japanese air attack on Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941. Since that time he has come to know the Lord Jesus Christ as his own personal Saviour. Now for the first time since that December day he is going to Hawaii, but this time he is going with the Gospel and not with guns, with the blessings of God and not with the bombs of the enemy.

In addition to preaching the Gospel, the men expect to organize units of the Sky Pilots of America in the islands.

Brother Sachs lives in San Jose, Calif., and is a member of the Second Brethren Church of Los Angeles.

Concerning his trip throughout the United States, Brother Sachs gave this testimony: "I am impressed with the increased activity in Christian circles of all denominations, and especially do I appreciate the wonderful growth I see in our own church [denomination]."

COST EXCEEDS TAXES

France has its troubles with alcoholics. Wine and liquor taxes bring France more than 150 million dollars a year. But according to the Institute of Demography it costs more than twice that much to look after alcoholics and their families. How long can we continue to aid France?

CAN I KNOW THAT I'M SAVED?

By Evangelist William Smith, Washington, D. C.

In the hearts of men today there is a definite longing for security. The question, "Can I know I'm saved?" is baffling thousands now, just as it has down through the years. The Bible declares that we can know how we stand before the presence of God.

First, there is a change that takes place in the Christian at conversion. "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (II Cor. 5:17). For an individual to experience such a distinct spiritual transition as passing from death unto life, there is sure to be an evidence of a change.

Second, the Holy Spirit dwells within the one who is saved. "Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit" (I John 4:13). Before we are saved, the spirit of the Devil dwells in our hearts; after we are born again a new spirit, the Spirit of God, dwells in our hearts. The old sinful spirit of antagonism against God and godly things is taken away and the Spirit of God is manifested in many ways: the desire to please God is stronger than the desire to serve sin; the Word of God is loved and appreciated; the fellowship of God's people is preferred.

Third, the Word of God declares that we can know that we are saved. "These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God" (I John 5:13). The Christian who bases his faith upon the truthfulness of the Word and trusts God unqualifiedly is the true disciple. The Bible, as God gave it, is the errorless, inspired, divine truth. Jesus Himself said, "Thy Word is truth," and His apostle echoes, "All Scripture is given by inspiration of God." The Bible, which changes men's lives and has remade nations, carries the testimony in itself that we can know that we are saved.

Thank God that in the Bible, in Christ's Gospel of grace, you have God's eternal truth. You can always rely on the Saviour's promises, for "all the promises of God in him are yea, and in him amen." "Heaven and earth shall pass away; but my words shall not pass away." When you entrust yourself to Christ for eternity, you have found the Rock on which you can build an immovable and undying faith.

JUBILEE SINGERS IN ACCIDENT

Word has just been received at the office of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company telling of the serious automobile accident in which the Eureka Jubilee Singers were involved in Michigan on April 30.

Five of the party of six were injured, four seriously and one critically. The one hurt critically was Mr. Cross, the bass member of the group. The only member of the party to escape injury was the soprano. The future of the party depends upon the recovery of the injured members.

Mrs. Esther Gaskin Williams, manager of the party, wrote to Dr. Alva J. McClain requesting an interest for their welfare in the prayers of the members of the Brethren Church.

MISS ALFORS SUCCEEDS MCKEE

At an emergency meeting of the board of directors of the Winona Lake Christian Assembly on June 9, following the death of Dr. Arthur W. McKee, Miss Louise H. Alfors was elected executive secretary pro tem for the 1953 season of the Assembly. Miss Alfors has been associated with the Assembly and Dr. McKee for the past 15 years and is acquainted with the plans laid out for this year.

NEW DORMITORY FACILITIES FOR GRACE SEMINARY AND COLLEGE

The Motel

It is with genuine pleasure that we are able to make announcement concerning the new dormitory facilities which will be available in September for students of both the seminary and college divisions of Grace Theological Seminary. Through the kindness of the Winona Lake Christian Assembly the fine new motel units recently built on the island will serve as dormitories. Each room is equipped with high-quality modern furniture, including beds, chairs, desks, lamps, drapes, etc. Each unit has a large closet, and each has its own bathroom with private shower. The floors are of asphalt tile, and each unit will have its own independent heating system. One unit, beautifully furnished, will serve as a reception and recreation room. The dormitory arrangement consists of two separate series of units on either side of a large court. One of these will be used by men, and the other by the women. Each dormitory will be properly supervised.

Dining room facilities will also be provided by the Winona Lake Christian Assembly. A special room is being provided in the Eskimo Inn, and meals will be served family style. The best food possible has been assured us. All who have been in Winona Lake are familiar with the spaciousness and cozy atmosphere of the Eskimo Inn, with its soda fountain and other departments where students can obtain many of the items necessary for their comfort and pleasure.

Students planning to enroll (particularly single students) should contact the school immediately in order to have assurance of a room. For further information write to Dr. Homer A. Kent, Registrar, Winona Lake, Indiana.

EDITORIALY SPEAKING

By Russell D. Barnard

Editor, Foreign Mission Number

Thank You, Brethren

You have given the largest foreign mission offering in the history of the Brethren Church. We are not yet able to give a full report—between 20 and 25 churches have not yet reported as we write these editorials. The total of the Easter offering in 1952 was $159,600.58, while the Easter offering reported to date is $157,269.35. The total fiscal year offering for 1952 was $180,167.88, while the total offering for this fiscal year, as reported to date, is $184,446.65. The 20 or 25 churches yet to report will increase both the Easter offering and the fiscal year offering very considerably. We can only continue to ask that the increase will bring the total offering to $223,000, which we believe is the actual operational cost for this present year. This operational cost includes the 18 new missionaries sent to the field during this fiscal year in addition to all other expenses of our entire missionary program.

We so greatly appreciate this fine offering, and know it can be a reality only because of the fine and full co-operation of pastors and people alike. Pray now that your board of trustees will have the wisdom to use this greatest of all offerings to accomplish the very most for the Lord Jesus Christ.

Your Many Courtesies

Your general secretary and Mrs. Barnard have just completed a 12,000-mile trip in the interest of foreign missions. This trip in visitation among the west coast churches has duplicated former experiences throughout the United States, both in our own visitation and in the visitation by missionary families—that is, the great courtesy of our Brethren people and their tremendous interest in the work of foreign missions. In not one single church has there been anything but the very finest of cooperation. We can only say, "Thank you," personally and on behalf of foreign missions.

Help the Herald Company

During the months of June and July as Brethren people our minds turn toward the Brethren Missionary Herald Company. Those of that institution serve the Brethren Church with a uniquely valuable ministry.

Theirs is a missionary work in that they do the actual work of "getting the Gospel out" for all of us through the printed page. We urge that you remember the Herald Company in your prayers and with your gifts. We also suggest that you make the greatest possible use of this fine company by subscribing for the Brethren Missionary Herald for your friends and relatives who would be interested. That's missionary work!

Conference—Annual Meetings

The national conference and the annual meetings of all our Brethren corporations will come at the end of August. The Lord has signally blessed our fellowship of churches but the blessing has been only as we have rejoiced in being in the center of His will. Many blessings have been withheld, without doubt, because we have been willful rather than submissive. Pray much for those planning the conference and annual meetings, that the will of the Lord, revealed, will be the controlling motive in every action.

Our Sympathy Extended

We extend the sympathy of our society to Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Beaver, missionaries in French Equatorial Africa, in the passing at about 5:30 p. m. on June 2 of little Philip Ned. This dear little one, who was born on November 24, 1952, was ill only three days with a fever that was not alarming. He was known to be critically ill for only about one and one-half hours before his homegoing. Several of the native families at the Bible Institute, where Brother Beaver is the dean, lost little babies in recent weeks and were greatly discouraged. The fortitude and courage with which Brother and Sister Beaver have faced this sorrow in their own home have been a source of great encouragement to these native families.

We also extend sincere sympathy to Mrs. Curtis Morrill and family in the homegoing of Brother Morrill. As recorded in a recent issue of the Herald, he was accidentally killed by a falling tree on June 4, near Ashland, Ore. Brother and Sister Morrill served as missionaries with our Foreign Missionary Society in French Equatorial Africa for a period of years beginning in 1935. Brother Morrill pioneered the Bekoro Station and no small part of the success of that part of our field has been due to Brother Morrill's efforts.

By Miss Marybeth Munn, Beandje, Africa

"Daddy, won't you hear Jesus in your heart?" This is the way little Dea and Bealoum kept asking their unsaved father to believe. Their mother, Toutou, had given her heart to Christ and she had led each of her children to Him too. They continued to pray for their father, Lazarus, who was trying to forget his physical and spiritual wretchedness at the beer pot.

One day an older sister of Lazarus died, leaving a week-old baby. Since there was no one to care for such a tiny baby, and since they believed he had some kind of evil spirit which killed his mother, they decided to bury him with his mother. They had put the body of the mother in the grave and were just starting to lower the baby into the hole when Toutou ran out and snatched him. "Don't bury that child with his mother; I'll take care of him." Everyone was full of wonderment as they saw Toutou protecting the little one in her arms. They were full of warnings about the evil spirit in the child which would only bring bad luck to the family. Then too they scoffed at her as she had no tiny baby of her own—how would she feed him?

In spite of all these taunts, Toutou stood firm. She said, "The baby has no evil spirit. God will protect him and will supply milk for him!" And Toutou's God, our God, did do just that. He enabled Toutou to nurse the baby and He gave the whole family much joy, the greatest joy being the salvation of Lazarus.

Now they are with us at Beandje. Lazarus is our worst leper. Also Dea, the girl, and Bealoum, the 7-year-old, contracted leprosy from him before they came here. Lazarus is improving physically and growing spiritually. This past year he has learned to read the Bible and was recently baptized. The children are learning to read, too.

Pray for this Christian family. They are very poor in this world's goods, but they are happy because they realize the great riches they are enjoying through their Saviour, Christ Jesus.

Snatched From the Burning

By Miss Mary Cripe, Beandje, Africa

One night last March I was awakened from a sound sleep by someone knocking at the door. As I was getting up I could hear the screaming and crying which characterizes death in Africa. At the door stood one of my nurses and another man whom I recognized as one of the patients. They told me to come quickly to the hospital.

Our hospital ward was not yet finished, so all the patients had made themselves little grass houses. On this particular night everyone was sleeping soundly when the fire in one of the houses caught onto the grass mat used as a wall. The woman who was sleeping in the house awoke, grabbed her baby and took her outside where she thought she would be safe. But there were still all their earthly possessions in the house, so she dashed back in again. The rest of the village was awake by this time and two men came just in time to see the roof start to fall in. They snatched the woman from the burning house.

Some of the women came and started to take care of the woman's burns when suddenly someone noticed a charred body lying on the ground. Her baby! She thought she had the baby safe, but the big grass mat which is used as a door had fallen over on her and must have suffocated her at once, as she made no cry. By the time I reached the scene the mother was sitting on the ground, mourning as she held the charred body of the child in her arms.

One is reminded of the many people here who think they are safe. They are all right; they have never done anything bad. Or they are like a little boy in my class who, when asked, "Who is there that is righteous and has never sinned?" answered, "Only me." They do not realize that the day of judgment is coming. We must awaken in them the sense of their sin and point them to the Lord Jesus, who alone can save.

When we think of the narrow way in which the woman escaped death we are reminded of a verse of Scripture in Jude 23, "And others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire." There are many who are even now in the fire of Satan and his influences. Some may even seem so steeped in sin that they appear too far gone for anything to be done for them, but as we pray and give forth His Word which is the sword of the spirit, many of these will be snatched from the burning. Brethren, pray for us.

PAGANISM IN EUROPE

"Europe, once the center of world evangelization, has yielded its task to America," Dr. Bredahl Petersen, of Copenhagen, president of the European Baptist Federation, reported recently to the federation's congress in the Denmark capital.

"Atheism and materialism have swept over the majority of the people, leaving fully 75 percent of Europe's population pagan," he said. "And if Europe turns pagan, the whole world will feel the effect." Asserting that "the task is beyond the powers of state churchism," he urged Christians everywhere "to relight the fires of religion where the Gospel light has gone out."—Christian Victory.

DOUMBA'S FIRST PRAYER

By Mrs. William Samarin, M'Baiki, Africa

The rain dripped off the straw roof into muddy red puddles at Doumba's feet. He splashed his big toe in the water and watched it leave a red stain on his black skin. His mother glanced at him over her shoulder as she rhythmically pounded the white powdery manioc. It was not like Doumba to sit while his friends ran through the mud of the year's first rain. Ever since he had visited her brother's village he had acted strange. Three weeks he had been home and for three weeks he had been quiet and distant. This was a time for happiness. Tomorrow night was the Nganza dance and then her son would be a man. She, his mother, and his father would have to look about for a good wife. The price was high and it took time to pay.

Doumba read his mother's thoughts and he settled deeper in his gloom. Two moons ago he had gone to visit his uncle. The village was far and he had gone in the high spirit of adventure. His mother's people were different from those of his father's village. They were a tall people who lived in the north. He liked his uncle and his cousins who looked like himself.

Toward evening of the first day of his visit he heard a strange noise in the village. His cousin saw him look and explained, "That's a gong. The Christians are gathering for prayer." Doumba wondered if he heard right. He didn't know his cousin's language very well. "Christians"—"Prayer." But just then his aunt told them that there was food to eat. His uncle and his cousins seated themselves around a delicious mound of manioc. He joined them and soon forgot the strange words. Lying that night on his mat, the words, "Christians"—"Prayer," came again. Tomorrow he would ask what they meant.

The next morning he rose before the rooster crowed. It was still dark and he hit himself on his arms to get warm. His uncle called him to come and help with the nets and the spears. Dark figures appeared from other huts and murmured greetings. The men started in a group over the burnt plain. The day was full of familiar activity. The nets were placed, fires were started in the unburned grass, and men called and shouted as they chased the unseen prey toward the nets. A small wild pig rushed out of the grass and into the strong net. A small catch, indeed, but the men laughed and Doumba was glad he was to be a man.

As they came into the village refreshed from a bath in the river he heard the gong again. Everyone seemed busy about his work, so he wandered toward the sound. He found a grass-roofed building where people were gathering. He watched with interest as a young man began a song—such a strange song—all about a man named Jesus. They sang again and then they all shut their eyes and people talked to the man called Jesus. Doumba could not hear well from his position at the door, so he slipped to a seat on the nearest log. He'd never seen anything so strange since he saw his first truck lunging down the road past his village. The young man stood and told them some very strange things—so strange and new that Doumba could not quite understand. The young man sat down. Doumba stood and walked quickly to the house of his uncle.

His uncle smiled and said, "What do you think of them?" "Are they all Christians?" Doumba asked.

"The Christians don't dance to the drum."

Doumba

"Most of them," his uncle answered. "They do very strange things. They sing and pray and they don't dance to the drums. Mosamba was a very wicked woman but she became one of them, and now she walks very straight. A white man told them about this one called Jesus, and some of them learned to read His book. I have thought I would like to hear more, but they don't dance or drink beer, so I am afraid to listen too well. I like my beer."

Doumba listened to his uncle's words and shrugged his shoulders. He was tired from the hunt and all this was too new for him. That night he dreamed of a man called Jesus, of his uncle drinking beer, and of a tiny wild pig.

Doumba returned again to the little hut. The young man talked straight and his words seemed true. This God of the Christians sounded much kinder and stronger than the spirit his mother left grain for in a large iron pot at the edge of the grass. He wondered what it would be like to talk to this Jesus and to read His book.

The moon died and it would soon be time to return home. One evening Doumba asked his uncle where was the hut of the young man that taught the Christians. His uncle smiled, "Doumba," he said, "I am a weak old man. I have gone the way of the village for many years. My liver is soft and I don't find strength to follow the new way. But you are young—it is good if you talk to Noel, the young man who leads the Christians."

Noel was glad to have him sit by the fire. He patiently explained the affair of God. Had he, too, not found it hard to understand a God who loved him? Outside a dog howled and the village murmured with the quiet sound of night. But Doumba's heart was a tumult of new emotions as he strained to understand Noel's words.

The next day Doumba's uncle and his cousins gathered around him to say good-by. They gave him a chicken all neatly held in a strong grass basket. His aunt rolled manioc in green leaves for him to eat on the road. He searched the faces of the well-wishers until he found Noel. Noel came forward and quietly said, "We will pray for you, Doumba. God has spoken words to your heart. Listen to Him." Doumba turned toward home hardly aware of his uncle's farewell. Leaving here was like leaving the God he had heard about so recently.

His family was eager to hear of his visit. They clicked their tongues as Doumba told about Noel and the Christians. His heart wanted to tell them that he, too, wanted to love Jesus, but he suddenly became shy.

That night his mother told him that the Nganza dance was coming soon and he would be included this time. He smiled, for had he not waited many years to become a man? That night on his mat he dreamed again—"Nganza"—"I am too weak to leave the way of the village"—"The Christians don't dance to the drum"—"We'll be praying for you." These voices from the distant village raced and tumbled through his dreams.

Now three weeks had passed and tomorrow was the day. Already the old men of the village were making ready for the dance. Doumba poked at the muddy water listlessly. He wondered if the Christians remembered to pray for him. He wished he could read that book God had given to them. His heart ached and his throat hurt as he tried to control the tears he should not shed. "I want to leave the way of the village. I want this new Jesus way. I want the God who loves me. Oh, what shall I do? Oh, who will help me?"

Doumba roused from his gloom as a truck pulled off the road into the village. A tall thin white man stepped out of the truck and in his hand was a book just like Noel's. God had heard Doumba's first prayer.

(Editor's note—True incidents formed the basis for this fiction story by Mrs. Samarin. She also made the original drawings of Doumba and the drummer which are used to illustrate the story.)

"GO YE THEREFORE, AND DISCIPLE ALL NATIONS"

This great commission has never yet been realized. It contemplates a world-wide evangelization so complete that no nation nor tribe nor tongue shall be overlooked. It calls us to see that the unevangelized peoples are the first objects of our care, and never to rest until the glorious Gospel shall have been proclaimed in every tongue spoken by man, so that from every nation there shall be some representatives to herald the coming of the Son of Man.

The world will never be evangelized until every Christian recognizes his personal call. . . . We must give some answer. . . . This is the most solemn and searching word in the Bible on the subject of missions. It will meet each one of us on the judgment day.—A. B. Simpson.

India curtails evangelizing: India is making it even more difficult for its people to find salvation in Christ. Foreign missionaries working in India have been told officially they should not indulge in any conversion activities. This type of work would be limited to natives; foreigners in the 65 Roman Catholic and 50 Protestant missionary societies would be expected to do only educational, medical, philanthropic, rural, and "social uplift" work. Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru looks at it this way: Christian missionaries of Indian blood would be better equipped than foreigners to import a sense of Indian nationhood to these highly individualistic tribes as they propagate their faith.—The Alliance Weekly.

GREETINGS FROM THE ISLAND OF HAWAII

Foster Tresise

After having bid our loved ones and many friends on the mainland good-by, we boarded the plane for Honolulu on May 8 at 8:30 a. m., at the International Airport in Los Angeles.

With the beauties of the earth and our last vision of the mainland, we soon forgot ourselves and became enrapt with Him, with His handiwork, and with our privilege and responsibility.

This was a new experience for us and one that will long be remembered. God's earth, as seen from 10,000 feet in the air, is viewed with a different perspective from that on ground level. When so far removed, in some respects, it is easier, I believe, to behold His design and how "the firmament sheweth his handywork." As we drew near the Island, we saw anew and in a marvelous way how "the heavens declare the glory of God." It was a sight that not only thrilled our souls, but encouraged us as we remembered the mission we were on and realized again the faithfulness of God. We will never forget the sights that greeted our eyes as we drew near the Island and then flew by the cliffs along the ocean as we came into the airport.

Upon landing, we were greeted by a group of children and service personnel of Grace Chapel with the customary Hawaiian aloha. It was a warm welcome and, after having submitted to the customary bedocking of leis, we proceeded to take different pictures of the group and were made to feel right at home with them. In fact, we received and shared the welcome of the Joneses in their home on Ford Island for the first week we spent in Hawaii.

How the issues of life and the values of spiritual things were forcibly brought to our attention as we read the last two letters written by a marine who was reported killed in action. The Joneses had been privileged of God to point him the way of salvation, and he wrote thanking and praising God for the salvation and eternal life that had been made real to him, but he said, "As I lie here in the cold, I am constantly reminded of the things I should have done that I didn't do. But, I'm ready to go." Evidently God saw fit to seal his testimony with his blood.

There are at present, we believe, several families and a nucleus of several marines that really love the Lord, and who desire to go on to a deeper walk and talk with the Lord. It is with expectation that we look to the Lord and to the future and yield ourselves to Him in His service to be used to His glory.

We earnestly covet the prayers of God's children in behalf of the work on Red Hill (Honolulu), and for those whom God has called to carry on and extend the Gospel testimony here. We would pray for a native or resident personnel and workers that a lasting and permanent work may be established.—Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise.

Victor Meyers Family to Serve in Homeland

Brother and Sister Victor Meyers and family had planned to sail for Argentina on June 11. This was impossible and a later sailing date was set for July 9. During the winter, Dennis, the son, was ill with measles and following that time a low fever continued. It was not considered as other than very temporary, and so all preparations for sailing were completed. But with the passing of weeks the fever persisted and further medical care was secured. Medication, treatment, and bed rest did not care for the situation. Both our regular medical authority and a specialist were called into the case. The recommendation of the medical authority is that "it would be inadvisable to consider missionary appointment, certainly at the present time."

The uncertainty of the situation and the possible lengthy delay have been considered by the board of trustees of our society and by Brother and Sister Meyers, and there is mutual agreement that it will be better for Brother and Sister Meyers to "no longer think in terms of foreign missionary service in Argentina, but plan for service in the United States. All are keenly disappointed that this decision seems to be best but, since the Lord has not removed the cause of the illness to the present time, the decision seems advisable.

Our board of trustees most gladly recommends Brother and Sister Meyers for pastoral services in the homeland.

Pamela Lucinda Victor Dennis

They have exceptional talent and are well prepared. We bespeak for them a successful pastoral experience. For the immediate future they will be living in Pennsylvania and can be addressed—Rev. and Mrs. Victor Meyers, c/o Mrs. Elma Rogers, Route 1, Hollidaysburg, Pa.

If you could stand on your doorstep while the unevangelized millions of Europe—there are 400,000,000 of them—marched past you 1 at a time, 1 yard apart, at 4 miles an hour, you would have to stand there day and night, not eating or not sleeping for SIX YEARS AND A HALF.—Europe's Millions.

WITNESSING IN FRANCE

By Mrs. Martin Garber

(Editor's Note—Brother and Sister Martin Garber sailed for France in August 1952 for a time of language study before going on to their field of missionary service in French Equatorial Africa. During their stay in France they have lived at the European Bible Institute. This school has recently celebrated its first anniversary. According to present plans, the Garbers, along with the Lester Kennedy and Charles Taber families, should have arrived in Africa by the time you read this; they were due to leave France on June 30.)

The Lord has really blessed us since we have been here and we praise His name. Living out here at the Bible school has been wonderful; we so enjoy living around these young people. They make us feel like we were young again. Living here has given us many opportunities to go with the students on different meetings and to witness for our Lord and Saviour. Martin has sung duets with a French boy in different places here—first in a French church, then in a tent meeting, and now they have been asked to sing in another tent meeting coming up the last week in May and the first week in June. A couple of French pastors were out here yesterday seeing what the French students could do in helping in these meetings. They plan on renting a trombone for Martin to play in these meetings. Oh, pray that our lives may always tell for Jesus, that we may be witnesses for Him no matter where we are. Oh, how these people over here in France need the Gospel! Pray that God may thrust forth servants for this needy field.

Last week God really blessed our hearts through these tent meetings. One of the teachers here at the Bible school held them. How these people's hearts were touched with the Gospel! Many of them were crying, "I have never heard this before."

Martin had the privilege of witnessing to a French soldier who was from North Africa; he was a Roman Catholic boy. He was open to the Gospel and the Lord saved him. Oh, how it blessed our hearts to see him come to the Lord! Last night he came with his buddy to see Martin and hear more of God's Word. You should have seen his face—it looked like a Christmas tree all lit up. He eats up everything Martin shows him in God's Word and says, "More, more." He keeps telling Martin, "You are so kind to me to tell me all of this. All the answers to everything are right in this Bible." Ben, as he is called, has a sweet personality the Lord can really use. Pray for Ben, that he may always stay faithful to God and be a lighthouse to his buddies around him.

There are many more "Bens" ready to hear God's Word over here in France, but the laborers are few. France is an open field right now, but how long it will stay that way is a question. To see these people's faces when they come to Christ, and to hear them say, "You mean that is for me? He did that for me?" is worth any home or car or money anyone could give me. As the song goes, "A tent or a cottage, why should I care? They're building a palace for me over there!" Yes, Christ is building a palace over there for us and all of these friends we have won to the Lord here on earth.

Our Bro. Fred Fogle needs our prayers as he labors here in France to win many souls to Christ.

Soon we will be leaving for Africa to our chosen field where God has called us. We go not in our strength, but in God's strength that we may be used of Him to win many souls to Christ for His name's sake.

Martin has been taking the Navigator's course in French since we have been here. He started with it the last of March and has learned 36 verses. We pray that the Lord may even be able to use us among the French people in Africa as well as among the natives.

Pray for this Bible school here in Chatou, where they are training men and women from eight different countries.

The still form of a little boy lay in a coffin surrounded by mourning friends. A mason came into the room and asked to look at the lovely face. "You wonder that I care so much," he said, as the tears rolled down his cheeks, "but your boy was a messenger of God to me. One time I was coming down by a long ladder from a very high roof and found your little boy close behind me when I reached the ground. He looked up in my face with a childish wonder and asked frankly, 'Weren't you afraid of falling when you were up so high?' And before I had time to answer, he said: 'Ah, I know why you were not afraid—you had said your prayers this morning before you went to work.' I had not prayed, but I never forgot to pray from that day to this, and by God's blessing I never will."—The Alliance Weekly.

One of the greatest mistakes that a Christian can make is to imagine that increased social or spiritual activity can be any compensation for the lack of secret communion with God. A prayerful life is a powerful life, and a prayerless life is always a powerless life. If we cannot pray aright, we really can do nothing aright, but how slow we are to believe that.—Selected.

Rio Tercero, Argentina—

Bro. Jack Churchill, who has not been well and for whom prayer has been requested, is much improved, for which we praise the Lord. In a letter dated June 4 Brother Churchill gives encouraging word: "I am feeling much better than I have for some time. I am taking a series of shots designed to build me up and help me put on some weight. It is a little too soon to see if the result is going to be permanent, but for the present I feel much improved."

"Here in Rio Tercero we are still unable to go ahead with building our church building because we have not been able to secure a lot here in this part of town where the house is located. Once we have a lot on which we can go ahead and build, I believe we will be able to put up the building according to the new plan—that is, with funds and cooperation in the actual construction from the believers themselves. The tiles for the flooring have been promised us by believers who make them in Tancacha. Others in Almafuerte have promised to help in the actual construction. The Rio Cuarto congregation is giving a monthly offering to our building fund, and the folks right here are contributing to that also."

Elat, Africa—

Many inquiries have come to us concerning Brother and Sister C. B. Sheldon, who underwent surgery on May 27 at the American Presbyterian Hospital at Elat, Africa. We are happy to have news from the Sheldons themselves, written on June 9: "Well, this is the 13th day after our operations and we are getting along nicely, although still sore and kind of stiff. But we praise the Lord for undertaking for us and that there were no complications."

"Dr. Boulla, the head native doctor here, did the operations, assisted by a mission doctor and several white nurses. So we had lots of care. This Dr. Boulla has been with the mission for 40 years and he really knows how to operate and he takes so much of the responsibility of the surgery. Everybody has been so kind to us here. Marybeth Munn is with us and is caring for us; she has been so capable and nice, even though her duties have been very heavy with the nursing and cooking."

"We have appreciated all the prayers of the Christian people, black and white, that have been ascending for us during this time. We have received several letters from those in the homeland and from missionaries on the field since we have had surgery, and they were such a blessing. It will be 10 or 12 days yet before we will be able to travel."

Icoraci, Brazil—

On June 10 Bro. Jack Zielasko wrote from Brazil: "A week ago Sunday night a man of about 40 accepted Christ as Saviour. He was in prayer meeting this week and also at the Sunday night service. He seems to be interested and an earnest Christian and we hope he remains so. Last Sunday night two women accepted Christ, and Thursday night at Agulha a young man accepted the Lord. However, he had drink in him and he may have wanted to attract attention."

"We had the generator at the Thursday night service and used the loudspeaker to broadcast the songs and message. It was a Catholic holiday—'Corpo de Cristo.' During our service a candle procession passed our chapel just at the time some of our folks were saying Bible verses over the loudspeaker. We didn't know they were coming nor had we planned the service, but just as they were passing the door chanting 'Ave Maria,' one of the young boys was quoting Romans 10:9."

Bossembele, Africa—

A recent letter from Bro. Bob Hill gives cause for rejoicing. "The rains are now coming down and everything is a beautiful green. The gardens are in and the natives are back in their villages. Our attendance has been over 600, but the believers said that they would try to have over 1,000 next Sunday. I will bring down my tape recorder as an attraction and play back a sermon by Voloungou (pastor at Bossembele). They certainly enjoy it. I have been using it on the road with great success. I have several Gbanu sermons by Voloungou with some singing and Scripture verses. The people are amazed."

"At a recent baptismal service 23 were baptized, and there were 129 out for the last communion service."

"I had a very interesting talk with one of our Gbanu boys who just came back from Indochina. He was captured by the Communists for a while. He thinks the Communists are very good because they are trying to give the land back to the people. When I tried to explain to him that he was supposed to fight them, he said that all the African soldiers felt the same way about it. He claimed they didn't fight very hard. It makes you wonder."

France—

A very recent letter from Bro. Fred Fogle, dated June 1, reports as follows: "You will want to know about the meetings. The attendance in Caluire averaged about 19 each evening, and among those attending were Christians from the Baptist and Plymouth Brethren groups who came to help out; some gave testimonies. During the period of the four nights about 20 different people from the town came to the meetings, but few of them came back a second time. The best night was the last one, as far as attendance was concerned—there were 14 present but, as far as we know, Maurita and I were the only Christians. I was especially pleased that several attended that I had invited by personal visit. The last night there was a young man present who was interested and who said he would be interested in a Bible study.

"In Villeurbanne the attendance was better, but was comparatively worse in comparison to the number of souls living there. The average attendance was about 30 each night, but there were fewer helping Christians. The majority who came were from Villeurbanne and, in contrast to Caluire, the crowd was much the same—the same people coming each evening. I was happy about those who came and I had several good opportunities for witness."

La Carlota, Argentina—

The Lord is blessing the work at La Carlota as evidenced in the last letter from Bro. J. Paul Dowdy. "On the 18th of April we had a baptismal service here in Carlota in our new church (templo, we call it here). For some months a number of persons were waiting for baptism, but they wanted to be baptized in the baptistry of our church. Finally we were able to get it finished and ready for use. I installed our old water-heater for heating the water in the baptistry. This heater is the one we brought down in 1937, and it is not large but is just the thing for the purpose. There were four women, six girls, one boy, and one man baptized.

"A week after the baptismal service we had our communion service—the first to be held in our new church. The work of preparation was most all taken care of by the members. We had very little to do. Besides the seven out-of-town students who were present, there were 21 Carlota people there—a total of 28. Only one Carlota member was absent. We felt that it was a really spiritual communion. Since that time our attendance at all meetings has been much better, and there seems to be a real desire to win souls.

"Here at the institute we are busy and have all of the students busy. Two of the boys have been working with one of our church members in construction work. Also, the boys are studying a watch-repair course and getting some practice with the same member, who repairs watches and clocks. We have just bought a used sewing machine or, rather, parts of one. I have been making the table and the drawers and fixing it up in general. This is for the girl students. One of the girls has had a course in sewing and she plans to teach and help the other girls. Our students seem to be taking to the idea of learning to help support themselves." (The primary emphasis of the institute is teaching the Word of God. The vocational part, mentioned in this paragraph, has to do only with equipping the students for self-support as they go out to establish and work in the national churches.)

Bouca, Africa—

At the time you read this, Brother and Sister Roy Snyder will be on their way home from Africa for furlough. They expect to arrive in the States around July 8. "The time is going more quickly than we realize. In a very short time we'll be leaving Bouca for Bangui. We have been kept quite busy these past weeks with native conferences. Our last conference was the one here at Bouca. The interest was good and we believe that much was accomplished. The Hills came from Bossembele to be with us, and Mark Voloungou was also

LITTLE PHILIP NED BEAVER GOES HOME

We were all greatly shocked by the cablegram received from Africa on June 3 telling of the death of little Philip Ned Beaver, the first baby of missionary parents to die on the mission field in the history of the work of our society. Death came very unexpectedly at about 5:30 p. m. on June 2. Telling of this sad experience we quote sections of a letter sent by the Beavers to the grandparents, Mrs. Hope Wolfe, of Huntington Park, Calif., and Rev. and Mrs. R. S. Beaver, of Somerset, Ohio.

"His passing was so sudden that we never realized that he was seriously ill until the last hour and a half. He was sick only three days. He had a slight fever Sunday morning, but didn't seem to feel very bad. His fever continued through the next day, Monday, almost 104, but our babies have often run fever that high before. He slept quietly all Monday night, and seemed hungry in the morning. His fever was 102 Tuesday morning but went down to 101 in the course of the morning. Around 2:30 Wayne went into Bozoum on business. I was writing letters outside Philip's door. About 4 o'clock I heard him; sounded like sort of coughing. I ran in to him and found him in a convulsion. I ran quickly and got a tub of warm water and immersed him in it, and called for the boy to go for Wayne and the doctor. Well, the convulsion never stopped; it lasted one and one-half hours. Toward the end he gave a few cries with each respiration and then a shudder went through him and he was gone. The doctor tried coramine directly into the heart and artificial respiration, but he was gone.

"Naturally we had been praying every minute from the onset. We cried to the Lord to heal if that would be His will, but we always said, 'Thy will be done,' and it was His will to take him. So we gave him back to Him who gave him to us. I am so glad He gave Philip to us for a little; we will always thank Him for the few happy months we had together, and will be looking forward to our reunion in heaven; that will be forever.

"Little Philip's body was buried beside the chapel. The students dug the grave and have been so helpful in every way. We have planted moss roses over the little grave and want to fix a marker. Harold Dunning took care of all the details in a wonderful way. We pray that souls will be saved because of his passing. He was such a precious baby. May Christ be glorified, is our heart's cry."

For any who would want to encourage Brother and Sister Beaver, the address is: Rev. and Mrs. S. Wayne Beaver, Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.

here at that time. Last Sunday we had an attendance of 605, which is especially good for this time of the year. The villages seem deserted now as so many people have gone out in the bush to look for animals or search for honey.

"We are very much encouraged by our work in the native chapels. The work has shown much progress during the past year. The real need is here at Bouca itself, as there is much indifference. We praise the Lord for those that have remained faithful in all things. Last Sunday we made a tape recording of part of the service here and trust that it will be of some use while we are at home."

THERE CAN BE NO VACATION FROM PRAYING

THE HERALD—

Pray that the Brethren Missionary Herald Company will always be true to the Lord in serving in its place in the church.

HOME MISSIONS—

1. Praise God for the prayer revival in Modesto, Calif., and pray that it might continue bearing fruit, and that the Lord will enable this church to go self-supporting soon.

2. Pray for the Juniata, Altoona, church and pastor as Bro. Ward Tressler begins his ministry there, and pray for the former pastor, Bro. Phillip Simmons, as he goes to another field of service.

3. Pray for the physical need of Mrs. Sam Horney at Taos, N. Mex. There is an added burden upon these missionaries during the vacation period with DVBS and vacation travelers.

4. Pray for the completion of satisfactory building plans at Findlay, Ohio, and Roanoke, Va., and for the immediate need of financing these two new building programs.

5. Pray for Seattle, Wash., Parkersburg, W. Va., and Wheaton, Ill., where lots have been purchased recently for new church buildings, that finances may be obtained for building.

GRACE SEMINARY—

1. Praise God for the increased effectiveness of the school through the new four-year collegiate department, and pray that many young people may enter this collegiate division this fall.

2. Pray for Dr. Paul Bauman and the Grace Trumpeters as they travel over the Brotherhood during the summer months in behalf of the school.

3. Praise God for the faithful friends who have given to the seminary during the past year, and pray that many more may use the monthly offering plan, and that all may remain faithful in this service.

4. Pray very definitely for the funds needed for the expenses and upkeep of the school during the summer months. Let us pray in these funds.

FOREIGN MISSIONS—

1. Pray for the new missionaries: The John Zielasko and John Teeter families are in Brazil, studying Portuguese and taking part in the work. The Lester Kennedys, Martin Garbers, Charles Tabers, and Misses Edith Geske, Mary Ann Habegger, Gail Jones, and Marian Thurston have now arrived in Africa where they will have more language study and a period of adjustment before going to their respective stations. Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise are now in Honolulu on a self-supporting basis and are assuming full responsibility of the work there.

2. Pray for traveling missionaries: The Roy Snyders are due to arrive in the States on July 8 on furlough from Africa. The Hill Maconaghys expect to sail for Argentina on July 9 for another term of service. The Albert Balzers are expecting to return to Africa at the very end of August. The Walter Haags are completing a period of witnessing about 700 miles south of the international border in the Santa Rosalia area. The Roy Howards are planning for a month of witnessing and teaching south of the border. Missionaries on furlough are busy in camps, conferences, and church visitation.

3. Pray for the physical well-being of our entire missionary family: The C. B. Sheldons should now be back at Bellevue, Africa, following surgery. Mrs. Robert Williams expects to make a trip to the Camerouns, Africa, for dental surgery. Little Anne Goodman is recovering from surgery—pray especially that she may recover so that the Goodman family may soon return to Africa. Continue to pray for Bro. Jack Churchill in Argentina.

4. Pray for all of our fields of missionary endeavor: New trucks and automobiles are badly needed in Brazil and Argentina; pray that import licenses may be granted for such to these countries. Brother Zielasko reports serious disturbances in relation to the public services at Furo, Brazil. The national Argentine church is arranging to assume full responsibility for its own support and propagation. The missionaries in Africa will have added responsibilities in training the large group of new folks and in caring for work as others return on furlough. Funds are needed to send a second family to France. Pray for the Fogles as they seek to conserve all the blessings which have come from the two recent short revival meetings.

WMC (NORTHWEST DISTRICT)—

1. Pray that our ladies may show more interest in WMC and that new members may be added.

2. Pray that there might be more interest shown in the work among the Navaho Indians, both in prayer and material aid.

3. Pray that the Lord will bless the Bruce Buttons as they present the Gospel to the Jews in Los Angeles, and that many may be saved through their ministry.

4. Pray for the new work in Seattle that the Lord may lead in the purchase of lots in both north and south Seattle, and that we may have the joy of seeing two churches start within the year.

SMM—

1. Pray for the mission points in New Mexico and Kentucky, and for the young people helping in the summer work.

2. Pray that the memorization of Bible verses and other SMM material this year will be used in witnessing for Christ.

3. Pray that many girls will be able to attend the Sisterhood sessions at national conference. Continue to pray for those planning these sessions.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP—

1. Pray for our summer camps, and pray that those who make decisions will be able to keep them.

2. Pray that the young people who should be going to school this fall will be able to make the arrangements, and have the faith to launch out in His will for them.

3. Pray for the urgent financial needs of the Youth Council.

4. Pray for our BBC's which are operating through the summer, that they may be effective in reaching boys for Christ.

mother of Pastor John M. Aeby, of Philadelphia, Pa. She was born in Lagrange County, Ind., December 25, 1868, and married Milton E. Horner April 26, 1903. Funeral services were held in Warsaw under the direction of Pastor Herman W. Koontz, assisted by Dr. Russell D. Barnard. Burial was near Brighton, Ind.

Rev. Arthur F. Collins, South Bend, Ind., officiated at the wedding of his son, Arthur, Jr., to Evelyn M. Jarvis June 6 at the Clementon, N. J., Community Church, of which he was formerly pastor. On June 7 Brother Collins preached at East Berlin and Albion, both in New Jersey.

The Dallas Center, Iowa, church gave a unanimous call to its pastor, True L. Hunt, to serve it for his fifth year.

Verner Thomas, of the Uniontown, Pa., church, died recently.

Raymond E. Gingrich, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Gingrich, of Akron, Ohio, was married to Miss Carol Joy Smith June 13 at Dallas, Tex.

Dr. Raymond E. Gingrich preached at the Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, church May 24 and Bro. Kent Carnahan spoke there June 14, according to Pastor Richard L. Burch.

The La Crescenta, Calif., church, pastored by Robert L. Dell, honored the members of its group who graduated from any school with a banquet and special program.

The Jackson, Mich., church "voted June 21 to discontinue services and to dissolve the organization effective June 30, 1953. The pastor, Robert L. Bates, is available for pastoral service and may be contacted at 931 Whitney St., Jackson, Mich."

Mrs. Eula Chapel, of the Los Angeles, Calif., First church, died on June 2.

The Modesto, Calif., La Loma church, pastored by Harold D. Painter, had an enrollment of 152 and an average attendance of 127 in the daily vacation Bible school, with several children receiving Christ Jesus as Saviour. An offering of $29 was given for the Brethren Navaho Mission in New Mexico. This church more than doubled its foreign mission offering over last year.

The Hopewell, Pa., Yellow Creek church called its pastor, Sheldon W. Snyder, to continue for his sixth year. On June 20 the congregation gave a surprise celebration in honor of the Snyders' 35th wedding anniversary. The program was held in the Sherred Deshong home with 42 people present and useful gifts were presented to the Snyders. The young people, with Miss Betty Aurandt as the speaker, were in charge of the evening service June 28.

The Seattle, Wash., church, pastored by Thomas E. Hammers, was given a piano and songbooks by Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Lindblad. This new church gave $427 to foreign missions.

The new building of the Dayton, Ohio, Patterson Park church was used for the first time for services June 28, according to Pastor Caleb S. Zimmerman.

The Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church, according to Pastor Clyde G. Balyo, has begun work on building the Sunday school annex.

Brethren Carl E. Sisson and Paul Miller spoke at the Whittier, Calif., First church June 21 and 24 respectively, while Pastor Lewis C. Hohenstein was helping in the young people's camp.

Funeral services for Bro. John Hubbling, of the Whittier, Calif., First church, were held June 18.

Bro. Gene Klingler preached at the Ashland, Ohio, church June 14, according to Pastor Miles Taber.

The Seven Fountains, Va., church is being pastored during the summer months by Marion (Frank) Brill, member of the Winchester church and a student in Grace Seminary.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fiscus, of the Kittanning, Pa., First church, spent their vacation helping in the Brethren Spanish-American Mission in New Mexico. They gave a report of their experiences at the home church June 21. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd O. Smith, of the same church, according to Pastor Gordon W. Bracker, left June 20 for the same purpose.

Rev. Archer Baum, recent graduate of Grace Seminary, has been called to the pastorate at San Diego, Calif., and plans to leave Winona Lake, Ind., shortly to take up the work there.

LORD OF ALL SANCTIFICATION

By Rev. Dennis I. Holliday, Waynesboro, Pa.

Some individuals as well as religious organizations have set forth erroneous teachings concerning the Bible doctrine of sanctification. Some Bible-believing, Bible-teaching pastors have avoided preaching on the subject of sanctification, being afraid they would be classified with those who held to heretical views of sanctification. Because there are some who have taught heresy, let us not be afraid to study this important Bible doctrine.

I will use as my text I Thessalonians 4:3—"For this is the will of God, even your sanctification." If you were to enter into a flower garden you would want to enter by the gate, and follow many of the paths, that you might see and enjoy the beauty of the garden. We will enter upon the doctrine of sanctification using this passage as a gateway into this doctrine. Then we will go here and there in the Bible and investigate and study this important Bible doctrine.

We observe first of all in our text something concerning the will of God. The Bible reveals the will of God for every Christian. Sometimes we must give diligent study to the Word to determine what is the will of God concerning some things. Sometimes the will of God is revealed very clearly in the Word. Sanctification is a case where the will of God is clearly stated. "This is the will of God, even your sanctification." We will of necessity search the Scriptures to know what sanctification is. We want more than just to know what the Bible says about sanctification; we want to experience it also. Our text tells us that it is the will of God that every Christian experience sanctification. The will of God is said to be good, acceptable, and perfect. We need not be afraid of that which is good and perfect. Let us not shun the Bible teaching concerning sanctification. Let us study the Word of God to see what sanctification really is, then let us submit to it for our good and for His glory.

I. What Some Think Sanctification Is.

There are some folks today who believe that sanctification means the eradication of the Adamic nature. Therefore, when the Adamic nature is completely annihilated, then it is possible for one to attain unto sinless perfection in this life. So we will study the Word of God today, attempting to point out clearly that the word "sanctification" as used in the Bible does not mean the eradication of the Adamic nature, nor does it mean the attaining unto sinless perfection. I will point out that the word "sanctify" as used in the Bible means "to set apart for service for God."

II. How the Word "Sanctify" Is Used in the Bible.

Let us turn to Leviticus 8:10-12. As we look into verse 10 we will observe that an object is sanctified. "And Moses took the anointing oil, and anointed the tabernacle and all that was therein, and sanctified them." In verse 11, again, it is an object or several objects that are sanctified. Therefore the word "sanctify" could not possibly mean the eradication of the Adamic nature, nor could it mean attaining unto sinless perfection. "And he sprinkled thereof upon the altar seven times, and anointed the altar and all his vessels, both the laver and his foot, to sanctify them."

In the next verse we observe that a person is sanctified. That person is Aaron, Moses' brother. In these three verses we observe that it is not God who does the sanctifying, but rather a person, and that person is Moses. The popular idea of today that the word "sanctify" means to "make holy," is not the significance of the word as used here in Leviticus. The meaning of the word, as used here in this passage of Scripture, is "to set apart for service for God."

The word "sanctify" occurs many times in the Bible, and in every case it has the basic meaning—"to set apart." In almost every case it means "to set apart for service for God." I call your attention to a passage of Scripture in the New Testament, John 10:36. In this verse of Scripture we have the words of the Lord Jesus Himself. "Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest: because I said, I am the Son of God?" This verse tells us that the Father hath sanctified the Son. We immediately recognize that the word here cannot mean the eradication of the Adamic nature, for the Lord Jesus did not have an Adamic nature. The word "sanctify" here cannot possibly mean to attain unto sinless perfection, for the Lord Jesus was always sinless and perfect. The meaning of the word "sanctify" here is "to set apart for service for God."

Notice several things. (1) Every believer is completely sanctified before God as to position at the moment he believes on the Lord Jesus Christ. (2) Every believer is being sanctified every day of his life. That is, every Christian is being set apart more and more from sin unto God. (3) Every believer will experience complete sanctification at the time of his death or at the time of the rapture of the saints. At that time every believer will be completely set apart from the presence of sin unto God.

A story is told about a minister of the Gospel who was on the street of a certain city. On this street a Salvation Army street team was conducting a service. This minister stood nearby listening to the singing of gospel hymns and the testimonies by those of the Salvation Army. One young lady with the Salvation Army uniform on stepped over to the minister and said to him, "Are you sanctified?" His reply was, "I was sanctified; I am being sanctified; and I will be sanctified." Then he took a few minutes to explain to the Salvation Army lassie that every believer is sanctified or set apart for God at the time that one believes on the Lord Jesus Christ. He explained that every Christian is being set apart more and more from sin unto God every day of his life, and that every believer will be completely set apart from the presence of sin and separated completely unto God Himself at the time of that one's death or at the time of the rapture.

III. Completed Sanctification.

Every believer, whether young or old in the Lord, is sanctified. That one was instantaneously and completely sanctified, set apart for service for God at the moment that one trusted Christ as Saviour. Let us consider the Corinthian believers. The Corinthian Christians were gentiles, and many of them had been idolaters. I Corinthians 6:10-11 tells us that these Corinthians were sanctified. Verse 10: "Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God." This verse tells us that some of the Corinthian believers had been thieves, drunkards, and extortioners before they were saved.

Verse 11: "And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God." The Apostle Paul tells us that these Corinthian Christians were washed in the blood of the Lamb; they were sanctified; they were justified; all this instantaneously and completely at the time they accepted Jesus Christ as their Saviour. The basis for this sanctification is that a person must be "in Christ Jesus." I Corinthians 1:1-2 tells us that this epistle is written unto the church of God which is at Corinth, to them that are sanctified in Christ Jesus. Every Christian is sanctified because he is "in Christ Jesus." We are saved because of the precious shed blood of Christ on Calvary. Therefore Calvary is the basis of this past, complete sanctification. Every Christian, the moment he believes, is set apart in a special way as belonging to God; and therefore is said to be sanctified.

IV. Present, Progressive, Practical Sanctification.

We who are Christians are to become more and more like the Lord Jesus Christ day by day throughout this life. The Bible tells us that we are sanctified by the Word. Jesus said, "Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth" (John 17:17). The sanctification spoken of here is that day-by-day sanctification that every Christian should experience. Every Christian should be more and more set apart from sin unto the Lord Jesus Christ. Many artists have attempted to present us with a likeness of the Lord Jesus Christ on canvas. Many of these pictures of the Lord Jesus Christ are very good, yet not one is perfect. The only perfect picture we have of the Lord Jesus Christ is in the Bible. It is a word picture—it is a perfect picture. Every Christian should be like the blessed man spoken of in Psalms 1:2—"His delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night."

Every Christian should set his affections on the Lord Jesus. As we meditate on the Word, which gives us a picture of the Lord Jesus Christ, we become more and more like our Saviour. The Apostle Peter said, "Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example that ye should follow his steps." The Apostle Paul said, "Be ye followers of me, even as I also am of Christ." Every Christian should spend time studying the Word of God, for there we have a perfect picture of the Lord Jesus. As we behold Him, we are sanctified. II Corinthians 3:18—"But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory even as by the Spirit of the Lord."

This verse of Scripture tells us that as we behold the glory of the Lord we are changed into the same image. This is that present, progressive, practical sanctification that every Christian should experience.

Thus far we have considered that every Christian is set apart from sin unto God by the precious blood of Jesus Christ. Also we have observed that every Christian is being set apart more and more, day by day, as we behold Him in the Word of God. Now we will consider that future sanctification of which the Bible speaks.

V. Complete, Final Sanctification.

The Bible speaks of a complete sanctification for every Christian. This is yet future. I Thessalonians 5:23—"And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." This verse of Scripture speaks of the spirit, soul, and body, which refers to the complete person. This verse of Scripture tells us that God will accomplish this sanctification. This verse of Scripture also tells us when we will experience this sanctification. "At the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." This means that when we see the Lord Jesus face to face, we shall be completely sanctified, set apart from the presence of sin, and set apart completely unto God. This complete and final sanctification will be experienced by each Christian at death, if death occurs before the rapture of the saints. II Corinthians 5:8—Whether present or absent "we are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord." This verse speaks of a time when we shall be present with the Lord. We will experience this full and final sanctification when we are present with Him. Whether we meet Him by way of death or by way of the rapture, at that time we will be completely set apart from the presence of sin unto the Lord.

We have considered the Bible doctrine of sanctification, and have observed that the Bible teaches that every Christian has been sanctified, set apart by the precious blood of Christ. Everyone who has placed his trust in the Lord Jesus is said to be "in Christ," and therefore is set apart unto God.

We also observed that the Bible teaches that there is a present, practical, progressive sanctification that every Christian should be experiencing day by day as he meditates upon the Word, sets his affections on the Lord Jesus. As a Christian be-

OVERNIGHT CAMPOUT ENJOYED BY HARRISBURG BOYS

BBC AND SMM ALSO SHARE OUTING AT ECHO CAVE

Although it rained hard during the night, everybody slept warm and dry at a recent overnight campout of the Harrisburg, Pa., Brethren Boys Club. About a dozen boys and three men, including your youth director, pitched tents, shelter halves, and hammocks in the woods on a farm near the city, and roughed it. Each boy brought his own food and cooked it over an improvised fireplace.

Softball games, a campfire service, and the observation of 17-year locusts coming out of their shells and spreading their wings occupied most of the time not involved in eating and sleeping (and believe me, there wasn't much time involved in sleeping for most of the gang!).

A week or so later, the BBC invited the SMM to share an outing with them, and they had a weiner roast at India Echo Cave, near Hummelstown, Pa. After the weiner roast the group visited the cave. The girls reciprocated by challenging the boys to a softball game, which was to be played at a diamond near the church early this month.

ALUMNI CABINS PLANNED FOR BETHANY

A large enrollment is anticipated at Bethany Camp this year, August 24-31, and to encourage the older campers of college age and above to keep returning, one of the boys' cabins and part of the lakeside building are being set aside as "alumni cabins" and will be reserved for this age group.

Bethany registration cards are now in the hands of pastors, youth leaders, and some former campers, and early registration is urged. The total cost for the week for room, board, recreation, and insurance is only $20 a camper.

SEVEN FOUNTAINS YOUTH ORGANIZE

The Trinity Brethren Church at Seven Fountains, Va., recently organized their BYF and elected Tracy Ritenour president, Rosetta Coverstone vice president, Harriet Coverstone secretary, and Molly Sullivan treasurer. These four officers then became team captains and chose the rest of the BYF members to be on their respective teams. Then each team selected adult counselors. The teams take turns planning and putting on the weekly programs. The first meeting was a big success, with 22 young people and 6 adult counselors present.

Frank Brill, a Grace Seminary senior from Winchester, Va., will be helping in this work through the summer months, as the church does not have a regular pastor. Paul Dick, pastor at Winchester, has been holding services every other Saturday night at the church.

Tracy, California

The First Brethren Church and the First Baptist Church cooperated in an evangelistic-revival campaign for two weeks. The meetings during the first week were held at the Baptist church with Rev. Charles Garrett, of Reading, Pa., preaching, and during the second week at the Brethren church with Pastor Harold D. Painter, of Modesto, as the preacher. The Lord blessed and a wonderful attendance was maintained both weeks.

The mother-daughter banquet was a success with 60 people present.

The church purchased a new Hammond organ and installed it June 18.

Bro. Robert Cover preached here June 14 while the pastor was preaching at Chico, Calif.

We are thankful for all of our Lord's blessings and answers to prayer.—William Clough, pastor.

Clayton, Ohio

There was rejoicing in the hearts of the Clayton Brethren as the Lord led us in the first step of our building program. On June 7 the Grace Trumpeters ministered to a packed house in the morning service. Following the message by Dr. Paul Bauman, the congregation gathered outside to the rear of the church and a formal groundbreaking service was witnessed. The Grace Trumpeters rendered several additional numbers, Scripture was read by the pastor, and Dr. Bauman gave some words of exhortation to the members.

The first shovel of dirt was turned by Brother Shank, vice moderator of the church, chairman of the deacon board, and a member in the Brethren Church for many years. Brother Barton, the Sunday school superintendent, took his turn, followed by the rest of the members of the board of trustees.

Digging begins this third week in June and by the guidance of the Lord the actual construction of the Sunday school annex will follow. The Lord has been good, for which we praise His name.—Clair Brickel, pastor.

LORD OF ALL SANCTIFICATION

holds the glory of Christ in the Word, he is changed into the same image. Therefore Christians are sanctified by Christ as they behold Him in the Word. All Christians will be sanctified, set apart from the presence of sin at the time they see the Lord Jesus face to face. This sanctification is accomplished by the very presence of the Lord Jesus. Jesus Christ is Lord of all sanctification, whether it be past, present, or future sanctification.

Our Personal Responsibility

If there is one who reads this message who has not yet made his peace with God through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, that one has not yet experienced sanctification, not even past sanctification. The moment anyone places his faith in the Lord Jesus Christ for salvation, instantly that one has been sanctified once and for all. It is the duty of every Christian to read and obey the Word. As we read and obey the Word we are progressively set apart from sin unto God. This progressive sanctification continues throughout the lifetime of a Christian here on the earth. Every Christian should be looking for the soon return of our Lord Jesus Christ when we shall experience complete sanctification. God hasten that day. Our prayer, along with that of the Apostle John, should be: "Even so, come, Lord Jesus." Until the Lord Jesus calls us home by way of death or comes for His own, let us continually behold Him in the Word. "This is the will of God, even your sanctification."

SALVATION ARMY LEADER DIES

The national commander of the Salvation Army, Commissioner Ernest I. Pugmire, died suddenly of a heart attack June 24.

Pugmire, 65, was appointed head of the Salvation Army in the United States in 1944. He formerly was eastern territorial commander and had served in the Army for 46 years both in the United States, Canada, and in the Orient. He was a native of Kansas City, Mo.

The commissioner died as he was walking on the street to the Army's national offices. He was the son of the late Col. and Mrs. Joseph Pugmire, pioneer officers in the Salvation Army.

LETTER FROM MRS. BERTHA MORRILL

R. R. 1, Box 54,
Ashland, Oreg.

Dear Friends,

So many of you have written with loving and comforting messages of sympathy, wanting to know more details of the accident that was the Lord's means of promoting Curtis to glory.

The Lord had literally thrust him into a Bible-teaching ministry here, far beyond anything we had anticipated. Only his death has shown us a part of what was accomplished in such a short time. A Christian friend in the timber business was expecting to finance a trip for himself and Curtis to Panama the first of July. Curtis was planning to go there prepared to stay four months, which time he would spend learning the language of an Indian tribe which had asked for someone to teach them about the Lord. Then he expected to come home and work on the data he would have collected before making another trip. Since the accident, we have learned that other missionaries are there and I praise the Lord for the answer to the prayer burden that Curtis had carried for at least a year for that particular tribe. May others be raised up to reach the unevangelized world around.

As many of you know, Curtis was felling timber to finance the family until the Lord would raise up other means of financial support. He was happy in his work and both of us were conscious of the Lord's direction in our lives. He was working with Ernest Stover, a close friend and former deacon in our church in Harrah, Wash. He had just called to Ernest that it was about time to eat lunch; then Ernest became conscious of the fact that Curtis' saw had stopped running. After time enough had elapsed for Curtis to have the lunch buckets ready and he didn't again call him, Ernest became uneasy and went to where Curtis was working. There he found him breathing his last. Curtis had stepped aside to get out of the way of a tree which he had felled and had unknowingly stepped into the path of a dead tree which had become uprooted and, with no limbs to make any noise in the air, was slowly coming down upon him from behind. He never knew what had happened, for the tree hit him from behind, throwing him about 15 feet in the air. Many of his bones were broken so that he would have been a cripple had he lived. He did not suffer, and almost instantly went into the presence of the Lord whom he loved so much, by a freak accident that I'm told would happen only once in many thousand times.

My first word was that he was hurt and I went with a friend as far as the ambulance could go into the woods. Because of the condition of the road for the next four miles into where they were working we waited for an hour and a half or two hours before we were certain that he was dead. The Lord was so faithful in sustaining me. He gave me two promises: "In great faith will thy strength be," and "Stand still and see the salvation of the Lord." At the time I thought He was speaking to me for comfort in separation from Curtis and for the responsibility that lay ahead with the children.

Spiritual friends in the Bible classes he was teaching and in the church we were attending came to our comfort and support. Then came friends from over the years from Harrah and finally Curtis' family and one of my sisters, and friends from the Portland area.

From the testimony of others I think the funeral service was just as Curtis would have dictated—a time of spiritual comfort and an attempt to glorify the Lord. A young man, Dick Merriman, a graduate of Prairie Bible Institute, who has been working in the woods until the Lord opens the door for further training or for the mission field, had the funeral service, his first. Much to his relief and our joy Dr. David Schmidt and his wife came from Los Angeles when word reached them. Dick's message, I felt, was the contact for the Lord with local people, especially loggers, and Dr. Schmidt's coming was the "abundantly above" for the entire Morrill family. What a comfort his presence was to all of us. He has been a friend and spiritual adviser of the Morrills for many years. Their own son, a senior in high school, was killed by a bolt of lightning two years ago this summer, and Dr. Schmidt himself has been recovering from an illness of several months.

For the present Mother and Dad Morrill are with us, and Curtis' sister, Ethel, for a couple of weeks. I appreciate so much the many messages of sympathy and above all the prayers ascending on our behalf. I find that peace is mine through a moment-by-moment dependence upon the Lord. Half of my very existence is up in heaven, but I know that somehow the Lord will be glorified more by Curtis' death than by his life had he lived and somehow He will be glorified in our family life without our Daddy. How I praise Him for His grace and for the fact that we were expecting a separation of four months and were preparing for it.

Many times I have heard Curtis advise people to make no definite decisions immediately after a shock of this sort, so together the children and I are waiting upon the Lord to reveal His plan for our future. Please continue to pray for us.

In His care and keeping,
(Mrs.) Bertha Morrill.

IT'S A SCANDAL!

It happens right here! A scandal it would be, indeed, if your pastor were invited to your home for dinner and after eating his soup (the first course of the meal) would get up and go home. And you having worked so hard to prepare the best meal possible! S-A-Y! That is just what some people do on Sunday morning. They eat their first course in the Bible school class and before the next course is served in the worship hour, they get their hat and run on home or go someplace else—leaving the preacher to wonder what is wrong with the food. Yes, and much time has been spent to make the meal as appetizing as possible! IT MUST BE A TERRIBLE SCANDAL—IN HEAVEN!—From bulletin of Dayton, Ohio, First church.

The Los Angeles, Calif., First church elected Rev. Bruce Button as moderator for the next year and continued Howard Vulgamore as director of Christian education, including the Brethren day school. Pastor Glenn O'Neal led the congregation in dedicating its new bus in special services June 21.

Bro. William Wiles, member of the Hagerstown, Md., church and 1953 graduate from Grace Seminary, is serving as supply pastor of the Waynesboro, Pa., church, beginning June 24, while Pastor Dennis I. Hol-liday and family are on vacation.

The executive committee of national conference has set the following days of conference week (August 24-30) for the corporation meetings: Tuesday—Brethren Missionary Herald Company; Wednesday—Brethren Home Missions Council; Thursday—Grace Theological Seminary Corporation; Friday—Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church. The time allotted is 1:45-2:45 each day.

Bro. Cleve Miller, of the Waterloo, Iowa, church, was elected recently as the moderator for the coming year in the Iowa District.

Bro. Scott Weaver, recent graduate from Grace Theological Seminary, has resigned as pastor of the Sharpsville, Ind., church effective July 31 and has accepted the pastorate of the Osceola, Ind., church effective August 1.

Irwin I. Berkley's funeral was conducted by Dr. William A. Ogden at Johnstown, Pa., June 29.

Speakers at the South Gate, Calif., church June 28, while Pastor Alfred Dodds was in the young people's camp, were Chaplain E. Bateman, of the Los Angeles Juvenile Hall, and Truman Collins, of the local church.

Miss Floy Hoover, member of the Rittman, Ohio, church, for 13 years a worker at the Cleveland Hebrew Mission, and one-time secretary to Dr. Charles W. Mayes, then editor of the Brethren Missionary Herald, became the bride of Ralph Hill in a quiet home wedding at Wooster, Ohio, June 12. Pastor Clair Brickel, of Clayton, Ohio, brother-in-law of the bride, performed the ceremony. Floy has resigned her position with the mission and the couple are residing in Wooster.

Pastor James C. Beatty, of Los Angeles, Calif., Third church, received a Master of Arts in Theology degree from the California Baptist Seminary June 5.

Recent speakers at the Los Angeles, Calif., Third church were Rev. J. Keith Altig, first pastor of the church, June 14; Rev. Jerry Yerian, June 21; and Rev. Claude H. Pearson, June 28.

Dr. Charles W. Mayes, president of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church, received the following telegram April 20 (translated from Spanish): "The brethren of Argentina greet the brethren of the Brethren Church, and especially the members of the foreign missions board, on the occasion of being gathered together at the annual conference, where we enjoy all the blessings of the Lord; and we would be grateful for your prayers in behalf of the work in Argentina, which is faced with the problem of nationalizing its churches." Dr. Russell D. Barnard, general secretary, received a similar message but with this addition: "We trust that the Lord will permit your trip to Argentina to take place soon, and that before the next conference [Argentine conference] we might be able to see you among us." Both of these messages were signed by President Lynn D. Schrock and Secretary M. P. de Diedrich.

Rev. and Mrs. Jerry Yerian, of Los Angeles, Calif., are the parents of a son, Neal Alden, born June 8.

The Beaumont, Calif., church, according to Pastor Gene Farrell, had an average of 101 in the morning service, 73 in evening, and 134 in the Sunday school during May, and the offerings totaled $1,306.

The Uniontown, Pa., church, pastored by Clyde K. Landrum, had an enrollment of 168 pupils, with an average attendance of 138, in its vacation Bible school. There were 16 teachers. The offerings amounted to $126, and 37 children received Christ as Saviour.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, of Whittier, Calif., mother of Perry, Lawrence, and Jake Miller, of First church, died June 24.

The York, Pa., church, pastored by Gerald Polman, held its first vacation Bible school in June. The largest attendance was 24 and the average was 22. This church participated in the Key to Life crusade at the local fairgrounds June 7-21 under the leadership of Dr. Jesse Hendley. There were 320 confessions of faith in Christ.

Vernon W. Miller, of the Johnstown, Pa., First church, was killed in an airplane disaster in Japan in the middle of June.

Rev. Archie L. Lynn has moved to Ponce de Leon Hotel, Roanoke 17, Va. (Change Annual, p. 70.)

Missionary travels: On June 28 the four nurses—Edith Geske, Mary Ann Habegger, Gail Jones, and Marian Thurston—arrived at Bangui, Africa. Two hours after their arrival the Roy Snyders left by airplane for Paris, where they arrived June 29. On June 30 the Martin Garbers and the Lester Kennedys left Paris by plane for Africa.

Rev. Charles R. Taber has just completed the course of study in Paris, France, preparing him to become director of our Christian day schools in French in Africa, and has passed his examinations with highest honors. The baby daughter, Christine Anne, has been very ill, carrying a high fever, apparently from yellow-fever shots. She was in the Children's Hospital in Paris for 10 days, but is well now. Because they did not receive their visas the Tabers were unable to leave with the other missionaries for Africa.

Rev. and Mrs. Sibley Edmiston have located at Laredo, Tex., where they expect to work on a self-supporting basis, witnessing to the many Mexican people who cross the international border at this port of entry. Mail should be sent to them "General Delivery."

ISAIAH'S PROPHECY OF CHRIST'S RANSOM

By Rev. Ben Hamilton, Winona Lake, Ind.

Most people do not give a second thought to anything so common as water, yet voluminous studies on water have been compiled. Scientists know there are yet many facts to be uncovered about simple but complex water.

Also many Bible students take Isaiah 53 for granted. Numerous works have been written on that chapter. Yet all the careful scrutiny of this precious chapter has not exhausted all the wonderful promises found in this great prophecy of the Messiah who would come as the Servant of Jehovah.

Messiah's Offering and Christ's Ransom

How often the familiar words, "when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin" (Isa. 53:10) have been read without precise study of them. The same is true of Christ's assertion that He came "to give his life a ransom for many" (Matt. 20:28; Mark 10:45). Yet a careful consideration of Isaiah 53:10, Matthew 20:28, and Mark 10:45 together will show that Christ's ransom was a fulfillment of Messiah's offering.

Perhaps the link between Isaiah 53:10 and Matthew 20:28 seems obscure at first due to the inaccurate translation of the King James Version (an inaccuracy carried over into the Revised Standard Version). The American Standard Version has a footnote which shows that the Hebrew word translated "offering for sin" in the KJV is actually the word rendered "trespass-offering" in Leviticus and Ezekiel.

Significance of Christ's Ransom (Matt. 20:28)

When Christ said the Son of Man came to give His life a ransom for many, His words signified: (1) He would die on the cross to fulfill all that the Levitical sacrifices were intended to teach. (2) Christ's death would fulfill the one sacrifice intended to teach full redemption and restitution for sins that defraud God in His commandments and holy things. (3) When the Son of Man's life would be given as a ransom, the prophecy in Isaiah 53:10 ("when thou shalt make his soul" a trespass-offering) would be fulfilled.

Significance of the Trespass-Offering

The trespass-offering and sin-offering are not identical. When the Jews sinned in the holy things of God or violated His commandments, restitution had to be made by means of a trespass-offering, per the Mosaic law (Lev. 5:15-18; 6:2-5). Every time God's holy things and commandments were violated, the offender ceased being a trusted servant of God. He became a slave of sin who needed redemption by restitution—provided by a trespass-offering.

The sin-offering was to remove sin's stain and provide reconciliation (Lev. 16:20). The trespass-offering was to remove the guilt of stain and supply redemption. Bullocks, goats, lambs, or doves could be given as sin-offerings. With but one exception only rams without blemish could be given as a trespass-offering. Besides, in the case of the trespass-offering, restitution had to be made to the extent of full value of that obtained by fraud plus a fifth more of the value. (See Lev. 5:16; 6:5). Silver shekels also had to be given as part of the trespass-offering (Lev. 5:15). These shekels were symbolic of redemption.

Significance of Messiah's Trespass-Offering

Isaiah's prophecy of the trespass-offering of the Servant of Jehovah, or Messiah (Isa. 53:10), was made when the Jews were debasing the whole sacrificial system established by God. Isaiah 1:10-15 shows clearly the people sinned in the holy things and commandments of God, defrauding Him in what was due to God. Against a backdrop of such spiritual decay Isaiah's prophecy of the life of the Servant of the Lord being given as a trespass-offering showed that Messiah's sacrifice would be greater than all sacrifices listed in Isaiah 1.

In this light consider Christ's words in Matthew 20:28. Jesus offered Himself as the Servant of the Lord, for the Son of Man came to minister. How? By giving His life a ransom, by giving His life a trespass-offering as Isaiah said the Servant of the Lord would do (see Isa. 53:10 ASV).

Practical Values of Isaiah 53:10 and Matthew 20:28 Together

When Christ spoke the words of Matthew 20:28 the Jews' spiritual condition was like that shown in Isaiah 1:10-15. John 2:13-17 shows that sacrifices in the temple had become a calloused, cold, commercial course lacking in spiritual significance. Truly in Jesus' day the words of Isaiah would have been appropriate: "To what purpose is the multitude of your sacrifices unto me? saith the Lord: I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, and the fat of fed beasts; and I delight not in the blood of bullocks, or of lambs, or of he goats" (1:11).

When Jesus, the believer's High Priest, cried from the cross, "It is finished," the need for vain oblations ceased. Jesus Christ, Servant of Jehovah, gave His life as a trespass-offering, once for all, a ransom that alone provides full redemption and restitution, because—

"Jesus paid it all!

All to Him I owe,
Sin had made a crimson stain;
He washed it white as snow."

So no longer has the believer to offer a trespass-offering. None of the spiritual sacrifices (described in the imagery of Mosaic sacrifices) which Christians are to observe are mentioned in terms of sin- and trespass-offerings. For Christ's sin-offering and trespass-offering at the cross can avail.

"... AND KNOW THAT I AM GOD"

For centuries scientific views about the origin of the universe have been numerous and varied. The greatest scientists of other centuries, out of the best of their knowledge, have held ridiculous ideas which no one would consider today even for a moment. In recent generations the evolutionary hypothesis (guess) has occupied the thinking of great numbers of scientific leaders. Although it has been admitted that the evolutionary theory was only a theory, it has been taught as such a reasonable theory that many have felt it was practically a scientific authenticity.

With the discovery of atomic energy something new has come upon the horizon. In Popular Science of February 1953, page 178, the following quotation may be found:

"The Biblical story of creation has new and striking evidence on its side, reports Prof. Edw. McCrady, of the University of the South. Modern study indicates that all known elements in the universe came into existence practically at once—within half an hour or so. Before that time there could have been no chemical elements at all. Dating studies, based on the radioactivity decay of uranium, fix the date of that awesome moment of creation about five billion years ago."

Five Billion Years

This view of sudden creation is not new in scientific circles, for here and there it had been advocated by various men in recent years. As for the date set for creation as five billion years ago, we would have no great cause for argument. So far as the writer knows, there is no statement in the Scriptures as to the time of the creation of the physical universe. It was in the dateless past. Perhaps it was five million years ago, perhaps 50 million, perhaps 10 thousand.

For over three millenniums the testimony of God's Word has been clear and simple. "In the beginning God created [out of nothing] the heaven and the earth" (Gen. 1:1). The Bible also declares, "We understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear" (Heb. 11:3). This passage clearly indicates that the physical creation round about us, even the things that "are seen" with the physical eye, were not made of the things which do appear, or which are "obvious to the senses." A house is made of wood. The wood comes from a tree. The tree comes from the elements of the universe, yet these elements are discernible by our physical senses. That from which God created the elements was something not obvious to the senses.

We are told also that the creation was brought about by the word of God. It would appear that God spoke the universe into existence. He who has all power only needed to speak the word and out of that infinite power the universe came into existence. In this physical universe are found the physical elements which we have discovered by scientific research through the years. God has allowed man to discover one more thing, that is, how to take some of the physical elements which are in the earth and return them to the form of energy. This is a discovered secret of the atom bomb.

Hidden in Scriptures

In the closing days of this age God has allowed man to discover these previously hidden truths. After having learned some of these facts from scientific investigation we are star-

In the blackness of the midnight,
When your thoughts like walls around

Only echo and re-echo,
As with shouts without a sound:
Rest your cause upon the Saviour;
Hear His still small voice of love:
"Hush, be still in best behavior,
Know indeed that I am God!"

In the hour of deepest trial,
When the soul for solace seeks:
When the grasping for the while
Finds no hold, mighty or meek:
Trust the mighty arm of Jesus,
Who temptation's way once trod:
"Hush, be still"—He never leaves us!—

"Know indeed that I am God."

When, 'twixt mountains canyoned

Fronted by the seas of grief;
And behind—a royal blunder—
Pharaoh stands in bold relief:
Change the mountains you can never,
Nor the ruler's ripened rod;
"Forward march, nor fear, no, never!
Know indeed that I am God!"

Walking on the waves of mercy,
Frightened by some foolish fear;
Then, without faith's vital sentry
Sinking down to folly's bier:
Look upon your mercy's Person,
See Him spread His arms abroad,
Gath'ring you from death's immersion:

—Charles Bergerson.

tled to realize that these general facts about modern scientific discoveries have been in the Scriptures these many centuries.

The wise man will continue to believe that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and that God is truth from the beginning. Furthermore, in spite of all the theories of man, "in the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." This heaven and earth shall remain until God gets ready to give it an overhauling even as we read: "And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away" (Rev. 21:1).—From Fifth and Cherry Light.

SALVATION IS OF THE LORD

By Rev. Edward Clark, Chambersburg, Pa.

The words that came from the lips of Jonah, as recorded in the book bearing his name (2:9), were not merely based on mental gymnastics or a borrowed phrase. Jonah's declaration resulted from a deep-down experience with a God who is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think. The Word of God is indeed thrilling, as we have unfolded to us the sometimes inexplicable purposes of an omnipotent, all-wise God, in the lives of those individuals who are possessors of salvation. The working out of salvation in their lives in reaching others gives evidence to the Scriptural fact that it is God who worketh in those who are His, for SALVATION IS OF THE LORD, from start to finish.

It Is All of God

The salvation of sinful men has always been, is, and shall be till time ends, wrought by an omnipotent God because of His great and abundant love for the alienated sinner. His abounding grace has, since the fall of man, been evident, flowing as a gigantic waterfall at Calvary in a manifestation of His superabounding love for the hell-bound alienated sinner.

Jonah was aware, as any other servant should be well aware, of God's greatness compared to our inability in God's plan of salvation for man. But a real servant deeply realizing this, acknowledging his own minuteness, and the greatness of the Lord, can set free spiritual forces that are more than atomic in power, bringing salvation to sinners.

Salvation Is for All Men

Satan is constantly battling to thwart the purposes of God in the life of a servant whom God has laid His hand upon in His plan of salvation for the sinner. Jonah's testimony gave evidence of his qualifications to proclaim the message of salvation to sinful men (4:2).

God's grace, mercy, patience, kindness, and readiness to forgive were attributes Jonah knew God possessed. Satan would have man lose sight of these truths and implant the thought that we cannot do anything to effect salvation in the life of this people, losing sight of this eternal truth, SALVATION IS OF THE LORD!

There are those professed ministers of the Gospel who are of the opinion some sins are a barrier to coming to the Lord. Sometimes we are confused with the notion that retardant circumstances in our churches, surrounding an individual or individuals, have to be borne with or else ignored altogether. But, let man cry mightily unto God (Jonah 3:8).

Cry Mightily Unto God

How we need to cry mightily unto God. As we become more aware of sin and the sinfulness of sin, even our own proneness in failing to realize enough our own desires, perhaps, is the tendency to run away from sin around us. Oh that we would cry unto God! If there is anything that we as a body of believers should desire is that sinner and saint would run with our sin to God. SALVATION IS OF THE LORD! The blood of Jesus Christ cleanses us from all sin (I John 1:7).

Repentance is a prerequisite of saving faith, and how this nation of ours—our cities, our towns, yes, even our rural sections—need to repent of sin, that salvation may be wrought. So the people of Nineveh believed God (Jonah 3:5).

Their belief in the message of God promoted action, a turning from sin to God. Professing Christians today join a church, sit on the premises instead of standing on the promises, and go on their own sinful way. In John 3:18 we read: "He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God." "Mere believism" has never saved and will never save anyone.

There are those who would have sinners practice mental gymnastics to keep them from performing or being bound by wrongful acts, so-called.

He that believeth—a mighty realization of the sinfulness of sin and an awareness of God's grace and greatness in providing a way of deliverance from sin's penalty, sin's bondage, and finally sin's presence. Oh, what a salvation; and best of all, salvation is of the Lord, fully and completely.

Are we crying unto the Lord like we believe this? Are we preaching like we believe it is possible to reach out with the Gospel to the sinner and make the saint usable in witnessing daily to those outside of Christ?

Sin is not a disease of the mind or body, but a condition of the heart. It is surely engulfing our nation, our people—young and old. Everyone feels its effects in some way.

Believers need to cry mightily to God that men might be brought to a consciousness of their sinfulness and need of a Saviour.

Arise and Go

"Arise, go unto Nineveh, that great city, and preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee" (Jonah 3:2). Preaching the Gospel brings results. Perhaps a nice personality, soft words, fancy stories, and a good musical program brings people, but preaching the Gospel in the God-appointed way will bring results—results in the salvation of blasted lives, saving of torn families, the deliverance from sin.

God eventually brings His purposes to pass, praise His name. Sometimes we try to rule, but He is sovereign and He overrules.

Oh, to see God work in bringing men and women to a place of repentance and salvation! Oh, that Christian people, true ministers of the Gospel, may cry to God mightily, that ministers of the Gospel would preach the Gospel of salvation by grace to repentant, believing sinners. Salvation is of the Lord!

Los Angeles, California (Second)

The Second Brethren Church of Los Angeles recently sold its building at 6000 Compton Avenue to the Camvery Baptist Church (Negro). We are to give possession December 8 or a little later, according to the time needed by the buyers to complete the down payment. This group is led by an energetic young pastor and they seem to mean business for the Lord.

On June 26 we bought a 2-acre plot of ground at Studebaker and Foster roads, between Rosecrans and Imperial boulevards in Norwalk. This area is building up rapidly, with 75 percent of the community now occupied with homes. We do not need to make settlement for the lots before January 1, but we have permission to begin a building program immediately. We hope to begin this construction work early in October. —Henry G. Rempel, pastor.

Honolulu, Hawaii

We would like to call the attention of Brethren servicemen, either in Pearl Harbor, on Ford Island, or in Fort Shafter of Honolulu, to our address at 1589 E. So. Beretania St., Honolulu, T. H., phone 994682. We would be happy to have them visit us in our home or to pick them up to attend services at Grace Chapel. Or if any parents know of servicepeople

Harold Francis Morr, member of the West Tenth Street Brethren Church of Ashland, Ohio, was ordained to the ministry of the Gospel in an impressive service at his home church Sunday afternoon, June 28.

Pastor Lester E. Pifer, of Fremont, Ohio, was the presiding elder. He also read the Scripture lesson and the authorization and then gave the charge to the candidate. Pastor Robert F. Holmes, of Lodi, Ohio, (West Homer church), was the song leader and led in the invocation. Miss Jacqueline Helvie was the organist and Mr. Gordon Helvie sang a solo.

Rev. Miles H. Taber, pastor of the candidate, preached the sermon on the "Man of God." Pastor Bernard N. Schneider, of Mansfield, Ohio, asked the questions and received the vows and then followed with the prayer of ordination, assisted by the other elders in attendance. Rev. Harold Morr gave the benediction.

Brother Morr received his education at Moody Bible Institute, Bob Jones University, and Ashland College, where he received his B. A. degree. He graduated in the 1953 class of Grace Theological Seminary and has entered the United States Air Force as a chaplain.

in this area we would be happy to visit them upon receipt of their addresses.

On June 10 the adults of Grace Chapel of Red Hill held an Aloha party for the Edwin Joneses. Pictures were shown and refreshments served. At the close of the party attractive money leis were given to the honorees, with the best wishes of the group which came into existence under their ministry.

On June 26 the Sunday school had a party for the Joneses and silver coin leis were presented to the founders of the group.

On June 28 there were 44 people in the Sunday school and 17 in the morning worship service at Grace Chapel.—Foster Tresise, pastor.

tian to give a sweet savor offering, by walking in love, for the sweet-savor offering was the one which demonstrated receipt of divine approval. The spiritual offerings of Romans 12:1 and Hebrews 13:15-16 are patterns of the peace-offering. For only as the child of God, cleansed by the blood of Christ's ransoming trespass-offering (given for our trespasses), offers himself as Romans 12:1 says, can that child of God have peace from God and be at peace with Him. Then only as the believer has the peace of Christ can he offer the sacrifice of praise, found in Hebrews 13:15-16. All this is possible only because the Son of Man gave His life a ransom, by giving His life a trespass-offering in fulfillment of Isaiah 53:10.

NATIONAL FELLOWSHIP OF BRETHREN LAYMEN

Jesse B. Deloe, Editor

"AND WHATSOEVER YE DO, DO IT HEARTILY, AS TO THE LORD"

Yesterday evening we had a ball game here in Winona Lake, and today as I write this I am sorry we played.

The game was between a team made up of boys and men of the local church and a similar group from a fundamental church in Warsaw. Those who played included real soul-winners, perhaps one or two unsaved, and a few of us rocking-chair Christians—in other words, a group typical of the membership in an average church.

But here's what hurt: Some of us like to play ball so well that when we play we let nothing—no nothing—curb our desire to win, and we MUST score, we MUST slide safely, we MUST convince the umpire that we are right and he is wrong, we MUST bull our way toward victory, regardless of the hurts inflicted both physically and mentally.

We had an example of that yesterday and we agreed to cease hostilities with the score tied.

We had prayed—both teams—before we began the game, and then promptly turned our backs on our Lord. Or so it seemed.

Now those of the world who might have witnessed the affair probably would say that no harm was done, that the ruffled tempers and hurt feelings were merely indicative of the desire to win, but I am inclined to believe that our testimony was damaged. Those watching the game could not say, "Behold, how these Christians love one another." Some may say, "If you don't want to win, don't play." I say the desire to win—among Christians I mean—can be a damaging thing when applied to all else but the actual work He has called us to do. Let's ENJOY our fun, not damage our testimony.

Does this remind you of the activities in some of our churches, caused in the majority of cases by some of us laymen? I can think right now of only one thing to suggest as a remedy. Read the third chapter of Colossians. I just did again, and it helps a lot.

THE CHURCH BULLETINS TELL US THAT—

Bob Walter spoke to the laymen of the Yellow Creek, Pa., church at their monthly meeting on June 25. His subject was "Roman Catholicism."

Mason Cooper, national laymen's president, spoke at Washington, D. C., in the evening service, June 21.

The laymen's fellowship of the Dayton, Ohio, First church elected the following officers: Herbert Edwards, president; Walter Hoyt, vice president; Roy Trissel, secretary; Paul Grisso, assistant secretary; and Harley Wysong, treasurer.

Mason Cooper spoke to the men at Hagerstown, Md., on Saturday, June 27, and on Sunday evening, with the laymen in charge of the service, he spoke to the congregation.

Men and boys of the First Los Angeles church heard Dr. Alva J. McClain speak on "Atomic Bombs, World Despair, and Christian Courage" and enjoyed a steak dinner on June 15.

Chicken and all the trimmings were served June 5 to the men's fellowship and their wives at Cleveland, Ohio. Pastor Russell Ward was the speaker, using "God's Image in Man—Lost in the Fall, Restored in Redemption" as his subject.

The men's fellowship of the Sunnymede church in South Bend, Ind., held a father-son banquet June 23 which was attended by about 20, who enjoyed a ham dinner prepared by the women of the church. Samuel Arter received a New Testament for being the oldest father present, and Louis Stroup received a similar award for having the most sons present. Rev. Arthur Collins, now a member of the Sunnymede church, brought the message.

Officers elected for the new group at Conemaugh, Pa., are "Cy" Hunt, president; Raymond Anthony, vice president; "Ted" Shoemaker, secretary-treasurer; Walter Ford, assistant secretary-treasurer. The men were host to a district meeting in their church on June 4.

Art Attwel, former radio and television star, rated as one of the outstanding musicians in southern California, gave special numbers and brought the message at the men's meeting in Whittier, Calif., June 9.

An interesting note in the church bulletin of the Cherry Valley, Calif., church: "All men of the church are cordially invited to an early-morning prayer meeting, which the Lord laid upon your pastor's heart. . . . Five o'clock is the hour, Saturday the day. Jesus rose 'a great while before day to pray.' Sometimes He prayed all night long. And shall we fail to do likewise? Let us make the house at the corner of Beaumont and Vineland a 'house of prayer.' Remember then, men—5 o'clock each Saturday morning."

Questions on Personal Evangelism

Question—Help me to deal with someone who says, "God is cruel and unjust."

A.—(a) Who is God? Who are you? "Who art thou that replies against God?" (Rom. 9:20). Cruelty and injustice are sins; do you mean to accuse God of sin? (Aim to bring the objector to his senses.)

(b) God's ways and thoughts are higher than man's (Isa. 55:8-9; Rom. 11:33-34). He needs no instructor, and the complainer must answer for his folly (Job 40:2).

(c) Deal tenderly with those who complain because of some sorrow that has come to them. Show that God does not willingly afflict, but that it is often necessary for Him to permit sorrow and disappointment to come because it is the only effectual method of bringing some people to repentance and into a life of holiness and joy and glory. Whom He loves He chastens (Heb. 12:5-7, 10-12; Rev. 3:19; Psalms 119:67; Isa. 63:9; II Cor. 4:17-18; Rom. 8:18). Many will not listen to the voice of God except through suffering.

MAKING CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE WORK

By ALTHEA S. MILLER

It has often been asked what part, if any, Christian parents should play in the selection of their children's marriage partners. From their own experience parents well know they cannot with actual words make the choice for their children. But they can lay certain background which will help their young folk to make the wise decision.

The biggest contribution you can make to a right and good marriage for your children is by your own emotionally stable and happy marriage. Where the mother and wife in the family is pettish and wanting ever to be pampered; where the father and husband is cranky and fussy, demanding more of his wife and children than he himself gives; where there is intolerance and lack of Spirit-filled conduct, children will get the wrong picture of marriage and home. Of course this will not deter them in their own marriage plans but it will leave them ill-equipped to build a good marriage of their own. Indeed, in many cases they will be so anxious to get out from under the parental roof where nothing is ever right and where criticism cuts to the bone that they'll be more apt to jump at just any marriage which will ultimately bring them to a duplication of their parents' marital failures. So if and while there is time, renew your own marriage and in all humility ask God to restore "the years that the locust hath eaten." God is never tired of our fresh beginnings when He reads our hearts and sees we really mean business in forsaking sin. It is a sin when Christian parents give their children the wrong picture of marriage.

Making your home inviting and urging your children to bring their friends home is another step in helping them see their friends in a true perspective. Much of their friends' home training is more clearly seen in the surroundings of another home. Of course it's extra work and expense for you parents but such efforts pay the highest dividends. I well remember my own teen years. I never hesitated to bring my friends home, for my dear mother always made them welcome. She never complained at the extra work or the mountains of food, especially her specialty, waffles, which they consumed. And in my home I saw my girl and boy friends in a different light than when we were just out with the group at a meeting or party. I'll always be grateful to my mother for her selflessness in those years when I needed her understanding and interest the most. My dad, too, was a "brick." He put up with many an inconvenience just so I could have my friends at the house. I want to do the same wonderful thing for my own children. TRY IT!

Another important must in this business of helping children see reality is for each parent to do his and her part to have their children choose their friends from among the church youth. To do this they must go to church with you. Happy is the church where there is a wide-awake youth program and leadership. If your church lacks such, why don't you get busy and help get a youth program going? There can be no better place for your young people to make friends than in the church where Christ is loved and honored and His Word taught. Never minimize the importance of a casual acquaintance. Many such acquaintances have ripened into friendship and love with the ultimate marriage. For this reason it is so important that friendships are formed on a sound basis, the only basis—that of mutual love for Christ. Marriage outside the Lord for the believer is sin. Take time now to read II Corinthians 6:14-15. And teach this portion to your children.

The friends your children bring home may not always be to your liking. If this is true, never belittle their choice. Your first and best resort is prayer. Then after you've bathed your very soul in prayer be wise in your comments and suggestions to the children about some qualifications for friendship and successful marriage. Some of these qualifications are a love for Christ and genuine interest in the things of the Lord; intelligence and a good education, which is fairly equal for both parties; common interests with enough variations to keep each on his toes and the sparkle alive; mutual friends; a joint purpose for life; and a common goal other than marriage itself. Above all, constantly remind the children that marriage of believers must be in the Lord to be happy and blessed of Him.

Don't try to deny your children marriage. No matter what you say or do or what they have seen at home, you'll never talk them out of marriage. Where breathes the soul who has not gone into the marriage relationship with the conviction that his or her marriage would be different? Plan with them and give them hope for a not-too-distant marriage and how much better their new life together can be after certain goals have been reached, certain objectives met.

Finally, parents, PRAY WITHOUT CEASING. Only God can overrule your lack of wisdom and mistaken judgments. But He will never fail you if you have really done your part. God has called you to a difficult but challenging job in the rearing of your children. But remember, "Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it" (I Thess. 5:24).

MRS. CONARD SANDY

Reading book after book may seem to be a very pleasant task to those of us who look on from the sidelines. But to be gifted with the fine art of discrimination in selecting books which will appeal to almost every reading taste and still be true to the Word is still another thing. Mrs. Conard Sandy has been doing this very thing for WMC long enough to know the work and responsibility involved and withal has become quite an expert. As national WMC literature secretary Mrs. Sandy has had to keep up with the ever-changing officers' addresses in the local councils so that every WMC will be properly supplied with all available material. This takes not only work but patience, and with the latter Mrs. Sandy is particularly blessed.

Fern Monroe Sandy was born in northern Michigan, but was taken to live in California by her parents just after her first birthday. It did not take the Monroe family long to find a church where the truth was taught. That church was the then-known Compton Avenue Brethren, which is now known as Second Brethren of Los Angeles. At the age of 9 Fern publicly confessed Christ and has faithfully served Him through the years wherever He has led.

After a half year at Biola, Miss Monroe enrolled at Ashland College, where she subsequently received a diploma in music as well as a diamond ring from a fellow student, Conard Sandy, from Hagerstown, Md. When her father died Fern remained at home with her mother and again enrolled at Biola. In August of 1931 she became Mrs. Conard Sandy and returned to Ashland in September with her husband to take work in the seminary. Before going to Winona Lake Mrs. Sandy worked by her husband's side in several pastorates in California.

Besides her work as literature secretary, Mrs. Sandy finds time to pursue her "second" love—music. She teaches piano to 19 pupils. WMC is indebted to Mrs. Sandy for her loyal, faithful work for the Lord through WMC. We thank her and pray God's richest blessings upon her as she continues to serve Him.

MISS MARY EMMERT

Who would know more about the power of answered prayer than a missionary? The national prayer chairman of WMC is a missionary and has led the women of the Brethren Church in a life of prayerful devotion for several years. Our lives have been enriched through her ministry.

Miss Emmert found the Lord when she was 7 years old in the First Brethren Church of Dallas Center, Iowa, her birthplace. After teaching several years in Iowa high schools she served three years in the same capacity for the mission school at Lost Creek, Miss Emmert applied to the Foreign Missionary Board of the Brethren Church, was accepted, and started for Africa via France in 1924-25. She served as a missionary teacher from 1925 to 1946, four full terms. At present she is keeping house for her aged father at Dallas Center.

We praise God for the faithfulness of our dear sister and missionary who during this time of waiting at home is turning our hearts' attention to the need of prayer both for our missionaries and ourselves. May the Lord continue to bless and use Mary Emmert.

WATERLOO MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET

On April 23, 125 mothers with daughters over 9 years old enjoyed an evening of fellowship and a delicious banquet. Mrs. Vernon Schrock was toastmistress of the evening's program built around the theme "Aprons." Mrs. Ralph Grady was pianist at the banquet and Mrs. Payton, of the Salvation Army, was the special speaker.

The teen-age men, assisted by some of the older men, served the meal and became the kitchen help for the occasion.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

Greetings to you in the name of our risen Lord from Allentown, Pa., WMC. We haven't been very faithful in reporting our work. [You are not alone in this.—Ed.] But the Lord has been good to us. We have sent clothing to Clayhole. We are buying tracts for our own use and for distribution by the Sisterhood girls. We hold prayer meetings every second Tuesday of the month and our prayer chairman uses her phone to call the prayer warriors whenever a special need arises.

Recently our ladies led the BYF service. Our church has been using various organizations of the church to help the youth meetings. We followed our regular monthly program in order to let our youth know the kind of work and program we follow. The Lord has been very real to us in our prayer lives and has answered so many of our prayers that we can't praise Him enough.

In His love,

Mrs. Paul Over, president.

Dear President,

Greetings in the name of our Saviour. Just a few words from the WMC at Findlay, Ohio. Our council is now 1½ years old, and I know a report has been due for quite some time. We have an active membership of 14, with a number of others in attendance. We meet monthly, using the regular programs. We have contributed to various projects, and have sent clothing to some of the home mission fields, the last being sent to Clayhole, Ky. Our main project for the year is to furnish the nursery in the new church building being contemplated for Findlay. We displayed a miniature nursery at the Northern Ohio District conference at Rittman, Ohio. We are planning a mother and daughter tea for our May meeting.

Mrs. Arthur Keiser, president.

Dear Editor,

Greetings from the ladies of First Los Angeles church. I know it is about time you were hearing from us. So here goes. A large percentage of the 23 ladies who belong to our council meet for prayer for our missionaries the morning of our monthly meetings. We hold our monthly meetings alternately in a home and in the chapel. When we have an outside speaker we invite the younger council to come in with us for lunch and hear the message. We have had missionaries from India, Peru, Alaska, and our own Miss Estella Myers, Mrs. Rose Foster, and Mrs. Albert Balzer.

Some of our projects have been preparing flannel-graph stories for Miss Evelyn Fuqua in Kentucky; clothes for the people at Taos and the Navahos; materials prepared for the girls of our 3 Sisterhoods to roll bandages. We have put special emphasis on personal evangelism and tract distribution. Our church purchases 1,000 tracts and booklets a month on salvation and related subjects—a different one each month—and we try to have this supply exhausted before the next month's supply arrives. We try to give them prayerfully and carefully, either in person or by mail to an unsaved person. Each year we try to increase the amount of money given to the 4 major WMC offerings. We most certainly enjoy the reading books.

In His dear name,

Clara F. Fairbanks, secretary.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

Greetings from the Taos, N. Mex., WMC. We are busy for the Lord. We translate our lessons into Spanish so all can take a part. Even Mrs. Horney can give the lesson in Spanish. [Hurrah! Mrs. Horney!—Ed.] We had our birthday project offering and each lady gave according to her age. We exchanged gifts with each other and had a little party. We have made quilts. One of our ladies bought one and we gave the money to our gospel team for gas. Two quilts were sent to an orphanage in California. We are making pillow slips and tea towels. Our quilt material is obtained from the clothing room, sometimes coats we are not able to sell. So we want to thank everyone who has sent clothing and flour sacks to us.

Our average attendance at each meeting is 13. We will appreciate your prayers and will remember you in ours also.

Yours in Christ,

Mrs. Ernest Gonzales.

Bozoum, May 14, 1953.

Dear Sisters in Christ.

We greet you all in Christ Jesus: Baloa I Koué.

The Aouali Ti Tene Ndjoni (WMC members) of Bozoum want to thank your national WMC president for writing us a letter. Mrs. Jobson read the letter to us last month in our WMC meeting, and it gave us much joy to know that you are praying for us out here in Africa. We too pray for you, and thank you for sending missionaries to us so that we may grow in the Lord and lead other women to come to know the Saviour. Our Bible verses for you are I John 1:7 and Philippians 1:29. We do praise the Lord for His Word. Our song that we sing is "Amazing Grace." I now am able to attend the classes and church services, and thank you again for praying for me.

You asked us about our work here. Our WMC meets once a month and we have songs of praise and thanksgiving, testimonies, Bible verses, and prayer requests, then a season of prayer. One of our women gives the message, or a missionary in charge of the meeting. We give our offerings to help send out preachers to different villages and chapels. Also we buy food for the sick, and visit them. We do visitation work in the nearby villages, going out two by two. We sing, read a portion of God's Word, and pray with them.

In March we had a women's conference here at Bozoum for two days. The women from the Bible institute attended, also the Bassai women came for one day, and a pastor's wife from Batangafo. Several of our missionaries gave messages and there were testimonies from our women. God was very near to us and our hearts were filled with all the food we got from God's Word. Now we praise the Lord that we all belong to the tribe of God. Someday we shall see you in heaven and then we shall know you all.

We love all our missionaries, and want you all to pray for us that we may be faithful in the Lord's work.

Your sister in Christ,

Alice Békou, president.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

The WMC's of the First Brethren Church, Covington, Va., served the Sisterhood girls with their annual mother-daughter banquet May 7. There were approximately 70 present.

The program following the meal included devotions by Jr. WMC, music by Sr. Sisterhood, salute to Mother by Jr. Sisterhood, and the speaker of the evening was Mrs. Ina Westerman, who gave us a very challenging message.

Mrs. Joseph N. Sizemore, pres., Jr. WMC.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

We thought we would like to write you and share some of our WMC experiences with you.

We are in the Community Brethren Church, Whittier, Calif. Although our little church is relatively new, we have a fine group of young women willing and eager to serve the Lord. Our attendance at our monthly WMC meeting is between 25 and 30.

Right now we are keeping busy at our meetings making layettes to send to Korean war orphans. We have had one family night WMC meeting. We all had dinner at the church and films were shown by Mr. and Mrs. Balzer from Africa. We all do so enjoy the fellowship of other Christians and the opportunity to serve the Lord in small ways through our missionaries. All our meetings are at night. We find this works out much better for us as most of us have small children who would hamper our attendance at the meetings otherwise.

We praise and thank the Lord for His presence in our lives. We do enjoy the Missionary Herald news from other churches too.

Sincerely in His name,

Nell Bjorck, secretary.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

We enjoyed an unusually good attendance at our spring rally, which was held in the Yakima church on March 20. Highlights of the afternoon program were an interesting message from Mrs. Rose Foster and the skit, "This Could Be You," presented by members of the Harrah group.

Each local president was asked to give one news item from her group. The response showed a variety of activities, including missionary hope chests, sewing for needy families, the sending of used clothing to Taos, birthday dinners, and the purchase of silverware for a local church. We were encouraged by the prospect of two new WMC groups in Seattle. We are praying that they may soon become a reality.

Our offering, amounting to over $40, is to be used for the missionary residence at Winona Lake. At the bountiful evening meal, Mrs. Foster told us some very interesting stories of life in Africa.

We felt greatly refreshed by our day of fellowship together. We praise the Lord for the wonderful way He is blessing us, and pray that we may love and serve Him better each day.

For His glory,

Mrs. Ernest Morrell, district president.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

This is a note to greet you from the Jr. WMC at Covington, Va.

Since we reorganized last June we have added six new members to our roll and have lost two because they moved away. Our meetings average about 11 or 12 in attendance and we enjoy meeting in Christian fellowship together each month.

We have had several projects. We have sent boxes of clothing to Kentucky and New Mexico, prepared a box of food for a needy family at Christmas, and for our local project we bought a piano for our church auditorium. At different times we remembered with gifts our president, who suffered a severe attack of polio in September. (We're praising the Lord for her recovery. She was able to attend our March meeting.) Each month two members on the roll send birth congratulations and sympathy cards accompanied by a tract to the families who have lost a loved one or who have a new arrival. We get the names from the local paper. We also have our missionary hope chest and take our missionary offering at each meeting.

In His service,

Mrs. Carl H. Griffith, vice president.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

The ladies of the Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, WMC send greetings to you and to all the other councils.

We have enjoyed a blessed time of Christian fellowship and service this past year. Our members have been very cooperative in all our activities.

Aside from having a part in all our district and national projects, we list some of our local projects: We sponsor the 15th-of-the-month missionary prayer meeting in our church; send a regular offering to the work of child evangelism in Summit County; send used clothing to Taos, N. Mex.; have sent a number of boxes of goodies, notions, and miscellaneous articles to our foreign missionary families; at Christmas and Easter seasons we had special services at the Bethel Rest Home in the Falls and presented each lady in the home with small gifts and goodies, and one of our WMC members, who is a very active worker in child evangelism, presented the Christmas and Easter stories on flannelgraph.

At Christmastime we sent a large box of miscellaneous items, such as crayons, pencils, construction paper, books, writing pads, balloons, etc., to the Navaho Indian school; we have our missionary birthday bank at each meeting aside from our regular offering, and we send birthday cards and small remembrances to our missionaries and their children as their birthdays appear in the Herald; we helped roll bandages and bought pennants for the SMM.

We have purchased silver and dishes for our local church; have made our own program booklets; and we especially have enjoyed the Bible and mission studies this past year; we have provided thank-offering banks which will be turned in in June for the Jewish work in Los Angeles.

We have "workday" once a month at the church and have been making bed jackets for the leper and hospital patients in Africa, and baby shirts for the African babies.

We are thankful for the blessings of the past year and pray that we may continue our efforts to the glory of our Lord and Saviour.

In Him,

Mrs. Earle Cole, president.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

Greetings to all in the lovely name of Jesus from our Sr. WMC of Vicksburg, Pa. We have been blessed of the Lord the past year, and we want to pass some news along to you. We are serving the Lord in a very humble way through our council. We have our monthly meetings and have a very good fellowship together.

We have finished two comforts and sent several boxes of used clothing to Taos and Clayhole. We sent candy and toys at Christmastime to Taos. We also made up a box of new sheets, pillow cases, towels, wash cloths, etc., for the missionaries on furlough that live in the missionary residence in Winona Lake.

We are sorry about our church burning down, yet in all this we continue to praise our precious Lord. He certainly knows best about all these testings. We are going to rebuild as the Lord leads. We are to entertain the spring WMC rally of this district, and we want at this time to express our sincere thanks to Brother Crees and the good ladies of the Leamersville church for the use of their church when the time comes for the rally. God has been very good to us, particularly at this time of loss.

Remember us in prayer and we will also remember our coworkers. "Looking for that blessed hope" (Tit. 2:13).

Sincerely in Jesus' name.

Mrs. Wm. W. Wertman, secretary.

The Arrowhead Avenue Brethren Church in San Bernardino, Calif., held its first annual mother-daughter banquet on May 9. Our WMC ladies took our Sr. and Jr. Sisterhood girls over to Rialto, Calif., as their guests for a delicious ham dinner. We were especially thankful for the large number of Sisterhood girls who were able to attend. There were 18 girls present and 24 ladies. A beautiful rose corsage was given each person present.

In the absence of our president, Mrs. Josephine Garber Dale, our minister's wife, Mrs. Marvin, welcomed the girls and guests. A response was given by Mrs. Louise Baldwin, patroness of the Sr. Sisterhood, and also by Mrs. Jewell Heard, patroness of the Jr. Sisterhood. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Myra Jean Bunn, our prayer chairman, and then a lovely number was sung by two of our Sr. Sisterhood girls, Janet Browning and Beverly Johnson, with Mrs. Marion Browning, mother of Janet. A poem was read by Mrs. Merna Eckstein and then our guest speaker, Mrs. Bruce Button, was introduced and gave us a most interesting and enlightening talk on their work among the Jewish people in Los Angeles.

Margaret Needles.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

WMC in Clay City, Ind., wish to greet you in the name of our blessed Saviour, and let you know some of the things we've been doing this year.

In February we had a Valentine membership rally. As a result of this we've reaped four new members for our group. Our March meeting showed an all-high attendance of 16, as we usually average 9 or 10. We've sent two boxes of clothing to New Mexico, and have another shipment we're planning to send somewhere in the near future.

To stimulate interest we've also had two workdays (besides our devotional meetings), and made a quilt for a missionary, and have two more in the process. Some aprons and pillow slips were made and sent to the missionary residence for use there. Plans for our mother-daughter banquet are being made, and we're looking forward to a time of blessed fellowship.

Enjoyed the accounts of the other WMC's and their labor of love. Praying that we might be used in greater service for Him, we are WMC fellow laborers.

Mrs. Ralph Burns.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

Greetings from the Jr. WMC of Winchester, Va.

We have received many blessings this past year and have truly enjoyed the fellowship we have had together. We have a membership of 30, with an average attendance of 18 to 20.

We had a wonderful meeting at Christmastime, meeting with the senior group and the men's fellowship group. It was an inspiration and a challenge to all who attended. Also during the holidays we furnished tracts for everyone to use with their greeting cards and furnished the pastor with Scriptural vitamins to use in the hospital and his visits with the sick.

We have been observing faithfully the day of prayer each month. We pray that the Lord will continue to use us.

In His service,

Mrs. Marjorie Creighton.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

Greetings from the Waynesboro, Pa., Jr. WMC.

Our president, Mrs. Ernest Bearinger, suggested several months ago that I write something for the Herald regarding our council. I asked her if I could wait until after the May mother-and-daughter covered-dish supper, as I thought this would be easy, and too I always enjoy this May gathering so much, which was held this year on May 12.

Approximately 165 mothers and daughters met in the church auditorium and each mother was presented a corsage made by the Jr. WMC group. The corsages were four Hershey kisses wrapped in lavender and green cellophane paper with extra strips and tied with green

II COR 5:20

BEFORE THE KING

By ADA M. ETLING

The world has just witnessed a great coronation. All of us thrilled at the beauty, pomp, and glory of the ceremonies for Queen Elizabeth II. As you listened to or watched the regal activities, did your mind travel as did mine to the time when our Lord shall be crowned King of kings and Lord of lords? Then you and I shall be a part of the activities.

Our study this month brings our hero, Paul, who has known buffeting, trial, and persecution, on trial before King Agrippa. For two years Paul had been in prison. The Jews had tried every way to put Paul to death, but the Roman court could find him guilty of breaking no law (Acts 25:25).

Agrippa heard about Paul and suggested that he would like to hear the case himself (Acts 25:22). Consequently one day Agrippa and his sister, Bernice, went to the palace of Governor Festus in Caesarea (Acts 25:23).

After the usual fanfare Paul was brought forth (Acts 25:23). I am sure that Paul had dignity and poise. He realized he was in the presence of royalty, for he spoke not (Acts 26:1) until Agrippa said, "Thou art permitted to speak for thyself." (Does not this statement make you realize that each will be held accountable for his own stewardship?) Paul wasted no time! He had been courteous, but now he forgot formality and launched his case.

Our tendency would have been to "pussyfoot" before the king, but Paul looked straight at Agrippa and suggested that he expected a sympathetic hearing since the king was accustomed to the ways and customs of the Jews (Acts 26:3). Paul proceeded to tell how he, too, had persecuted the Christians; how he had put them in prison and caused them to blaspheme; how one day he had seen a vision and had been obedient to the commission to witness to the gentiles (Acts 26:3-20).

As we think of Paul's ready obedience (Acts 26:19) we cannot help but take inventory of our own lives. How oft the still, small voice speaks! Have you listened first of all to the voice, "Come unto me"? Have you answered, "I am ready both to abound and to be abased"? Or have you heard the wooing of the Holy Spirit only to turn to your own way, your own plans?

How authoritatively Paul could say, "I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision." Have we not followed him as he traveled through Damascus, Jerusalem, the coast of Judea, and then to the gentiles telling men to repent (Acts 26:20)?

How truthfully he could say (vs. 22): "I continue to this day witnessing both to the small and great." Had he not witnessed to the important man at Lystra, the jailor at Philippi, to Felix and Governor Festus? Is he not even now witnessing as to the death and resurrection of Christ?

At this point, however, Festus interrupted with, "Paul, thou art beside thyself!" This is not a strange saying to those of us who love the Lord. One can throw the hat or yell until she is hoarse at a ball game, but just get enthusiastic for the Lord and the world says, "You are crazy!" Oh, for girls who will witness to the resurrection power as they live from day to day!

Paul's firm testimony stirred Agrippa, for we hear Paul saying, "King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know thou believest" (vs. 27).

What was the answer? "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." The songwriter put it, "So near and yet so far!"

Has the Spirit been wooing you to Christ? Don't turn him away with, "Almost thou persuadest me." Say yes to Him. You'll never regret it. Perhaps He has been calling you for full-time service. Have you been almost persuaded? Yield your all to Him so that when you stand before the King He may say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

PRAYER SUGGESTIONS

1. Pray for the SMM meetings at national conference.
2. Pray for national SMM board meetings that the Lord's will might be done in all matters.
3. Pray for local SMM work and groups that the Lord might work through SMM groups to win others to Himself.
4. Continue to pray for our missionaries that the Lord may be near to them and keep them each day.

Hilda was an attractive teen-ager. She surely enjoyed the gang and their raids on the refrigerators in the various houses represented by the group. She liked sports—to watch them and to participate. It was a terrific blow to her to learn that she had an ailment known as rheumatic fever, and the doctor said she must stay in bed quite a while so that her heart would not receive permanent damage. This irked her no little bit. What in the world would she do with herself? She felt quite well. All the gang would be having such fun and going so many places. How could she endure it? Perhaps the doctor and her parents were a little overanxious. She hoped she could talk them into letting her get back into the swing of things.

"Mother," she began, as Mrs. Berg brought in the lunch tray, "How sure are you all that my heart will be damaged if I play around a little? It seems to be beating O. K. I don't seem to be sick at all."

"Now, dear. The doctor says a germ is in your system and that your heart will be overworked if you tax it too much. The best way to avoid this is to stay in bed. Disease is a terrible thing. Many times it leaves permanent scars on the body. Remember what chicken-pox will do to one who scratches off the scabs? Surely you do not want permanent damage and scars on your heart! Should this happen, it would mean that you would be handicapped all your life. You know, this reminds me of a great spiritual truth. We are all born into this world with hearts "damaged" by sin and we'll have them throughout our lifetime unless we bring them to the great physician for His wonderful healing touch."

"Why, Mother. That is so true! That is the whole story of salvation said so briefly. Isn't it wonderful that Christ knows just what to do when we bring our hearts to Him? And to think, He fixes them for eternity. There is no chance of the disease of sin eating away at our converted hearts. Oh, I am so glad I gave mine to Jesus. No matter what happens to my physical heart, my "real" heart will live on forever—with all scars removed because I ask Christ daily to cleanse it."

"Oh, Hilda. Your father and I are very happy to know that our daughter belongs to Him, too. We only pray now that He will use you in His service and make you a testimony for Him. That is why He saves us, dear. He wants us to do work for Him. He not only cleanses our hearts of the great germ of sin, but He daily strengthens them to do His bidding."

As Mrs. Berg left the room with the tray, Hilda rested comfortably on her pillow and began to think of their conversation. Suddenly she seemed to brighten as though she had received some very good news. Then she began silently to plan and plan. When her mother came back to remind her that she must try to take a little nap during the afternoon, she seemed so radiant that Mrs. Berg just had to ask what was on her daughter's mind.

"Mother, while I was resting here, the thought came to me that I could tell all my friends who come to visit me about the two kinds of hearts—saved and unsaved, diseased and well, clean and unclean. I could tell them that they must come to Jesus if they expect to live forever. He must heal their broken and diseased hearts. I'll make sure that they all hear Romans 10:9-10—"That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.' I know some of my friends need to think seriously about their heart condition. And, too, what good will it do them to have perfect hearts physically and be able to have so much fun for a few years, if their wicked hearts are going to take them to the place of eternal separation from God and His people?"

"Hilda," said Mrs. Berg, with tears of joy flowing down her face, "How happy I am to know that my prayer is so quickly answered. If you witness from your bed you are doing work for Him. You are being a missionary without even leaving this room. How wonderful that you can give a testimony even though you can't get up and go about your daily tasks. Perhaps He has placed you there for a time in order that you might serve Him. If you were up and about you might be too busy with the cares of this world and the pleasures of this life to do much for the blessed Saviour. You go right ahead and give out your message from your bed and I'll pray that those who hear it will accept our Lord and start living for Him. May He give you the courage, the strength, and just the words to say."

As the days went by Hilda was pretty busy talking to her friends about this new thought. They all listened politely and most of them heeded her warnings. Those who did not accept Christ didn't bother to come back to see her, but Hilda prayed for them every day. She reminded God that He had promised that His Word would not return unto Him void. Her days were so full of witnessing and finding Scripture verses to give to her friends that she soon forgot to grumble about having to stay in bed.

The doctor was surprised at the progress his patient was making. But the Bergs were not surprised! They knew that the Lord was healing His little servant. She was getting some visible reward for her work for Him. The rest of her reward she was willing to leave "up there" until she saw Him face to face.

ribbon to look like rosebuds and placed on a circular doily. The other colors were yellow and green and we tried to match the mothers' dresses.

Then the ladies were ready for us in the basement and after everyone found a chair we sang the Christian Mothers' Doxology, and Mrs. Dennis Holliday offered prayer. Then we enjoyed just all kinds of good food, which was prepared by the ladies of the Sr. WMC. Mrs. Ernest Bearinger, Jr. WMC president, was toastmistress.

After our supper we went to the church auditorium for the program, which was a blessing to all.

In His name,

Elaine B. Miller, secretary.

Sir Wilfred Grenfell was a very practical kind of missionary. He set about doing all the good he could in the name of Jesus, preaching both by words and actions. He gave his life to those in need.

Wilfred Grenfell was born in 1865 near the coast of England, and early showed a love for the sea and adventure. He was very lively and full of fun.

When he was 20 years of age he was converted in a tent meeting held by D. L. Moody. Having been a good athlete in school he also was greatly influenced by hearing J. E. K. Studd, the famous missionary, who had been a great cricket player. He saw that God wanted men of courage and daring in His work.

He soon was teaching a Sunday school class among boys in the London slums, and was the first to start boys' clubs and holiday camps in order to win them to Christ.

After finishing his medical training he worked on a mission hospital ship among the fishermen in the North Sea, taking an active part in all the rough work on board ship.

When the mission wished to open a work for the poor fishermen on the coast of Labrador they sent for Grenfell. The work appealed to him. He landed there in 1892.

Labrador is a very rough country, far north on the eastern coast of Canada, where the fishermen from Newfoundland went for a few months in summer to fish. They were badly in need of spiritual and medical help, and gladly welcomed the mission boat wherever it docked. Dr. Grenfell's motto was, "Preach the Word, and heal the sick."

He had many strange experiences going over land by dogsled or up dangerous rocky inlets by boat to visit the sick. Once he nearly lost his life by attempting to cross a bay on the ice with a dog team. He broke through the ice, but finally struggled onto an icecake with the help of his dogs. He had to kill three of them in order to use their hides for clothing to keep from freezing. He then made a mast of their frozen bones and a flag of his shirt. He was seen from the shore and rescued just in time.

He had many marvelous escapes by sea also, and the people got to saying, "The Lord must kape 'an eye on that man."

He built 11 hospitals, 2 orphanages, and 3 public schools, besides raising money for several mission ships. He also organized cooperative stores and started lumber camps in order to help the people make a living. Many doctors and nurses gave their services free to help in these hospitals.

He was well-known and greatly loved in his more than 40 years of service. He won many honors, and was made a knight by the king of England for what he had done for the people of Labrador; but he gave all the glory to God.

He said, "Jesus Christ challenges us to be His knights to go forth in the world. . . . We must have faith and take risks. Life is not meant to be easy and humdrum. Life is a challenge, and we are so made as to respond, for we are sons of God." He thanked God that he had heard His challenge and accepted it rather than settling down to be a doctor at home.

He proved that to dare great things for God is to accomplish great things for God. Sir Wilfred Grenfell died in 1940.

SPOILED MONEY

By Marybeth Munn

Every name in Africa has a meaning. It is interesting just to ask what each name means and why they have that name. There is "Thing of the Earth," "I'll Kill You," "News of the Village," and even "Nobody Home." There is a reason for each name.

"Big Road" was born the day the white men started a highway through here; "Day of the Paper" was born the day the commander took the census; and a sweet little girl is named "Naretoudjou," which means "Spoiled Money." Her father is a pastor here, so I asked him why he named such a nice baby girl "Spoiled Money." He said that these days it takes so much money to live. He makes a little money and he spends it for soap or stamps or kerosene. If he has saved any money he buys clothes or a bicycle, so his money is always gone, therefore he has spoiled his money.

One man named his whole family after horses. There was "Horse's House," "Horse's Teeth," "Horse's Bridle," and even "Horse's Neck." Then we have "Run From Death," "Place of Death," "The Man Is Dying," which reveal to us their fear of death. Very few names are what we would call nice names. Occasionally we do hear of "God Gave," "Want God," "Woman of Books," or just "Thank You."

As we are thinking of names we are reminded of the most beautiful name in the world. The name that means life to us. The Lord told Mary that she would bring forth a baby boy and that His name should be "Jesus," for He would save His people from their sins. What a wonderful name for our wonderful Saviour!

OFFICIAL REPORT

CORRECTION, PLEASE! Your statistical blanks are due by July 31 instead of August 10 as was previously announced. Send one in even if you haven't elected the new officers or if you just started a new SMM. No statistical blank—no materials!

OFFERINGS: All your offerings are now past due. If you haven't sent them in yet, get them in as quickly as possible.

NATIONAL BOARD MEETING: All national officers, district patronesses and presidents are reminded of the early board meetings that will be held at Winona Lake starting August 22. We need your presence.

DISTRICTS: Don't forget to send a written report of what you have done this year and a display to conference for our SMM meetings.

ATTENTION PATRONESSES! You all are invited to attend a special patroness session which will be held in the Bethany Lodge August 26: Anyone who is interested in SMM is also invited.

MODERNISM By DR. HOMER A. KENT

Modernism is the last of the isms to be considered in this series, but certainly not the least dangerous. It is probably the most subtle of them all. It is a wolf that parades in sheep's clothing. It professes to be Christian. It uses Christian terminology, sings Christian hymns, says nice things about the Bible and the Lord Jesus Christ. It goes to church and observes Christian ordinances, but underneath all this veneer of profession there is the fatal substitution of the natural for the supernatural, the human for the divine, works for faith.

I. What is Modernism? It is just a present-day name for liberalism. It is the child of the destructive Higher Criticism which has taken liberties with the revealed Word of God, watering it down to a mere human book, and making the Saviour of that Book a human Saviour, though it refers to Him as "the flower of humanity." In short, Modernism is a "refined" form of unbelief which is utterly opposed to the "faith of our fathers."

II. What is its Origin? Without a doubt its ultimate source was in the Garden of Eden, where Satan said to the first woman, "Yea, hath God said?" (Gen. 3:1) and doubt of God's Word was introduced into the hearts of the first human pair. Since that day Satan has sponsored various types of unbelief, some of the grossest sort, others of a more subtle nature designed to deceive even the very elect of God. In the fourth century of the Christian era a man by the name of Arius, a presbyter of the church of Alexandria, was responsible for promoting ideas with respect to Christ which made of Him a created being—higher than man but lower than God; sort of a demigod. Thus, while saying beautiful things about Christ, Arius brought Him down from His rightful position of equality with the Father. Arianism became an early form of Modernism. Then, in the fifth century, there was a type of belief known as Pelagianism, named after a man by the name of Pelagius. This type of belief laid emphasis upon the goodness of man, freedom of the will, and human evolution. It had definite similarities to Modernism. In the 16th century there was a system of antitrinitarian belief called Socinianism, after Laelius and Faustus Socinus. It too had definite likenesses to present-day Modernism especially in its depreciation of Christ. More directly Modernism may be traced to the 17th and 18th centuries when the higher critical theory got under way with its so-called "assured results" of the critical scholarship. In Modernism there is to be heard the voice of Satanic unbelief.

III. What is its History? Modernism is a system which has worked within the church like leaven (type of evil). Since the Higher Criticism came into being, its literature and advocates have flooded seminaries and colleges. The result has been men who have been prepared to present the poison of unbelief to a gullible public. In Protestantism some of the greatest denominations have been almost completely captured by the viewpoint of this liberalism. In others there are two camps, the conservatives and the modernistic, with bitter conflicts being waged between the two. The history of Modernism is the trail of the Serpent through the years. The Serpent has often transformed himself into an angel of light, but it is the same Serpent (II Cor. 11:13-15).

IV. What Differentiation exists between the Bible Christianity and Modernism? Let me present this difference in a sevenfold way and it will readily be seen that there is a great chasm between the two, as Dr. E. J. Pace has depicted in a striking cartoon which appeared in the Sunday School Times several years ago.

1. Bible Christianity says the Bible IS the Word of God (II Tim. 3:16 and II Pet. 1:21), whereas Modernism says the Bible CONTAINS the Word of God. But who, we may ask, is to decide what part is inspired and what is not?

2. Bible Christianity says that Jesus Christ is THE Son of God in an altogether unique sense (John 1:18). On the other hand, Modernism says that He is A son of God in the sense in which all men are. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, a leading exponent of Modernism, in his "Modern Use of the Bible," says, "The God who was in Jesus is the same God who is in us. You cannot have one God and two kinds of divinity."

3. Bible Christianity says the birth of Jesus Christ was SUPERNATURAL (Matt. 1:18), but Modernism says that it was NATURAL—"a master product of evolution."

4. Bible Christianity says that the death of Jesus Christ was EXPIATORY (Rev. 1:5 and I Pet. 1:19), whereas Modernism says it was EXEMPLARY. Thus Modernism robs Christianity of the substitutionary atonement. Quoting Fosdick again: "Of course, I do not believe in the Virgin Birth, or in that old-fashioned substitutionary doctrine of the atonement; and I do not know any intelligent Christian minister who does."

5. Bible Christianity says that man is the special product of CREATION, but Modernism says he is the product of EVOLUTION.

6. Bible Christianity says that man is a sinner, fallen from original righteousness, and apart from grace is lost (Rom. 5:12). However, Modernism says that he is the unfortunate victim of circumstance, but through self-culture can make good. In other words, man can save himself. All he needs to do is to fan the divine spark resident within him.

7. Finally, Bible Christianity says that man is justified by faith in the atoning blood of Christ, resulting in the new birth. On the other hand, Modernism says man is justified by works in following Christ's example. To them regeneration means reformations. It is a natural process—"a vital step in the natural development of spiritual life, a radical adjustment to the moral processes of life." How different from the Biblical presentation!

V. What REFUTATION should be used against this system of unbelief? From what has been said, it can be clearly seen that Modernism is diametrically opposed to orthodox Christianity. The best way to combat error is by presenting the truth. Therefore Modernists can only be won by the positive declaration of the pure Word of God under the guidance of the Spirit of God. Modernists need the Gospel (I Cor. 15:1-4).

FINDLAY BRETHREN BREAK GROUND

By Forest F. Lance

It is with a sense of real gratefulness to a gracious heavenly Father that we report to you our groundbreaking service in Findlay, Ohio, on Thursday evening, June 11. After several months of patient labor and prayer, the people of the Findlay Brethren Church were graciously rewarded as earth was broken, making preparation for the beginning of the construction of their new church home. Since one year ago we have been meeting in an old, unused school building built nearly 75 years ago. Plaster is off the ceiling, the walls are unstable, and facilities are not available for a properly organized Sunday school and church. Several promising prospects for our church have refused to attend the services because of the nature of our meeting place. Is it any wonder, then, that tears were mingled with smiles of rejoicing as the shovel dug for the first time,

THE COVER PAGE

The pictures appearing on the cover page of the Findlay groundbreaking service were taken by Rev. Lester Pifer, Fremont, Ohio. They include Pastor Forest Lance; Mrs. Mabel Woodruff with the shovel; Mr. Jason Thomas also with the shovel; a picture of the group; the entire building committee with hands on the shovel consisting of Forest Lance, Robert Farmer, Marion Thomas, Theron Bibler, Jason Thomas, and Mabel Woodruff; Pastor Lance as song leader; and a picture of the architect's drawing for the proposed new church.

indicating that at last we were to have a place of worship of our own, where we would be encouraged to ask others to meet with us?

A week-day night was selected for the event so that other pastors and people from our district would be able to attend. Two cars filled with people from our neighboring Brethren church in Fremont, with their pastor, Rev. Lester Pifer, were able to attend with Rev. Miles Taber and his carful from Ashland. The Lord blessed us with a beautiful evening and a congregation of nearly 100 people. Brother Taber read from the Scriptures and led in prayer, asking God's blessing upon our service and upon our undertaking. Mrs. Lance joined with the pastor in singing a special song fitting the occasion. A group of boys and girls from the vacation Bible school, in progress at that particular time, were present for the service and sang several of the choruses which they had learned during the sessions of the Bible school. The vice moderator assumed charge of the service and presented the shovel to the pastor for the first shovelful of dirt. Immediately following the pastor, the building committee, composed of Jason Thomas, Marion Thomas, Theron Bibler, Robert Farmer, and Mabel Woodruff assisted in the service by digging into the earth. Each of these gave his testimony prior to his participation in the groundbreaking. Brother Pifer, acting in behalf of the Northern Ohio District Mission Board as its president, then completed the groundbreaking and spoke words of greeting from the district. Greetings were also read from Rev. Edward Lewis, of Middlebranch, and Rev. Russell Ward, of Cleveland, on behalf of their congregations. The pastor then closed the service by announcing the contractor and also the date set for the beginning of the construction, June 29.

It seems impossible but, the Lord willing, by the time these words are read by our many friends across this land and on our mission fields of the world, a building will be rising in Findlay, Ohio, to be known as the Findlay Brethren Church. Will you pray with us for its completion and for the effectiveness of its message in this community, so much in need of the saving grace of Christ?

Thanks so much to our many friends throughout the Brethren Church who gave us a start through your Minute-Man dollars. We know not where our last dollars will come from to finish the building, but by faith in a great and loving Saviour and a gracious heavenly Father, we shall press on!

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN BRETHREN HOME MISSIONS

Dear Brethren Home Mission Friend:

We bring you greetings in Jesus' blessed name!

No available words would be adequate to express our gratefulness to you for your help in Brethren home missions. Your prayers and your gifts have made possible the tremendous and amazing advances God has given during the past year.

The Brethren home mission work is no longer a small work. Because of many folks like you and the blessing of God we now have 40 home mission points which are manned by a home mission family of 75. It is impossible for us to imagine the scope and reach of this Gospel testimony all over our nation. Have you read in this magazine of groundbreaking services, cornerstone layings, church dedications, etc., constantly? You have had a definite part in each one of these testimonies for Christ.

But think of the much greater work we could all do for Christ this year in Brethren home missions if each one should increase their praying and giving! The only limits on God's blessings are the ones we place there. New groups of people all over the nation want a Brethren church. Will those of us who are enjoying the blessing of God now hear their cry and meet the need? Or will we close our ears and our hearts to their plea?

Will you start NOW to pray for our greatest home mission offering? Then start immediately to lay aside an offering each week for the evangelization of America!

Yours for more Brethren gospel testimonies,

L. L. Grubb.

THE MARCH OF FREEDOM

In Washington, D. C., July 4 was a time of national emphasis on "faith in God." President Eisenhower inaugurated the "March of Freedom" by signing a declaration of seven divine freedoms.

Since this document is to be distributed across the nation we assume the privilege of printing it here for the consideration of Herald readers.

"Because the forces of evil in the world are bent on destroying our religious freedom as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States and specifically protected by the first amendment to the Constitution, ratified by the people of the United States, and

"Because these same forces are bent on destroying the very foundations of our democracy whose Constitution owes its continued existence to the faith of the people in Almighty God, and

"Because America needs to be reminded of its great spiritual heritage and its responsibility to Almighty God as its sovereign ruler, its purveyor of past blessings, its guarantor of a continuance of justice and liberty for all,

"WE DO THEREFORE AFFIRM that the heritage of freedom which we cherish as Americans is from God, who is the Author of the SEVEN FREEDOMS in the 23d Psalm of the Bible, and

"WE DO FURTHER AFFIRM that only those who have an obedient faith in God are assured of freedom and the abundant life and that only those nations will live and be free whose people have this faith.

"1. FREEDOM FROM WANT—"The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want" (vs. 1).

"2. FREEDOM FROM HUNGER—"He maketh me to lie down in green pastures" (vs. 2a).

"3. FREEDOM FROM THIRST—"He leadeth me beside the still waters" (vs. 2b).

"4. FREEDOM FROM SIN—"He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake" (vs. 3).

"5. FREEDOM FROM FEAR—"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me" (vs. 4).

"6. FREEDOM FROM ENEMIES—"Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies" (vs. 5a).

"6. FREEDOM TO LIVE ABUNDANTLY—"Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever" (vss. 5-6).

"Deeply grateful for the gift of these seven freedoms we now reaffirm our faith in Almighty God, the Author of these freedoms, and in repentance we humbly confess our sins and seek the forgiveness of God and His blessings for our nation, dedicating ourselves henceforth to uphold and proclaim these seven freedoms that all of the world may be free under God."

HOW CAN THIS MOVE BE FULLY BLESSED BY GOD?

Constantly we have prayed that we may not descend to pettiness in Christian evaluations nor lose the graciousness and sweetness of fundamentalism. In pointing out what we believe to be a fatal error in this declaration we believe we are manifesting Christian kindness and guaranteeing the blessing of God for those who receive this truth.

How can any so-called Christian declaration be blessed by God when it completely ignores the one Mediator between God and man, the Man Christ Jesus? Nowhere in the text of this statement is the name of Christ mentioned. There is not even an inference that He is necessary to the whole picture.

Throughout all of Scripture, both Old and New Testaments, one fact is outstanding. "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time" (I Tim. 2:5-6). In Ephesians 2 and multiplied other passages we are clearly shown that all blessings from God come through Christ.

Can God bless our nation except through Christ? How can we confess our sins without our Great High Priest? Will God take the promises of the 23d Psalm which were spoken to Israel describing the work of the Great Shepherd of the sheep and apply them to unbelievers without that Shepherd? Has God changed the plan of His visitation upon men as eternally announced in His Word? How can we have freedom except through the one who said: "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed" (John 8:36)?

SHALL WE FEAR OFFENDING THE WORLD?

But the excuse is always made that there are certain religious persuasions that would not accept such a declaration should it contain the name of Christ. We judge that for this reason most national and international documents which touch on anything religious may mention the name of God but ignore Jesus Christ. Thus we are told that it is better to have people thinking and talking of God without mentioning Christ than not to be religious at all. Is it? Without Christ God can be only a wrathful Judge to men. If there is to be salvation and blessing now or in eternity it must come from God

EVERY CORPORATION MEMBER PLEASE NOTE

The annual corporation meeting of the Brethren Home Missions Council, Inc., Winona Lake, Ind., will be held on Wednesday, August 26, 1953, from 1:45 p. m. to 2:45 p. m. in the Auditorium Building, Winona Lake.

THROUGH CHRIST. If it is an offense to the world to mention the name of Christ, then we had better offend with the hope that some may be saved. The issue is inescapable. The door to heaven is closed to all but those who enter through Christ.

SHALL WE OFFER THE SAVIOUR THE SECOND PLACE?

Some fundamentalists may think it subtle to omit mention of the Saviour in such a declaration and contend that now we must interpret that declaration and point out that it is only through Christ that a man can have faith in God. This is the spring of neo-orthodoxy and modernism. Modernists believe in God. They pray to Him directly without reference to Christ. Indeed, they talk about our Lord but look not on Him as the one Mediator between God and man. This is a subtle trick of Satan. Giving Christ second place or minimizing His position and Person at any time is serious and dangerous. Placing the task of interpretation in the hands of men may also be dangerous.

DVBS AT CORDILLERA, NEW MEXICO

In the top picture are the children of the Cordillera DVBS, with the helpers, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Inman, and the pastor, Tony Luna. Mr. Inman graduated from Grace Theological Seminary this spring, and during his school years helped in the Leesburg Brethren Church, which has made possible the Inmans' help for this Spanish-American DVBS work. In the center is the Cordillera church, which has a building fund and plans to enlarge the church this year even though it has been established less than two years. The bottom picture was taken on the evening of the closing DVBS program.

Could not the writers of this declaration of freedom have at least mentioned the Saviour in the last paragraph? They could have said, "Deeply grateful for the gift of these seven freedoms we now reaffirm our faith in Almighty God, and in His only Son, Jesus Christ," etc.

CHRISTIAN CENTURY PUBLISHER ARRESTED

Recently Robert Willet, publisher of the Protestant nondenominational Christian Century magazine, was fined $100 and costs on charges of drunken driving.

We cannot help but wonder if this indicates anything about the power of the grace of God the modernists talk about. The kind of grace we know about in our blessed Lord Jesus Christ will keep a man from drinking, not to say anything about getting drunk. We suggest to Mr. Willet that he should try some of this grace for daily living.

It is true that a magazine cannot be fully judged on the basis of the publisher's actions. However, it is well to point out to the Christian reading public that there is a difference in so-called Christian magazines as there is a difference in preachers in these days of apostasy.

Be discerning!

REASONS FOR THE PHOENIX MINUTE-MAN LETTER

Minute-Men first won their battles on the east coast. But today Brethren Minute-Men are storming the citadels of Satan away out west in Phoenix, Ariz. As the first Minute-Men won their battles, so are the Brethren Minute-Men victorious in the power of God.

Those whom you see here pictured are Brethren Minute-Men right on the firing line. They are pouring their time, prayers, talents, and money into this new work in a very sacrificial way. As a result a new Brethren church has been born in Phoenix. But the group must have a church building or they cannot grow as they should.

In four pictures you see four departments of the Phoenix Sunday school totaling 70 present on June 21, with the parsonage serving as the meeting place. The picture inset is that of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dawson and daughter. Mr. Dawson is enrolled in Grace Seminary as a result of the Brethren testimony in Phoenix.

As a true Brethren Minute-Man you can help these hard-working Phoenix Brethren! How? When you receive that Brethren Minute-Man letter you can take the envelope and put one dollar or more in it and return it to Winona Lake immediately. Or, if your name is not listed with the Brethren Minute-Men, you can send us your name and address and enclose one dollar or more in the letter to help this worthy new Brethren church in Phoenix.

Let us hear from you soon!

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

SEATTLE, WASH. (Thomas Hammers, pastor)—

The Seattle brethren in a recent meeting adopted the name "View Ridge Brethren Church," which ties the name in with the new church location. The Monday-night Bible class at the YMCA will be discontinued and a concentration of our efforts started in the new area. This is to include a full schedule of Sunday services with a Bible study and prayer service on Wednesday night. The Minute-Man funds plus our building fund is being used to pay on the lots and we trust that in the near future we can begin planning for a new church building.

PHOENIX, ARIZ. (J. C. "Bill" McKillen, pastor)—

The Bible school picnic was held recently with 71 in attendance. Others had planned to attend, but for sickness, tragedy, or some other reason they failed to make it. Our Bible-school attendance has averaged 70 for 1953 up to the present time and so the picnic attendance we feel was very good. Well over 50 decisions for Christ have been made by children since our arrival on the Phoenix field in 1952, but these have not all resulted in church affiliation. However, 8 children and 11 adults have been baptized and added to the church in this same period.

BEAUMONT, CALIF. (Gene Farrell, pastor)—

"I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in truth," said the Apostle John, and we, too, are experiencing similar joy as we observe real growth in some of the younger converts here. Deliverance from habits, prayer burdens, attendance at the prayer meetings, study and memorization of God's Word, revival emphasis, victory over criticism—whether on their part or that of other Christians—giving thanks in trying circumstances, willingness to serve, family altars, are some of the things that have gladdened this pastor's heart. PLANS FOR DEDICATION OF THE NEW CHERRY VALLEY BRETHREN CHURCH HAVE BEEN COMPLETED AND IT WILL TAKE PLACE JULY 19, 1953.

FINDLAY, OHIO (Forest F. Lance, pastor)—

June has brought us many spiritual victories including the baptism and addition of five to our membership. Vacation Bible school, with an average attendance of 42, brought forth decisions from several boys and girls. Six of our young people were able to attend a Brethren camp for the first time. They enjoyed it so much they are making plans to return in 1954. The big event of the month was the groundbreaking service and the evidence of the Lord's blessing on our building program.

TEMPLE CITY, CALIF. (Leo Polman, pastor)—

An all-time high has been reached by this home mission church in giving to foreign missions. Our goal was set at $2,000 and our offering reached the figure of $2,341.80. This is an average of $40 per capita and we praise the Lord for such a victory.

Our Christian day school just closed with the largest enrollment in its four-year history and the prospects for next year are even better than the past year.

PORTLAND, OREG. (Vernon Harris, pastor)—

In the picture with Evangelist "Bob" Ashman is Mr. Maynard Williams, an employee of Sears, Roebuck and Company in their display department. Mr. Williams directs the music of the church and in addition uses his talent for decorating the church on special occasions. From the picture you will recognize that this occasion was Easter and it was at the time of our evangelistic meeting with Brother Ashman.

KINGSPORT, TENN. (Dean Fetterhoff, Grace Seminary student)—

I hardly know how to begin this letter to try to tell you of God's blessing on our work for Him in Kingsport, Tenn. We spent the first two days house-hunting. The Lord directed us to an apartment and when the owner learned our purpose he said: "Since you are in the Lord's work I'll take the tithe from the rent and give it back to you." The remaining days of almost three weeks we have been looking for a place to hold our services, but in the meantime visiting in 180 homes. Many claim church membership, but on two streets particularly I would say 60 percent of the people told me they were unsaved. A child evangelism class has been started and we would like for you to pray for it. Also pray for our need of a meeting place and the need for wisdom in this work.

CLAYHOLE, KY. (Sewell Landrum, missionary)—

June was camp month at Clayhole. The first week we had 77 junior campers, of which 20 were from Clayhole. During the week there were 31 decisions and 7 of these were our own Clayhole children. From June 15 to 19

A SUNDAY IN NAVAHOLAND

By Evan Adams, Brethren Navaho Mission

Sunday is always our busiest day here at the Navaho Mission. School being out relieves us of many of the duties connected with the children, but still Sunday is a very busy day. There is no Sunday school to be held and so the morning is devoted to camp visitation. Where to begin today? We have had a call to come to a camp where a man is either sick or injured in the throat. The truck didn't return until late yesterday evening and so we will make this call first thing this morning.

Joan, Mrs. Antone (our Navaho interpreter), and I climb into the truck and start west toward the intended camp of visitation. Soon we leave the graded dirt road and are bouncing over the wagon trails which seem to cross and wander aimlessly. As the ruts get too deep for passage, a new trail is begun parallel to the trail, or through some new location which offers less resistance. And thus is created the maze over which we are bouncing. We continue following the trail until it forks left and begins a climb through a hill of sagebrush and stunted cedar trees. Ahead lies the camp, and several figures are seen running around the hogans and corrals, excited at the approach of the missionary's truck. We have our songbooks and are prepared to hold a service for the people here since they don't usually come to the mission for any of the services.

The truck comes to a halt in the clearing before the one hogan. A young mother is seated on the ground nursing her three-month-old baby. The father stands idly by, leaning against the doorpost of the hogan. An old woman stares at us out of her smoke-blackened tent and then gives us a toothless grin. As we climb down from the cab the familiar greeting is exchanged in Navaho to all in sight, and handshaking is indulged in by all. The old woman comes from her tent and greets us with another, much-wrinkled grin, her ample skirts ragged and as dirty as the tent in which she lives her solitary life.

A man shouts to us from a short distance away, out in the sagebrush. He starts to come toward the group that is clustered around the hogan door, but his gait and direction are not too sure. As he is coming toward us another man appears in the sage; this one has been lying down, for he wasn't visible when we drove in. Yes, both men are very drunk. They come reeling, shouting incoherently, and cursing. Every Navaho man knows how to curse in English even though he is not bilingual. Both men are drunken enough to cause trouble and to have little reasoning power left. Empty wine bottles lying about the ground portray the familiar "La Coptia" label, the brand as familiar in this area as the "Coca Cola" brand in every grocery store.

We attempt to engage the men in conversation but can get nowhere. One is the man who was reported in need of medical care, but he is not rational enough to treat nor to find out his trouble. Instead, he wants to fight as he shouts that Washingtoni (the U. S. Government) isn't taking good care of him, one of the Dine (the people, Navahos). We find it best to keep out of his range and to push him occasionally when he gets too rough and close.

The other man is no less rough and is shouting wildly and gesticulating. Through Mrs. Antone we learn his harangue is directed at us. He has come home from two months on the railroad labor gang just last night and finds that his wife is in the hospital with a broken leg. He curses us and accuses us of taking his wife to the hospital, when he had told his family not to have anything to do with us and never go to a hospital. (He is one of the local medicine-men, the one most antagonistic to our mission.) He too is beyond any possible reasoning and talking sensibly. His wife fell into a hole at night while drunk and broke the leg just below the knee. She laid in the hogan three days before we were notified and then refused to go to the hospital when we called for her. A splint was put on the leg and she was left, only to appear at the mission five days later wanting some medical help. When we got her to the hospital the leg had been broken nine days, thus requiring a period of three weeks' hospitalization to correct the improper healing.

It is obvious that we can do no good here and the men are getting more violent, even toward the women from the mission. The young women and girls at the camp attempt to restrain the drunken men, but to no avail. Finally our women are told to get into the truck for the sake of safety. The drunken husband is now swinging at the truck and cursing more loudly. Three women are holding the other at bay. As we turn the truck about and start to drive away, the man picks up a large rock and hurls it at our truck, the rock landing in the truck bed; fortunately his aim is bad, for the rock weighs 20 pounds and is a foot in circumference.

One-quarter of a mile up the hill we find five little girls hiding in the brush and scrub trees from their drunken father. In a tent nearby sits the old grandmother, nearly blind and nearly deaf, her white hair hanging in unkempt strands about her face. We go in and greet her and visit with her while the girls are getting ready to go with us to the mission for the afternoon services.

"Does anyone love you?" we ask her, wanting to tell her that the Lord Jesus loves her.

"I don't know if anyone loves me; they never say if they do or not," is her reply.

"Did you know that God loves you?" we further ask.

"I didn't know that God loved me," she replies, bewildered. And so we have a chance to tell her of the love of God for all people regardless of their color, language, or level of life.

"What do you think about while you sit here day after day in your tent? Do you ever think about God and the life you have lived?"

Pausing momentarily, she looks blankly at us, and then replies, "I never think, I guess; I am too old to think."

"Where will you go when this life is finished and your body is laid away in the ground?"

Again she pauses as though pondering our question, and then with no expression on her face or in her voice says, "Hoola (I don't know)."

Evan Adams

The little girls climb into the bed of the truck and we drive away from the old woman, leaving her lonely and fearful of the drunken son-in-law just over the hill.

Driving back over the dirt road toward the mission we find one of our schoolboys leading his blind mother, waiting for the truck to take them to the mission for the afternoon services. Soon we have picked up a truck-load from that area and are nearing home.

People begin to wander into the mission compound from over the hill, where they have tied their horses. A wagon comes down off the hill and the team is unhitched and hobbled for a little grazing. The schoolboys soon find their bat and ball and begin an awkward game of catching flies. The people squat on the front porch and laugh at the small boys with the large bat. Others sit in the shade of the pumphouse and visit with friends from another area.

Soon the truck is back again with a load. Thirty-one people finally emerge from under the canvas canopy of the truck—babies on cradle-boards, small boys, old men, giggling girls. The bright skirts and blouses of the women are vivid in the midday sun.

Finally everyone is in the chapel. The men hang back, standing at the rear, too shy to come and take an empty seat near the front. With much coaxing and directing everyone is seated and the service begins. As we are singing the familiar hymns in Navaho, few join us, except for the school children, who are less shy and have sung them so often. The school children come up and sing two verses of "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart" for the adults. Proud mothers grin, and others scold those who are reluctant to sing.

Testimony time precedes the reading of God's Word, and five stand up and give a testimony of the gladness of their hearts, the desire to have their children grow up as Christians, the assurance in their hearts that these things from God's Word are true. Blind Mrs. Pinto, a former medicine-woman, stands up and says that she is happy to know that someday she shall see again. Seated in our congregation is another of the local medicine-men, his first time in our services. His daughter is one of our strongest Christian girls now. She has told him to come too.

During the story of the flood that destroyed the earth the people sit pensively. Babies cry and the mothers raise them to their breasts to quiet them. Young men hang their heads as an evidence of conviction. Others try to hide behind the people on the bench ahead of them. As the service draws to a close small boys get restless and go out the door. A couple of old men get up and noisily slam the door on their departure. We are dealing now with personal hearts and asking each to search his heart for the moving of the Spirit of God in his life.

As we are singing a closing hymn three women come to the altar for prayer and counseling toward salvation. Conviction is on the face of many. The mother of two of our schoolboys, who lives 30 miles away, finally comes to accept the Lord as her own. She has listened very seriously to the message. Now she is ready to do what she said a few days ago she knew she should do.

After the meeting is closed three more women and two girls come up to the altar, too bashful to come before all the people. Each one has a period of prayer from her own heart. When these are dismissed, three wish to stay for further explanation of God's Word and the Christian life. One, a young mother, says that she wanted to tell us how happy she is since she is a Christian. She was too shy to stand up during the testimony time. And she asks that we please come and visit her hogan and tell her more about Jesus.

The women are busy handing out the clothing to the people and administering medication where it is needed. The crowd begins to scatter over the compound, some hitching up their teams, others waiting for the truck trip to their area. The loudspeaker system is carrying testimonies and songs in Navaho out over the surrounding yard and hills from the record player in the chapel. Some who are here for the first time today are anxiously inquiring if the truck will take them home too.

It is 7:45 p. m. as the headlights of the truck light the drive up the hill, coming in from the last load of people to be driven home.

TAOS DVBS CLOSES WITH PICNIC

The pictures of the DVBS group at Taos, N. Mex., were taken on a picnic at the close of their school. The boys and girls enjoyed a picnic lunch and especially the "pop" as indicated here in the group pictures. The couple inset are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fiscus, of the First Brethren Church, Kittanning, Pa. This couple spent their vacation helping in the Taos DVBS, which we think is a fine plan for a vacation and serving the Lord at the same time.

NAVAHO MISSION WORK EXPANDING?

YES, WITH YOUR HELP

Have you finished reading "A Sunday in Navaho-land"? If not, you should before reading these words. Multiply this story by 7 and it will give you an idea of the spare time left for our fine Navaho mission staff. There just is no extra time and yet another building is needed at the station. In the picture you see the super-intending missionary, Evan Adams, laying up the wall because the new mission home is needed by the time school starts about September 1. In the accompanying picture are most of the building materials needed and these were provided with gifts designated for that purpose only. There is a real need here for those who can donate labor to help in the building and a real need for designated funds to equip the new mission home. If you are an average person you are now asking the question, "Why another building?" This is a good question and we can give you a good answer.

The present mission home, as seen in the top picture, this last school year housed Brother and Sister Adams and their three children; the interpreter and her husband, Brother and Sister Antone; the cook for the school, Mrs. Mary Baer; and a part-time helper for several months. It served as the schoolroom for 30 children 5 days of the week and as the chapel for all Sunday services. It served as the kitchen and the dining room for 30 children and the 9 members of the staff and family 7 days a week. It contains the medical dispensary and also the used clothing storage. It is the missionary's office and his study. It serves many other purposes such as a gymnasium on days when the weather is too bad for the school children to play outdoors. With this much activity in a building approximately 45 by 55, we believe you will agree that this answers the question, "Why another building?"

Now we must depend on you for the answer to "How another building?" Surely the missionaries do not have the spare time needed for such a project, and this is where you come in if you can help in donating some time in the construction. The building must be ready for occupancy before September 1. Others may not be able to donate time but can assist in supplying furnishings and equipment for the new home through the avenue of gifts. Some have already given to make possible the purchase of the lumber to get the building started, and we believe you will want to help see the job completed now that the need has been presented to you.

NEW LOTS IN PARKERSBURG, W. VA.

The Grace Ambassador almost did a "round robin" a few days ago when we flew from Winona Lake to Pittsburgh, Connellsville, Parkersburg, and back to Findlay, Ohio, in one day. We could have just as easily been back home for supper the same day.

Bro. Clyde Landrum became our passenger at Connellsville and represented the East Fellowship District Mission Board as we investigated new lots for our Brethren church in Parkersburg.

The Lord has given us a splendid, large, well-located piece of property in Parkersburg. Reactions to the pastor, Brother Smitley, from local businessmen indicated great favor toward us in the purchase of this property.

The Parkersburg group has been willing to launch out on faith and is hoping to soon have a church building on these lots.

MEETING WITH FINDLAY GROUP

On the tail-end of the eastern flight we stopped at Findlay and thoroughly enjoyed a time of fellowship with the Brethren there. After the evening service plans for the new building were discussed again.

Our friends will be glad to know that construction is now under way in Findlay.

NEW RADIO PROGRAMS AVAILABLE

Recently 25 new radio programs were made with the Gospel Truth male quartet featured on each broadcast together with the solos of Bro. LeRoy Hawkins.

We remind our churches again that these broadcasts with a national emphasis are available to any Brethren church. Provision is made for the message of the local pastor on each program.

CUYAHOGA FALLS PLANNING TO PURCHASE NEW LOTS

During a recent visit in the Falls we looked at some new lots which are to be purchased by the Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, church, with plans to place the first unit of a new church building on them as quickly as possible.

Bro. Richard Burch, the pastor, and the church need your prayers for wisdom in this great undertaking.

WESTERN TRIP TO SIX MISSION POINTS

With usual efficiency the Navion took us west to six mission points and one district conference in record time.

Albuquerque, N. Mex., was the first stop. Here we

PARKERSBURG PASTOR ORDAINED AT BERNE, IND.

Lester Smitley, the home mission pastor at Parkersburg, W. Va., has now joined the ranks of ordained Brethren ministers. The ordination service was held recently at Brother Smitley's home church in Berne, Ind., and his former pastor, Rev. Ord Gehman, brought the ordination message. It was a blessed service, and assisting in it were Brethren James Hammer, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Ralph Colburn, national youth director; and L. L. Grubb, Brethren home missions secretary. We rejoice and praise God for such services where we see young men moving out on the firing line for Christ.

met on the Lord's Day with the Spanish-American Brethren and heard one of the boys who has been absent at Bible institute bring a fine message.

Our Indian mission at Counselor Post was next on the list. Here we found our missionaries, Brother and Sister Adams, hard at work, and doing a fine job for Christ. It was a thrill to see how much progress is being made both physically and spiritually. Navaho souls are finding Christ. Brother Adams is also in process of building a house and needs much help.

A short hop across the deep western canyons brought us again into the shade of the mighty Sangre de Cristo range and to the quaint little town of Taos, where God has so wonderfully blessed the work among the Spanish-American brethren. Bro. Sam Horney, our missionary superintendent among the Spanish-Americans, met us and told us the story of the Lord's blessing on the work.

Summertime is daily vacation Bible school time with 10 different schools scheduled for the area. Two of these were just completed as we arrived and we had the privilege of meeting in the commencement services both in Taos and Cordillera. The churches in Arroyo Hondo, under the leadership of David Tollardo, and in Cordillera, under Tony Luna, are both showing real progress. Pray that the Lord will enable us to find support for our Spanish-American native missionaries and that the number of our mission stations will be increased.

The trip from Taos across the Rockies into Denver was beautiful and a matter of just two hours. Here in Denver the Midwest District Conference was in session with delegates from the various churches meeting in our fine new Denver church. The sessions of the conference were a blessing. Challenging messages from the Word exercised our hearts.

The churches of the Midwest District are widely separated. We certainly need more Brethren churches in that great area with its growing population.

BLESSINGS IN THE LAND OF TALL CORN

Of course everybody knows that Iowa is the land of tall corn. It was here in this great State that we recently met in another district conference with the special blessing of God.

The Iowa District is showing signs of real growth in missionary vision and giving. The new church in Cedar Rapids and the Bible class in Davenport give practical evidence of this fact. The district mission board is planning greater expansion for the next year and will be working the Davenport field with the Home Missions Council.

HOME MISSION FIELD REPORTS

was the high-school age camp and of the 61 attending only 1 boy returned home unsaved. On Thursday evening, June 18, we had the faggot service and it was interesting to see the huge bonfire, the semicircle of folks and young people giving a testimony and dedicating their lives to the Lord. Five of the 12 accepting Christ as Saviour in this service were from Clayhole. Two more Clayhole boys made their decision on the following day and everyone returned home bubbling over with joy.

Just east of the Rockies another great victory was won in Brethren home missions recently. The cornerstone was laid in the wall of the new Denver Brethren Church.

This building is complete except the finishing of the first-floor auditorium. It has been constructed by a Christian contractor who has given us the advantage of all possible financial savings. Located in one of the finest sections of the great city of Denver, this church will serve a large new housing area.

The address on this occasion was brought by Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, professor and dean in Grace Seminary. Greetings were brought by Dr. Murray, the contractor,

Sunday, June 28, 1953, was a memorable day in the history of the Patterson Park Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio, as they vacated their former meeting place, a school building, and entered their new church home located at 708 Shadowlawn Avenue. It was a day that saw attendance records broken and a day filled with praise to God for His many blessings since the beginning of the work. Visiting Brethren helped to push the morning worship service over the 100 mark while the Sunday school recorded 96. To complete the first full Sunday schedule of services for these Brethren, there were 40 present in the evening. You will readily observe from the picture that the building is not complete, but it is usable and will serve as the church home while the remaining work is being finished.

and also by Luther L. Grubb. Bro. Lowell Hoyt has pastored the church during the construction period.

This, another home mission dividend, should serve to remind all of us that God has blessed in the past in using our prayers and gifts. It should also speak of greater challenges for the future which come before us in increasing numbers.

IN REPLY TO YOUR LETTER

By Bruce L. Button

Sometime ago there was published in the Herald, under the title, "Thanks for Your Letter," a letter which was received from a Mr. R—. My reply to that letter was also published. Since that time there has been further correspondence. Thinking it might be of interest to all those who read this page, I am quoting below the reply of Mr. R— to my letter as well as my reply to this later letter of his. Mr. R—'s reaction to our contacts and literature sets forth in a great measure the reaction of Jewish people as a whole to the preaching of the Gospel. We have one advantage in our favor today. Jewish people, regardless of their biased minds, will read Christian literature and discuss Christian concepts. This is something they would not formerly do. As it is the Word of God which convicts, and not our human argument and reasoning, we may say with great confidence that God will raise up in these last days a great many Jewish believers in Messiah.

Perhaps after reading the bitterness in the letter of Mr. R— the reader will be prone to say with the disciples, "Who then can be saved?" It will be of great comfort if they will but fall back on the promise of the Lord Jesus in Matthew 19:26, "With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible."

"Mr. Button:

"In regards to your long letter of 4-10-52, I again am impressed, this time of your superb way of self-apology. I cannot admire your intelligence in the matter of the Jews' acceptance of Christ as the Messiah, nor can I accept or appreciate the time you took and research you made to write to me of your belief. But I do feel as strongly as you do in certain respects to the way we practice our religion, both Christian and Jew. I will not at this time go into the way I personally feel, as you probably can judge I am both rushed for spare time and incapable of writing my emotions and feelings on a letter. I will tell you that I feel you are in need of a lesson also. You preach a sermon in the behalf of your Christ; now listen to me in behalf of my country.

"You are a sinner—you are worse than a Communist or any 'ism' America has to face! Why? Because, Mr. Button, you and your "methods of operation" can ruin our personal liberties and can set an American way of life into mixed feelings and beliefs. Why do I judge you as a personal symbol? Because, mister, you are doing to a race what America is trying to fight for—you are stealing personal belief—you are mixing your communism into a religion and you are trying to create a way of life that will benefit you. I can't for the life of me see why a man of your intelligence could try and pull a gimmick like this. Sell Christ to the goyim. They need him and you need your money, but don't try and take away a heritage passed down through generations.

"America is founded on freedom and you can see that freedom on Fairfax Avenue or Wilshire Boulevard, or any point of this God-given land—but you are trying desperately to take these away from people that don't need you and your peddlers to tell them how to believe.

As a point of comparison, your peddler came to the door and said, 'Is this a Jewish family?' He or she is more interested in selling his wares of Christ than in bettering themselves and others in their own race. I am deeply hurt and plan further steps to see that you and your gang are put out of business. You can't fight America, Mr. Button—so button your lip in this community and let Americans live and believe as they please. If this letter in any way impresses you in the least I suggest you take your ideas and family and move to Russia. Try your spiel on them—I mean you no harm and I am sure as an adult you can see the personal harm you are doing to my, not your, country, because, sir, if you thought it was your country you wouldn't so meekly try to overthrow our belief and way of life.

N. R.

"P. S. Please do not mail me any of your literature on Messiah. If you feel you want to answer my letter, fine; that's the one freedom you people wouldn't have in Russia.

"P. P. S. If I have any further trouble with you and your bunch I am going to personally go around to the Young Jewish League of Los Angeles and we will give you the sensationalism you require.

"Thanks."

"Dear Mr. R—:

"This is in reply to your letter of April 17. I have reread my letter of April 10 and am at a loss to understand the attitude it caused you to evidence in your reply. At no time have I tried to 'force' you to believe anything, nor have I restricted your 'liberties' in any way. This letter, like its predecessor, is simply written to encourage you to read and consider, with an unbiased mind, the prophecies of the T'nach, as related to the Person of Jesus, the Messiah. Time spent in research was not necessary, for the information and Scripture contained in my letter is the common knowledge of those who have a deep love and high regard for God, Jesus the Messiah, and the Jewish people.

"You were right in saying I am a sinner. The Bible maintains 'all have sinned,' that 'there is no man that sinneth not.' These statements and many others like them include even you. But I thank and praise God that because of the blood of His Son, the Messiah, I am a saved sinner! I am sure I stand in an acceptable relationship with God! I know I am not under the doom of sin, which is eternal separation from God, according to the T'nach. I wonder if you can say the same, when Moses makes the firm statement in the Torah, 'Chi hadom hu banephesh yekapher'—'because it is the blood that maketh an atonement (a covering or shield) for the soul.'

"Again I urge you to read! But this time particularly regarding the founding of this country you and I so love; this country which permits the civil and religious liberties we so enjoy. You will find that its laws were founded on the principles laid down in the T'nach and the New Testament! These principles which were laid down by Jesus, the Messiah. And these principles were set forth by men who believed in Jesus and the efficacy of His atoning blood! They were, to put it another way, Messianic believers. These liberties are, if you please, the outcome of the efforts of men who were seeking a place where they could worship Jesus, the Messiah, as they pleased. Knowing that belief in Jesus is not possible for any man until God convicts him of his sinful condition and his desperate need of a sacrifice for sin, they, in the grace of Messiah, so framed our country's laws that there was extended to all the right to worship as one pleased, regardless of what or how they worshiped. Our country is founded on freedom, it is true, but that freedom is the outcome of Christian or Messianic thought, for those who drew up our cornerstone of freedom and liberty, the Constitution, knew that belief in the Lord Jesus was not something to be forced on a person but rather it could only be brought about by the working of the Spirit of God with that person. If God did not convict of sin, there would be no hope for that person. In the words of Saul of Tarsus, a Jewish believer, 'If our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost.' Therefore, those who do believe know they cannot cause anyone to believe. They can only proclaim the Gospel. But still they want all men to have the right they have of freedom in all things and from fear."

I TIMOTHY

I. Presents—

- A. The true function of the church—the proclamation of the truth in the world.
- B. The true function of the minister—the exposition of the truth within the church.

II. Key Words.

- A. Sound doctrine (1:10; 6:3).
- B. It is a faithful saying (1:15; 3:1; 4:9).
- C. Godliness (2:2, 10; 3:16; 4:7, 8; 6:3, 5, 6, 11).
- D. Fables (1:4; 4:7).
- E. Vain babblings (6:20; 1:6).
- F. Genealogies (1:4).

III. Key Verses.

- A. Concerning the true function of the church (3:15-16).
- B. Concerning the true function of the minister (4:9-16).
- C. The Gospel message (1:15).
- D. Christ the Mediator (2:5-6).
- E. Doctrine of the incarnation (3:16).

IV. Key Outline. (Dr. C. I. Scofield's is very good).

- A. Introduction (1:1-4).

PASTOR'S OCCASION FOR REJOICING

A baptismal service is one that brings rejoicing to a pastor because it is the evidence of fruit in his ministry. Here you see Rev. J. Ward Tressler, of Chico, Calif., baptizing one of the more than 50 who joined the Chico church during his ministry of five years. Brother Tressler will be leaving the Chico field but continuing to serve God in Brethren home missions at the Juniata, Altoona, Pa., church.

- B. The church before the world (1:5-20).
- C. The church before God (2:1-15).
- D. The church and its leaders (3:1-16).
- E. A charge to Timothy (4-6).
- 1. Concerning the times (4:1-7).
- 2. Concerning himself (4:8-16).
- 3. Concerning the membership (5:1-6:21).

V. Key Thought for Today.

- A. For the church—she must be fitted for the fulfillment of her function.

- 1. Her Gospel must be an unchanging Gospel.
- 2. Her worship must be unceasing—especially in prayer.
- 3. She must be responsive to the authority of a faithful ministry.

- B. For the ministry—the instrument must be fitted for the fulfillment of its function.

- 1. Unswerving behavior—behavior toward others in harmony with the truth proclaimed.
- 3. Realization of godliness in personal life—personal life harmonious with the truth, mastered by the truth, responsive to the truth. "No man can be in the ministry of Jesus Christ and fulfill the ideals of this letter to Timothy without putting into the business of his ministry, the business of his study, the business of his expositions, the business of his life, all the forces of his being" (Morgan).

- C. "Let those who teach the Word of God, whether in the larger assembly, or in the smaller circle, remember that teaching is only valuable and dynamic in the measure in which it is given, not by intellectual processes merely, but by volitional obedience and the changed life that results" (Morgan).

Dr. Elias D. White preached at South Gate, Calif., where he was pastor for 13 years, July 5, while Pastor Alfred Dodds was teaching in the youth camp.

Robert Lichti, of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree from Stanford University. He won honors in the school and was given membership in Phi Beta Kappa and Tau Beta Pi, honorary scholarship societies.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Balzer, missionaries on furlough from Africa, are both recovering from surgery received in California.

Mrs. Helen Reuter, music director, and Miss Barbara Yerian, pianist, of the Los Angeles, Calif., Second church, are spending the summer in touring Europe.

Dean and Mrs. Kenneth M. Monroe, of Westmont College, Santa Barbara, Calif., are spending the summer in the British Isles.

Bro. Edward Ross, an active member of the Long Beach, Calif., First church since March 18, 1934, died in his sleep June 27. He was a deacon and a member of many boards and committees in his own church, and served several times as a district conference officer. He transported many hundreds of boys and girls to and from Bible school and saw many of them receive Christ as Saviour. He led one man to the Lord while in his last sickness in the hospital. Besides his wife, he leaves two sons.

Rev. Thomas Inman, recent graduate from Grace Seminary and the new pastor of the Denver, Colo., church, lives at 883 S. Federal Blvd., Denver, Colo. (Change Annual, p. 75.)

Rev. D. F. Eikenberry, Yakima, Wash., now more than 80 years of age, is seriously ill in a Yakima hospital.

Speakers at the pastorless Bellflower, Calif., church in June were Rev. Bruce Button, Rev. Albert Flory, and Dr. E. Alquist.

Dr. Herman A. Hoyt preached at Dallas Center, Iowa, June 25; at Portis, Kans., June 26-28; Taos, N. Mex., June 29; and Phoenix, Ariz., June 30.

The Johnstown, Pa., First church, pastored by Dr. William A. Ogden, had an enrollment of 164 and an average attendance of 137 in its daily Bible school. Several of these pupils received Christ as Saviour. There were 25 workers and the offering amounted to $100.

WILL GOD SPARE AMERICA?

By Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind.

"North America belonged to the Indians, and the white man had no right to drive them out and take their land."

We often hear declarations like this, but it is not true. America did not belong to the Indians. "The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof" (Psa. 24:1). God did not create the earth and then go off and let it gravitate in its own direction. Rather did He create it for a purpose and He now watches over every detail with a zealous eye, even to the fall of a tiny sparrow.

He gave the various nations their inheritance and set "the bounds of their habitation" (Acts 17:26). That is, He piled up mountains and carved out seas; He spread out deserts and cut broad rivers, as bounds for the nations. He placed Italy in the sea and blocked her off with the Alps Mountains. He surrounded England with water and placed distance between Europe and America.

God Has a Plan

And why did God do all of this? Verily, He had but one purpose and that a well-determined one: "That they should seek the Lord" (Acts 17:27).

One time I fenced off a place in my barn, bought two or three hundred white hens. I fed them; I watered them; I worked and cared for them, that they might produce eggs. But a few months later I found that my profit was below zero. So I sold the entire lot and purchased a few Barred Rock chicks to take their place.

And so does God give various nations a chance to do His will, but when they glorify Him not as God, and do not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gives them up to reap the error of their way (Rom. 1).

When Nations Failed

In the days of Noah, the human race had departed far from its God, so God did exactly the same thing that I did with my chickens, He destroyed that unprofitable race and started a new age with Noah and his family.

God "gave unto Esau mount Seir" (Josh. 24:4); and unto the Moabites He gave Ar; and the country of Ammon He gave "unto the children of Lot for a possession" (Deut. 2:9, 19). He gave the land east of the Mediterranean Sea to the Canaanites, but when "the iniquity of the Amorites" was full, God brought Israel across Jordan to destroy those nations and possess the land (Gen. 15:16).

God did this that Israel might serve her God. Centuries passed, and Israel failed to serve her God, so God brought in Nebuchadnezzar, a heathen king, to drive them off their land.

The Indians Failed

God gave North America to the Indians "that they should seek the

Rev. R. I. Humberd

Lord." But our history books abound with evidence of their failure to serve the God of heaven.

The very basis of their life was violence and bloodshed. They spent their time in plotting against their fellow men. They delighted in their war dances, their war paint, and their blood-curdling war whoops. They used these things to inflame themselves to murder and pillage the neighboring tribe. The very pride of an Indian brave was to kill a man, tear off the entire top of his head, and stride proudly into camp with the bloody scalp dangling at his side. He delighted to torture and kill, to steal and destroy.

God Brings Judgment

When the iniquity of the Amorites was full, the barrier of the River Jordan became a path for a God-fearing nation to move in, displace the inhabitants of the land, and form a nation whose God was the true God of heaven. When the iniquity of the Indian was full, the barrier of the Atlantic bore on its bosom the Mayflower and its precious load to displace the Indian and found a nation on the Word of God.

Centuries passed and Israel departed from her God and God brought fierce judgment upon her. It is always the way of our God to judge sin, and the greater the opportunity, the greater the sin.

America Has Failed

And so today! The God who brought the Pilgrim to a fertile land and formed a mighty nation is almost ruled out of His own land. His laws are flouted; His commandments are broken; His Godhead is defied; His love is spurned; His warnings are unheeded; His judgments are scoffed at; His Word is denied; His people are hated; His name is blasphemed; His churches are neglected; His redemption is scorned; His ministers are insulted; His people are mocked; and His ways are opposed.

In one city where I held a meeting I was told that only eight people in a hundred even go to church. Verily, when we remember that wheat and tares are growing together, that only a small part of the churchgoers are true believers, how scarce indeed must be the precious wheat.

Beware

Verily, if God spared not the sinful Amorites, but replaced them with a godly nation; if God spared not that same nation when it went into apostasy; if God spared not the Indian, but replaced him with the Puritan band, then America, take heed, lest He spare not thee also.

KITTANNING DVBS SUCCESSFUL

The Kittanning, Pa., First church, pastored by Gordon W. Bracker, closed its vacation Bible school June 26, having had an enrollment of 157 and an average attendance of 123. There were 67 pupils with perfect attendance, the offerings amounted to $143, and 40 public decisions for Christ were registered. The church surprised Pastor Bracker on his birthday with a party and a Hamilton wrist watch.

AUGUST BOOKS FEATURE VICTORY

By Conard Sandy

The two books reviewed here show the Christian how to have complete and joyous victory while walking this earthly pilgrimage in fellowship with the Saviour and fellow saints.

The first-choice book is by Dr. J. Gregory Mantle, a powerful and popular preacher in the English-speaking world from 1877 to 1925. "Beyond Humiliation," we believe, will prove a very worth-while book in every Christian's library and so we recommend it.

The second-choice book, "Inherit the Earth," is by Lon Woodrum, who wrote the prize-winner, "Of Men and of Angels," in Zondervan's second international Christian fiction contest.

The first-choice book will be sent to members of the Brethren Book Club, unless they notify the Brethren Missionary Herald Company before August 1 of their desire for the second-choice book or no book for the month.

Reader, if you are not a member of the Brethren Book Club, we invite you to consider its merits. A book is given as a premium for joining when the first book is bought and paid for. This first book can be either of the books reviewed on this page or any book used recently by the club. Then a premium book is given after the member buys and pays for four books through the club, and this continues for every four books bought through the club.

The premium book for joining the club can be either "Stranger Than Fiction," by Florence Gribble; or "Prayer: Asking and Receiving," by John R. Rice; or "The Emerald Necklace," by Elise Fraser.

BEYOND HUMILIATION

By J. Gregory Mantle

How can a Christian constantly live above the things that disturb the soul, that cause the mind to fret, and that discourage the heart in this earthly pilgrimage? Why is it that a believer feels so elated and full of joy in or immediately following a gathering of God's people for the study of His Word and for prayer, and then feels so low and unhappy after returning to his own home and back to his daily work?

These and many other questions like unto them are answered in this volume, which is a reprint of a book that has been out of print for some years. In fact, this is the seventh edition of a very popular book.

Dr. Mantle points out anew what the Word of God teaches—the way of victory and fruitfulness is the way of the cross of the Lord Jesus and our complete identification with Christ there. He points out just what the Spirit of God meant by complete death of self, by full yieldedness to the sovereign Lord, and by full identification with the Saviour at Calvary. This volume cannot take the place of one's Bible, but it will be of great help to the believer in studying the Word of God.

Dr. Mantle first entitled his book: "The Way of the Cross, a Contribution to the Doctrine of Christian Sanctity." It grew out of his study of the Word of God and his understanding of the needs of God's people. He was a frequent speaker at the English Keswick and the Winona Lake, Ind., Bible Conference. In these associations with the saints he learned that they wanted to know the way of victory and this book is an answer to that need.

The book is divided into 21 chapters, each one of which is preceded by a quotation from some other writer. These quotations are usually carefully selected poems. Each chapter would be an excellent reading for a daily devotion period, either for an individual or for the family. This is a book to be read and reread many times to get its full value.

The book sells for $3 and is worth every cent of it. It will be an excellent addition to the Christian's library.

INHERIT THE EARTH

By Lon Woodrum

One of the mysteries of life is the difference that exists between the various members of a family—differences that place the family members in entirely opposite circles of activity.

The Cannon brothers, of Kingstown, were as different as two people could be. Max was the energetic and popular pastor of Grace Church. Joel was of another strain, an ex-convict who had served a prison term for a crime he did not commit. This left Joel with a hatred that drove him to do things he could not explain.

But Kingstown had other citizens besides the Cannon boys. There was Dr. Frank Tyler, a man who had a way of getting things done for the welfare of other people. His wife, Gail, a former girl friend of Joel, was an active worker in the church. On the other side of the fence, in moral and spiritual matters, was Max Renner, the underworld boss of the town and former boss of Joel Cannon. Here, too, was another former girl friend, Vala Maine.

Joel returned from prison to Kingstown intent on seeking his own form of justice—but God intervened and events happened so rapidly in the next two months that Joel found it hard to explain them to himself. Things did not turn out for him as he first hoped they would, yet he could not say he was sorry for the sudden change.

As everyone was preparing for Christmas, the "perfect crime" was committed near the city of Kingstown. Every part of the crime was carefully planned and the finger of circumstance pointed straight at the ex-convict.

We must let the reader discover what happened. The book sells for $2.50 a copy and will hold the attention until the last line on the last page has been read.

WE, TOO, ARE COMING TO GRACE COLLEGE

James Hawkins

Amy Lou Bracker

Alva Steffler

Marilyn Joyce Herdlicka

As the seminary number of the Brethren Missionary Herald goes to press, 24 students have already made application for enrollment in the freshman class of Grace College when it convenes in September. Additional pictures are being printed as they are received. Three of the above young people, coming from various parts of the country, give the testimony of their decision to enroll in Grace. They appear below.

FROM KITTANNING, PA.

"I will instruct thee and teach thee in the way which thou shalt go: I will guide thee with mine eye" (Psa. 32:8). Since I have dedicated my life to full-time service and feel led to go to Africa as a teacher, I am choosing Grace College for training in this field of service. I'm confident that in this Christian school I can receive the instruction and guidance I need from well-trained Christian professors.—Amy Lou Bracker.

FROM DAYTON, OHIO

After taking my first year of college at an interdenominational school I began to think of transferring to our own Brethren school, where I could get Brethren doctrine and the "tops" in teaching. I didn't realize, until I got away from the Brethren teaching, how much it meant in my life as a young person. Our denomination—especially our school—is looked up to by other denominations and other schools, so I have decided to take advantage of what we have by seeking my training at Grace College. I'm sure the teaching, fellowship, and direction of the Holy Spirit at Grace will strengthen my spiritual life and thinking so that I may better serve Him.—Alva Steffler.

FROM WILLIAMSBURG, IOWA

For several months, in high school just before graduation, I was influenced by a close friend to visit one of our nearby colleges. I was very much impressed with the setup of this school. But in the meantime, however, I had been reading in the Brethren Missionary Herald concerning our Grace College at Winona Lake, Ind. I began to realize that this was a college of my own denomination. I had visited the college and seminary buildings while attending Bethany Camp last summer, and discovered that this would be an excellent place in which to study and prepare for work in our Lord's vineyard.

My pastor has discussed with me the advantages of attending a Christian college of my own denomination. Recently the Grace Trumpeters came to our church, along with Dr. Paul Bauman, who gave a fine message concerning the advantages of Grace College. Dr. Bauman's message, along with the wonderful display of talent from the trumpeters, as well as their fine testimonies, impressed me very much. I am very glad that I have chosen Grace College.—Marilyn Joyce Herdlicka.

WHAT GRACE MEANS TO ME

By Norbert Darr

One of the many blessings that I have received recently is to know the will of the Lord for my life. I was saved at an early age probably because I was brought up in a fine Christian home. I was taken to church and Sunday school and prayer meeting every week, and it wasn't long until I realized the need of a Saviour in my life.

For eight years I grew in the Lord and learned as much as I could about God's Word. But there was one thing I wasn't willing to do and that was to submit my life completely to Him. I was afraid that the Lord would call me into the ministry or to the mission field or into some other service of the Lord's.

Just two years ago I fully realized that only what's done for Christ will last, and upon conviction by the

THANK YOU, AND PRAISE THE LORD

By Dr. James L. Boyer, Financial Secretary

Once again Grace Seminary has experienced the blessing of both the Lord's goodness and the loyalty of her many friends. In response to our call for help last month you who always stand by us again sent in your gifts, so that our receipts from gifts during the month of June were 50 percent higher than the preceding month. Then, the Lord undertook to move the machinery of government a little faster than usual, so that the check for the fees and tuition of veterans for last year came through promptly instead of being delayed, as was expected. These, together with some other seasonal sources, enabled us to close the month with all our bills paid and without a deficit.

BUT . . .

But the full need is not yet supplied. We enter the month of July with practically no balance. There will be no check from the government. The other seasonal income which helped us out last month will not be forthcoming again. And the expenditures for July will be as high as ever.

SO . . .

So we are depending on you, our faithful friends, and we are trusting the Lord to supply our continuing needs. A new supply of dollar-a-month envelopes has been sent to the churches. Get yours now and keep up your gifts. Above all, will you continue to pray?

PRAY FOR . . .

Beside the financial need, we should pray for other needs of the school. Pray for Dr. McClain as he returns from the West, for Dr. Hoyt in his ministry on the west coast, for Dr. Bauman and the Trumpeters as they complete their strenuous itinerary, for other members of the faculty in their summer schedules. Pray for the students who will be coming back, for the many new students who are enrolling. They always face problems of housing, employment, finances, and other adjustments in getting settled. Pray for the college as it launches its enlarged program. Pray for God's guidance and spiritual blessing on the work of Grace Theological Seminary this year. Only as He works can our work be effective.

Thank you, again, for what you have done and what you will do.

PROVIDENCE IN A HISTORY LESSON

By Prof. John C. Whitcomb

"How can I make spiritual applications from this non-Christian history textbook?" That is a question I have often asked myself while preparing a lecture for my class in collegiate world history; and just as often I have been surprised to find lessons of real spiritual value where least expected.

Recently we have been studying about the Golden Age of Spain during the 16th century. It was a time when hardy explorers were carving out a mighty new world empire, rich in gold and silver, for the glory of the king of Spain. All Europe trembled at the approach of Spanish armies, while Spain's mighty Armada threatened an immediate invasion of England.

But suddenly, with startling swiftness, the nation of Spain faded into a mere shadow of its former glory. By 1600 the Spanish Armada had been destroyed; her commerce and industry had collapsed; her people were poverty-stricken; and her population had decreased. What was the cause of these sudden changes?

Historians are puzzled, and grope for explanations that do not fully explain. Our textbook admits, "The decline of Spain's commercial might cannot be so simply explained. This nation had everything—and failed."

But here is a fact which Christians may well take to heart: Spain hated the Jews, and drove hundreds of thousands of them out of their country with unspeakable brutality just before the dawn of the 16th century. Men, women, and children were forced to leave their homes and possessions, were herded into ships, sold as slaves, or killed in cold blood.

These are facts which cannot be erased from the pages of history. But here is something else which cannot be erased from the records: "I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee." These are the words of God, spoken to Abraham 4,000 years ago. How solemn! How startling! The God of Abraham still lives! This is the God that holds the universe in His hand; that guides the destinies of nations; that fulfills His promises. Only the spiritual interpretation can account for all the facts of history. It is His-story!

Lord I completely submitted my life to be used wherever He might lead. Today I am so thankful that the Lord led me to Grace College. Truly the Lord has been good and has led every step of the way. I will be beginning my third year at Grace and will be looking forward to receiving the same high-quality teaching that I received during my first two years—instruction from teachers who are dedicated to the Lord and have concern for every student. I can recommend Grace College to any person who feels the Lord is leading him to Grace. To those who are undecided as to where the Lord is leading, please consider Grace. You can't go wrong!

TAKING THEIR PLACES ON THE HARVEST FIELD

Members of the 1953 class are already assuming places of responsibility in the Lord's work. Left to right are R. Paul Miller, Jr., pastor of the Garwin, Iowa, Brethren Church; Victor Meyers, approved candidate for the Argentine mission field, but unable to go because of the illness of his son, Dennis (Brother Meyers is now awaiting a call in the homeland); Russell Ogden, pastor of the Sunnymede Brethren Church, South Bend, Ind.; Harold F. Morr, awaiting appointment as chaplain in the service of his country; Robert Griffith, pastor of the Lake Odessa, Mich., Brethren Church; Thomas Inman, interim pastor of the Grace Brethren Church of Denver, Colo.; James Hammer, pastor of the First Brethren Church of Fort Wayne, Ind. (Brother Hammer was unable to graduate this year, due to illness in his family).

WHAT'S IN A TITLE?

By Rev. Ben Hamilton

While making file cards for some book additions to the seminary library, a century-old, 840-page tome with faded green binding came to view. Entitled "The Law and the Testimony," the book at first appeared to be a religious reference work written in the stiff, voluminous language of 19th-century theological texts. Checking the title page to find who the author was (for inclusion on the file card), the only information printed was, "By the author of 'The Wide, Wide World.'" Would the author have to be listed as anonymous? The penciled name, Susan Warner, proved to be the name of the real author.

Further detective work showed that Susan Warner indeed was the author. Moreover, "The Oxford Companion to American Literature" and the "Cambridge History of American Literature" point out that Susan Warner (1819-1885), and her sister, Anna, were the first American novelists to write popular religious literature for juveniles. Susan Warner's three-volume novel, "The Wide, Wide World," was such a success that soon after its appearance in 1851 the work was translated into many languages and had a large world-wide sale. But what about Susan Warner's book, "The Law and the Testimony"?

It turned out that this book is the fruit of an interesting project which Susan Warner and her sister, Anna, started as a child. But let Susan tell in her own words how the book came about:

"One Sabbath evening, my little sister, in a spirit of weary good intentions, asked of my father to give her something to do on Sundays. [Italics are Susan's.] My father pondered the matter a little, and then turning round to the table, sketched off the list of subjects—or points of belief—on which the following work has grown up. These he gave my sister and me, telling us to begin with the first chapter of Genesis and see what the Bible said about them. . . .

"Now were we launched upon a delightful independent voyage of discovery, for which we trimmed our sails with great gravity. . . .

"One chapter a day was all we took. We searched that carefully, and noted down with miser eagerness everything which seemed to us to have an important bearing upon any point in our scheme. On Sunday we indulged ourselves with two chapters. Then we compared notes, and sent each other back to look for what either had missed; gave each other the advantage of her discoveries, her light, her better counsel. And at intervals, in those days, we submitted our notes to the over-looking and overjudging of my father; holding long, very interested, and doubtless very profound, discussions about them."

In these modern jet-propelled days such an extensive family project of Bible study would not probably work out satisfactorily. But think of the enriching experience the Warner sisters had as they conducted their Bible research. What a testimony to their father (Henry W. Warner, a New York lawyer and writer), who desired that his children have good Christian training.

As a consequence, Susan Warner's "The Law and the Testimony" is an excellent and interesting compilation of Bible verses on a wide range of great Christian doc-

GRADING OF SEMINARY CAMPUS CONTINUES

*Your gifts have made possible during the spring and early summer months further grading and the laying of additional top soil on the front campus. trinal topics. The verses are not just partially cited or just mentioned by book, chapter, and verse, but the verses are written out in their entirety.

The copy of "The Law and the Testimony" in Grace Theological Seminary is autographed by Susan Warner in the name of herself and sister as follows: "To Mrs. Sands—With the most affectionate respect of Susan & Anna Warner. Oct. 17, 1853." This copy also bears the rubber stamps of Drew Theological Seminary Library plus the rubber stamp WITHDRAWN and the penciled date 9-10-49. Modernistic seminaries, you see, do not care for works that honor the Word of God even if the product of a famous American author!

(John Rea was a member this season of the Wheaton Archeological Expedition, directed by Dr. Joseph P. Free, professor of archeology at Wheaton College in Illinois. Dr. Free is publishing articles about the first season's work at Dothan in the Sunday School Times.—P. R. B.)

A town whose name occurs only twice in Scripture may not be considered to be very important to the average reader of the Bible. The two passages which mention Dothan, however, relate exciting events in the lives of two of God's choicest servants, Joseph and Elisha. The excavation from March 28 to May 28 at this site should have great interest, therefore, for those who love the Word of God. The Lord willing, archeological work will be continued there by Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Free for two months each spring for several more years.

Location of the City

Dothan is a large ancient mound or buried city in the heart of the region once ruled by the northern kings of Israel. In the lovely valleys of this area is some of the most fertile soil of all Palestine. The 10 acres on top of the mound are covered with wheat or vetch and fringed on its slopes with almond and fig trees. Dothan stands alone on a low hill which commands a beautiful, well-watered vale with cultivated fields and grazing lands for numerous flocks.

To this valley Joseph's brethren brought their flocks early in the second millennium B. C. (Gen. 37:12-17). First of all they had traveled a long way north from Hebron to Shechem. Why did they go another 20 or more miles still farther north to Dothan, a journey of several days with sheep? Only 100 yards below the fine new stone house that we rented from the Arab landowner are several flowing wells. The water is still just as much an attraction to the women with their jars and to the shepherds with their flocks as it was 4,000 years ago. At least one of these wells produces water the year around, even during the hot, dry summer months from May to October. Thus Joseph found his brothers at an ideal place for watering and pasturing their sheep.

Joseph at Dothan

Very near the house in which we stayed is an old underground cistern. Its mouth has been covered over to prevent animals and human beings from falling into it. Dating back at least to Byzantine times, it is dry now. Into such a pit, but probably farther removed from Dothan itself, the other sons of Jacob cast Joseph. Because that cistern was also no longer in use, or because the hot summer weather had dried up its source of water, the pit was empty.

The valley on the south side of Dothan continues eastward several miles. It affords a passage through the hills of Samaria to the Jordan Valley. Along a trade route in this valley came a caravan of camels from Gilead on the other side of the Jordan River, bearing spices and balm and myrrh to Egypt. To these Ishmaelite traders Joseph's brethren sold him for 20 pieces of silver. Thus he was rescued from a slow death by starvation in the pit near Dothan. While young Joseph must have wondered if the Lord had deserted him, God meant this evil treatment for good, to save much people alive at a future day (Gen. 50:20).

Elisha at Dothan

About a thousand years later the Prophet Elisha seems to have made Dothan his headquarters for a while. II Kings 6:8-19 describes how Elisha in Dothan was warning the king of Israel about the movements of the army of Ben-hadad, king of Syria. The ruler of the northern kingdom at this time was Jehoram, the son of Ahab (II Ki. 3:1). The date would have been around 850 B. C., in the early part of Iron Age II (960-600 B. C.).

The king of Syria sent his army to besiege Dothan and capture Elisha. As one stands on the crest of the mound he can imagine the horses and chariots and troops of Ben-hadad marching around the city of long ago in the valley below. To the north, the south, and the west there is plenty of flat ground for the deployment of a large army. The visitor of today can picture Elisha and his servant looking over the city wall to the nearby mountains across the valley. He can hear Elisha reassuring the young man: "Fear not: for they that are with us are more than they that are with them" (II Ki. 6:16). "And, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha" (vs. 17).

God heard the prophet's prayer to smite the Syrians with blindness. Elisha was not finished with his would-be captors, however, for he led the blinded army along the road to Samaria, the capital of Israel in that day. The present main north-south road no doubt follows much the same path. It winds 12 miles or so south to Samaria over high rocky hills. That Elisha could deliver the army safely to the king of Israel was almost as much of a miracle as the preceding events at Dothan.

References in History

The Old Testament references to Dothan are not the only mention of this town in ancient literary sources. On our return journey two of us looked for the name Dothan in hieroglyphic signs said to be on both the sixth and seventh pylons or gates in the great temple at Karnak in upper Egypt. We were able to photograph the inscriptions of Thutmose III (1501-1447 B. C.), the "Napoleon of Egypt," in which he listed Dothan as the ninth of the towns he captured on one of his 15 campaigns into Palestine and Syria.

Dothan is also mentioned in the Apocrypha, in the book of Judith (4:6; 7:3, 18; 8:18). Called Dothaim, it is represented as having been besieged along with nearby Bethulia by the Assyrian (!) armies of Nebuchadnezzar. Since Nebuchadnezzar was a Babylonian king, there is an evident historical fallacy in Judith. Thus the book is not reliable, and the information about Dothan is not necessarily trustworthy. It may, however, indicate that Dothan was inhabited in the seventh century B. C.

Evidences of later occupation at Dothan abound. Every day on our way to the excavation area we passed a columbarium, a sepulcher carved out of the rock with niches for the cremated remains of the dead, built and used in Hellenistic, Roman, or Byzantine times. We noted several pieces of pillars and two column bases from a Roman temple, and some large stones at the lower end of a Roman aqueduct or sewer. Also there were two big round arches of a Turkish inn or of a building of an earlier period, now incorporated into a present-day Arabic building.

The excavation of this first season proved to be highly successful. The lowest level on virgin soil or bedrock can be dated around 3000 B. C. After the beginning of occupation at Dothan until the time of Elisha the city was destroyed and rebuilt about a dozen times. The evidence is conclusive that it was occupied in the periods of Joseph and Elisha, as well as during much or all of the third millennium B. C.

(Future articles will describe the results of the excavation in more detail.)

A GREAT MANY PANES!

Fifteen hundred panes (1,500 pains)! You can spell it either way, for that is what caretakers face, and it's a chronic situation, for there are more than 1,500 panes of glass in the seminary building. Really, when it comes to the cleaning, which is going on constantly, there are 3,000 panes, for each one must be cleaned on both sides. Little does the average person realize the amount of work or the expense necessary to maintain a building which is in use 7 days a week. In the above picture, Russell Konves, from the Grace Brethren Church of Mansfield, Ohio, is busy at his never-ending job. Brother Konves will be a senior in the seminary this next year and has been acting as assistant caretaker.

"STOMACH TROUBLE"

A physician working in connection with the world-famous Mayo Clinic has made a special study of 500 cases of "stomach trouble." In a large percentage of these cases he found no actual diseased condition of the stomach, yet the patients were suffering from genuine indigestion in that organ. Upon investigation, it was discovered that "in a number of cases, it was due to the fact that husband and wife were at swords' points, and meals were being eaten to the accompaniment of bitter words."

Solomon uttered a scientifically correct physiological truth when he wrote many centuries ago, "Better is a dinner of herbs where love is, than a stalled ox and hatred therewith" (Prov. 15:17). And again, "It is better to dwell in a desert land than with a contentious and fretful woman." And the fault is not all with the woman. See Proverbs 15:18: "A wrathful man stirreth up contention."

What you eat is important. But more important still is what you think and feel and say. Hatred, jealousy, and bickering are harder on the stomach than pickles and fried potatoes.

The best medicines in the world, for the body as well as for the soul, are love, peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit.

I trust that what I have written above will not lead our friends of the Christian Science Publishing Committee to suppose that I have suddenly become converted to Eddyism. I am merely asserting that mental disturbances can cause serious stomach trouble, and the trouble is real. Christian Science will tell you that you have no stomach trouble—and also that you have no stomach!—Alva J. McClain.

IS PHARISAISM OUT OF DATE?

(LUKE 18:9-14)

By Prof. Homer A. Kent, Jr.

Jesus illustrated the two attitudes which men assume toward God by the parable of the Pharisee and the publican. The Pharisee at prayer, presented in Luke 18:9-14, is depicted as follows: "God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican. I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess." Such a description seems exaggerated and perhaps overdrawn for the purpose of emphasizing the contrast. Did Christ purposely make the description ludicrous, or was this an accurate portrayal?

A study of Jewish records reveals a startling aspect of religious life in Jesus' day. The Pharisee's prayer in the parable is typical of many others of the same period. The Talmud, an ancient collection of Jewish religious writings, tells of Rabbi Simeon ben Jochai, who said: "If there are only two righteous men in the world, I and my son are these; and if only one, it is I." This same rabbi also said: "I have seen the children of the world to come, and they are few. If there are three, I and my son are of their number; if they are two, I and my son are they." These statements are strikingly similar to the attitude revealed in Jesus' parable. The Pharisee looked down on others, and looked up to himself. Relationship to God was established by merit, with which the Pharisee imagined he was abundantly supplied.

The Pharisees originated as a Jewish group probably just before the Maccabean Wars (second century B. C.). They pledged themselves to withstand the paganism and the Hellenizing attempts of their Greek conquerors, and to conform strictly to Judaism and the Mosaic Law. In those beginning days, to join the Pharisees meant to run the risk of death by persecution. The name "Pharisee" means "separatist," and the history of the party is a glorious one. The tragedy of Pharisaism was that later generations claimed the title but did not measure up to the spirit of the founders. The Pharisees of Jesus' day conformed to the outward letter of the Mosaic Law and paraded their name, but had degenerated to mere formalists. Christ called them hypocrites and "whited sepulchres," because they hid an unspiritual heart behind a mask of religious pretense.

The publican in the parable stands in sharp contrast. When this humble penitent, despised by his fellow countrymen, approached God in the temple, his prayer was, "God be merciful to me a sinner." His words suggest atonement, the need for God to bridge the gap his sin had caused between himself and God. The publican found the basis for communion with God, not in anything within himself, but from a source outside. That source was the mercy of God as it bridged the gap by providing atonement for sin at the mercy seat. But the Pharisee based his attempt to commune with God on a source within himself—his own righteousness and good works.

All men today can be grouped around these two representatives. They either base their relationship to God on their own resources, or else depend on God Himself to undertake. Men either depend on self-righteousness, or admit defeat and accept God's righteousness. As Paul says of the Jewish nation, so is it true of most men today, "going about to establish their own righteousness, (they) have not submitted themselves to the righteousness of God" (Rom. 10:3). Men who do not confess their utter helplessness to establish relationship with God and trust His merits alone must of necessity be following the example of this Pharisee. They are seeking a basis within themselves, either from their own goodness, or their own merit, or else based on their own idea of God's character and plans. Even a claim of trust in God, if it is not in accord with Biblical teaching, is a trust based on an "invented God" of one's own mind.

Such Pharisaical practice can be found in Christian churches at this present hour. Men and women, hiding behind a cloak of church attendance and religious exercise, still too often are found depending upon self-righteousness instead of trusting for salvation in the mercy of God. Church leaders are capitalizing on the good name and reputation of their Christian heritage, and perverting the truth. That such a situation should exist, tragic though it is, was not unforeseen. Paul warned believers in II Timothy 3:2, 4-5: "Men shall be self lovers . . . pleasure lovers more than God lovers, having a form of godliness, but denying its power" (Greek). Pharisaism is with us, and Christ's parable is forceful still.

THE TRADITIONS OF MEN

The Pope of Rome has recently eased some of the strict regulations binding on those who take communion at Mass. Up to this time no food at all was allowed from midnight until Mass the next day. Now food will be permitted until 3 hours before the Mass. Also, the worshiper can now have beer and wine with any of these late meals, but no hard liquor! If a Roman Catholic is seriously ill, he can have his medicine before communion, but only if approved by the priest, who also can let him have a cup of coffee. However, you cannot take an aspirin for a headache!

The most fitting comment on all this mummery was written by Paul in the Book of Colossians—"Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ from the rudiments of the world, why, as though living in the world, are ye subject to ordinances, (touch not; taste not; handle not; which all are to perish with the using;) after the commandments and doctrines of men?" (2:20-22).

It also should be noted that if the Roman Catholic Church observed the communion service as instituted by our Lord and observed by the early churches, they would eat a "supper" instead of fasting just before partaking of the bread and cup. Paul says in I Corinthians 11:23-25 that these emblems of the Lord's body and blood were taken "after supper" (ASV). It is quite astonishing how many false notions could be automatically swept away if men followed the simple teaching of the Word of God.—Dr. Alva J. McClain.

Think for a moment how we feel when such things as these all happen at once: a debt hangs over the family; we have disagreements with our best friends; there is trouble in the local church; there are problems in the office to which there seems to be no solution; some member of the family has taken a course of action that we cannot approve of; signs indicate that our health may be in danger; we take a vacation to "get away from it all," but find the roads congested with traffic, it rains most of the time, and we come back to work as tired as when we left; bulldozers and steam shovels make havoc of meadows and woods on which we used to rest our eyes, and the din of hammers and saws destroys the quietness we once enjoyed; and finally, new bungalows and cabins are put up and roads cut through close to that summer place which was the only earthly refuge we had left.

Are there blessings hidden in these very real trials of our modern world? Assuredly there are. When we can no longer quench our thirst at these springs, then we may learn that God can satisfy the thirsty soul. . . . We must learn to say with the psalmist, "It is good for me that I have been afflicted; that I might learn thy statutes" (Psa. 119:71; also vss. 67, 75). . . . All these trials cut us loose from the earth, prepare us for heaven, and force us to find our joy in God.—Sunday School Times.

GOD'S ANSWER TO A CHRISTIAN'S S O S

One midnight my wife and I were abruptly wakened by the screams of a frightened young African woman who rushed into our house. Her un-Christian uncle and some of his friends were trying to capture the girl in order to whip her and force her to marry against her will a man of the uncle's choice. The young woman knew that her would-be captors would not enter our house. She knew where, at the cry of help, comfort and help could be found.

Every Christian has a place and a person and provision for help and comfort when a crisis comes requiring the believer to send out an S O S. Speaking of Christ, Hebrews 2:18 says literally: "For in that he himself already suffered having been put to the proof, he is able to run to the aid of those being subject to trial; who cry for help."—Ben Hamilton.

WHO OCCUPIES YOUR TIME?

Students at an eastern seminary several years ago were given 20 minutes to write on Christ and Satan. A few days later one of the students was called to the professor's office and asked why he had not written about Satan as had other students. With a positive air, the student who was questioned replied: "I was so busy telling of the excellencies of Jesus that I had no time for the Devil."

Is your time, is every Christian's time, completely given to proclaiming Christ? How much time is Satan stealing? "Walk in wisdom toward them that are without, redeeming the time," Paul wrote to the Colossian Christians. This we can do if, like the seminary student, we are so busy telling of the excellencies of Jesus that we have no time for the Devil.—Ben Hamilton.

A WORD FOR CHURCH USHERS

Too often the position of usher in our modern churches is regarded as one beneath the dignity of an important man, something like a floor-walker in a department store, requiring only a fine exterior and a suave manner. Dr. Marlin, writing one of his remarkable articles in the Bibliotheca Sacra, takes issue with this viewpoint.

"We suggest that no man ought to be an usher in a church who is not wholly in love with the Lord Jesus. A cold-hearted elder will not do as much harm in a church as a cold-hearted usher. Ushers should not be carelessly chosen as for a minor position of small moment. The position of an usher in a church is a position which ought to be highly magnified. It should be a position reserved for the highest type of character, for men noted for their courtesy, tact, kindness, geniality, and a real love for humanity in all its grades and needs. Ushers ought to be men beautiful with the holiness and compassion of God. Ushers ought to be chosen with as great care as that which is exercised in the choice of elders and deacons.

"The usher is in a sense the host of the church; it is with him that the stranger comes in closest contact; he is the representative of the congregation and has much to do with the impressions carried away by the casual worshiper. He should in a sense embody the joy and the love of God shining on all who enter the portals of God's house. If Jesus were an usher in a church and welcomed sinners and all kinds of broken-hearted people at the door, they would come back, if for nothing else than to see that usher again, to hear him speak, to see God's love shining in his face and eyes. Ushers in a church, above all others perchance, should pray that the spirit of Jesus might be given to them as they meet at the door every grade of life and every kind of human need."

Dr. Marlin is right. Every office of service in the church of God is a spiritual calling. There are no unimportant members in the Body of Christ.—Alva J. McClain.

The Homerville, Ohio, church has called its pastor, Robert Holmes, to continue another year.

Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind., is to speak at the Union Gospel Press August 2, and at the Hayden Avenue Gospel Church August 2-5, both in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Cora Madison, of the Uniontown, Pa., church, died July 2.

Pastor Nathan Meyer, of the Leesburg, Ind., church, and Wayne and Alice Snider (brother and sister), of the Martinsburg, Pa., church, are scheduled to depart July 26 by airplane for a 5-week tour and study in the Mediterranean Sea area, as members of the Flying Seminar of the Winona Lake School of Theology.

The Fremont, Ohio, church, pastored by Lester Pifer, had 302 pupils enrolled in its vacation Bible school, the largest such school in the city. There were 30 decisions for Christ. The local newspaper gave much free publicity to this school. This church is to be host to the Northern Ohio District Women's Missionary Rally, July 27, and to the Bryan Gospel Messengers, August 19.

Pastor and Mrs. True Hunt, Dallas Center, Iowa, became the parents of a daughter, Pamela Jill, July 6.

Dr. W. A. Ogden, of the Johnstown, Pa., First church, fractured two ribs in an athletic contest at Camp Keystone. Brethren Ralph Hall and Ralph Colburn preached for him July 12.

Mrs. David Reighard observed the 85th anniversary of her birth July 12 and Mr. Vince Reighard observed his 78th anniversary July 15. Both are members of the Johnstown, Pa., First church.

Miss Carolyn Crawford, a girl in her teens and member of the Berrien Springs, Mich., church, read through her Bible from January 1 to July 4. There is a goal for every member of the denomination.

The Los Angeles, Calif., Second church gave its pastor, Henry Rempel, a call to continue as pastor. Rev. Ralph Rambo preached at this church June 21 and Rev. George Richardson, June 28, while the pastor was teaching in the youth camp.

Mrs. George R. (Mary Ann) Koontz, faithful member of the Hope-well (Yellow Creek), Pa., church, died June 12 and the funeral was conducted by her pastor, Sheldon W. Snyder.

Pastor James Dixon, in behalf of the National Sunday School Board of the Brethren Church, is scheduled to speak at Portis, Kans., July 26-27; Beaver City, Nebr., July 28-29; Cheyenne, Wyo., July 31-August 2; Denver, Colo., August 5-6; Taos, N. Mex., August 8-10; and Wichita, Kans., August 13-18.

The Clayhole, Ky., church, pastored by Sewell Landrum, was host to the Wigden Trio, July 5, and 250 people attended the service.

District ministerial officers are urged to read motion 28 on page 54 in the last Brethren Annual and comply with that instruction at once, sending the required information to Pastor Miles Taber.

Pastor and Mrs. William E. Howard, Roanoke (Clearbrook), Va., became the parents of a daughter, Rebecca Lynn, June 29.

Rev. Gilbert D. Engelman has moved to 1701 Newark Street South, St. Petersburg, Fla. (Change Annual, p. 68.)

A daughter, Janice Diane, was born to Pastor and Mrs. Russell Ward, Cleveland, Ohio, June 26.

The Wooster, Ohio, church had a vacation Bible school with 155 pupils enrolled, an average attendance of 131, offerings totaling $209, and witnessed 18 public decisions for Christ, according to Pastor Kenneth Ashman.

The Clay City, Ind., church called its pastor, Ralph S. Burns, to continue with the church and gave him a raise in salary. The attendances during the quarter closing June 30 averaged 74 in morning service, 46 in evening service, and 63 in Sunday school. The church received $500 as a gift from the estate of Mrs. Mary Wilson, who died April 7.

The Alexandria, Va., church unanimously called Pastor Kenneth L. Teague for another year.

The Ashland, Ohio, church unanimously called Miles Taber to continue as pastor for his third year. Mrs. Noah Shull supervised the vacation Bible school in June with 325 enrolled, an average attendance of 281, and with 44 public decisions. Rev. John Ruskin Garber, recently returned from touring South America, spoke July 12.

Rev. Ulysses L. Gingrich preached at the York, Pa., church July 12 while Pastor Gerald Polman was at the Conemaugh Pike church to help in the ordination of Robert Griffith, his brother-in-law.

Russell H. Weber, pastor at Harrisburg, Pa., begins his ministry at Hagerstown, Md., August 4, following Pastor Walter A. Lepp, who closes his ministry there August 2 to become a member of a Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade team, beginning September 1.

The Los Angeles, Calif., First church, according to Pastor Glenn O'Neal, heard a musical program by Arnie Hartman, July 5, and is to hear John Lundberg August 9, and Art Atwell August 16.

Rev. Warren Tamkin, with a quartet from Southeastern Bible College, where he teaches, held a service at the Washington, D. C., church, his home church, July 8, according to Pastor James Dixon.

The North English, Iowa, church called Clarence Lackey to continue as pastor.

The Bellflower, Calif., church gave a unanimous call to Curtis Mitchell to be its interim pastor.

The Yakima, Wash., church called Russell L. Williams to serve the church for his seventh year.

Pastor Robert W. Betz resigned as pastor of the Camden, Ohio, church effective August 19. The family plans to move to Phoenix, Ariz., because of the asthmatic condition of their daughter. There Brother Betz will take more college work in preparation for teaching in Christian day schools.

SHOULD WE LOOK FOR SIGNS?

By Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind.

"There shall come in the last days scoffers . . . saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of creation" (II Pet. 3:3-4).

Are these scoffers correct? Is it true that all things are to go on as usual up to the very end? Or will current events shape themselves into signs that herald the coming of the Lord? If scoffers are blind to the signs about them, does that limit the sincere soul from seeing the fulfillment of prophecy as it moves toward the climax of the ages?

Signs of the Times

Was the church launched forth on Pentecost without a chart or compass; did it set forth with no mileposts to guide it on its way? If some men have erred when they sounded the depths and deemed they drew near the shore, does that make void the promises of God? Will not we who look for the Lord's return be able to see the glow in the eastern sky before the "Sun of righteousness arises with healing in his wings"? If the Pharisees were hypocrites because they could discern the face of the sky but could not discern the signs of the times (Matt. 16:3), are we any less to blame if we cannot read the signs given in holy writ and apply them to current events?

Partial Fulfillment

Many babes were born in Bethlehem; many sons came up out of Egypt; many men were crucified; many signs of our Lord's first coming were fulfilled in individuals—but it was when they all focused in one Man that we have God's promised One. And so men of the past have seen events that seemed to point to the near return of the Lord. Others have seen other events. But never have all of these events converged upon one generation with all the force of latter years. Is it possible that God's servants can see all of these signs and yet not be permitted to speak with no uncertain sound?

We are exhorted to not forsake "the assembling of ourselves together," and "so much the more, as ye see the day approaching" (Heb. 10:25). True it is we do not know "what hour" our Lord will come (Matt. 24:42), but if we are not permitted to read the signs and know when we "see the day approaching," then indeed has human language ceased to function.

Knowledge Increased

When I was a little lad, my father took me to a schoolhouse to see a box that could speak and sing. When the air began to vibrate we knew our neighbor was starting to town and we would watch his "buggy" go down the road without a horse to pull it. Certainly something broke loose not many decades ago and today we are flooded with countless inventions. Is it possible they have no significance? If Daniel tells us that in the "time of the end . . . knowledge shall be increased" (Dan. 12:4), then when we see the tremendous increase in knowledge are we not to conclude we must be nearing the end of the age? Is not the Book of Daniel in the Christian's Bible? Dare we blame the Jew for failure to see the first coming and yet fail ourselves to see signs of the second advent?

What James Foretells

James looks forward to a coming day when rich men will "weep and howl" for the miseries that will come upon them. They have heaped up great riches; they have lived in pleasure on the earth, and now the hire of the working man cries back and the strife between capital and labor brings them into the depths of despair.

But James admonishes the brethren to be patient when they see these things, "for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh" (Jas. 5:8). Is not the Book of James in the Christian's Bible? And is not James talking to Christian brethren of the end time?

Light and Darkness

Paul comforts the brethren by reminding them of the coming of the Lord. "But of the times and seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you. For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night. For when they [the people of the world in general] shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them. . . . But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief" (I Thess. 5:1-4).

Why is the world in darkness? Simply because the future is locked up in the councils of the invisible God. And why is the Christian in light? Simply because he has prophecy as "a light that shineth in a dark place" (II Pet. 1:19). But if he is not permitted to read this prophecy and apply it to current events, then how is his light any better than the darkness in which the world gropes blindly about?

Times of the Gentiles

If Jerusalem is to be "trodden down of the Gentiles, until the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled" (Luke 21:24); and if the end of the times of the gentiles will see the Roman Empire in a union of nations; and if we see a tendency of just such a union today; and if our Lord will set up His kingdom "in the days of these kings" (Dan. 2:44); and if, "when ye see these things come to pass, know ye that the kingdom of God is nigh at hand" (Luke 21:31); then should we not know when we are nearing the end of the age? Why say that this sign is only for Israel? Cannot gentile Christians read and see the tendencies about them?

The Conclusion

Verily, the coming of the Lord draweth nigh. "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord" (I Cor. 15:58).

HISTORY OF WAYNESBORO, PA., CHURCH

By Mrs. Charles Alter, Waynesboro, Pa.

Waynesboro is a clean industrial city located in the southeastern part of Pennsylvania, very close to the Maryland state line. The city population is 10,334, with 20 church buildings within the city limits and 12 more within a radius of less than four miles. Though Waynesboro has many churches, it is not easy to find a place where the spiritually hungry are given the Bread of Life. We are glad that our church is one where the Word of Life has been going forth week after week for many years.

Beginnings of Work

Very early in the 1900's, attempts were made to start a Brethren work in this city. Definite facts concerning these efforts are not known, but we do know that in March 1908 the

Helped Organize

First Brethren Church was temporarily organized. Dr. L. S. Bauman, then pastor in Philadelphia, assisted in this organization after he conducted several weeks of evangelistic services in a rented room in the Wayne Building. A committee of three men were appointed to officially manage the affairs of the group until a pastor could be called and a permanent organization effected. Dr. Bauman was appointed by the Pennsylvania mission board to arrange for pastoral supply for the group until someone could be permanently located here.

On January 3, 1909, J. C. Mackey, of Uniontown, Pa., at the appointment of the mission board and approval of the local members, came to Waynesboro as full-time pastor of the new mission work. At a business meeting, January 18, 1909, the congregation was officially organized and officers named to replace the temporary committee that had been serving. Each week the group met in a home for Bible study. Sunday school and regular worship services were held in the rented hall each Lord's Day. Interest was keen, and very soon a lot for a church building was being sought. The cost of the lot was not to exceed $1,000. The site was decided upon on April 17, 1909. The price was to have been $900, but the Jewish realtor deducted his commission and the purchase price was $818.

Ministry of Witter

Rev. Mackey resigned the pastorate here to accept a professorship in Ashland College, and Rev. M. A. Witter, sent by the Pennsylvania mission board and approved by the local congregation, started his work as pastor of the Waynesboro church on October 7, 1909. Rev. Witter at this time also served a pastorate at Linwood, Md. The Waynesboro church numbered 21, which included eight families. In November that same year a communion service was held, with 16 persons present. Through prayer, cooperation, and much effort on the part of all, the cost of the building lot was paid in full and a service of praise and thanksgiving was held December 31, 1911.

On April 17, 1912, ground-breaking services were held. Brother Witter spoke, after prayer and singing, and then he threw out the first shovelful of earth, followed by members of the congregation and friends. A prayer for divine benediction upon the work closed the special service. A one-story brick building, 34 by 48 feet, was to stand on this dedicated plot of ground.

Construction of Building

On September 25, 1912, a contract for the building was let to a local contractor at a cost of $4,296. The church cornerstone was laid on Saturday, December 21, 1912. After the hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," and prayer, a message was given by visiting minister V. M. Reichard, of Fairplay, Md. Brother Witter laid the cornerstone—inside were placed (in a box) copies of Waynesboro daily newspapers, current number of the Brethren Evangelist, Sunday-school literature, and a copy of the Holy Bible. On the flyleaf of the Bible was written, "The Holy Bible is placed in the cornerstone as an evidence of our unqualified acceptance of God's Word as our only rule of faith and practice, and of Jesus Christ as the Son of God and the only Saviour of men." The church building was appropriately dedicated on June 15, 1913.

At the close of 1913 the membership numbered 52. During 1914 68 new members were added to the church. "The year opened with a great union revival under the leadership of Dr. W. E. Biederwolf. In this meeting 2,786 souls professed a decision to accept Christ. Our church participated heartily in the campaign and reaped the highest per centum gain of any church in town, 53 members added as a direct result of the meeting, and the impetus given the work continued through the entire year; new members being added every month in 1914 except August and December." (From Rev. Witter's pastoral report for 1914.)

In June 1914 Rev. Witter became full-time pastor in Waynesboro, discontinuing his services at Linwood. The Waynesboro church became self-supporting in October 1917. In December 1920 Rev. Witter resigned his pastorate here, effective April 1, 1921, feeling definitely called of God to the work at Kittanning, Pa.

Years of Growth

Bro. J. M. Tombaugh, of Hagerstown, Md., served the church until the newly elected pastor could be located here. John Perry Horlacher, recent graduate of Ashland College, unmarried, was elected and came to serve as pastor in July 1922. A definite need for more Sunday-school room was felt and plans were made and carried out to enlarge the present building at a cost of $21,000. The addition was built in 1926 and dedicated January 9, 1927. Dr. R. R. Teeter was the main speaker at each of three services held that day. Former Pastor M. A. Witter also gave an address, "Reminiscences." Indebtedness on the new addition was entirely covered by pledges made prior to dedication. Brother Horlacher terminated his work in Waynesboro in September 1927, having served five years and two months.

Rev. W. C. Benshoff had held three weeks of successful meetings here under J. P. Horlacher's ministry. The church was indeed glad to have him accept the call to come from Johnstown, Pa., to serve as pastor of our church. He served faithfully from September 1927 to September 1937.

Years of Edification

In September 1937 Rev. R. D. Crees came to succeed Rev. W. C. Benshoff and labored with us until 1944. The church purchased the present parsonage soon after Brother Crees came at a cost of $4,200. During his pastorate here the church had a very important decision to make and trials were not few, but the Lord was leading and His work here experienced great blessing and growth.

Rev. C. S. Zimmerman, of Dayton, Ohio, accepted his first Brethren pastorate when he came to Waynesboro. He worked tirelessly from September 1944 until May 1950. Rev. Zimmerman felt keenly that a Christian should be equipped to do the work of the Lord and he did all that he could to encourage growth and afford training to all who desired it. In addition to his regular pastoral work, one night each week he taught three courses of study, one leadership training and two Bible doctrine classes. He was a very efficient teacher and left us many valuable helps for our personal lives and for Christian service. During Rev. Zimmerman's pastorate a Wurlitzer electric Orgatron was purchased. It is used in each of the Lord's Day services in conjunction with the piano for congregational singing.

Pastorate of Holliday

Brother Zimmerman was called to the Patterson Park mission church, Dayton, Ohio, in May 1950. In that same month Rev. Dennis I. Holliday came to minister to us, having just graduated from Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind. Since Rev. Holliday has been here the church sponsors a weekly radio program. It is heard each Saturday morning. Letters come from listeners, and we have some in our services from time to time who come because they have heard the radio broadcast.

Our church membership at the present time is 345. Seven new members have been added to our membership during the first four months of this year. We have an active Sunday school with an enrollment of 327. On April 5, 1953, we had 335 present, which is 102 percent of the number on the roll. The missionary groups include Senior WMC, Junior WMC, Senior Sisterhood, Junior Sisterhood, and Signal Lights (for boys and girls ages 6 to 12 years). Mrs. Robert Williams, serving in Africa, is the adopted missionary of our church. A Junior Youth Fellowship and a Senior Youth Fellowship meet regularly each Lord's Day evening. Young men and women serve as a gospel team and regularly conduct services at the county home and jail. Also park services are conducted during the summer months in a nearby popular picnic and amusement park. A public-address system and a portable organ are used in these services.

From our church the Lord has called, through the years, six laborers for full-time work in His vineyard. Others have spent time in Bible schools and several have graduated from Grace Seminary. Rev. Herman Koontz, of Winona Lake, Ind., is one of our number. His mother, Mrs. Lutie Koontz, now living with another son, is a charter member of our church. We thank the Lord for the consistent Christian testimony of "Mother" Koontz throughout the years.

We thank and praise the Lord Jesus Christ for past victories and blessings. Our prayer is that the Lord will continue to bless His work in this place to His own glory, and that we may ever be found faithful to Him, living victorious Christian lives, reaching and winning precious souls for Him.

HOW TO REVIVE A DEAD CHURCH

By Evangelist R. Paul Miller, Berne, Ind.

The copy for this page, sponsored by the Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade Committee, arrived at the office of the Brethren Missionary Herald too late to be included in last week's issue, where it usually appears.—Editor.

"Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light" (Eph. 5:14).

"And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed" (Rom. 13:11).

"Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God" (II Cor. 5:20).

Read these verses over and you feel the hot, burning passion of the great apostle for the salvation of the souls of men. His heart was on fire; he knew the power of sin; he had a vision of hell; he felt the weight of divine responsibility; he realized the uncertainty of life. His burden of heart for lost men wouldn't let him sleep, but drove him out far into the night to plead with men with tears.

But evidently there were many of these Roman believers who had no concern for Christian living and witnessing at all. He exhorted them that it was high time to "awake out of sleep." Any professing Christian people that are unconcerned for souls are asleep so far as God is concerned. What difference does it make if you know all about the dispensations, the types and figures, and the prophecies of the Bible if you are not using what you know to win souls? The more Bible knowledge you have the more you will be held accountable for. To be spiritually asleep is a terrible offense in a Christian. The Christian is set as a watchman for Christ over the souls of men about him. God said to Ezekiel: "I have set thee a watchman . . . thou shalt hear the word at my mouth, and warn them from me" (Ezek. 33:7; cf. vss. 8-11).

Near my home a few weeks ago a young man was driving home early in the morning from night-shift work in Fort Wayne. He had several other workmen in the car with him.

The car left the road, struck a tree, a telephone pole, rolled down a bank, and crashed a fence. All were killed but one young man, the driver. He told the state officer: "I fell asleep." Replied the officer: "When others are trusting their lives to your care it is no time to go to sleep."

For a locomotive engineer to go to sleep—a train despatcher, a crossing watchman, a ship's pilot, a nurse, a sentinel in the army, a telephone operator, or any other trusted servant—is not half so costly as it is for a Christian to sleep in indifference, or carelessness, or pleasure, or money-getting, while others in the family, or friends, or neighbors are going to hell all around him. Every moment may cut them off forever from hope. Every moment may cut off the soul-winner himself.

"Wake up!" Said Sir Walter Scott: "Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is what life is made of." If you should be called out of this life today, who would care about the soul of that boy or girl, husband or wife, or close friend, who mean so much to you?

"Wake up!" Because Christ's return is "at hand." The threat of atomic destruction for hundreds of millions is all around you. The re-establishment of the nation of Israel, removing the "gentile heel" that Jesus said would mark the end of the "times of the Gentiles," is now a fact.

"Wake up!" Because the cup of judgment on sin in this world is running full (Rev. 14:9-10). Jesus' graphic description of the days before the judgment of the flood read like current literature. "As the days of Noe were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be. For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and knew not until the flood came" (Matt. 24:37-39).

They had ears, but they heard not; eyes, but they saw not; hearts, but they heeded not! But they had one wide-awake watchman in that doomed world in Noah, who warned them for 120 years. His eyes saw the course of things; his ears heard the command of God; and his heart heeded the warning of God. They laughed at him, scoffed at him, thought him an excitable fool. But he was faithful, and no man in all that world of men who perished could ever point the finger at Noah and truly say, "You did not warn me."

Today we have the double tragedy of a world asleep in sin and a church also largely asleep in self-content in the midst of it all. Cried the great apostle, "It is high time to awake out of sleep." Undoubtedly we are standing in the most critical hours of humanity's history. Time is fast running out on this age of men.

For the Christian to be asleep, or indifferent to these facts, and continue absorbed in "business as usual," grasping for gold, glory, or pleasures in this doomed world when any minute may plunge millions of sinners into hell, will be a bitter record to face! This is no time for frivolous living. It is no time for careless, half-hearted devotion to Christ. It is time to change the emphasis of living from "earth-living" to "heavenly living."

And this is what the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade is dedicated to.

Reminder! All members of the Crusade committee meet in business session Monday morning at 9, August 24, in Room 24, Grace Seminary building at Winona Lake, Ind.

Reminder No. 2! All members of the Crusade committee, the Board of Evangelism, and all district representatives and their wives meet at Westminster Hotel at 5 p. m., Wednesday, August 26, for the evangelistic fellowship supper. You will long remember this one!

Brother, have you won a soul to Christ yet this year?

COMFORT FROM THE COMFORTED

They are the weary who give rest,
Who make of circumstance a test;
Who, burdened down with grief,
In Jesus find relief;
And then the long is brief.
Who suffers most can comfort best.

They are the weak who make us strong,
Whose fear is short and faith is long;
Whose strength be not of mind,
But as of God the kind;
Each day His strength they find.
And who is weak confounds the strong.

They are the sorrowing who cheer,
Who sacrifice what life holds dear,
Whose hearts with love are filled
For others, numbed and stilled.
By death's divorcement chilled.
In heaven he sings who sorrows here.

They are the meek who own the earth,
Who kings shall rise from din and dearth;
Though for a season now
To tyranny they bow;
Yet crowns shall grace their brow.
Who boasts of nought has greatest worth.

They are the needy who have all,
Who, rich beyond this earthly ball,
Shall rise from pauper's plight
To heaven's happy height
In God's eternal light!
Oh, to have nothing, yet have all!

These were not true on human plane;
Beyond this life a hope sustains:
'Tis stayed upon the Lord,
As written in His Word,
As well His grace affords.
Who trusts the Lord trusts not in vain.
—Charles Bergerson.

SECOND PLANE GOES TO TOKYO

Youth for Christ International headquarters at Wheaton, Ill., has announced that a second airplane has been secured to carry delegates to Tokyo in August for the sixth World Congress on Evangelism.

It was previously announced that a 76-seater of the Trans Ocean airline would leave Oakland, Calif., on August 3. All space on this plane has been reserved, according to Ted Engstrom, executive director of YFC. This necessitated the second plane, a 60-passenger Canadian Pacific aircraft, that is to leave Vancouver, B.

C., August 4 and return August 31.

In addition to the Congress, the delegates will participate in 50 crusades all through Japan. A total of 1,500 delegates is expected. The 40,000-seat Korakuen Stadium has been reserved for a mass meeting Friday, August 14.

The Canton, Ohio, church, pastored by John Dilling, had a vacation Bible school with an average attendance of 127 and 35 public decisions were recorded. The offerings totaled $122.

Chambersburg, Pennsylvania (Pond Bank)

We had our threefold communion service June 25, with 20 people around the tables. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Miller, members of the Harrisburg church, helped us in this service. It was a blessed experience for all who participated.

On June 27 Orpha Jean Rock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rock, of the Pond Bank church, was married to M. Harry Bakner by the writer. The ceremony was held in the auditorium of the Waynesboro church.

Our Bible school is planning to observe rally day on August 2.—Edward Clark, pastor.

Tracy, California

Robert Cover and Joene Toon were united in marriage in the church auditorium July 3 by the pastor. Robert graduated this year from Bob Jones University and Joene is our church secretary. They plan to enter Grace Seminary next year and are candidates for missionary work in Argentina. Robert has been secured by the church as an assistant to the pastor until such time as he leaves to enter the seminary.

On July 8 the congregation voted to increase the pastor's salary by $300.

Three people made public decisions on July 5 in the morning service.—William H. Clough, pastor.

Alexandria, Virginia

On Sunday, June 28, Chaplain (First Lt.) Wayne Flory preached for us. At the close of the message three people publicly confessed the Saviour. In the evening service all lights went out, due to a severe storm. The pastor kept on preaching and in the dark gave an invitation to which three young people responded to give their lives fully to the Lord.

We held one of our finest vacation Bible schools June 15-27. The attendance grew from 83 to 131, averaging 106 for the first week and 115 for the second week. There were 20 public decisions for Christ, 18 being first-time decisions and two were for full-time service. The kiddies gave a total of $86.81 for the John Zielasko missionary family in Brazil. There were 120 present for the closing program June 28.—Anonymous.

Berrien Springs, Michigan

We have noticed since coming here that the offerings have increased in a wonderful way: the offering two weeks ago was over $70, and the Sunday just past (June 28) it was $64.

Our attendance doubled in June. Our goal for the month was 50 in the Bible school and on June 28 we had 51 present. This is an encouragement to our hearts.—Robert W Markley, pastor.

Covington, Virginia

The congregation voted unanimously to approve and adopt a parsonage building program and then approved a six-man parsonage building committee.

The pastor baptized five persons and received three into membership of the church July 12.

The BYF is furnishing the lobby of the church building with transparent tract racks and colorful tracts with the church name and address stamped on them.—Paul Mohler, pastor.

Martinsburg, Pennsylvania

The First Brethren Church of Martinsburg held daily vacation Bible school June 15-26 with the theme "Crusading With Christ." The enrollment was 154, average attendance was 141, and 123 had perfect attendance records. The teachers and helpers numbered 24.

The Bible school picnic was sponsored by the Rose Circle class and was held in a local park June 25. The closing service of the vacation school was held in the high school auditorium with over 300 people in attendance.—Helen Beach, corresponding secretary.

Accident, Maryland

We are pleased to report that during the week of evangelistic meetings there were three public decisions made, and the following Wednesday night Bro. Leslie Moore, of Meyersdale, Pa., baptized one of those who had made public confession. The Lord caused the attendance to jump from 10 to 50.

Bro. James Hoffmeyer, Cumberland, Md., began a weekly Bible class here July 2 with 26 present.—Walter M. Fergus, pastor.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 31

FOREIGN MISSION NUMBER

AUGUST 1, 1953

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

By Russell D. Barnard
Editor, Foreign Mission Number

It's Wonderful! Our God Supplies!

It's wonderful to know that we have a God who "knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him." We have always believed this, but it has been such an encouragement to our faith to see it so marvelously demonstrated in our foreign mission offering just received. Our absolute need for the year has been estimated at $223,000. The Lord gave us $223,611.57, according to the figures just sent us by our financial secretary, Miss Ruth E. Reddick. We are praising our Father God for this abundant blessing, but He only gave according to His nature, so why did we ever doubt His bounty?

But, We Did Have Doubts

With an offering for last year of only a little over $180,000, many of us were very fearful that in setting a goal of $223,000 for this year, and building our missionary expenditures with that amount in mind, we would almost "try" God. In the less victorious moments we personally shared this fear. When we left Winona Lake a few days ago to spend almost three weeks among the churches and district conferences in the Southeast and East, it seemed that our total offering would not possibly exceed $215,000. There were conflicts in the soul and grave concern—where could we cut down expenditures? How could all the needs of our missionaries and of our mission fields be supplied with an offering from $8,000 to $13,000 less than our absolute need?

Well, you can imagine our thrill of soul when at Johnson City, Tenn., a letter caught up with us, giving the good news of God's superabundant blessing revealed in a total offering for the fiscal year of $223,611.57. We are still breathing prayers of thanksgiving and, as we mention this blessing to different audiences, we hear many who break forth with a happy "Amen"; there are also tears of joy to be seen.

Will New Missionaries Be Sent?

This is the question we are asked everywhere. First, let us remind you that 18 new missionaries were sent to the field since our last annual offering was received. This wonderful offering just received will not care for the expenses of one additional missionary; it will only care for the 84 now serving, and supply the building and equipment needs of the six fields in which we now have missionary work. Our board of trustees and society will need to give the final answer to the question, "Will new missionaries be appointed to go to the field this year?"

Appointments "By Faith"

If any new missionary appointments are made this year, they will need to be appointments "by faith" that as God has supplied in the years past, He will care for those appointments "by faith" in the future. We will need to be assured that God will enable His people to make additional gifts, and that His people—Brethren people in this case—will be willing to make such sacrifices. We have God's Word as our assurance on His part, but we would be encouraged to know the mind of the Brethren people in this most important matter.

Send Us a "Yes" or "No" Answer

If at least 1,000 of you people who read this editorial would write us your thinking after your prayerful consideration of the matter, it would help us so much. Some 7,000 of you received Foreign Missionary Society election ballots. In addition to voting for those of your choice as members of the board of trustees, please write either "Yes" or "No" on your ballot—"Yes," if you believe we should take the step by faith and make additional appointments, and you believe God's people will care for the expenses involved—"No," if you believe we should pass this year without making any, or very few, appointments. If you have already sent in your ballot, then drop us a post card—address it to Box 588, Winona Lake, Ind. Answers from 1,000 or more of you will be an expression that our board will very greatly appreciate.

The Arms Underneath

During very recent days 10 missionaries have made the long air flights to or from the mission field. Again we are praising God that "underneath are the everlasting arms"—all the precious missionaries have been transported without harm or injury. Those who have just made these long trips are Rev. and Mrs. Roy Snyder, Africa to France by plane and then to the United States by ship; Rev. and Mrs. Lester Kennedy and Judy, Rev.

Annual Meetings

The general conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, the annual meetings of all the corporations within our fellowship, and the annual meetings of the directing boards of the various corporations will all have met before another Foreign Mission Number of the Brethren Missionary Herald reaches you. These annual meetings are the very life blood of our Christian activity, from the viewpoint of offering ourselves to the Lord in service. Come to Winona Lake and enjoy the blessings of all these interesting activities. Whether or not you can come, you can pray, so pray earnestly that the Lord will have preeminence in everything and that we will all be very tender to the leading of the Holy Spirit.

The meeting of the board of trustees of the Foreign Missionary Society at Winona Lake, Ind., will begin August 17, 1953, at 1:30 p. m.

The annual meeting of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church, both of the Ohio and California Corporations, will be held at Winona Lake, Ind., on Friday, August 28, at 1:45 p. m. in the Auditorium.

NEWS FROM THE CHARLES TABERS

E. B. I.
Chatou, France,
July 4, 1953.

Dear Brother Barnard,

We've put off writing for so long. I guess the best excuse is the standard one—we've been very busy.

First, there was the fact that Christy was quite sick three weeks ago. When her high fever refused to come down, Harold (Dr. Mason) recommended that we place her in a pediatrician's care. So we placed her in the Children's Hospital, where she stayed 10 days under the care of a professor in the faculty of medicine. The first diagnosis was meningitis, but it turned out to be a severe reaction to the yellow-fever shot. We praise the Lord she is completely recovered, and shows no trace of her ordeal.

Then there were the examinations, and another reason to praise the Lord, who does "exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think." While I was thinking in terms of passing honorably, the Lord enabled me to pass at the top of the class with some of the highest grades on record. I was "flabbergasted" when I saw it. But I pray the Lord may use this to facilitate our work. Betty, because of the short time she had in the fourth class and the concern over Christy, was unable to pass her exam, but will be able to make it up, we feel, on the field.

Finally, there were our preparations for departure. And in this we found the Lord's will hard to understand, for He has seen fit to delay our visas so that we couldn't go with the others last Tuesday and now we are marooned here, at least until next Saturday. The only thing we can do is accept the Lord's doings, and rest assured that He never makes a mistake.

We had to leave our house Tuesday and the Robert Munn family at the E. B. I. (European Bible Institute) were very kind and took us in. We were able to have a few blessed minutes of fellowship with the Roy Snyders on their way through here. They stayed with the Masons, so we couldn't see them as much as we would have liked, but we did see them on the train on their way to Le Havre.

Altogether, I feel our stay in France has been most profitable. Of course, I expect we will never finish learning, but at least I feel much more solidly prepared for our work than ever before and confident that, by the Lord's grace and power, we will be able to do something worth while in Oubangui-Chari. In the meantime we are learning patience!

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Taber and Christine Ann (Christy)

Give our greetings to all our friends. We would like to write to each of them, but time doesn't permit. One of these days we will try to write a general prayer letter.

I am enclosing a family picture taken a week ago. Christy is four and one-half months old there.

In His service,

Charles.

(Editor's Note—Rev. and Mrs. Charles Taber and little Christy had planned to fly on June 30 to Africa with the Martin Garbers and Lester Kennedys. However, the necessary papers did not arrive from the French government for their entrance into Africa, so they must wait in France a little longer. Until further notice, any mail sent to them in Africa should be addressed as follows: Rev. and Mrs. Charles Taber, Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.)

The Egg and I (With Apologies)

By Robert W. Hill, Bossembele, Africa

Since coming to Africa my encounters with the common egg of the ordinary domestic hen have been frequent and varied. The most unusual occurrence with this shelled spheroid, I am happy to state, has been in the form of a delicious omelette upon our dining-room table. But not all of my experiences with the above-named product of the fowl have been as enjoyable. Take the many times a native chief has greeted my arrival in his village with a gift of—you guessed it—a handful of eggs. More often than not they are as inedible as the chief is inebriated. But getting away from the egg as foodstuff, my most unusual encounters with the ovate have been the most impressive—those associated with offerings to ancestral spirits.

Rev. "Bob" Hill

Now, before you begin thinking that the egg is something evil in the culture of these nonliterate, I must inform you that natives are very fond of eggs and have many culinary uses for them apart from offerings. There are those who claim that natives will eat rotten eggs. This is not true. (They save those to sell to missionaries.) And as the native is very exact in his dealings with the spirits of the departed dead, he will not consider fouled eggs for an offering. But why offerings? Simply, there must be an answer for every event, good or bad, that takes place in the village. Deaths, disasters, or discord must be the result of someone breaking a taboo. A good crop, birth of children or livestock, killing of game, victory over the enemy can be the result only of well-propitiated spirits who protect the village and give good things. Thus the village altar is the nerve center of all activities.

A typical GBanu altar is not at all impressive. A few termite hills are gathered together and placed in a pile next to the main footpath back of the village. Every villager passes it several times a day and according to his needs will offer his gift. If it is a village hunt, an elder will take an egg and place it upon the altar. Sometimes he breaks it because the spirits being placated are hungry and can get at it easier. At other times he will impale the egg upon a sharp stick so that it can be seen by the spirits at a distance. While this is being done a group of small boys begin beating the hunting nets with sticks, saying, "If you do not catch an animal for us today you are a fool and will be burned in the fire when we return." The spirits of the ancestors, upon seeing the offering and hearing the incantation, will, of course, respond favorably. Then there is the disconcerted father who, upon hearing that his wife has just presented him with twins, makes an offering of an egg to the ancestors. The father is upset for reasons far different from those facing the father of twins in the States. Having twins is a bad omen. One must die. Thus the egg is offered with the placenta in a large native jar filled with dirt.

We could go on describing the various offerings but, though the individual need be different, the general plan is the same. The spirits must be reached; the spirits are hungry; therefore, if one should offer food the spirits would be inclined to help that person. But why an egg?

Fruit Unto Life Eternal

The Walter Haag family returned to San Ysidro, Calif., on July 1 after a seven-week trip down the Baja California peninsula. They found the people hungry for the Word. A brief report from Brother Haag will thrill your soul:

"How we want to praise the Lord for the opportunity of seeing the Spirit work in hearts. Besides being privileged to spend 10 to 15 hours a day the last week talking to folks about the Lord and the Word, the last two evenings nine made public confessions and two others, who could not attend the meetings, received the Lord. Add 11 to the former eight, who have grown beautifully except for one, and the group of believers in San Ignacio reaches 19.

"Does Jesus love us, too?"

Young believers at San Ignacio."

No wonder we are so happy. There are many others interested and thinking seriously."

Is there not other food that could be used for an offering? Yes, but not as frequently. My informant gives two simple reasons why the egg is preferred. It is white. As spirits wander about mainly at night they would be attracted to something white. It is clean inside. Unlike other foods offered at the altar the egg is unexposed to filthy surroundings and is clean, thus delighting the palate of the spirits.

Thus we see the GBanu in his attempt to reach his gods. He knows they can be pacified in an offering that is attractive, pure, and unspotted. How our hearts go out to these people in darkness who come so near and yet so far to the idea of a righteous and unblemished sacrifice in the Lord Jesus Christ. He alone is the perfect offering for their sins. For all their elaborate system of propitiating the spirits, their faith in the common egg proves the point—"Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools." Yes, the "yoke" is on them.

Pastor and Mrs. Paul Davis and five teachers conducted a vacation Bible school at Cainsville, Mo., with 265 in attendance.

Speakers at the Long Beach, Calif., Second church, pastored by George O. Peek, July 5 were Dr. Irving Ahlquist and Sayer Canova, and July 12 were Rev. Burton Hatch and Dr. Gerald Stanton.

District conference officers are urged to send to the Brethren Missionary Herald Company at once all material that should be included in the next Brethren Annual. Information cannot be printed that is not known or received by the editor.

The Winona Lake, Ind., church, pastored by Herman W. Koontz, for the year ending June 30 reported a membership of 114, with an average attendance of 189 in Sunday morning service, 176 in evening, 194 in Sunday school, and 81 in midweek prayer meeting. The gifts for the year totaled $20,797, with 55 percent for works outside the local congregation.

Charles R. Angle, of the Hagerstown, Md., church and a faithful witness for his Lord throughout the city, died July 13.

Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, of Winona Lake, Ind., spoke at these Brethren churches in California during the first three weeks of July: San Bernardino, 1; Seal Beach, 2-5; Glendale, 5-8; Los Angeles Second, 9-12; Long Beach First, 12-15; Whittier First, 16-19; Bell, 19-22.

The Seal Beach, Calif., church recently called Rev. Jerry Yerian to be its pastor.

The Beaumont, Calif., church's young people, pastored by Gene Farrell, conducted the evening services June 28 for the Young Russian Christian Association in Los Angeles, and July 5 at their own church.

Roland Rasmussen was the speaker on both occasions.

An Elyria, Ohio, Brethren Bible class was started July 13 by Pastor Lester Pifer, Fremont, with 15 present. The class is slated to meet each Monday night at the John Herwig home, 353 Columbus Ave.

The Mansfield, Ohio, church, pastored by Bernard Schneider, had a 60-per-Sunday increase in June over June of 1952 for the morning services and 42 for the evening services. The average midweek prayer meeting attendance in June was 138, and 13 public decisions for the Lord were recorded during the month.

Speakers at the Osceola, Ind., church during July were Dale Cromley and Dudley Long, 5; Dr. Homer A. Kent, 12; Prof. John C. Whitcomb, 19; and Prof. S. Herbert Bess, 26.

Rev. Kenneth E. Richardson, professor at Westmont College, is serving the La Verne, Calif., church as summer supply pastor.

The Northwest District, in annual conference at the Portland, Oreg., church, voted to invite the annual conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches to Portland, Oreg., for 1954.

The Kittanning, Pa., First church at its recent business meeting raised Pastor Gordon W. Bracker's salary and decided to do some carpeting in the auditorium.

Dr. Paul R. Bauman, of Winona Lake, Ind., was one of the speakers at the Erieside, Ohio, Bible conference, near Cleveland, July 17-26.

While Pastor James Dixon is traveling in behalf of the National Sunday School Board of the Brethren Church, the Washington, D. C., church heard Dr. Paul R. Bauman, July 12; Dr. Russell D. Barnard, July 15; Dr. George Miles, July 19; and is to hear Prof. Warren Tamkin, August 2 and 9; and Rev. Bruce Button, August 16.

Mrs. William (Leona Dawson) Cole, of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, died during the first week of July. She was the mother of Sibley Edmiston. Mrs. Cole wrote many poems, some of which have appeared in this magazine. On page 504 is one of her poems, "Morning, Noon, and Night," that portrays her faith better than any words we could write.

The Sibley Edmistons write that the Lord has put His approval on their work in Laredo, Tex., by using them in saving one soul.

Pastor James Dixon has been made the pastor adviser of the city-wide Washington, D. C., Christian Endeavor Society for next year.

The Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church has 31 maroon choir robes for sale cheaply. Contact Pastor Clyde Balyo about them.

The father of Mrs. Hill Maconaghy died at Philadelphia, Pa., July 2.

The Philadelphia, Pa., First church has secured Rev. John Neely as supply pastor during the illness and recuperation of Pastor John M. Aeby. The Aebys are now vacationing in Minnesota and Brother Aeby expects to return to the pulpit after Labor Day.

The annual conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches is set for August 24-30 at Winona Lake, Ind. Every member of the denomination who possibly can ought to plan to attend for spiritual refreshment and to help make decisions of eternal value.

The Lake Odessa, Mich., church called Rev. Robert Griffith, recent graduate from Grace Theological Seminary, to be its pastor. He moved to the field July 15, the same day the former pastor of the church, Lee Jenkins, moved to Winona Lake, Ind., where he will reside awaiting his call to the chaplaincy in the U. S. Marine Corps. Brother Griffith should be addressed at R. R. 2, Clarksville, Mich., and Brother Jenkins at Winona Lake, Ind. (Make addition and correction in Annual, pp. 68-69). Just before the Jenkinsons moved the church gave them a farewell party and a generous gift.

Two Brethren young men, Alva Connor, of Roanoke, Va., and Jesse Deloe, Jr., of Winona Lake, Ind., are members of the Bryan University Gospel Messengers. The group is in the midst of a 10-weeks tour of the midwestern States, holding meetings in churches and youth rallies. The tour will end in Cleveland, Ohio, August 23.

HOME MISSIONS—

1. Pray for the Christian Navahos that they may bear a testimony among their own people. Pray that children who will become missionaries will be directed to the Navaho mission school.

2. Pray for the DVBS in Phoenix, Ariz., August 10-21. Praise the Lord for the 1952 DVBS, for out of it has grown the present Phoenix church. Also pray about the financing and construction of the new church there.

3. Pray for home mission churches such as Chico, Juniata, Denver, Cedar Rapids, and Harrisburg, where changes of pastors are being made, that it will in no way retard the spiritual and financial growth of the churches.

4. Pray for the annual board meeting of the directors of the Brethren Home Missions Council as it convenes August 17. Plans in home missions will be made for the year 1954.

5. Pray that every Brethren will get a vision of the needs in Brethren home missions, and that each one will know the Lord's will in what He would have them to do about it.

6. Pray for the NFBC conference August 24-30.

FOREIGN MISSIONS—

1. Praise the Lord for His goodness in supplying the largest foreign mission offering in the history of our society—$223,611.57. Pray that the foreign board may have wisdom from the Lord in the handling of these funds.

2. Pray for the Hill Maconaghys, now en route to Argentina for another term of service. They sailed from New York on July 23, having been delayed by the death of Mrs. Maconaghy's father.

3. Pray for the Roy Snyders, now on furlough from Africa, that they may have a time of rest and that Mrs. Snyder may be fully restored to health. Pray also for the other missionaries on furlough.

4. Continue to pray much for the work in Brazil, especially for the two new missionary families, the Zielas and Teeters, as they learn the language and take on heavy responsibility. The work in Brazil is a growing one and the demands on our missionaries are tremendous.

5. Pray for those who found the Lord as Saviour during the recent trip of the Haags into Baja California. Also pray for the Roy Howards, who are now visiting along the Sonora coast of Mexico.

6. Pray for the Albert Balzers, who will be returning to Africa at the end of August. Pray for the Charles Sumeys and Miss Clara Schwartz, who are preparing to leave Africa on furlough in September.

7. Pray for the work in Honolulu, that the Lord will lead adults of His choosing to join with the Tresises in a strong gospel witness. Remember to pray for the Tresises as they support themselves.

8. Pray for the Sibley Edmiston family, whom the Lord has led to locate at Laredo, Tex., where they expect to serve as self-supporting workers in witnessing to the Spanish-speaking people of that border area.

9. Pray for the annual meeting of the foreign board, beginning August 17 at Winona Lake, that the board may be definitely led of the Lord in the many decisions which must be made.

GRACE SEMINARY—

1. Pray that God will send to the seminary just the students He would have there this coming year.

2. Pray that the Lord will lead in the establishment of the new dormitory for single college students. Pray also for a proper supervision of this phase of the seminary's work.

3. Pray that God will supply the financial need of the seminary, especially during the months prior to the lifting of the annual offering in December and January.

4. Pray for the success of the plan to establish a four-year college curriculum in connection with the seminary.

THE HERALD—

1. Pray for Rev. Arnold R. Kriegbaum as he assumes the office of editor and business manager of this company beginning September 1. Pray that the days of transition will be orderly and profitable to all parties concerned.

2. Pray that the offerings being sent in will be sufficient to care for all the needs of the company and that the Lord will direct in the use of every cent given.

WMC—

1. Pray for a good representation from each district at our national WMC conference.

2. Pray for especial wisdom and divine guidance for the cabinet members as they meet prior to conference.

3. Pray the Lord's blessing upon every session, that we all may receive much inspiration and a great vision for this coming year.

SMM—

1. Pray for the national Sisterhood board members as they meet the week end before national conference.

2. Pray for the guidance of the Holy Spirit in the election of the national officers.

3. Pray that each SMM girl might be willing to be used of the Lord in the salvation of precious souls.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP—

1. Pray that the young people who are making decisions for Christ at camps will have the grace and strength to keep them.

2. Pray that those making decisions concerning school this fall may have wisdom, and may find the Lord supplying every need.

3. Pray that the financial needs of the Youth Council may be met.

4. Pray that many of our young people may be able to enjoy the blessings, inspiration, and instruction of Camp Bethany.

TREASURES IN ISAIAH 53

By Prof. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., Winona Lake, Ind.

PART I: THE SETTING OF A PRECIOUS TREASURE.

This is the first of a series of brief devotional and inspirational articles by Brother Whitcomb on one of the richest chapters in the Old Testament Scriptures.—Editor.

"Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law" (Psa. 119:18). This may have been David's prayer as he prepared himself for the study of God's Word, but it must be our prayer if we expect the Holy Spirit of God to draw aside the veil that covers the holy place of divine revelation, and to reveal to our astonished eyes the priceless treasures of His Word.

A Comparison

If the Bible may be compared to the ancient Jewish temple, with its various courts and chambers, then surely the 53d chapter of Isaiah is in the very holy of holies of the temple of Scripture, where the Spirit-led believer may gaze into the face of the Holy One of Israel as in no other place. Dare we approach our blessed Lord as revealed in this passage, without "a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water"? The very first phrase in this exquisite chapter (which we shall consider as beginning at Isaiah 52:13), is an invitation by God to "behold, my servant." Let us pray, then, with David, "Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold"—THY SERVANT, THE HOLY LAMB OF GOD!

Two Ways

There are at least two ways in which God has indicated to us the supreme importance of this chapter. The first is by way of New Testament quotation, and the second is by Old Testament location. With regard to the first of these, it is astonishing to discover that parts of Isaiah 53 are quoted in Matthew 8, John 12, Acts 8, Romans 10 and 15, and I Peter 2! Thus, the Spirit of God, as it were by the force of quotations and repetitions, would draw our attention back, back, back to this marvelous prophecy of Messiah's Person and work.

Secondly, we find that the location of Isaiah 53 is an indication of its importance. Isaiah was the prince of writing prophets, and his heavenly, God-glorifying passages become almost poetical in the last section of his prophecy (chapters 40-66), which is considered to be the highest and richest portion of Old Testament revelation. It begins where the New Testament begins—with the ministry of John the Baptist (40:3), and ends where the New Testament ends—with a new heaven and a new earth (65:17; 66:22). These last 27 chapters of Isaiah are divided into three equal parts of nine chapters, each one ending with the solemn pronouncement that "there is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked" (48:22; 57:21; cf. 66:24). Now consider the location of Isaiah 53: it is the central chapter of the central section (52-54) of the central division (49-57) of the heart of Old Testament prophecy! And the central verse of our passage is 53:5—"He was wounded for our transgressions." This verse presents the doctrine of substitutionary atonement, which is the theme of the chapter, and the key to the problem of how Israel's iniquity is to be pardoned (40:2). Is all of this mere chance, or does it unveil the marvelous providence of our God, in placing the atonement in the very heart of Old Testament prophecy?

Its Context

Let us now see how Isaiah 53 fits into the context of Isaiah 40-66, that we might understand fully its significance in relation to the rest of the book and to Bible prophecy in general. David Baron, in his very helpful exposition of Isaiah 53, called "The Servant of Jehovah," points out that "one great line of thought unfolded in the whole prophecy is the development of evil and the final overthrow of the wicked, who are excluded from the blessings of Messiah's kingdom; and the sufferings but final glory of the righteous remnant, who are the subjects of that kingdom, and whose King is described as leading the way along the same path of suffering into glory." The purpose of Isaiah 53 is not simply to present an unanswerable example of predictive prophecy, but rather it is to show that all the eternal hopes of a believing remnant are based solely upon the substitutionary atoning sacrifice of a Person who is known to God as "My Servant," who shall be stricken "for the transgression of my people."

"Behold This Lamb"

Someone has said that with this chapter, "all Hebrew prophecy as a divine revelation stands or falls." But it is even more true to say that with the Person of this chapter, the Servant of Jehovah, all of God's promises must stand or fall. For apart from the willing sacrifice of the Holy One of Israel upon the cross of Calvary for the sins of men, God's justice could prevent no sinner, however loved by Him, from escaping the consequences of his sins in the lake of fire forever. Little wonder, then, that God calls upon sinners and saints to BEHOLD this Lamb of God, which taketh away the sins of the world! If you have not beheld Him as the Substitute for your sins, dear friend, your condemnation continues steadfastly onward, despite all refinements and religious rituals. For we cannot escape this word from God: "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him" (John 3:36).

ACTIVITIES OF YOUNG PEOPLE ACROSS THE NATION

BBC PRESIDENT ACTIVE FOR THE LORD

Arthur Martinez, national BBC president from Taos, N. Mex., is still very much on the job for the Lord in Korea, and recently had the privilege of leading a couple of guards to Christ. He has also been attending and assisting in services for ROK soldiers, witnessing through an interpreter. He has used most of his service pay for tracts, Testaments, Gospels, etc., in Korean, for distribution among the spiritually hungry people there. Remember to pray for Arthur and for the other boys like him who are on the job for the Lord while in service.

PHOENIX BYF LEADER ENTERS CAP

Patricia Mary Hendricks, past president of Senior BYF and recent high-school graduate, is now a Civil Air Patrol cadet in the New Mexico-Arizona area. Pat is a good flier, and also an active leader in our new church at Phoenix, Ariz. And we hope her testimony for the Lord will always be as strong as her enthusiasm for the air!

KAMP KEYSTONE CLOSES GOOD YEAR

One hundred twenty-five juniors the first week and 59 seniors the second week kept Kamp Keystone humming with activity near Somerset, Pa., recently. Good weather prevailed most of the time, though it did get a little chilly the second week.

A new way of handling decisions, with the cards marked by the campers themselves, brought good response, and there were a total of 19 in the two weeks who indicated that they were accepting Christ as Saviour, or making sure of salvation. Forty-nine renewed their vows with the Lord, 29 gave their lives for full-time Christian service, and 39 covenanted to read their Bibles and pray daily—seems to run to “9’s,” doesn’t it? We praise the Lord for these wonderful blessings in camp, and look forward to others.

THREE GIRLS AID IN KENTUCKY DVBS

Joan Stuiber, from Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio; Helen Bothwell, from Philadelphia, Pa., Third church; and Lucile Leichty, from Cleveland, Ohio, recently spent two busy weeks helping in DVBS at Clayhole, Ky. It was the first time for a long time that DVBS has been held there, because of the lack of help, and Pastor Sewell Landrum hardly knew how many to expect. He certainly didn’t expect the more than 100-average attendance that was reached.

Helen spent her two weeks vacation from a busy office in Philadelphia assisting in this work, and the other two girls postponed the starting of jobs until the work there was finished. Their sacrifice and service were certainly appreciated by the pastor and people at Clayhole, and we know the girls had a great time in the service of the Lord there. And they’ll have some real firsthand missionary experiences to tell the home folk concerning this fine home-mission work.

CONDEMNED

A “Lutheran Pastor Schumann” was sentenced to six years in prison by an East German Communist court because of a sermon illustration. The pastor had cited an example of a wealthy Englishman donating his entire fortune to a Christian youth movement. A Communist court ruled the story “a glorification of capitalism,” found the pastor guilty of “agitation against . . . the Communist government,” and sentenced him to six years.—Gospel Herald.

Willis Witzky Dies

Bro. Willis Witzky, of Mansfield, Ohio, went to be with the Lord on Tuesday, June 23, 1953. He was buried from the Grace Brethren Church on June 26. The large crowd present for the funeral service testified to the love and esteem which he enjoyed among God's children in his home town.

Brother Witzky attended Bryan University and spent one semester at Grace Theological Seminary, preparing for the ministry. However, lack of good health forced him to give up his earnest hope of serving the Lord in the pastorate here on earth.

Though the last seven months of his life were spent in almost continued physical suffering, his faith and personal testimony continued to grow, and became a source of great blessing and spiritual inspiration to many people. At the time of his homegoing he was a deacon and the much-loved teacher of the young people's Bible class in the Grace Brethren Church of Mansfield.—Bernard N. Schneider, pastor.

Mrs. D. W. Early Dies

Mrs. D. W. Early passed away at Yakima, Wash., April 13, 1953, at the age of 88 years. She was born in Ogle County, Ill., June 1, 1864, and moved to Oregon in 1877 where she was united in marriage to Jacob H. Flory, June 22, 1882. Mr. Flory passed away October 26, 1905. To this union six children were born.

She moved to the Yakima Valley of Washington the year of 1902, where she spent the rest of her life. She was united in marriage to Daniel W. Early November 3, 1907. She was a member of the Sunnyside and Harrah churches and a charter member of the Yakima church.

She leaves to mourn her passing her husband, D. W. Early, of Yakima; one daughter, Mrs. E. E. Harter, of Yakima; three sons, Thurston and Jess Flory, of Grandview, and Clarence Flory, of Prosser; two sisters, Mrs. Nora Kurnow, of Seattle, and Mrs. Estella Lytton, of Riverside,

To those who have been keeping up with the activities of the Young Russian Christian Association, we know you will rejoice with us in the news concerning our proposed work among the Russians in Guadalupe, Mexico.

We have been plugging a drive for funds so we could have a "lump sum" with which to start building there. Last night, July 12, was "Guadalupe Day," the day that we were to take a special offering for that purpose.

It was the hottest day of the year; many went to the beaches; there was a big wedding in one of the Molokan churches—how disappointing it was to have such a small crowd when we had advertised quite extensively concerning this project. The program was presented; Al Samarin, the worker-to-be in the colony, told how he felt that God had led him into the work.

Then, after showing colored slides taken on the field, the offering was received. For every $10 that came in a brick was added on a black-board prepared for that purpose. Brick by brick the structure began to grow. Then, when the whole offering was counted and the bricks built, the amount came to $735, and that from about 50 young people and a few friends. The Lord did certainly work and is still working. Phone calls have come in telling us that even though they could not come to the meeting they were sending offerings and pledges for monthly contributions for the missionary endeavors of the YRCA.

Pray for us. The Rogoff family and I are heading for Mexico City to visit Gen. Lazaro Cardenas, an ex-president of Mexico, and present the work to him and get all the necessary permits, etc., for the work. Also we will be taking one of our boys, Al Gussiff, down to Chiapas, where he will be teaching English for six months near the Wycliffe jungle camp. Al is a member of the Second Brethren Church of Long Beach.

The YRCA missionary endeavors have been quite extensive the last six months especially. Approximately $800 has been spent—the money or equipment going to Bill Samarin in Africa, Marj Trulin in Mexico, Earl and Betty Adams under Wycliffe in Guatemala, the work in Guadalupe, and small offerings to various other works. We hope to get a missionary budget real soon that will include the above works and also half support of our member, Vera Bukan, who will be going to the Indians of Mexico under the Wycliffe Translators.—Jack Green, director.

Calif.; one brother, Elmer Forney, of Addy, Wash.; eight grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, and four great-great-grandchildren; one stepson, Ed Early, of Mabton; one stepdaughter, Mrs. Roy Perry, of Yakima; eight stepgrandchildren; nine great-stepgrandchildren; and one great-great-stepgrandchild.

She was buried in Sunnyside.—Russell L. Williams, pastor.

Artesia, California

Greetings in Jesus' precious name!

Here is a brief report concerning the Lord's blessing on His work here in Artesia. During the last two months we had eight baptisms and eight new members were received into our fellowship. In our meetings with Bro. R. Paul Miller and Brother Pietropaulo there were 45 decisions, of which 38 were made as first-time.

On the Sunday of June 28 Rev. Carl Sisson spoke in the morning service and the Men's Magnify from Long Beach First church conducted the evening service while we helped in the summer camp at Tahquitz Pines. We had 16 young people at camp from our church.

Our daily vacation Bible school will begin Monday, July 20, and continue for two weeks.—Adam Rager, pastor.

SOUND TRUCK GOES TO KOREA

A one-ton Chevrolet panel truck, equipped with modern sound devices, was presented to the Pocket Testament League for use in gospel witnessing in Korea—a gift of two New York Christian businessmen.

In a dedicatory ceremony at the Brookdale Baptist Church of New York City, May 17, Mr. Alfred A. Kuns, executive director of the PTL, christened the truck "The Tutson," and said:

"These sound trucks [one already in use there] are indispensable in getting the Gospel to the Korean people. They enable our evangelists to reach literally thousands of people daily. We feel that every minute counts—the time for preaching the Gospel in Korea may be short. Please continue to support this gospel ministry with your prayers."

ZEOLI COMPLETES MISSION

Evangelist Anthony Zeoli, widely known as "the walking Bible" because of his rapid-fire use of hundreds of Scripture verses in his dynamic preaching, conducted Crusade Campaigns in Rome and Florence, Italy; Geneva, Switzerland; Paris, France; Glasgow, Scotland; Belfast, Ireland; and London, England.

Thirty-two years ago Zeoli was converted in Eastern State Penitentiary in Philadelphia. His remarkable testimony of salvation from a life of crime, coupled with his phenomenal memorizing of the Bible, has caused him to be in demand as an evangelist throughout the United States and Canada.—Gospel Herald.

A THOUSAND TINY DEMONS

A thousand tiny demons!
They level hills of faith,
And cover vales of love;
They break the boughs of peace,
They waste the breath of hope,
They scorch the leaves of joy;
Until there seems to be

But, ah! they can't destroy
The Mount that towers above
All hills, all vales, all things;
That watches fatherly
Lest anyone should fall,
To pluck him up and out,
And stand him firm and strong
On Christ, th' eternal Rock!

—Charles Bergerson.

Robert Griffith Ordained by Pike Church

The Pike Brethren Church, of Conemaugh, Pa., ordained one of its own young men, D. Robert Griffith, to the ministry of the Gospel in an impressive service in the auditorium of the church house July 12. This followed an examination by the ministerial examining board of the East Fellowship of Brethren Churches.

The Scripture was read by Pastor Clair Gartland, of the Pike church, and Pastor Kenneth B. Ashman, of Wooster, Ohio, preached the sermon. Brother Ashman was a former pastor of the Pike church.

This was followed by the authorization by Pastor Gartland, the Scriptures that pertain to the elder or bishop were read by Pastor Gerald Polman, brother-in-law of the candidate for ordination, and the questions and vows were read by Pastor Ashman. The three pastors took part in the ordination prayer. Brother Gartland gave the charge to the new elder and he in turn gave the benediction.

During the service Pastor Polman sang two special musical numbers, and Miss Patricia Griffith, sister of the candidate, was the pianist for the service.

Brother Griffith began his ministry as pastor of the Lake Odessa, Mich., church July 15, and has moved to that community.

MRS. GRIFFITH THOMAS DIES

Mrs. W. H. Griffith Thomas, 89-year-old widow, died at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Elmer H. Gillespie, at Lafayette, La., June 13.

She was the widow of the well-known English clergyman and writer, Dr. W. H. Griffith Thomas, one-time vicar of St. Paul's Church, London, England; principal of Wycliffe Hall, Oxford; professor at Wycliffe College, Toronto, Canada; and author of many books on the Bible and the Christian life. The family moved from England to Canada in 1910 and to Philadelphia, Pa., in 1919, where Dr. Thomas died in 1924.

Mrs. Thomas, Alice Monk, was born March 3, 1864, and was soon afterward baptized and confirmed in the Church of England. It was not until she was 21 years of age, in an evangelistic meeting, that she received the Lord Jesus as her Saviour. She was married to Dr. Thomas August 2, 1898.

Two funeral services were held, one at Lafayette and the second at Philadelphia, where the body was laid to rest by the remains of her husband. The Philadelphia service was conducted by Dr. Charles Ernest Scott and Dr. Edwin A. Bustard. Mrs. Richard Bolton sang the first two stanzas of "Great Is Thy Faithfulness," and was joined by Mrs. Thomas' daughter in singing the third stanza as a testimony.

Dr. Bustard explained that according to Mrs. Thomas' wishes her body was not to be viewed, for she did not want friends to see her face, but rather to look into the face of Christ and behold the glory of the Lord, according to II Corinthians 3:18.

NO BROTHERHOOD?

Columnist Pegler is a good deal of a meat-ax artist, but he often is right. "I am sick," he says (and who isn't?) "of the awkward triumvirate of rabbi, priest, and minister, constantly in the [theater] wings to whip on the stage, singing, 'God Bless America.'" Then he adds, "Our religions are neither similar nor reconcilable."—Sunday School Times.

Introducing a New Brethren Pastor

Robert William Markley, at the request of the congregation, assumed the pastorate of the Grace Brethren Church of Berrien Springs, Mich., May 1. He and his family moved to Berrien Springs from Hanover, Mich., where they had resided since his graduation from Huntington College, Huntington, Ind., six years ago.

Brother Markley is a native of Constantine, Mich., where he was a member of the Florence Church of the Brethren. This church had licensed him to the ministry in 1942. He attended Manchester College, North Manchester, Ind., for 18 months.

In 1944, Brother Markley was convicted of sin and accepted the Lord Jesus Christ as his personal Saviour. He followed this with a transfer to Huntington College, from which he received a Master of Arts degree in 1947.

During this time of study in Huntington, Brother and Sister Markley united with the Grace Brethren Church of that city, under the ministry of Pastor H. Leslie Moore.

Pastor Robert W. Markley

Since leaving college and while living in Hanover, Mr. Markley taught school for five years and also pastored the Hanover Gospel Center the last two of those years.

YFC HAS GREAT CONVENTION

Youth for Christ International held its ninth annual convention at Winona Lake, Ind., June 28-July 12. During the 15 days of 14 sessions per day more than 750 public confessions were made, many of them for salvation.

Delegates and directors came from 38 States, six Canadian Provinces, and 12 foreign countries. The night services averaged better than 5,000 people a night, with the 7,500-seat Billy Sunday Tabernacle filled several times.

George Clunis, 18-year-old son of a Detroit, Mich., mortician, won the preacher's contest for teen-agers. Bill Nothelfer, 15-year-old son of missionaries to Japan, from Turlock, Calif., won the song-leading contest. The national Bible quiz was won by a five-person team from California.

President Robert A. Cook was reelected for his sixth term, and Evangelist Billy Graham, who missed his first convention, was reelected as vice president. Dr. Robert A. Pierce was elected second vice president, Ed Darling was elected secretary, and Dr. Frank Phillips was given the office of treasurer.

The 10th annual convention is slated for July 4-18 at Winona Lake again. The 1955 World Congress on Evangelism was awarded to Sao Paulo, Brazil, for February of that year.

The chorus choir under the leadership of Don DeVos was described by Mrs. William A. (Ma) Sunday as being "the largest choir we've ever had on the platform."

ENJOYS THE HERALD

"I am enclosing a check for my subscription. I certainly wouldn't want to miss a copy. I am so glad it is a weekly paper and I enjoy each one. I feel so much better acquainted with each branch of our work. . . . My issue is enjoyed by others as well as myself. (Signed) Mrs. R. M. Williams."

MORNING, NOON, AND NIGHT

By Leona D. Cole

When the outstretched wings of morning
Are luminous with light,
I wonder is He coming
Ere the sun is high and bright?

When the breast of earth is mellow,
At the noontide, lush and warm,
I wonder is He coming?
Shall I see His face and form?

When the sky with living coral
Halos earth and rivers' deep,
I wonder, is He coming
When the world is fast asleep?

Seems that every waiting moment
I am strangely made aware
That the mansions now are ready,
And the saints will soon be there.
—From Sonnets of the Ages.

Bro. Earl Schrock, lifelong Brethren and during the last few years a member of the La Verne, Calif., church, died at his Pomona, Calif., home July 15. He and Mrs. Schrock, Bible school superintendent of the La Verne church, had just returned from the midweek prayer meeting where he joined in singing, "It Is Well With My Soul," when he died. Brother Schrock had held many offices, being a deacon for a number of years, in local congregations in southern California and also in the district conference. Besides Mrs. Schrock he leaves behind a daughter and a son.

At the San Bernardino, Calif., church, while Pastor Lyle Marvin was teaching in the young people's camps, Evangelist William Smith, of Washington, D. C., preached July 5, and Brethren John Sansom and Burton Larkey, of San Bernardino, preached July 12.

Pastor Donald W. Rossman, of the Kittanning, Pa., North Buffalo church, has moved to nearby Elderton, Pa. (Change Annual, p. 71.)

The Leesburg, Ind., church, now engaged in a remodeling program, unanimously called Pastor Nathan Meyer and gave him a $500 salary increase for next year. Editor Conard Sandy is preaching there while Pastor Meyer is spending six weeks in study in Bible lands.

Miss Isobel Fraser, missionary to the Jews, is living temporarily at 469 N. Kings Rd., Los Angeles 48, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 42.)

The East District Fellowship held its annual conference at Meyersdale, Pa., July 20-23. It elected Pastor Clyde K. Landrum as moderator and chose the Altoona, Pa., First church for next year's conference. It decided to continue its investigation of Cumberland, Md., as a possible place for another Brethren testimony.

Pastor Robert W. Betz concluded his ministry at the Camden, Ohio, church July 26. On July 17 the church held a farewell surprise on the Betz family and gave them a cash gift.

The Tracy, Calif., church, pastored by William Clough, held a dedication service for the new Hammond organ July 19. Max Bashor, of Modesto, Calif., was the organist for the service and special music was presented by several churches of the area.

Rev. Arnold R. Kriegbaum, editor and business manager-elect of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, is moving to Winona Lake, Ind., August 10. (Change Annual, p. 69.)

The Dayton, Ohio, First church's bulletin for July 19 has this item: "The board of trustees announce that, as directed by the church body, and after many hours of study and prayerful consideration, they have unanimously accepted a 'Contract to Purchase' our church property at 1900 W. Third St. [present church location] from the Zion Hill Baptist Church of Dayton, and the matter is now in the hands of our attorneys who are starting the required legal proceedings to complete this sale." This congregation has already bought property in a newer residential section of the city for the erection of another church home, according to Pastor William Steffler.

Mrs. Christina Kaltenbaugh, an 82-year-old member of the Johnstown, Pa., First church living in Windber, Pa., died July 13.

Pastor W. A. Ogden, of the Johnstown, Pa., First church, is able again, following his accident at camp, to assume his pastoral duties and was able to attend district conference. Pastor Stanley Hauser, of Conemaugh, and Rev. H. Walter Nowag, of Johnstown, preached for him July 19.

Rev. Martin Garrison, of Fayette, Ohio, a retired preacher holding membership in the South Bend, Ind., church, is seriously ill in the Montpelier, Ohio, hospital.

Pastor Phillip J. Simmons now lives at 1805 Arbutus Ave., Chico, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 71.)

The Glendale, Calif., church, pastored by Charles M. Underwood, had special programs July 19 with Singer Alan McGill and Speakers Ronald Rasmussen and Henry Robinson.

Bro. Abe Bowman, a long-time member of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, celebrated his 92d birthday July 28. He has been confined to his home with illness for several weeks.

The Middlebranch, Ohio, church, pastored by Edward Lewis, had a full house July 17 for the closing program of the vacation Bible school. The school, supervised by Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Ted Henning, averaged 117 in attendance, with a high of 126 present, and 16 children received the Saviour. The offerings totaled $112.

Rev. and Mrs. Marvin L. Goodman, Sr., have returned from India and should be addressed in care of Mrs. C. B. Smith, 913 Boyd Ave., Fresno, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 75.)

Pastor Edward Clark has resigned as pastor of the Chambersburg, Pa., Pond Bank church effective August 23 so that he can enter Grace Theological Seminary this fall. Brother Clark is the founder and only pastor thus far of the Pond Bank church.

The Charles Taber family arrived in Africa July 15 and should be addressed at Mission a Bassai, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.

The Grace Chapel, Honolulu, Hawaii, pastored by Foster Tresise, witnessed five dedications to the Lord July 15.

Mrs. Laura Hollway, faithful member of the Long Beach, Calif., First church since 1915, died July 11.

The Findlay, Ohio, church, pastored by Forest F. Lance, had 71 people in Sunday school, 65 in morning service, and 33 in evening service July 12.

TREASURES IN ISAIAH 53

By Prof. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., Winona Lake, Ind.

PART II: THE MYSTERY OF JEHOVAH'S SERVANT

No less remarkable than the quotations and location of Isaiah 53 are the divisions into which it naturally falls. There are clearly five such divisions, which may be entitled as follows: The Mystery of the Servant (52:13-15); The Rejection of the Servant (53:1-3); The Atonement of the Servant (53:4-6); The Submission of the Servant (53:7-9); and The Exaltation of the Servant (53:10-12). Each part of the chapter fills in some of the lines in the portrait of our Lord. After the introductory section (52:13-15), which gives us an over-all sketch of Messiah's humiliation and exaltation, we trace His career from the root out of dry ground to the right hand of the Father. Each section is different, but each section fits perfectly into the whole, until we see the face of GOD OUR SAVIOUR stamped indelibly upon the completed puzzle.

Turning now to the first verse of our prophecy (52:13), we find the following points:

(1) The importance of the declaration is indicated: "Behold."

(2) The subject of attention is singled out: "My servant."

(3) The activity of this Person is characterized: "Shall deal prudently."

(4) The results are detailed: "He shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high."

The Servant Is Christ

The word "behold," often used by Isaiah (e. g., 42:1), calls our attention to something of supreme importance. In this case, we are brought face to face with a Person: "my servant." Now unbelievers, particularly Jews, would say that a person is not meant here at all, but rather the nation of Israel. This is a crucial point and must be settled clearly in our minds before we can understand the prophecy. It is true that God calls Israel "my servant" in several passages in Isaiah (e. g., 45:4), but that in no way proves that Messiah is not referred to in other places! The context must settle the matter, and it does so here! If you turn to 53:8 you will discover that "he" was stricken "for the transgression of my people." Therefore the Person of this chapter must be distinguished from God's people, Israel. Another clear example of this distinction between Messiah and Israel is found in 49:5-6. No one can successfully deny the force of this argument. Isaiah 53 speaks of God's Servant: CHRIST!

The Successful Servant

Now let us notice briefly what this Servant does, and what are the results of His actions. The phrase, "deal prudently," means to "deal wisely" or "act prosperously." The idea is that the Servant will perform with intelligence the great work entrusted to Him by the Father, and will bring it to a prosperous or successful conclusion. This same word is used at the end of Joshua 1:8—"then thou shalt have good success."

Was Christ successful in His work? Let the resulting events speak for themselves: "He shall be exalted [rise up] and extolled [lifted up], and be very high." Can you fail to find the New Testament fulfillment of this? Notice: He will rise (resurrection: commencement); He will be lifted up (ascension: continuation); He will be very high (exaltation: completion). What a proof is this that Calvary was a success! Franz Delitzsch says: "The Servant of Jehovah, rising from stage to stage, reaches at last an immeasurable height, that towers above everything."

The Suffering Servant

After a preface of glory, which points to the conclusion of Messiah's career, we now see a glimpse of the valley of suffering through which the Servant had to pass. This was the mystery of the Messiah to the Old Testament mind. In verse 13 we see someone "very high," but in verse 14 we see someone "marred" or disfigured. Can both verses refer to the same person? Not until the crucifixion could the problem be solved: The Servant had to suffer at His first coming in order to be glorified at His second coming!

Now notice, as we conclude this week's study, the picture of suffering presented in verse 14. In order to bring out the clear meaning of the original language, I want to paraphrase the verse: "Many individuals were petrified by paralyzing astonishment [same word as at the end of Ezekiel 26:16] at Thee, because His appearance was disfigured beyond human recognition [as a result of physical and spiritual sufferings on the cross], and His bodily or facial form was no longer like that of men."

Does that give you a hint of the cost of our redemption? When Pontius Pilate brought forth the Lord Jesus, clothed in a purple robe and crowned with thorns, he cried to the multitudes, "Behold the man" (John 19:5). Perhaps many in that mob were astonished at the contrast between His claims and His present appearance. But when Jesus cried out from the cross, "It is finished," and the Father shook the earth in reply, "the centurion, and they that were with him, watching Jesus, saw the earthquake, and those things that were done, [and] they feared greatly, saying, Truly this was the Son of God" (Matt. 27:54).

My friend, unless the thought of the crucified Christ strikes astonishment and repentance into your soul, there is little likelihood that you have seen God's Servant for what He truly is. Unless you believe in your heart that He is indeed the Son of God who bore your sins on the cross, then you are dead in trespasses and sins. Look on Him with faith today, and live!

ALTO, MICHIGAN, DEDICATES NEW BUILDING

By the Editor

On Sunday afternoon, July 5, 1953, the congregation of the Calvary Brethren Church of Alto, Mich., dedicated its beautiful new church building unto the Lord for the salvation of souls and for the edification of the saints.

Following the singing of the doxology, the congregation was led in prayer by Rev. Robert Griffith, then pastor-elect of the nearby Lake Odessa church. The congregation sang "The Church's One Foundation," and Rev. Robert Bates, of Jackson, read the devotional Scripture lesson. "My Hope Is Built" was sung by the congregation and Rev. Robert Griffith read Hebrews 5. The Conqueror's Quartet of the Calvary Baptist Church of Grand Rapids, sang two musical numbers.

Pastor Lee Jenkins, then of the Lake Odessa church but now living at Winona Lake, Ind., gave the message of the afternoon on "Going Forward With Christ the Lord." Dorothy and Verle Stahl, mother and son, sang an appropriate musical number. Rev. Earl O. Funderburg, pastor, and Rev. Conard Sandy, presiding elder, both spoke at this place in the program and then Brother Sandy led in the prayer of dedication.

The Conqueror's Quartet again sang just before the offering was received. The congregation joined in the singing of "Faith of Our Fathers" and Rev. Robert Bates led in the closing prayer. Dean Geiger, of the local church, was the song leader for the service.

A very remarkable thing about this dedication was that the building was set aside unto the Lord free of debt. This church began September 1, 1950, when a group of believers separated themselves from the Church of the Brethren. The charter membership was 32 and it is now 57, two having joined recently. The church joined the Central District in July 1951.

The congregation met in the various homes of the members until June of 1951, at which time they were able to move into the basement part of the new building that was started in November of 1950. Most of the work was done by the members themselves and they received no financial help from any outside agency. Yet the Lord blessed them with a debt-free building on dedication day.

The writer was privileged to hold a three-day Bible conference there July 3-5 in connection with the dedicatory services. At the close of the morning service two young couples publicly confessed Christ Jesus as Saviour and one young man presented himself to the Lord for His complete will in his life.

Indeed, this church is to be commended for its faith and faithfulness and in the progress it has made in the Lord Jesus.

BAPTISTS REPORT INCREASES

The Conservative Baptist Association, composed of 739 churches, met at Portland, Oreg., June 22-28 with 1,279 delegates attending. The next conference is scheduled for Detroit, Mich., May 19-26, 1954.

The foreign missionary society of the association, now celebrating its 10th anniversary, received more than 1¼ million dollars last year and appointed its 301st missionary at the conference. The home missionary society, only four years old, reported 42.6 percent increase in monies it received during the year.

READER WANTS BIBLE STUDIES

"Enclosed find $2 to renew our subscription for another year. I would not want to miss even one number.

"You ask for suggestions. I like it as it is. I do like a few studies on Bible truths that make me study my Bible to understand those deeper and often-not-heard truths. (Signed) Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Newlin, Leon, Iowa."

The Martinsburg, Pa., church gave Pastor Gerald W. Teeter a unanimous call for another year.

Thoughts for Christian Pilgrims

By Conard Sandy

Evidence of Perilous Times

The Apostle Paul wrote to Timothy, the young pastor at Ephesus: "This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come" (II Tim. 3:1).

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, recently declared: "In the United States, criminals force us to spend each year more than 4 2/3 as much on them as we spend on all forms of education, both public and private." How can God longer hold back His judgment on a wicked and godless world?

As evidence Mr. Hoover pointed out that 2,036,510 major crimes were committed in this country during 1952, an increase of 8 1/2 percent over 1951, and the highest yearly total in our history.

During the year 1,227,580 thefts were committed, 25,310 of them involving automobiles. There were also 442,760 burglaries, 17,240 rape cases, 12,860 felonious homicides, and 87,930 aggravated assaults with intent to kill or maim.

Desire to Live Is Gone

James F. Silva claims he wants to die. When the 24-year-old San Quentin, Calif., convict was condemned to die, he smiled and answered the court with one word: "Fine."

While serving a life term for murder, he stabbed a fellow prisoner, though not fatal, and the death penalty was demanded by the law. To this assault Silva pleaded guilty, even ignoring his court-appointed counsel, and asked for the death sentence. He insisted he planned the assault and would do it again if given the opportunity, and therefore he deserves to die.

Deputy District Attorney Roger Garety said: "Maybe he wants to make peace with God."

He is too late to "make peace with God." That was done years ago by the Lord Jesus Christ who "is our peace . . . that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby: and came and preached peace"

(Eph. 2:14-17). All Mr. Silva needs to do to have this peace is to receive it by faith.

Fortune-Telling Is Big Business

The Saturday Evening Post claims there are 80,000 full-time fortune-tellers in the United States, and the Better Business Bureau estimates they receive $200,000,000 from customers who want "to know about the future." Think of it, this takes place each year in this so-called Christian nation.

The Lord Jesus Christ said to His followers: "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof" (Matt. 6: 33-34).

Cigarette Industry Is Thriving

Isaiah asked the people of his day a very important question, a question that should be asked of millions of people today: "Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which satisfieth not?" (Isa. 55:2).

What answer can the "smokers" of the United States give to that question, when 394 billion cigarettes were "burnt up" during 1952? This is an average of 3,719 for every citizen over 15 years of age, or slightly more than 10 a day. This is an increase over the preceding year of 146 cigarettes for each person. But since many of us did not smoke any during the year the average for each smoker must run higher than 10 a day.

Indeed, dear "smoker friend," "Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which satisfieth not?"

Church Members Confess Drinking

According to the Evangelical Press, a survey in a "typical Sunday morning congregation" of the Minnesota Methodist Conference disclosed that the drinking of alcoholic beverages had become part of the pattern of living for 25 percent of its members.

The conference board of temperance, which gave the report, asked that the sociology department of a St. Paul, Minn., university make a spot check of the churches of the district and obtain accurate statistics on the drinking habits of the Methodists in the State.

The board further observed that the time had come when Methodism should ask itself if it is a "dry" church. "We feel it is necessary to keep our congregations aware of the traditional position of the Methodist Church regarding temperance," said the report.

Perhaps no denomination in our nation has given more time to the discussion of the use of and abstinence from alcoholic beverages than has this church. Yet there are now 25 percent of the members in one state conference given to the use of these beverages. Could it be that this denomination needs to return to first things, as the preaching of regeneration rather than reformation and the living of the new life rather than the seeking of new laws?

Solomon said: "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise" (Prov. 20:1).

J. Edgar Hoover's Testimony

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said: "Men who go to church on Sunday do not take their responsibilities lightly. . . . The man who reveals a sense of responsibility to his Creator will also be responsible to the people whom he serves."

This may account for the fact that most of the 6,046 men who are the agents of the FBI attend church regularly and engage in the active life of their local congregations.

The Spirit of God urges all Christians not to forsake "the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching" (Heb. 10: 25).

Martinsburg, West Virginia

The Rosemont Brethren Church received 28 people into membership during the year ending June 30. During this time 126 public confessions were recorded, 36 of them being first-time decisions, and 27 people were baptized.

The average attendances for the second quarter of 1953 were 145 in morning worship, 123 in evening service, and 96 in prayer meeting each Wednesday evening.

Since the building was erected in October 1950 the morning service attendance has increased 68 percent, the evening service 77 percent, the membership 73 percent, and the offerings 186 percent.

The church gave the pastor his fifth consecutive unanimous call to serve here. He is to be choir chairman in a city-wide evangelistic campaign August 16-30 with Evangelist Eddie Martin. Two years ago in a similar campaign 1,300 decisions were made for Christ.

We have scheduled evangelistic meetings for our church with Evangelist R. Paul Miller September 13-27.—M. Leon Myers, pastor.

Hagerstown, Maryland

On August 2 we finished our ministry in Hagerstown, Md. The past eight years and seven months have indeed been the highlight of our Christian experience and joy in the service of the Lord. Yet in spite of the fact that God has so marvelously blessed and given so many victories, our prayer for ourselves and for the church shall ever be, "Lord, lead us on to higher ground."

In presenting our final report to the church at the second quarterly business meeting it was our great joy to report as follows:

"In the great providence of God it is possible again, as it has been each year since we presented the first report in 1945, for the pastor to call attention to the fact that the church has grown in every activity during the past year. The quarter closed with the largest enrollment in the history of our Bible school, 498, as compared to 150 in 1945. Average attendance for the past quarter: Bible school, 401; morning worship, 260; evening service, 180; prayer service, 118.

"Six precious souls confessed Christ as Saviour during the past quarter and six new members were added to the fellowship of the church.

"The daily vacation Bible school refused to be satisfied with past records as well, and new records were set in both enrollment, 351, and daily average attendance, 297. Adding the staff of 48 adults who faithfully taught and helped made the average attendance 345. Fifty-two boys and girls accepted Christ as their Saviour for the first time.

"The pastor appreciated the privilege of launching the Bible class in Chambersburg, Pa. The incoming pastor, Rev. Russell H. Weber, together with Rev. Dennis Holliday, of Waynesboro, Pa., will resume the class this fall.

"The highlight of the quarter was the launching of the Bible training school with 62 pupils registering. We firmly believe that great things shall result from this very humble beginning, and the day is not far away when there shall be a Bible institute in Hagerstown with Grace Church for its initial headquarters."

It is by no means easy to leave a growing church and a host of very faithful radio listeners and friends. It is our earnest prayer that we shall be able to share the great blessings the Lord has bestowed upon us and to challenge and inspire each church where the Lord may be leading us in the Crusade work.

The prayers of each reader will be appreciated in behalf of the church and its new pastor and for us too as we launch out into what we believe is the greatest challenge we have ever faced. "Brethren, pray for us."—Walter A. Lepp.

Elkhart, Indiana

Here at the Grace Brethren Church we have much to thank the Lord for. First of all, Rev. Lowell Hoyt has been called to be our pastor. He will be here, the Lord willing, September 6.

Bro. Archie Keffer, of Winona Lake, is filling in as interim pastor and is doing a very able job. Pastor James Young, Covington, Ohio, will be with us August 9 for both services.

Last but not least are the blessings we had today (July 26). All three services were record attendances, with 79 in Sunday school, 83 in morning worship, and 85 in evening worship. Last Wednesday night our attendance was 34, which is one below our record for the prayer-meeting attendance.—Robert Schumacher, Sunday school superintendent.

South Bend, Indiana

During the week of special meetings July 12-19 with Evangelist Ding Teuling we saw our attendance increase 50 percent from the beginning of the week until the end. We counted 126 visitors outside of our own membership. The messages and pictures of Brother Teuling were excellent and two young men received the Lord.

These meetings created a new interest in the hearts of the members for the unsaved people of this community. The young married people's class, under the leadership of the teacher, Rev. Arthur Collins, are spearheading a visitation program as a definite result of the meetings. Pray for a spiritual harvest here.—W. Russell Ogden, pastor.

REJOICES IN GOSPEL MESSAGE

"We surely greatly enjoy our Brethren Missionary Herald each week and rejoice in the pure gospel message it carries."

This is followed by a request for extra copies of the magazine and then these words: "We would be so happy to have them for house-to-house visitation. Anywhere from 10 to 100 we could use. Send the bill for them too and thanks very much. (Signed) Marion Thomas, Findlay, Ohio.

NATIONAL FELLOWSHIP OF BRETHREN LAYMEN

Jesse B. Deloe, Editor

LAYMEN'S NATIONAL PRESIDENT WRITES TO EDITOR CONCERNING HIS ACTIVITIES FOR THE LORD

July 3, 1953.

Dear Brother Deloe:

As this is my first letter to you since we last met, I thought at least I had better write a little and let you know what has been taking place in the past few weeks.

For some time now I have been planning to try and visit as many of the churches as possible in an effort to meet the different laymen of the churches and also raise the money that was our goal. I am sorry that I have not had the time to do as much of this as I desired; however, in the meetings so far held the Lord has certainly blessed.

On June 5 and 6 I was to meet and speak to the laymen at the Northern Ohio District rally, but for some unknown reason I was notified that this meeting was canceled.

On June 21 I met with the Alexandria, Va., brethren and presented our goals and projects, giving the church an opportunity to give toward our goals. On the same date at the evening service I spoke at the Washington church and presented the same program to the entire church. At each of these meetings special laymen envelopes were given out. . . .

On June 27 I was invited to speak to the men of the Hagerstown, Md., and the Waynesboro, Pa., churches. Using as my message, "How to Organize Brethren Laymen's Groups," we had a very fine meeting, with everyone taking part in the discussion.

Mason Cooper

Sunday was Laymen's Day at the Hagerstown church. I met with all the men from 10 to 10:30 a. m. and presented the laymen's goals and projects and the need for greater cooperation among our brotherhood. At the evening service I brought an evangelistic message to the church as part of the Laymen's Day program. The Lord blessed with four wonderful decisions. (How about other churches having Laymen's Day Sunday?)

At the 11 a. m. service at the Waynesboro church our goals and projects were presented along with a challenge. In that service we had two wonderful decisions for our Lord. The men of the church invited me to speak at their regular jail service about 30 miles from Waynesboro. We had a wonderful service there with the jailer being in our service. We had five first-time decisions. . . .

The Hagerstown church presented me with a check for $102.04 for our National Fellowship of Brethren Laymen's work. They are really interested in the work. . . .

In His service,

Mason Cooper.

This being the last Laymen's Page before national conference, I want to take this opportunity to thank all who have contributed to its contents from month to month.

In His service,

Jesse B. Deloe.

Questions on Personal Evangelism

Question—"I have no feeling," says the one I am dealing with. Help me to deal with him.

Answer—What this class of sinners means is that they have no conviction. This is quite common. Therefore aim to bring conviction. The sinner must be shown that he is lost and needs salvation. Give some verses showing his state by nature—that all, including himself, have sinned, that he has broken God's law, and that a dreadful penalty awaits him. Pray for conviction while you use the Word. When he sees that he is lost, give and explain Luke 19:10; John 6:37 (last part); Ezek. 36:26-27; II Cor. 5:17.

(Quoted from personal evangelism course of the Washington Bible Institute)

JOTTINGS FROM VARIOUS LAYMEN'S MEETINGS HERE AND THERE

An entirely different spiritual program was given on July 7 when Joe Kemp, the "Gospel Magician," presented "The Gospel in Action" to the Brotherhood at Long Beach First church.

Rev. Russell Ogden, pastor of the South Bend church, spoke to the men at New Troy, Mich., at their June meeting. For the July meeting a group of men from Leesburg, Ind., accompanied their pastor, Rev. Nathan Meyer, who spoke to the combined groups, just prior to his taking off on a tour of the Holy Land.

La Verne, Calif., men have elected the following officers for the coming year: president, W. Keating; vice president, George Hay; secretary-treasurer, Oliver Colburn. A recreational program is being planned.

Laymen at Wooster, Ohio, are making plans for their annual testimony at the Wayne County Fair and another Laymen's Revival.

On July 14 the Men's Brotherhood at the First Brethren Church of Whittier, Calif., heard Rev. Murphy, an English evangelist, who reported on the great revival in the Hebrides islands.

On Tuesday, July 28, the men of the Second church, Long Beach, Calif., heard Stan Hill, a young man who is crippled for life from a hold-up, but who found Christ as a result of it.

LOVE'S DELAYS

By James D. Hammer, Pastor, First Brethren Church, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Christians often ask, "Why doesn't God always answer my prayers?" The question centers around one or more of three problems. First, why doesn't God answer my prayers in the way I desire? Or, why does God delay the answer? Or, why does God allow prayers to go completely unanswered? These questions are especially puzzling when the child of God reads that Jesus said, "And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do. . . . If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it" (John 14:13-14). But let us ask ourselves some questions and see if God's Word will not give us the answers that will solve this mystery.

Lack of Faith

We who pray "in Jesus' name," claiming the promise of an answer, must first ask ourselves, "Do I really believe that God will answer my prayer?" Many will hurriedly say, "Yes," and then with just a little more thought, be forced to change their answer to "No." Brethren, this is one of the biggest sins in the lives of God's children. Yet the Apostle James warns us in the first chapter of his epistle that the prayer which lacks genuine faith is the prayer of one who "is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed" who shall not receive anything of the Lord (Jas. 1:6-7). Our Saviour Himself established this principle in Mark 11:24 when He said, "What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them."

Lack of Proper Motive

But if your prayers meet the test of "faith" and the problem still exists, a second question is in order. "Do I pray for things that will glorify God or is my request based upon a selfish desire to gratify my own lusts?" It is true that most of us can give a very rational series of reasons to prove that any particular prayer is uttered solely for the glory of God. Nevertheless, when this artificial screen of respectability is drawn aside and our prayer is completely exposed in the searchlight of God's Word, we must often admit that our own gratification was the real motive behind the prayer. This is especially true in those prayers which have to do with our health, our family, and our general economic well-being. Here again the Apostle James helps us to solve our problem when he tells us: "Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts" (Jas. 4:3).

Lack of Proper Home Life

Do your unanswered prayers have to do with a wayward child or an unbelieving mate who simply will not be moved by your earnest entreaties to allow the Lord Jesus Christ to become the Saviour and Lord of his life? If so, God's Word poses a searching question for you. "Does my home life reflect the true spirit of Christ that should characterize every Christian?" What about that nasty temper, Dad? Do you think it helps your wayward child to get a glimpse of Jesus sufficient to cause him or her to want to know your Saviour? How about that nagging disposition, wife? Do you really expect your husband to respond under such conditions? I Peter 3:7 teaches us that our prayers can be hindered when such conditions prevail.

Presence of Idols

A further search for the answer to our problem leads to another question, "Do I really expect the Lord to answer my prayer when I have allowed idols to take His place in my heart?" Our Lord wants first place. No other place will do. Yet we place all manner of things ahead of Him and still expect to get answers to our prayers. In Ezekiel 14:1-3 God questions the right of certain elders in Israel to petition Him because they had set up idols in their hearts. How about it, puzzled Christian, does Jesus really have first place? Or have you given that cherished spot to your ambition or business, your family or sweetheart, your pleasures or habits—yes, even your church? This question will require considerable honest heart-searching before we can say that we have successfully passed this test.

Presence of an Unforgiving Spirit

Several times our Saviour spoke about the matter which prompts our next question. "Do I expect God to answer my prayers when I harbor ill will and unforgiveness in my heart?" We approach God in prayer asking for His forgiveness for our sins. He forgives (I John 1:9), yet we continue to be so mean, and cheap, and contemptibly little as to refuse to forgive a brother or sister for an alleged wrong which probably wasn't nearly as big as our vivid imagination has led us to believe. Just a hurried reading of Matthew 5:23-24; 6:9-15; 18:21-22; and Mark 11:25-26 should send most of God's children scurrying to ask the forgiveness of some brother or sister whom we have been unwilling to forgive for some real or imagined wrong.

Presence of Secret, Unconfessed Sin

If you have met all the other tests, just one more question remains, namely, "Is there any secret, unconfessed"

Give to WMC General Expense Fund—June, July, August.

sin in my life?" Psalm 66:18 says, "If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me." Spurgeon, in commenting on this verse, says, "For God to accept our devotions, while we are delighting in sin, would be to make Himself the God of hypocrites, which is a fitter name for Satan than the Holy One of Israel." Need any more be said? If so, read Isaiah 1:15 and 59:1-2.

And Still the Problem Continues

I can hear someone saying very earnestly and honestly, "Brother, I have to the very best of my ability sought to meet every one of these Scriptural conditions, and still there are many unanswered prayers." I believe the answer is to be found in our failure to give sufficient thought to our wonderful Saviour Himself in His all-wise ministry as our Intercessor at the right hand of God. In His great high-priestly prayer, our Saviour said to the Father, "I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me" (John 17:9). As our all-knowing Saviour carries on this never-ending ministry of intercession for us, He is not limited as we are. And, therefore, He intercepts our prayers with His own so that His perfect will, which He knows is best for us, might be carried out in our lives. Thus our unanswered prayers become the answers to His perfect prayers. May we be ever conscious that He prays for us in glory, as we pray on earth, with prayers that never fail. And with this knowledge within us, let us give ourselves to a deeper, stronger prayer life, unmarred by the many things that hinder prayer, fully trusting in Him whose love may cause delays in the answer to our prayers.

LETTER FROM DOROTHY MACONAGHY

Dear Sisters of the WMC:

As the day for our departure draws near, I want to try to express to you, through this medium, how much your love and prayers have meant to us during this year of furlough.

The opportunities we had for fellowshiping with you were times of blessing and spiritual refreshment, and we treasure the memory of many such happy occasions. As we use, in our home, the practical and lovely gifts that you have so generously given us from the missionary hope chests, we'll be reminded anew of your constant interest in our work. The birthday cards, with their cheery messages, have meant so much to us, too.

During the time of my operation, and the recent illness and homegoing of my father, we know that many of you were remembering us before the throne of grace, and we can say that the Lord has heard and answered. His grace has been, and is, sufficient.

As we return again to our beloved Argentina, it is with the confidence that He goes before, and with the glad realization that you are faithfully praying for us.

Our desire is that He keep us ever close to Himself, and in the very center of His will, that we may be useful instruments in His hands for the winning of precious souls for whom He died.

May each of you enjoy His richest blessings as you labor in your respective corners of the vineyard for Him. In His love, Dorothy Maconaghy.

KNOW YOUR WMC OFFICERS

By Althea S. Miller

MRS. ROBERT E. A. MILLER

This little story is not intended as an introduction of your WMC editor but rather as her "swan song." During conference sessions in 1952 Mrs. Miller told the executive board that the year 1952-53 would be her last as editor of the WMC Herald. She has rounded out four years in this capacity and has thoroughly enjoyed every line she was privileged to write. It has been a challenge to plan and set up the WMC Herald each month and you readers have been most gracious in your spoken appreciation. God is good to let His children do some of the things they enjoy. Life is full of problems and tasks which are often not to our liking, so with humility your retiring editor praises her wonderful Lord for the refreshment of a ministry of writing.

This good-bye to the WMC editorship does not mean Althea Miller will no longer be working in WMC. The missionary interests of the Brethren Church have always been close to her heart. WMC is one way of serving the Lord as a missionary "helper" and she will be glad to continue in this service. She hopes to go on writing as God opens the doors. As the years of experience pile up she prays the opportunity will be hers to contribute some really worth-while work for the honor of the Lord Jesus Christ and the blessing of her readers. She covets your prayers for wisdom in a wider out-reach by way of the printed page as she starts a column for another Christian publication within the month.

From a little child, Althea Schwartz Miller, whose parental home is Philadelphia, was taught the things of the Lord. She was eight years old when she accepted the Lord as her personal Saviour at old 10th and Dauphin Brethren church in Philadelphia. But even before she took a public stand for Christ she remembers loving Him. And as she grew to womanhood that love for Him increased with an intensified desire to do His will for her life regardless of the cost. The years have served to prove God's faithfulness to His handmaiden. When wondering friends have asked how so much is accomplished the answer comes with conviction of heart: "How dare I do less? 'For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required' (Luke 12:48). God often takes the poorest stick to fashion a vessel of honor that through that vessel He might show forth His grace. God needs more sticks!"

God has entrusted eight young Millers to the care of the parents under this parsonage roof. They pray as do many other Christian parents that whether by life or by death all in their household will be an honor to the Lord who bought them at so great a cost. Parenthood is by far the most noble calling and important work entrusted to any individual. Though it is freighted with awesome responsibility there is always the rainbow of His promise to light the way: "Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it" (I Thess. 5:24).

Mrs. Miller hopes to introduce your new WMC editor to you in September's Herald. She covets for her successor your prayerful cooperation, constructive criticism, and loving understanding. No one individual can please everyone all the time. If you'll remember this and do your part to make the WMC Herald an ever better publication she will just naturally arise to the occasion and give her very best. No editor walks a path of roses if that editor has any courage or initiative at all. Your WMC Herald will be what you make it by way of prayer, news, and constructive criticism.

Au revoir, then, with love in and from our wonderful Lord. "Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is wellpleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen" (Heb. 13:20-21).

MAKING CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE WORK

By Althea S. Miller

How can Time be made a servant in the home rather than have the family its slave? How many harried, irritable Christians do you know who are ever flitting about or making nervous, unplanned, unnecessary moves simply because they are slaves to Time? Are you that kind of an individual? Does the family rather dread your appearance because of the pressure you put on them? Do you expect the family to run when you run and rest when you rest? You could be working havoc in your home and in the lives of your children if you are such a "driver." I know a person who most often waits until the last possible minute to get a given task done. Then he works at break-neck speed and expects the family to keep his path cleared. He becomes hard to live with as he completely sacrifices everyone and everything in his way until the job is done. When his job is done it is well done, but behind him is a path littered with misunderstanding, broken fellowship, and almost broken hearts. Perhaps you are one who works better under pressure, but please don't put your family through the same traces! It may be there are those in your home who work better at a slower pace but steadily each day. In the end they accomplish just as much, and often more, than the whirlwind worker, and with fewer casualties. BE CONSIDERATE of your loved ones as they utilize the 24 hours of time within each day.

TIME is a precious commodity. All too many Christians waste it, too. Someday there will be a reckoning before the Lord. All our flimsy excuses of "I have no time for teaching that Sunday school class," "I just do not have the time to spend in WMC," "My business takes too much time out of me so I just can't be the help to my pastor I know he needs," will never be uttered in His presence. Time is a trust from the Lord. Let's use it, not waste it or be its slave.

In order to make Time our servant so that we may accomplish more for our Lord there are several principles worth noting. First, there should be a definite family and individual schedule. The person who works and lives in a hit-or-miss spirit never accomplishes as much as the one who has disciplined himself to a schedule. Of course, you must not be a slave to your schedule. No schedule should be so rigid that it can't be bent or made workable in an emergency. But a schedule you must have if Time is to be your profitable servant. There are certain things you know for a certainty, such as: you have 24 hours in a day; there is so much work you are under obligation to do. On the basis of this knowledge work your schedule and you'll be surprised at the "extra" time for the emergencies, the little pleasures, and the growth of your own soul.

There must be a workable system of accomplishment in the home for the common good. As a family unit, so much must be done with the 24 hours of a day. But this system must allow time for learning and for the inevitable errors. As long as we are in the flesh we will make mistakes as we learn, and these take time. As other members of the family learn by trial and error the things we already know but which we learned the same way, let's be gracious and understanding. Give them some time to serve them as they learn.

Next, set your sights. Have a goal or goals both individually and as a family group. Plan your work. Don't expect to regiment your family into the path of attaining certain goals, do or die, while you sit back to boss and criticize from the sidelines. Time can only be your servant individually and for the family as you utilize it with intelligence.

Cultivate appreciation even for the necessary chores which may be distasteful. It's amazing how some of the dislikes fade into thin air when we really try to appreciate what the chore means or adds to the family and to us personally. And along this vein, remember that each member of the family should be allowed time for the cultivation of his own personal interests. Just as soon as we forget that individuals cannot all be successfully run through the same knothole of interests we start sowing discord in the family. Even little children have certain interests which they should be permitted to pursue as the parents lead and check on those interests unknown to the child.

Every member of the household should be expected to contribute time to general family needs and work. Many a husband would come to appreciate his wife as mother and homemaker if he would enter into the activities of keeping the household going. That doesn't mean he comes home from grueling hard work to wash or iron or cook or clean. These his healthy wife and youngsters should have been doing as their contribution toward keeping the home wheels in motion. But an occasional offer to do an errand, or take the baby for a walk, or sweep the porch, or take his wife out for a ride in the car so that they two can be alone for an hour or so, will put a new spring in his step and a fresh light in her eyes! TRY IT! Happy the wife who concocts a special "hubby" dish, or lays out fresh clothes once in a moon, or suggests that Daddy be left alone to rest an hour or two. Foolish the mother who is a slave to her children, never teaching or expecting them to take over their rightful share of responsibility in the home.

When the Christian family remembers to respect and appreciate the other members of the household and does all things as unto the Lord, home will be a foretaste of heaven on earth. Oh, for a little more of heaven until we really are there with Him!

You are only assured of Time at this moment. Make it your servant to more acceptably serve Jesus Christ. "Boast not thyself of to morrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth" (Prov. 27:1).

Philippians 1:3.

Dear Sisters of the WMC,

Thank you one and all for your interesting birthday letters and lovely cards. I am still receiving them. Birthday mail comes over a period of several months. That is really nice; I enjoy the letters and cards so much more than if they all came in the same mail. They bring to my remembrance the nice time I had attending your WMC meetings and visiting in the churches. It is always a pleasure to meet you face to face and get to know you better. I enjoy your fellowship and hospitality. There is nothing to be compared to Christian fellowship, and to know that you are praying for me.

I have been very busy since returning to my African home, busy teaching the children the way of salvation and to read His Word. Ten of the children in my school have accepted the Lord. Some come from Christian homes but most of them have heathen parents that are more anxious for them to work in their gardens than go to school.

I have a Sunday school class of teen-age girls. I am praying that I may soon have a Sisterhood for them. I told them about the Sisterhood girls in the homeland rolling bandages. They were quite impressed to know that girls their age are helping in this way. They have all had a sore that needed to be wrapped up at some time or other. Sometimes a bandage was the first piece of cloth they ever had. We just could not get along without the bandages.

This is the day that our four new missionary nurses arrive in Bangui. It is going to be grand to have them to help us. We have not had an honest-to-goodness nurse here at Bassai for a long time.

We are praying that all the missionary candidates that have been accepted will be sent out and that none shall be held back because of lack of funds. Communism is making its inroads. We are praying the Lord will keep the door wide open to the Gospel. Will you not join us in this prayer?

Yours in Him,

Grace Byron.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Greetings from La Verne, Calif.

We are following as near as we can the projects of the national council. We are helping with the support of one girl in the Councillor Bible Institute as well as the usual boxes of clothing for Kentucky, Taos, and for the Navahos.

We have found our artificial birthday cake a good plan for the offering for the support of the missionary chosen by the national WMC. I am sending you a sample of the program booklet for the year and we are planning to do the same for the next year. We are very glad to help save expense and work for the council.

We have sent an offering to the Jewish work in Los Angeles to help them with the building of a room to be used for classes or handwork among the young people.

We also had a very interesting meeting in February, an evening meeting beginning with a fellowship supper and inviting our Delta Circle and Jr. WMC, which gave us a fine group.

After dinner Mrs. Balzer spoke to us, telling of the interesting way she and her husband work in Africa.

Mrs. Myrtle Fox.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Greetings in the name of our wonderful Saviour. This past year we women in the WMC of Camden, Ohio, have received many blessings from the Lord. We have an average attendance of 14 at our monthly meetings and we enjoy the fellowship and spiritual blessings. We rejoice that this year we are able to give a larger offering to foreign missions and Jewish missions.

Some of our projects were sending boxes to the Haags and Howards and clothing to Kentucky. The women made nightgowns and sent them to the Navaho mission for the Indian babies. At Christmas we drew names of missionary children in the homeland and sent them gifts. We are always adding things to our missionary box.

We painted the basement for the Sisterhood rally of the Miami Valley and held a clean-up day to get the church auditorium ready for services after it had been beautifully decorated.

These are a few of the many things we have done this year and look forward to doing greater things in the future. May the Lord richly bless each WMC as He has blessed us.

In His service,

Mrs. Robert Betz.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Greetings to you from the Sr. WMC of Meyersdale, Pa.

We enjoy our meetings very much and are grateful for the wonderful Christian friends we have as we serve the Lord together.

We have a membership of 25. Our council has a missionary chest and when missionaries come to our church they are welcome to take what they like. We pack boxes and send to several of our local girls who are on the mission field.

We support the child evangelism classes of our town, and several of our ladies are teachers of these classes.

In His name,

Mrs. Walter M. Fike, secretary.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Greetings to all the WMC ladies from the WMC of the Commonwealth Avenue Brethren Church, Alexandria, Va. The Lord has given us many blessings and things to be thankful for this year.

We mended and sent used clothing to Clayhole, Ky. Thank-offering banks are being used by each lady. On the 15th day of each month we meet at the home of different members to pray.

For our Christmas project we collected and sent a love gift of money to Roy and Arlene Glass.

The boys club of the church meets twice each month and our ladies still continue taking turns in serving refreshments to them.

"Get Well" cards, fruit baskets, and flowers are sent to the sick. We have chosen for our present local project to buy baptismal robes for our church. Each month a birthday and anniversary offering is taken for the WMC missionary fund. Birthday cards are sent each month to the missionaries and their children. Gospel tracts were given to each lady to be used as she saw fit.

At present we have 28 members on the roll.

It is our prayer that each of our ladies, as well as all other WMC ladies, will strive to live up to our theme of the year and truly show our blessed Lord that we love Him. May everything done and every gift given be as unto Him.

Lovingly in Christ,

Mrs. Neva Huffman, president.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Just a note to send you greetings from our new WMC here in York, Pa. We were organized in September 1952 and already we have 10 members.

We have had just two projects so far. We packed a box for Kentucky and made curtains for our church windows. Each month we send birthday greetings to our home mission pastors. We hope soon to start a missionary chest.

Truly the Lord is blessing this work here in York.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Lotty Meyers, secretary.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Greetings from the WMC of the Troy, Ohio, First Brethren Church.

Our enrollment is 29 and the average attendance is 17. Our regular meetings are held at the church. Our workday is on the third Tuesday of each month in the afternoon from 1 to 5. This is also held at the church.

Our offering boxes are labeled "Local," "District," "National," "Love," and "Freight." The total amount received each month averages $16. We have shipped mended clothing, freight prepaid, to the Navaho mission in New Mexico. We paid $88 to the church to help purchase new chairs. We have also sent in rolled bandages and at the present time are collecting old shirts for converting into bed jackets for the leper patients in Africa.

A dinner and program was held November 7, at which husbands and invited couples were guests. The program consisted of an original play written by our president, Mrs. Hollingsworth, "The Women of the Bible," accompanied by special music sung by the women's chorus. A period of time was spent in devotions and also in fellowship and games.

Our Christmas program and party was on our regular meeting night, December 4. An inspiring and spiritual program of readings and special music was followed by refreshments and the exchange of Secret Sister gifts. A box supper was held in January.

At our regular meeting on February 5 we had "Guest Night." Each lady was to bring a friend or neighbor. There were 31 present. On February 25 we sponsored the showing of the film, "The Man Who Forgot God." A short program preceded the film: three hymns sung by the women's chorus, Scripture reading, and the reading of a poem written by Mrs. Hollingsworth, depicting the work of the WMC. Several rededications were made after the film.

We praise the Lord for what He has done and continues to do for us and pray that we may be more faithful to do the tasks He has given us.

In His service,

Lena Mae Gregg, secretary.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

The WMC of the Grace Brethren Church, Chico, Calif., held the March meeting in the auditorium of the church. Eighteen participated in the evening of Christian fellowship.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Roy Parsons, of Richvale, Calif., who portrayed very interesting verbal pictures to us as she showed color slides of the Holy Land, which she and her husband had taken while on a tour last summer.

During the brief business meeting it was reported that Chico WMC had sent 147 pounds of clothing to our Brethren Navaho Mission in New Mexico.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Carl D. Brown, president.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Just a bit of news from Johnson City, Tenn. As our treasury was at a low ebb we wondered how we could make up our district project offering. We had a potluck dinner, inviting our husbands and, as it was George Washington's Birthday, we had cherry pie. We had a devotional program and then played some games. We had 15 present and our offering was almost $13.

In His service,

Inez Burns.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

The WMC of the Glendale, Calif., First Brethren Church held a reception for mothers and daughters on Friday, May 22. Special recognition was given to the oldest mother, Mrs. Susie Newman, and the youngest mother, Mrs. Jack Kilburn. After the musical portion of the program, Mrs. Charles Underwood presented the guest speaker, Mrs. Armin Gesswein, who gave a won-

BEAUTY OF COUNTENANCE

By Mrs. Robert Miller

Did you know you can be BEAUTIFUL? No, this is not an impossible attainment for you. This beauty is within the reach of every Christian girl. As a matter of fact, every Sisterhood girl owes it to her Lord and to herself to be beautiful.

Down deep within the heart of every normal girl there lies the desire to be lovely. Most of us have not been endowed by nature with all the physical features which make for beauty according to the standards of the world. In order to make up for this lack all too many girls and women put on a "drug-store" type of beauty which usually fails in its purpose. Now this desire to look and be lovely is perfectly fine for Christian girls to have. But what every Sisterhood girl should keep uppermost in her mind is that true beauty comes from the inside. One starts off on the wrong foot to try to develop beauty from the outside first.

The Word of God tells us: "For as he [the individual] thinketh in his heart, so is he" (Prov. 23:7). What you think and how you think are bound to reflect in your face. No matter what you may put on your face you can never hide the real YOU. It has always been my firm conviction that the girl or woman who uses cosmetics indiscriminately is questioning God's wisdom in making her thus. Why apologize for your physical looks? If you are not satisfied with your looks, get busy and improve them by starting on the inside first.

Perhaps you are asking in your own mind now: How can I start to cultivate this genuine beauty? Open your Bibles with me to the 34th chapter of Exodus. Here is the story of Moses' 40-day communion with God on Mount Sinai. All the solemn holiness of God and the warm effulgence of His love were portrayed before the wondering eyes and heart of the man Moses. So absorbed was he in God's graciousness and glory that he literally went without food for his body all those days he was in God's presence. But one cannot live always on the mountain top of special spiritual fellowship. Such times but serve to strengthen God's child for the work to be done down in the valley among the people. Read verses 28 to 33 together. Strengthened in spirit, Moses now descends to the people with the two tables of testimony from the hand of God. But when the people saw him they were afraid because his face shone. Please notice that Moses did not know; "he wist not" that his face shone. The people knew he had been with God. The Christian girl does not have to advertise the fact that she goes faithfully into God's presence each day. Her communion shows alike on her countenance and in her conduct.

There is much that Sisterhood girls can learn from the life of Moses. He was a man of vigorous spiritual stature because he put the matters of the spirit first. Moses and Job agreed that the things of the spirit are far more important than any matter pertaining to this life. Remember what Job said: "I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food" (Job 23:12). It is very important that every girl eat a balanced diet in order to maintain physical health and vigor. It is just as important that her spirit be fed a daily balanced diet of prayer and Bible study in order that her spirit be vigorous and thus able to throw off the diseases of sin to which Satan daily exposes her. Are you well-fed as to the spiritual you?

Let us note again that Moses was not conscious that his face shone. He did not have to proclaim that he had been with God. Goodness, or spirituality, which has to be impressed upon others by our telling them how good we are is not genuine. Oh yes, we must witness and seek to win others to our wonderful Saviour, but there is no boasting in that. As we go quietly about the business of building and maintaining a vigorous spirit our BEAUTY OF COUNTENANCE, the only kind of beauty which really counts, will be evident to all.

Do you want to be really beautiful? Then "give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name: bring an offering, and come before him: worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness" (I Chron. 16:29).

PROGRAM GROOMING FOR SEPTEMBER

(Leader—See "Beauty Hints" No. 3)

PRAISING VOICES—Singing unto the Lord. Open by singing theme song, "Let the Beauty of Jesus," and repeating the year verse, I Chronicles 16:29.

SWEET SAVOR—Spend prayer time in the "Perfume Corner."

CLEANSED HEARTS—Read Scripture, Exodus 34:1-8, 27-35.

GLOWING LIVING—Seniors study "Beauty of Countenance."

Middlers study "The Revelation of a Shining Face."

SPARKLING TALENTS—Give special number.

BEAUTIFUL FEET—Consider "Adventures With the Bible in Brazil." Close by singing second stanza of theme song, "Let Compassion for Sinners," and repeating year's devotional benediction, Jude 24-25.

BUSINESS MEETING.

SMM BENEDICTION.

How many times have you heard the saying, "Beauty is only skin deep"? We often say this without realizing the truth that is involved therein. In our topics for the coming year we are trying to show the girls of the Sisterhood of Mary and Martha how they can have real beauty—beauty that is from within.

Have you ever seen a woman or girl who was not particularly beautiful as to features and form, but who fairly radiated with beauty from the shine on her face? I know in these days it is not considered good grooming to have a shining face, but real beauty comes from a face that shines with the happiness and love that is within.

Once there was a young girl who saw an old lady sitting on a park bench, whose face was the loveliest she had ever seen. She was curious to know her beauty secret and asked the old lady who her beautician was. The old lady surprised her by answering: "The Lord Jesus is my beautician; I have an appointment with Him every day." The Bible tells us that Moses had been with the Lord and when he came down from Mount Sinai his face shone (Ex. 34:29-30). Why? Because he had been with the Lord and had spoken face to face with Him. We too can have the shine of God's love on our face if we take time to be alone with Him. We can cover up the scars or marks on our bodies elsewhere, but our faces are almost always seen. Is it not a good testimony to the outside world when the faces of Christian girls are beautiful without the aid of all the cosmetics on the market today?

As Sisterhood girls we are to observe the Quiet Time each day. Time spent with the Lord will bring greater beauty than all the time and the money spent on "good grooming," as the term is used today. I believe that a Christian girl should be well-groomed—don't misunderstand me—but we should think on things of the Lord as well as spend hours before the mirror. Proverbs 23:7 tells us that as a man "thinketh in his heart, so is he." Our thoughts are bound to show up on our faces. Our theme verse for this year is I Chronicles 16:29. Let us not forget that there is beauty in holiness and that holiness comes from worship of God, not only in our private devotions but in public worship as well.

Remember, a shining face is a testimony for the Lord Jesus Christ, your Saviour. Our faces are revelations of our love for Him. He is the best beautician we can recommend, but you must make an appointment with Him every day—and you must keep it.

ADVENTURES WITH THE BIBLE IN BRAZIL

By Frederick C. Glass (Outlined by Mrs. Herman Koontz)

(Notice: You will need a copy of the book, "Adventures With the Bible in Brazil," by Frederick C. Glass, for your SMM group. Order it from the Brethren Missionary Herald Company. Cost, $2.)

During the coming year we will study incidents from the life of that great missionary to Brazil, Frederick C. Glass, as told in his book, "Adventures With the Bible in Brazil." An outline follows which is to be used as a pattern for the first lesson which includes the introduction and the first chapter.

INTRODUCTION

Brazil and the Brazilians

- IA. The history of Brazil.
  - 1a. Discovery and first colony (p. 9, par. 1).
  - 2a. Nationalities and rule (p. 9, par. 3).

  - 5a. Description of the people (p. 14, pars. 2-3; p. 15, par. 2).
  - 6a. Food and cost of living (pp. 14-15).

Chapter I—Reminiscences

- IA. Our author's first experiences in Brazil.
  - 1b. A night in jail (p. 17, par. 2).
  - 2b. His first job (p. 17, par. 4).

- 3b. His conversion (pp. 18-21).
- 4b. His call to Christian work (pp. 21-23).
- 1c. His lack of qualifications for missionary work.
- 2c. His refusal to do God's will; illness and surrender
- 3c. His God-given ability to sell Bibles.

DO GOD'S WILL

God has a pattern for your life—
A plan for you to fill—
A path for you to walk upon—
But you must "do God's will."

Don't mar the pattern He has drawn—
Don't spoil His perfect plan—
Don't wander from the path He's made—
Please Him! You know you can!

Don't run ahead! Don't lag behind!
And when your path is dim
Just follow close behind your Guide
And keep your eyes on Him.

For if you live within His will He'll mark the path ahead;
He'll close some doors—He'll open doors;
But you will know He's led.

Do God's will! Yes, Christian friend,
God has a place for you!
Perhaps it's great—but if it's small,
Rejoice His will to do.

THE SNAKE AND THE BIRD

They tell a fable here about a snake and a bird. Once a prairie fire swept over the land burning all the small animals with its fury. A snake was trapped and knew that he too was doomed to die like the rest, when he saw a bird flying safely in the air. He called to the bird to rescue him. "How can I rescue you? I have no hands to hold you and you are too large to hold in my claws or my beak," called the bird. But the snake said, "If you come down I will curl around your body and we can go away in safety." So the bird dropped down to the ground, the snake swiftly entwined himself around her body and they flew away to the safety of a tree. When they arrived, the bird said, "We are safely here now; you may let me loose." "But I am so hungry," replied the snake; "you saved my life from the fire, you can now save my life from starvation." With those words the snake devoured the bird.

The Word of God warns us continually that if we love and serve sin, one day it will destroy us, too. See Proverbs 11:3.

THE CROW AND THE PARTRIDGE

Once a partridge was cutting sticks to make herself a nest in the trees when a crow came by. "What are you doing?" asked the crow. "I'm preparing to build my house in the trees," replied the partridge. "Oh, I wouldn't do that if I were you. Look at me; my legs were as big as elephant's legs when I started building my house. But it was such hard work that now my legs are skinny and weak. It isn't worth it just for a house," warned the crow.

The partridge looked at the crow's skinny legs and decided that the crow was right. Building a house was not a good thing; she would just live on the ground. So now when it storms the foolish partridge sits in the rain while other birds are cozily protected in their nests. The partridge is in constant danger of animals and snakes, but the other birds are safe in the treetops.

You know, unsaved people are always trying to tell us that we are foolish to be looking forward to a mansion in heaven. They say we are working for Christ in vain. But Jesus warns us about them when He says, "Take heed that no man deceive you." And Paul tells us that our labor is not in vain in the Lord.

NOTICE: JUNIOR SMM

The program material for the Junior SMM will not appear in the Brethren Missionary Herald pages. Instead we have prepared a packet containing the Junior material. These packets will be given out to those at national conference, and then those not picked up there will be mailed out. If you want to be sure to have the material for your group, be sure to send in a statistical blank to the general secretary.

Theme for Junior SMM: "LIVING FOR JESUS." The program material for the whole year will be included in the packets.

Hint 1.—MATERIALS: If you did not receive your materials yet, you may get them by sending to the literature secretary for them. We did not send out materials unless we had a statistical blank.

Hint 2.—FALL CABINET MEETING: Don't forget to have your fall cabinet meeting to make your plans for the coming year. This is very important and also one of your goals, so you'll not want to miss it.

Hint 3.—LEADERS OF THE PROGRAM: To add spice and attraction to your meeting, work out some original ideas in presenting the program. The material this year lends itself very easily to a good discussion. Ask the girls what they think of the ideas in the study or if they agree and why or why not.

"Let my prayer be set forth before thee as incense; and the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice" (Psa. 141:2).

Pray for the new year ahead in Sisterhood. Especially pray for the new officers—local, district, and national.

Pray that all SMM girls will receive a blessing from the new program.

Pray for the Lord's blessing and guidance on new projects and goals.

Pray for special needs of our mission fields.

Fashion News of Sisterhood From the Past Year

Beautiful rainbow colors was the theme to make a lovely setting for the mother-and-daughter tea of FORT WAYNE, IND. They carried the theme for the whole program: lovely formals, colored whipped cream on the cake, colored water for flowers, shaded nut cups, and beautiful corsages for each mother and daughter. A wonderful message by a former missionary to Africa added to the spiritual beauty of each one present.

An added attraction for the Sr. SMM of DES MOINES, Iowa, is the missionary to Ethiopia who has been adopted by these girls. They have happy times doing things for her—they write a chain letter every month; for gifts they give her film for her camera and flannelgraph. The girls enjoy other projects also, such as making scrap-books for hospitals and homes for the aged and leprosiaries. They are starting a new project, decorating aprons and scarves with textile paint. A new idea for missionary gifts comes from them. They write a personal letter to missionaries and enclose two packages of garden seeds—one vegetable and one flower.

Birthdays are happy occasions, and the Sr. SMM of CANTON, OHIO, enjoyed a lovely party given for them by their WMC. As birthday gifts they received a Christian novel and a carnation. Later the girls had an opportunity to give a gift to one of their patronesses for her new little baby.

Precious jewels for the Lord are souls won for Himself. The Middler SMM of OSCEOLA, IND., is only a young group but through them two souls were saved. They are finding rich times in serving the Lord through SMM—sending gifts to the Navahos, boxes to young people away at school, cards to servicemen, making garments for missionary patients. They gave a skit to show the people of their church their need for sheets for bandages.

The Sr. SMM of JOHNSTOWN, PA., had an "extra-special" SMM meeting away back in March. Thirty young people attended the meeting, including "honorary members" (boys) invited by the girls. The idea was to have help to rip, sew, and roll 225 bandages. After the work and "polishing off" an enormous pot-luck supper, the boys were invited to sit in on the regular SMM meeting. A real blessing was received by all.

Busy hands are accomplishing much in TROY, OHIO, by the Jr. SMM girls. They have to have two meetings a month to get it all done. They sent a box of clothing and toys to Miss Evelyn Fuqua, and made stuffed animals to be used by missionaries. The Sr. girls of this church are now reorganized and are hoping to grow to match the Jr. girls.

Surprises are always nice so the Jr. SMM of WINONA LAKE, IND., had a surprise "hanky" shower on their derful testimony. Tables were decorated with bouquets of garden flowers. The WMC colors, blue and silver, were carried out in the nut cups and programs.

Sincerely,

Mrs. H. L. Oliver, corresponding secretary.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Greetings from Listie, Pa., in the name of our precious Lord. We have been trying to honor our Lord in our work as we go along from month to month with our regular programs.

We have had a few special things also. Last fall Mrs. Ayers, a native of Listie, visited us. She is now from California. It happened we had a sewing day while she was here so the ladies surprised her by each giving her a nice "hankie." We had a lovely day of fellowship and sewing for our mission points.

At Christmastime we called the attention of our Sunday school to the blessing of giving a small gift to our Spanish-American children. As a result we had four boxes of gifts to send there.

In January we had a day of sewing at which time we prepared and sent eight large boxes of clothing to the needy Christians in Korea. It was wonderful how the Lord directed here, for the clothing received for this need was all such good warm clothes needed by these people.

This spring we have had a day of sewing in which we made quilts to send to our Navaho mission, also packed clothing for needy mission points. We have been adding gifts to our missionary hope chest, especially at Christmastime. When we packed clothing, the items not good enough to send were gathered together and one of our ladies made rugs from them for the hope chest.

We have been trying to interest the younger women of the church in the WMC and we covet your prayers for this as well as for some of our women who are no longer faithful that they might put first things first and get back on the job for the Lord. We are seeking to do the Lord's will and ask you to pray with us to this end.

In His name,

Mrs. Mae Williams.

patroness. The Jr. WMC had the girls as their guests at a picnic recently.

Cooky-baking is fun and it is a real way to do service for others. The Middler SMM girls of MUNDY'S CORNER, PA., sent boxes of cookies away and also gave some to local shut-ins. They had a nice idea for a local project—giving toward the building fund of their church and also to another local mission church.

Sewing has been a project of the Jr. SMM girls of CANTON, OHIO. They made hot-pads and towels for their missionary chest. They also rolled 100 bandages with the help of their WMC. They made and sent stuffed toys to Miss Evelyn Fuqua.

An idea for really being helpful comes from the SR. SMM of Winchester, Va., who acted as baby-sitters during their revival meeting. The patroness, Mrs. Paul Dick, challenged her girls by memorizing the book of I Peter.

REACHING THE LOST IN AMERICA

Do you love America?

"Of course I do," you reply. "I am a loyal American. I shall do everything within my power to see that my nation continues to be 'the land of the free and the home of the brave.'"

Well said! This should be the determination of each American citizen, for each of us has been enjoying the benefits of living in a free nation. Any other attitude would be traitorous and wicked.

Yet, are you like millions of others who fail to see that steadily we are in more serious danger of losing these freedoms of supreme value? Have you recognized that there are subversive and wicked forces at work which will certainly wreck the framework of our nation unless they are curbed?

Such talk sounds strange to a people who have never known anything else but freedom. It carries little weight for those whose armies have always been victorious on the field of battle. How could America ever be anything else but a free nation?

This attitude is even more dangerous than the forces which are gradually undermining the social and religious culture of our nation. If one realizes his danger he will do something to protect himself. But most Americans work and sleep blissfully on giving tacit and daily approval to conditions in government and public life which will ultimately bring complete disaster.

Of all those who should be awake to these alarming conditions the saints of God with a knowledge of His Word and discerning spiritual senses should head the list.

ALARMING INCREASE IN CRIME

America was more criminal last year than any year in her history. Crime increased 8.2 percent over the previous year. Increases were noted in every major category: murder, rape, manslaughter, robbery, etc.

Over two million major crimes were committed, bringing this upswing in each category.

In the under-25-years-of-age group the largest number of arrests were in the 15-years-of-age-and-under group.

It is not necessary to amplify this report in all of its gruesome details to prove to wide-awake, discerning, spiritual Americans that, if continued, this trend will lead to national disaster. Even now many law enforcement agencies are virtually helpless in curbing crime because of the high efficiency of its organization and public officials who are willing to accept a bribe. Unless the pendulum swings the other direction the time may come when the United States Army may be forced to clean up crime under martial law.

SOCIALISM AND COMMUNISM AT WORK

Even though different in some respects these twins of Satan are eating at the vitals of our national economy. Both break down free enterprise. Both ignore God and the religious approach. Both place the government in the seat of absolute power ultimately. This leaves the way open for graft, the playing of power politics, and ultimate dictatorship.

SWEEPING TIDE OF IMMORALITY

The sordidness and filthiness of this sin is not fit to print or speak of in public.

Immorality has moved out of the "red-light" district into the hotels, motels, and night clubs of the nation. Some cities have done a fine job in cleaning up their disorderly and bawdy houses, but the prostitutes have now become "call girls" available through a bellhop or some syndicated crime organization.

It is this sin which has been responsible for much of the breakdown of American home life and the increase in divorce. This vicious cycle throws children into the streets to fend for themselves and entire lives of crime.

Far from being Christian, America now finds itself in the throes of a spiritual battle for its very life.

ONLY ONE REMEDY!

Everything else has been tried and has failed. Christ is the only answer to our problems! Each difficulty we face can be traced to its source in a spiritual problem deep in the heart of man—an utterly depraved nature.

Proved in the pages of history and today in thousands of conversions is the fact that only the power of God through Jesus Christ avails to change the hearts of men and transform their lives.

WE HAVE THE ANSWER

We have the answer in our own hearts and lives. As Brethren we love Christ and His Word. We have the remedy to meet the desperate spiritual needs of our nation. All that is necessary is application to the task.

During the next four months, beginning with August, we stress Brethren home missions in our churches. This means evangelizing America! Millions of souls have never heard the plan of salvation and never will hear it unless we get to the business at hand.

NEED GREAT—OPPORTUNITIES UNLIMITED

The need is staggering in its proportions. By next year there will be 160 million people in America. More than half of these have no connection with any church. Many more than this are not saved because of the apostasy so rampant in the modern church.

Opportunities to establish and build new Brethren churches are coming to us from all directions. Groups of gospel-hungry people all over the nation want a Brethren church. We need money and men to enter these new fields which are ripe for the harvest.

As the Lord has laid this challenge upon our hearts we are giving it to Brethren people. Increase your home mission offering at least 25 percent this year. Pray before you give! Give each week throughout the season.

Beaumont Brethren Dedicate New Church Building

We could refer to the wonderful things which have happened at Beaumont, Calif., as "a saga in Brethren church building." The amazing grace of God has never been more operative than here.

Beautiful and spacious, this church stands at the crossroads where hundreds of vehicles travel each day. It is a symbol of what the Brethren believe and teach from the Word of God.

Even though the building is worth $55,000, it is dedicated practically free of debt. Prayer, hard work by the local people, discounts, liberal and sacrificial giving have all brought the multiplied blessings of God to produce this monument to His grace.

The Brethren Home Missions Council is honored to present to all of our home mission friends this splendid new church with its great potential for the future work of Christ.

As we give all the glory to our Lord for what has been accomplished we also honor His choice servants, Pastor and Mrs. Gene Farrell, and all the faithful folks who served beside them. Our congratulations are for all of those who had any part in this project.

THE COVER PAGE

The pictures appearing on the cover page were taken on dedication day at the Cherry Valley Brethren Church, Beaumont, Calif. The upper section includes the following: Dr. C. W. Mayes, the dedication speaker; a view of the completed church; Mr. Dwight Liggett, treasurer, and Rev. Gene Farrell singing, "Got Any Rivers You Think Are Uncrossable"; Pastor and Mrs. Gene Farrell, and the entire congregation. The lower section includes the presentation of the keys by Stewart McClellan, building committee chairman; the official board; and Rev. George Richardson reading the Scripture during the program.

It pays to support Brethren home missions!

TO THE GLORY OF GOD

By GENE FARRELL

As I was about to write this dedication article, the telephone rang and a voice—coming from the first convert of the work, by the way—said: "Pastor, I have a problem. I received your card, asking for a testimony for the Brethren Missionary Herald in 300 words. Now I've just done this, but lo and behold! what I've written comes to over 800 words, and even then I don't feel that I've said scarcely anything. What am I going to do?"

You can imagine my reply, for my problem was one and the same, namely: "How to boil down a whole book full of heaven-sent, home-mission victories that they might be shared in article form with our Herald readers! And I have no doubt but what my problem has been that of every home-mission pastor who, after dedication, has tried to do justice to God's faithfulness and that of His children in the work with which he was associated.

Perhaps this could best be done—at least as I feel led—by directing your attention to a certain feature of the work here. Everyone who has ever attended the services in our basement auditorium (we met there for over two years) could not fail to be attracted by it. Its unusual beauty and message has drawn many a comment and query from visitors. It has always added mirth to our services—so much so, in fact, that it has been moved to our upper auditorium. As before, it will continue to capture the attention of every attendant as it occupies a place of prominence above the rostrum.

We refer to a large, 15-letter wall plaque, the letters of which were cut out of beautifully grained Arkansas cedar and cunningly framed upon a background of plywood. The letters read, "To the Glory of God"—a real work of art to be sure, but of even greater importance, of course, they are a constant reminder to all who enter that our goal, as in the past, must always be that "He must increase, but I [we] must decrease."

In addition to the constant challenge of these words, this plaque is representative of the work in other ways. First of all, it reminds us of the need for home-mission churches.

As all know who are acquainted with the one who made this plaque, there is a story behind it, a story of overwhelming need and miraculous conversion. The sudden loss of an only 12-year-old daughter through an overdose of anesthetic left the parents literally paralyzed with grief. At this time the Adversary made a determined bid for their souls, but ultimately the Gospel of the grace of God won out, and they have been rejoicing for several years now in Christ Jesus. "We praise the Lord," they recently wrote, "for places like Cherry Valley Brethren, where hungry souls can go and hear the true Word of God. It was there we found hope and peace in a very critical time in our lives. We pray that other churches will have as great a burden for souls." To God be the glory!

Other stories could be told of overwhelming need and miraculous conversion. We think as we write of the Meyer family, whose thrilling testimony will be found elsewhere in this issue of the Herald; of the Allens with their five girls, who were saved out of Mormonism; of Mrs. Kenneth Boland, saved out of the Jehovah Witness cult, and now one of our faithful Bible teachers; of Art Sharp, saved out of alcoholism and now our faithful milkman for the past four years; of the O'Neals, a fine young couple who were saved out of worldliness; of 71-year-old Mr. Montgomery, saved, and baptized with his wife, just a year before he went to be with the Lord; of his daughter and son-in-law, who came to Christ just prior to his conversion; of the Daggetts, who were marvelously reclaimed in the early stages of the work, and used of God to lead their two granddaughters to Christ, both of whom are entering Christian training this fall; of the Hitsches, brought out of lukewarmness into places of real leadership in the church; of the Evanses, who came to Christ through the Hitsches' testimony. And time would fail me to tell of LeRoy Hammond, a young man in the service; the Whalens, Walradts, Handlys, Betty Miller, Dolores Sharp, Ann Gerhart, and many others who do not come to our mind just now, all of whom could testify of the need for the fundamental testimony of Spirit-led Brethren home-mission churches.

In the second place, this plaque speaks to my heart of God's supernatural supply in the building program. Certainly it was an Ephesians 3:20 answer to our prayer request for another banner with which to replace the flimsy paper one which was used when we first entered the building on Easter Sunday in 1950.

This is symbolic, too, of the unnumbered host of other ways in which the Lord has worked here to enable the Brethren to dedicate a building and furnishings appraised at $55,000 on a practically debt-free basis. (With yesterday's fine dedication offering to the building fund of $532.08, our indebtedness, which is on the carpeting and upholstered chairs, has been reduced to around $2,400.)

The first evidence of His Ephesians 3:20 supply came when He moved the flinty heart of a Cherry Valley property owner—adamant for over a year—to sell a very choice location at half price.

None of us will ever forget the perfect timing of our Lord in excavating the basement. It so happened (?) that the Riverside County Road Department was making a fill on a nearby bridge in Cherry Valley at the time and needed some topsoil. They literally "jumped at the chance" to do the excavating (and it took them three and one-half days!) free of charge, using a large bulldozer, a skip loader, and several trucks to complete the job! How this did encourage our hearts to keep "waiting on the Lord" (Psa. 130:5).

Again, as in the case of the "living stones" which were mentioned first in this article, because we feel they are of primary importance, time would fail us to tell—that is, in detail—of the countless other things: the gift of 2,600 feet of hard maple flooring; the gratis backfill of the basement excavation by the Soil Conservation Bureau; a $500 check, a little over a tithe, from a couple who themselves had received a surprise benefit; the timely arrival of a check for $400 and another for $356 (other smaller ones, too) from an absentee member of the flock; two $250 gifts that came in through the regular offerings from unknown donors; a goodly number of $100 gifts; a beautifully made birch pulpit, worth around $300, and given to us by two members of the church; the baptistry painting, exquisitely done by a Christian artist at a greatly reduced price, and purchased for us by a couple who had been saved through the work; a public-address system with amplifier, record player, microphones, speakers, tower chimes, records, hearing aids, etc.; lovely drapes; a large electric clock; all of our trees and shrubs; all of our welding; a portion of the wiring; two pianos; a 100-year-old church bell, weighing 677 pounds; a desk and swivel chair for the study; a number of solid-oak primary, and wooden, folding chairs; three gas, steam radiators (these were used prior to the installation of a circulation unit, which fans heat throughout the building); a kitchen range; upper auditorium fixtures at a 50-percent reduction—just to mention that which comes to mind as we write this. (And may we say here that not once did we solicit help from the community or from business firms—it was only as the Lord touched hearts.)

We might conclude this section relating to God's supernatural supply by including the following letter:

"I occasionally drive by on the Oak Glen Road, and have watched with interest and admiration the progress you are making on your church building. I know each one of you have received untold joy and spiritual satisfaction for the sacrifice you have made to accomplish this. This is a worthy cause, and your church will live through the years to serve the spiritual needs of the community, and lead them to the One who gave His all for us. I'm enclosing a check to be used in your work as you see fit, and pray God's blessing to abide with you and bless your work in this field."

The check was for $500 and was dated May 5, 1952. Since that time this almost unknown donor (he came to

SAVED AND SERVING AT THE CHERRY VALLEY BRETHREN CHURCH

By Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth O'Neal

We thank the Lord that He saved us three and one-half years ago, after living for the Devil as a young couple in our 20's. Sometimes we look back on those years in which the Lord spoke to our hearts many times, and we wish we had answered His call then that we might have been serving Him all of our married life. But God tells us to forget "those things which are behind," and to reach "forth unto those things which are before" (Phil. 3:13). Now our united prayer is that we might always press toward that mark—toward "the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

We thank God for Cherry Valley Brethren, and for what it has meant in our lives. We watched the work grow both physically and spiritually. We give the Lord the glory and praise for its influence in our personal lives, and in the lives around us. God has taken worldly desires away and replaced them with the desire to do things for Him. Anything that separates one from the sweet fellowship of Christ, even for a little while, is to be considered of the world, and is not for a true born-again Christian who wants to grow in grace. Through this growth in grace I can truly say with Paul, "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth" (Rom. 1:16).

We praise the Lord, too, that we can give our three children a Christian background, and raise them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. Our two eldest children have already confessed Christ as their own Saviour, and the Lord led us to have our nine-month-old baby dedicated on July 19, our dedication Sunday.

one service and lives in a distant city to the east of us) has given three other checks, perfectly timed as was the first one, amounting to an additional $800, making a total of $1,300 in all! To GOD be the glory!

Last of all, our wall plaque speaks to my heart of the spirit of sacrifice which has characterized our building program. It is an ever-visible symbol, as we sit in our services, of the generous outlay of time and substance which many have made that the work might be completed. Truly, in many cases, as Paul said, this people have taken "joyfully the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that they have in heaven a better and an enduring substance" (Heb. 10:34). A total of over $24,000 has been given locally to the building fund. With the work at a standstill until the funds were in, the people gave many times beyond their ability to give. And yet, no one was made poorer by his giving. All can now testify that God has made it up to them and more beside—spiritually and materially—for their sacrifices, if it could be called that when we look to Calvary.

Furthermore, the giving of this people has not been to the local work alone. God has taught us—and is still teaching us—that "them that honor Me, I will honor." While going down the home stretch toward dedication this spring the Lord laid it upon our hearts to raise $1,000 for Brethren foreign missions. That didn't make sense in the natural, but it did to God. We firmly believe that the marvelous things which took place prior to dedication could be traced to that bit of missionary concern on the part of God's people. To God be the glory!

We recall, too, an occasion last winter, when the need in the building fund was great, that the Lord burdened us to take an offering for a widow in our midst, a member of the flock who had been suffering much. "Pure religion," James said, is this, "To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction" (Jas. 1:27). God convicted us of the fact that we were neglecting our duty. The offering was taken and came to around $45. But, beloved, you can't beat God giving. Imagine how we felt when a few weeks later God undertook for this same widow and she laid a check in our hand for $100 for the building fund! How it pays to obey God! As someone said, "The bread had come back to us as cake."

And while on the subject of sacrificial giving, we certainly should mention the timely gifts of the Brethren Home Missions Council. The gifts that have come to us from the Brethren people around the nation have helped "tide us over" many a difficult place in our building program. We praise the Lord for your gifts, prayers, and vital concern. We don't know many of you, but God does, and you share with us in this victory at the corner of Beaumont and Vineland Avenues in Cherry Valley (Heb. 6:10).

Furthermore, what applied to the offering of material substance certainly could be said of volunteer labor. Too often we forget that, as God's people, we are stewards of time as well as money. We have kept no record of the hours invested, but I believe that all would agree in this area that this building has been constructed largely by the congregation. Seeing the need before them each Lord's Day, God has given them "a mind to work."

This has resulted in many blessings: Fellowship of the most intimate type, an increased interest in the work—yes, even in physical increase for themselves.

A good example of this occurred following the initial work on the upper auditorium. This man, a filling station owner, took five or six weeks off while his wife and family operated the station. Help had to be hired, too, from time to time while he was away working on the church building. "Lube" jobs, etc., had to be turned down at times because of insufficient help. It certainly looked as though his receipts would suffer greatly. But God . . . And later on, in a testimony meeting, he stood to his feet and declared that his receipts during the time that he had worked on the building were the highest he had yet experienced in his business. To God be the glory!

Then, too, it might be said that some men and women, because of impaired health, have not been able to work on the physical building, but what a help they have been in prayer (we have a 9-to-12 period of prayer each Tuesday morning, at which time our missionaries are remembered by name), and in performing those necessary "helps" to a pastor which free him for the work of the ministry. These, too, will share alike in "the spoil," for "though ye have lien among the pots, yet shall ye be as the wings of a dove covered with silver, and her feathers with yellow gold" (Psa. 68:13). These, as Dr. Mayes said in his dedicatory message yesterday (July 19), are the "hidden stones," not in a place of public prominence as the pastor and others, but well-known to God. Like some of the stones in the actual building, they are out of sight, but important to the work.

Continue to pray, if you will, for the work in Cherry Valley that this dedication may be accompanied by new dedication of our hearts to His work—that this may not be considered the end, but only the beginning of a new opportunity to win souls for His glory.

THE CHERRY VALLEY BRETHREN ENCOURAGED US TO OBEY, "GO YE . . ."

By Mr. and Mrs. George Meyer

Church workers, are you sometimes tempted to give up? If you are, take heart! We are so glad the Cherry Valley Brethren didn't give up encouraging us. Patience has had her perfect work in us. We're rejoicing, not boasting, for trials and testings may be ahead because God is leading us into foreign missionary work.

Right now our ready cash is gone. Once we were unduly concerned over economic security, now we have security in Christ. How wonderfully God supplies our needs. It is a strange thing when we direct our efforts toward the mission field things work fine, but when we direct our efforts toward other fields they always fail. This is how we know His will for our lives.

He will finish the good work He has begun in us, which began at Cherry Valley Brethren. We thank God for a Spirit-filled church and for a table spread bountifully midst a craving and spiritually starved human race.

Oh, that more people could know the joy and satisfaction of finding the peace for which men seek. "I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live forever" (John 6:51). We used to wonder if it was really as good as some Christians said. We used to wonder what they had that we did not have, but not any more, for we also have that joy. This is happiness which transcends all worldly pleasure. We didn't find it in things, but in the Lord Jesus.

OUR BOYS ACCEPTED AN INVITATION TO SUNDAY SCHOOL—LATER ALL ACCEPTED CHRIST

By Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knowles

When the Cherry Valley Brethren pastor invited our two boys to their Sunday school, I agreed to send them because it was close by. We were new in the valley, and I was not interested because I wasn't well. We didn't know what it meant to know Christ as our Saviour, but we felt the boys should attend some church.

Soon I was helping the boys to learn their memory verses and it was then I realized that John 3:16-18 and Romans 10:9 were for me also. I began taking the boys to Sunday school instead of just sending them, and before long our entire family was united in Christ. How thankful we are that the pastor urged us to take the boys—not send them to Sunday school.

We are also thankful that our faith is in God. We had nothing before, materially speaking, and now we have everything, spiritually speaking. My husband had to undergo a serious operation on his spine, I was unable to accept gainful employment, and payments had to be made on our home; these were a few of the trials that God used to test our faith. The pastor and members of the Cherry Valley Brethren Church gave us loving encouragement and held us up in prayer. This helped us to sustain our faith and kept us from succumbing to Satan's efforts to discourage us.

Certainly the Scripture passages of Romans 8:28, Philippians 4:19, Romans 8:31 and others were fulfilled for us before our very eyes, and this has helped us to walk by faith and not by sight.

Praise the Lord for establishing the Cherry Valley Brethren Church and its testimony for God!

I WAS SAVED BECAUSE A YOUNG PERSON INVITED ME TO THE SERVICES

By Leroy Hammon

C. V. B. C. has meant the opening of my eyes to the glorious truths of Christ's Word, the Holy Scriptures. There I first heard of Jesus Christ and God's plan of salvation by grace . . . I, who had been raised in a home which scoffed at God in His very existence. His Spirit opened my eyes on the first day that I attended the services. Praise God! It was not the pastor who asked me to come to his church, but it was one of the young people, and I had never heard of this before. There I met old and young alike who stood up and acclaimed the Word to be true. They believed and practiced what they believed. There was a spirit of friendliness that broke down any private wall of isolation I had built up.

C. V. B. C. means more than a building to me, as wonderful as that is, but rather a congregation that is ever joyous in the Lord, a place where souls are won, babes are fed, saints ministered unto, who in turn minister the Word to others. You folks are a constant challenge to me to be consistently attacking Satan for the glory of God. I pray that the Holy Spirit will continue to burden hearts for the home-mission fields that others might find Christ as I did, for I believe very seriously if it had not been for C. V. B. C. I would probably still be out in the world, lost in sin.

GOD HAS BLESSED US SPIRITUALLY, PHYSICALLY, AND FINANCIALLY

By Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Miller

We praise the Lord for our salvation through the shed blood of our precious Saviour, the Lord Jesus. We thank the Lord for the Cherry Valley Brethren Church. We know the Lord led us here to worship where the whole Bible is preached. It has been a blessing to watch how God guided in the construction of the building, and we believe the Scripture in Psalm 127:1a, "Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it."

We praise the Lord for the way He sent in money for materials; also for the way He supplied our every need when we tested Him in tithing for the past three years. Now we are giving above the tithe—to the glory of God. The tithes and gifts come out of our check first. We tested our precious Lord for our seven-year-old son's healing. When he was five years old the doctor said he had a rheumatic heart. His health then failed so rapidly that we went to our pastor and asked him to come with the elders of the church and anoint him according to James 5:14-15. The Lord poured out a blessing from that moment that is still ours. We took our son back for a check-up by the same doctor, and he said to us: "If I had not examined this child I would say that nothing had ever been wrong with him." Other doctors have examined his heart and say that nothing is the matter. We do praise the Lord for His goodness and for the mercies He bestows upon us every day. We have two girls; both are saved, and all three of the children were baptized at Cherry Valley Brethren.

FAMILY DECIDED ON CHERRY VALLEY BRETHREN CHURCH AFTER ONE SERVICE

By Chet and Lois Handly

When we first moved to Cherry Valley we knew that one of the first steps was to find a church in which we could have fellowship. After attending a church in town we decided to try the Brethren church in Cherry Valley the next Sunday. There was no doubt that this was the place for us after attending one service, because it was there that we really heard the Word of God preached.

It wasn't very long before we realized the need for a closer walk with our Saviour, and within a few months our whole family felt that our lives should be dedicated to Him. We were all baptized and joined the church within six months from the time we first attended services here. We truly feel that the Lord could never have led us to a better community for such fellowship and opportunity for a deeper knowledge of the Bible.

We truly thank the Lord for the testimony that the church is to the community and that the desire to spread the Gospel is carried on with much prayer and waiting on the Lord—working together as one big happy family.

WHAT GOD CAN DO

By Dwight W. Liggett

Usually the first step in building a new church is to arrange for the financing through some loaning institution, but we used a different plan of financing for the Cherry Valley Brethren Church. We were just a small

CHERRY VALLEY'S GROWING SUNDAY SCHOOL

Shown here are the 13 Sunday-school classes of the Cherry Valley Brethren Church. These pictures were taken the Sunday previous to the dedication, therefore the group of approximately 175 people represents a regular attendance. The average attendance for the fiscal year ending June 30 was 142, more than double the church membership. This is an ideal ratio for future growth of the church. The Lord has blessed in the Sunday school.

flock with great confidence in the promises of our wonderful Lord. We started with little financially but with a lot of faith. Philippians 4:19 was our verse: "But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

The building committee agreed at the very beginning not to borrow any money unless absolutely necessary. We also agreed to work until the money ran out and then we would let the Lord work.

Once we stopped work, because $1,000 was needed, and started praying. It seemed to us like an impossible situation, but money started coming in even from unknown people until we had more than we could use for a while. The Lord heard and answered prayer!

Another time money was coming in slowly, and we wanted to continue with more speed. Becoming impatient, we decided maybe we should try to borrow some money. We contacted a fine Christian banker and had the promise of the money needed, but when the building committee met in the evening a check for $500 had just been received from a friend, and the loan was not needed. Then we knew we were to continue as we had started, by just trusting the Lord.

At times when our morale was low our pastor would sing this chorus:

"Got any rivers you think are uncrossable,
Got any mountains you can't tunnel through;
God specializes in things thought impossible
And He can do what no other one can do."

We thank the Lord for our pastor's encouragement to us and his faithful preaching of the Word.

The Brethren Home Missions Council came to our rescue many times, for which we were indeed grateful. As the church treasurer I wish to echo the same gratefulness as the pastor in his article, "To the Glory of God," for every gift and every hour donated to building our church. Everyone of you working and giving as God directed you has made possible our $55,000 plant with an indebtedness of less than $3,000.

"The Lord hath done great things for us; whereof we are glad" (Psa. 126:3).

THANKFUL FOR PLAIN PREACHING OF THE WORD

By Mr. Verner Allen

I can surely thank the Lord for what He has done for me and my family. We are all united in Christ our Saviour. I praise Him for the promises in John 1:12 and 6:37. I thank the Lord for leading me to the Cherry Valley Brethren Church where they preach the Word plainly enough so that everyone that hears may come to Him. The Lord has said, "Whosoever will, let him take of the water of life freely" (Rev. 22:17). Thank God for Brethren home missions. May the Lord bless the Brethren Home Missions Council and help them build more churches that are true to the Word.

MISSION CHURCH HOST TO DISTRICT CONFERENCE

The Grace Brethren Church of Portland, Oreg., held its first service in the upper auditorium when the 1953 Northwest District conference convened there during the first week of July. The building is rapidly nearing completion and represents both beauty and utility. Prior to this all the services of the church were held in the lower auditorium, but the men were busy working to finish the main floor during that time.

The spiritual atmosphere and messages of the conference were a great blessing to all. This district is unique in that it has four home-mission churches, and only three others. The home-mission activities continue to increase with a new church forming in the capital city of Salem, Oreg. Realizing that one of the greatest home-mission frontiers in America is the great Northwest, the churches are planning to go all out this year in meeting the challenge.

DVBS AT JUNIATA, PENNSYLVANIA

This picture was taken at the close of the DVBS held at Juniata, Altoona, Pa., and represents the children and the staff. This will be the last DVBS at Juniata under the direction of Rev. Phillip J. Simmons, shown in the extreme left-hand corner. Brother Simmons will soon be serving the Lord in home missions at Chico, Calif., and Rev. Ward Tressler will be taking up the work at Juniata.

WHAT IS YOUR GOAL FOR HOME MISSIONS?

Every Brethren and every Brethren church should have one for praying and one for giving.

Our goal is to encourage every Brethren to pray daily and give weekly. If we will do this we will reach the goal for a 25-percent increase in the Thanksgiving home mission offering this year.

These pictures were taken during the 1953 Southeast District conference while it was in progress at the Clearbrook Brethren Church, Roanoke, Va. The conference was timed perfectly to have as its guests Dr. Paul Bauman and the Grace Trumpeters, of Winona Lake, Ind. The Trumpeters are shown in action in upper left-hand picture, including Edwin Cashman, Eddie Smith, and Harold Westing. Their accompanist, David Halvorsen, cannot be seen. The upper right-hand picture includes the pastors of the district and Dr. R. D. Barnard, secretary of the Foreign Missionary Society. The lower picture is one of the group representing the churches of the district. On the front row in the center can be seen Dr. Paul Bauman, president of the Brethren Home Missions Council, who was representing Grace Theological Seminary with the Trumpeters.

How to Spend Your Vacation

By Sam I. Horney

Two years ago a Brethren young couple vacationed in New Mexico and visited our mission. During the few days at the mission they were able to help your missionaries in the summer activity of daily vacation Bible schools. So inspired by the tremendous challenge they had experienced, Earl and Betty Fiscus, of Kittanning, Pa., decided to return to Taos another year and spend all their vacation time there helping the missionaries teach in vacation Bible school.

Taking an extra three days off of a regular two-week vacation, Earl and Betty left their home in Kittanning and traveled some 1,750 miles to be ready to begin teaching on June 1.

Not being content with a regular half-day of Bible school teaching, they asked for an afternoon class also—and got it. Thus in two weeks of vacation (?) they assisted your missionaries in Bible schools at Taos and Ranchitos.

What would impel a young couple to drive 3,500 miles at their own expense, supply materials for two Bible schools—all for a vacation? If Earl and Betty would speak, I am sure that they would say, "The love of Christ constraineth us" (II Cor. 5:14). We can only say that such labor of love comes only from the Lord and we are deeply grateful to them.

So enthused and burdened for the missionary work among the Spanish-Americans, Earl and Betty "sold" the idea of their vacation to another couple, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd O. Smith, of Kittanning. Just a week later this couple followed in the footsteps of Earl and Betty and helped us teach in our vacation Bible school at Llano Quemado, N. Mex. The love and fellowship of these good Christian people was a real uplift to the missionaries. Further, our missionary activity has been broadened because two couples caught the burden of the work.

Here is a unique and profitable way to spend your vacation. How about it? Does it sound good to you, too? Taos is a beautiful vacation spot and there is room and work enough for all.

ISRAEL CALLS!

IN REPLY TO YOUR LETTER (Continued)

By Bruce L. Button

You speak of Russia and communism. It is the accepted method of the day to relegate those who fail to agree with one's view to "Russia and communism." I am sure you are not communistic, for in so relegating me and my belief you display an ignorance as to the teaching of communism and the teaching of Christianity. These two are as far apart as north from south. To inform you of their respective teachings I am enclosing the small pamphlet, "Karl Marx or Jesus Christ." Before you throw it aside as foolishness or castigate it as anti-Semitic, read it with a mind open to truth.

Do you know that communistic ideology is the result of a nation rejecting belief in God and in Jesus, the Messiah? It is the teaching of natural men, not of spiritual men. It is the ultimate end of most men who will not reason about God and their relationship to Him. Germany and her satellite countries were also the result of a national rejection of God and Jesus the Messiah. That which happened in Germany is beginning to happen in Russia and those countries following her lead, even now! And I tell you upon the authority of the Word of God, the Bible, that should I and others of like belief take your advice and leave this country, it would not be long before evil men would cause to happen here that which has happened and is even now happening in Europe. Belief in Jesus, the Messiah, is the only restraining influence against evil men that you will ever find in the world. Belief in Jesus, the Messiah, is the only restraining influence against anti-Semitism you will ever find in this world. Total nonbelief insofar as Jesus is concerned is the one way, the one sure way, to overthrow all beliefs, and our great freedom; it is the one sure way to cause another "time of Jacob's trouble," which I fervently pray will never again happen.

From the tone of your letter I suspect you class me as an anti-Semite. Lest you be under a false impression I am attaching hereto the material I give to those who castigate and slander the Jew. I doubt if you can find even in the material produced by the Anti-Defamation League, the Young Jewish League of Los Angeles, and other similar organizations, literature which better champions the Jewish cause. In fact, I doubt very much if you have ever realized just how much the Jewish people have meant to your welfare until you have considered these booklets. Be fair, my friend, read them! Throw them away if you must, but before you do, read them! Gentile people are reading them today and because of them they are turning to God through the greatest Jew that ever lived, Jesus, the Messiah, and thanking God for Him and for the Jewish people.

Should you or any other representative or representatives of the Young Jewish League of Los Angeles desire to discuss this matter further, I am at your beck and call. As to sensationalism of the type of which you hint, I doubt very much if this organization or you, personally, would stoop to such measures. In any event, I am not fearful of anything.

In closing, my prayer for you and yours is that you will find spiritual prosperity, and I make it to God in Jesus' name. "The Lord bless thee, and keep thee: the Lord make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee: the Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace."

Sincerely in Messiah,

Bruce L. Button.

ELYRIA, OHIO (Lester E. Pifer, former home-mission pastor)—

We met with a group of 15 people at Elyria, Ohio, on Monday evening, July 13, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lichty to investigate the possibilities of a new home-mission work in that city. We had a season of prayer and a Bible message, after which we had a period of discussion. It was during this time that we discovered there were 23 Brethren families plus two others who would be interested in a Brethren church. So intense was their desire to get started that a Bible class will be held each Monday night in the John R. Herwig home at 353 Columbus Avenue. I trust that this initial start may be the means of getting a fine testimony in this challenging field.

JENNERS, PA. (Victor S. Rogers, pastor)—

Our church is progressing along for the glory of the Lord. Last Sunday we had two young couples come out in the morning service; one was a rededication, the other three confessed Christ as Saviour for the first time. A few weeks previous to this another young couple accepted Christ and also two children. We had a baptismal service on June 7 for 12 at the Johnstown First church, and 11 of these joined our membership. Our Sunday school is also moving forward with our largest enrollment and an average attendance of 116 for the quarter. The building is being improved and finished as rapidly as funds are available, and we thank God that our building-fund offerings are continually increasing.

SOUTH BEND, IND. (W. Russell Ogden, pastor)—

Our young married people's Bible-school class is spearheading a visitation program under the leadership of their teacher, Bro. Arthur Collins. Everyone is in contact at least one family a week that is not attending church and invite them to Sunnymede and, of course, try to win them for the Lord.

The church has established a budget of $140 a month for building-debt reduction, and the offering is taken the last Sunday of the month. Yesterday (July 26) closed the first month under the new budget, and we went "over the top" to the joy of everyone, and with praise to the Lord who has promised to supply all our needs.

MODESTO, CALIF. (Harold Painter, pastor)—

According to our last quarterly reports the Lord has been good to us and things look real good for the future. We have seen decisions of some kind nearly every Sunday—34 decisions were recorded during the period, with 5 new members added, 4 by baptism. Three new families have indicated their desire to join our membership which has increased 21 since January 1, 1953. The average attendance in the DVBS was 127 with several decisions for Christ made by the children. Twenty-five campers from our church spent one week at Camp Berea where I had the privilege of teaching two classes each day.

"AN OPEN DOOR"—BUT A LOCKED ONE

By Sam I. Horney

For some months your Spanish-American pastors, workers, and missionary have labored to bring the Gospel to a village of some 1,000 souls at Arroyo Seco, N. Mex. All have had their share in witnessing to this churchless town—Tony Luna, Jake Maestas, David Toldardo, Arthur Martinez, and Missionary Sam Horney.

Services were held Sunday afternoons following regular services at our other missions. From all appearances there seemed a genuine interest in the Gospel and attendance at services ran as high as 27. A home had been opened to us for these services and since we were being received in the community we considered this as, "I have set before thee an open door" (Rev. 3:8).

But one Sunday a delegation visited the home where we had been holding services and the "open door" was slammed and locked. Those who had been attending services could no longer be located or were never at home when called on.

The home where we had been holding services had been promised to us for daily vacation Bible school. On the day when the first classes were to be held, behold, we found "an open door—BUT LOCKED."

Rather than admit defeat, your missionary, Sam Horney, your Spanish pastor, Tony Luna, and Miss Elaine Christy held the first day's classes in the shade of the home of the locked door.

The next day we found a sympathetic neighbor, a 19-year-old young man, who offered his vacant home to us for Bible school. The first day we had six in attendance. Some children came for a few days till their parents discovered they were attending "condemned" services. Our highest attendance was 14.

Next, someone locked with a chain the gate to the road that led to the house where we were holding vacation Bible school. Each day it was necessary for us to crawl through the barbed-wire fence, carry all our boxes of supplies to the house, as the road had been barricaded.

On the next to the last day of the second week of Bible school, the door to this home was locked and the key entrusted in the hands of a "devout" woman.

Again, rather than give place to the Devil, your missionaries decided to continue the school to the very end. Being Scriptural, we gathered the children together by the riverside and there for the last two days held our Bible school. See Acts 16:13.

Please pray that this "open door" may be an unlocked one.

The Central District held its last conference at Winona Lake, Ind., July 20-23 under the moderatorship of Pastor James D. Hammer. Because of the geographical bigness of the district it was voted, subject to the approval of the annual conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, to divide into these three districts:

The Southern Ohio District, organized under the moderatorship of Pastor Caleb S. Zimmerman, with next year's conference at the Dayton North Riverdale church May 18-19.

The Indiana Fellowship elected Pastor Ord Gehman as moderator and selected Berne for next year's conference at a time to be chosen by the executive committee.

The Michigan District chose Pastor Richard Jackson, Jr., for its moderator. Date and place of next conference not known to writer.

The Clayton, Ohio, church, pastored by Clair Brickel, has scheduled Prof. John Whitcomb, Winona Lake, Ind., for August 16, and Pastor Vernon J. Harris, Portland, Oreg., a former pastor at Clayton, for August 23.

The Northern Ohio District WMC rally was held at Fremont, Ohio, July 27, with Miss Angie Garber as the speaker.

Pastor William E. Howard, of the Roanoke, Va., Clearbrook church, reports that Rev. Archie L. Lynn preached there July 26 and Rev. George Donahue July 29, while he was in Camp Grace.

The Philadelphia, Pa., First church, pastored by John M. Aeby, has scheduled Dr. O. E. Phillips as speaker for August 16 and Rev. William Simons for August 23.

The choir of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, pastored by Dr. Charles Mayes, presented a special program July 26 and Prof. Homer A. Kent, Jr., of Winona Lake, Ind., was the speaker.

Bro. John McDevitt, Johnstown, Pa., First church, died July 30.

While Pastor Clyde Balvo was on vacation, the Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church heard Bro. Clyde Caes and a gospel team from Bob Jones University on August 2, and Rev. George Kinzie on August 9.

Rev. Lee Jenkins preached at the Dayton, Ohio, First church, of which he is a former member, August 2, reports Pastor William Steffler. The church is going ahead with plans for a new building.

The Ashland, Ohio, church unanimously called Pastor Miles Taber for another year. Miss Angie Garber spoke there August 2. Two former pastors, Charles W. Mayes and Glenn O'Neal, are scheduled to preach there August 16 and 23 respectively.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dinsmore died July 10 and Mr. Wayne Johnson died July 14. Both were members of the Uniontown, Pa., church.

Bro. Charles C. Moomaw, member of the Wooster, Ohio, church, died July 13. His pastor, Kenneth B. Ashman, conducted the funeral service at the church July 15.

The Wooster, Ohio, church's young men's gospel team conducted an evening service at the Homerville, Ohio, church, where Robert Holmes is pastor, July 19.

The address of F. Archer Baum, new pastor of the San Diego church, is 4476 New Jersey St., San Diego, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 73.)

Scott Weaver, the new pastor of the Osceola church, has moved to 130 N. Oregon Ave., Osceola, Ind. (Change Annual, p. 72.)

Miss Helen Taber graduated from the nurse's training course of the Methodist Hospital, Fort Wayne, Ind., August 2 and left the same day with her parents, Pastor and Mrs. Miles Taber, of Ashland, Ohio, for a vacation trip to California.

Rev. C. A. Nicola preached at the Uniontown, Pa., church, pastored by Clyde K. Landrum, August 2. This church has begun a remodeling program on its building.

The Compton, Calif., church called Pastor Norman A. Nelson for another year and is now engaged in remodeling the church basement. The church conducted a youth night June 28 with Evangelist Benny Bates as the speaker. Redd Harper spoke there July 19.

Credential blanks for the annual conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, to be held at Winona Lake, Ind., August 24-30, have been sent out. Any church not receiving sufficient lay or ministerial blanks should write immediately to the secretary of the conference, Pastor Clyde K. Landrum, 350 Morgantown St., Uniontown, Pa. Please write "Credential Blanks" in lower left-hand corner of the envelope.

Prof. John Whitcomb preached at the Osceola, Ind., church July 19.

Bro. Walter S. Lee, Sr., of the Whittier, Calif., First church, died July 24.

The Whittier, Calif., First church, pastored by Lewis Hohenstein, had an average attendance of 140 in its two-week Bible school and an offering of $58 to be used in Brethren missionary work.

During Pastor Charles M. Underwood's vacation, the Glendale, Calif., church has scheduled Dr. Paul Dewhirst as speaker for August 23, and former Capt. Louis Zamperini for August 30.

On dedication day, July 19, at the Beaumont, Calif., church, 220 people attended the morning service, 270 the afternoon service, and 133 the evening service, reports Pastor Gene Farrell. The vacation Bible school had an average of 76 for two weeks.

If you or anyone you know are moving to Wheaton, Ill., and would be interested in joining in the work of the Grace Brethren Church, please contact Mr. Clark C. Myers, 211 Ingaltion Ave., West Chicago, Ill., and he will be glad to help you in finding employment.

First Lieut. Wayne S. Flory has completed his five-week student chaplain officer's course at New Rochelle, N. Y., and has been assigned back to Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The Waynesboro, Pa., church, pastored by Dennis Holliday, was host to the Moody Bible Institute Melody-Aires, August 4.

TREASURES IN ISAIAH 53

By Prof. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., Winona Lake, Ind.

PART III: THE SERVANT'S SILENT GROWTH

The final verse of Isaiah 52 is an absolute contrast to the verses that immediately precede and follow it. Whereas, in 52:14, many individuals were astonished at the sufferings and disfigurement of the Man who claimed to be God, we find in verse 15 that many nations shall be astonished at the terrifying sight of this One whom they shall finally recognize as true DEITY, whose eyes are as a flame of fire, and whose countenance is as the sun that shines in its strength. And then again, in the first few verses of chapter 53, we are taken back to view the earthly career of our Lord as He quietly grew to human maturity, and was rejected by those who looked for a different type of Messiah.

The word "sprinkle" in 52:15 should be translated "startle," or "cause to leap." This word was often used in reference to liquids throughout the Old Testament, but here it is not water or blood, but nations that are caused to leap and tremble at the sight of Christ's unveiled glory. In Romans 3:19 the Apostle Paul says that every human mouth will be hushed into guilty silence before God at the final judgment. Even so, at the second coming of Christ, "kings shall shut their mouths at him." As one has expressed it, "They are struck dumb in speechless astonishment at One so suddenly brought out of the depths, and lifted to so great a height." If you want to know why kings will tremble at the second coming, read Psalm 2 and Revelation 19! To express it mildly, and yet Scripturally, they shall see and consider some things about Christ that will be far different from anything they had ever heard or been told!

Israel's Final Repentance

Isaiah 53 is really the future confession of Israel's believing remnant, as they finally recognize in Jesus Christ their true Messiah, and lament that they had rejected Him for so long. To the gentiles, Christ's glorious appearance will be a startling surprise, but to the Jew it should have been a familiar and cherished hope, for it is woven into the very fabric of Hebrew Scripture. Franz Delitzsch, himself a converted Jew, said that this chapter will not receive its complete historical fulfillment until Israel's remnant acknowledges with deep remorse that the gentiles accepted their own Messiah before they did.

Now let us look carefully at the first verse. The word "report" means "that which is heard," and "the arm of the Lord" means, according to Dr. Gleason Archer, the mighty power of God intervening in human affairs (in this case, referring to the appearance of God's only Son in the world), for the protection or chastening of God's covenant people. To bring out the full meaning of the verse, let us paraphrase it this way: "Who among us Jews actually believed the report or message which was heard among us (concerning Christ) and to which of us was the mighty power of God (in the person of Christ) actually revealed?"

Yes, the message of salvation was rejected, because Israel (and, for that matter, every last human being) rejected the Person of salvation, the Lord Jesus Christ. It is in verses 2 and 3 that this rejection of Christ's Person is more fully described, and the suggestive word pictures which are used in this description demand our careful study.

The Silent Growth

"For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant." If the Jewish rabbis of Christ's time had only studied this verse of Scripture they might have realized that Messiah's appearance on the earth would not be sudden and spectacular, but rather by means of a slow, silent growth, from childhood to manhood. The point of the verse is this: the Servant's unspectacular human growth was the fatal stumbling block to Jewish leaders of that day. For example, they said concerning Him, "Whence hath this man this wisdom, and these mighty works? Is not this the carpenter's son?" (Matt. 13:54-55). The Jews were desperately seeking a Messiah who would throw off the hated Roman yoke, and give to the Jews political and religious supremacy in the world. But they forgot that their political restoration had to be based upon their spiritual regeneration (Ezek. 37), and for that to be made possible the incarnation and atonement of the GOD-MAN had to occur first! In other words, the "form" and "comeliness" and "beauty" which the Jews looked for in their Messiah was not that holiness of character which pleases God, but rather the outward splendor of a military conqueror, who would make no demands upon his subjects, so far as repentance and personal righteousness are concerned.

Dry Ground

"A root out of dry ground" may suggest Christ's virgin birth. Where there is no water, no plant can grow. But where there was no human father, the Christ-child appeared in the virgin's womb. Another possible meaning of this phrase is that Palestine was the "dry ground" out of which the Servant sprang. In the first century A. D. Palestine was an enslaved, degraded, downtrodden, and disheartened little nation in a corner of the mighty Roman Empire. Could it be possible that God's only Son would make His appearance on earth in such a place? Yes, and not only in such a land, but in an animal stall in little Bethlehem! That was being "a root out of dry ground" in the ultimate sense! And that is what God's Son did, when for our salvation He "made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant."

JESUS CHRIST IS THE LIGHT

When Jabez Bunting, one of the outstanding disciples of John Wesley, died, a minister speaking in tribute said: "When Bunting died the sun of Methodism set." A plain man at the funeral shouted: "Glory to God! That is a lie!" In those early days the Methodists looked to the Lord Jesus Christ as the Light of the world and not to any man, however great he might be.

Northwest District Resolution

The following resolutions were among those passed in regular session of the Northwest District conference which convened in Portland, Oreg., July 6-9, 1953. It was the vote of the conference that these resolutions be published in the Brethren Missionary Herald at the earliest possible date.

BE IT RESOLVED THAT . . .

1. We affirm our Biblical position regarding the Christian's attitude toward carnal warfare; the position being that of nonresistance.

2. We wholly reject the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible for the following reasons:

(1) It is the product of apostate leaders.

(2) It is copyrighted by the modernistic National Council of Churches and is made an article of merchandising.

(3) It subtly attacks many of the fundamental doctrines of the Christian faith "which was once delivered unto the saints."

3. We affirm our stand as a district that the qualifications for ministers, primary church leaders, and officers be as found in I Timothy and Titus, including those specifications dealing with divorce and remarriage.

4. We strongly urge every Brethren family to erect and/or maintain a family altar where the entire family shall worship our God and Saviour in spirit and in truth.

5. We affirm our Biblical position of separation of church and state, and that we encourage our President and Government to refrain from appointing a representative or ambassador to the Vatican State in Rome.

Secretary.

JOHN WHITCOMB, EDISENE HANSON WED AT LONG BEACH, CALIF.

Miss Edisene Marjorie Hanson and Mr. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, June 7, 1953, in a beautiful double-ring ceremony at the Second Brethren Church of Long Beach, Calif. Dr. Alva J. McClain, president of Grace Theological Seminary, assisted by Rev. George O. Peek, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. Sibley Edmiston, brother-in-law of the bride, served as best man, and Alberta Hanson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Mrs. Whitcomb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Hanson, of Long Beach, and Mr. Whitcomb is the son of Col. and Mrs. John C. Whitcomb, of the United States Army.

Over 400 people attended the wedding, including the parents of the groom, who are currently stationed in Lima, Peru, and who came to the States by airplane for the occasion.

Following the ceremony, the bridal pair left by car for a tour through California, Oregon, Washington, and into Canada, visiting Victoria, Banff, and Lake Louise. They concluded their tour at Winona Lake, Ind., early in July, where they are now residing.

Pastor Donald Rossman, of the North Buffalo church nearby, spoke on our radio program during the week of August 2, and on August 5 Mr. and Mrs. Floyd O. Smith showed pictures and reported on their vacation missionary work on our mission station at Taos, N. Mex.

Virginia Hooks, of our church, and John Peterson, both 1953 graduates of Bob Jones University, were married in our church building August 8. The young couple expect to do home-mission work in Kentucky for the denomination of which John is a member.—Gordon W. Bracker, pastor.

CHRISTIAN BILLS IN CONGRESS

On June 11, 1953, Hon. Ralph E. Flanders, of Vermont, introduced a "Christian amendment" resolution" (S. J. Res. 87) in the United States Senate. Hon. Robert D. Harrison, of Nebraska, introduced an identical bill (H. J. Res. 289) July 2 in the House of Representatives.

The Mayflower Compact, the Compacts of the Colonies, the Articles of Confederation, and the Declaration of Independence acknowledge God and the Christian faith. But in the Constitution there is no mention of God, Christ, or the Bible. The "Christian amendment resolutions" are designed to correct this omission.

Three sections make up the proposed amendment. Section 1 states that "this nation devoutly recognizes the authority and law of Jesus Christ, Saviour and Ruler of nations, through whom are bestowed the blessings of Almighty God."

Section 2 safeguards the rights guaranteed in the First Amendment. Section 3 makes provision for citizens whose religious scruples prevent them from giving allegiance to the Constitution as amended.

The resolutions are now in the hands of the proper committees of the two houses of Congress and public hearings are to be held on them.

CONFERENCE FEATURES BIBLE STUDY AND MISSIONS

"The Need of the Hour—Purity, Passion, Power" is the theme selected by the executive committee of the 64th annual conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches to be held at Winona Lake, Ind., August 24-30. The conference text for this year is: "... Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works" (Tit. 2:13-14).

Monday is to be Sunday School Day, with special sessions in the forenoon and afternoon relating to the development and effectiveness of the Sunday school in the local church and in the work of the denomination. The evening challenge hour is to be in charge of the laymen, and Pastor William Schaffer, of Spokane, Wash., will preach the vice moderator's sermon to open the conference.

Each day is to begin with simultaneous prayer meetings and auxiliary meetings at 8 o'clock. At 10 each morning there will be a Bible study and at 10:50 the business sessions will convene. Each afternoon at 1:45 one of the corporations will meet, to be followed at 2:45 by auxiliary meetings. At 7:15 each evening there will be a challenge hour and at 8:15 the message of the evening.

At the Bible hour Tuesday Pastor Arnold R. Kriegbaum, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, will present the moderator's address. The Sunday School Board is to conduct the evening challenge hour, and the message, on "Purity of Life," will be preached by Pastor Thomas Hammers, Seattle, Wash.

The Wednesday morning Bible message will be given by Pastor Ward Miller, Whittier, Calif., on the theme, "Abraham." The challenge hour will feature home missions and Missionary Bruce Button, Los Angeles, Calif., will speak on "A Passion for Souls."

Pastor Joseph L. Gingrich, Seville,

Ohio, will speak Thursday morning on "Joseph." Grace Theological Seminary will sponsor the challenge hour, and Pastor Vernon Harris, Portland, Oreg., has chosen to speak on "Power for Service" for the final message of the day.

"Moses" is the theme to be treated Friday morning by Pastor George O. Peek, of Long Beach, Calif. The challenge hour will feature foreign missionaries home on furlough, and Missionary J. Keith Altig, on furlough from Brazil, is to present the evening message.

Prof. Homer A. Kent, Jr., is to speak on "Elijah" Saturday morning. The young people are in charge of the evening program, with Pastor Galen Lingenfelter, Buena Vista, Va., preaching the sermon.

The National Sunday School Board of the Brethren Church will supervise the Sunday school on the Lord's Day. Pastor Russell Williams, of Yakima, Wash., is scheduled to preach the morning sermon, to be followed by the presentation and dedication of foreign missionaries. The afternoon service on Sunday is to be a rally featuring the missionary program and work of the Brethren Church around the world. The final evening message of the conference will be given by Pastor Raymond Kettell, Portis, Kans.

Pray for the conference daily and attend every session if at all possible. Make this the greatest conference we have ever held.

IKE'S SHORTEST SPEECH

One of President Eisenhower's favorite stories is about the shortest speech he ever delivered. It was a long-drawn-out meeting. Five other speakers had preceded him. The audience was almost asleep. Finally, shortly before midnight, Ike was introduced.

"Every English discourse has punctuation," said Ike, "and in this instance I am the period."

Then he sat down. He got the biggest hand of the evening.

GUIDANCE

"Be ye not as the horse, or as the mule" (Psa. 32:9).

We can have guidance either by the Father's eye or by the bit and bridle of circumstances. If, like the horse or the mule, we have no spiritual understanding, instead of guiding us with His eye, God has to curb us with His hand. There can, of course, be no guidance by the eye unless there is constant attention on the one side and constant superintendence on the other. The promise, "I will counsel thee, mine eye shall be upon thee" (marg), implies the existence of a disposition of watchfulness and of readiness to note God's hand in the manifest occurrences of life. God never curbs us with His hand unless He has failed to guide us with His eye. Where the look has been scorned, the bridle must be fastened. A look would be lost upon a horse or a mule. How often the look has been lost upon us because we have been out of touch with God; claiming to be His friends, yet following Him afar off; sad and depressed because of no perfect understanding; knowing nothing of freedom because under the bit and bridle; unable to sing because of the bit in the mouth.—J. Gregory Mantle, D. D.

CFE PACKETS READY

Mr. Horace F. Dean, president of Christ for America, has announced that plans are being set in order for the second Christ for Everyone campaign to be held October 4-November 1, 1953, or at a time most suitable to the local church.

A packet including 16 different and effective helps has been prepared for the nominal sum of $2. In this kit are pamphlets on prayer, visitation, follow-up work, and a guide for pastors. Also posters, automobile stickers, and a large banner are included. This packet can be secured from Christ for Everyone Headquarters, 542 S. Dearborn St., Chicago 5, Ill.

More Students Coming to Grace

Seventy-Three Students Already Enrolled

If early applications are an indication, it is possible that the enrollment at Grace Seminary and College in September will set a new record. At the end of the first week in August 45 students had applied for admission to the seminary, and 28 to the college division of the school. Others have written for information, particularly concerning the college division. Many of our young people just now are facing decisions that will change the whole course of their lives. The world makes a tremendous bid these days for the best of our youth. Let us pray that not one of them may be permitted to make the wrong choice of a school. Grace Seminary and College wants only those young men and women who are directed there by the Lord Himself.

Wrong Choices and Tragic Results

Several weeks ago while on the tour with the Grace Trumpeters it became necessary for me to become separated from them for a week to speak at the Gull Lake Bible Conference in Michigan. Twice during this conference parents came to me in tears as they told of sons who were brought up in their home churches and had been apparently interested in the things of the Lord. But each chose to attend a godless university, and each has returned home to scoff at the Bible and the faith of his parents. Now a Christian school cannot save any young man, nor can it keep him saved. Only the Lord is able to do that. However, it can fortify a student's faith by so teaching him that he can "give an answer to every man that asketh you [him] a reason of the hope that is in you [him]" (I Pet. 3:15). Many young people today are taught to believe, but few of them are given "a reason" for their faith. As a result, when their manner of life is falsely accused (see vs. 16) in the school-room, they find themselves utterly unable to answer the subtle arguments of unbelief. The great advantage of a Christian school is its opportunity in all its classes to give young men and women the tools to go out and meet the problems of life in a world that is no friend of God's, and to deal with them so successfully that "they may be ashamed that falsely accuse" their good manner of life in Christ (vs. 16). Parents should think a long time before they send their young people to schools in which the avowed aim of many a teacher is to attack the faith of any student who is old-fashioned enough to believe that the Bible is true.

American Scientific Affiliation to Meet on Campus

Grace Theological Seminary will be privileged from September 1 to 3 to serve as host for the eighth annual convention of the American Scientific Affiliation, Inc. This organization is made up of Christian men of science in all parts of the United States. Many are professors in well-known colleges, universities, and theological schools, and some are connected with the scientific departments of large corporations. It has been the writer's privilege to be a member of the organization for nearly a decade, and he is serving as chairman of the entertainment committee for the convention. While the sessions are intended primarily for members of the group, the affiliation is to furnish the speaker at the evening service of the Winona Lake Bible Conference, in the Billy Sunday Tabernacle on Wednesday evening, September 2. At that time Dr. J. Oliver Buswell, Jr., president of Shelton College, Ringwood Borough, N. J., will speak on the subject, "Science, the True and the False." The service will close with the showing of a film, very recently produced by the Moody Institute of Science, "The Prior Claim."

The American Scientific Affiliation is interested in the problems of modern science, particularly as they relate to the Bible. Several years ago they produced the well-known book, "Modern Science and the Christian Faith." The book is a symposium, treating such sciences as astronomy, geology, biology, psychology, archeology, etc., as they relate to the Bible. It is unquestionably one of the finest books available particularly for young people who face these problems in college and university life. It should be given a wide circulation. The price of the book is $4.00, and it is available through the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Winona Lake, Ind.

Torrey Johnson to Conduct Opening Conference

Something new is being inaugurated at Grace at the very opening of the school year. A highly interesting and challenging conference will begin with the annual convocation service of the school on Monday, September 14, and will continue twice each day through Friday. Dr. Torrey Johnson, of Chicago, founder of Youth for Christ International, and well-known Bible conference speaker, will address the student body twice each day. He will speak at the regular chapel hour, 9:25 a. m., and at 1:15 p. m. All who have heard Torrey Johnson will realize the rich treat in store for the students of Grace Seminary and College. All friends of the school who can possibly come to Winona Lake at that time are invited to attend any of the meetings.

Greetings to National Fellowship Delegates

Grace Theological Seminary is again glad to welcome to Winona Lake some who will be attending the meetings of our National Fellowship for the first time. Do not fail to come and visit the campus. Inspect the building and the grounds, and ask us any questions you may wish answered about the school and its program. We want you to see what God has wrought during the past 16 years.

BISHOP OXNAM SAYS HE IS A SUCKER

The "Head" of American Protestantism Was Easy and Loose With His Name and Influence

By NOEL SMITH

Editorial Note: The following article by Noel Smith, editor of the Baptist Bible Tribune, deals with the case of Bishop Oxnam, who for several years has been under suspicion as a sympathizer of Communist-front causes. According to many newspaper reports, Oxnam was completely vindicated in his recent hearing before the congressional Un-American Activities Committee. But Editor Noel Smith tells what actually happened, and he writes as an eyewitness. Since Bishop Oxnam has become virtually the high priest of modernistic religion in America, the article should be read by every member of our churches.—A. J. M.

WASHINGTON.—Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam admitted to the House Un-American Activities Committee that he probably was on the Communists' sucker list.

It was not a very pretty admission for the man to make who likes for everybody to believe that he is the practical head of American Protestantism, that he is the ablest, most brilliant Protestant leader since Luther and Calvin, and that he is a social statesman of world caliber. To his public the bishop's admission was like a sweet, romantic, sentimental thing finding dandruff on her hero's shoulder. The bishop's tense, touchy followers who crowded the House caucus room for the hearing never expected to hear their man admit that he was a sucker.

The bishop's extraordinary admission came after the printed record showed that G. Bromley Oxnam's name was associated with a long list of Communist and pro-Communist organizations. When he was asked about his name being publicly connected with these organizations, the bishop "didn't remember," or he had just "lent" his name to them. Rep. Clardy (R., Mich.) was trying to get the bishop to explain to the committee how a responsible man in public life could be so careless with the use of his name and influence. When the bishop became increasingly vague in his reply, Rep. Clardy reminded him that the Communists have sucker lists. "Could it be," asked Rep. Clardy, "that you were on one of these lists?"

The bishop replied: "It would seem to me that might well be the explanation."

The bishop showed up even worse when Rep. Clardy told him that he (Clardy) had been asked by some of the same organizations for the use of his name, and that in each case he had refused because he had had "no difficulty in recognizing them as Communist organizations."

It seems that about every informed person in the country knows the true character of the organizations which Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam has been and is encouraging but the bishop himself. If the bishop is telling the truth, the "head" of American Protestantism is not only a sucker, he is also a fathead.

Oxnam is bishop of the Methodist Church, Washington area, which includes Maryland, Delaware, central Pennsylvania, and part of West Virginia, as well as the District of Columbia. The area has 1,691 churches. The bishop is a past president of the National Council of the Churches of Christ. He is 61 years old.

The Hearing at the Bishop's Request

Contrary to the popular notion, Bishop Oxnam was not subpoenaed to appear before the committee. He appeared at his own request. The House Un-American Activities Committee is investigating neither Oxnam nor the field of religion.

The hearing was held in the House caucus room, the largest room in the House Office Building. It began at 2:30 p. m. and lasted until after midnight, with two recesses for House roll calls and a third recess for dinner.

Bishop Oxnam's theme was that the committee's files are damaging to his reputation, which is true; and that the committee keeps files "to pillory or intimidate" persons, which is false.

The bishop's position is that the House Un-American Activities Committee should retain in its files only such information concerning the public activities of G. Bromley Oxnam which Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam approves. Everything else should be junked. The bishop contends that the whole matter of investigating Communists should be turned over to the "church," and at the same time it is understood that in such case the chairman of all investigations would be no other than Oxnam himself.

Innocent by Association

For weeks before the hearing Bishop Oxnam, who is known around Washington as a publicity hound who will bite in the clinches, had been softening up the psychological ground for his requested hearing. His propaganda department had seen to it that Methodist conferences and various Protestant organizations, including a bull pen of bishops, passed appropriate resolutions and formulated correctly worded statements to the effect that Bishop Oxnam and Protestantism were one and the same thing. A criticism of Bishop Oxnam was a criticism of Protestantism, the Bible, and the Government. This propaganda slyly hinted that only the Ku Kluxers in the South, the Roman Catholics in the East and North, and the Republicans in the West were against the bishop. To imply that the bishop was not the greatest Protestant leader in the world was to ipso facto place the critic in one of these three classes. The propaganda had it fixed so that nobody could criticize the bishop without at the same time criticizing everybody who is opposed to totalitarianism in religion and in the state. This propaganda made Bishop Oxnam the symbol of religious and civil liberty.

The bishop might smell of garlic, but he would become sweetened by association. The bishop would work the Communist propaganda technique (guilt by association) backwards.

But the Clutch Began to Slip

The propaganda machine was running smoothly until the bishop took the oath and faced the committee. Then the clutch began to slip. Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam giving peremptory orders to Methodist preachers was one thing, but Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam facing his documented record before a congressional committee was another thing.

The hearing was opened by a statement by the chairman of the committee, Rep. Velde (R., Ill.). Then the bishop began reading his prepared statement. The burden of the statement was that the committee's files were irresponsible and were kept as a blackjack to be held over the heads of innocent people, especially over the head of Oxnam. In his printed statement, when the bishop refers to the committee's files he enclosed the word in quotation marks.

When the bishop had finished reading his statement, he was asked by the committee counsel, Robert L. Kunzig, whether he was once chairman of the Massachusetts Council of the American-Soviet Friendship. The bishop replied that he was—in 1942-43. His explanation was that the country was at war at the time and Russia was our ally. In reply to a second question, the bishop said that he had been a sponsor of the National Council of the Soviet-American Friendship.

"Who asked you to join the Massachusetts organization?" asked Rep. Walters (D., Pa.).

The bishop replied that he had been asked to join by Dirk J. Struik, a professor in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The bishop said that he had not met Struik and had his secretary check up on him over the telephone. The secretary had reported that Struik was a distinguished professor.

Oxnam was then asked what happened to Struik. He said he didn't know, but believed he was "indicted in Massachusetts in connection with some subversive matters."

"The fact of the matter is," Rep. Walters inquired, "the professor was a Russian spy, wasn't he?"

To this inquiry G. Bromley Oxnam gave this astounding answer:

"I do not know, and frankly I do not believe it."

As more questions were put to him about the long lists of Communist and pro-Communist fronts with which his name had been associated, the bishop became angry. On several occasions he cried, "I realize what you are doing to me." At other times he would try to evade a direct answer to a question by saying that he was fundamentally opposed to Communism.

When the bishop was shown documents linking his name with the Arts, Sciences, and Professions Council of Progressive Citizens of America, the bishop said, "There are so many of these organizations I can't keep track of them. I have no recollection of having been associated with that organization."

He was shown a newspaper statement linking his name with the American League Against War and Fascism. "I don't read the Daily Worker," the bishop quipped. "But it is also in the New York Times," replied the committee counsel.

It was when the bishop was shown documents linking his name with the American League for Peace and Democracy that the bishop settled the whole business by saying that he was on the sucker list.

Bishop Oxnam defended his connections with the long list of subversive organizations by saying that the Attorney General had declared them subversive after he had left them. "But weren't these organizations declared to be subversive for activities while you were connected with them?" asked the counsel.

This question brought another wordy explanation.

The Bishop Was Not Acquitted

Bishop Oxnam's propaganda machinery will of course pull out all the stops to make the impression that he was given a clean bill of health by the committee. This is false. The committee simply adopted a motion declaring its conclusion that the bishop is not affiliated with the Communist party. The committee divided on whether the bishop had given aid and comfort to Communism through association with Red front organizations.

The bishop has never been charged in responsible quarters with being a Communist. He has been charged with giving aid and comfort to Communists.

Bishop Oxnam nonchalantly admitted that he had lent his name and influence to almost any radical or pro-Communist organization that wanted to use it. He even made a joke of it, saying that in the future he may not join so many of these Red front outfits.

Yet when he is asked whether a man of his position and influence should be as loose with the use of his name and influence as a loose woman is with her virtue, he becomes indignant. "I realize what you are doing to me."

G. Bromley Oxnam reminds me of a billy goat in the stockyards in Fort Worth, Tex. This goat has been trained to lead sheep up a ramp to slaughter. The sheep get their throats cut. The billy goat goes his innocent way, lives off the fat of the land, and gets plenty of publicity.

SEMINARY STUDENTS TRAVEL TO BIBLE LANDS

On July 26 two students from Grace Seminary left Fort Wayne, Ind., by plane as a part of the "Flying Seminar" to Europe and Bible lands. They are Nathan Meyer, a member of the middler class, and Wayne Snider, a member of the 1953 graduating class, who will be returning for further study next year. Wayne was accompanied by his sister, Miss Alice Snider, a student at Wheaton College.

MORE STUDENTS COMING TO GRACE COLLEGE

Students are continuing to enroll in the college division of Grace Theological Seminary. On the front cover of the magazine again this month appear the pictures of 10 more students whose applications have been received and accepted by the school. Let us continue to pray for young people who are carefully weighing the matter of further schooling. Some desire to enter college but have financial problems. Others face the task of deciding which school they should attend. Grace College seeks only those young people who come because they are definitely directed of the Lord to do so. Pray that none may make a mistake in his decision.—P. R. B.

FROM FRANKFORT, IND.

I have attended Grace Brethren Church in Johnstown, Pa., since birth. When I accepted Christ as my personal Saviour in 1944, I became a member of that church. Since that time I have felt a calling into the ministry. I have been seeking a school that would give me fundamental Bible training and still not be too far away from my present home in Frankfort, Ind. When I heard that Grace College was offering four years of college along with three years of seminary training, I immediately sent in my application. I know that Grace College has high moral and fundamental standards.

I am going to stay with the Brethren denomination, so I thought it would be good to be well-grounded in the doctrine. I have prayed about this matter and it seems that the door has closed on every other possibility. So I know it is the Lord's will that I attend Grace College. This is the greatest reason for choosing Grace College.—Glenn C. Byers (No. 1 on front cover).

FROM DAYTON, OHIO

I chose to enroll at Grace College for several different reasons.

One is stated in I Peter 3:15—"But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear."

The second reason logically follows the first: "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (II Tim. 2:15).

The last and most important reason is that I feel it is the Lord's will.

"Follow Me, and I will make you . . ."

Make you speak My words with power.
Make you channels of My mercy,
Make you helpful every hour.

"Follow Me, and I will make you . . ."

Make you what you cannot be—

Make you loving, trustful, godly,
Make you even like to Me.—L. S. P.

I thank the Lord that the Brethren Church has a college of its own. We have needed one a long time, and I am proud to be called a student of Grace.—Vivian I. Stewart (2).

FROM HUMMELSTOWN, PA.

It was not until the completion of my junior year at Pennsylvania State College that I found God's will for my life. Here I realized that, although I had received all of Christ, He had not received all of me, and I surrendered my life to Him.

I had been accepted at the University of Pennsylvania in the School of Veterinary Medicine, and I had to make the decision of full-time service for the Lord or continuing in my previous course of study. Since that time I have definitely felt led of the Lord to enter full-time service, and through the capable counseling of my pastor realize that Grace is one of the most outstanding colleges offering a Christian education.

At Grace I expect to find Christian fellowship that I have not experienced in the college attended previously.

I feel my spiritual life will be enriched and that I will be prepared to serve Him under the guidance of the Holy Spirit and through the fundamental instruction at Grace.—R. Douglas Cassel (3).

FROM KITTANNING, PA.

In Ephesians 5:17 we read, "Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is." After taking my first year of college at a fine outstanding interdenominational school, I began thinking and praying about transferring to Grace College. For me there were many rivers and rough mountains to cross in deciding what to do, but the Lord gave me an opportunity to hear the Grace Trumpeters and to talk to Dr. Paul Bauman. This opportunity to hear and to talk to these people encouraged me. However, it still took some more thinking and praying about the matter to make me aware that Grace was the place for me. It is the place for me, I believe, because it is there that I will be able to prepare for the work the Lord has planned for me, whether it be in the homeland or the foreign field.—Dolores Jordan (4).

FROM HOPWOOD, PA.

A proper and adequate education is very important for those who have been called of the Lord into full-time Christian service. I recognized the need for further education when I was graduated from the Greensburg Bible Institute in May. Upon inquiring at Grace College, I found that I could be enrolled as a senior student and I felt that the Lord was definitely leading me there. Since arriving in Winona Lake a little over a month ago, I have come to realize more and more that this is the place where the Lord wants me to be. I have had the opportunity of visiting the school, and I have also had the privilege of meeting and working with many of the students at the job which the Lord so graciously gave me just a few days after I arrived. I am glad that the Lord has sent me to Grace College, and I am looking forward with great anticipation to the day when school begins.—Genevieve J. Miner (5).

FROM JACKSON, MISS.

During the time I was at Grace Bible Institute, there came representatives from Grace Theological Seminary to invite students to continue their education in Winona Lake. They gave me full assurance of honoring all possible credits. This was the first time that I heard about Grace College. Then in July 1952 we made a trip to Winona Lake to see the school and we liked the fine Christian atmosphere. Now we believe that the Lord wants me to continue my education at Grace College.—Rev. Peter C. Quiring (6).

FROM COVINGTON, VA.

The Lord hath given unto me a goodly heritage. "Unto whom much is given, much shall be required." I felt the compassion of the Lord for the lost when He said, "The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few," and I answered the prayer, "Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest."

Having graduated from Prairie Bible Institute, I looked for a fundamental college to complete my preparation for His harvest field. Grace College and Seminary offers the fundamental truths which I can learn from Spirit-filled teachers.

On June 27 James Arrington and I were married. My husband and I are looking forward to a blessed study at Grace.—Helen M. Arrington (7).

FROM ASHLAND, OHIO

I feel that the Lord has a definite purpose in calling me to Grace College. There were previous arrangements made to attend two other colleges, but the Lord finally led me to Grace. Grace has everything I want, and the Lord is definitely leading in that direction. I count it a real privilege and opportunity to be able to

BLESSINGS AT GRACE COLLEGE

By Franklin Weaver

I received many blessings in my first year at college, and I am looking forward, the Lord willing, to the coming year. Among the many things with which I was impressed was the Christian fellowship of the students. Something else that I really enjoyed was that at the beginning of every class one of the students would lead in prayer.

I also have received many blessings from the practical work department. Under this department students witness in street meetings, nursing homes, hospitals, and railroad camps. Just last Sunday some of us fellows went to a hospital, and my soul was really thrilled to see one of the patients accept the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour. I am thankful that the Lord led me to this school for my training.

start my college education at such a fine Christian school as Grace.—Robert Messner (8).

FROM STERLING, OHIO

After months of prayerful consideration, I feel that the Lord is leading me to enter the college division of Grace Seminary this fall.

As yet I do not know what my Lord would have me prepare for, but my desire is to be ready, and I believe that Grace College is the next step, for it will help me to "grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ" (II Pet. 3:18a).—Ruth Moine (9).

FROM ASHLAND, OHIO

Editor's Note: Miss Helen Taber (No. 10 on front cover) was graduated August 2 from the nurses training course at the Methodist Hospital in Fort Wayne, Ind. As this material went to press she was on her way to California with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Miles Taber, and it was not possible to secure her testimony. Helen plans to complete her college work at Grace and is looking to the Lord to reveal His further plans for her life as she continues her training.

FROM COVINGTON, VA.

Note: James Hawkins' picture appeared in last month's Educational Number of the Herald (July 25). His testimony was not in our hands soon enough to include it in that number of the magazine, so it appears this month.

I have enrolled and will be attending Grace College this fall because I believe the Lord would have me get the best all-around education that it is possible to obtain. Grace College offers me both a good spiritual atmosphere and practical Bible teaching which I feel is much needed today. I have seen and heard graduates of Grace, and their preaching and testimonies speak loudly to me about the school. I am looking forward to rich blessing and fellowship with the faculty and students.—James D. Hawkins.

Opportunity for experience in leadership is just one of the advantages of a school like Grace Seminary and College. The Student Council, which is composed of the student body officers and the officers of the different classes, meets regularly to consider problems relative to the student program of the school. The picture shows the 1952-53 council. This year the group will be enlarged by the addition of two more years to the college division.

COMPROMISE, THE DEVIL'S WEAPON

Satan often tempts the child of God to sin by making the offense seem of small importance. Peter was led to deny his Lord because the way was made so easy. In the Gospel of John (18:15-27), the account as preserved in the Greek original reveals how subtly Peter was trapped. The first question put to Peter by the maid made it easy for him to deny, for she said: "You are not also one of this man's disciples, are you?" (literal). She expected him to say, "No," and he took the easy course. The second question was much the same: "You are not also one of his disciples, are you?" Again Peter took the easy course, rather than contradict the questioner. But when Peter had thus started his course of compromise, Satan prompted a third question. Malchus' kinsman said: "I saw you in the garden with him, didn't I?" Here the answer expected was "Yes," but Peter had become so enmeshed in his web of denials that he could no longer take the easy course. Instead of giving the "Yes," which the questioner expected, Peter made a categorical denial of his association with Christ. What had once begun perhaps as a mumbling "No" to avoid suspicion soon became an outright refusal to acknowledge his Lord. Compromise with sin is one of Satan's most effective weapons.—Prof. Homer A. Kent, Jr.

EDDIE SMITH IN JAPAN

Eddie Smith (pictured), a member of the Grace Trumpeters and a senior in the college division, left on Thursday, August 6, for Japan with the great Youth for Christ evangelistic team. The entire group consisted of approximately 100 men from all parts of the country. They left by plane from Vancouver, Canada, and expect to return to the United States about the 6th of September. In Japan the group is to be divided into approximately 30 teams, and they intend to conduct evangelistic campaigns in various parts of Japan. The work has been carefully planned, and regular missionaries now in the Japanese islands expect to follow up their work and the openings created by the Youth for Christ groups.

Eddie is working as a member of a television team and will devote a part of his time and talent to that type of work. While television is new in Japan and not yet so widespread in its coverage as in the United States, it is said that the Japanese are tremendously enthusiastic about it and will gather in large groups around a single set. Let us pray for Eddie and for the entire group as they near the conclusion of their work. Grace Seminary is proud to have one of its students numbered among the team carrying the Gospel to Japan.

A MOST ILLOGICAL EXCUSE

The man who says he is kept away from a church by hypocrites is not influenced by them elsewhere. Business is full of them, but if he sees a chance to make money he doesn't stop for that. Society is crowded with them, but he does not become a hermit. Married life, in many cases, is wrecked by them, but he does not remain a bachelor. Hell is full of them (or will be) and yet he is doing nothing to keep from that end. He wants you to think he is avoiding hypocrites, yet he takes no steps toward the only place where no hypocrite can go.—Selected by S. Herbert Bess.

GRACE TRUMPETERS CONCLUDE TOUR

During the period of May 31 to July 31, the Grace Trumpeters covered over 7,500 miles, which took them into nine States and the District of Columbia. In addition to their 52 regularly scheduled services, they took part in a variety of other types of meetings. They took part in a total of nine meetings during the time spent at the Southeast and East District conferences, 10 services in visits to four camps (Buckeye, Keystone, Grace, and Rural Bible Crusade Camp, near Story City, Iowa), and three services at the Youth for Christ conference at Winona Lake, Ind. During the regular part of the trip they participated in seven young people's services, seven radio programs, two daily vacation Bible schools, one Sunday-school picnic, and the ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Sunday-school unit at the Clayton, Ohio, church. This totals 92 services held and participated in during the 61-day duration of the trip.

In addition to accompanying the Trumpeters throughout most of the tour, speaking at most of the meetings, and holding numerous conferences with prospective students, Dr. Paul Bauman spoke 12 times at the Gull Lake Bible Conference in Michigan, and eight times at the Erieside Bible Conference in Cleveland, Ohio. There was also a trip to Martinsburg, Pa., for the seminary. These side trips involved another 2,500 miles by plane, train, and automobile.

NOTICE TO ALL COLLEGE STUDENTS

All single students in the college division, unless living at home, are expected to live in the new dormitory units and board with the other dormitory students. Each student should bring sheets (for double bed), pillow cases, blankets, bedspreads, dresser cover, and towels. If further information is desired, write to Dr. Homer A. Kent, registrar, immediately.

CHILD EVANGELISM FELLOWSHIP

Students at Grace may volunteer to be teachers of Good News Clubs with the Kosciusko County Child Evangelism Fellowship. About 300 children were reached with the Gospel each week last year. Pictured left to right are Robert Fetter, Dorothy Toirac, Robert Milliken, Mary Dukeshire, and Rosella Cochran. Mrs. Dorothy Toirac was the assistant director of the county organization. She is now serving with her husband, Florent (also a student at Grace last year), as a missionary in Europe.

FOREIGN MISSIONS FELLOWSHIP

The Foreign Missions Fellowship is an agency of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship operating on college campuses. The aims and activities include holding weekly prayer meetings, arranging for missionary speakers and films, providing prayer literature for the tower prayer room, and promoting interest in missions among the students. More than one student has received the vision of fields white unto harvest through these meetings.

THE SIGN OF GRAY HAIRS

By John C. Whitcomb, Jr.

Concerning the nation of Israel in his own day, the Prophet Hosea had to say a dreadful thing: "Strangers have devoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, gray hairs are here and there upon him, yet he knoweth not" (Hosea 7:9).

In his sermon on this text, Dr. G. Campbell Morgan points out some interesting things. He says that in the physical realm it is entirely contrary to nature to be ignorant of the appearance of gray hairs. Some may try to pull them out, or even dye them, but their presence is keenly felt! In the spiritual realm, however, such ignorance is all too common.

It was said of Samson that "he wist not that the Spirit of God had departed from him." How tragic! We can thank God that since Pentecost the Spirit departs from no believer. But in many a Christian believer there has set in a process of gradual spiritual decline which is tragic because it is unconscious and unnoticed. Perhaps, in the round of daily plans and activities, we may not realize that, spiritually speaking, gray hairs are here and there upon us, but our closest friends will notice it and, what is most important, GOD sees it. It must have been rather shocking for the church at Ephesus to be told by God: "Thou hast left thy first love."

How can we, as God's children, avoid this tragedy of unconscious spiritual decline in our lives? Here is the answer: Look upon the Lord Jesus in all His glory and grace. In the flawless mirror of God's Word, the light of His glory will clearly expose the flaws in your life. That is not a tragedy. That is the first step to victory and restoration. To remain ignorant of those gray hairs is the tragedy. Why not come to Jesus your Lord today and say to Him, "Lord Jesus, show me myself in the light of Thy glory. Help me by Thy grace to walk in Thy strength today." And then the gracious Lord will speak to your heart these words of comfort: "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint" (Isa. 40:31).

INTEREST SHOWN IN SEMINARY BOOKLET ON RSV

As a result of favorable reviews printed in such magazines as the Sunday School Times, the Christian Beacon, the Sword of the Lord, and others, the seminary's 40-page booklet, "Which Version?" is being ordered from every part of the country. Hundreds of orders have come to the office, and many, having ordered a single copy, are reordering in quantities. The booklet is a critical evaluation of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. Eleven members of the seminary faculty participated in writing it. Read it yourself. Secure extra copies for your friends. The price is 15c a copy; eight copies for $1.00.

GRACE TRUMPETERS RECORDINGS AVAILABLE

Recently at the Rodeheaver Music Studios at Winona Lake, the Grace Trumpeters made recordings, and a phonograph record (78 RPM) is now ready for distribution. The record contains three of the numbers heard by thousands during the summer tour of the Trumpeters. Included are "Wonderful, Marvelous, Yet True," "Jesus Saves," and "Saved by Grace." The record may be secured by sending $1.05 to the seminary, together with your name and address. Or if you prefer, you may order it sent c. o. d. The latter will involve a slight collection charge. We are sure that many who heard the Grace Trumpeters during the summer will want a recording, and many others into whose churches the men could not come will appreciate hearing them for the first time.

The address of Rev. Walter Lepp is now Box 265, Winona Lake, Ind. (Change Annual, p. 70.) Brother Lepp closed his ministry at the Hagerstown, Md., church August 2, with nearly 1,000 people attending the services of the day, and important decisions for Christ were made. The congregation and auxiliaries presented gifts to the Lepps.

On July 30 the Lake Odessa, Mich., church gave a welcoming reception and presents to Pastor and Mrs. Robert Griffith. Evangelist William Smith, Washington, D. C., preached there August 9.

The Winchester, Va., church, pastored by Paul E. Dick, has scheduled Rev. Godfrey O'Rear for August 23 and Bro. Robert Kerns for August 30. Bro. Kenneth Armstrong was the preacher August 16.

Camp Grace, near Woodstock, Va., sponsored by the Atlantic and Southeast Districts, had 326 campers in its two-week camp period.

Pastor Henry G. Rempel was called unanimously and given a 10-percent salary raise, plus traveling expenses, to continue as pastor of the Los Angeles, Calif., Second church. He was elected moderator of the California Conference of Brethren Churches for next year.

The South Bend, Ind., church, pastored by W. Russell Ogden, plans to enter simultaneously the Christ for Everyone campaign and the Christian Life Sunday school contest October 1.

The Sharpville, Ind., church has called Russell Konves, a member of the Mansfield, Ohio, church and a middler in Grace Seminary, to be its pastor effective August 1.

The Modesto, Calif., Brethren Christian Center has secured Rev. Robert Cover as supply pastor.

Pastor Russell H. Weber has moved to 835 Spruce St., Hagerstown, Md. (Change Annual, p. 72.)

The Conemaugh, Pa., church has secured Rev. H. W. Nowag as supply pastor for August while Pastor Stanley Hauser is on vacation.

The address of Rev. Robert Bates is in care of Mr. L. H. Bates, 4630 Live Oak St., Bell, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 67.)

Rev. C. A. Nicola preached at the Uniontown, Pa., church August 2, according to Pastor Clyde K. Landrum's report.

The new address of Curtis C. Mitchell, interim pastor of the Bellflower, Calif., church, is 9302 Flower St., Bellflower, Calif.

Miss Elna Fisher, of the Long Beach, Calif., Second church, and a 1953 graduate from the Long Beach Brethren High School, was awarded a six-week scholarship to study piano this summer at the Institute of Music, St. Louis, Mo.

The Sunnyside, Wash., church accepted Pastor Herbert E. Collingridge's request to be released September 1, as he had already accepted the pastorate of a church at King's Gardens.

The San Bernardino, Calif., church, pastored by Lyle W. Marvin, held a vacation Bible school July 20-31 with an enrollment of 102, an average attendance of 78, and with 138 people at the closing program. The offerings totaled $75. Ten children received Christ as Saviour and 25 made other decisions during the two weeks.

The Fremont, Ohio, church called and gave a salary increase to Pastor Lester E. Pifer for next year. Prof. John Rea and Dr. Russell D. Barnard, both of Winona Lake, Ind., preached there July 19 and 26, respectively. The church is broadcasting its morning services during August.

The Ashland, Ohio, church, pastored by Miles Taber, set a new high with 94 people in prayer meeting July 29. During July the morning attendance averaged 347, evening 137, and prayer meeting 82, each of these being a very sizeable increase over July 1952.

Mrs. Leah Harrison, member of the Middlebranch, Ohio, church since 1896, died late in July and her funeral was conducted by her pastor, Edward Lewis, at Hartville.

Bro. Dallas K. Smith, of the Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, church, died July 22.

Miss Lucille Liechty, of the Cleveland, Ohio, church, and Miss Joan Stuibier, of the Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, church, spent their vacations June 22-July 3 helping with the daily vacation Bible school at Clayhole, Ky., where Sewell Landrum is pastor.

Rev. Gerald Smelser, of the Cleveland Hebrew Mission, was the speaker at the Wooster, Ohio, church August 2, according to a report from Pastor Kenneth Ashman. The average attendance during the April-June quarter was 248 in morning service, 163 in evening service, 62 in prayer meeting, and 220 in Bible school.

Bro. Lon Karns preached August 2 at the Clayton, Ohio, church, of which Clair Brickel is pastor.

The Everett, Pa., church voted a salary increase and car-expense allowance for its pastor, Homer Lingenfelter. On August 2 there were 102 people in Sunday school and 101 in the morning service.

Pastor Edward Lewis, of the Middlebranch, Ohio, church, conducted a Bible conference at O'Dell's Lake, Ohio, July 19-25.

Chaplain (Major) Donald F. Carter, who received his commission in November 1943, graduated from the associate chaplain officer advanced course at the Chaplain School at New Rochelle, N. Y., July 30.

Rev. Edward C. Bowlen, a member of the Los Angeles, Calif., First church and pastor of an independent church at Summerland, Calif., requests that it be announced that he is available for a Brethren pastorate. His address is 2230 Harding St., Summerland, Calif.

TREASURES IN ISAIAH 53

By Prof. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., Winona Lake, Ind.

PART IV: THE SORROWFUL AND SMITTEN SERVANT.

In our previous study we saw how the silent and quiet growth of Jehovah's Servant was in itself a stumbling-block to Jewish leaders. They had an entirely different conception of what the Messiah should have been like. Now in verse 3 of Isaiah 53, we find a graphic description of the positive aversion and hostility which the nation in its former ignorance manifested toward the Lord Jesus, Jehovah's righteous Servant. Such hostility finally led to the crucifixion of Christ, thus accomplishing God's eternal plan for the redemption of believing sinners.

Despised and Rejected

Verse 3 contains some interesting words that invite our attention. The word "despised" (nivzeh) carries with it the idea of bitter contempt. In Daniel 11:21 it is translated "a vile person," referring to none other than Antiochus Epiphanes, the most hated person in Jewish history, who is set forth in Scripture as the foreshadowing of Antichrist! Does this give you some conception of how the Jews felt about the Lord Jesus? The phrase "rejected of men" contains a special word for "men" which means men of rank and prestige. With a few feeble exceptions (Nicodemus, Gamaliel, and Joseph of Arimathea), our Lord was totally rejected by the very class of people that should have recognized His claims. When some temple officers were once astonished at the matchless words of Christ, they were crushed with the statement: "Have any of the rulers or of the Pharisees believed on him?" (John 7:48).

The Sorrowing Servant

Now let us glance at that phrase, "man of sorrows." What a contrast to Isaiah 52:13, where Christ startles the nations with His glory! No self-appointed prophet could have imagined such a strange Messiah, and when Isaiah wrote down this Spirit-directed statement, he probably pondered it with wonder and amazement (I Pet. 1:11). Jewish rabbis and modern liberals attempt in vain to identify this person with Jeremiah or Hezekiah or the personified race of Israel. It is in the four Gospels that we find the Person who fits this title: Man of Sorrows. Did Christ ever laugh? Hardly. But He often wept in the presence of sin and its awful results. "We have all seen grief and sorrow in our time; no one can live long without doing so, God knows, but it is not one sorrow or two that makes one 'a man of sorrows,' nor one meeting or two with grief that makes him the acquaintance of it."

Verse 4 begins a new section in the chapter, in which repentant Israel confesses that the sufferings of Jehovah's Servant were altogether of a different character from what they had supposed. To consider the last part of the verse first, they "did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted." Like Job's friends, they concluded that His awful sufferings were the results of His own awful sins of blasphemy and Sabbath-breaking. They measured the sin of this Person by the sufferings He endured. They thought that He had been "stricken" in the sense of being afflicted with a hateful, shocking disease like leprosy, even as King Uzziah was "stricken" (same word) with leprosy when he presumed to approach the temple altar as a priest (II Chron. 26:20).

The Disease-Bearer

But how utterly different are men's thoughts from God's thoughts (Isa. 55:8)! Christ said that "that which is highly esteemed among men is abomination in the sight of God" (Luke 16:15). When we come to the Scriptures, we must be prepared to have our natural view of things destroyed and built anew. So far as Messiah's sufferings were concerned, the true situation was as follows: "He hath borne our griefs and carried our sorrows." The word "griefs" in this verse (as in verse 3) really means diseases, and is so translated in Matthew 8:17. Now Jesus did not come to the world to show men how to cure sickness without medicine (as some cults claim), but rather to demonstrate by His healing of men's bodies that He was competent to heal men's souls. The final proof of this statement is to be found in Matthew 9:6. Thus the physical healings of Christ's ministry were outward pledges and tokens of the full results of Calvary. Someday the body of every believer will be raised incorruptible (I Cor. 15:52), but now physical healing is only temporary and occasional, according to God's will (Jas. 5:15). Permanent soul-cure is the order of this age for those who believe on Christ; permanent body-cure is yet ahead for those whose sins are being forgiven now, by the grace of God. In both cases Christ is the Great Physician, and the cross is the place of curing.

The Sinner's Substitute

The word "borne," as used in this verse, is very important. Christ did not merely enter into the fellowship of our sufferings and pains, as modernists would have us believe, but He took upon Himself the judicial sufferings which we deserved to bear, and therefore not only took them away, but bore them in His own Person, that He might deliver us from them. This is what is meant by substitutionary atonement as the Bible teaches it. These three verses of Isaiah 53 (4, 5, 6) contain one of the clearest expressions of this truth in all of Scripture. This proves conclusively that your sins and mine were the real answer to the cry of our Saviour from the cross: "Why hast thou forsaken me?"

All of us have experienced a B. C. (before Christ) period in our lives, when indeed "we esteemed him not," or reckoned Him as having no real importance in the scheme of our lives. But every one of us, as believers, can now rejoice in the fact that He "hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows." Hallelujah, what a Saviour!

Evangelistic Crusade Sends Second Team Into Field at Once

By Rev. R. Paul Miller

The second team is led by Rev. Walter A. Lepp as evangelist. He is in charge of the group. Bro. Frank Coffin will be the song leader and Rev. Charles B. Bergerson will be the pianist-organist. Brethren Coffin and Bergerson will care for the children's work, youth work, and radio programs. Following is the schedule for the coming season:

September 6-27.....Uniontown, Pa.
 September 29-October 11...Riverside, Johnstown, Pa.
 October 13-25.....Leamersville, Pa.
 November 3-15.....Leon, Iowa
 November 17-29.....Garwin, Iowa
 December 1-13.....North English, Iowa
 January 3-17.....Dallas Center, Iowa
 January 19-31.....Cedar Rapids, Iowa
 February 2-14.....Berne, Ind.
 February 16-28.....Camden, Ohio
 March 7-21.....Osceola, Ind.

This second team is now signed up through the summer and fall of 1954, and applications are now coming in for 1955. All requests for meetings with either of the teams should be sent to the office of the Crusade, Box 28, Berne, Ind.

First Crusade Team Closes Five Months of Work in the West

The first team began meetings in March at the First Brethren Church of Long Beach, Calif., followed by campaigns in South Gate, Calif.; Phoenix, Ariz.; the Brethren Christian Center, Modesto, Calif.; Artesia, Calif.; Temple City, Calif.; and Imperial Village, Calif.—a total of seven meetings.

The meetings at Phoenix, Temple City, and Imperial Village were held in the tent. All were new fields except Long Beach and South Gate. Artesia has a location right next to a day school that the Lutherans or Roman Catholics would give anything to get. It is great. The Temple City congregation made decision during the meeting there to go ahead at once with their building program. Bids were already agreed upon. This is a marvelous field with limitless possibilities.

Imperial Village is a new section near the First church of Los Angeles, and the tent campaign there was launched by this congregation. The tent location was right in the midst of a fast-growing section where thousands of homes have no church at all. Thousands are under course of construction right now. A new church will undoubtedly result from this effort. The Sunday school had already started before the meeting closed. We found the most outstanding group of soul-winners here of any of the meetings. Many decisions were made. God really glorified Himself. Rev. Glenn O'Neal, pastor of the First Brethren Church, has a great vision of this opportunity.

God Provides for Return of the Tent From California

Bro. Kenneth Peters, of Covington, Ohio, very generously hauled our tent out to Phoenix. Bro. Oscar Rewh, of Artesia, hauled it from Phoenix to Temple City. We were stumped as to how to get it back to the East, where it was scheduled for the summer of 1954. Then our next-door neighbor, near our home in Berne, Ind., Wesley Amstutz, a very fine Christian man, has offered to haul it free of cost back to Berne in September. This was a real answer to prayer, weeks of it. We praise God for His gracious working for us.

A Farmer Said to Me the Other Day—

"Brother Miller, I like the spirit of the Evangelistic Crusade, which doesn't hunt the easy places, but goes out where it is hard, and where the need is greatest and works there for Christ. I am selling some hogs next week and want to help you. What do you need most?"

This Is What I Told Him—

"We need $450 for our new Crusade songbooks. (We use these for our tent meetings where there are no others.)

"We need $150 repairs on the car.

"We need $50 repairs for the tent.

"We need a car for the second team.

"We need $250 for advertising, signs, etc.

"We need a P. A. system for the second team.

"We need $250 for soul-winning literature.

"We need $2,000 for each team to make up the deficits from evangelizing new fields where offerings fall short."

BUT FAR MORE THAN MONEY, WE NEED THE POWER OF GOD TO WIN MEN FOR CHRIST! If you cannot go, then pray for and help those who do go.

PRAY FOR THE CRUSADE.

PRAY FOR LOST SOULS.

PRAY FOR A GREAT REVIVAL.

Fall Schedule for the First Team

Sept. 13-27...Martinsburg, W. Va.
 Oct. 4-25.....Hagerstown, Md.
 Nov. 1-15.....New Troy, Mich.

THE BRIGHT SIDE OF A PREACHER'S LIFE

By Rev. Walter A. Lepp, Winona Lake, Ind.

(This is the farewell message delivered by Pastor Lepp at the Grace Brethren Church in Hagerstown, Md., August 2. This service was also broadcast over the same radio station on which the Family Altar broadcast has been presented for the past 11 years.—Editor.)

In Philippians 4:1 we read: "Therefore, my brethren dearly beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, my dearly beloved."

This is what Paul said as he expressed his love for and confidence in the people to whom he had ministered at Philippi. But I feel that it is just as appropriate for me to express this sentiment as I look back over the past eight years and seven months of labor in your midst.

The great cry in all denominations today, including our own, is: "God, give us men, God-called men, men with broken hearts for the lost, and yet men with stout hearts who will be faithful witnesses for Christ." But very few respond. I believe that one of the reasons for this may well be found in the fact that the life of a preacher is usually pictured as dull, filled with abuse, neglect, and starvation. Now all of these things may well be true of some preachers and their ministry. However, there is a bright side to a preacher's life, and more must be said about the joys and blessings and rewards that belong to those who enjoy the highest calling in this whole world, namely, that of proclaiming the glorious Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. Forgetting then the sermons you may have heard on the hardships of the ministry (and they may well be), the privations of the ministry (and they may well be), and the sorrows of the ministry (and without a doubt there are plenty), let me tell you of the joys of the ministry.

I. IT IS AN INTERESTING WORK.

1. In Digging Into God's Word.

The boys and girls give us a good example of this in the chorus they love to sing, especially at daily vacation Bible school, and they manifest real interest in the Word of God as their teachers do some real digging as well.

"Digging, digging, Hallelujah!

Happy miners we.

Ever digging for the treasure

In God's Word we see;

Hiding nuggets in our hearts,

Mining precious Gold,

Ever storing up the wealth,

The Bible does enfold."

This world has no thrill that can begin to compare with the thrills that await the one who digs into the Book. How can it be otherwise when the answer to every problem is found right in the Book. It was Jeremiah who said: "Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart: for I am called by thy name, O Lord God of hosts" (15:16). He found it most interesting to dig into the Book.

Rev. Walter A. Lepp

2. In Prayer Fellowship.

It is most interesting and profitable to share our burdens and joys, our defeats and victories with others. What cause for rejoicing there is when pastor and people have prayed earnestly and then God answers their prayer. United prayer provides some interesting manifestations such as the shaking of the meeting place (Acts 4:31). We have not witnessed the actual shaking of the building, but time and again we have been shaken out of the rut of indifference, carelessness, and coldness. Indeed it has been interesting to fellowship with you in prayer.

3. In Ministering the Word.

Our work here has been especially interesting in that we have been privileged to minister to such a large variety of people. The radio ministry daily has provided one special interest after another. A letter from a radio friend illustrates this: "My husband and I began the day arguing. By breakfast time the atmosphere was frigid. However, we did declare an armistice until the Family Altar broadcast went off the air. That very morning you said: 'Christians are best known, not by the way they act at the Lord's table, but by the way they act at the breakfast table.' Needless to say, the argument was settled right then and there. Thank you so much for having us in your mind that morning."

II. THE JOY OF SEEING SOULS CONVERTED.

Bishop Oxnam, under fire for his communistic associations, said before a special hearing recently, "I am one of the presidents of the World Council of Churches, perhaps the highest honor that can come to a clergyman." Bishop Oxnam is welcome to his worldly honor, but I would not exchange places with him for all the offices whereof he may boast. There is no greater joy on earth, besides being saved ourselves, than to see souls saved. No wonder Paul said, "My joy and crown." "He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him" (Psa. 126:6). We shall rejoice throughout the countless ages of eternity for the more than 300 souls we have had the joy of kneeling with and pointing to the Saviour while here in your midst. Seventy-five percent of them are in the fellowship of the church, manifesting a changed life and busy for their Lord. Only eternity will reveal how many others we have helped by radio who never informed us. The bright side of the preacher's life reaches its peak at this very point. God give us more preachers with a passion for the lost. Such preachers will rejoice now and forever.

III. THE JOY OF PROGRESS.

We will say very little here, for the facts speak for themselves. But God delights to give preachers the joy of seeing their work grow. There is something wrong with a preacher who is willing to go along at the same dying rate. Nothing would kill this preacher more quickly than to have to shepherd a flock of people who all served as brakemen. It has been a joy to serve a congregation that has had vision and real workers. The total attendance for all services on the first Sunday we ministered here in 1945 was less than 300. Today a few less than 1,000 people will worship here, and how we praise God for this.

IV. THE JOY OF COMFORT-BEARING.

Without this balm of heaven, the ministry would be unbearable. After all, what can man say to those in sorrow except what God hath said. To be able to say to the one who has just lost a loved one, "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord," and then to present that bereaved one to the Father; yes, usher him into the very presence of the God of all comfort—that is joy unspeakable. To be able to point the sorrowing one to the blessed hope found in I Thessalonians 4:13-18, plus many other passages, that is the bright side of the preacher's life.

V. THE JOY OF A CHURCH'S SYMPATHY.

Paul called attention to the fact in Philippians 4:10 that the people to whom he had ministered had wonderfully cared for him. A preacher who has been faithful to God and to His Word, will have 10 members sympathetic and understanding to every one that is not. This congregation has been most sympathetic, most thoughtful. There have been but few who have not held up the preacher's hands. This congregation has been a modern-day example of the great truth found in Hebrews 13:17—"Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you."

You are my joy and my crown. Stand fast in the Lord.

I WALKED THE STREETS OF SODOM

By Rev. Nathan M. Meyer, Winona Lake, Ind.

(Brother Meyer is pastor of the Leesburg, Ind., church and a middler in Grace Theological Seminary. At the time this article was written he was a member of the Flying Seminar of the Winona Lake School of Theology, traveling through western European countries and Bible lands.—Editor.)

Paris is a beautiful city. It is a city of miles of tree-lined boulevards, unnumbered stately monuments, and shady flowered parks. Here memories of the glory that is past dominate the atmosphere.

There is much drinking, but we saw no drunkards. We are told when a drunkard is seen it will probably turn out to be an American.

Rev. Nathan Meyer

Paris is a city of gracious people, very courteous and polite. The people appear gay, laughing, and happy. They told us, "We are like the Americans; we like to have a good time."

This is no compliment to us, because their idea of a good time involves a life of sensuality and lust. One cannot be in Paris half an hour without seeing the proof of this fact on every hand. Large billboards all over Paris display all-but-nude females openly and without shame. Parks and museums are dominated by nude statues of both sexes. It is virtually impossible to visit any of the public monuments or parks without being solicited to purchase obscene pictures. At night richly dressed Parisian girls openly and boldly solicit men to visit their dens of iniquity. Be assured of one thing:

Paris is a 20th-century Sodom. She can no more avert the judgment of God without repentance than could the wicked Cities of the Plain.

Greater Paris is reported to have nearly 6,000,000 people. Among all these people there are apparently only eight small evangelical churches—four Baptist, one semi-Pentecostal, two Plymouth Brethren (one closed), and two Reformed. Yet Paris is a city that is famous the world around for its churches. But these are Roman Catholic, where a dead Christ and his dead mother are worshipped. The result is a "dead Christianity." The renowned Cathedral of Notre Dame has kept its vigil by the Seine for 800 years. Its cool, dark interior is symbolic of the spirituality of those who call it sacred. Its 13-ton bell peals out an empty message and leaves the people in dire need of the gospel story.

Really only a small part of the French population is Catholic by the claim of the Catholics themselves. The rest of the people live in spiritual darkness and worship the gods of the flesh.

Oh, for a modern Jonah to preach to this city! Paris needs Jesus. Without Him they will go communistic. The hour is late.

[For this reason every member of the Brethren denomination ought to pray and give that the testimony the Fredrick Fogle family is giving in this country will be greatly blessed and used of the Lord Jesus for the salvation of souls and for Christ's eternal glory.—Ed.]

Next week: What fatal mistake did France make which set the forces in motion that have brought her today to the brink of destruction?

BE OF GOOD COURAGE

Let us not give heed to gloomy and discouraging remarks. In the name of our great Commander, let us march on to battle and victory. Be of good courage and let us behave valiantly for our God; and let the Lord do that which is good in His sight.—Dwight L. Moody.

Middlebranch, Ohio

Rev. Don Bartlett, member of this church, but a resident of Sharpsville, Ind., conducted a very profitable Bible conference here, closing August 9. The attendance averaged more than 80 people a service.

During the week the church observed the wedding anniversary of the pastor and his wife, and on Monday night (August 3) the congregation surprised Brother Bartlett with cards and money in observance of his 50th birthday anniversary.

The highlight of the week was the ordination service for Brother Bartlett on Friday evening, August 7. Pastor Charles Ashman, of the Rittman, Ohio, church, presided over the service; Pastor Russell M. Ward, of the Cleveland, Ohio, church, delivered the sermon; and Pastor Harold H. Etling, of the Akron, Ohio, church, questioned the candidate and gave the charge.

On August 11 Mrs. Bartlett presided at the installation of the new officers of our Women's Missionary Council.—Edward Lewis, pastor.

Long Beach, California (First)

The daily vacation Bible school of this church this year, July 20-31, under the direction of Mrs. Julius Levering, enjoyed the largest enrollment in history, which was 571. The average attendance for the two weeks was 427. Special features included films, talks, and stories.

The offerings totaled $275, of which $185 was designated for the building of a new chapel on our mission field in Brazil.

There were 46 people who helped in the school as teachers, helpers, story-tellers, and bus drivers. Many decisions were made during the sessions of the school and by the time it had ended some teachers reported that every pupil in their rooms had received the Saviour.

Prior to taking a few weeks' vacation, the chancel choir presented a series of numbers demonstrating "Our Musical Heritage Through the Centuries," under the direction of Paul Wohlgemuth, last Sunday. The series of numbers, including music from the 16th to the 20th centuries, Negro spirituals, and a gospel song, and climaxed with the American anthem, "The Beatitudes," was most enthusiastically received.—Gleaned from Fifth and Cherry Light.

Sunnyside, Washington

During the quarter that closed June 30 the average Sunday-morning attendance was 304 as compared with an average of 266 for the previous quarter. The average for the year closing June 30 was 271, as compared to an average of 230 for the previous year.

The average evening attendance for the quarter was 266, as compared with 205 for the previous quarter, and the average for the year was 192, as compared with 160.

There were 50 confessions of faith in Christ Jesus during the past year and 21 baptisms. During the year six people were lost from the membership and five were gained. There are now 391 members of this church, according to Pastor Herbert E. Collingridge's report.

The church conducted a missionary conference, July 16-19, under the leadership of Rev. and Mrs. J. Keith Altig, pioneer Brethren missionaries to Brazil. Rev. Herman Baerg preached here July 12.

Recently the congregation voted to buy new songbooks as soon as the money is available, and voted to ask Rev. R. I. Humberd to hold a Bible

DON'T SOAR TOO LOW

We have been told of the prairie eagle mortally wounded by a rifle shot. His eye still gleaming like a circle of light, he slowly turned his head and gave one more searching and longing look at the sky. He had often swept these starry spaces with his wonderful wings. The beautiful sky was the home of his heart. It was the eagle's domain. A thousand times he had exploited there his splendid strength. In those far-away heights he had played with the lightnings and raced with the winds, and now, so far away from home, the eagle lay dying because for once he forgot and flew too low.

Is not this a warning for the child of God? "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God" (Col. 3:1-3).—Gospel Herald.

conference here in January 1954. Rev. Joseph Hoffmann, of Los Angeles, Calif., is to speak here August 30.—Gleanings from annual reports to the church.

Los Angeles, California (Second)

Norwalk Brethren Church is the name selected by the congregation for the new work we are beginning in Norwalk and which will become a reality when we move from this location this fall or winter. It was voted to design the Sunday-school department in our new building so that it will be ready for use as a Christian day school.

It was also decided to compile and publish a history of this congregation in connection with our last homecoming services here in our present building this fall. A committee has been chosen to get this history ready for publication.

Rev. Claude Pearson preached for us August 16, and Rev. George Richardson is scheduled to preach here August 23 and 30.—Henry G. Rempel, pastor.

"FOR MY YOKE IS EASY..."

Tomorrow hung over Mother with all the heaviness of a dark storm-cloud. How would she ever get through the day and still crowd into those swift-moving 24 hours all that simply had to be done on that day? Sharon to the hospital for a tonsillectomy; prepare for the junior choir party; clean and straighten downstairs for that wedding in the living room—but why go on? Mother was limp as she faced the day. Satan had her enmeshed in despair coupled with rebellion and self-pity.

"You've put so much responsibility on me, Lord. Why? Is there no end? I've tried to learn the lessons You have taught me. I know I— Oh, dear Father, I must sound like Job with all these 'Ts.' Still—

"No, Althea, you may not have a cracker. I'm getting lunch ready. Go outdoors with the children until I call you."

Now what is that noise out on the lawn? "David, please don't be so rough with Sharon. Come here and empty these wastebaskets I asked you to empty hours ago. Also go make your bed. I get so tired of telling you to do what you know you should do."

"Oh, Mother, can't a fellow play? I was only teasing Sharon. She's a pain in the neck. Why do I have to make my bed? Nobody but our family goes upstairs, so my bed isn't seen. I just wish I was a daddy or mother so I could give orders."

"So do I. Oh no I don't. You'll have those responsibilities on you before we know it. But just remember your mother's words. Life is no bowl of cherries to parents."

"I know it," he grinned as he wheeled around on one foot. "I really don't want to be grown up. I'd like to stay like I am now all the time."

"What do you mean?"

"I'd like to stay 12 years old."

"Why?"

"Oh, 'cause I don't have to take a bath unless you insist. And if my shirt tail sticks out, nobody cares but you. I have fun trying out new things, and I just hate girls—or most of them."

"David!"

"Well, maybe I don't just hate them, but the world would be lots better if there were fewer of them! Anyway, I wish we had all boys in our family. Girls are—well, they complicate things. Bye, I'll go make that bed so you don't feel too disgusted with me."

With a swoosh he was gone and up the stairs. A smile escaped Mother's lips. What a boy he is! So pliable in one sense, so unbending in another.

"See what I mean, Lord?" Mother returned to her combined prayer and complaint. "What assurance have I that he will not grow up to be a 'harum-scarum' in spite of my sweat and tears over him? And not only David. There are eight souls here, Lord, for which You have made me responsible. A friend told me today to rejoice that You have entrusted all these children to me. But that is sometimes hard to do because such a trust is coupled with an awful weight of responsibility. And, Lord, I'm so tired."

"Mommie, shall I set the table?"

"Oh yes, Dorotheann, and thanks for volunteering. I get so tired of having to ask you all to help me. If only you'd all do what you know your regular chores are, the load would be so much lighter."

"I appreciate your voluntary service, too," a Voice seemed to speak to Mother. "When you do all things as unto Me with a glad heart, even though sacrifice is involved, then I rejoice in your love and growth. Dear child, your burden of responsibility is not more than you can bear. I know, because I have made you and know your frame. I know better than you how thankless a job you seem to have. Sometimes you appear to be very ungrateful to Me. But, child, I have called thee by name; thou art Mine. 'Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me. . . . For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light' (Matt. 11:29-30). Believest thou this?"

Mother looked up to find that cloud over tomorrow gone. His yoke is indeed light, for it is buoyed by His grace. And Mother was again refreshed in the knowledge that His "grace is sufficient . . . made perfect in weakness" (II Cor. 12:9).

THAT SINGLE THREAD

J. Stuart Holden was being shown through a large factory where hundreds of looms were spinning very fine linen thread.

The manager of the mill said to Mr. Holden, "So delicate is this machinery that if a single thread of the entire 30,000, which at this moment are being woven, should break, all of these looms would instantly stop."

He stepped to one of the machines and broke a single thread. Suddenly every loom was still and remained so until the thread was rejoined, whereupon the machinery was again in motion.

The mechanical wonder exhibited in the factory that day clearly illustrates that which is spiritual. It is through one act of disobedience, one departure from the will and fear of God, that the blessings of our fellowship with Him are stopped. Not until that thread is rejoined will the joy of the Lord flow again in our hearts. —Good News Broadcaster.

BEFORE BREAKFAST

Morning, and again, dear Lord,

My confidence is fresh in Thee;
Once more I'm strengthened deep inside,

For Jesus still abides in me

Morning, and I here partake
Of His life and majesty.

I am ready now, dear Lord,
To arise and go with Thee.

Anything can happen, Lord,
To enrich my life this very day:
Since Thy Spirit is so near,
Can miracles be far away?

The Long Beach, Calif., Second church, pastored by George O. Peek, had 357 children enrolled in its vacation Bible school, with an average attendance of 253, and 500 people at the closing program July 31. Julius Kuiz, a 19-year-old displaced person from Poland, spoke there on August 9.

The Long Beach, Calif., First church called Pastor Charles W. Mayes to serve there for his eighth year. Rev. Claude Bunzel spoke at the church August 12.

Bro. William A. Keys, a Christian for many years and a member of the Long Beach, Calif., First church since 1949, died August 2. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Alan S. Pearce at Long Beach August 5. Brother Keys is survived by his wife, Mary Ellen.

Rev. John Neely preached twice on August 9 at the Cedar Grove Church of Philadelphia, Pa., and a gospel team from the Philadelphia First church presented a musical program in the afternoon in connection with the Cedar Grove church's 22d anniversary.

The Beaumont, Calif., church, pastored by Gene Farrell, averaged 136 people in morning and 92 in evening services and 157 in Bible school during July, with a total of $1,523 in offerings.

The Seattle, Wash., church is being served by Brethren Ralph MacConahay and Harold Mackey, members of the congregation, while Pastor Thomas E. Hammers is on vacation and at annual conference.

Rev. Gilbert Engelman moved to 4730 Fairfield Ave. South, St. Petersburg, Fla. (Change Annual, p. 68.)

The Rittman, Ohio, church, pastored by Charles Ashman, is now erecting a Sunday school annex and painting the church building.

Bro. George Kern preached at the Uniontown, Pa., church August 9 and Rev. Henry Rempel, a former pastor of the church, spoke there August 16, Pastor Clyde K. Landrum being on vacation.

On the first two Sundays in August the San Bernardino, Calif., church, pastored by Lyle Marvin, had 169 and 168 in Bible school, 111 and 106 in morning, and 46 and 50 in evening services. Dr. Herman Hoyt and Dr. Charles Mayes preached there August 9.

Add Box 94 to Pastor Donald W. Rossman's address at Elderton, Pa. (Add to Annual, p. 71.)

Rev. and Mrs. Hill Maconaghy arrived at Buenos Aires, Argentina, August 12 to begin their third term as missionaries in that land.

Rev. and Mrs. Lowell Hoyt, Denver, Colo., became the parents of a daughter, Nelda Louise, June 27.

The Chambersburg, Pa., Pond Bank church called Bro. William Wiles as pastor. He is a member of the Hagerstown, Md., church, living at 905 Marion St. in that city. He graduated from Grace Seminary in the class of 1953. Present pastor at Pond Bank, Edward Clark, resigned to enroll at Grace Seminary this fall.

Requested announcement: Rev. George Richardson is secretary of the California Conference of Brethren Churches. He lives at 5853 W. 88th St., Los Angeles 45, Calif. His telephone number is ORegon 8-7954.

Rev. and Mrs. Galen Lingenfelter, Buena Vista, Va., became the parents of a daughter, Glenna Gay, on July 15.

Bro. Ben Butler, Leamersville, Pa., died at the age of 83 years. Pastor Robert D. Crees conducted the funeral July 21.

At this writing, Rev. Lee Jenkins expects to report at the Navy Chaplain School, Newport, R. I., on or about August 27.

The South Gate, Calif., church, pastored by Alfred Dodds, held a vacation Bible school July 20-31 with an enrollment of 136, average attendance of 85, and 23 public decisions were made. The offerings totaled $86 and were turned over to the Altig boat fund for Brazil. Dr. Gerald Stanton preached at this church August 16 and Rev. Don McLain on August 23.

Bro. Max Williams, of the Long Beach, Calif., Second church, expects to join Evangelist R. Paul Miller September 1 as director of music and children's worker on the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade team.

Rev. George Kinzie preached at his home church, the Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church, August 9, reports Pastor Clyde G. Balyo.

Bro. Andrew C. Henderson, 87-year-old member of the Johnstown, Pa., First church, died August 6. His pastor, Dr. W. A. Ogden, conducted the funeral at Johnstown August 10.

Bro. John W. Evans has resigned as pastor of the Dayton, Ohio, Bethany church and is moving to Winona Lake, Ind., where he is enrolled in the fall semester of Grace Seminary.

Rev. R. I. Humbert recently spoke at Columbiana, Ohio, where Rev. Alton Witter teaches a Bible class, and at our church in Covington, Ohio, August 9, where Rev. James Young is pastor.

The address of Rev. Robert W. Betz, who is now a member of the Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church, is 2414 W. Coolidge St., Phoenix, Ariz. The family moved there for the daughter's health.

Bro. Conard Sandy accepted the pastorate of the Harrisburg, Pa., church, effective September 1, after which date his address will be 2200 Kensington St., Harrisburg, Pa. (Change Annual, p. 77.) Be sure to omit his name from any and all mail intended for the Brethren Missionary Herald Company to facilitate delivery of the mail.

Bro. Richard Grant, of Massillon, Ohio, has been called to the pastorate of the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, church, effective September 6. He was graduated from Grace Seminary in 1952.

Bro. Raymond Thompson, a 1953 graduate from Grace Seminary, began his work as pastor of the Modesto, Calif., Brethren Christian Center August 16.

The Temple City, Calif., church, pastored by Leo Polman, had the groundbreaking for their new building August 9 and the contract has been signed for its erection.

A few days ago our young people were enjoying the fellowship of an outing, including a weiner roast to finish out the evening. After we had the fire burning brightly, one of the girls of the group said: "Do you think we have enough fire now, or should we add a little more wood?" To her question I quickly replied: "That depends on how long you want the fire to burn. If you want it for roasting weiners and marshmallows then the fire is just right, but if you want to have it for a sing-time after refreshments, we better keep it burning." "You know the song, 'Throw Another Log on the Fire?'" she queried; and of course she had caught the idea.

Admonition From Paul

As several of them went out after more wood, I thought about a verse of Scripture that I had recently read. The Apostle Paul, writing to the Romans under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, said: "Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord" (Rom. 12:11). One translator of this verse has suggested: "Not slothful in business, maintain the spiritual glow, serving the Lord." Keep the fire burning!

What a graphic picture this is for the Christian! How possible it is for a Christian to maintain his spiritual position, keep up his prayers, his service, his giving—yes, every act which God has suggested we ought to do—and yet lose his "spiritual glow." Somehow we lose the fire that was ours when first we came to know Christ as our Saviour. One old preacher put it like this in a sermon topic one Sunday: "Saints, Sinners, and Cinders." His preacher friend, seeing the advertisement, said: "I understand the first two, 'saints and sinners,' but what about this 'cinders'?" To this query the old pastor replied, "Oh, those are the 'burnt-out saints.'"

Preparation for the Glow

Now of course if we are going to maintain the spiritual glow the first essential is that the fire must be well laid. Boy Scouts are taught that a fire must be well laid if it is to burn—paper, wood, then charcoal or coal, and then light the fire. If your experience is like mine you know that a fire is hard to get started and it pays big dividends to lay it well. It is true of the spiritual life. If the fire of our lives spiritually has gone out, perhaps we better check up to see that it was "well laid" in the beginning. There must be the regenerating work of the Holy Spirit who brings us into Christ. Paul said: "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ" (I Cor. 3:11). Make sure that the fire was not just a bit of enthusiasm or a mere profession. James Stewart has well said: "Today Satan is giving us a false work of evangelism in order that we might be deceived and satisfied and no longer yearn for the real thing."

Fuel for the Fire

Another essential in building a fire is that we do not add green or damp wood to the fire for it will just not burn. It will even cause the flame that is already burning to die out. How easy it is in these days in the spiritual life to add damp and green wood to the fire. Difficulties come and we allow them to smother the fire. Failure and disappointment are tools of the Devil used more and more to dampen the fires of Christians. A bit of criticism from those who ought to know better is one more piece of green wood; and what shall we say of all those things in life which in themselves seem so harmless and yet become "wood that dampens"? Time-consuming pleasures rob us of time with the Lord, and money-consuming recreations cause us to rob God of His tithes and offerings.

In writing to the Thessalonians, Paul said: "Quench not the Spirit" (I Thess. 5:19). The word "quench" means literally "lower the burning point." The only way to put out a fire is to lower the heat of the burning object. Hence, Paul was saying, "Do not do anything that will put out the fire, that will hinder or even slow down the work of the Holy Spirit."

Feeding the Fire

Sometimes the fire goes out because not enough of the right kind of material has been put on the fire to keep it burning. It is not enough just to keep damp or green wood off the fire, but we must put the right kind of wood on the fire. When there is nothing more for the fire to feed upon, the fire just naturally burns out. So too in our spiritual lives the fires need to be fed.

Reread the 12th chapter of Romans, for there Paul reveals the secrets for a burning fire. He suggests in verse 12 that there must be continuing or unceasing prayer. Have you found it true in your own life? One day or even a part of the day without prayer and the fire dies down a bit. With a world lost and dying, how can we permit the prayer life to be such a side issue? Verses 13-15 tell us that there must be constant activity in the service of the Lord, not of necessity, but gladly. Failing to serve we fail to shine. It is as we go that we glow. He said: "Go . . . and lo I am with you always." How many spiritual fires have burned brightly at first only to die out shortly because of inactivity in the service of the Lord?

Then of course there is feeding upon the Word of God, the cultivation of spiritual companionships, and being kindly affectioned one toward another.

If you have lost your spiritual glow, then wait upon Him who alone can rekindle our hearts. The poet has put it in words for us when he said:

"Holy Spirit, Love Divine,
Glow within this heart of mine.
Kindle every high desire,
Perish self in Thy pure fire."

THE FOUNTAIN OF LIVING WATERS

By Rev. Ben Hamilton, Winona Lake, Ind.

Annually rock hunters go into the deserts of California and Arizona in quest of gems. Armed with picks and other geological equipment, the seekers hope to find stones that will make treasured additions to their collections or specimens that will prove financially profitable. One such hunter once lost his way during his first venture into the desert. He used the water in his canteen too freely. The glimmering circle of aquamarine temptingly invited him to drink thereof. The lure was a mirage and the shimmering object was as dry as the rest of the desert. Had the man hacked the nearby barrel cactus with the pick used to crack rocks his thirst could have been quenched and, refreshed, he could have returned to civilization. His ignorance of a true fountain of water, sealed up in a prickly cactus, was one rock hunter's undoing.

Christ, the Fountain

Centuries earlier a Samaritan woman was in a like predicament. She had access to well water but she was unacquainted with the true Fountain of Living Waters. Christ said to the woman: "If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water" (John 4:10). Being a Samaritan, the Sychar woman did not know the Scriptures properly. If she had, it is possible that she might have known that Jesus was offering Himself as the Lord, the Fountain of Living Waters, mentioned in Jeremiah 17:13. Be not quick to condemn the Samaritan woman for not identifying Christ correctly at once. Many men thirst for knowledge and spiritual security and find it not. For they trust in erroneous fountains and quaff poisoned waters. Today there are those who, like Israel of old, know the Lord is the Fountain of Living Water but have rejected Him. But only that living water, which is the gift of God, can provide salvation. That living water is available only through

Christ, the Fountain That Heals

Having been described as the Fountain of Living Waters in Jeremiah 17:13, the prophet then goes on to say, "Heal me, O Lord, and I shall be healed. . . ." The word "heal" is the rendering of the Hebrew word which means "to sew together or to mend." Spiritually, Israel had indeed fallen apart. Many are in the same category today. They profess a semblance of godliness. They believe in Christ—as a historical person. Others believe in Him, but Mary is greater, they claim, because she bore Him and through Mary Christ came into the world. To some Christ was a great teacher, a wonderful example. Even the Mohammedans pay respect to Christ, so long as He is considered a messenger inferior to Mohammed—so long as Jesus is not said to be God.

All such persons are spiritually in disrepair when they substitute the god of their desire for Jesus. They drink of the alkali-polluted water-holes of the desert instead of the sparkling oasis water of life that issues from the true Fountain of Living Waters. But as certain mineral waters can help ease bodily pains and restore a measure of health, so the Lord, the Fountain of Living Waters, can more accurately, efficiently, and permanently mend the broken-down soul. Are the waters of human philosophy and knowledge dissatisfying your soul, oh friend afar from Christ? Turn unto Jesus, the Fountain of Living Waters; drink deep and be mended, thirsting no longer.

Christ, the Fountain That Cleanses

Zechariah 13:1 shows that the day will come when Jesus, the Fountain of Living Waters, will come to David's house to cleanse of sins which David's house and Jerusalem's inhabitants possess. In Christ's death we see that the Lord is a Fountain not only of water, but that His blood is that fountain into which sinners can plunge and come forth cleansed of their transgressions and iniquities. Jesus' offer to the nation Israel was a partial fulfillment of the prophecy in Zechariah 13:1.

But Christ's sacrifice at Calvary was not limited to cleansing the sins of the Jews. The cleansing power of the Saviour's blood extends to all of whatsoever nation who will plunge into the Fountain, which is Christ. Jesus' offer of cleansing which he made to the Samaritan woman was a foreshadowing of the fact that Christ is the Fountain that cleanses all who seek Him.

Stained with sin, no person can please God. Sin—whether it be defiant rebellion against God, following a crooked path away from a straight moral walk, or sin that misses the mark which is God's will for a person—is a barrier between God and man. Only Christ, the Fountain of Living Waters, can cleanse and make it possible for God's salvation to work fully in one's life.

Christ, the Fountain That Satisfies

Regular water supplies can satisfy the thirsting cravings of men's bodies only so long as the water source exists. Or if the water becomes polluted with foreign elements, then the water ceases to satisfy. It becomes detrimental.

In the new heaven and the new earth, described in Revelation 21, Christ will give to the thirsty from the Fountain of the Water of Life. That is, Jesus Himself will conquer thirst. And the water which is so provided will satisfy. The supply will never diminish, for Christ will supply freely. This suggests not merely abundance but an eternal abundance. But nobody needs to wait until the future to taste of the Fountain of Living Waters to be satisfied. Now is the acceptable time.

Annually millions are going out into the world hunting the world's treasures and pleasures. Armed completely for extracting everything the world has to offer, those seeking new conquests or successful financial gains hope to be satisfied. Millions of

HOW TO PRAY

FOR YOUR MISSIONARIES

THE life of a missionary is not easy. . . . Adjustments must be made constantly to climate, food, and strange people. . . . Further adjustments are necessary as the missionary relates himself to the intricate mechanism of modern activities. He works as a part of a delicate spiritual machine.

The successful missionary must make these adjustments:

. . . . . adjustment to God. . . . . This is absolutely essential as he stands alone in the midst of heathenism.

. . . . . adjustment to the native church. . . . . He is a spiritual father whose children must be taught principles of self-support and self-propagation as early as possible.

. . . . . adjustment to foreign governments. . . . . He is there by their permission and is granted their protection. The rising tide of nationalism often makes his position difficult.

. . . . . adjustment to his fellow missionaries. . . . . He is a part of a team, all called of God to do a great work . . . but no one of them is entitled to be the "star player."

. . . . . adjustment to the field committee (field council). . . . . His guidance from the Lord must coincide with the corporate guidance of the group responsible for the development of his territory.

. . . . . adjustment to his home church. . . . . Overburdened and overextended in his own work, he must keep those at home informed, that their interest and support may continue.

. . . . . adjustment to his society. . . . . Furloughs cannot be times of rest. . . . Deputations, convention tours, special assignments command his time and energy.

. . . . . adjustment to his family. . . . . He is separated from his children as they are sent off to school on the field, or left at home; from his wife and family during times of service at home and on the field.

Obviously these adjustments require that the missionary be a great Christian as well as a faithful worker. . . . At bottom, all problems on the foreign fields, as at home, are spiritual. Details will often take care of themselves as we pray for the spiritual lives of the missionaries.

DOES IT PAY TO PRAY? Commenting on their recent trip south into Baja California, Mrs. Walter Haag, one of our Brethren missionaries, wrote as follows: "One fact I would mention especially is this—the most difficult portion of the road was to be conquered on the 15th, and for this we were glad. Why? Because that's the Day of Prayer, you know, and we can bear testimony over the months that the number of people praying for you makes a big difference. That day we repeatedly said, 'Thank you, Lord.'"

TREASURES IN ISAIAH 53

By Prof. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., Winona Lake, Ind.

PART V: THE PIERCING AND CRUSHING OF THE GOD-MAN.

The very heart of Isaiah's prophecy concerning the Servant of Jehovah is found in verses 4-6. We have seen that in these three verses the doctrine of substitutionary atonement is presented as clearly as in any part of the Bible. The emphasis of this section, which we may call the "Atonement of the Servant," is upon the fact that He died for our sins. If you will underline in red the words "he," "him," and "his," and then underline in black the words "we," "us," and "our" in these three verses, you will get a graphic idea of what God means by substitutionary atonement. The Apostle Peter said: "Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God" (1 Pet. 3:18).

The Piercing

If we dig beneath the surface of verse 5 we will discover some startling truths concerning the death of Christ. First, let us look at that word "wounded." The Hebrew word (kalal) really means "pierced through," and there is no stronger expression in the language to denote a violent and painful death. Is it not interesting that the word "pierced" was used here as a description of Messiah's death, instead of the words "hanged," "beheaded," or "stoned"? These were the three most common forms of execution in Old Testament times, and crucifixion was not even known to the Jews until its introduction by the Romans! How clear an example is this of the inspiration of Holy Scripture! The idea of piercing is also found in Psalm 22:16 and Zechariah 12:10, although different Hebrew words are used. It would seem that the Spirit of God used every available means to indicate the form of death which the Servant was to suffer.

The Crushing

In addition to being mortally wounded or pierced through for our transgressions, our Saviour was "bruised" for our iniquities. This Hebrew verb (dakah) is the same as the word for "dust," and it means to break, crush, or shatter. David Baron, the famous Hebrew-Christian scholar, says this word emphasizes "the heavy burden of our sin which He took upon Himself, weighted by the wrath of God." Can you imagine, for a moment, what that word "crushed" suggests? It suggests the infinite weight of accumulated guilt for the sins of all human beings of all ages—past, present, and future—which our blessed Lord bore in His own body on the cross within a few hours of time.

Prof. Whitcomb

How was that possible? It was possible because Christ was not a sinful, finite man. He was and is the sinless, infinite GOD-MAN, whose momentary separation from the Father's face in vicarious atoning death had infinite judicial value for the redemption of lost sinners. Let us attempt to analyze it this way: (1) The price of redemption for a sinful human race was a sinless, infinite, human, vicarious death. (2) Such death involved the separation of the human spirit from the body, and from God. (3) Only God could pay an infinite price. (4) But the Triune God had no human body and therefore could not die. (5) Thus the Second Person of the Triune God became Man by virgin birth (thus avoiding the stain of Adamic sin), and laid down His holy, infinite life as GOD-MAN, in order to meet the demands of God's justice for the redemption of lost sinners. Love found a way. "Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other" (Psa. 85:10). What a God we have!

The Resulting Peace

To bring out the full meaning of the rest of this verse, let us paraphrase it as follows: "The punishment which was necessary to bring about our peace and spiritual well-being was placed upon Him; and through means of the stripes and welts inflicted upon Him, we were made sound and well." The word "peace" in Hebrew (shalom) means far more than just the cessation of hostilities. It carries with it also the idea of soundness of health and soul, harmony between God and His redeemed ones, and therefore spiritual prosperity which leads to eternal well-being. Jesus is the Prince of Peace in this ultimate sense. As the risen Lord He said to His disciples: "Peace be unto you" (John 20:21). "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Rom. 5:1).

Verse 6 has been called the John 3:16 of the Old Testament, because it contains the Gospel "in a nutshell." It is of vital importance because it presents a clear-cut analysis of human sin, it gives a powerful description of Calvary, and it shows how the universal scope of sin has been matched by the universal scope of Christ's atonement.

Two Kinds of Sin

Human sin may be considered as having a twofold aspect: racial and personal. Both of these are presented in verse 6. The phrase, "All we like sheep [or rather, a flock of sheep] have gone astray," means that all mankind, as a complete group, has followed Adam in race sin and guilt. The fact of race guilt is proved by Scripture and by daily experience. The Apostle Paul said: "Through one man [Adam] sin entered into the world . . . and so death passed unto all men, for that all sinned [in Adam]" (Rom. 5:12 ASV; compare also Psa. 51:5 and 58:3). Daily experience proves it, because all men die—even tiny infants.

The explanation for this lies in the fact that the human race is an or-

FRANCE'S FATAL MISTAKE

By Rev. Nathan M. Meyer, Winona Lake, Ind.

This is the second article written by Pastor Meyer, a member of the "Flying Seminar" of the Winona Lake School of Theology. Other articles by Brother Meyer will appear as he is able to write them on his trip. The next one will be entitled, "Down in Heaven and Up in Hell."—Editor.

As our party of 38 tours the great cities of Europe and the Middle East we enjoy evening lectures that have a distinct bearing on the places we visit.

For an example, last night Dr. T. Leonard Lewis, president of Gordon College, reminded us of these facts and events which account for the ungodly condition of Paris today.

France has a long and bloody history. Our interest centers in that part of her history which is related to her spiritual welfare.

We have just visited the palaces of the kings of France. They are indescribable from the standpoint of continental splendor and grandeur. With the second last king to occupy the great Royal Palace in Paris, before a new one was built at Versailles, we begin our story.

Henry IV favored the Protestant movement, but when he wore the crown of France he abandoned the Protestants for reasons of expediency and turned Catholic.

In Germany Martin Luther had a simple and forceful way of presenting the Gospel to the people so that the Reformation in Germany took roots quickly. But John Calvin labored in France and, while he was an intellectual giant, he did not get his message across to the people. Consequently the great Reformation never swept France like it did Germany.

But God always has His few. God always honors those who honor His Son. So the church did grow, and by 1560 it is believed there were 50 organized churches in France and 2,000 unorganized Protestant fellowships. There were approximately 400,000 Christians in France at the time when to embrace the Protestant cause meant death.

Numerous persecutions, edicts, and evacuations took place. Between 1522 and 1574 literally hundreds of thousands of Protestants and their books were banned and burned. Christians were forbidden to meet in churches. The religious wars followed and there was terrible strife and violence. Many thousands of evangelicals were slaughtered.

Being an "ex-Protestant," King Henry IV was instrumental in the issuance of the Edict of Nantes. This official edict gave the Protestants general liberties, but their liberty was short-lived. In 1685 the Edict of Nantes was revoked under Louis XIV. This was France's fatal mistake. It is estimated that rather than stay in France and await certain death about 500,000 Christians fled from that country. France was the loser. Many men of great ability adopted other countries to which they could render their services, and of course with them went the Gospel. So France as a nation not only turned her back on God but turned God's people out.

The men who could have made France a Christian nation were driven out. Thus the blessings that accompany Christianity were forfeited. A choice had been made. Seed had been sown. Today the harvest is being reaped. Paris is ripe for judgment unless someone gets the Gospel of the Lord Jesus to her—quickly.

FORT WAYNE, IND., EDITOR LOOKS AT FRANCE

When read along with the article by Brother Meyer on this page, the following lines by Clifford B. Ward, editor and columnist of the News-Sentinel, of Fort Wayne, Ind., are very significant. Without any comment here is a portion of an article published August 17, 1953.—Editor.

What's the matter with France? That question deserves an answer from anyone able to give it. The entire French nation seems to be on a sit-down strike, protesting the government's move to effect economies and to get the French people to pay their taxes.

It would be my guess that there is more to the French situation than meets the eye. It may be a Kremlin-inspired affair to divert the Western World's attention from the unrest in East Berlin and other spots behind the Iron Curtain. Communist Russia has long had a tremendous influence in France.

How do you explain that a highly nationalistic country, such as France, comprised of a highly intelligent people, should have gone the way it has gone? . . . The French are noted for their logic.

They are not a nation of people gone to seed, and for every Frenchman who is lazy and extravagant, you can produce two Frenchmen who are hard working and excessively thrifty.

The French accepted a false philosophy long ago. They did so when they kissed good-bye to an age of faith and said hello to the so-called age of reason. When they threw out faith in spiritual things, they accepted faith in materialism. Their attitude for a long time has been the one which says, "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow may not see you around."

But what is happening today in France may be much more significant than anything happening behind the Iron Curtain, for the simple reason that it is happening within the so-called NATO area.

When, if ever, are the French going to grow up? Or have they, like a person educated beyond his intelligence, arrived at a state of disbelief where cynicism makes them wonder if survival is worth the effort? But what is going on now in France may be pointing to a long trend in European history.

ENROLLMENTS AT GRACE

Seventy-seven students have already made application to enroll in the two divisions of Grace Theological Seminary, and a large number of inquiries have been received by the school. Thus far there have been 44 applications to the seminary division, and 36 applications to the college division. Pray for young people throughout the country who are now making decisions that will change the whole course of their lives.

"UNTO MANY THAT WERE BLIND HE GAVE SIGHT"

THE TESTIMONY OF A BLIND NAVAHO MEDICINE-WOMAN

By Missionary Evan Adams, Cuba, N. Mex.

Certainly if there is any one group within the boundaries of our own country which suffers from much spiritual blindness it is the Navaho people.

Picturesque America

Most North Americans do not realize that there is paganism and demonism practiced today within their own boundaries comparable to such practices in other parts of the world. Areas spanned by super-highways are not necessarily wrested from the dominion of Satan. And today Satan still holds much of the territory listed in the travel folders as the most picturesque part of our country; he holds the hearts of the inhabitants of this area in fear and darkness such as is difficult for the enlightened white man to comprehend.

The tourist sees the bright handloomed rugs along the well-traveled paved highways of the West and imagines that these portray the life of the Navaho people, full of color, free in the wide-open spaces. But the missionary visits the hogans along the back wagon roads and knows that blackness, fear, poverty, sickness, drunkenness, and demonism are the true designs in the life of these people.

A Blind Woman

Blindness, partial and total, is not an uncommon physical handicap in Navaholand. Mrs. Herbert Pinto is one of our neighbors who has been unable to see the light of day for more than five years. And it wasn't until she had reached the age of 56 that she had the light of the Gospel shining in its full glory in her heart. Though her physical eyesight was good until she was a young woman, she has been spiritually blind since birth.

One day recently while we were visiting with her in the mission chapel she offered a wonderful testimony of her experience of salvation. And then by asking various questions we were able to learn the interesting story of this woman who had lived so long in fear and darkness.

Reception of Saviour

"Recently I accept the Lord Jesus as my Saviour because I really realize that it is true. Hell . . . I am afraid of that place. That's why I want to follow the Lord today. I used to be afraid of many things in our ways [the Navaho life]. Now I am not afraid to die. I feel like I am up in air now."

Then reminiscing she related: "I have had eye trouble since I was a little girl 13 years old. But I have been without any eyes for over five years. Today my heart sees the truth. Even though I am blind I see Jesus standing before me many times. He has a cane [shepherd's crook] like we catch our sheep with. Is that what He looks like? When I pray someone stands in front of me; it must be Jesus. Now I have better eyes—eyes to see Jesus with—eyes in my heart."

The Long Search

Emma Peña spent much time during her teen years going from hospital to hospital on the Indian reservation, seeking treatment for her eyes. During this period she often came under the hearing of the gospel message through the visitation of missionaries and while undergoing treatment in the mission-sponsored hospitals. And she recalled to us that the first time she heard the story of the punishment of hell she was in great fear for many days and nights, and tried to pray.

When she was 18 years old she went one day with her older sister and other Navaho people to a Yei bi'chi dance ceremony near Mexican

Mrs. Herbert Pinto

Springs, Ariz. When the ceremonial was over she couldn't find her sister (who had gone home a day or two before, she later learned), and so she went home with a young man from the Fort Defiance area and became his wife, Mrs. Herbert Pinto. She remained there for several years and raised a family. Of her 11 children, seven are living today. George, one of her younger children, is a student in the mission boarding school. It was the change in the life of her son, Charlie Yazzie, brought about by the Word of God, that caused her to realize the truth of the power of the Gospel to change lives and hearts.

Practice of "Hand-Shaking"

While she was living near Fort Defiance, Ariz., with her new-found husband she learned "hand-shaking" from an old medicine-woman. These "hand-shakers" are the Navaho "diagnosticians" who are called in to divine which type of medicine-man should be called for a certain malady. The Navaho medical practitioners are members of societies which specialize in certain types of illnesses or in certain parts of the body, and it is the duty of the "hand-shakers" to determine which one can best deal with the present ailment. Mrs. Pinto gave the following account of her experiences as a "shaker."

"I would sit beside the person who was sick and extend my arms out over his body. My hands would begin to flutter and I would ask myself each society in turn. When my hands stopped fluttering at the suggestion of a certain medicine-man society I knew that one of these men should be called. In the last few years my hands nearly always stopped at the suggestion of the white man's hospital. I didn't do 'hand-shaking' very often. I was afraid each time I did it. It made my heart hurt with fear."

Control of Evil Power

"Did something take control of you when you were ready to work over the sick one?" I asked.

"Yes, something would take control of my arms, hands, and fingers and make them move around. I know now that it was something evil controlling me. Now that I am a Christian I realize that it was evil," she replied, indicating that the Spirit of God had revealed these things to her. "Now when the medicine-men call for me to 'shake' I tell them no."

"What are you happy about now that you are a Christian?" I asked our blind friend.

"One thing I am happy about?" she replied. "It isn't the money now that makes me happy. But it is life, everlasting life. I'd rather have eternal life than money. We've been told that if we believe we should tell others. I don't think a person has a right to stop us from telling about God's Word when we know it is true."

Description of Heaven

I desired to learn what her conceptions of heaven were, since she had lived so many years in darkness, without the influence of God's Word. And the following was her description:

"All saved ones will be there. No sin will be there. Something pretty up there—real pretty, I guess—I don't know. No black things, only white things will be there. No hard life anymore. Different people will be there, all different colors of people will be there. Only I think I won't have a dark skin up there, only pureness then; some other kind of a body maybe."

Pray and give that more blind Navahos might have the eyes of their understanding opened and behold the "light that shineth in darkness."

These Are They

"And one of the elders answered, saying unto me, What are these which are arrayed in white robes? and whence came they? And I said unto him, Sir, thou knowest. And he said unto me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb" (Rev. 7:13-14).

These are they

Whose hands were sore and blistered;
Whose feet were worn and bleeding
By dragging iron weights of sacrifice
Locked to their ankles of faithfulness;
Whose faces, aged by hunger, drawn by thirst, Ne'er downward glanced at poverty, destruction, death—long eternity;

Whose countenances wore

Wrinkles of forgetfulness
To what was raging round about them,
But gladness and high confidence,
With trustiness and faithfulness in God;

Who have fowled the harsh inveigler's snare;

Who were herded through consuming conflagration,
Through untimely floods,
Through living death,
Ne'er doubting that their Lord would come
And claim His own for everlasting bliss.

They have gained the martyr's crown;

They have fought the winning battle of the faith,
Themselves a wall of victory
From which the cruel companions of the evil one Rebounded in astonishment and wonder
At their seeming weakness, yet unquestioned strength.

They have seen the heights of tribulation,

They have seen the reign of martyrdom,
They have seen the masses of destruction,
They have seen the ruins of the ages—

Yet, through all, their souls have never hardened,

Their spirits never quavered;
For God was theirs.

—These are they.

MOSES AND THE SERPENTS

By Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind.

"Ye must be born again" (John 3:7).

Nicodemus was puzzled. He had come to Jesus by night so he could have a quiet talk with Him. He was a ruler of the Jews and had long studied the law. He knew all about the ordinances and ceremonies, but to be born again! How would it be possible for a grown man to be born again? "Can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born?"

An Absolute Impossibility

But no, not that, for it is an absolute impossibility for anything to lift itself above its source, and if he were to be born again from his mother, he would still be in his present realm, for that which is born of the flesh is still flesh.

There are four realms of existence: the mineral, the vegetable, the animal, and the spiritual. Nothing can by any means lift itself out of its own sphere and into a higher level.

From Mineral to Vegetable

A grain of calcium might look up someday and see a blade of grass. "Oh, I wish I were a blade of grass. Then I could frisk and frolic about in the nice warm breeze and enjoy the sunshine."

But nothing that bit of calcium could do could in any wise lift it up to the plant kingdom. The blade of grass, however, might run its roots down into the lower kingdom and lift the bit of calcium up and transform it from the mineral to the vegetable kingdom.

From Vegetable to Animal

Then one day the blade of grass might look up and see a cow. "Oh, I wish I were a cow. Then I could go to the brook and get a drink whenever I wish, or I could go over and get in the shade of yonder tree."

That blade of grass might put on a nice green coat. It might eat and become a nice plump blade of grass, but it would still be grass and could not in any way lift itself out of its present level of existence. But one day the cow might come along, reach down, and snip off the blade of grass. Immediately the grass would die to the plant kingdom. It would thoroughly lose its identity and be born into the animal kingdom.

Physical to Spiritual

A man, living in the physical realm, might hear a gospel message and learn that there is a realm of joy and peace and immortality in the spiritual realm. He might resolve to pay his debts, be a good neighbor, and enter that realm. But nothing he could do would change his position in the physical or lift him into the spiritual realm of existence.

Rev. R. I. Humberd

However, he might do the very same thing that the blade of grass did. He might yield himself and be born "from above." He might permit the Holy Spirit to reach down and lift him up into the spiritual kingdom. Thus he would die to the old and put on the new life. Old things would pass away, behold all things would become new, because he would be born of the Spirit into the higher realm of existence.

Mystery

But there is mystery here. "How can these things be?" But mystery is all about. Who understands how the blade of grass lifts up and transforms the bit of calcium? Who understands how that same blade of grass can be lifted out of the plant kingdom and into the animal? Verily, these mysteries are as great as those about the new birth of a man, yet we accept them without hesitation because they are happening about us countless millions of times a day.

But everything about us is mystery. We hear the wind rustling the leaves in yonder tree, but we cannot tell the "whence" or the "whither" of its operations. "So is every one that is born of the Spirit" (John 3:8).

But the mystery remained and Nicodemus could not understand, so our Lord brought to his mind the time when Israel was in the wilderness, and God sent fiery serpents among them, and "much people of Israel died" (Num. 21:6). God then directed Moses to make "a serpent of brass, and put it upon a pole," and anyone that would look at the serpent would be healed. "And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life" (John 3:14-15).

Fear Grips Heart

Let us imagine a scene in the wilderness. A man is walking through the small shrubbery in the desert. Suddenly there is a dull thud, a click of evil jaws. Quickly the man jumps to one side, but alas! Those fangs have found their mark; the deadly blow has been given; the terrible venom will do its work. Mortal fear grips his heart as he realizes his fearful condition.

He throws himself to the ground and crawls into the shade of a small bush to await the end. Half an hour passes. Red streaks appear about the wound; his leg throbs with pain; the fever burns throughout his body. His eyes are swollen; there is a sharp pain about his heart—only a short time and that heart will stop; men will find his body. They will dig a hole and he will belong to the forgotten past.

But hark! What is that? A messenger is running through the camp. "Look! Look at the serpent and be healed!"

The Serpent Is Seen

A gleam of hope dawns in the face of the dying man. Utter despair had gripped his heart, but he believes that message. His strength is almost gone, but with a mighty effort he lifts himself to his elbow and then to his knees. His vision is dimmed, but what is that? His eyes catch a glint of sunlight. Yes, it's the brazen serpent.

Instantly the pure warm blood surges throughout his body and he is completely healed. And why is he thus healed? Simply because he believed the message and acted upon it. And just like Moses lifted up the serpent and anyone who would look at it would be healed, so Christ hung on the cross, and anyone who will believe on Him will be saved and born again and enter the realm of the Spirit.

In the Heart

But there is an element here that may seem small indeed, and yet it has been all the difference between heaven and hell to many a precious soul. It may be found in the words "look" and "believe."

If we believe "in our heart," we will be saved (Rom. 10:9). Some have a "head" or an "intellectual" belief. That is, they believe there was a Man by the name of Jesus, and that He died on a cross, but they do nothing personal about it. But to believe unto the salvation of our soul means to do something about it—trust Him; depend on Him; count on Him; commit ourself to Him.

Suppose the dying man would have said to himself, "I believe that message; I believe Moses has made a serpent of brass; I believe he has placed it on a pole; and I believe that if I were to look at it I would be healed." But if he does not look, he will not be healed.

"Faith without works is dead" (Jas. 2:20). Thus the word "look" has in it the element of obedience or of moving to action, and implies true heart faith rather than just "head" acceptance, for before a man would look he would have to believe, and looking is just putting belief into action.

TREASURES IN ISAIAH 53

ganic unity. All men are responsible for Adam's sin, because his sin was our sin. This fact may be rejected by many, but it is a fact nevertheless, for God has not deceived us, nor has He condemned the Adamic race unjustly. We must rest in this assurance (Gen. 18:25).

Personal sins grow out of racial sin, and this aspect of human sin is expressed in the phrase, "We have turned every one to his own way." But thanks be to God, the verse does not end here! It goes on to say, "And the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all." God's only answer to racial and personal sin is CHRIST! Have you found God's answer?

GOING BY THE BOOK

A foreman on deck of a steamship in the shipbuilding yard on the Clyde said to his carpenter, "Well, Scott, I want to talk to you. I'm told you are one of those who say they know they are saved. Is that true?"

"Yes, thank God, I know I'm saved; there is nothing I am more sure of than that," said Scott.

"Well, now," replied the foreman, "that is something I don't understand, how any man can say he is saved as long as he is in this world. I think it is too presumptuous to say that."

"Well," said Scott, "whatever you may say about presumption, it is real to be saved, and know it. What is the breadth of this waterway?"

The foreman, astonished, said, "Why 14 inches all around. What makes you ask that when you know?"

"But are you sure it is 14 inches?" said Scott.

"Certainly."

"But what makes you so sure?" asked Scott.

"Why, I'm going by the book. I'm sure it is 14 inches, for here it is in the book, and I got the book from headquarters."

"Oh, I see," said Scott. "That is exactly how I know I'm saved. I'm just going by the Book. It came from Headquarters. It is God's Book."—O. A. Swanson in Bible Crusader News.

FOUNTAIN OF LIVING WATERS

them put their reliance on quenching their thirst with the wrong kind of water.

Proverbs 14:12 says: "There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death." Are you certain, young man or young woman, starting out on your travel through the world, that the way that seems right to you does not lead to pools of water polluted with false philosophies or to mirages of destruction? Come and walk in the path that leads to Christ, the Fountain of Living Waters that alone heals the broken heart and soul, cleanses all sin, and satisfies the thirsting of men's spirits.

THE WORD IS POWERFUL

Mlle. Jacqueline Leroy, for many years a nursing sister of the Roman Church in Brazil, though a French citizen, has left the Roman Church. In a tour of patients one night, she paused at a bed where a sick man was not sleeping as others, but reading. She asked him about his book. It was a Bible. The humble Bahia laborer, hands trembling with fever, turned some pages and called the sister's attention to I Timothy 2:5: "There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." That led to her conversion. She is now witnessing for Christ in Brazil.—Gospel Herald.

THE SINNER NEXT DOOR

Miss Manning loved a missionary. Before he left for India, he wrote her and asked her to marry him; if she sent no answer, he would consider it a refusal.

She wrote her acceptance at once. Since it was a pouring wet day, her brother offered to take the letter to the post office.

She never saw her lover again. Later she heard he had married someone else. Twenty-five years later the Manning family moved to a new house; in the moving an old coat of her brother's was found. When the pockets were turned inside out, there was the letter, yellow and crumpled; it had never reached the man she loved.

God has given you a letter to the sinner next door. Is it still in your pocket?—Selected.

TO HIS SATISFACTION

A tobacco company sent packs of cigarettes to high-school boys accompanied with this explanation: "We are sending you a pack of our finest cigarettes. We hope you will use them to your satisfaction and want more." One of the boys wrote back, "I received the package of cigarettes and used them to my satisfaction. I steeped them in a quart of water and sprayed our bug-infested rose bushes. Every bug died. These cigarettes are sure good poison. I want more next spring if we have more bugs."—Youth Today.

A TRIBUTE TO MRS. IVA M. KOLB

By Althea S. Miller, Roanoke, Va.

The sweet dignity of her 85 years radiated a glow of warm love over her "girls" who had gathered to honor their beloved leader of yesterday. As she stood to speak, a flood of memories swept over each heart.

Iva M. Kolb Auxiliary

"Forty years ago this group knew we were too old to longer be called Sisterhood girls. At a meeting held at Indian Head Farm in 1913, Sue Cooper, now promoted to glory, made the motion that we resolve ourselves into the Iva M. Kolb Auxiliary. Your enthusiastic response and work carried on down through these 40 years most certainly have justified this resolution, though I must admit I have always felt unworthy of the honor accorded me.

"Through the years the Lord has led us in devious ways. Not all of our girls are with us this happy evening. Some live far away; one is on the mission field; some have gone on ahead. I cannot tell you with words how full my heart is tonight. I am indeed honored above all women that you have accounted our fellowship in the Gospel of sufficient import to meet thus around these tables tonight. . . ."

As Mrs. Kolb spoke on this night of May 16, 1953, in the city of Philadelphia, my mind went back to the tremendous influence for Christ this "Dresden China Lady" (my own pet name for her) has had on all the girls who ever had the privilege of knowing her teaching and leadership. Not only these girls of 40 years ago, many of them now grandmothers, but girls of my own generation and even later have felt and still feel the impact of her life. The very theme of her life's story is faithfulness. It has run as a golden strand down through the years.

Superintendent of Juniors

Iva Kolb's girlhood days were spent in serving the Lord in the Church of the Brethren at Carlisle and Dauphin Streets in Philadelphia. At her marriage she felt led to unite with the church of her husband's choice, which was the First Brethren Church at 10th and Dauphin Streets, also in Philadelphia, during the early years of Louis S. Bauman's ministry. She was immediately asked to be superintendent of the primary department of the Sunday school, which post she held until the completion of the new building at 10th and Dauphin. Then Mrs. Kolb was made superintendent of the junior department and served her Lord there with the utmost efficiency for 34 years. If only it were possible to get a picture of the hundreds of boys and girls who passed through this unusual junior department in those 34 years! God has that picture, however, and His records are ever accurate. But one thing we know: those boys and girls heard the Gospel, and many believed.

Mrs. Miller

The writer well remembers her eagerness to get enough years on her head to get into that junior department. It was a positive thrill to grow up enough to become a part of the junior department of the Sunday school at 10th and Dauphin in Philadelphia. There wasn't a child who didn't love the gentle, winning, love-laden superintendent, Iva M. Kolb. This ministry had to be laid aside when Mrs. Kolb was confined to her home to care for her ill husband. This little-girl-long-since-grown is convinced there never has been another such superintendent or junior department.

Colaborers in the Gospel

Now after all these years we were honoring our much-loved colaborer in the Gospel. Many of Mrs. Kolb's "girls" at this gathering have never been Brethren, but because of this auxiliary they have maintained an interest in Brethren foreign missions and home missions down through the years. Our own missionary, Miss Elizabeth Tyson, long-time servant of the Lord in Africa, is one of this group. She wrote a letter of greeting which was read and much appreciated. Mrs. Clara Trigeer Fairbanks, active member of the First Brethren Church of Long Beach, Calif., is another one of these "girls" and her letter of greeting was enjoyed. The names of Alva J. McClain, Louis S. Bauman, "Daddy" Cassel, and many other Brethren from a long time back were mentioned with familiarity at this dinner party. The work of the Sisterhood of Mary and Martha is still close to the hearts of these women as are the foreign and home mission interests of the Brethren Church.

Now the dinner and program were over. We had to go back to the practical part of life and living where blood, sweat, and tears make or break us. But the recalled memories of the past and the warmth of the moment as we renewed fellowship with each other and Mrs. Kolb will linger long in our hearts.

Forty years of fellowship in the Lord and His work largely because of the faithfulness of one lady! We salute you, Mrs. Kolb, and rejoice that His presence will always be with you. You have taught us by your life what God meant when He said: "It is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful" (I Cor. 4:2). May God help us to follow in your footsteps and ever be found "faithful unto death."

J. A. HUFFMAN RESIGNS

Dr. J. A. Huffman, president of the Winona Lake School of Theology since 1939, recently resigned, effective January 1, 1954. The board of directors of the school elected him president emeritus and requested him to continue another year in full-time executive service to help carry out the program launched under his presidency. Also he has been asked to continue indefinitely as a member of the teaching staff.

Prof. John A. Huffman, son of Dr. J. A. Huffman, was elected to the presidency of the school for the coming year. For the past five years he has served as vice president and dean. Both of the Huffmans will reside at Winona Lake.

Other officers of the school elected by the board of directors are Dr. Kenneth S. Kantzer, of Wheaton, Ill., vice president; Dr. Harold B. Kuhn, of Wilmore, Ky., dean; and Rev. Milford F. Henkel, of Pittsburgh, Pa., registrar.

THOUGHTS FOR CHRISTIAN PILGRIMS

By Conard Sandy

But God's Word Still Stands

The Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Arch and Race Street Friends (Quakers) in their 27th annual convention went on record thus:

"We believe there is no crime for which the death penalty should be imposed, and that it is as much forbidden for organized society to deprive a human being of life as it is for the individual. Life is sacred and it is our duty to find other means than intimidation, cruelty, retribution, or revenge in coping with crime. . . . The whole system of criminal justice must be changed so that revenge and destruction no longer will be the goal."

Now isn't that disgusting in light of God's Word? "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith." "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation. . . . For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil" (Rom. 13:1-4).

Those verses surely teach that punishment should and must be meted out by the persons in authority in the realm of the state.

Correct Child When Needed

Many passages in the Word of God speak of training the child in the way he should go and of giving him the correction and punishment he should have. God is concerned about the training of children.

Note these words in this connection: "Withhold not correction from the child: for if thou beatest him with the rod, he shall not die. Thou shalt beat him with the rod, and shalt deliver his soul from hell" (Prov. 23:13-14). In another place the admonition is: "The rod and reproof give wisdom: but a child left to himself bringeth his mother to shame" (Prov. 29:15).

In mid-July a mother in Topeka, Kans., followed the suggestion of these words from God's Book. She decided not to leave her child to himself to later bring down shame upon her name. It happened in this manner:

The city fathers were expending $10,000 to make a thorough study of parking problems in the heart of the city. The information sought included the parker's home, destination, purpose of trip, time of arrival and departure.

As one woman drove into a downtown parking stall, a member of the survey team asked her the usual questions. In answer she replied: "My destination is right here, and my purpose is to spank that boy on the back seat of the car." She got into the back of the car and carried out her purpose. Then she proceeded on her way.

Men Are Happier Than Snails

Men can boast of their progress in inventions, says Dr. W. F. G. Swann, director of the Bartol Research Foundation, but nature is ahead in many things.

The physicist then told how bats used radar, certain insect flies traveled as fast as jet planes, and certain fish used bifocals long before man ever dreamed or heard of these things.

But the physicist did leave one place where he placed man ahead of one lowly animal, for he said: "It seems reasonable to suppose that man has a greater potentiality for joy than a snail."

The doctor ought to read again Genesis 1 and 2 and he will find out man has many potentialities greater than any animal of God's handiwork. He would there find that man is above any and all animals.

The Christian ought to remember that the sinner has no potential for true and lasting joy. This joy comes only through the Lord Jesus Christ. To the disciples He said: "These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full" (John 15:11).

Jail Is Better Than Home

Sheriff Julian B. Wright, of Gaffney, S. C., recently received a most unusual request. A citizen of the town told the sheriff that his wife was on the warpath and asked to be locked in the jail "until things quiet down." Sheriff Wright obliged, and did not release the man the next day until he thought it was safe to return home.

The report of this incident in the newspapers made one think of some words from the pen of the wise man, Solomon, on the subject of contentious women—and Solomon should have known whereof he spoke from his wide and varied experiences with women of all kinds.

Here are his words: "It is better to dwell in a corner of the housetop, than with a brawling woman in a wide house. It is better to dwell in the wilderness, than with a contentious and an angry woman" (Prov. 21:9, 19).

Their Outlook Was Different

When Job was completely covered "with sore boils from the sole of his foot unto his crown" he did not go down in defeat. Instead "he took him a potsherd to scrape himself withal; and he sat down among the ashes." When his wife urged him to curse God, he answered: "What? shall we receive good at the hand of God, and shall we not receive evil?" Then God gave this estimate: "In all this did not Job sin with his lips." On another occasion God declared: "In all this Job sinned not, nor charged God foolishly" (Job 2:7-10; 1:22).

But Robert E. Lieske, of New York City, did otherwise. Recently he stabbed himself and then jumped from the 16th floor of a Manhattan skyscraper. Mrs. Lieske told the police her 35-year-old husband was suffering from boils on his neck and they must have driven him to a suicide's grave.

The difference between Job and Lieske was the difference of relationship with God.

PALESTINE AND JEWS IN THE NEWS

Jews Looking for Messiah

Dr. G. P. Raud is authority for the following: "In Jerusalem today a small sect, known as Neturei Karta, studies the Scriptures and prays with longing for Messiah Himself to come. Its members scorn the State of Israel and regard it as a sorry substitute for the magnificent world-wide kingdom of Messiah where redeemed Israel—powerful, wealthy, holy—will stand at the head of the nations. Significantly enough, Neturei Karta has been called the most hated sect in Israel."

The Lord Jesus, the One for whom these people are looking, has already come and is even now making ready all things in anticipation of His second coming. A sign of the coming again of this Messiah will be when some who are looking for His coming will be hated, even in some cases by those who should be likewise looking and waiting for the Messiah's appearance. The tragic thing with so many Jews is that they are looking for His coming in the future and completely ignoring His coming that already took place in their behalf at Calvary.

New Road Opened to Dead Sea

A new road, requiring the toil of 2,400 men working two years and expending $4,500,000, has been recently opened to connect the Dead Sea and the potash mines there with other parts of Palestine, especially the Mediterranean Sea area.

Potash is one of the most important items Israel has for export. The Israelis hope this new access will make easier the delivery of this merchandise at a greater profit to the world markets.

A new port will be built at Ascalon in order to permit sea loading of phosphates and potash.

Ashkelon Being Rebuilt

The first official dispatch from Ashkelon, the ancient city made famous by Samson (Judg. 14:19), for more than 3,000 years was sent recently to the mayor of Johannesburg. The city of Ashkelon is being rebuilt by the Jews of South Africa, therefore the mayor of Ashkelon carried official greetings to the mayor of Johannesburg, while visiting in Africa.

The last-known message before this to have been sent from Ashkelon was sent to the king of Egypt about 1500 B. C. to ask for help in defending the city against the invading Canaanites.

Christians in Israel

The official government report on population for the nation of Israel, at the end of December 1952, gives the total population as 1,631,000. There was an increase of 261,000 in the latest two-year period. The population is divided into the following religions: 1,452,000 are Jews, 123,000 are Moslems, 40,000 claim to be Christians (Protestant or otherwise), and 16,000 are Druzes.

At the end of 1950 2.7 percent of Israel's population were listed as Christians. At the end of 1952 the Christians accounted for 2.5 percent of the population. Our heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel should be, like Paul's, "that they might be saved" (Rom. 10:1).

Items of General Interest

Israel now has over 30 ocean-going vessels and about 18 percent of her trade is carried on in her own ships.

The American-Israel Cattle Corporation has been established recently to expand cattle-raising in Israel and to introduce a meat-packing industry. It represents a two-million-dollar investment.

Four years ago ancient Beer-sheba in southern Israel was a sleepy town of some 300 people. Today it is a flourishing community of 25,000 Jews from 60 countries.

The first of two giant turbines has been installed in Tel Aviv. This will increase Israel's electric power by 40 percent and will prevent the recurrence of an electricity shortage.

Israel is the first nation to announce vacations with pay for agricultural workers. The minimum length of a paid vacation will be one week for one year's service.

One Side of Coffin Is Open

Someone has pointed out that one side of the coffin in which the body of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, first president of Israel, was buried was left open by the Jews of Israel so that the body might lie in contact with the soil.

By some writers Weizmann has been compared with the patriarchs of Israel's past—with Abraham in particular. But there is one great contrast: Weizmann sought and lived for a nation and a life that now is, while Abraham looked for "a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God" (Heb. 11:10). An earthly land seemed to satisfy Weizmann, but it could never satisfy the heart and longing of Abraham, the man who walked by faith.

Galilee Dam Taking Shape

According to Joan Comay, writing in Israel Speaks for January 9, 1953, the first of four dams in the Jordan River valley is rapidly being completed. The huge dam is now 1,500 feet long, 80 feet thick at the base, and 35 feet high, and when completed it will be even larger. It is being built in the highlands of Galilee.

The dam is to be used to store water for irrigation, and it is hoped that when the other three dams further south are completed the system of reservoirs can be used in generating electricity through several anticipated hydroelectric plants.

Factories Arising in the Land

An international textile venture in which Israel, Japanese, and U. S. capital will combine to establish an $8,000,000 rayon plant in Israel has been announced.

A big plastic plant has been built near Tel Aviv—largest in the Middle East.

A factory at Nahariya, north of Haifa, will soon be employing about 350 workers in the manufacture of asbestos pipes, tiles, and shingles. It is expected to supply a large portion of the pipes required for Israel's extensive irrigation projects.

NEWS from the CHURCHES

Los Angeles, California (Second)

In the providence of God, our DVBS as conducted here at the Second Brethren Church of Los Angeles, Calif., will be the last one at our present location. According to escrow instructions we give possession to the Calvary Baptist Church (Negro) by December 8. Knowing this fact in advance, we made every effort to bring in as many children as possible so that some might be reached for the Saviour.

Our people prayed earnestly that the Lord's will might be done, and as always our Lord heard and answered. Total enrollment reached the 137 mark (excluding teachers). Since this community has changed in its residential status, the school register revealed the following percentages: 46 percent of the enrollees were white, 37 percent were Negro, and the remaining 17 percent included Japanese, Chinese, Spanish, Jewish, and Filipino. [See picture on the front cover of this issue of the Herald.—Editor.] All these groups of children are American, of course, and speak good English, hence no problem was involved in presenting the lessons.

We sincerely say that all the children were lovable, teachable, impressionable, and responsive to the Gospel. To our joy and the Saviour's glory, a good many received Christ during the two weeks, and united with the church.

Our school was conducted this year under the auspices of the Fuller Foundation, with Miss Patricia Pitts and Miss Jean Rearick acting as head teachers. These ladies presented the Gospel clearly and attractively so that 38 definite decisions were made, of which 35 were confessions of Christ as Saviour. The average daily attendance was 110. The total offerings received amounted to $130.20. (This included the offering on the closing night, which night was very poorly attended by parents of the children, showing the utter indifference of the residents of this community toward the gospel message.) The two ladies of the Fuller Foundation were ably assisted by 15 of our own teachers and workers.

We believe that the measure of success of the school was greatly due to the conducting of a 30-minute prayer hour daily.

One of the highlights of the school was the conversion of a 14-year-old Jewish girl early in the second week. Janice wholeheartedly accepted the Saviour, and not only manifested a new joy from that moment forward, but proved her sincerity by showing a genuine hunger for the things of the Bible. She, with eight others, was baptized by trine immersion on the closing night of the school.

Both church and pastor hereby magnify the blessed name of our Lord, thanking Him for all His goodnesses in permitting us to spread the Gospel to the nations, right here in our own community. The bema-seat judgment will reveal the permanent results of this effort.—Henry G. Rempel, pastor.

BOWMANS CELEBRATE 50 YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE

Mr. and Mrs. Alva E. Bowman

The LaLoma Grace Brethren Church of Modesto, Calif., held a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alva E. Bowman, of nearby Waterford, who observed their 50th wedding anniversary July 19. The program included instrumental and vocal music and the reading of an original poem, "This Is Your Life," by Mrs. Kenneth W. Holgate.

The couple were married at La Verne, Calif., which was their home for many years, by the late Dr. Martin Shively. Early in life the young couple united with the Brethren Church.

The Bowmans moved to Modesto in 1936. In 1940 they became charter members of the LaLoma church and have served as members of the deacon board since the organization of the church.

Brother and Sister Bowman are the parents of six children. The two sons are Pastor Edward Bowman, of Hollins, Va., and Earl Bowman, of Modesto. The four daughters are Mrs. Ruby Latchaw and Mrs. Elizabeth Lynch, both of Paradise, Calif.; Mrs. Edna Marsh, of Bellflower, Calif.; and Mrs. Neva Davisson, of Compton, Calif.

WILL YOU BE IN THIS RECEPTION LINE SEPTEMBER 14?

Brethren young people! Do you realize that Grace College offers you a twofold opportunity?

(1) Yours is the opportunity of receiving a high-quality four-year liberal arts education in a thoroughly Christian atmosphere.

(2) Yours is also the opportunity to join hands with us in building at Winona Lake the finest Christian college in the country—a truly Brethren institution.

To build a school it is necessary to have (1) a faculty, and (2) a student body.

Grace College has a faculty which will compare favorably with that of any school of more than comparable size. For your protection and blessing this faculty is composed of teachers who have both college and seminary preparation.

The responsibility of building a student body, in the final analysis, rests with the young people of the Brethren Church. Although welcome here, we cannot expect young men and women of other denominations to build OUR school.

Other institutions may offer you good training in a Christian atmosphere, but they are not YOUR institutions, and they are not primarily interested in building YOUR church. Other schools cannot offer you the inspiration of Brethren chapel services in YOUR denominational center. They cannot give you an adequate vision of the work which YOUR church is doing for Christ throughout the world.

Before making your final decision, weigh the advantages of attending Grace College. If you need further information, write us immediately. Address your correspondence to Dr. Homer A. Kent, registrar.

Editor, Foreign Mission Number

We Are Encouraged

One hundred percent of our churches responded this year with an Easter offering for foreign missions. So far as your editor knows this is a record not equaled before. Our offerings for the fiscal year increased by $43,443.69, or about 19 percent, over the offerings of the year before. It might be interesting to give you a résumé of offerings during recent years. They are as follows:

Year	Offerings	Increase	Pct. of Increase
1942-1943....	$ 88,043.22
1943-1944....	106,537.71....	$ 18,494.49....	17.

One for One

A foreign missionary for every pastor in the homeland! Isn't that reasonable? It's possible—certainly not within the next year, but within the next few years?—yes! Will this, as an increased program, wreck the economy of the church at home? Ask the missionary-minded pastor. Frequently we have heard comments from pastors about as follows: "Last year we closed the year in the red. Nevertheless we made an urgent foreign mission appeal and increased our offering. Believe it or not, we closed the church year out of the red, too."

Interesting Percentages

You will probably want to know how the people gave—you have a right to know—so we are presenting the following report on the basis of per-capita giving:

2¼%	of our churches gave under $1.00 per person
34%	of our churches gave between $1.00 and $4.99
27%	of our churches gave between 5.00 and 9.99
20%	of our churches gave between 10.00 and 14.99
9%	of our churches gave between 15.00 and 19.99
3½%	of our churches gave between 20.00 and 24.99
2¼%	of our churches gave between 25.00 and 29.99
None	of our churches gave between 30.00 and 34.99
¾%	of our churches gave between 35.00 and 39.99
None	of our churches gave between 40.00 and 44.99
1¼%	of our churches gave $45 and above

We are especially concerned about the 36¼ percent of our churches which averaged less than $5 a member in the annual offering. We are convinced there are many extenuating circumstances, but we are as surely convinced that there are not extenuating circumstances in 36¼ percent of our Brethren churches.

Are We Growing?

The answer is a great big "yes"! Although only 60 percent of our churches increased their foreign mission giving last year, that was sufficient to increase the total giving of our churches by 19 percent, or a total of $43,443.69. Isn't it wonderful what God can do? And I believe He can and wants to do it through 100 percent of our churches next year.

The Membership of Our Society

From the charter membership of 53 persons in 1900 we have grown to a present membership of well over 6,000. It's reasonable to believe that we will soon have a membership of 10,000, and between 15,000 and 20,000 members in the years ahead. Increase in society membership and increase in per-capita giving will care for our increased needs and opportunities. We can, and we believe we will, do even much greater things in foreign missions.

A Spiritual Problem

Foreign missions is primarily a spiritual problem. There are money problems, personal problems, governmental problems, problems of transportation, sickness, disease, heartache, and many others, but these are all minor compared to the spiritual problems. How much do we love the Lord Jesus Christ? How much do we love His Word? How much do we love lost souls? How much we love lost souls on the mission field will be illustrated by how much we love lost souls here at home, and what we do about it. "How much" will be indicated by what we do about it. Some Brethren churches are poor so far as this world's goods are concerned, but most Brethren churches, although not wealthy, are not poor. Their members buy largely what their hearts desire. Conveniences and even luxuries abound in all our homes, and I would have it so, but yearn to see far more of the possessions of the Brethren poured into the Lord's work, and a large and proportionate part put into the business of getting the Gospel out to a lost world. This will only be done as we solve our spiritual problems, and I repeat, "Foreign mission problems are spiritual problems!"

HOMeward BOUND

(Editor's Note—Rev. and Mrs. Hill Maconaghy left the United States on July 23 to return to Argentina, South America, for another term of service. The following articles were written on board ship as they were returning. Their journey was completed safely and on schedule—they reached Buenos Aires on August 12. Since Brother and Sister Maconaghy expect to open a new Brethren testimony in that land, as the Lord leads, a permanent address cannot be given for them at this time. However, mail will reach them in care of Bro. Solon Hoyt. See the foreign missionary directory in this issue for the complete address.)

'He Goeth Before'

After a little over a year in the States we turn our faces southward once more and toward home. For truly that is what Argentina has come to be to us.

Looking back over the past 14 months of furlough, we realize how good our God has been to us. Innumerable blessings, some testings, and sorrow in His wisdom were sent our way. We know that all—the blessings, the testings, and even the sorrow—have a place in His plan for our lives. For "all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose."

There are cherished memories of young people's camps, district and national conferences, and visits in so many of our churches and in the homes of the brethren. The increased interest of our people in missionary endeavor, the growing home base, the fellowship we enjoyed, and the promises of continued prayer in behalf of the work in Argentina and of ourselves, encourage us as we go. Throughout our entire stay you folks have shown us so many kindnesses, always seeking to help us. For all we say, "Thank you and God bless you."

Looking forward to another term in our beloved Argentina we do not know "what" lies before us, but we do know "who" is there. The Lord Jesus says that when He, the Good Shepherd, putteth forth His sheep He goeth before. So we know that as this ship pulls into the pier in Buenos Aires on August 12 we will find Him already there to lead us each step of the way.

It may be that we shall remain near Buenos Aires to establish a new testimony for our Lord. If such be the leading of the Lord, it will be necessary to investigate and find the proper place to locate, to find and rent a home, and then to get out and seek the lost for Christ. And who is sufficient for all these things? Truly we can say that our sufficiency is of God.

Brethren, may we ask you to pray for us that we may be faithful, fruitful servants of His, till He comes?

—Hill Maconaghy.

Let us give up our work, our thoughts, our plans, ourselves, our lives, our loved ones, our influence, our all, right into His hand, and then, when we have given all over to Him, there will be nothing left for us to be troubled about, or to make trouble about.—J. Hudson Taylor.

In God's Hands

"Thou art my God. My times are in thy hand" (Psa. 31:14-15).

As we make our third trip to the land where the Lord has called us to serve Him, He has impressed the above words of Scripture on my heart, and made them very precious to me; and a comment made by Dan Crawford, the well-known missionary to Africa, opens up this Scripture portion wonderfully. He said: "When we translate this sentence to our natives, we are forced to express it in these gorgeous words, 'All my life's whys, and whens, and wheres, and wherefores are in God's hands.'"

Isn't this a precious fact? To know that every detail of our life is in the hands of the One whose hands were pierced for us gives strength and assurance as we look forward to another term of service. And it should mean the same to every child of God, no matter where he finds himself.

On board the S. S. Uruguay, where I am writing this, we find ourselves almost the only ambassadors for Christ. A missionary to Trinidad and a missionary couple to Barbados have already disembarked. A young lady who represents one of the well-known "isms" is going to her field, but in cabin class we are the only ones, as far as we know, with one possible exception, who truly know the Lord as Saviour.

Greek and Roman Catholics, Jews, and a theosophist comprise most of the passengers, and the Lord has given us some opportunities to present the Gospel, which is "the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek," to several of these needy ones. We look to Him to bless His Word and give the increase.

As always, brethren, we are counting on your prayers for us and the work, that we might be led to the very place where the Lord would have us open up a testimony, and that we might find souls whom He has prepared to believe His Word and receive His Son.

Our times are in Thy hand,
Father, we wish them there;
Our life, our soul, our all we leave Entirely to Thy care.

—Dorothy Maconaghy.

AT WORK DURING A STORM

By Mrs. William Samarin, M'Baiki, Africa

The air around us feels like hot moist cotton. Over the palms, toward the northeast, black clouds roll swiftly toward the house. Then comes the sound of an approaching train, yet the nearest train is hundreds of miles away. It's the roll of thunder couched in a rush of wind. The slender palms and grass bend earthward. We cast an anxious glance toward our garden, wondering if the new tomato plants are also being bent to the ground. Then comes sudden silence. The wind is quiet. The insects and birds have hushed their chatter. All the earth seems to wait expectantly. Then it comes—the machine-gun rattle of rain on the aluminum roof. The rain barrels fill and the driveway is soon a rushing red stream. The months of rain have started.

What does a missionary do when the red slippery mud of the roads makes trips hazardous, and torrents of rain keep natives snug in their thatched houses? The work of a missionary is different this time of the year, but not in the least diminished.

Field council assigned Bill the task of making a synthetic study of the New Testament in Sango. Dry-season days with all their activities do not leave time for the long hours of study necessary for this type of work.

How will this study be used? Our Christian men may feel God's call to the ministry and they want to go to the Bible institute at Bozoum. But they've just been saved out of a heathen background. The basic things of God's Word must be learned before going to Bible school. Each station, therefore, provides a junior Bible school for prospective institute students, and this synthetic study will be part of that course. Bill will hold his first junior Bible school at the beginning of the rainy season. Ten young men will leave their villages to come to M'Baiki to study God's Word.

Then there's language study. M'Baiki is a "tower of Babel" as far as languages are concerned. So we are thankful for the trade language, Sango, which is understood by almost all the people of this area. The station itself is near a large Isungu village. The Isungu people live much as they did before the white man came. The medicine man still rules. The French police captain told us last week he was going out to a village 12 miles from here where they'd killed and eaten a person. It is the language of this tribe that Bill is learning. Word soon traveled that the white missionary "spoke" their tongue. You should see the toothless old ladies grin with glee as they hear their language coming from the lips of a white man. They like to think Bill's mother must have been an Isungu!

Only a third of our reading material is done. Two more primers, to teach one to read in Sango, must be constructed and illustrated. Classes on the station continue. A good many hours are spent under the red Dodge pickup to keep it going.

There are lessons to be learned in our first rainy season in the jungle. Do you keep your catsup in the refrigerator? I didn't, and a new bottle spoiled in one day because of the humidity. Books must be kept away from walls and shoes off the floor. We are told that a sudden rain can make the temperature drop as much as 60 degrees, so the children must be wrapped and unwrapped accordingly.

And so the rainy days pass. There is always the "must-be-made" trips even though the roads are bad. Our study, our teaching, and lesson construction all fill the busy days. When the fall leaves are turning red in your town, the rain will be falling less often here. Then plans will begin for another dry season.

Thus, rainy season and dry season, "in season and out of season," as the Lord exhorted, we continue to teach the African what it means to be in Christ.

CRITICAL SHORTAGE OF MISSIONARIES

According to a January survey of all denominations, made by the Evangelical Foreign Missions Association, there is only 1 missionary to every 21,000 population in Africa; 1 to 43,000 in Latin America; 1 to 70,000 in Japan; 1 to 96,000 in the Near East; 1 to 130,000 in India and Pakistan; and 1 to every 150,000 in southeast Asia.—Christian Victory.

THE NEW CHAPEL—MACAPA, BRAZIL

By Rev. Edward D. Miller

The following announcement was printed in Portuguese in the local newspaper of Macapa, Territory of Amapa—

This coming Sunday afternoon (July 26) at 3:30 p. m. in the barrio da favela, here in this city, the Igreja dos Irmaos (the Brethren Church) will inaugurate their new building. The Igreja dos Irmaos is one of the evangelical churches working in this Territory. Appropriate services will be held the entire day, with Sunday school at 9:00 in the morning, inauguration at 3:30 in the afternoon, and preaching at 7:30 in the evening. The special speaker for this occasion will be Dr. Charles Sarginson, of Belem, director of the Unevangelized Fields Mission. Dr. Sarginson is well known in the north of Brazil, having traveled extensively in these parts for the last 12 years preaching the Gospel.

"The Igreja dos Irmaos has been working in this Territory for the last two years and besides the church here in Macapa there is also a congregation and building in Mazagao. The pastor, Rev. Edward D. Miller, cordially invites all members and friends to attend these special services this coming Sunday."

As you will note, we had Bro. Charles Sarginson as our special speaker, and Brother and Sister Jack Zielasko and family were over for a week. We had quite a time of fellowship with good meetings as well. The Zielaskos came over on the Friday morning before the inauguration service, and we had a meeting that Friday night in the "Creek of the Women." On Saturday night we had choir practice and then the three services on Sunday. Our inauguration in the afternoon wasn't as well attended as we had hoped since the governor's plane came in at the same time, and everyone was out to meet him at the airport. As it was we had about 90 present for that service, and about 80 at the evening service. There were many visitors.

On Monday morning Brethren Zielasko, Teeter, Sarginson, and myself, with one of our workers, went to Mazagao by motorboat, where we had a special service that evening. With just a little publicity we had over 120 present. Although there were no first-time conversions, the interest was very good and we reached many new people. We returned to Macapa on Tuesday, and on Wednesday evening we had our first communion service here in Macapa. There were 17 believers present for this service and, of course, it was the first for all of them. They were all impressed with the service. It was also my first communion service—that is, in leading the service. On Thursday evening we had a meeting in the "Fazendinha" (little farm) where we have three new converts. This is a new place for holding services, where we meet regularly on Thursday evenings, but we have three believers already and the Lord is blessing.

All in all, we had a full week, but everyone enjoyed it. We are rejoicing in the Lord for the victories that have been won and the victories that will be ours in the future.

"I WILL LIFT UP MINE EYES . . ."

Out in Kenya Colony, some years ago, there was a Christian teacher, Stephen Smith, working among the Kikuyu people. Despondent because he felt that the Lord was not having full control of his life, he opened the Bible at random and read, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help" (Psa. 121:1). From where he was he could see, far away, Mt. Kilimanjaro, 19,300 feet high, and it seemed to be calling him to come and climb it. He did so, and on reaching the top, to his astonishment, came upon a metal box lying in the crater at the summit. It was inscribed, "W. J. W. Roome, British and Foreign Bible Society, 31st July, 1928." In the box was a Bible. Smith opened the Bible to Psalm 121, and realized that it was not the mountain but God who was his help, and learned how to punctuate the verses properly. "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills. From whence cometh my help? My help cometh from the Lord. . . ."

You do not have to climb a mountain to find this out. Or maybe you are one who insists on doing things the hard way.—Eternity.

OUR SECOND MISSIONARY JOURNEY

By Rev. and Mrs. Walter E. Haag

Have you all been praying for a real demonstration of the Spirit in the Baja peninsula? Well, your prayers have been answered, especially in the town of San Ignacio. You remember San Ignacio, don't you? Jack Green would have liked to start the work there in his first introduction of the Baja field to you. The Holy Spirit spoke through Jack; that same Spirit led you to pray, and began His work of convicting men. On the December 1952 trip and the May-June 1953 trip we were privileged to see the chosen ones come. What a joy! Continue praying. We feel there are many precious ones for His glory in Baja.

God certainly has been loving in demonstrating His glory, His grace, and His gift to us, and how our unworthy lips want to thank Him continuously.

His glory, as shown in the heavenly Father, especially can be felt and known as we make the peninsula trips. The road is of two classes—bad and worse. As we attempt to cope with it day by day we find our trust increasing into good and better. It is great how close He comes to one when one constantly needs Him and thus recognizes His presence. He can be more keenly felt, too, as one stretches out under the stars to sleep. With no effort at all on our part His glory is declared unto us and His handiwork shown. We have but to open our eyes upward. All doubt disappears as His glory becomes practical in His protection. When the foxes yelp, the coyotes howl, and one remembers the fresh lion pelt hanging not a quarter of a mile away, just a whispered prayer brings the needed confidence to fall asleep. After all, we serve a God who can close lions' mouths.

His grace, as shown in the Lord Jesus Christ, is constantly before us as we rejoice in our own salvation. It is very real also as we see Him meet every need of those with whom we talk. As one deals with souls and they believe, the happiness is genuine because salvation is by grace. Many have tried their own works which only bring defeat, and the truth of Ephesians 2:8-9 is beautiful in their lives.

His gift, as shown in the Holy Spirit, is continuously a source of amazement as we see and feel His working. If He is but the earnest of our inheritance, what an inheritance must be ours! Only the Holy Spirit can save a soul. This is definitely demonstrated in every soul won in our experience.

On the first trip last December, the Word was planted in hearts and seven souls were reborn. These babes, with the Holy Spirit as teacher, have thrilled us in their growth. The second trip would have been well worth while if we had only fellowshiped with and fed this group. Only one, who is younger than the rest, has not responded wonderfully. They are a testimony in their homes, in school, and in the community. To be a believer in Baja is to be different. To make a stand for Christ is to be rebuked by the priest, ridiculed by his parishioners, and rejected by the remainder of the people.

On the second trip this May and June the blessings were great. In fact, compared with the blessings, the hardships can't even be noticed. On the eight-day stretch between the border and San Ignacio each day was really sweeter than the day before. The whole family began to enjoy the gypsying, the desert became more beautiful, and every day gave added opportunities to witness. One fact I would mention especially is this—the most difficult portion of the road was to be conquered on the 15th, and for this we were glad. Why? Because that's the Day of Prayer, you know, and we can bear testimony over the months that the number of people praying for us makes a big difference. That day we repeatedly said, "Thank you, Lord."

As we spent the next two weeks in San Ignacio, the people there showed increasing interest in the Word. Coming to a service every night of the week and three times on Sunday did not seem a hardship at all for them. They even asked for more. Before our coming they had been listening to the gospel recordings on the player sent by the brothers in Tijuana as a missionary effort. While there we alternated using flannelgraph lessons and colored slides along with short messages. By adjusting the projector to operate from the car battery, there was everything but the third-dimensional effect with the Stori-View slides.

It took 11 days to circle the more southerly portion, visiting believers and giving out tracts. Some of the contacts showed definite interest, most were grateful—upon one instance only were the tracts torn up before us. There are some real spots of historical interest, especially in the neighborhoods of the old missions. There are some of the tallest orange trees we had ever seen, appearing to be some 40 feet high, some 200 years old, and in excellent health. There is also beauty to be enjoyed and some of the best fishing ever.

That next week spent in San Ignacio was the greatest one in our lives. Did you ever sow the seed for two weeks, go away for almost two weeks, and then come back to see what the Spirit has done in hearts? It's marvelous. We spent 16 hours a day just delighting in the things of the Lord, filling requests for Bibles and New Testaments, underlining other Bibles, teaching lessons, answering questions, playing games to learn the disciples' names or the Books in order, memorizing Scripture references with them, listening to the ones they wanted to say for us, and visiting homes where we were invited to explain the Word. We wouldn't have traded jobs with anyone before, because we like being missionaries, but after that week we started feeling really sorry for everyone else. As people talked with us we could just plainly see how the Holy Spirit was working in each life. And as each one claimed the promises of the Word and put them to work in his life, he came out victorious in Christ. There is no other joy to be compared with the joy of rebirth. As the invitation was given on our last two nights there, the Spirit sealed 11 more souls in San Ignacio for His glory.

Rejoicingly we started home, planning to make many side trips and spend time showing pictures and telling stories at the ranches. For some reason the Lord didn't allow much of this because we were forced to hobble the last 300 miles north with a Cirio trunk substituted for a left front spring. Each mile was longer and each bump more accented, but with Him all things are possible and we are so thankful that we arrived safely.

THEY DID IT—WE DIDN'T!

By Mrs. Lynn Schrock, Rio Cuarto, Argentina

For several weeks the young people were in a dither. They were lining up things for a rally and many questions had to be answered. Who shall be the speaker? What shall be the theme? What shall be the menu? All they had in the treasury was 400 pesos. Would this cover the cost of everything?

Young people, we believe, are the same the world over when it comes to realizing the value of money and what it really costs to live. The young people began to buy the necessary things for the rally; then began the worries and the gasps. The questions then were, "Do you know how much that costs?" "We can't afford to have that on the menu; it's just too expensive." Little by little the menu began to take on a new aspect—much more plain food and yet that which would be tasty and filling. The decorations, too, were going to be simple but colorful.

This rally indeed had many new lessons in store for them. The Lord proved to them that all things are possible. The theme was "The Promises of the Lord." They had the lettering for this on the wall behind the pulpit with a rainbow, and under the rainbow a mountain scene. It was lovely. Talent? Yes, we do have talent among our young folk that is comparable to the young people at home. All these young people need is the opportunity to prove it.

What was to be so different about this rally as compared to others? They were taking on the full responsibility from beginning to end. We hardly knew what was going on until the last few days. That is why we say, "They did it—we didn't!" And isn't that what we missionaries are desiring?

As you can imagine, the calculations for big groups are always the hardest part. The young people went from mother to mother asking advice. They came here and, with a list we had from a rally several years back, they were able to get even more helps. And so it went. The big problem for them was—would their money cover all the expenses? The 400 pesos was money they had saved for two years.

June 20, the big day, arrived. We're sure there were several young people who did not sleep well the night before by awakening every little bit wondering if there would be food enough, or if such and such a detail had been cared for, or if there was something they forgot. By 9:00 a. m. things were stirring plenty fast, especially in the kitchen. Eat! How young people can store away food and not show it is the secret of youth. There were so many cakes for the evening "snack" that in spite of the terrible amount of food they ate there were still 10 cakes that were not even cut.

The Lord blessed in permitting a good group to come from the various sections of the mission. This was one of the many problems. Bus fares and train fares are so high that for a young person to come for one day would have been almost impossible. But in spite of this, by one way or another, there was a good turn-out of young people from out of town. Another way the Lord blessed was in the good spirit which existed among all the group. Everyone entered into the spirit of the day. The evening meeting was a real blessing, with Brother Churchill bringing the message. We're sure that each and every young person left, being able to say with all his heart, "It was good for me to have been here."

But our story doesn't end here. Did the young people meet expenses? The following week was to be the acid test for them. They came together to total up the accounts. How was the Lord going to undertake for them? One of the believers, who is a seller of vegetables, donated half of the fruit and one of the girls the other half. The milk for the hot chocolate was donated by various ones. The help in the kitchen and for serving the tables was all voluntary. The sandwiches and cakes for the evening snack were all donated by the believers here. Well, what did it cost them? They added up and found they had 150 pesos left. How happy they were!

It was a good experience for our young people here in Rio Cuarto. They learned about many details which perhaps before they only took for granted. They found the Lord faithful to His promises. To us it proved their capabilities. We are proud to be able to say about them, "They did it—we didn't!"

GIVE!

We are all agreed that the world must be evangelized. We realize that some will have to go, others pray, and still others, give. It doesn't matter which part is ours, so long as we have a part and we are sure we are doing what God wants us to do. If your part is to give, then see to it that you give and that you give until it hurts; and then, that you keep on giving until it becomes a joy. Someday you will be called to an account and at the judgment seat of Christ you will be rewarded or censured. I urge you to give. Give as you have never given before. Give until you are sure the Lord is pleased with your gift. Give as to the Lord, and not unto men. Make God's work the passion of your lives, and honor Him by taking counsel as to how and where each gift shall be spent for His highest glory in the salvation of the souls of men.—Dr. Oswald J. Smith.

Pastor Thomas E. Hammers, of the new Brethren church in Seattle, Wash., preached for his brother-in-law, Charles Ashman, at Rittman, Ohio, August 16; at the Johnstown, Pa., First and Riverside churches August 23; and at the annual conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches in session at Winona Lake, Ind., August 25.

Bro. Raymond W. Thompson, recently installed as pastor of the Modesto, Calif., Brethren Christian Center, has moved to R. R. 2, Box 898-A, Modesto, Calif. (Add to Annual, p. 72.)

Pastor Jerry A. Yerian, of the Seal Beach, Calif., church, has moved to 138 8th St., Seal Beach, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 78.)

The services at the Meyersdale and Summit Mills, Pa., churches on August 23 and 30, during Pastor Leslie Moore's absence, were conducted by two local Brethren, Walter Fike and Emlyn Jones.

Rev. Lowell Hoyt is scheduled to become the first pastor of the new Elkhart, Ind., church, effective September 13. His new address is R. R. 2, Osceola, Ind.

The Dayton, Ohio, Patterson Park church has set September 27 as dedication day for the building, reports Pastor Caleb Zimmerman.

Pastor Henry Rempel, Los Angeles, Calif., preached at the Uniontown, Pa., church August 16, reports Pastor Clyde K. Landrum. Before going to Los Angeles Brother Rempel was pastor at Uniontown.

Mrs. W. Russell Ogden, wife of the pastor of the South Bend, Ind., church, underwent major surgery the week of August 16. She is now recuperating at the home of her mother at 1325 McDaniels Ave., Highland Park, Ill. Dr. W. A. Ogden, of Johnstown, Pa., preached for his son, Russell, August 23.

To Pastor and Mrs. Clair Brickel, of Clayton, Ohio, was born a son, Jonathan Lee, August 18.

Pastor Vernon J. Harris, of Portland, Oreg., preached at the Clayton, Ohio, church, where he formerly served as pastor, August 23.

Speakers at the Long Beach, Calif., Second church August 23 and 30 were Dr. Gerald Stanton and Dr. Donald Davis, respectively, reports Pastor George O. Peek.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Barnes, of the Dayton, Ohio, First church, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary August 30.

Miss Evelyn Fuqua, missionary in Kentucky, spoke at the Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church August 23, reports Pastor Clyde G. Balyo.

Speakers at the Glendale, Calif., church, pastored by Charles M. Underwood, were Dr. Paul Dewhirst, August 23; Capt. Louis Zamperini and the Men's Magnify of Long Beach, August 30. Scheduled for September 6 is Rev. George M. Richardson, former pastor of the church, and Rev. Rudolph Atwood (Rudy of the Old Fashion Revival Hour), and for September 13 it is to be Dr. Gerald Stanton, of Los Angeles.

At the Ashland, Ohio, church, two former pastors, Charles W. Mayes and Glenn O'Neal, preached August 16 and 23 respectively, reports Pastor Miles Taber. Miss Angie Garber spoke at the junior church both Sundays.

The Compton, Calif., church, pastored by Norman A. Nelson, closed its vacation Bible school July 24, having had an average attendance of 134 pupils and the offerings totaled $100, which were given to a mission work in Kentucky, sponsored by a former member of the church. Grover Ludwig has a seven-year perfect attendance record in the Bible school.

At the Long Beach, Calif., First church Dr. Robert Rayburn preached August 16, Rev. E. L. Langston on August 23, and Rev. Oliver R. Haslam and Bro. Donald Hocking on August 30, reports Pastor Charles Mayes.

The Brethren Missionary Herald Company board of directors elected Evangelist Walter A. Lepp president, Pastor Robert D. Crees vice president, Pastor Clyde G. Balyo secretary, Pastor Ord Gehman treasurer, and Bro. Bryson Feters member-at-large to the executive committee. And, as previously announced, Rev. Arnold R. Kriegbaum is the new editor and business manager, whose duties begin with the next issue of this paper.

Pastor Leslie Moore, of Meyersdale, Pa., spoke at the Huntington, Ind., church August 23. Brother Moore formerly served the Huntington church as pastor.

Dr. Russell D. Barnard is scheduled to preach at the Dayton, Ohio, First church, where he was formerly pastor, September 20, while Pastor William Steffler is on vacation.

The new address of Rev. Archie L. Lynn is the Green Castle, 99 Richmond Ave., Pasadena, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 70.)

Rev. W. H. Schaffer, pastor of the First Brethren Church, Spokane, Wash., preached at the Pleasant Valley Community Church, near Winona Lake, Ind., August 23. This church is pastored by C. Dayton Cundiff, a senior in Grace Seminary and a deacon of the Spokane church. Brother Schaffer gave the keynote address at national conference the next evening.

Rev. Victor H. Meyers, 1953 graduate of Grace Theological Seminary, has accepted the pastorate of the La Verne, Calif., church, effective about September 15. It will be remembered that the Meyerses were candidates for missionary service in Argentina until the health of the son made this impossible for them.

The Bell, Calif., church gave its pastor, Harry A. Sturz, a unanimous call to serve another year. This church conducted a vacation Bible school with an enrollment of 71, of which seven made first-time decisions to receive the Saviour.

A son, David Robert, was born to Rev. and Mrs. Robert Griffith at Lake Odessa, Mich., August 26. Mrs. Griffith is the former Joyce Polman, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Leo Polman.

AIDS FOR SYSTEMATIC PRAYING IN SEPTEMBER

HOME MISSIONS—

1. Pray for the organization and meeting place for a boys' club at Riverside, Johnstown, Pa., where 20 teen-age boys are interested.

2. Pray for the Clayhole, Ky., Sunday school as plans are being made to enter the Christian Life Sunday School Contest again this year. Pray that it will result in the salvation of many people.

3. Praise the Lord for the decisions during the DVBS at Artesia, Calif. Pray that parents will permit these children to be baptized and become a part of the church.

4. Pray for the mission work among the Spanish-American people of New Mexico, and especially for the missionaries, both Anglo and Spanish, who are bearing a testimony in that difficult field.

5. Pray for wisdom for the Brethren Home Missions Council in deciding which opportunities to accept when so many doors are opening for new Brethren churches.

6. Pray that the Lord will help every Brethren reach his individual goal for the Thanksgiving home mission offering.

FOREIGN MISSIONS—

1. Pray for the work in Africa: The Balzers have just returned to the field following furlough. The Sumeys and Miss Schwartz will arrive in the States on furlough during the early part of October. Miss Ruth Snyder expects to return to Africa the latter part of October. The Beavers and Miss Munn and Miss Cripe are planning to leave Africa on furlough during November. The Martin Garbers, Lester Kennedys, Charles Tabers, Misses Geske, Habegger, Jones, and Thurston are now in Africa and getting adjusted to the way of life there. The missionaries on the field have heavier responsibilities in taking the places of those on furlough and in training the new missionaries.

2. Pray for the work in Argentina: The Maconaghys have just returned to the field following furlough. They will be opening a new Brethren testimony as the Lord leads. The national believers are taking a more active part in the work.

3. Pray for the work in Baja California: The Howards have just returned from a very profitable trip down the Sonora coast of Mexico. They are looking toward the establishment of a work in another area. The Haags will remain in the San Ysidro area.

4. Pray for the work in Brazil: The Edward Millers, Zielaskos, and Teeters have tremendous challenges facing them in this vast and needy field. The latter two families are making excellent progress in language study.

5. Pray for the work in France: The Fogles carry on a heavy program of witnessing and pioneering in the Lyon area. The Mason family continue language study, and Dr. Mason will begin a course in tropical medicine in October.

6. Pray for the work in Honolulu: The Lord is blessing with an increase in attendance and the help of interested Christians. This field has innumerable possibilities.

7. Pray for the work of the board: The challenges are thrilling and the needs are great.

GRACE SEMINARY—

1. Praise God for the way He is leading new students to the school, especially to the collegiate department. Pray for these new students, that they may come to Grace seeking not only an education but a deepening, growing spiritual experience.

2. Pray for the entire student body and faculty as the new school year opens, that all may start the year by a deeper consecration to the Lord and a closer walk with Him.

3. Pray for all the new students as they make the necessary adjustments to school, work, and living conditions at Winona Lake. Pray especially that the Lord may provide adequate housing for them.

4. Continue to pray for the finances of the school, especially that many more of our Brethren people will be led to join in the monthly offering plan so that the school can depend on an adequate monthly income to meet the regular needs of the school.

THE HERALD—

1. Pray for Rev. Arnold R. Kriegbaum as he serves as editor and business manager of this company, that he may have wisdom to carry on the work that must be done.

2. Pray for the company as it launches new programs and produces new literature for the Brethren Church, especially as we approach the end of the age.

WMC—

1. Praise the Lord for His goodness to us and for the generous giving of our ladies for the various offerings of the past year.

2. Pray for the newly elected officers—local, district, and national—that truly He will give wisdom and guidance to each.

3. Pray for our foreign WMC organizations in Africa and Argentina.

4. Pray that we will each be instilled with a greater fervor to serve Him sacrificially in the year to come.

5. Pray that the child evangelism efforts may be blessed, and that more may be given the vision of this work.

SMM—

1. Praise the Lord for the blessings of this past year, and pray that we may strive for even greater victories for Christ this coming year.

2. Pray for the devotional life of each SMM girl, that she may be faithful in prayer and Bible study.

3. Pray that the newly elected officers of the local, district, and national SMM's may be led of the Spirit in their various duties.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP—

1. Pray that the young people who made decisions in camp this summer may keep them faithfully.

2. Pray that the young people starting college or Bible school this fall may have every need supplied, and may adjust themselves quickly to their new activities and responsibilities.

3. Pray for the BYF and Brethren Youth Council boards and the youth director, as they plan another year's work.

4. Praise the Lord for the way He has met the financial needs this year.

TREASURES IN ISAIAH 53

By Prof. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., Winona Lake, Ind.

PART VI: THE LAMB THAT DIED FOR SHEEP.

In our last study we saw that Isaiah 53:6 clearly depicts the two ways in which men have sinned against God: racially and personally. You will also notice in this verse that the Holy Spirit compares mankind to a flock of sheep. It has been suggested that this comparison gives us two valuable insights concerning mankind:

(1) A sheep is an animal that is utterly helpless to protect itself against beasts of prey either by sharpness of teeth and claws or by swiftness of foot. Without a shepherd, sheep are both defenseless and lost. This is how God sees the descendants of Adam.

(2) By this comparison, God also seems to look upon our guilty race in a tender, compassionate light. He does not regard us here as vipers or wolves (although such comparisons are justly made in other parts of Scripture—Rom. 3:13), but as foolish and helpless sheep, somehow appealing in their helplessness to the heart of God.

The Universal Provision

The first two parts of this verse are somber indeed. But not until a man has grasped the fact of his own guilt and helplessness in the sight of a holy God, will he be ready to lay hold of the remedy for sin which God has provided. Without a consciousness of sin, no man can be saved. But what a wondrous revelation it is to guilt-laden sinners to discover that while "all we like sheep have gone astray," nevertheless "the Lord hath laid on him [Christ] the iniquity of us all"! Universal need is met, in God's love, by an infinite atonement!

Who Killed Jesus?

But that phrase "laid on him" is a weak translation of the original language. The word really means "to cause to strike or fall upon someone," with the idea of sudden violence resulting in death. The same verb is used in I Kings 2:34—"So Benaiah . . . fell upon him, and slew him." There is no thought of a gentle laying or falling here! But did you notice who struck Jesus with the world's sins, according to this verse? It says that "Jehovah caused to strike upon Him"! Now this is interesting in the light of John 19:23, which says that the Romans crucified Him; and Acts 2:23, which says that the Jews slew Him; and Genesis 3:15, which says that Satan bruised Him; and John 10:19, which says that no one took His life, except He Himself! The fact of the matter is, our blessed Saviour willingly allowed all of these agents to lead Him to the cross. Then He willingly allowed the Father to cause our sins to fall upon Him there (Luke 22:42; II Cor. 5:21). And then He willingly died to exhaust the penalty of those sins in order to open wide the door of heaven for believing sinners. What a salvation! What a Saviour!

The Voluntary Sufferer

Verse 7 emphasizes the voluntary submission of the Servant of Jehovah. Let us never make the mistake of thinking that our Lord was forced to the cross against His will! Pilate said unto Him: "Knowest thou not that I have power to crucify thee, and have power to release thee?" But Jesus answered: "Thou couldest have no power at all against me, except it were given thee from above" (John 19:10-11).

The Silent Sufferer

Now let us paraphrase verse 7 to bring out its full meaning: "He was harassed and He suffered willingly and opened not His mouth; like a lamb that is led to the slaughter-bench, and like a sheep that is dumb before its shearers, He opened not His mouth." It was not difficult for Philip the evangelist to begin at this verse and to preach Jesus to the Ethiopian eunuch (Acts 8:32). For in actual fulfillment, one of the most amazing features of our Lord's sufferings was the fact of His quiet submission. Standing before Pilate, our Lord "answered him to never a word; inasmuch that the governor marvelled greatly" (Matt. 27:14). Twice in our verse the phrase, "he opened not his mouth," is repeated.

The comparison of our Lord to a lamb or a sheep in this verse is based upon the well-known fact that a sheep, as opposed to a pig, has no vocal power to express fear or pain. And so, in true analogy, the Lamb of God had no cries or "tears for His own griefs, but sweat-drops of blood for mine."

A Difficult Verse

Verse 8 has always proved to be a difficult one to translate properly, but it seems to me that the following paraphrase most accurately presents the meaning of the original: "He was snatched away (from the earth) out of the midst of an atmosphere of prison and judicial proceedings; and of His generation (or contemporaries) who considered (God's view of the situation): 'He was snatched away out of the land of the living (from the familiar and joyous scenes of life and fellowship) for the sins of my people to whom the stroke was due.'"

Snatched Away

In this verse we see, first of all, that the emphasis is not laid upon the fact that He was taken away from suffering, but that it was out of the midst of suffering that He was carried off in death. During one single morning, our Lord was rushed through five or six trials, and finally to the cross, in the midst of unspeakable physical torments. But the heartbreak was that none or few meditated upon His true character, or upon the true purpose of His coming into the world to die at the hands of wicked men.

In other words, there were none who truly saw these events as God saw them, that it was actually for the transgressions of His people that Christ suffered the stroke of infinite wrath upon sin. Yes, it was "for such a purpose, that He submitted to such a death, and to such a heart-break, in such a scene, and under such circumstances." Let us therefore, as His blood-bought children, praise God continually for such a Saviour!

A BRIDGE TO HEAVEN

By Rev. Dennis I. Holliday, Waynesboro, Pa.

The famous George Washington Bridge was opened to traffic in 1932. At that time it was the longest suspension bridge in the world. This bridge reaches across the Hudson River, from New York City to the State of New Jersey. It has a span of almost two-thirds of a mile and has an elevation of 155 feet above the water of the river. The distance between the surface of the water and the bottom of the bridge is equal to the height of a 13-story building.

Construction of a Bridge

Another bridge recently opened to the public (1952) is the new Chesapeake Bay Bridge. Until this bridge was opened, folks who wished to go to the other side of the bay had to go around it, or go by water, or fly over it. To cross the bay by ferry would take 20 to 25 minutes. Now one can cross the bay on the new bridge (about for and one-third miles long) in five or six minutes. The bridge ties together nine counties of the State of Maryland on one side of the bay and 14 counties on the other side. This bridge at its highest point is 200 feet above the surface of the water. The Chesapeake Bay Bridge was built at a cost of $44,000,000 and took two and one-half years to construct. The new bridge is designed to accommodate 3,000 vehicles per hour.

We have considered the George Washington Bridge and the Chesapeake Bay Bridge, and now I want to call your attention to the greatest bridge of all time. It is the bridge that reaches from earth to heaven. This is the greatest of all bridges.

Need for Bridge

The world in which we live is filled with sin, misery, and suffering. Man has sinned and so now he suffers the consequences. The Word of God says, "There is none righteous, no, not one," and "there is no difference, for all have sinned" (Rom. 3:10, 22-23). Men are sinners by nature as well as by practice. That is the reason why sin is so prominent in this old world today.

The Bible speaks again and again of a place called "heaven." It is a place where there is no sin (Rev. 21:27). It is the place where God Himself dwells.

Man has never been able to bridge the gap between this old sinful world and heaven itself. The gap is too great. Man is lost, undone, and unable to help himself as far as getting to heaven on his own merit, wisdom, or ability is concerned.

Provision of Bridge

God, in His infinite wisdom and mercy, has provided a Bridge—that Bridge is none other than the Lord Jesus Christ who died on Calvary's cross.

Some bridges today are built at a cost of several million dollars. This bridge, from earth to heaven, cost

Rev. Dennis Holliday

God nothing less than heaven's priceless Jewel—the Lord Jesus Christ. He was the One who gave His life, gave His all, to make possible this bridge from earth to heaven. "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16). The death of Christ makes it possible for you, a sinner, to come to God. Jesus said: "No man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (John 14:6). Jesus also said: "He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation, but is passed from death unto life" (John 5:24).

Adequacy of Bridge

With man-made bridges there is a limit to the number of persons who may cross at any one time. The capacity for the Chesapeake Bay Bridge is about 3,000 vehicles per hour. There is no limit to the capacity of the Bridge of which I speak. Jesus Christ is that bridge. Whosoever will may come to Him, and in so doing pass from death to life (John 5:24). Jesus said: "Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out" (John 6:37).

All who cross over God's bridge, by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, will one day join in the singing of that happy song of the redeemed: "Thou art worthy . . . for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation" (Rev. 5:9).

Dependence on Bridge

My aim has been to point you to the one and only bridge that leads to life eternal. That Bridge is the Lord Jesus Christ, who shed His precious blood on Calvary's cross for you and me. The Bible says: "Without shedding of blood is no remission" (Heb. 9:22). Jesus said just before He went to Calvary: "This is my blood . . . which is shed for many for the remission of sins" (Matt. 26:28). Place your faith in Jesus Christ today and openly acknowledge Him as your Saviour before men, and the moment you accept Him as your own personal Saviour you immediately are no longer under the condemnation of God. In John 3:18 we read: "He that believeth on him is not condemned."

If you have not crossed this bridge, then you are lost and under the condemnation of God, and your eternal destination is hell, to be forever separated from God and separated from loved ones forever. We read in the Book of Mark, chapter 16, verse 16: "He that believeth not shall be damned."

God Himself has made it possible for you to come home. The Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of God who died on that cruel cross on Calvary's hill, is the Bridge to the Father and home. Won't you come home just now by way of the cross of Calvary?

The song writer has given us these appropriate words:

"I must needs go home by the way of the cross,
There's no other way but this;
I shall ne'er get sight of the Gates of Light,
If the way of the cross I miss."

THE PRESIDENT HAS TIME

By Rev. Albert L. Flory, Long Beach, Calif.

Los Angeles, Calif. (First)

During the absence of Pastor Glenn O'Neal on vacation and at the annual conference of the Fellowship of Brethren Churches, the pulpit of the First Brethren Church was occupied by Missionary J. Keith Altig and Prof. John Lundberg, August 9; Rev. George M. Richardson and Rev. Ralph Hatton, August 16; Bro. Howard Vulgamore, August 23; Dr. David Cook and Bro. Stan Hill, August 30; and Brethren Robert McCormick, Bill Farmer, and Dick Button, September 6.

Bro. Howard Vulgamore has been appointed by the school board of the church to be the principal of the Brethren Day School sponsored by this church.

Following the tent meetings recently sponsored by the church, under the leadership of Evangelist R. Paul Miller, a branch Sunday school has been established at 3258 W. Imperial Highway, in the rear of Nivall's Jewelry Store. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKeever are supervising the work. On August 2, the first Sunday of the work, there were 16 people present and there were 20 present the second Sunday.—Selections from weekly bulletins of the church.

Amid the busy routine of a chief executive of the United States, President Eisenhower took time out on Sunday, August 16, to call on a six-year-old boy in Denver, Colo. The boy, Paul Haley, who is doomed to die of cancer, had expressed a desire to see the President of the United States. Having read of this desire, the President went through all the routine of having his Secret Service men go before and with him to make this call and chat with the little fellow.

The Boy Was Speechless

The father was unshaved and the boy was playing in the back yard, with no thought of meeting such a distinguished visitor. When the President entered the room saying, "Paul, I understand you want to see me," the boy was so taken back by the President's smiling face that he was unable to say a word at first. A little later on, the President took him out and showed him the gadgets in his private limousine.

As we read the above account, we were impressed with a little bit of greatness in the fact that a busy man would take time out for a little boy. We were reminded again of the fact that the infinite God, who rules over all, always has time for the little children of His own family whenever these little children are ready to give Him an audience at the throne of grace in prayer.

We Have Immediate Access

In Christ Jesus our Lord "we have boldness and access with confidence" (Eph. 3:12). Through His death on the cross, the Lord has made available an audience with His children at any time, any place, at which time one may speak face to face with God as he would talk to a friend. This gives the child of God the abiding presence of the Lord of all the earth at all times. Thus the Christian has comfort in time of sorrow, strength in times of weakness, encouragement in times of apparent defeat, and everything for every need.—Fifth and Cherry Light.

CHURCH ESTABLISHES VILLAGE

Families belonging to the Gospel Temple of Minneapolis, Minn., of which the Rev. C. O. Stadskev is the pastor, are laying the foundations of their own village on a 100-acre tract of land in Minnetonka township west of Minneapolis. Six homes are now under construction and plans call for a building to house the church and the Christian day school. Mr. Elmo Ginkei is the president of Temple Village, Inc., which organization was effected for this purpose by the 60-family church.

Browsing Among the Books

It is the purpose of this column to bring to the reader's attention some of the books that are being presented to the reading public today. Each book reviewed here will present a message of some merit and worthy of consideration, though a review of a book does not necessarily mean that the reviewer approves everything in it.

Any book mentioned in this column may be purchased from the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Winona Lake, Ind.

HOW TO PREACH FROM THE GOSPEL OF JOHN, by George A. E. Salstrand. Baker Book House. c1953. 114 pp. Cloth. $2.

The writer of this book is a college professor and this book is an outgrowth of his teaching the Gospel according to John to college students. The book is a series of 32 outlines in a homiletical fashion, with some notes, and assignments for written work at the end of each lesson. This volume is more a help to the study of John than it is an interpretation.

WHYTE'S BIBLE CHARACTERS, by Alexander Whyte. Zondervan Publishing House. 2 vols. $12.50 for the set.

There are here 159 studies of a practical nature that deal mostly with the lives of men of both the Old and New Testaments. Originally these sketches were printed in six volumes, but in this new edition they have been printed in two larger but excellently done volumes.

These writings of Dr. Whyte are worthy of the renewed interest shown in bringing forth this edition years after the death of the Scottish author. The reading of these books will greatly enrich the lives of all who give the time required to accomplish the task.

THE BEARING OF RECENT DISCOVERY ON THE TRUSTWORTHINESS OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, by W. M. Ramsay. Baker Book House. 1953. xiv, 427 pp. Cloth. $4.50.

This work has been out of print and it was difficult to find copies of it for a number of years. The Baker Book House is to be congratulated on the fine work done on the volume and for making it available again to students of the New Testament.

In 1911 Dr. Ramsay presented the contents of this book as a series of lectures on the James Sprunt lectureship at Union Theological Seminary in Virginia. Since that time the volume has been in demand. Its value has not been lessened by recent discoveries.

TOWARD THE MARK: STUDIES IN PHILIPPIANS, by Stephen W. Paine. Fleming H. Revell Company. c1953. 191 pp. Cloth. $2.50.

The 16 messages in this volume do not endeavor to cover the entire book; rather they deal with 16 passages that concern themselves with the Christian's daily life. In this connection many very fine things are found in this book.

Some of the titles for the various chapters are very suggestive, as "Who Is Your Hero?" dealing with Philippians 1:21. Other subjects are "Pivotal Transaction," "The Moderate Man," and "The Christian's Blank Check."

It is necessary, however, to remind the reader that he will occasionally meet statements that indicate that the writer is an adherent to John Wesley's doctrine of Christian perfection.

EXPOSITION OF THE GOSPEL OF JOHN, by Arthur W. Pink. Zondervan Publishing House. 3 vols. $11.95 for the set.

When this commentary on John's Gospel first appeared it was in four volumes. In this new edition it has been printed beautifully in three volumes. Because a larger, clearer type was used and because the Scriptural references have been placed at the top of the pages, this is a more readable and usable edition than the previous one. The work is practical, devotional, and with the questions at the end of each chapter it is helpful to the student.

WHAT IT COSTS TO BE A GOOD CHRISTIAN, by John R. Rice. Sword of the Lord Publishers. c1952. 223 pp. Cloth. $2.25.

This book will prove beneficial in the hands of young Christians, for here the author deals with discipleship in its various degrees. His plea is for an all-out yieldedness to the Saviour and Lord of the soul.

In the seven sermons that compose this volume the writer deals with problems that confront all Christians

ASSEMBLY ELECTS OFFICERS

The board of directors of the Winona Lake Christian Assembly recently met and elected Miss Louise Alfors assistant manager and asked her to continue as manager pro tem until a successor to Dr. Arthur W. McKee has been secured. Mr. R. G. LeTourneau, Longview, Tex., president of the board, appointed a committee of five men to search for a new manager and to report their findings back to the board.

At this meeting Dr. Paul R. Bauman, vice president of Grace Theological Seminary, and Dr. Louis T. Talbot, chancellor of Talbot Seminary and the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, were added to the board of directors.

It was announced that $75,000 was spent in improvements during the past year, that the new motels on the island are to be known as the "McKee Courts," and that the Trinity Builders, of Chicago, Ill., plan to build and present to the Assembly a prayer chapel to seat 150 people. This building is to be located on the knoll between the Tabernacle and the Auditorium—the area near where the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church was born.

PRAYER AND TEARS

After the death of McCheyne, the most devout and fervid of Scotland's sons, a minister called to see his manse and pulpit.

The old sexton took him reverently into the library and bade him sit down at his desk. "Now," he said, put your elbows on the desk and your face between your hands, and bow your head. Now let the tears flow. That was the way my pastor studied."

Then the sexton took him to the church and made him stand at the pulpit, open the Bible, and again put his face between his hands and bow his head. "Now," he said again, "let the tears flow. That was the way my pastor preached and prayed."—A. B. Simpson.

so long as they live in the world, but not of it. He points the way to the proper kind of decisions and the values that accrue from making these right decisions.

I'VE WORKED MORE . . .

"Daddy, you haven't given me my 'lowance for helping Mama this week. I've worked hard, too, because I helped to do Dorotheann's work since she had the mumps."

Daddy's dark-haired, bright-eyed girlie was hard at work shining some copper-clad kettles when she reminded him of his oversight. He stopped to watch Sharon as she polished. With a twinkle in his eye, Daddy stepped close to her and asked: "Will 10 cents be enough?"

"Oh Daddy, I worked more than 10 cents." Rebuke and hurt burned in her eyes. "You just ask Mama."

With a gentle pat on her head, Daddy whispered: "Come see me when you have finished here and you'll get your allowance."

Vigorously applying "elbow grease" Sharon was soon finished her job and skipped off to find her daddy. She knew when he patted her head that he was just teasing about giving her only 10 cents. Her little heart rested in the assurance that Daddy would be fair with her.

After this it seemed natural that Mother should go to meditating about a day when the secrets of all men's hearts will be laid open before Him with whom we have to do. Many a task done in the energy of the flesh will have gone through the fire and been burned. There will be no reward. In exceeding bitterness of soul such saints will turn away ashamed. Saved? Oh yes, praise God! But sorry and so ashamed of empty hands. No sheaves to lay at His feet.

"I worked more than 10 cents. . . ." Or "I'm sure I deserve better than this." And the answer will come back: "I know, dear child. But much of your work was wasted energy because the motives of your heart were not pure." Then the disappointed child of God will be forced to acknowledge that God's books were kept with absolute accuracy. He read every motive back of every deed; therefore His judgments will all be fair.

"Every man's work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every [prove each] man's work of what sort it is. If any man's work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward. If any man's work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss; but he himself shall be saved; yet so as by fire" (I Cor. 3:13-15).

What loss! What a niggardly entrance into the presence of earth's King of kings and Lord of lords! Lord God keep us vigorous and energetic in working for Thee. But while we work, keep us aware that the adversary of our souls is ever working to sully our offering to Thee. Keep us pure of heart and motive that Thou alone may be honored and glorified. Give us an abundant entrance into Thy holy presence.

"Just one life, 'twill soon be past;
Only what's done for Christ will last."

P. S. Sharon was fully and fairly rewarded.

PRACTICING GOD'S PRESENCE

Practice to make God thy last thought at night when thou sleepest and thy first thought when thou wakest; so shall thy fancy be sanctified in the night, and thy understanding be rectified in the day; so shall thy rest be peaceful and thy labors prosperous.—Quarles.

JUST LIVING

Five-year-old Maurice was so quiet his mother became suspicious of his whereabouts. She found him sitting on the floor perfectly quiet, just doing nothing. When asked what he was doing, he replied: "I'm just living."—Prophecy Monthly.

Farewell - Reminder

To the church at Corinth, the Apostle Paul wrote: "Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you" (II Cor. 13:11).

These are the last lines to be written by the undersigned as editor of this paper. As he leaves this office he prays that the Lord of the church, even Jesus Christ, will richly bless the new editor, the Rev. Arnold Kriegbaum, who is assuming responsibility for the next issue of this paper.

It is also our earnest prayer that each subscriber will earnestly pray for Brother Kriegbaum and will do all within his or her power to increase the scope and influence of the Brethren Missionary Herald magazine. Brother Kriegbaum comes with new ideas and programs for this magazine, but he needs the help of all to make it a success.

As the writer leaves this office he returns to the pastorate—a love for which never left his soul. He shall continue to pray for and work for the welfare of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company.

Let us again make a reminder concerning all mail intended for the Brethren Missionary Herald Company. Be sure not to use the retiring editor's name on such mail. Arrangements are being made to have our mail forwarded to 2200 Kensington St., Harrisburg, Pa. If mail arrives at the Winona Lake Post Office bearing the retiring editor's name it will be forwarded to him. Now you can readily see that if the mail was intended for the editor and it is forwarded to us it will have to be returned, and that all takes time.

Also please remember that the reader of the Herald can save the company much money and labor by notifying the subscription clerk of a change of address when you move. Magazines will not be forwarded, rather they are returned to the sender and he must pay the postage two ways on such mail. Help your company by giving notice of your intention to move to a new address. Let all of us do all we can to help our company—the Brethren Missionary Herald Company.

TREASURES IN ISAIAH 53

By John C. Whitcomb, Jr.

PART VII:

THE FIRST STEP BACK TO CALVARY

The best-laid plans of men concerning the burial of Christ were totally frustrated by the plan of God. Nowhere in Scripture is the unerring providence of God more clearly depicted than in the appearance of Joseph of Arimathea following the death of Christ, and in his successful request for the body of Jesus. In the ninth verse of Isaiah 53, this amazing event is predicted. Let us first give a literal translation of this verse, and then consider its meaning: "And they [the enemies of Christ] assigned Him His grave with sinners; but [instead of being buried as a criminal, he was] with a rich man in his death, because He had done no wrong, and there was no deceit in His mouth."

Shameful Burial Planned

The fact that our Lord was buried in a rich man's tomb is truly amazing when we realize that the Jews did not plan it that way. Not content with His shameful crucifixion between two thieves, "they (likewise) appointed His grave with the wicked." This was the custom of the times. David Baron points out that "it is universally true that persons put to death as criminals have had an ignominious grave. Even after death shame has followed them, though after ages have often reversed the award and built monuments to them. This was especially true with the Jews. Josephus states in his book, 'The Antiquities of the Jews,' 'He that blasphemeth God let him be stoned, and let him hang upon a tree all the day and then let him be buried in an ignominious and obscure manner.'"

A Rich Man's Tomb

All four Gospels tell how Joseph of Arimathea, a "rich man," came boldly to Pilate and begged the body of Jesus. On one other occasion, Pilate had unwittingly carried out God's plan in frustrating Jewish designs (i. e., the superscription on the cross, John 19:22); and so now, in like manner, his strange submission to Joseph's request was another illustration of how God moves even wicked men to fulfill His Word. The fact of the matter was that the humiliation of the Lord Jesus had ended, as far as God the Father was concerned. The penalty of sin had been exhausted at Calvary when Jesus cried out, "It is finished!" Therefore the Father would permit no further indignities to be heaped upon His blessed Son, and the rich man's tomb became the first step in the Servant's exaltation to the Father's right hand.

After the spear thrust of the Roman soldier, wicked men would never again see Jesus until the second coming (Rev. 1:7). Why was the Servant thus delivered from a shameful burial? "Because He had done no violence, neither was deceit in his mouth." The disposal of His body had nothing to do with the atonement: the work was done! Therefore, even as the Lord once spoke to the angry surging waters, so now He spoke, as it were, to those who had taken counsel together against Him and against His anointed: "Hitherto shalt thou come, but no further: and here shall thy proud waves be stayed" (Job. 38:11).

The Death of Deaths

We cannot leave this 9th verse without taking a glance at the phrase "in his death." The Hebrew word for "death" in this verse is plural, and so we get the translation, "in his deaths." The idea here is one of intensity or exaggeration, and suggests a death so horrible as to be compared with dying again and again. Thus, God said to the Prince of Tyre: "Thou shalt die the deaths of the uncircumcised by the hand of strangers" (Ezek. 28:10). And in Jeremiah 16:4 the same word is translated: "They shall die of grievous deaths." Surely in the use of this plural word of intensity, the Spirit of God would give us a glimpse into the infinite bitterness of that cup of death, which our Saviour tasted for every man!

The Eternal Purpose

Whereas Isaiah 53:7-9 depicts the climax of Christ's substitutionary sufferings, the last three verses of the chapter (10-12) describe His exaltation in heaven, where He carries on His mediatorial, intercessory work. Verse 10 begins with a repetition of the all-important truth that Christ's death was Jehovah's work. "And it pleased Jehovah to bruise Him, to afflict Him with disease" (literal translation).

But remember that the word "pleased" here does not mean that the Father delighted in our Lord's sufferings! When the word is used this way in the Bible, it refers to will or purpose (compare Judg. 13:23). It was the will and purpose of both Father and Son that Calvary should be the means of our redemption.

Our Trespass-Offering

Verse 10 concludes with a remarkable series of statements: "If His soul would pay a trespass-offering, He should see posterity, should live long days, and the purpose of Jehovah should prosper through His hand" (literal translation). The idea is not that we offer Christ's soul, but that Christ offers His own soul as a trespass-offering. In Leviticus 1-7, five different kinds of offerings are described: burnt (the offering of worship); peace (knitting of fellowship); meal (sanctifying consecration); sin (substitutionary atonement); and finally, the trespass-offering (compensating payment).

Each one of these offerings points toward some aspect of Christ's work on our behalf at the cross, whether in making good our lack of devotedness (the first three, or "sweet savour offerings"), or in suf-

HOW TO LIVE LIKE A CHRISTIAN

By Forest Lance, Findlay, Ohio

"And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him" (Col. 3:17).

Paul, in writing to the Christians at Colosse, seeking to instruct them in the manner of their Christian living as relating to every aspect of their daily conduct regarding both "things" and people, gives to them and to us that all-inclusive exhortation, "Whatsoever ye do . . . do all in the name of the Lord Jesus." It is His name that we bear as believers; it is His name that we are to glorify as redeemed children of God!

In teaching, the Brethren Church has been loyal to the great doctrine of Christian Living. In practice, we must demonstrate our teaching. We dare not fall into the great apostasy of life which one beholds in much of professed Christendom. Whereas there are many churches today which have left the foundational truths of Christianity, there is also a great percentage of churches which, although still teaching many of the cardinal aspects of Christianity, have neglected that which is of great importance—"How to live like a Christian." Satan knows that he can destroy the effectiveness of a pure message if he can, first of all, destroy the purity of the messenger. In the Brethren Church and without, the great need of the day is that individuals naming the name of Christ be greatly concerned that they "do all in the name of the Lord Jesus."

Christian living is but a twofold process: "Put off the old man" and "put on the new man" (Col. 3:9-10). First of all, let us consider the putting off "the old man." Technically, the act of ridding ourselves of the "old man" is accomplished for us at Calvary, that is, the moment we first believe. Paul's teaching in these verses in Colossians describes this twofold process not as something which we OUGHT to do, but rather as something which we have ALREADY done! Christ, through His death upon Calvary, has given us the victory over the old nature, over "the old man," over all that which we did by nature, being the sons of Adam. Yet, the Word of God nowhere affirms that "the old man" is completely destroyed. Therefore, aside from the technical, there remains the practical, and that is that we must constantly be in the process of saying "no" to those things which were quite natural to us before our salvation, including "fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, covetousness . . . anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth" and that we should "lie not one to another" (Col. 3:5, 8-9). Paul says that for the sake of these things the wrath of God will fall upon the "children of disobedience."

There remains the next step—"and put on the new man." How important is this exhortation. The failure of many in successfully saying "no" to the "old man" lies in the fact that they have never honestly and sincerely said "yes" to the "new man." True Christianity is not a mere negative life, but it is filled with that powerful, positive, radiant manifestation of Christ, who is the "new man" abiding within the believer.

But Christ will not assume this role of manifestation without the willingness of the believer. As Dr. A. J. Gordon so beautifully demonstrates in his book, "Quiet Talks on Power," in every believers heart there is a cross and a throne. Each day we must decide as to which will ascend, the throne or the cross. If we are placed upon the throne there is but one place for Christ—the cross. But if we willingly place ourselves upon the cross, denying ourselves daily, Christ assumes the throne. Thus we live the Christian life properly! Dying unto self and living unto Christ, or putting off the old man and putting on the new is the secret.

What then is the result of living like a Christian? Paul, in Galatians 6:14, 16-17, after having announced his intention of glorying in the cross of Jesus Christ only, thus assuring his separation from the world, declares that for all those who "walk accordingly" a threefold result takes place. First, they have peace in their own hearts! Believing one thing and doing another brings turmoil and unrest to the Christian's heart. Living like a real Christian makes for a comfortable heart! Second, they fulfill their obligations to lost mankind. Paul says, "From henceforth let no man trouble me." Surely he had in mind his debt of love unto lost men (cf. Rom. 1:14). As he exalted Christ by life and by word of mouth, it was that he paid his debt. If our lives are incompatible with our lips we are beclouding the path of eternal life! Finally, Paul declares, "I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus." Thus the third result of Christian living—we glorify Christ. We prove to men that God was just in permitting His Son to pay the price for our redemption, and we lift His glorious person above the reproach of wicked and selfish men!

Thus we live like a Christian! And if some would say, "The price is too great," let the following words weigh deep within their hearts:

"Jesus, and shall it ever be,
A mortal man ashamed of Thee?
Ashamed of Thee, whom angels praise,
Whose glories shine thru endless days?"

A HEART FOR SOULS!

EVANGELISM

A NEW SONG IN MY HEART

By Charles Bergerson, Pianist, Team No. 2, Evangelistic Crusade

You have a song in your heart every time you do the will of the Lord in a specific manner. If you, by the Spirit, shunned the call of an evil deed or thought upon your soul, you had a song in your heart. If you, by the Spirit, were able to witness to the saving grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, you had a song in your heart. If you, by the Spirit, were able to bring a person to a saving knowledge of Christ, you had a song in your heart. Some blessed experience, when God proved all that He said He would do for you if you simply trusted in Him, proved to give you a song in your heart.

Indeed, the song of which we speak is not a performance of Mendelssohn's "If With All Your Heart," or Bizet's "Agnus Dei," or even of Schuler's "Overshadowed," as such, but it is an evidence of the blessing which God bestows upon those who are obedient to His will in the wisdom of winning souls to Christ. It is not so much a song which is heard, but which rather is seen, for the psalmist says of this new song that "many shall see it."

The 40th Psalm speaks of the Messiah, our Lord Jesus Christ, waiting patiently for the Lord who subsequently inclined unto Messiah's cry and brought Him up out of the pit of the grave and in resurrection set His feet upon a rock. The resultant song is one of praise and blessing because of having come to do God's specific will in bringing to God through the sacrifice of Himself those whom God had given to Him. "Lo, I come," said the Messiah. "I delight to do thy will . . . I have preached righteousness . . . I have not refrained my lips . . . I have not hid thy righteousness . . . I have not concealed thy lovingkindness and thy truth."

All this song of praise to God for His righteousness, loving kindness, and truth is for the express purpose that "many shall see it, and fear, and shall trust in the Lord." Thus for us also it is apparent that this new song of the heart and mouth is for the consuming purpose of winning souls to the Lord. It is much more than a song for performance before a critical audience; it is a song of life, of conviction, of consistency: the harmony of the Spirit of God and a yielded Christian life, sung to the melody of the will of God, all of this making music to fill the souls of the unsaved and to win them to Christ. But this song, says the psalmist, finds expression from the mouth as an evidence of the conviction and confidence of the heart.

Yes, may the music of your life, the song of your heart and mouth, fulfill the ultimate, grand, and eternal purpose of causing many to trust in the Lord for their salvation. The best song that can be performed on the lips and mouth must come from the heart and not the head, the song of obedience and accomplishment in God's will of bringing many sons into glory.

fering because of our disobedience (the last two, or "nonsweet savour offerings").

Now in verse 10 of Isaiah 53, we find the only direct mention in Scripture of the fact that Christ was our trespass-offering. This particular offering (asham) was a compensating payment, or restitution for wrongs ignorantly done against the holy proceedings of the temple or levitical law (Lev. 5:16). It refers to guilt incurred whenever there is moral or ceremonial sin through error, neglect, or ignorance. Thus, the self-sacrifice of Christ made full payment for every debt we owed to God, and paved the way for God to show Himself abundantly gracious on behalf of every believing sinner!

In our final study next week, we shall see some of the other amazing results of Calvary, especially with respect to the present and future ministry of our blessed Lord.

Ashamed of Jesus! sooner far
Let evening blush to own a star;
He sheds the beams of light divine
O'er this benighted soul of mine.
Ashamed of Jesus! that dear Friend
On whom my hopes of heaven depend!

No; when I blush, be this my shame,
That I no more revere His name.
Ashamed of Jesus! yes, I may
When I've no guilt to wash away;
No tear to wipe, no good to crave,
No fears to quell, no soul to save.
Till then, nor is my boasting vain,
Till then I boast a Saviour slain;
And O, may this my glory be,
That Christ is not ashamed of me!"

MOMENTS on the MOUNT

BESIDE STILL WATERS

By Gene Farrell

The writer never shared David's experience as a shepherd, but as a lad he knew the value of "still waters." Reared on the shores of Lake Erie, the most shallow of the Great Lakes—and therefore the most dangerous in a storm—how his heart used to sink when a nor'easter began to blow! That often meant three days of heavy seas and no chance to get out in his little rowboat for a nice mess of yellow-belly perch. And say, were they good to eat!

The same thing applied many times in the case of a sou'wester. Often when we arrived at the shore after the three-block trek from home, fish poles on one shoulder and oars on the other, we would find the water blown out so far that our little craft was left high and dry. And when either of these winds began to blow a gale while we were out fishing—well, the only sensible thing to do was to weigh anchor as quickly as possible, slip the oars into the oarlocks, and pull for shore and home.

Still waters—yes, we knew the value of them as a lad, but it wasn't until later life that we knew the value of those waters of which David wrote in the famous 23d Psalm—those waters of spiritual blessing which alone can meet the need of the human heart.

First of all, may we say in regard to these waters that you won't find them in this world. The world has lots of water, but it isn't still—lots of pasture, but it isn't green. Oh, it looks attractive enough at first. It looked good to Solomon. No man ever made a more diligent search for the still waters than he did—that is, "under the sun." And what is more, he had the means with which to ply his quest—the greatest kingdom of that day, health, worldly wisdom, billions, etc. But he came to this conclusion, as should every thinking person who reads his testimony: "Vanity of vanities, saith the preacher; all is vanity" (Eccl. 12:8).

And then, in the second place, you won't find them without the Shep- herd. David knew the secret. He said, "The Lord is my shepherd . . . he leadeth me beside the still waters" (Psa. 23:1-2). David had no ear for the other shepherds. They might allure those in the many nations around him. They might find followers among his own people. But as for him, "his heart was fixed, trusting in the Lord" (Psa. 112:7b). He was well acquainted with the voice of the Lord, for His Word was his "meditation all the day" (Psa. 119:97).

Gene Farrell

There has never been a day when false shepherds have been so numerous and have allured so many. They are like the four lepers of II Kings 7, gathering spoil on a day of good tidings. They are like the hirelings of which Jesus spoke in John 10 who flee when the wolf cometh. But the credentials have never changed—the nailprints, the precious blood, the deity, the virgin birth, the inspired Word, the blessed hope, etc. There is only one Shepherd who can offer this, for He is not the best, but the only Shepherd, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Finally, you won't find them without becoming one of His sheep. David knew the Lord personally. He said, "The Lord is MY shepherd."

We heard Dr. William Evans say one time that he had preached many a funeral sermon, and had felt keenly for the bereaved, but one day the wreath was on his door. One day it was his Dorothy. What a difference that made. After that he could really weep with those that wept. And so it is with us. We must appropriate Christ's work personally. We must apply the blood to the doorposts and lintel of our own hearts. A mere doctrinal salvation will not do. An emotional experience isn't the thing for which we should seek. A good moral life through heeding the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount won't count. No; we must take Him. We must know the Shepherd as well as the Psalm. We must bend our will to His. Then, and only then, can we be led beside those heavenly waters of which Jesus said, "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid" (John 14:27).

VENERATION

God never made a marionette,
Incapable of choice,
Manipulated by caprice;
Respondent to His voice.

Had God desired a manikin—
His name to glorify—
No doubt He would have patterned one
To mimic and reply.

But not a puppet did He form—
Self-ego to elate;
Nor plan a human being whom
His will might dominate.

No robots were created, for God had no use for such Monstrosities within His realm;
He loves free will too much.

God regiments no worship from Automatons; but of Free choice by those who reverence
Him—
Requiting perfect love.

God fashioned man with intellect
And freedom to decide
The goal of his attainment,
Uncoerced and dignified!

—Wm. Wallace Ellis.

"Why are you leaving the ministry and going into the chaplain's work?" is the question that has been asked of me so many times in these past months. Let me try to explain to you the reason.

The very first thing that must be understood is this, that I am not leaving the ministry in any sense of the word. I feel rather that I've been called into a further service for my Lord. The same decision that every minister, missionary, or Christian worker makes, I made. It was to be in the place where I could be of the most value to the ministry of "the word of reconciliation."

To be sure there is a background to my decision, as there is to any that is made for the Lord's work. The background for this work began when I was in the armed forces during the war years of World War II. During the four years that were spent in the Marine Corps, I had ample time to see and realize the spiritual opportunities that could be had by those that represented the precious faith of our Lord Jesus Christ. Sad to say that there were some that failed at this most crucial time to meet the spiritual needs of the serviceman. Because of this, and many other things, there came in me a very tender desire to be able to meet, in some way, the need for the serviceman in these hectic days of unrest and spiritual blackness.

With this feeling I entered our seminary and received the finest kind of preparation for the ministry. I was given a groundwork and foundation in the Word, and tools by which to make that Word a living thing for myself as well as those that

Lee Jenkins

I was to minister to in the future. After finishing the work at Grace Seminary I was led into the pastorate and continued in that place for three years. It was a fruitful time because the Lord gave me a people that were able to help me and give me the encouragement that a new man in the ministry needed. The work grew, the people themselves grew, and the testimony for the Lord was increased. Yet with all of this there was something that was yet to come. It came in the form of the Korean conflict when again the young men and women of our country were being called into the service of that country. Out of the church I served many of the young men went. Without exception came back the plea in their letters and personal conversations, "Help us to meet the spiritual part of our training." Yes, in the armed forces the ranks were low in chaplains, those that had the care of your son, your husband, your friend. Again there came to my mind the question of my responsibility to my Lord, who had given so much for me, "Is this your place?"

I cannot go into all the things that entered into the decision, such as the heartache that would be forthcoming because of separation from a people that I had learned to love, and a work that had given me knowledge that I was working in a small place in His vineyard.

The decision has been made, the papers signed, the orders have been given, and now shortly I will be reporting for the particular work that I feel with my whole heart the Lord has laid out for me.

Along with the question, "Why?" had come another, "What about your wife and family?" If my wife were to speak she would tell you that she has been a great part of my ministry and this decision. She knows that she has a part in the work, for she too has been called to "the word of reconciliation" on the very basis of her salvation as is every person that has called on the name of Jesus Christ for mercy. It is true that we will be separated, perhaps for long periods of time, but in Him we will have that peace that will pass all understanding. Was it easy for Him to go to Calvary for us?

His service comes to us all and often it takes the form that we least considered. The Brethren Church has sent out from its fold untold workers for the church, the mission field, the youth work, and now it has sent some of its men for this work. Our prayer as we have gone and continue to go is, pray for us as you do the others. The end we work toward in every phase of the Brethren Church is the salvation of souls.

WMC PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE—NATIONAL CONFERENCE—1953

"COME YE APART"

By Mrs. Kenneth Ashman, Wooster, Ohio

Introduction—It was a frightened mother who peered deep into the well where her little boy had just plunged. Her frantic turmoil of mind and heart, however, was soon quieted. Her little boy called forth from the murky darkness of the abandoned pit: "Don't worry, Mommie. I was walking along with Jesus. I was talking with Him, and I didn't see the well. But when I fell in, He fell in with me, and I'm all right."

This child-like trust must have been shared by the disciples of the Lord. You will remember that they had been sent forth into the fields to harvest souls for the Master. There had been some victories, but there had been some deep pitfalls into which they stumbled. But they had been serving Him and they were safe. In fact, when their labors were completed He said unto them: "Come ye yourselves apart into a desert place, and rest a while" (Mark 6:31a).

When Jesus returned to Nazareth he faced bitter disappointment—they received Him not. He could do no mighty work among them. He could only marvel at their unbelief. He therefore spent much time with His disciples. He instructed them by the use of illustrations, parables, and the performing of many miracles. He then sent them forth, two by two, to put to use, in personal witnessing, that which He had taught them and revealed unto them. It was upon the occasion of their return that Christ's invitation to rest was presented. In our text the 30th verse tells us that when they returned from this first effort at serving the Lord, they "told him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught." In this report there were both victories and defeats. They had, no doubt, many questions to urge upon the Master, questions arising from their new experiences and new situations. It is worth noting that for this very close fellowship between the disciples and their Lord, they went apart into a desert place, "for there were many coming and going, and they had no leisure so much as to eat." This is a beautiful picture of what Christ beckons unto us when we have faithfully served. And it is a perfect pattern of where and how we should retreat unto Him.

Yes, their need for separation and rest was great, and the love of their compassionate Saviour was sufficient unto their needs. "Come ye . . . apart . . . and rest!" How like our Master to see and know our needs even before we know them ourselves. There was so much activity—so much coming and going that they didn't even have time to eat—theirs was the need of rest indeed. Does this not bring to mind our own spiritual condition upon many occasions. There is so much "activity" in our lives that we find it difficult to care for the greatest need of all—feasting and meditating upon His Word, in fellowship with Him.

The word "come" is a command, meaning "to move toward the one issuing the command." Christ gave the command and the disciples came unto Him. So it is with us today. When we move toward the Lord in answer to His call, that is forward motion indeed. The press of the multitude kept the disciples from eating the necessary bread of life. Let us be careful that the affairs of life do not press us so closely that we have no time for eating the "manna from heaven," the spiritual food we need.

In our studies of the past year we considered the theme, "Lovest Thou Me?" We learned much about the word "love" and its manifestation in our lives. Our Saviour gave us the supreme example of love when He, who knew no sin, gave His life to redeem us who were born in sin. Is it not wonderful that this same Saviour is so understanding, so loving, so humble, that He stands beckoning to us to "come" anew every day? To the sinner He beckons, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Oh, how much lighter the load becomes when we share it with a friend—with the Friend, even Jesus. To the lost in heathen darkness He said, "I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life." He bids the wandering Jew, who labors in keeping the law, to come and be freed from the law—"for by grace are ye saved." To each man, in his particular need, the Lord calls. The invitation is clear, it is for all. Jesus welcomes all, regardless of creed, race, or color. He says to come for salvation, for spiritual strength, and for rest in His love.

As we meditate upon the word "apart" we find it means "to separate from something—to be by oneself." The disciples had been laboring in the public places, the press of life being great upon them. Jesus realized they needed rest to prepare them for the greater tests and tasks ahead. We must retire from those things which tire us to gain rest. Our Women's Missionary Council endeavors afford a blessed opportunity for spiritual retreat if we so use them. Has our labor through the past year been a spiritual rest "apart" for us? If not, we need to ask ourselves these questions: Do we come apart? Do we leave the cares of the day and come to our meetings expecting to be refreshed, anticipating a spiritual blessing? Do we come with un-Christian personal feelings? Do we come with a lack of understanding of the purposes and the plans at hand? Do we come with the proper preparation for our part in the program? Do we come with a good report of the work commissioned unto us, have we functioned as assigned, has our committee accomplished its task? Coming "apart to rest" does not imply inactivity—it implies new, different endeavors. Our meetings afford this opportunity for us. We'll find ourselves refreshed if we willingly withdraw ourselves apart to do the work, being empowered thus to launch out into deeper channels as the Lord leads.

Let us examine the work the disciples were doing. This should challenge our hearts. They had been doing personal work. Oh, what blessings and strength we gain when we are thus out witnessing for the Lord. That new babe in Christ needs help, needs encouragement, needs instruction in facing new temptations, a new way of living. How much it means to have that arm of Christian love to lean upon and to strengthen one in the time of need. Then, too, there may be many older Christians facing disappointment, sorrow, and misfortune. These we may minister unto in the Lord's name. How good it is to know that somebody cares and understands.

The disciples had been giving out the Word. We too may be teachers of the truth of God. Perhaps our most powerful way of making the Word known is through our consecrated daily living. We need to examine ourselves. Are we living a consistent life for the Lord? Another method we may use is the distribution of gospel tracts. If it is hard for us to speak out for the Lord, we can always find suitable portions of literature to present. Jesus promised: "My word . . . shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that . . . whereto I sent it." A third avenue of service open to us in dealing with God's Word is to declare it and to meditate upon it together. This we do in our monthly meetings especially. Our hearts are thrilled as we thus minister one to another. There is a growing need, and certainly a wide-open door of opportunity, in the presentation of the Word through children's classes, such as child evangelism. This affords a wonderful opportunity to get the Word into homes that otherwise would be closed to the Gospel.

True it is that much time is required to prepare to thus present the Word of God. It takes time to study, to organize, to meditate, to prepare—but upon whose time are we living after all? Each year we have consecration services when we yield ourselves to the Master's service. Sometimes, when we see the unwillingness to assume the yoke of the Master, we are forced to wonder what depth of meaning these consecration services actually possess. Is it a mere form that we go through to meet a goal, or is this a time when we actually place ourselves, our talents, our material substance upon the altar of His service and glory?

The disciples were out ministering unto the sick. This is a big place of service for women of the church. We may actually visit them, cheering them with portions from the Word of God. This kindly ministry is always appreciated and is much worth while. Then, too, the power called down as a result of united prayer for the sick can bring about healing of the physical body and comfort to the soul. In a very practical way we can remember the sick with cards, flowers, or some other tokens of helpfulness and cheer. So many times we have heard this testimony: "I never knew how much it meant to receive cards until I became ill myself." Our ministry need not be limited to the sick one—needs in the family circle may be noted and supplied. A pie, a cake, a dish of food, a completed washing, a cleaned house—these presented "in Christ's name," where there is need, will be honored of Him and will be the means of untold blessing to all involved.

The disciples were spending time in prayer. Our missionaries depend upon us for prayer support. Their strength for daily tasks comes from above, even as does our own. How wonderful to share in the prayer that moves the hand of God to supply that strength. We may spend some time each day in special missionary prayer. And we certainly should participate fully in the monthly "Day of Prayer." It may not be generally known that this monthly special time of intercession originated upon the mission field. They felt the need. We feel it as well. Remember, it is written, "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man [woman] availeth much."

Yes, as the disciples had multiplied opportunities to serve the Lord, and thus needed their time of spiritual refreshing, so we, with our many avenues of service challenging us, need to come apart and rest awhile. We must find His will for our lives and be submissive to that will. Paul testified, "I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision." We too must have the same consecration of heart and life.

And, as we labor, so we must rest. There are times when, like the Lord, we must draw apart from all others and all else. Jesus often retired to the mountains or desert to be alone—alone with God. After He had marvelously fed the 5,000 hungry followers, He went apart to refresh His spirit and to seek counsel from His Father. He returned from that tryst with God to manifest even greater power over Satan and the world than before. How like the Master we must be if we are to be victorious for His glory.

The familiar story of Mary and Martha presents a perfect illustration of two types of Christians. Martha was that Christian who, busily serving, became much encumbered. Her service was necessary and good, but, because she thought of nothing more, it became a burden unto her. Mary, on the other hand, drew herself apart for that better thing—sitting at the feet of Jesus. In other words, she drew apart to rest awhile. Even so we must drop the activities of the day, sit down at the feet of Jesus, rest upon Him, and thus be strengthened for the greater tasks that lie before. It has been well said: "He who carves so steadily that he has no time to sharpen his knife, works with a dull tool and cannot make much headway." Even so, Christians who take no time for "resting with the Lord" work with dull spiritual tools and are prone to be ineffective in their labors for Christ.

Rest is a cessation of labor or exertion, of action or motion of any kind. Rest means disturbance removed, bringing peace and tranquility. I have saved the "rest" until last because I believe it brings a real benediction to our theme. We need physical rest for our bodies, for often our greatest trials and misunderstandings seem to come when we are tired and in need of physical rest. This is the time of some of Satan's most devastating victories. We need spiritual rest for our hearts. This we obtain by taking time out for our own personal daily devotions. When we thus come we need to be quieted before Him. "Even as dew never falls on a stormy night, even so it is that God's grace cannot fall upon a restless soul." The stillness of our minds and hearts gives God a chance to bless. "He that is entered into his rest, he also hath ceased from his own works, as God did from his." Our minds need rest. Our thoughts are not always God's thoughts. We need to cease from our own

CANDLELIGHT DEDICATION SERVICE

Song—"Jesus Calls Us."

President to Read the Scripture -Romans 12:1-2.

Remarks by the President—

We come at this time to renew our membership in the WMC for another year. Realizing the gracious privilege that is ours in being able to serve our blessed Lord in this capacity, we humbly bow in His presence. Our prayer is that He may cleanse our lives and use us to His glory.

Have all members read in unison the pledge on the membership card; lay their membership cards on the table in front of the cross, and kneel in prayer and dedication.

Instructions—Use a cross (one of crepe paper and cardboard will do); place it upright on the table. The cross should be the dominating feature of the meeting, but candles of blue and silver on either side of the cross will add to the beauty of the scene.

After the prayer of dedication by the president, all the members will join in singing the song, "Have Thine Own Way, Lord."

The secretary should sit at the table by the cross, placing the gold or silver star on each individual card presented.

EDITOR'S REPORT—AUGUST 1953

Dear Colaborers with Christ in WMC,

This is a hard report to write. For better than two weeks your editor has been trying to get this off the slate, but not an inspiration would come. Now, after some 30 minutes of staring at a clean sheet of paper in her typewriter, she still does not know where to start or what to say. She has tried to give a good and acceptable account of herself in the past four years while serving as WMC Herald editor. This is her last report in this capacity. Perhaps that is the reason it is so difficult to write.

The past year has been one of blessing through trial to your editor. Refreshment was her reward as each issue of the WMC Herald was gathered up and sent off to Winona Lake. She must confess that not every issue was perfect either in content or form. But God, who judges all things well because He sees the heart, overruled feeble efforts. We did the very best we could with the materials we had and the cooperation the different councils gave us. We can only pray that you both enjoyed the women's issue of the Brethren Missionary Herald and were inspired and blessed because of its message. We did all things as unto Him.

In the four years she has served the Lord in this capacity your editor has tried to inspire the women of the Brethren Church to a deeper devotion to their Lord and a more consecrated work effort through WMC. She has attempted to give the women's paper a new lift with a direct homemaker, mother appeal. Her aim has been to make this the home issue of the Herald because she believes with all her heart that this is a need in the Brethren Church. This type of reading material and appeal ties in very well with the work and news of WMC. From the response by letter and word of mouth, especially when some items had to be omitted a month or so because of lack of space, this aim has in a measure been realized.

With the September issue your new editor takes over. Your retiring editor bespeaks for her your prayerful interest and help in making your magazine what YOU want it to be. Don't just talk about what you'd like to see in the WMC Herald. Let her and the executive board hear from you. Criticism is always welcome and needed, but not only the destructive kind. Be constructive and pray as you criticize. No editor is perfect and beyond mistakes. Nor can she read your mind. But she can read words and would be glad to hear from you. Every editor's path has some thorns across it if she has any courage or initiative at all. No editor can please all of the people all of the time. Remember this, and PRAY for her as you pray for your other national officers. The months of October, November, and December seem to always lack news from the councils. This is probably due largely to the fact that you are newly launched on a year's work and feel there is nothing much yet to report. But if you would just send a line or two to the editor letting her know you are at least alive and busy as a council, that inspiration can be passed on to the women over the country through the pages of the Herald.

Good-bye for now, and the Lord's blessing rest upon you all. We'll be meeting again in avenues of service through WMC. As we serve our wonderful Lord at home, in WMC, and in our various churches let's be diligent and honest in our work. The day is far spent, the night is at hand, and many are not yet saved.

"Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 3:13-14).

Yours faithfully in His love,

Althea S. Miller.

WMC'S NEW EDITOR

By Althea S. Miller

With this issue of the WMC Herald it is a privilege to introduce your new editor. Mrs. Ben Hamilton is not a stranger to Brethren women because she served the Lord for 12 years on the Brethren mission field in Africa. For two of her terms on the field she was known as Mabel Crawford. During her second furlough she became "Mrs." and with her husband worked one term in Africa.

Mrs. Hamilton is a native Pennsylvanian, but has lived a good many places during her lifetime. She was born again before the age of 10 while living with her parents in California. Mabel remembers planning to be a missionary by the time she was 12 years old. After high school she attended the Bible Institute of Los Angeles for two years. Following graduation from Ashland College and approval of the foreign missionary board, Mrs. Hamilton studied a year and a half in France to receive a teacher's diploma. She served as a faithful teacher for 12 years in Africa.

For the past several years Mrs. Hamilton has served as librarian and instructor in French at Grace Theological Seminary. Added now to these duties is the work of editing the WMC Herald. It is the privilege of your retiring editor to present her to you in this capacity. Pray for her as she takes up this important work.

Mrs. Ben Hamilton

NATIONAL WMC OBJECTIVES AND RECOMMENDATIONS

NATIONAL WMC OBJECTIVES

(1953-54)

1. Daily Bible reading of your own choice or Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, and the Acts.

2. Strong emphasis on the establishment of family devotions in every home. Stress this objective in the month of January. Practical demonstration would be valuable here.

3. Monthly devotional meetings using the program packets.

4. Encourage individual witnessing by visitation and tract distribution. Urge each local tract chairman to watch the Tract Corner in the WMC Herald for suggestions where and what to buy in tracts.

5. A birthday offering to be received for the support of a WMC missionary on a foreign field. Send this offering to the national financial secretary-treasurer by July 10.

6. Each council enlisting prayer warriors from the congregation. For guidance in prayer continue the use of prayer booklets and prayer pointers in the Herald. Continue using prayer covenant cards introduced last year. Use the star system at consecration service on those previously signed cards.

7. Each council taking part in the district projects and rallies.

8. Each local council send a post card with news item at least once a quarter to WMC editor.

9. Participation in five major offerings to be sent to the national financial secretary-treasurer. The thank offering to be sent by June 10.

(1) Sept., Oct., Nov.—HOME MISSIONS—$2,500—send before Dec. 10. A two-year project—building a school and recreation building for the Navaho work to the amount of $5,000.

(2) Dec., Jan., Feb.—GRACE SEMINARY—$2,500—send before March 10. Furnishing the social lounge of Seminary building, retaining money to be used for purchasing of chairs.

(3) March, April, May—FOREIGN MISSIONS—$2,500—send before June 10. Aluminum roofing for Africa, $2,200. Assistance in national church expansion in Hawaii, $300.

(4) June, July, Aug.—GENERAL EXPENSE—$2,500—send before Sept. 10.

(5) Thank offering for Brethren Jewish missions taken throughout the year and to be sent to the national financial secretary-treasurer by June 10. The suggested goal is a penny a day per member.

DISTRICT OBJECTIVES

1. Every district represented on the national board, suggesting that expenses, wholly or in part, be paid by the district.

2. A written report to be given at national executive board meeting and published in the Herald. The retiring president to be responsible for written report which will be read by the present presiding officer.

3. Each district to provide interesting material representing work done in past year for display at national conference.

4. Each district to select a prayer chairman who will encourage the enlisting of prayer warriors. The name of the district prayer chairman to be sent to national prayer chairman by September 1.

5. Promoting the organization of a WMC in every Brethren church in the district.

6. Each district to sponsor at least one project with the suggestion that said project be cleared through the national vice president to avoid duplication. Each district has the privilege of keeping the project within the district.

7. Each district contribute an annual free-will offering to be used toward furnishing and repair of the foreign missionary residence. This offering to be sent to national financial secretary-treasurer by July 10. This fund to be used as the committee in charge sees the need.

8. Each district president compile local annual statistical reports and send reports to the national recording secretary by July 31.

NATIONAL WMC RECOMMENDATIONS (1953-54)

1. That a membership and consecration service be held annually in each local council, using the original covenant card and star system.

2. Each local president attending National Fellowship if at all possible.

3. That Mrs. Benjamin Hamilton be our editor.

4. That Miss Mary Emmert continue as our prayer chairman and that we encourage the observance of the day of prayer each month.

5. That we send good usable clothing to Taos, N. Mex., Rev. S. I. Horney, parcel post, or via express to Santa Fe, N. Mex.; to Indian mission. Rev. Evan Adams, Brethren Navaho Mission (located at Counselor Post), Star Route, Cuba, N. Mex., c/o San Juan Basin Lines, Albuquerque, N. Mex. That we temporarily discontinue sending clothing to our Clayhole, Ky., mission because they have a sufficient supply on hand.

6. That officers in the local councils preferably be elected in June, installed and take office by the August meeting, and have statistical reports to the district president by July 15.

7. That each council promote the evangelization of children, urging the individual women to assist in Sunday school, vacation Bible school, children's Bible classes, etc.

8. That the women in each council continue to show an increased interest in the Sisterhood in all possible ways—prayer, financial help, work projects, willingness to serve in an advisory capacity.

9. In view of the rapid expansion of our various Brethren endeavors and the accompanying need, we strongly urge that all local and district councils use Brethren talent and support Brethren works.

10. A birthday remembrance be sent to foreign missionaries and their children.

11. That the local council purchase two or more of the suggested reading circle books:

(Reviewed by Mrs. Conard Sandy, literature secretary. Books should be ordered from the Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind.)

"Remarkable Answers to Prayer," by Basil Miller. Price, $1.50.

If any one of our missionaries were asked what the greatest ministry was for those of us who remain in the homeland, as far as missionary work and workers was concerned, they would undoubtedly answer, "Prayer."

This book is divided into nine divisions composed of short, vividly told illustrations concerning how God answers prayer. These stories are true experiences found in the lives of missionaries, both at home and abroad.

In recommending this book we do so with a prayer that through the examples given on its pages of "remarkable answers to prayer," your individual prayer life may experience a new stimulus, and that you may personally lay hold of the God who answers prayer.

"Discoveries Made From Living the New Life," by Eugenia Price. Price, $1.50

Eugenia Price, the author of this book of meditations, found Christ four years ago as her personal Saviour, therefore writes in "Discoveries" some things she learned as a "new" Christian.

Her life before conversion was in the "show world." She began in big-time radio production work in 1940 in Chicago, writing for CBS and NBC from 1940 to 1945. In this latter year she opened her own production office.

When she was converted in 1949 she immediately entered a different way of life—truly a life of darkness was transformed into one of glorious light.

In 1950 she began to write, direct, and produce the now famous "Unshackled" program over radio station WGN, Chicago.

This book will challenge one to press on in the Christian life to new heights. One will revel in the enthusiasm that radiates from the soul of the author as she is followed through these pages of meditations.

The contents of the book are divided into three parts dealing with discipleship, a reason for living, and a "number of wonderful things." Some chapter headings are these: "His Viewpoint or Mine?" "No Hopeless Cases," "Innocence Is Not Purity," "To Me to Live Is Not To Be Religious," "To Me to Live Is Christ," "Are You Free?" "Are You Worried?" "What About Suffering?"

"Mountains Singing," by Sanna Morrison Barlow. Price, $3.

Are you easily discouraged? Do you permit circumstances to build imaginary barricades over which you cannot or will not climb? If your answer is yes to these questions, then this is the book for you to read; then sit down and ask yourself if you do right to become discouraged.

The Misses Joy Ridderhof and Ann Sherwood claimed by faith their daily needs and here we have recorded their adventures in making tape recordings of the dialects of the uncivilized tribes of the Philippine Islands. Later the tapes were used to make phonograph records which give forth the Gospel to those who have never heard of God's love.

These two brave servants of the Lord underwent experiences that we think of in connection with frontier pioneers, but these women believed God and continued to persevere in the work to which He had called them.

The Gospel on records is a new and effective method of missionary endeavor and is being blessed by the Lord. Our Brethren foreign missionaries are using the gospel records in most of our fields, but particularly in Africa, Argentina, Brazil, and Baja California.

"This Happened in the Hills of Kentucky," by John Vogel. Price, $3.95.

This is a true story of real-life drama as told by the founder and director of the Galilean Children's Home. It is an unusual and challenging book written in the dialect of the mountain people, and holds the reader fascinated to the last page.

The author gives two reasons for writing this book: "First, to prove to the world, which appears to be God-hungry, that the Lord God is still on the throne and will positively hear and answer prayer. Secondly, it is my utmost delight herein to have the opportunity of correcting the distorted concept of the public relative to the mountain people."

Children are cared for in the Home who are unloved, unwanted, deserted by parents, as well as those whose parents or relatives are willing but unable to care for their offspring because of lack of finances, health reasons, or death in the family.

There is no differentiation made between the acceptance of the children of the rich or the poor, the honorable or dishonorable, the famed or infamous, the loved or the outcast, the offspring of crime and insanity or the offspring of intellectuals; all are blended into one large happy family, and you may here read of the actual happenings in this unusual Home.

"The Mystery Ship," by John Bechtel. Price, $1.50.

The author of this exciting story has been a missionary to China since 1930, hence the setting of this book is in the Orient, and the reader may be assured that the locale and customs are authentic.

If your interest can still be captured by a mysterious sea plot, with constant changing circumstances, even to the appearance on the horizon of the Golden Seashore, a mystery ship, and its pirate captain and cruel crew, then you will find it difficult to lay this book aside until the last page has been read.

Yeuk-hon and Ma-hoh are Christian boys who are willing to witness about their Saviour, and they find the captain of the rescue tug, Hoi Sing, is a Christian too—one who is willing to be faithful even in the face of a torturous death.

This story proves once again that it costs something to be a Christian, but that it also pays big dividends.

SISTERHOOD of MARY and MARTHA

BEAUTY OF MIND

By Mrs. Robert Miller

Unlimited beauty is yours for the accepting. Last month we learned that beauty of face is the result of what comes from the inside, from the heart. This month we want to learn something of the importance of having a beautiful mind.

You were not born with a mind predisposed to beauty as God sees it. By natural birth your mind and entire being are alienated and at enmity with God. As an individual develops physically and mentally, her life becomes increasingly cluttered with sin in all its ugliness unless God's cleansing is applied. Every Sisterhood girl knows what provision God has made for her cleansing. He drained the very treasures of heaven when He sent the Lord Jesus Christ to shed His blood on Calvary so that all who will believe may be saved. No girl can have a beautiful mind until first her life is cleansed by Christ. Having been cleansed she is now ready to ask the question, "How can I have a beautiful mind?"

The classic example of a mind which is beautiful to God is the Lord Jesus Christ Himself. Turn now in your Bibles to Philippians 2 and read together verses 5 to 11. Notice first of all the command of verse 5: "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus." Such a command means that it is possible for us to have a mind like Christ's. God never gives a command without providing the enabling. Now we are ready for the further question: What kind of a mind did Christ have?

This answer is found in the next three verses. Quite often the wording in verse 6 is confusing to young Christians so let's clarify its meaning here. The words, "thought it not robbery," mean literally, "thought it not a thing to be grasped after." Now let us read the entire verse thus: "Who, being in the form of God, thought it not a thing to be grasped after to be equal with God." Bear in mind that Jesus Christ is God, coexistent with God the Father from eternity past to eternity future. Being God He was clothed in heaven with all the glory of the Godhead. But it was this glory He was willing to lay aside in order to assume the body of a man so that He might be man's Substitute for sin. And though He laid aside His glory it is important to remember He never laid aside His deity or Godhead when He was clothed in the flesh. He was God manifest in the flesh (I Tim. 3:16). His mind was so conformed to God's will that He did not grasp after or try to hold on to all His heavenly glory. He was willing to lay it aside in order to do God's will, even though that will meant a sacrifice of His very life for the sin of mankind.

"Let this mind be in you," girls. To be sure you have no glory to lay aside in order to do His will. But you have a human will which ordinarily wants to have its own way. Surrender that will to Him. Perhaps you want to be a school teacher, or a nurse, or missionary, or maybe just get married! Now all of these ideals are fine in themselves, but they may not be what God wants you to do. You have no right to say to God, "Here I am. I want to be a missionary, so please bless me." Suppose He wants to use you as a pastor's wife, or a teacher of children. Are you willing for Him to have His way in your life? Have you consulted Him in this matter? You ought to. The cry of your heart if you would have a beautiful mind in God's sight should be: "Here I am, Lord. What wilt Thou have me to do?"

Now take another step with me. You not only have a human will to yield to God but you have a sinful pride which must go if your mind's attitude is to be lovely in His sight. If you are thinking how glad God ought to be because you love Him and are willing to serve Him, then your mind isn't beautiful. Christ's mind was so yielded to His Father's will that He became "obedient unto death." He didn't act as though God ought to be grateful for His sacrifice. His was a sacrifice of love. You dare not do less. When pride goes out of the life obedience becomes the order of that life. And this obedience produces beauty of mind.

Christ gave up heaven's glory to die for sinful man because His mind was set to please the Father. You want a beautiful mind I know. Then surrender your will, which by nature is selfish and unable to properly judge, and put away pride which will keep you from bowing to God's will. Then "let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus. . . ."

PROGRAM GROOMING FOR OCTOBER

PRAISING VOICES—Singing unto the Lord. Open by singing theme song, "Let the Beauty of Jesus," and repeating the year verse, I Chronicles 16:29.

SWEET SAVOR—Spend prayer time in the "Perfume Corner."

CLEANSSED HEARTS—Read Hebrews 2:1-18.

GLOWING LIVING—Seniors study "Beauty of Mind."

Middlers study "Humiliation Is Beautiful."

SPARKLING TALENTS—Give special number.

BEAUTIFUL FEET—Consider "Adventures With the Bible in Brazil—My First Bible Expedition." Close by singing second stanza of theme song, "Let Compassion for Sinners," and repeat year's devotional benediction, Jude 24-25.

BUSINESS MEETING.

SMM BENEDICTION.

We have seen that beauty of face is not really the most important thing in our lives as young girls. In our last topic we found that as we think, our thoughts will show on our face and reveal the beauty there (Prov. 23:7). Now let us see how our minds can be made beautiful. A beautiful mind is not one that is cluttered up with all sorts of frivolous ideas and things of this age. We must keep our minds clean and pure. Of course we know that there are things which will come into our minds that we do not wish to remain there and so it is necessary to renew our minds (Rom. 12:2). This is not always the easiest job for us as young girls, but remember we don't have to do any of this in our own strength. Our Lord is ready and willing to help us "do all things" (Phil. 4:13).

We like to have examples or guides to show us the way and as Christian girls you have the perfect Guide—One who has gone the way before you and will lead you in the right way. We read in Philippians 2:5-11 that the Lord Jesus Christ had a mind that we should pattern ours after. He used His mind in such a way that it was a glory to His heavenly Father. Now He Himself was not glorified through the experience that He had when He left the heavenly home and came to earth as a mere man, but the Scripture tells us that He "made himself of no reputation." In other words, He humiliated Himself that He might do the will of the Father. In our Christian life we like to do many things in the church; we like to sing in the choir (and we all should, who have a talent for singing), or we like to teach a Sunday-school class or be president or secretary of some organization. Let us examine our minds! Do we do these things that we might have the praise of men on this earth or are we doing these things because we want to glorify the Lord. The third verse of this second chapter of Philippians tells us that we should have a lowly mind and we should not think that we can do something better than the others can, but Paul says, "In lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves." When we truly follow our Lord Jesus Christ we will empty our minds of selfish thoughts and intents and do all for His glory.

Many times we think we can put things over on the pastor or the Sunday-school teacher or even our parents, and we put on a "good front," so that folks all around us believe that we are really "good girls." But in our minds are those things that are displeasing to God. Let us not be foolish, girls, for in Ezekiel 11:5b we read, "For I know the things that come into your mind, every one of them." We cannot hide those things from God and He is the One who is to be pleased. Let us be sure that our minds will not only be humble but pure in the sight of God. It has been said: "You are not responsible for thoughts that might come into your mind, but you are responsible for harboring them if they should not be there." Let us be sure that our minds are as Christ would have His mind. And let Christ guide our thoughts that we might be nothing, but give Him the preeminence. This is truly a beautiful mind—one that is "Christ's mind"—one that is pure and one that is humble. Is yours as beautiful as it can be?

"COME YE APART"

thinking and, by the transformation of our minds, be mentally refreshed. When we cease from our thoughts, God's thoughts can come upon us. It is to be remembered in all this that rest is but a temporary thing. It is merited by those who have labored, and it prepares them for more labor to come.

Yes, we need to heed the Lord's command to "come" for salvation to the sinner and strength for the saint. We need to "come apart" from the cares of the world to serve our Lord through personal witnessing, Bible teaching, ministration to the sick and others, lifting the fallen, and in the fellowship of prayer. We need to "rest" our bodies, our souls, and our spirits—being refreshed from labors past and being prepared for labors to come. As we come into another WMC year, our prayer is that each and every woman will "come apart" for service, a deeper prayer life, a passion for the lost, and a greater zeal for our WMC work.

INTRODUCING THE SISTERHOOD NATIONAL PROJECT FOR 1953-54

The Sisterhood girls have taken the project of supplying the household furnishings for the Brethren Mission Home at the Navaho mission station. They have set as their goal $1,700.

Temple City, Calif., Breaks Ground and Signs Contract for New Church Building

NEW TEMPLE CITY CHURCH UNDER WAY

The Temple City Brethren broke ground on Sunday, August 9, 1953, and have signed a contract with the contractor to erect a new first unit of a church building program. Pictures of the event are featured on the front page, and if the building goes up as scheduled, it will only be a matter of a few months until we will be able to announce the dedication of the new church.

The directors of the Brethren Home Missions Council, Inc., are proud of the record of the Temple City Brethren Church in that it gave the largest offering of any church in our fellowship to home missions last year on a per-capita basis. If their average of $32.51 could have been equaled by every member of the Brethren Church, it would have sent the offering over the $650,000 mark. This same church was also highest in per-capita giving to foreign missions with even a larger figure.

The pastor, Leo Polman, announces that the San Gabriel Academy is expanding its program and that they expect the largest enrollment in the history of the school. The San Gabriel Academy is a Christian day school operated in conjunction with the church. The present school building is used for a church, and the new church unit will also be used some for the school work.

It is our prayer that the Lord will enable the Temple City Brethren to continue "breaking records" now that their church is under way.

Editorials

By L. L. Grubb

God Has Blessed Brethren Home Missions

It seems that every year has been a great year in Brethren home missions. From a baby organization with a $17,000 income a few short years ago the Brethren Home Missions Council has grown to big business with an income exceeding $160,000. About nine churches were on the first list of mission points which has grown to an annual list approximating 40. It seems almost unbelievable that in its short existence the council has had a part in establishing or developing fully 70 of the churches on our denominational roster. From about 15 home-mission workers we have grown to a large family of 75. Through earnest prayer and sacrificial giving Brethren people have made it possible for their home-mission agency to make its influence felt in practically every realm of American mission work and evangelism. The benediction of God has been upon the work because it is based upon His Word and honors His Son in the preaching of the Gospel.

Blessings Last Year

The evidence of God's grace operating in Brethren home missions have been so abundant during this past year that space would not be adequate to repeat them. However, we want you to rejoice with us in some of these blessings.

A completed church was dedicated in Alexandria, Va. New lots were purchased in a beautiful location in Parkersburg, W. Va.

A new chapel was erected at Dryhill, Ky.

The pastor of the Riverside, Johnstown, Pa., church now is serving full time.

A new church is under construction at Findlay, Ohio. Several families have been organized into a Brethren group at Davenport, Iowa.

The new church building at Temple City, Calif., is under construction.

The Denver church is finished to the point where the people have occupied the basement for regular services.

A large group of Brethren have been organized into a Bible class at Elyria, Ohio.

The Brethren in Beaumont, Calif., have dedicated an almost-debt-free church.

Patterson Park Brethren at Dayton, Ohio, have moved into their completed building. This was the first church completed by the Brethren Construction Company.

A full-time pastor has been placed in Seattle, Wash.,

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second-class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by the Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Walter Lepp, president; Robert D. Crees, vice president; Clyde Balyo, secretary; Ord Gehman, treasurer; Bryson Fetters, member-at-large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, William Schaffer, Robert E. A. Miller.

and a new Brethren church organized. Lots have been purchased and plans are under way for a new building.

In York, Pa., the pastor now serves full time. Lots are being purchased for the first unit of a church building.

A new church has been organized in Phoenix and plans are complete for the construction of a building.

The new location in Wheaton, Ill., is ready to receive the first unit of a building. This new church was organized this year.

A strong Bible class has been organized in Salem, Oreg., and will be pastored by a young man working at secular work to support himself.

"The Forgotten Navaho," new Brethren home-mission film, has been shown with great effect and interest all over the nation in churches, schools, colleges, and before civic groups.

This list could be expanded indefinitely.

But the greatest blessing of all is the fact that 632 souls were saved in Brethren home-mission churches last year. Probably the great reason for this precious harvest is the fact that home-mission workers made 11,144 calls in various homes during the year.

Home-Mission Churches Not Parasites

The sacrifice and hard work of our home-mission pastors and their people is an honor to God and a lesson to the Lord's people everywhere.

Beyond the hundreds of hours of hard work which home-mission folks put into new building projects, they have sacrificially given over $202,000 through their own treasuries. More than $42,000 of this amount went to missions. The total amount given was $65,000 more than the entire Brethren Church gave to Brethren home missions in the Thanksgiving offering.

Our home-mission churches are absolutely worthy of the sacrificial support of Brethren everywhere.

Program May Be Expanded

Is it possible to expand the program? Brethren people have the answer to this question in their own hands during the home-mission season. As you pray and give week by week you will enable us to establish many more new churches, which churches will in turn become the supply line for all other denominational activities.

Association to Combat Conversion

In Israel recently an organization with the above name was formed to combat conversions to Christianity among Palestine Jews. The source of this movement is the Chief Rabbinate in Jerusalem. Their appeal, which was published in the press, starts with the words, "Four hundred apostles of Satan, missionaries, among them baptized Jews, traitors to their own heritage, have descended on our country like a swarm of locusts."

This is rather rough language to apply to the missionaries of Christ who have a burning love for the souls of the Chosen People. However, it does indicate that the same hatred for Christ and His followers still exists in the hearts of Jewish rabbis and among the Jewish populace. If the Rabbinate in Jerusalem had its way there would be no Christian missionaries on the scene. The "veil" still hangs heavily over the Jewish spiritual vision.

How was this statement received by the press and the government?

The words of Ben-Chorin, of the Yediot Chadashot daily, express the attitude of the press. "An enlightened Jewish citizen will receive this cannonade of abuse with grief and amazement. It is unworthy of the supreme religious authorities of the Jews. . . ."

"Two days after the appeal of the chief rabbis, Prime Minister Ben-Gurion declared solemnly in the Knesset [Parliament] that the government will support complete religious freedom and freedom of expression and will not permit any kind of religious compulsion, from whatever quarter."

This is indeed good news, for with the press and the government guaranteeing religious freedom for Christian missions an effective missionary program can win many Jews for Christ. Our missionary societies should certainly take advantage of this golden opportunity.

In discussing this matter the Jewish press gave the church some much-needed exhortation as it described the very nature of Christianity.

"Christianity is by its very nature a missionary religion. The differentiation between church and missionary effort rests mainly on the lack of understanding of the structure of Christianity. The church ceases to be a church when it stops obeying her Lord's commands, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to all creatures.'"

How true! But how often the church forfeits its right to be called a church by failing in missionary vision and activity. This statement is a challenge to missionary activity among the Jews wherever they are found.

America has more than 5,000,000 Jews, with the population increasing. Jewish communities are largely concentrated in the larger cities. In one such community of approximately 100,000 Jews our own Brethren Messianic Witness is located. But with only three missionaries how can we hope to even scratch the surface of the tremendous need in this great Los Angeles ghetto. More missionaries and more funds are needed to reap in this ripe harvest field.

Converting Gentiles to Judaism

Now a counter-movement is planned by the Central Conference of American Rabbis. It is a program for the conversion of non-Jews to Judaism. A program is planned for the establishment of week-long preaching missions conducted by prominent visiting rabbis.

The utter spiritual confusion among these people is apparent. What an opportunity we have to give them the clear revelation of God's Word!

Is That All You Do?

Sometime ago we were discussing the Home Missions Travelog with a friend and he said, "Do you list all your activities in the Travelog?" We jokingly suggested that this would be impossible.

Of course we do not list the times we enjoy wonderful Brethren hospitality, including chicken dinners, etc. Neither do we list the times when we share heartbreaks and deep discouragements with home-mission pastors and missionaries.

The days we spend in the office and in other forms of home-mission activity are not recorded in these columns.

It may be interesting to our friends to know that we piled up a total of 80,302 miles traveled in home-mission work during the past year, mostly by air transportation in our Grace Ambassador. It is apparent that only a few of our many contacts and trips could be listed here.

We were happy to know of the interest of this friend and others in the Travelog. If you have any comments write us!

Biggest Year in Brethren Home Missions

Forty-six mission points crowd our home-mission roster as we launch into this next fiscal year. This is five more points than any previous total in one year. Many new opportunities to start churches are coming from every quarter. Our earnest prayer is that we may be able to take advantage of these opportunities.

FINDLAY FIRST BRETHREN BUILDING

This new church building in Findlay, Ohio, is much nearer completion than this picture indicates, for it was taken early in August. This work began less than two years ago and the present pastor, Forest F. Lance, has been on the field since May 1952. Brother Lance worked in a J. C. Penney store until January 7, 1953, when he began giving full time to the church. The Lord has blessed from the very beginning. The annual report on the work shows that 28 souls were saved during the last fiscal year, and a better report is expected next year with the completion of their new building. They are presently meeting in an old condemned school building.

Northwest District Conference a Great Blessing

Delegates to the Northwest District Conference in Portland, Oreg., were thrilled as they entered the recently completed home-mission church in that growing city. The main-floor auditorium had just been completed by dint of hard work and long midnight hours of labor by pastor and people.

Conference sessions were well-attended and the messages were challenging.

Intensive home-mission activity is planned for the coming year, with another new church already formed in Salem, Oreg. This great area is a tremendous challenge for church expansion.

Southeast District Conference at Clearbrook

Those brethren who have not seen the Clearbrook, Va., Brethren church have no idea of the spacious facilities that are enjoyed by these folks. Here in this converted school building the district conference was held. Delegates and friends filled the auditorium for the sessions.

A strong new Brethren church is developing in this district and is located in the Washington Heights section of the city of Roanoke.

New Church Organized in Wheaton, Ill.

Recently the Lord won a great victory in Wheaton, when over 60 people attended the church services and a new Brethren church was organized. This organization climaxed weeks of prayer and preparation. Several earnest families who constitute our nucleus in this section of the Chicago area, have pledged themselves to the development of a strong Brethren testimony here.

Soon a pastor will be entering this field and after plans have been completed, construction of a new building on recently purchased lots will be under way.

This is the first National Fellowship church in the State of Illinois. It is strategically located in many ways. Brethren students in Wheaton College may have Brethren fellowship here. From this point we can also reach into other sections of the Chicago area. Wheaton, with all of the new-home building is a splendid field at our front door.

East District Conference at Meyersdale

Another beautiful Brethren church building housed the East District conference sessions recently at Meyersdale, Pa.

The little town of Meyersdale saw some intensive activity during these days of the Brethren conference. The East District mission board has a real vision for home-mission expansion and is planning to enter at least two new area cities this year.

LATE HOME-MISSION NEWS FLASHES

Roanoke, Va.

The Washington Heights, Roanoke, Va., church will have broken ground by the time you read this in the Herald. The date was Sunday, September 6, 1953, which was too late to include details or pictures in this issue. Immediately after the ground-breaking the Brethren Construction Company moved in from Dayton, Ohio, to start the construction work.

Dayton, Ohio

The pastor, Rev. C. S. Zimmerman, of the Patterson Park Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio, invites you to the dedication of their new church on Sunday, September 27, at 2:30 p. m. Plan to attend this service and see the first church built by the Brethren Construction Company. If you are unable to attend, read the October Home Mission Herald.

NEW HOME-MISSIONS DIRECTOR ELECTED

Mr. Elmer Tamkin, Washington, D. C., was elected a director of the Brethren Home Missions Council at the annual corporation meeting held Wednesday, August 26, 1953. Mr. Tamkin fills the vacancy left by Mr. Willis Belcher, Sunnyside, Wash., whose term expired this year.

"THANKS, BRETHREN, FOR YOUR HELP"

We especially want to thank those who responded to the call for help in providing extra building facilities at the Brethren Navaho Mission. But we would not want to fail in expressing our appreciation to everyone and every organization that has helped in any way in the work.

Two young men, Don Rough and Larry Wedertz, of the Temple City Brethren Church, used their summer vacation to help in building the new mission home. These two fellows are students at the Bible Institute of Los Angeles and forfeited their vacation income to assist in this mission work. They worked hard and worked many hours overtime, for a mission work does not operate on the 40-hour week. Although it was hard work and a new experience for the boys, Brother Adams said, "They were an inspiration to have around."

A busy building contractor, Mr. Howard Lehnhart, with Mrs. Lehnhart and their son, Robert, from the Grace Brethren Church of Mansfield, Ohio, also spent some long days working at the mission. Mr. Rex Morris, a Westinghouse employee, another Mansfield man, accompanied the Lehnharts on their "work trip" to the mission, where he proved a big help. Robert remained at the mission until he had to go home in preparation for returning to Bryan University, where he is a senior this year.

We of the Brethren Home Missions Council deeply appreciate the sacrifice made by these students to help our missionaries to the Navahos have more adequate living quarters. Certainly they received some valuable missionary experience, and we trust the Lord will supply any financial need they may have due to their inability to earn an income during their vacation months.

THE GIVING OF THESE BRETHREN SHOULD BE A CHALLENGE TO EVERY ONE OF US.

RECENT CHANGES IN HOME-MISSION PASTORATES

Grant

Sandy

The Brethren Home Missions Council is happy to welcome into their family of missionaries Richard Grant and Conard Sandy. Brother Grant has been pastoring a mission work at Massillon, Ohio, and will take over the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, church work. Brother Sandy, who has been editor-business manager for the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, will take over the Harrisburg, Pa., church work.

The former home-mission pastor at Cedar Rapids, Bro. Arnold Kriegbaum, has accepted the position of editor-business manager at the Brethren Missionary Herald

Company. The former home-mission pastor at Harrisburg, Pa., has accepted a call to Hagerstown, Md.

The other two changes involve two present home-mission pastors, Rev. Phillip J. Simmons and Rev. J.

Simmons

Tressler

Ward Tressler. These two men, as directed by the Holy Spirit, actually only traded fields, and this is the first time we can recall such a procedure ever taking place in home missions. Brother Simmons, of Juniata, went to Chico, and Brother Tressler, of Chico, went to Juniata.

NEW SUNDAY-SCHOOL-ANNEX IN BUENA VISTA

Because of great growth in each department of the church program the people and pastor of the Buena Vista, Va., church, recently planned and constructed a splendid new Sunday-school annex across the rear of the main auditorium.

This building, worth $60,000, was constructed for approximately $45,000 through the blessing of the Lord in providing materials and able workmen.

A large building, measuring 93 by 45 feet, it provides for eight departments in a completely departmentalized Sunday school operating under the six-point system. The attendance now averages 275 per week and can grow in this annex to at least 400. Twenty-six classrooms on two floors provide privacy for teaching and class meetings.

Dedicated in March of this year, this structure is being paid for very rapidly through a weekly envelope system which produces more than $100 per week in building funds alone. During the course of construction these faithful brethren raised more than $10,000.

In addition, under the leadership of Pastor Galen

These pictures were taken during a recent revival and soon after the dedication. They include Rev. and Mrs. Galen Lingenfelter and family, Brother Lingenfelter's Sunday-school class in front of the new annex, the large Buena Vista congregation, and the church with the new annex to the rear.

Lingenfelter, during a five-year period, a new parsonage has been constructed and plans are under way for the replacing of the older church auditorium with a new structure in the future.

"ALL WE LIKE SHEEP HAVE GONE ASTRAY . . ."

Does not this picture bring Isaiah 53:6 to your memory? It was taken by Rev. Sam Horney, superintending missionary of our Spanish-American work, and is symbolic of everyone without Christ. Study the picture carefully and you will notice the sheep are grazing along, and even walking upon a very dangerous highway. These sheep do not realize the danger at hand, and you will also notice there is no shepherd to protect them. This illustration could apply to millions in our own beloved country today. They must be told that John 10:7 is for them: "Then said Jesus unto them again, Verily, verily I say unto you, I am the door of the sheep." This is a Brethren home-missions responsibility to remember during this season of the year.

DENVER, COLO., GETS NEW PASTOR

Pastor Lowell Hoyt, who was the first pastor of the Denver work, resigned and has been called to pioneer a new work at Elkhart, Ind. Bro. Tom Inman, shown above with Mrs. Inman, arrived on the field July 1, 1953. Brother Inman graduated with the 1953 class of Grace Seminary and was assisting in the DVBS work at Taos, N. Mex., previous to taking over the Denver work. One week after arriving in Denver they were called upon to assist the district youth camp. Following camp, a two-week DVBS was conducted with an average attendance of 60 and an enrollment of 130. Twenty-two boys and girls accepted Christ during this time. The floor of the lower auditorium has been tiled and other work has been finished on the building. The group picture was taken on Sunday, August 23, with over 60 present for Sunday school. Immediately after the Sunday services on August 23, the Inmans left for National Conference. In addition to accomplishing the above tasks in less than two months, they also found it necessary to spend time looking for a house. Brother Inman says, "It is good to be busy for Him."

3. Work.
  - a. As to the Scriptures (2:15; 3:14).
  - b. As to the church (4:2)—"preach the Word."
- B. Comfort to the minister (1:12).
- C. Minister is the trustee of the Word of God (1:12). This demands fidelity to the trusteeship; in the exercise of the gift; because of Christ's appearing presently.
- D. The constant appeal.

"The apostles, prophets, evangelists, preaching-teachers, fulfill their ministry and passion; but the Word abides, and the responsibility of those who follow in their train abides."

ISRAEL CALLS!

IT'S REAL!

By Hymie Williams

I met the writer of the following article while in Canton, Ohio, and I was very much impressed with his clear, ringing testimony for the Lord. Brother Williams is an accomplished musician. His work on the trumpet is well known in the world of popular music. I know he can do just as fine work in the field of the Lord's music. Because of an eye condition, Brother Williams' only means of support is his trumpet. He feels called to the ministry of music in the field of evangelistic endeavor. He has the ability to direct group singing and to complement any meeting with the music of his trumpet. Any who might be interested in his services can contact him through Pastor John Dilling, First Brethren Church, Canton, Ohio.—Bruce L. Button.

Salvation has to be real to me. The Lord Jesus has to be a real Person as far as I am concerned. Salvation can't be passive. It must be vital, tangible, possessive—because I am a Jew. There can be no half-way measures as far as my belief is concerned. Because of my belief my people have no fellowship with me. Therefore, I must have full fellowship with the Lord.

I was born of Jewish parents in the city of Canton, Ohio, in 1924. My father and mother were religious Jews. They had above-the-average means. They loved me dearly, because I was the favorite child, being a son. They gave me the advantage of a good home and I was educated in the public schools. They went even further than this, for they sent me to the Hebrew school that I might learn about Jewish culture, the Torah (Law), Yiddish, and Hebrew. Thus my early life was steeped in the teachings of Judaism. When you take into account that my parents tended toward orthodoxy, and that they attended the Schule (temple) on the high holy days, as well as on the Sabbath, you can get a small idea of how great the grace of the Lord must be to save even me.

About the age of 12 years it became apparent that my eyesight was very defective. After a series of attempts to correct this deficiency, I realized my eyesight would never be any better. This had a great bearing on my decision to enter the field of music. I chose the trumpet as my instrument. For the next two years I applied myself to the task of learning to play the trumpet, and at the end of that time I was able to sign up with a local dance band. Shortly after this I went to New York City and became a member of a nationally known dance band. From then on I was on "easy street," for I played with such well-known dance bands as Tommy Dorsey, Woodie Herman, Les Brown, Glen Miller, and others. For the next several years I followed this business as my profession—and I loved it!

It was during a visit to Canton that I was first impressed by the thought that this work might not be for me. It was at this time I was contacted by a Christian whose name was Rosemond Ivey. She spoke to me of the Lord Jesus. She told me of His death, of the sin burden that He bore for the world, of the fact that He was MY Messiah and God. She was very tender and kind as she spoke, and finally she prayed. I'll not soon forget how she asked the Lord to reveal Himself to me in all His glory. What she said impressed me greatly, but my stubborn pride would not permit me to make any confession at that time. I had always had the feeling in the back of my mind that Jesus MUST be the Jewish Messiah. But stubborn pride and, I suppose, fear of the reaction of my people, had always prevented me from taking a stand for the Lord. However, from this time on I was under conviction of sin. Constantly I had the face of Him before me, and the thought of Him on my mind. I was very unhappy.

I had learned that Miss Ivey had contacted my mother from time to time and I had a premonition that she had accepted the Lord as Messiah and Saviour. But it was not until her death that I was sure. At that time Miss Ivey told me that Mother had taken a stand for the Lord and had loved Him dearly. As she told me of this, the Lord spoke to my hard heart and, casting aside pride and fear, I gladly received Jesus as my God, Messiah, and Saviour. At once joy and peace flooded my soul. Since that time I have been so happy in the Lord.

I did not make a public confession until later. This took place in the First Brethren Church in Canton, Ohio, in February 1951. Brother Ralph Colburn was speaking to the young people and, at his invitation, I took a public stand for the Lord. The next step in my Christian life, baptism, seemed almost too great to take. But the Lord sent Evangelist Max Cohen to encourage me toward this step and, praise God, I was baptized shortly thereafter by Pastor Jesse Hall.

Since that time I have had the peace of God which passes all understanding. I needed it, for persecution followed. The day after my baptism, while walking in the business section of Canton with Brother Cohen, I met one of my Jewish friends. The news of my baptism had traveled fast, and he had already heard of it. As I greeted him he cursed me and spit in my face. This was just the first of many incidents brought on by my stand for the Lord. Even my loved ones were against me. Some went so far as to do me bodily harm. At the present time I stand as one dead to my family. I have been ordered from home. The candles have been burned. As far as they are concerned, I am DEAD.

But, praise God, I am alive unto Him who is so gracious and loving. I can never thank Him enough for His great grace toward me. I shall always praise God for the encouragement of Miss Ivey, Evangelist Cohen, and Pastor Hall, as well as the many other Christians in the Canton area. They have helped to make life very sweet to me. They have imparted to me the deep desire to serve the Lord in some way. I did such a good job of serving the Devil in the dance band that I know I can do a much better job of serving the Lord in the ministry of music. I am waiting for His leading.

One last word—I praise God that the Brethren Church is trying to reach my brethren, my kinsmen according to the flesh, with the Gospel of Jesus, the Messiah. My prayer is: Oh, might my people hear and heed.

INTO THE HEIGHTS

PROPHECY

THE SKY IS RED (Matt. 16:1-3)

By W. A. Ogden, D. D.

"Signs of the times" is a phrase in the Word of God that relates itself to events in the program of God in the world, the church, and, especially, to the second coming of Christ. In our text Christ declares that these signs are as discernible as are the signs by which men profess to predict the weather. A red sky may mean either fair weather or foul. It all depends on whether one reads the sky at evening, or in the morning.

The true Christian, one who loves the Lord and is waiting for His coming, is living in the evening time of this age. To him the red sky is a token of the soon coming of Christ. He has nothing to fear, nothing to lose, everything to gain. He looks into the glowing heavens and declares, "It will be fair weather."

But to the great mass of unregenerate men the same red sky is a "morning" sky, and it bodes danger and strikes terror to their evil hearts, and they say, "It will be foul weather today, for the sky is red and lowering."

My sympathy goes out to these "morning" (mourning) prophets who see nothing ahead but stormy weather. Listen to these words from their fearful hearts: "The world is at the end of its rope; the end of everything we call life is close at hand" (H. G. Wells). "There is no real defense against atomic weapons."

A LITTLE AT A TIME

A mother once said to her little girl who was sewing: "If you look the whole length of your seam you will get disheartened, for it seems so long; look only on the little bit between your thumb and finger."

Our life is mercifully cut up into "littles." God knows that if its "whole" were presented at once, it would crush us down. Let us live today and ask for grace to set about doing cheerfully the "littles" of tomorrow.—Selected.

... There are no satisfactory medical and sanitary safeguards for the people of atomized areas" (Bradley Davis in "No Place to Hide"). Our Lord predicted these very conditions as a sign of the end of this present age: "And upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity . . . men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth" (Luke 21:25-26).

One very ominous sign of these days is found in I Timothy 4:1-3 and II Thessalonians 2:1-3—the "falling away." This is primarily a movement of negation. Its first act is to deny the "miraculous infallibility" of the Scriptures, and then making each man's own conviction of truth the court of last resort. "Some of the Bible content," it is affirmed, "may be set aside." These rejected portions may be those "which are ascribed to Christ." Having denied the authority of the Bible, the "faith which was once for all delivered unto the saints" is cut down to meet the mental level of men who supposedly approach the Bible as a means of finding God.

The modern teaching of the "Kingdom of God"—a social concept of a gospel which does not require the new birth—is substituted for the Gospel of God's grace wherein the individual finds redemption and the forgiveness of sins through the vicarious death of Christ at Calvary.

In such a scheme there is, of course, no need for a Saviour who is God incarnate, who died and rose again, who sits at the right hand of the Father, and who will come again to establish His kingdom on the earth.

The National Council of Churches of Christ, through its liberal theologians, now assumes to speak for the Protestant world. This council would have the world believe that the New Theology is the voice of Christianity in the world today. The ecumenical movement in which these self-appointed leaders are attempting to form a one-world church is effective on the basis of its denial of the necessity of a common faith, rather than on an agreement of essentials of any kind. It is affirmed that no one has the right to "sponsor a system of doctrine the acceptance of which is demanded as essential to salvation." Thus the farther they move from the Bible, the closer they come together in their great social movement to make the world Christian without a Saviour who is God.

The goal of this ecumenical movement was revealed clearly in the recent testimony of Bishop Oxnham before the House Committee on Un-American Activity. There is to be a final merger with Roman Catholicism "so that all churches of the world will kneel at one common altar as the Holy Catholic Church." The Word of God (Rev. 17) reveals that there will be such a universal church in the last days of this age. It also reveals that this will be an apostate church which the Lord will judge and reject. This segment of the prophetic sky is red indeed!

Not all things else are half so dear
As is Christ's blissful presence here,
What will it be in heaven!

'Tis heaven on earth that we can say,
As now we journey day by day,
'Himself has borne our guilt away,
Our sins are all forgiven."

—Swain.

A HEART FOR SOULS!

EVANGELISM

HITTING BROADSIDE

By Evangelist Walter A. Lepp, Team 2, Evangelistic Crusade

I believe that God almighty has a standard for Christian living which challenges us to be or do nothing less than the very best for Him. I believe there is a standard for individual Christians and a standard for the Christian church. And He expects us who are Christians to be living that kind of a life, to be doing, and saying, and being some certain thing.

In Acts, chapter 2, beginning with verse 37 and concluding with verse 47, we have the record of a church which hit broadside for Jesus Christ, whom they loved and whom they served. Is it any wonder that 3,000 souls were saved in one day? Is it any wonder that Acts 4 and verse 4 tells us the number had grown to 5,000? Are we surprised to read in the fifth chapter of Acts and verses 13 and 14, "And of the rest durst no man join himself to them: but the people magnified them. And believers were the more added to the Lord, multitudes both of men and women."

Nearly 2,000 years have passed into history since our blessed Lord commanded His church to hit broadside when He spoke the following words: "Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled" (Luke 14:23b); "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost" (Matt. 28:19); "Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest" (John 4:35).

The church has failed miserably to hit broadside for Jesus Christ and has not obeyed His great marching orders to evangelize the whole world. Our failures and negligence we well know. But shall we continue to stand gazing and sit idly by, while our next-door neighbor perishes in his sin? Shall we continue to dream about world-wide revival while our young people are going down the path to eternal destruction? God forbid. We shall and we must catch the spirit and fervor of the early Christian church and once more hit broadside for Jesus Christ and we must do so now. This involves,

I. The Power of the Holy Spirit.

The early church had this power, and the right kind of a church today and the right kind of a Christian today will have the power of the Holy Spirit in their lives. It is unthinkable able to forget Acts 2:4 in the light of what followed when Peter preached.

II. The Passion for Lost Souls.

Peter was on fire to draw men and women to Jesus Christ. That is what we need today: a passion for the lost. I don't know how to describe "passion." It means we are rejoicing in the Lord Jesus who saved us. Our hearts will be so tender and full of love for Him that we will determine to tell other people about Christ.

III. The Preaching of Jesus Christ.

The church hits broadside which determines with Paul "not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified." And they preached persistently. You could not stop this bunch! May God give us such persistence and in this hour of need help us to hit broadside for Jesus Christ. You and I have not the persistence that we ought to have. We must tell it, and keep on telling it, and I believe God will help us to win someone to Christ.

IV. The Power in Prayer.

In Acts 12:5 we read that Peter was in prison, and prayer was made in the church without ceasing for him, and, thank God, He opened the prison door, and performed a miracle, and took Peter out of prison. The early church had power in prayer, and I have the feeling in my heart that if we get down on our faces before God, and humble ourselves, He will answer in some tremendous way again.

V. The Willingness to Pay.

We find that the early church not only prayed, but paid. They took all they had, and gave it to God. The church that hits broadside will pay—yes, even the Scotch members! Those who dodge their financial responsibility to God are poor indeed and cannot be used in the great battlefield for our Lord.

The world needs to experience today, more than ever before, the tremendous impact of the church hitting broadside in preaching and witnessing. This is the world's only and last hope.

STARTLING INFORMATION!

A statistician has figured that 5 percent of all church members do not exist; 10 percent of them cannot be found; 25 percent never go to church; 50 percent never contribute a cent to the Lord's work; 75 percent never attend the midweek prayer service; 90 percent do not have family worship in their homes; and more than 95 percent have never tried to win a lost soul to Christ.

What is your percentage?

SWEAR NOT AT ALL

By Vernon J. Harris

When the Bible says, "Swear not at all," it means just exactly that. There is no form of swearing that is a credit to any believer. Generally speaking, when we think of a person who swears, we picture a foul-mouthed man or woman whose vocabulary is so limited he breaks the Third Commandment every time he wags his tongue. This is a dangerous habit to get into because the Lord said in Exodus 20:7: "For the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain." This kind of talk should be foreign to the Christian.

However, our Lord had another kind of swearing in mind when he said, "Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but shalt perform unto the Lord thine oaths: but I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven, for it is God's throne: nor by the earth; for it is his footstool: neither by Jerusalem; for it is the city of the great King. Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, because thou canst not make one hair white or black. But let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil [of the evil one]" (Matt. 5:33-37). This is more of a legal matter. It is a device used today by the world to force men to tell the truth. It assumes that when a man takes an oath and swears, with his right hand upraised, to "tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help me God," that he will not dare to lie because of the oath which he has made. However, the practice seems to be that it is lightly taken and easily broken.

The taking of the oath has a long history. The earliest peoples used it. The Lord Himself instituted it as an integral part of the Mosaic Law (Ex. 22:11), and it became an established custom among the Jews. Nevertheless, the words of Christ and testimony. "But let your yea be yea; and your nay, nay" (Jas. 5:12b). Matthew Henry aptly says, "The frequent requiring and using of oaths is a reflection upon Christians, who should be of such acknowledged fidelity, as that their sober words should be as sacred as their solemn oaths." The very fact that one is a born-again Christian should automatically preclude that he will tell nothing but the truth.

Secret societies, lodges, etc., demand the taking of oaths which are absolutely contrary to Scripture and should be avoided by all Christians. There is nothing secret about Christianity.

Because of pressure from groups who feel as we do on this matter, our Government has made provision for Christians, so that they are required only to "affirm" and not swear" by civil oaths.

When you are asked to "swear" when signing legal documents or in court, you need only to "affirm" in response to their question. If you do so, your testimony will usually be more highly respected. A contract I recently signed had in writing whether I chose to swear or affirm its validity. Herbert Hoover "affirmed" when taking the oath of office as President.

One truth all Brethren should affirm is to "swear not at all."

Vernon J. Harris

the teachings of the New Testament age of grace shed a different light on this subject. The change is so great that those who "swear" do the following two things:

1. They disobey the Scriptures (Matt. 5:33-37, above). James also said, "But above all things, my brethren, swear not, neither by heaven, neither by the earth, neither by any other oath" (Jas. 5:12a). The Holy Spirit must have impressed this truth upon the mind of James as being of utmost importance or he would not have used the expression, "above all things." It is as much as to say, "Whatever you do, don't swear by anything." And the reason is given, "Lest ye fall into condemnation." God's wrath is invoked upon those who break it.

2. They cast an insult upon the honor and integrity of the Christian's

A GOOD PRACTICE

I have for many years made it a practice to read through the Bible once a year. My custom is to read four or five chapters every morning immediately after rising from my bed. It employs about an hour of my time, and seems to me the most suitable manner of beginning the day. In what light soever we regard the Bible, whether with reference to revelation, to history, or to morality, it is an invaluable and inexhaustible mine of knowledge and virtue.—John Quincy Adams, sixth President of the United States.

WITH UNCLE PAUL IN THE ROCKIES

By Paul Eiselstein

Hi there, boys and girls! Would you like to hear a story of an experience Uncle Paul had one day up in the Medicine Bow Range in Wyoming?

Uncle Paul is your Brethren missionary, working under the American Sunday School Union, and when he learned of a remote logging camp where they had not been told about Jesus, he purposed to go there at his first opportunity. We'll let Uncle Paul tell the story.

It was early one Sunday morning that I jumped into my truck and headed down the highway toward Snowy Range Pass with a prayer on my heart that God might make me a blessing to some soul for Jesus. Mile after mile passed, until finally I approached the junction where the road to the Medicine Bow country intersected. Turning up the old dusty road, missing one chuckhole to hit another, I bounced along. Soon I was in the foothills and then the canyons of Medicine Bow, where lumbering is the business of those who live there.

Medicine Bow country is wild. Did you ever see a wild deer in the woods? Well, maybe you did, but I doubt if you ever saw a great big moose. Boy, they are big! Sometimes they grow as tall as a horse, and weigh as much as 1,000 pounds. Medicine Bow country is filled with wild animals, such as deer and moose. Not only are the woods filled with wild animals, but the swift mountain streams are alive with beautiful big bass and trout.

Right in the very heart of this wild country, and not far from Snowy Ridge Pass, is a lumber camp where the men live who are known as "loggers." Early that crisp Sunday morning I arrived at the logging camp. Dwarfed among great, majestic trees of every size and kind were the typical mountain log cabins of Medicine Bow country. A thin curl of smoke arose from each chimney as, no doubt, breakfast was in the "makin'."

I stopped the truck right in front of what appeared to be the main building of the camp. It was a very weathered building with a slab roof and a rickety porch. Soon I learned that this was the main building, for a couple of old signs listed this building as the post office, general store, and assembly hall.

On the porch sat six roughly dressed men with bearded faces. I walked up on the porch and one close look at the men told me that they were bound in sin. Their slow and uncertain actions, together with their blurry eyes, were all evidences that they were victims of the sin of drink. I walked up to one of those rough-looking characters and asked, "Is there a Sunday school in this camp?" "A what?" inquired the stranger. "A Sunday school! Is there one held in this camp?" The stranger tried to arise from his old bench, but only slipped out on the edge and said, "Mister, we ain't got none." I assured him I had come to start one. One of the loggers seated on the porch yelled, "Mister, you take a keg of beer down to your Sunday school and we'll all be there." I smiled and said, "I don't know about the keg of beer, but God's Word will be there."

Thanking the men, I stepped down from the porch and headed for the nearest cabin. For the next hour or so I went from cabin to cabin, and in each I found boys and girls who were eager to hear some stories and see some magic tricks. By 10 o'clock 22 boys and girls had assembled in our open-air Sunday school, with only God's heaven as a roof, the giant trees as curtains, and God's earth as the floor. This was the first Sunday school ever held in the logging camp just beyond the Snowy Range Pass.

Just as in your Sunday school, I taught them the chorus, "For God So Loved the World," and the children quickly learned John 3:16. Those boys and girls were so eager to hear the truth of God's Word that the next week I went back to that camp with workers, and we held a vacation Bible school. To the boy or girl learning the most Scripture a Bible was promised. The girl who won the Bible gave this testimony: "I'm so glad to have Jesus Christ as my Saviour. I'm so glad that we are going to have a Sunday school here and that I have a Bible."

GEORGE MULLER'S PLAN FOR GETTING THINGS DONE

The first three years after conversion I neglected the Word of God. Since I began to search it diligently, the blessing has been wonderful. I have read the Bible through 100 times and always with increasing delight. I look upon it as a lost day when I have not had a good time over the Word of God. Friends often say, "I have so much to do, so many people to see, I cannot find time for Scripture study." Perhaps there are not many who have more to do than I have. For more than half a century I have never known one day when I had not more business than I could get through. For 40 years I have had annually about 30,000 letters, and most of these have passed through my own hands. I have nine assistants always at work corresponding in German, French, English, Danish, Italian, Russian, and other languages.

Then, as pastor of a church with 1,200 believers, great has been my care. Besides, I have had charge of five immense orphanages; also, at my publishing depot, the printing and circulating of millions of tracts, books, and Bibles. But I have always made it a rule never to begin work till I have had a good season with God. The vigor of our spiritual life will be in exact proportion to the place held by the Word in our life and thoughts.—From "George Muller of Bristol."

"INTO THE DEPTHS"

TREASURES IN ISAIAH 53 (Part VIII: The Exaltation of Jehovah's Servant)

By John C. Whitcomb, Jr.

When Christ offered His sinless, infinite soul upon the cross as a trespass-offering for lost humanity, then three definite results followed, which may be considered as the Father's rewards to His beloved Son. These three results are enumerated in the last part of Isaiah 53:10, "He should see posterity, should live long days, and the purpose of Jehovah should prosper through His hand" (paraphrase). These rewards may be classified as: (1) numerous offspring; (2) great length of life; and (3) final success in God's purpose. To the Jewish mind there could be no greater blessings than these. Let us examine each one briefly.

The Triple Reward

In what sense can it be said that Christ has numerous offspring? Jewish rabbis claim that Jesus could not be the fulfillment of this verse, because He had no children. But the verse itself indicates that the offspring come after His death, and therefore must be spiritual children! Our Lord was that "corn of wheat" which first had to die, and therefore now "bringeth forth much fruit" (John 12:24). The Holy Spirit applies these verses to Christ: "Behold I and the children which God hath given me" (Heb. 2:13), and "A seed shall serve Him" (Psa. 22:30). No longer children of Adam, we are now children of God through Christ, the last Adam, who is the "author and finisher of our faith" (Heb. 12:2).

As for great length of life, what better can we do than to quote the words of our risen and glorified Lord: "I was dead; and behold, I am alive for evermore" (Rev. 1:18). A lengthening of days was promised by God to Solomon if he kept the commandments (I Ki. 3:14), but only the "greater than Solomon" could meet the infinite standards of a holy God, and therefore death itself had no hold upon Him (Acts 2:24).

Final success in God's purpose was achieved by our blessed Lord when He cried out from the cross: "It is finished!" Neither family (John 7:5) nor friends (Mark 3:21) nor disciples (Matt. 16:22) nor enemies (Luke 13:31) nor Satan (Matt. 4:10) could prevent our Lord from faithfully carrying out the purpose of the Father, which had been entrusted into His hands as the perfect Servant. Even now, as the Mediator at the Father's right hand, our Lord is bringing to final success the eternal purposes of God. What an amazing idea is contained in this verse! A Person first offers Himself as a trespass-offering, and then still lives, bears children, and continues to work! Only in Christ can such a prophecy find fulfillment!

Christ's Soul Travail

Verse 11 continues the account of Christ's exaltation, as He reaps the fruit of His self-sacrifice in a continuous priestly course. A literal translation of the verse would be as follows: "Because of the travail of His soul, He will see and be satisfied; through His knowledge will He procure justice, my righteous servant, for the many, and will take their iniquities upon Himself." What is that soul travail which our Lord looks back upon and is satisfied with? Surely it is more than the mere physical sufferings of the cross. It must include everything that our Saviour referred to when, in the Garden of Gethsemane, He said, "My soul is exceeding sorrowful, even unto death." It was nothing less than the bitter cup of eternal death which He drained for each of us. The thought of such soul travail brings satisfaction to the heart of Christ now, because it continues to bear eternal fruit.

How can the Lord Jesus justify many "by His knowledge"? Was it not by His atonement that He justified many? Certainly, but it was the perfect knowledge of God's eternal purpose in redemption that led our Saviour to the cross. It was because "the spirit of knowledge" (Isa. 11:2) rested upon Him, that God's redemptive work could be entrusted into His hands. And so in like manner we read that "by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous" (Rom. 5:19), because it was His obedience to the Father's will that led Him to the cross.

Victorious Dominion

Let us now give a literal translation of the final verse of our chapter: "Therefore I shall give Him a portion among the great, and with the strong ones will He divide spoil; because He has poured out His soul (life blood) into death: and He let Himself be reckoned among transgressors; and He bore the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors." Victorious dominion is His last great reward for vicarious suffering and faithful high priesthood. And it is GOD who does the bestowing of rewards here, not man (compare Psa. 2). The saints of all ages are graciously entitled "the great" and "the strong ones" in this verse, and with them our Lord will share the spoils of His victory. They will surround Him and fight along with Him in the day of His power (Psa. 110:3), and will follow Him in the final world conquest (Rev. 19:14).

Christ's Precious Blood

Why will such dominion and glory belong to Jehovah's Servant? Because "He poured out His soul into death," and because "He let Himself be reckoned among transgressors." On the basis of Leviticus 17:11 ("the life of the flesh is in the blood"), we find here literally the pouring out of the very last remnant of Christ's life blood for the sins of men. Furthermore, our Lord allowed Himself to be considered by His countrymen as a wicked apostate and transgressor of law (Luke 22:37), and finally died between two thieves, all for the purpose of our redemption. For that reason the Father shall delight to highly exalt Him, and give Him "a portion with the great." The perfect Servant shall receive His perfect reward.

May God grant to each of us, as a result of studying again these precious treasures in Isaiah 53, a deeper understanding of the intent of the Spirit of Christ, when He "testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ, and the glory that should follow" (I Pet. 1:11).

(The End)

GOETHE'S NEEDLESS DISTRESS

One afternoon Goethe and Beethoven walked out together in the Carlsbad Valley to talk at ease. Everywhere, as they walked, passersby saluted them, pointed them out, and bowed with ostentatious deference. "Isn't it maddening?" exclaimed Goethe. "I simply can't escape this homage." "Don't be too much distressed by it," said Beethoven; "it is just possible that some of it may be for me."—Christian Faith and Life.

YOU MAY—AND YET BE LOST

Reader, ponder over the following statements. You may offer like Cain (Gen. 4:3), weep like Esau (Gen. 27:38), serve like Gehazi (II Ki. 5:20), leave Sodom like Lot's wife (Gen. 19:26), tremble like Felix (Acts 24:25), be zealous for God like Israel (Rom. 10:2), be a disciple like Judas (Acts 1:25), take part in worship like Korah (Num. 16), have a house of worship like Micah (Judg. 17:5), desire to die the death of the righteous like Balaam (Num. 23:10), make long prayers like the Pharisees (Matt. 23:

HONESTY, RIGHT AND WISE

A lady was recently surprised when she answered the doorbell to find the collector of waste papers. The man, an Italian, had taken a lot of paper out of the ash barrel, according to his weekly practice. But among the waste papers he happened to find a silver tablespoon. Immediately he stopped work, went to the door and returned the spoon to the lady, who was pleased to learn that the spoon had been discovered. She had missed it for several days, and had given up all hope of finding it again. It was evident, however, that when taking some papers out of the kitchen, or in removing some papers from the pantry shelf, the spoon had been rolled up in them.

The spoon was of solid silver and was one that had been in the family for two generations. Naturally it was highly prized. The Italian was warmly praised for his honesty, and informed that henceforth all waste papers would be saved for him. The local paper which recorded the incident, made this comment: "No doubt through the interest that will be taken in saving waste paper for him in the future, the Italian will benefit a great deal more than would have been the case had he kept the silver spoon and sold it. This is another incident which shows that good old-fashioned 'honesty is the best policy.'"—Rev. J. W. Hart.

"Character is what a man is when he's alone."—Our Hope.

14), prophesy like Saul (I Sam. 10:10), have lamps like the foolish virgins (Matt. 25:1-13), be near the kingdom like the young man (Matt. 19:16), almost a Christian like Agrippa (Acts 26:28)—and yet be lost!

Reader, think over this! Are you saved? "Ye must be born again" (John 3:7). "Now if any have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his" (Rom. 13:9). "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house" (Acts 16:31).—Our Hope.

EXPERIMENTAL HOLINESS

A mother sat searching her Bible, trying to probe the secrets of a life of holiness. She spent so much time seeking spiritual help that the duties of her household became irksome and were either hurried through or neglected. The "homeliness" of home was gone. One day, as she was deep in study, her little girl toddled up to her side with a broken doll. "Mommy, please mend dolly for me." With an impatient gesture, the mother brushed the little one aside. "I've more important things to do than trouble about dolly!" The little one turned sadly away, and the mother continued her search for holiness.

But the search was a fruitless one, and the mother closed her book with a sigh, and sought the little child. She was lying on the hearth rug clutching her darling doll, and with the tears still wet on her pretty face. The mother's heart was smitten. God spoke to her then and there. Tenderly stooping over the little one she woke her with her kisses. Then, taking her into her arms, she breathed a prayer to God for forgiveness. She saw that holiness could not thrive on neglected duties. Her devotion to her Lord was henceforth seen in her care of the household, and shone out even in mending broken toys! Home became home again. And the very page of Scripture was lighted up with a fresh glory!—An Unknown Christian, in "How to Live the Victorious Life."

LEAKY CHRISTIANS

Most of us fit the description of the old woman quoted by Charles M. Alexander at Northfield. Down in Tennessee, Alexander said there was once a meeting of intense power, and one of the variety of disciples who blew hot and blew cold, who was revived at each annual revival and who backslid in the interim, was praying in the assembly with a great burst of emotion. There was present an old woman who knew him well, who read correctly his character, and had witnessed his many revivals and backslidings. So when he suddenly burst into prayer for the fullness of the Holy Spirit to be given him, the old woman emphatically cried: "Don't you do it, Lord. He leaks!"

How sad a commentary! In the same sense, most of us "leak"—we fail to retain the bestowed blessing.—Christian Life.

Gingerbread Choices

In the following press release, sent to us on August 24 by the press relations office of Valparaiso University, President Kretzmann gives some impressions of a flying trip to Europe. The material is quoted in full not only because it represents the thinking of a distinguished educator, but also because it confirms the conviction possessed by many of our own church leaders that the time is past due when the Christian people of America especially "must look hard and close at our entire educational system." Grace Theological Seminary, and more recently its college division, came into existence because of a realization that no educational system is adequate unless it emphasizes the moral and spiritual values as set forth in the Word of God by a Bible-believing faculty. No other education will meet, either today or tomorrow, the needs of a world that is sick unto death. Parents and pastors should think long and hard before they influence young people to attend institutions where these values are not taught. Dr. Kretzmann's comments follow.

"Much of Europe's suffering is due to the wrong kind of education," said Dr. Otto Paul Kretzmann, Valparaiso (Ind.) University president, after a flying trip into Europe, where he conducted daily spiritual retreats at Geneva, Switzerland, for U. S. Air Force personnel.

"In certain places," the distinguished Lutheran clergyman-educator said, "it was evident that God, and morality, and faith, and love had been set aside for their opposites. One could almost feel in the air the lowering of the standards of civic and public morality.

"I came home with a renewed conviction that we in America must look hard and close at our entire educational system."

Dr. Kretzmann stated, "It is time for us to understand very clearly that only an education which emphasizes moral and spiritual values can possibly be adequate and relevant in the world of tomorrow."

Writing in the president's annual report to Valparaiso University patrons, scheduled for publication October 1, Dr. Kretzmann recalled a visit with the rector of the 567-year-old University of Heidelberg during his Air Force-sponsored European tour June 9-27.

"I thought of the ancient tradition of dueling and the haunting melodies of 'The Student Prince' for which this university is best known when I heard the rector tell me something about the quiet, unspectacular work of the university in many fields of knowledge.

"The day-by-day routine of faithful teaching, wise counseling, and unashamed search for truth is the very real secret of Heidelberg's long and honorable existence.

"I was forcibly reminded of this when I returned to our own country and heard the reasons why students are choosing certain institutions of learning these days. In many cases it was the gingerbread rather than the heart of the college which attracted them.

"This I believe is a tragic development in American education," Dr. Kretzmann concluded.

A Record Enrollment

As the material for this week's issue of the Herald goes to press, it appears that there will be a record enrollment of at least 87 new students in the first-year classes of the seminary and college student bodies this fall. Thus far 44 students have been enrolled in the junior class of the seminary, and 47 have been enrolled for the first time in Grace College. Not all of the new college students will be freshmen, for some have come with credits from other schools. A complete record of student enrollment will appear in the Herald next month. Pray for the new students especially. Many of them are away from home for the first time.

The Seminary's Conference Offering

Delegates who attended the National Fellowship sessions at Winona Lake in August, and our readers in general will rejoice to know that the offering for Grace Theological Seminary received during the conference amounted to approximately $1,800 in cash, with an additional $50 in pledges. This amount, in addition to caring for the cost of the Bauman memorial bronze tablet, helped much toward caring for the August deficit. It was possible for the school to close its books for the month with receipts totaling $5,324.37. We are praising God once again for His provision.

Gift From American Association for Jewish Evangelism

All who were acquainted with the ministry of the late Dr. Louis S. Bauman will recall his great love for Christ's brethren according to the flesh, the Jews. Much of his writing was devoted to subjects dealing with God's plan for Israel, the time of Jacob's trouble, the return of the Jews, and the restoration of the land. Dr. Bauman was a member of the original group of men who met in Chicago to form the American Association for Jewish Evangelism, and he served as a member of the advisory council until his death. It was not surprising, therefore, that the organization should request the privilege of making a contribution of $50 toward the Louis S. Bauman Memorial Lectureship Fund and the purchase of the bronze memorial tablet. The association's gift will help to perpetuate Dr. Bauman's work through the annual lectures to the students of Grace Theological Seminary. One of the rules under which the lectureship operates is the provision that "subjects be chosen within the range of Dr. Bauman's ministry," and among those specifically mentioned is the field of "Biblical prophecy."

Are You Using Your Monthly Plan Envelopes?

The little yellow envelopes of the seminary's monthly plan have been graciously used of the Lord to meet the needs of the school. Do you have a packet of these to supply you for the remainder of this year? Are you using them regularly? If you need a packet, ask your pastor. If the supply at your church is exhausted, write us. Remember, we have a big responsibility at Grace Seminary this year!

DEDICATION OF THE L. S. BAUMAN MEMORIAL TABLET

As many readers will recall, the 1952 National Fellowship adopted certain recommendations of a committee with reference to a suitable memorial for the late Dr. Louis S. Bauman. The central feature of the recommendations was a "Louis S. Bauman Memorial Lectureship," which will begin in 1954. In addition to this, it was decided that a memorial bronze tablet bearing Dr. Bauman's likeness and an appropriate inscription be placed in the seminary building. This page of the Herald contains the dedication address and in a slightly condensed form the memorial tributes given by four individuals representing various periods of Dr. Bauman's ministry. The dedication service for the memorial tablet was held on Thursday, August 27, as a part of the Grace Theological Seminary program at the National Fellowship.—A. J. M.

By Dr. Alva J. McClain

President of Grace Theological Seminary

In the recorded history of our race, it is an invariable mark of any worth-while culture to find men striving to capture the intangible values of their times and preserve them for the sake of generations to come. Sometimes these values appear in great spiritual experiences of God. At other times they appear in a life. Yet the two are not separable. For it is certain that no generation of mankind has ever shared in any great experience of God apart from some great human personality. "How can I understand except some man should guide me," voices the wistful cry of every generation of our sinful race.

For the preservation of such values, men have often resorted to the medium of material records, monuments, and emblems. Thus, to commemorate in an unforgettable manner his experience with the Everlasting God, Abraham "planted a grove in Beer-sheba." For the same purpose, Jacob set up a pillar that he might not forget the vision of God at Bethel. So also the tribes of the children of Israel, having crossed the Red Sea and the Jordan, made a pile of 12 stones, that their unborn children might preserve the glory of those experiences. The material object, changed by the strange alchemy of the human mind, becomes both a memorial of the triumph of the past and also a symbol of the infinite possibilities of the future under God.

We are assembled here tonight to dedicate such a monument to the memory of one whose life and ministry became the divinely appointed medium of a great spiritual experience for many men and women of his day, some of whom are here in this auditorium tonight. It was not within our feeble power to prolong his day. But we can prolong the values of its spiritual and moral glory.

The tablet we are about to unveil is intended to serve as a tangible symbol of the spiritual values in a life which became great because of the ineffable grace of God. It is fitting that this tablet with its inscription, a memorial to our beloved friend, Louis S. Bauman, should be dedicated here in this auditorium during the annual conference of Brethren churches, where he stood for so many years as the champion of Christian truth and righteousness.

It is also fitting that this memorial tablet should be erected, as it shall be, in the hallway of the building of Grace Theological Seminary, an institution which in large part exists by reason of his vision and faith. In that building his face will look down on students and teachers, and the inscription will be read, to remind us that we have a sacred trust to keep, a battle to fight in the unceasing warfare of truth and righteousness against darkness and error; and that our task will not be finished until all nations have heard the testimony concerning the Lord Jesus Christ, the Saviour of Louis S. Bauman, and our Saviour.

DR. LOUIS S. BAUMAN

Let us, therefore, dedicate not merely this material symbol, but let us rather dedicate ourselves anew to the task committed more largely than ever into our hands by the homegoing of our friend, whose Lord still lives and who at last will have the victory.

The tumult and the shouting dies—
The captains and the kings depart—
Still stands Thine ancient sacrifice,
An humble and a contrite heart.
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget.

By Dr. Charles H. Ashman

Vice President of the Board of Trustees, Grace Theological Seminary

I want to speak a few words concerning the man I knew, or Dr. Bauman as I knew him. Forty-seven years ago I became acquainted with Dr. Bauman. When I was a student in Ashland College and Seminary he came for an evangelistic meeting, and throughout more than 40 years that elapsed until the time of his death, we were very closely associated in many respects in the work of the church.

I knew Dr. Bauman as a man with a message. Regardless of the length of the message, it was always a message. It was not just a sermon—it was always something that would challenge the thinking and stir the heart. I knew him as a man with a message.

I knew Dr. Bauman as a man of strong convictions. This aspect of his character impressed me greatly as a young man in the ministry. He had strong Scriptural convictions and was known everywhere as one who earnestly contended for "the faith once for all delivered unto the saints." He had strong convictions concerning separation and was always bold yet constructive in lifting his voice against any compromise of the standard of separation from the world. He had strong convictions concerning service. Many young men were challenged and helped to enter the ministry because of his influence, and many received inspiration also to give their lives on the altar of service as missionaries.

I knew Dr. Bauman as a man of wonderful Christian fellowship. Especially in later years, though in a limited way throughout all these 47 years, the Ashmans and the Baumans had fellowship. We often met in fellowship spending evenings together in the home. Dr. Bauman loved such seasons of fellowship, especially in the playing of games.

I knew Dr. Bauman as a man who stood for a square deal for his fellow Christians. He maintained the right of freedom of speech on the floors of our conference, and he always extended the same courtesy and would contend for it for all. We didn't always agree, but he stood for my expression of my convictions with the same liberty that he asked for himself. Dr. Bauman did have a strong influence in my life. I tell you frankly, I miss him much. There are times when I actually grow homesick for Dr. Bauman.

Member, Board of Trustees, Grace Theological Seminary

I feel greatly honored to speak in behalf of Dr. L. S. Bauman's ministry in Philadelphia. I was not a Brethren when he was in Philadelphia, but I have always felt a relationship to him because Dr. McClain was saved through Dr. Bauman's ministry, and we came into the Brethren Church through Dr. McClain. It was also through Dr. Bauman's strong Bible teaching and preaching that a little frame church at Tenth and Dauphin Streets in Philadelphia was soon crowded. Soon souls were being saved, and in 1905 a beautiful stone building was erected which I understand was one of the best in the Brotherhood at that time. Many people were blessed through his ministry and came to know of the Lord's second coming. Who can forget Dr. Bauman's realistic messages? I can see him yet (can't you?) as he illustrated David picking up those stones, putting them in his bag, and throwing one of them at Goliath.

Dr. Bauman moved on, but his influence continued in Philadelphia. In 1942 a building was erected in a new section of Philadelphia and the old cornerstone was opened up at Tenth and Dauphin. When the box was removed and placed in the new cornerstone, we were privileged to have Dr. Bauman bring the dedication message at that service.

Dr. Bauman was not only a great preacher but he was one of the most human men I have ever met. We had the privilege of becoming very intimately acquainted with him in his later ministry and had the pleasure of entertaining him in our home a number of times. These were precious occasions, indeed.

Dr. Bauman has gone to be with the Lord, but his influence in the Philadelphia church still remains. We're proud in Philadelphia to have Dr. Bauman's remains lying in the old Germantown cemetery which adjoins the first Brethren church erected in America.

Missionary to Argentina, South America

I am sure that I would like to be able to express in words that are adequate the appreciation of every one of the missionaries on the foreign field who went out while Brother Bauman was serving as secretary of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church. Those of us who knew Brother Bauman certainly cannot fail to realize the wonderful blessing that we all received from his ministry of letter writing. He had a very special gift for it, and it seems as though the Lord put it into his heart to write the letter we needed at just the time that it was needed. I do not know how many times the missionaries on the field told me of the real lift that was given to them in a time of trouble or discouragement when a letter came from Brother Bauman. We praise God for that as well as for the wonderful friendliness he always showed for the missionaries when they were at home.

Then I would like also to express my appreciation for what the Bauman family has meant to the Nielsen family and for the precious times of friendliness and fellowship we were privileged to enjoy together in the years that have passed. I was one of the six original members of the Long Beach First church. When one looks at that church today he can't help but realize that its greatness is largely due to the foundation that Brother Bauman laid and built upon in real Biblical doctrine and teaching. We praise the Lord for his faithful ministry through many years in Long Beach.

I want to add a word of very personal appreciation for what his life and ministry meant to me because it was through his ministry that I came to have an entirely changed vision of life and the values of life. It was in his ministry that I was constrained to dedicate my life to the service of the Lord. I praise the Lord for Dr. Bauman as pastor, friend, and counselor.

By Rev. George O. Peek

Pastor, Second Brethren Church of Long Beach, Calif.

I am beginning my 11th year in the ministry, and more and more as I look back over the years I thank God for the wise counsel which Dr. Bauman gave to me in the early years of my ministry. There are many precious memories that I have of him tonight—three of them I would like to mention.

First, I remember his sermons—many of them. It was through his preaching of God's Word that I as a young Christian was strengthened in the faith and brought closer to the Lord. It was also through his teaching of the truths that are precious to us in the Brethren Church that I became a member of the Brethren Church. Then I also remember many of his sermons—special ones. I'm thinking tonight particularly of that sermon on "Why Did Adam Eat That Apple?" You know, he could picture Eve as few have ever pictured her.

I also remember something of his humor. Even after he was well advanced in age he still enjoyed a good laugh and a good time. I'll always remember the first time I faced serious repercussions over a stand I had taken as a young pastor. So I went to Dr. Bauman, and I'll never forget seeing him seated at the south end of his study where the sun came in. When I told him my troubles, he laughed at me and said, "Now you're beginning to amount to something! The Book says, 'Beware when all men speak well of you.'" On another occasion I remember when Dr. Lewis Sperry Chafer (a Presbyterian), a man well-loved by Dr. Bauman, was there to preach for us. Dr. Bauman gave him a very fine introduction and then he said, "Now preach on whatever you wish, Dr. Chafer, but don't talk about baptism!" I learned from him that a minister needs a controlled sense of humor as much as he needs the more serious moods.

I also remember Dr. Bauman's love and devotion for his calling. The ministry was indeed a high and holy calling to him. Something of the understanding which I have concerning that calling was given to me through the little things that he said to me upon different occasions when I called at his office. I remember one day he said to me, "Never let your people catch up with you,

Dr. Bauman's signature was familiar to thousands of people who through the years received cards and letters from him. Many loved the beauty of his handwriting which, once seen, was never forgotten.

George." Now that could be taken two ways. But then he went on to explain and said, "What I mean is: be continually in the Word of God—studying, studying, studying! Burn the midnight oil in order that you might always have food to give your people on Sunday." And certainly he was faithful in this regard. I'd love to hear a good two-and-one-half-hour sermon tonight on prophecy, wouldn't you? I have no strange ambitions or aspirations this evening largely because this great man of God counseled me in the early years of my ministry. I thank God for his influence upon my life.

WHY I AM ENTERING GRACE COLLEGE

"Lord send me, here am I, send me." I have made this vow with our blessed Lord and now I know it's my duty to fulfill it to the best of my ability. I also know that I should prepare for His service at an institution which will help equip me spiritually as well as mentally.

After hearing of the fine spiritual atmosphere of Grace College and counseling with some of its fine Spirit-filled teachers and leaders, I believe that Grace has just what I need—plenty of good accredited subjects both in the secular field and in Bible, fine fellowship, and high spiritual standards.

To be frank, about two months ago I said that I wouldn't go to Grace and didn't want to go, but since that time the Lord has dealt with me concerning the matter. Since then I have completely changed my mind and want to come to Grace above all other schools. Due to capable advisors, circumstances, and certain impressions, I believe the Lord is leading me to Grace.—Midge Perdue, Covington, Va. (No. 2 on front cover).

PROPHETIC FULFILLMENT IN PHILISTIA

The supernatural character of the Bible is shown by its many instances of fulfilled prophecy, often in great detail. One such instance concerns a city of ancient Philistia. "Ekron shall be rooted up" (Zeph. 2:4). The words are unusual and striking, yet few would think of laying special stress upon them. Let the event instruct us. The site is still called Akir, and there still remain upon it a few inhabitants. But around the small village no mounds are seen such as mark the sites of other ancient cities. Ekron has literally been rooted up. The place where it once stood is now ploughed fields; and the only evidence that a city ever existed there is found in the stones of handmills and the ancient cisterns which are occasionally met with by the cultivators.—From "Wonders of Prophecy," by John Urquhart.

PART I

September 8, 1953, was the date of a papal bull decreeing 1954 to be Anno Mariano (Year of Mary), according to an August 12 press notice. This will not be to honor the mother of Christ. Rather, 1954 is to be the year to focus attention of Catholics around the world on the 100th anniversary of the defining of the doctrine of Immaculate Conception of Mary by Pope Pius IX.

This doctrine, misunderstood by many Protestants, is one of the holdest attempts to deify Mary. The effort is only equaled by Pope Pius XII's proclamation of the dogma of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary on November 1, 1950. Since it appears much will be said in 1954 about the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin Mary, some data concerning this doctrine, which is one of the chief cornerstones of Roman Catholicism, should be noted. Also the deception of such teaching should be observed as well as the means of refuting such perversion of Scripture.

THE DOCTRINE DEFINED

Pope Pius IX's bull, "Ineffabilis Deus," read before an assembly of cardinals and bishops at St. Peter's (Rome) December 8, 1854, defines this teaching as,

"The doctrine which holds the blessed Virgin Mary to have been, from the first instant of her conception, by a singular grace and privilege of almighty God, in view of the merits of Christ Jesus the Saviour of mankind, preserved free from all stain of original sin, was revealed by God and is, therefore, to be firmly and constantly believed by all the faithful.

As O'Brien points out ("The Faith of Millions," 7th ed., p. 460), this doctrine is not identical with nor does it concern the doctrine of the virgin birth of Christ. The doctrine of the Immaculate Conception deals with Mary's conception in her mother's womb. In other words, at the moment Mary was conceived she "was immune from original sin in which all the descendants of Adam are conceived, and from which they are freed at baptism."

DOCTRINAL DICTATORSHIP

Pope Pius IX's bull, containing the official definition of the doctrine of Immaculate Conception, concluded thus:

"Therefore, if some would presume to think in their hearts otherwise than we have defined (which God forbid), they shall know and thoroughly understand that they are by their own judgment condemned, have made shipwreck concerning the faith, and fallen away from the unity of the Church; and, moreover, that they, by this very act, subject themselves to the penalties ordained by law, if by word or writing, or any other external means, they dare to signify what they think in their hearts."

By declaring that whosoever disagrees with the dogma in his bull is condemned, Pope Pius IX introduced a novel interpretation of I Timothy 1:19, which does not coincide with the idea of shipwrecked faith as expressed by the Apostle Paul. The words of the bull which read "... if some presume to think in their hearts otherwise than we have defined (which God forbid) ..." is in marked contrast with the apostolic humility which the apostle showed, for example, in I Corinthians 7:10 and 12. The above-cited concluding words of Pope Pius IX's bull are utterly lacking in Christian love and reminiscent of threats contained in speeches and documents of Mussolini, Hitler, and Stalin.

DERIVATION OF THE DOCTRINE

From the standpoint of Roman Catholic theologians the Scriptural derivation of the doctrine of Immaculate Conception is from the following sources:

1. Vulgate version of Genesis 3:15:

The emphasis is on the second half of verse 15, which reads in the Vulgate: "she shall crush thy head, and thou shalt assail her heel." This is not in accord with the Hebrew, which plainly reads he (for she) and his (for her).<sup>1</sup>

The official Catholic interpretation makes Genesis 3:15b apply to the Virgin Mary. However, some members of the hierarchy have not been so dogmatic about this. Cardinal Gibbons has said that Genesis 3:15b merely implies the doctrine of Immaculate Conception ("The Faith of our Fathers," 47th ed., p. 205) and not that Genesis 3:15b is proof positive of the doctrine.

However, the use of Genesis 3:15 by the hierarchy as an ironclad proof text for the doctrine of Immaculate Conception has greatly influenced Catholic minds everywhere. A manifestation of this is in the painting, "The Immaculate Conception," by Giovanni Battista Tiepolo (1693-1770). In his painting a fully robed Mary is depicted crushing a serpent with her bare heel—a picturization of the Catholic interpretation of Genesis 3:15!

2. Interpretation of Song of Solomon 4:7 to refer to Mary instead of the Christian church (although standard Catholic commentaries on Song of Solomon refer the entire book to Christ and the Christian church!).

3. Arbitrary allegorical interpretation of Song of Solomon 4:12. The words "garden inclosed, and fountain sealed" is spoken of the spouse (church of Christ), but Catholics refer it to Mary.

4. Apocryphal book, Wisdom 1:4 ("Into a malicious soul wisdom shall not enter; nor dwell in the body that is subject to sin.") This does not refer to Mary or any individual person, but is a general maxim like some of the statements in Proverbs.

5. Luke 1:28, the angelic greeting: "Hail (Mary), full of grace (gratia plena)."

The general Roman Catholic view is that since grace excludes sin, Mary could not have sin in her or the stain of sin and be full of grace; moreover, the Greek suggests (say the Catholics) "completely filled with holiness." The reader may see Rumble and Carty, "Radio Replies," vol. I, p. 159, for further discussion.

Note: This article will be continued in the October Educational Number of the Herald.—Ed.

(1) The Roman Catholic Church makes the Vulgate the only Bible which is authoritative and divinely inspired and this is so decreed by the Fourth Session (April 8, 1546) of the Council of Trent as follows:

"But if any one receive not, as sacred and canonical, the said books (O. T., five apocryphal books, and N. T.) entire and with all their parts, as they have been used to be read in the Catholic Church, and as they are contained in the old Latin Vulgate edition; and knowingly and deliberately condemn the tradition aforesaid; let him be anathema."

Also Chapter II of "The Dogmatic Decrees of the Vatican Council concerning the Catholic Faith and the Church of Christ, published in Rome in 1870, forbids Catholics to consider as authoritative anything aside from the Vulgate edition.

YOUTH FOR CHRIST EVANGELISM IN JAPAN

Many of our readers prayed for God's blessing upon the ministry of the great Youth for Christ evangelistic team that invaded Japan during the month of August, and for Eddie Smith, a senior in the college and a member of the Grace Trumpeters. In a recent letter to the editor, Eddie says, "This is a wonderful and fascinating country, but the needs of the people are great. It is heartbreaking to see how many have never heard the name of Jesus once. However, we have seen souls saved every day, and the Japanese church is being revived. Continue to pray for them." The following article gives some account of the Youth for Christ work in the Japanese islands.—P. R. B.

A new note of cooperation for the evangelism of Japan and the Far East was struck by missionaries, Japanese Christian leaders, and foreign delegates attending the Youth for Christ International Congress on Evangelism during the week August 10-16.

More than 800 delegates prayed, wept, and met together in the inspirational sessions of the congress before fanning out into city-wide evangelistic campaigns across the islands. Of these delegates, more than 200 came from 20 different countries outside Japan, of which three-fourths came from the United States and Canada. "It would be hard to find a more strategic and important center in today's world than Tokyo," Youth for Christ International President Robert Cook told the delegates in his keynote address. "The reason for world congresses such as this one is to make a serious and adult attempt to tell everyone that we can possibly reach in Japan that Jesus Christ can cleanse the life from all sin and that there is hope of eternal life through Him."

Unique features marked the congress. The Youth for Christ all-star basketball team, spending the summer in exhibition games and in preaching in the Orient, defeated two of Japan's top amateur teams before capacity crowds on Wednesday and Thursday nights. Before the games, the 10-man team, headed by Coach Don Odle, of Taylor University, Ind., sang and gave their testimonies of their faith in Christ.

Colorful scenes were contributed to the congress by many foreign delegates. Bishop Mar Athanasius, head of what is probably the oldest Christian denomination in the world, the Mar Thoma church of India, was present at all sessions in his red robe and hood. He hopes to spearhead a new evangelistic movement of Indians throughout his own country. Miss Winnie Bonner, outstanding woman evangelist of India, was another colorful figure in the conference sessions. A number of Chinese Christians now doing evangelistic work in various Far East countries were also present.

In 60 key cities in Japan's 45 prefectures city-wide evangelistic campaigns are being held following the congress in Tokyo. In these cities, teams composed of visiting delegates, missionaries, and Japanese pastors are making a concerted effort for evangelism throughout Japan's four islands. All leading evangelistic mission societies and churches are cooperating in this effort, a new thing for Japan, many said.

Eddie Smith, from Xenia, Ohio, a student at Grace College, Winona Lake, Ind., was assigned to minister in the prefecture of Kagoshima. Kagoshima city is located 900 miles southwest of Tokyo and has a population of over 300,000. It is said by many missionaries to be the most needy part of Japan. Statistics show that there is only one missionary to every 359,000 persons. It is also a Communist stronghold and refuge for homeless Koreans. Mr. Smith was accompanied by Mr. Paul Veenstra, song leader from Grand Rapids, Mich., and by a Japanese university student who acted as interpreter for the team. Their ministry carried them into seven cities in 14 days, preaching the Gospel in churches, schools, prisons, hospitals, and wherever they could gain an audience. Christian people should pray for this vital ministry. Many in the Far East believe that the door of Christianity is rapidly closing in Japan.

President Cook announced the next world congress for the spring of 1955 in Brazil.

HOMILETIC SEMINAR

Once to each middler comes the golden opportunity to develop an exposition of a single verse of Scripture and to deliver the message before the faculty and student body in regular chapel. Thursdays are set aside for this purpose. The two middlers selected for each week are assigned texts. They arrange for the entire service, selecting a master of ceremonies from the junior class, choosing special music and the Scripture reading. These pictures show Donald Tschetter, from Huron, S. D., in some of the situations familiar to everyone who has survived the middler "homiletic seminar." Mr. Tschetter spoke from John 16:24 on the subject of "Prayer." Al Tschiegg led the singing, and Vernon Buller sang a special number.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD STUDENT?

By Dr. Homer A. Kent, Registrar

With the opening of school each fall comes the question, What makes a good student? Thousands of young people will be entering halls of learning across the land, aspiring to achieve success in their studies. Some will succeed, many will fail. What is the reason for the result in either case? When in college, a good many years ago, the writer listened to one of his professors speak in chapel on this matter. He presented seven characteristics of a good student. Hoping that their repetition here may be with some profit to the reader, they are as follows:

1. The good student tries to cure his intellectual defects. His attitude is like that of the patient in the presence of his doctor. He wants to be cured of his intellectual deficiencies.

2. He tries to develop clear thinking. It is a source of real personal satisfaction to be able to think clearly. Then, too, one's influence to a large degree is dependent upon this ability. How can one help others to think clearly if he does not think clearly himself?

3. The good student welcomes critics as friends. Ofttimes it takes criticism to point out some outstanding defect in an otherwise successful development.

4. He is also enamored of accuracy. He is never satisfied with indefiniteness. Glittering generalities do not appeal to him. He wants to be able to hit the mark. Carefulness is his constant companion.

5. Moreover, he keeps an open mind. He is not given to snap judgments that become final. He is desirous of a well-rounded grasp of truth.

6. The good student utilizes the recitation experience as an opportunity for convincing, forceful speech. It is said that many men failed to obtain the position of captain in the Army during the first World War because of inability to give a command clearly—lack of clear enunciation proved their downfall. Do some preachers need to take note at this point?

7. Finally, said this college professor, the good student joins a literary society. Surely he will be interested in what the great masters of thought and language have produced and will seek to store his mind with these treasures. We scarcely need to remind our readers that the greatest literary treasure of all is the Holy Bible.

THERE IS ONLY ONE ANSWER

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Dean

Featured on the cover of the December 20, 1952, issue of the Saturday Evening Post was this title—"Skid Row: Junk Heap for Human Beings." In the table of contents the same article was listed as "The Shame of Skid Row." Anyone familiar with this sort of district in the modern city knows exactly what the writer was describing, a section of the city inhabited by human derelicts. Here amidst the dives, dumps, back alleys, flophouses, and saloons miserable creatures exist and degenerate and die. Filth and squalor, vermin and disease, drunkenness and depravity are the common lot of all who enter there.

Several years ago, in the city of Detroit, the exposure of these conditions so aroused the mayor of the city that he determined to seek a solution. After consultation with some of the leading citizens, four measures were proposed: enforcement of the State liquor laws, a rehabilitation camp, physical change in the Skid Row area, and a counseling and employment service. The fourth was the only thing that materialized.

The staff of this counseling and employment service consists of an administrative officer, an employment counselor, a personal counselor, and a clinical psychologist. Within a period of several years some 1,670 clients from Skid Row have voluntarily entered the place for help. The committee feels that it can do nothing for 400; 520 never came back a second time; 500 are still troubled with relapses. Out of the 1,670 the committee feels that 250 may turn out as permanently cured.

Probably this effort is to be commended as the best that can be done by a city-government of this world. But how gratifying it is to know that there is real help and an eternal cure in the salvation which Christ provides (Heb. 7:25). But what adds to this joy is the fact that where human governments fail, the government of Christ will succeed when He comes to establish His kingdom in the earth (Rev. 20:1-6).

DIRECTED TO GRACE

I was reared in a Christian home, not a strong one; we did not have regular family worship. I attended Sunday school regularly, but I did not have the assurance of my salvation until I was 12. I have gone to a Brethren camp every summer since. I received excellent training and also I surrendered my life to the Lord at camp. The Lord has not revealed to me what His will for my life is, but I am assured that He has directed me to Grace.—JoAnn Garber, Leon, Iowa (No. 1 on front cover).

FALL RETREAT

Each year the fall retreat provides an opportunity for the members of the student body to trade classroom routine for this special occasion to renew friendships and meet new students and their families. The last two years, as previously, the event took place at Camp Alexander Mack, a few miles north of Winona Lake. But, in contrast to previous years, a parade last year featured crepe-paper streamers, honking horns, and police escort through Warsaw. About 90 cars formed the parade. Pictures on the right depict some of the activities of the day. This year's retreat took place on Friday, September 18, too late to report fully in this month's magazine.

The Cleansing Christ

By John Burns, Johnson City, Tenn.

Rev. John Burns

In the second chapter of the Gospel of John, the apostle sets out to show us the spiritual condition of the nation Israel. The first half of the chapter deals with Israel's condition in a negative manner—"They have no wine"—while the portion of the chapter with which we shall deal puts forth the positive condition—the temple was profaned.

The disciples of Christ had been chosen and the first sign of His Messiahship (changing the water to wine) had been executed. The Passover was at hand. This is, however, the first Passover since Christ assumed His ministry, and the little group made their way from Capernaum to Jerusalem to partake of the festivities. This is the first recorded visit of Christ as Messiah to Jerusalem. The feast lasted seven days and was to be attended by every male Jew from 12 years old and upward, as set forth in the 12th chapter of Exodus. The crowning glory of the feast was the eating of roasted lamb by a party numerous enough to consume it, together with the bitter herbs. The Passover served as a memorial for the time when God "by a mighty hand" brought forth Israel from Egyptian bondage.

With this thought in mind Christ made His way up to the temple.

Condition of the Temple (vs. 14)

Without a word of explanation as to what the condition of the temple might be, John simply says: "And (He) found in the temple those that sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the changers of money." The sorrowful condition could be plainly seen, for nothing was hidden, but rather impudently set forth.

The feast which had once been known as the "Lord's Passover" in Exodus 12:11, had been so degenerated that now it is referred to as the "Jews' Passover." The leaven which was to be absent from the feast was present in the covetousness of the people who were desecrating the temple of God. Formality had taken the place of feeling. Foolishness had replaced the fear of God. Orders of men had displaced the ordinances of God. The Passover was no more a feast unto Jehovah, but rather a religious farce of mankind.

Not only was the feast degenerated but the entire temple was profaned. He "found in the temple those that sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the changers of money." The section of the temple which is here referred to is the Court of the Gentiles. This court was built as an invitation to all gentiles to come and worship the God of Israel. But the Jews, caring nothing for the gentiles nor their salvation, were willing to desecrate the gentiles' court and there sell the needed articles for worship. The house of prayer was changed into a den of thieves and a house of merchandise, in order to bring financial gain to certain persons. Idolatry in the form of covetousness (Col. 3:5) was present in the place where idols were forbidden.

The services of the temple were disturbed often by the lowing of the oxen, the bleating of the sheep, and the huckstering of the vendors. All was in a turmoil rather than peaceful and quiet as the temple should have been. As a result of the marketing in the outer court the entire temple was profaned.

Of course, there was a good legitimate excuse for the selling of the sacrificial animals and the exchanging of coins. It was convenient for those who had come a long distance. Certain animals were to be brought for sacrifice and the temple tax had to be paid in Jewish money. But that which was begun for the convenience of the worshipers soon became a greater convenience for the merchants. Christ laid His finger on the real motive as He calls it a "den of thieves," telling us that the love of money, covetousness, lay at the bottom of it all.

There was no more need to trouble oneself to rear a lamb or raise a pair of doves for sacrifice. It could all be done for you. Everything was conveniently arranged for in the very courts of the temple. What Christ found that day was "religion made easy." When worship loses the elements of discipline, it has lost its value. When it no longer costs, it no longer counts. It becomes a weakening luxury instead of a fortifying exercise.

Religion was turned into a racket as the practice of providing sacrifices for those who came a great distance was made into a profit-making machine. Monopolies were sold, prices were fixed, rake-offs were given for certain privileges, and the priestly family were foremost in collecting the spoils.

Edersheim relates how Simeon, the grandson of Hillel, led a reform against these abuses, and reduced the price of two sacrificial doves from $3.75 to 8 cents. Religion was purely turned into a racket and the temple into a den of thieves.

This was the condition which Christ found as He came to take part in the feast of the Passover. What a picture of a great many churches today with their church bazaars, sauerkraut suppers, strawberry festivals, and other money-making schemes. "Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof" (II Tim. 3:5).

The Cleansing of the Temple (vs. 15)

As Christ entered the temple it was not as the prophets of old, saying, "They worship the work of their own hands." Rather He entered in as Lord of the temple, and acted in His own right. "And when he had made a scourge of small cords, he drove them all out of the temple, and the sheep, and the oxen; and poured out the changers' money, and overthrew the tables; and said unto them that sold doves, Take these things hence."

Here we see the fulfillment of prophecy as recorded in the Book of Malachi. "And the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple . . . and he shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the Lord an offering in righteousness" (Mal. 3:1, 3). Surely there was the element of surprise as the Lord raised His hand-made whip and ordered the profiteers from the temple.

Why did they not turn upon the Lord Jesus as He brought the scourge into action upon the men and beasts and overturned the tables of money? This was more than mere man. The Son of God shone forth in all His deity as Christ put to flight the entire crowd. The terror of God had fallen and the mercantile Jews knew better than to try to save their business that day.

The anger of the Lord was kindled. His full character was displayed as He purged the temple of its mercenary element. Not only is God love, but also light. He is not only gracious, but also righteous. He is holy as well as merciful. And it was because of the full character of Christ that He boldly cast them all out of the temple.

There is the anemic form of thinking that is eager to say Christ did not smite. We are not told that He did, but neither are we told that He did not. Christ was not the type of individual to make a scourge just for the sake of construction. There was a purpose, and in all probability the scourge found its mark as Christ, fire in His eyes, wrath manifested in His face, and anger in His heart, drove them from the court of the temple.

Scripture says, "It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God" (Heb. 10:31). We are also warned of "the wrath of the Lamb"

The Claiming of the Temple (vs. 16)

There was no doubt left in the minds of the people in the temple as to Christ's reason for His action. This is made perfectly clear in Christ's own statement: "Make not my Father's house an house of merchandise."

Christ clearly identifies Himself with the temple by claiming it as "my Father's house," thus affirming Sonship. This was never done by Moses, Solomon, Ezra, or any of the other persons closely associated with the temple of God. Only Christ could make such a claim. Truly this temple was His Father's house. It was the building which was originally erected in a measure upon the model of the tabernacle of the wilderness. The original tabernacle was associated with Moses and Aaron; the first temple in Jerusalem with the great kings—David, who prepared it, and Solomon, who built it. Thusly, the Lord comes claiming association with the temple as His Father's house.

The claim is made even stronger in the Matthew account of the second purification of the temple. Here the Lord says, "My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves" (Matt. 21:13). The temple was more than just the house of His Father, it belonged directly to Christ. No wonder we can notice the tone of authority in Christ's action as He cleanses the temple. It is "my Father's house," and "my house." He was the Lord of the temple because He was Lord over all.

The Concern of the Disciples (vs. 17)

Nothing much is said of the disciples of Christ until the smoke of the battle has cleared away. "And the disciples remembered that it was written, The zeal of thine house hath eaten me up."

Their minds were carried back to the Scripture in Psalm 69:9 which expresses what David was made to suffer in his zeal for the Lord. Thus in verse 9, "The zeal of thine house hath eaten me up," is explained by the next line: "And the reproaches of them that reproached thee are fallen upon me." David's zeal netted him reproach, hatred, and persecution. So fear comes into the hearts of Jesus' disciples that the same thing will happen to Christ, thus they apply the verse to the Lord.

The disciples think of what the zeal of Jesus will lead to for Him in the future, hence they say it will eat Him up. They thought not of the inward consuming that would use up the strength and vitality of Christ, but of a consuming that is due to

Christ--- Our Example

By Clair Brickel, Clayton, Ohio

Rev. Clair Brickel

There is within the last five verses of the second chapter of I Peter an example set before us by which we might pattern our lives as Christians. Jesus is said to have suffered for us, "leaving us an example, that we should follow in his steps." The word "example" carries with it the idea of a writing copy such as is set before the beginner in grade school as he endeavors to learn the art of longhand. Christ is our example and we are to imitate Him in our lives.

Example by His Life

"For as many, as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God" (John 1:12). Being sons of God we have some footsteps to follow which were made by the Giver of Life Himself. There was a father who was being encouraged by a Christian worker to accept Christ as his Saviour. The father was unconcerned about his soul and could not see the necessity of living a Christian life. The visitor glanced outside the window and there saw the clinching argument which led the man to see his need of Christ. There in the snow was the man's little son trying his best to follow the footprints that had been made by this father. Turning to the father, he said: "Look out the window and tell me, then, if there is no necessity in believing in Christ and living a godly life."

The life of Christ was above reproach and He could not sin, for He was God incarnate. Peter says He knew no sin and therefore was a suitable sacrifice on behalf of sinners. If He had sin of His own, His death could reach no farther than His own life. But being spotless, the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all. There was no guile, no deceit, no hypocrisy nor insincerity found in Him. When He was reviled, He reviled not again. He was accused of being a seditious man. He was charged with being in league with Beelzebub, the prince of the devils. He was condemned as being a blasphemer against God, but yet there was no retaliation found within Him. He was threatened, but yet He did not call down the wrath from heaven which was in His power. Neither did He so much as predict the future punishment which was to be theirs.

All this was done by the influential men of the day and was done with the intent of alienating His friends from Him. The most cutting and severe sarcasm and irony was used. He only asked that they prove it, and when unable to do so, He left it up to the Father to vindicate Himself in His own due time. All of this reviling must have been as hard to endure as the actual nailing of His hands and feet to the cross and the piercing wound from the spear of the Roman soldier. How well we as sons of God have followed the steps of the Saviour depends upon how close we have stayed to the foot of the cross and how much we have fed our souls from the Word of Life.

Example by His Death

The schoolboy dislikes being blamed for the misconduct of his chums. Yet Christ bore in His own body the sins for the whole human race. The result of this act enables the Christian to be free from the bondage of sin and to live unto righteousness. Since Christ died for our sins we should be dead to sin. That is done by being absent from sin and not practicing it in our lives. If we are Christians, the death of Christ should stir us up to godly living. If we are not His own, the death of Christ should point us to the Lamb of God which taketh away our sins when we by faith believe on His name. We need an example, we need a shepherd to lead us, for we are as sheep going astray.

In one of the midwest stockyards there is a goat which is called "Judas." When the sheep are ready to be slaughtered he is put into their pens to mingle with them and then to lead them up the ramp into the slaughtering house to be killed. The sheep follow, each one meeting his doom. The world is following the prince of deceivers, even Satan himself. Those who trust in Christ have Him as a good shepherd. He has laid down His life for His sheep. We have Him as an example to guide us through the labyrinth of this present evil world. As a runner fastens his eyes upon the goal, let us look unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith.

A minister is expected to have the wisdom of a scholar, the logic of a lawyer, the peripatetic energy of a family doctor, the wizardry of a financier, the sense of rhythm of a poet, the imagination of an artist, the endurance of a horse, the sanctity of a saint, and all of this for the salary of an apartment janitor.—Selected.

HOW'S SCHOOL GOING?

EXCELLENT REPORTS FROM SUMMER CAMPS

Nearly all of our Brethren summer camps report new highs in attendance, and in spiritual results. Not all spiritual victories in camps are recorded on decision cards, but we know that many are recorded on the books of heaven. But just a few of the victories thrill us.

Camp Grace—

There were 171 present, including staff, junior week, and 155 senior week, for the largest camps ever held on this beautiful Virginia site. Although most of the campers who come here are Christians, there were nine who had accepted Christ in camp in previous years who were back this year, and one received Christ as Saviour this year. Twenty-two were in camp who had given their lives to the Lord for full-time service in previous years, and 19 more seniors made that decision this year.

A hobby program was included in this year's camp program for the first time, and was very popular with both juniors and seniors. New wrinkles in the athletic programs, such as tug-of-wars and a Yankee-Rebel softball game, added new spice to the camp, too.

Camp Indisinewa—

Although located this year in Michigan, 300 miles from some of the district churches, Camp Indisinewa was the best-attended Central District camp for years. There were 98 junior campers and 41 senior campers present, for weekly totals, with staff, of 122 and 59, respectively. Two campers made the great decision to accept Christ, while 64 made rededications of life, and 21 gave themselves to the Lord for full-time service. Veteran campers and staff members said it was one of the best—if not the best,—camp they were ever in.

Next year this district will be divided three ways for camp, with the Michigan District holding camp at or

About this time of the year, that's a popular and sometimes painful question. Neighbors, relatives, and friends all show at least a polite interest in our educational progress. But I want to ask that question from a little different angle. No, I'm not primarily interested in how you are getting along in grade or high school. Nor even how you are adjusting to the stiffer schedules of college, Bible school, or seminary.

No, I'm not talking about Sunday school either, or even the school of experience, exactly, in which we are all enrolled from the cradle to the grave. Specifically, I'm talking about the school of Christian experience—how is it going? Are you making any progress?

It won't be long before the first report cards will be coming out in school. Say, if God gave out report cards on our Christian progress, would you be ashamed to take yours home or show it around? I'm afraid some of us would be.

If we want to make progress in regular schools, we must attend classes and study the textbooks. The same is true in our Christian experience. There is no substitute for sitting at the feet of the Great Teacher, and for attending to His Textbook, the Bible. He sends us out on assignments, too, but it's different from the homework you are given in public schools. But it is just as important, or more so, that we do our Christian assignments as it is that we complete our school homework. How you do that may affect your final grade, too, you know!

Then in schools there are tests—how we dread them! But God gives tests, too—usually not written ones, but tests of experience, in trials and temptations. I hope you're passing all yours.

When we make the grade in school we are promoted from one grade to another, and from one school to another. So it is in the school of Christian experience. When we pass God's courses He gives us greater opportunities and greater responsibilities for Him. And the successful completion of these leads to greater rewards.

So the next time someone asks you that familiar question, think twice before you answer—and I hope you'll be able to say "O. K." sincerely, and with a smile, both concerning your secular education and your Christian experience.

near the same site, the Indiana District holding camp possibly at Crystal Lake, and the Southern Ohio District establishing a camp site somewhere in their area.

Camp Bethany—

Our national youth camp was the largest since 1948, with 203 registered campers, 19 staff members, and eight noncampers signed in for the week, and a few more spent the week end with us. We had a wonderful time, with rather ideal weather, although it did get a little warm the end of the week.

A special Bethany project was launched in Bethany Vespers—the purchase of a tent for evangelistic work in France—cost estimated at $500. Offerings in Vespers for the week totaled $424.84! In addition, the boys launched a new missionary project—a chapel for Brazil—and now have more than $100 of the $400-$500 necessary. The girls got a splendid start on their new project—furnishings for the missionary residence at the Navaho mission, too, and campers still had enough spirit, and enough money, to chip in to purchase a couple of beautiful Bibles for campers who didn't have any. That kind of spirit is good to see!

One hundred seventeen campers participated in the faggot service Saturday night, and many wonderful victories were won for the Lord there. It was a great week, in every way.

National Fellowship OF Brethren Laymen

SECRETARY WILLIAM FISHER WRITES FROM ROANOKE, VA.:

[Brother Fisher, our national secretary, is employed by the Norfolk and Western Railway as a pass clerk in the president's office. He is a member of the Ghent church, Roanoke, Va.—Ed.]

I have a profound conviction of the great need in the Brethren Church for the laymen's work on a national scale. The Brethren laymen's work is indeed very dear and close to my heart. The laymen's work has been a real joy and a constant blessing to me. What a privilege to be a Brethren layman! What opportunities we have to serve our blessed Saviour and Lord!

As I see it, there is a need that every church should have a local laymen's group to meet monthly to plan soul-winning activities, to have gospel teams, to have a visitation program, to plan ways and means of helping their pastor. There is a need that every district should have a layman's organization. Out of our nine districts we have only four district laymen's groups organized. The district laymen's groups should meet at least every three months. There is a need that more of our laymen should attend our national laymen's meetings at our national conference. There is a need to awake and stir up our laymen so that they will have a burden for lost souls everywhere.

As I see it, the future possibilities of the Laymen's Fellowship are tremendous. If we had 5,000 Brethren laymen who would give only $1 a year, we could put a full-time man on the field to go to each church and challenge the local laymen's groups and also organize new local groups. The Brethren laymen are just beginning to wake up to their responsibilities. Yes, I am confident that the future of the Brethren Laymen's Fellowship is tremendously challenging and bright. The Brethren laymen are now on the march for our Lord Jesus Christ, and I believe they will continue to be faithful.

It is a privilege to again serve as your secretary. It makes me very humble and desirous to serve our Saviour and Lord more faithfully than ever. I do covet your prayers, that I may be in the center of the Lord's will as I humbly serve Him this year.

Grace

By Althea S. Miller

The night had closed in and with it the gale,
But safe in my shelter, why should I quail?

The storm how it battered, with fury so great;
My shelter stood firm; the storm will abate.

Now morning and quiet, its fury full gone,
The storm only proved my shelter had won.

With care we had planned it; foundation lay deep,
'Twas built with a purpose, a trust for to keep.

The night and the gale closed in on my soul,
And beat on my shelter, roll upon roll.

I cried for deliverance, for peace and for rest;
Surely such trial is not for my best.

But out of the chaos I heard a sweet Voice Saying, Child of Mine, you have made me your choice.

So trust me complete, I know what is best,
And e'en through the storm you shall have rest.

With care have I planned your life and your way,
My grace all sufficient shall be your mainstay.

Grace to work in you—foundation laid deep,
Grace working from you, a trust for to keep.

So lean hard, dear child, I your shelter shall be,
And GRACE all-sufficient shall never fail thee.

(This poem was written while en route to Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., where Rev. and Mrs. Miller's oldest boy was being taken for examination. To the praise of the Lord, the report was favorable.—Editor.)

opposition and harm inflicted by others. Here appears the limitation of the faith of the disciples. Though they believed Jesus to be the Son of God, having seen the miracle of the wine, and though they heard Him claim Sonship with the words, "my Father's house," yet they were afraid harm might come to Christ and His work might be ended.

The Lord Jesus is still the cleanser of the temples in the day in which we live. In I Corinthians 3:16 the Apostle Paul asks us this question: "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?" Yes, even after we were saved and the Spirit of God was dwelling in the innermost part of our being, yet it was necessary that the Lord clean up the outer courts of that temple. Perhaps there were times when it was even necessary for Christ to bring His scourge into action in order to drive from our lives things which were displeasing to Him.

A young man who had acquired a high position in the liquor industry came to a saving knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ. Following his conversion he was faced with the problem of what he should do in the matter of his employment. Despite the conviction of the Holy Spirit against it, he remained at his work. Weeks and months slipped by, with the Lord all the while dealing with the man to surrender fully to Him. The more the Lord dealt the harder the man became, until the Lord finally reached into the man's home and took his youngest child home to be with Him in glory. Oh, what an immense price to pay!

No longer does Christ purge temples of wood and stone, but rather the lives of the saints. "For whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth" (Heb. 12:6). Is there aught in your life that needs scourging today?

William E. Kuhnle is pastor of the Garfield Avenue Baptist Church of Milwaukee. In the 12 years he has been pastor, the membership has grown from 220 to 524, the budget from $4,500 to $75,000, the $40,000 church replaced by a $250,000 sanctuary.

He has this ministry today because when he was a boy someone had the heart to reach youngsters. When William E. Kuhnle was seven years old he attended a children's meeting in Pandora, Ohio, where he received Christ as Saviour.

Our Next Challenge Is to Home Missions

As a National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, with all the organizations and institutions cooperating, we stand or fall together. Neither foreign missions, nor Grace Seminary, nor the Herald Company, nor home missions are sufficient in themselves. We are now in the season of the year when home missions receives special emphasis, and the biggest challenge for all of us is to boost for home missions. More home-mission churches mean more workers and more tithes for the work of our entire Fellowship. Use the dime folders, use the little church banks, and lay aside some gift every week for home missions. Then, at Thanksgiving time, make a final "big" gift for home missions.

Missionary Rally Broadcast

The great missionary rally on the afternoon of Conference Sunday, August 30, was broadcast over Station WMBI, of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. The one-and-one-half-hour program was through the courtesy of the Winona Lake Christian Assembly and the Moody Bible Institute. Home and foreign missions shared equally on the program, with some 20 different missionaries speaking or singing. Brethren Grubb and Barnard, the general secretaries of home and foreign missions, respectively, were in charge. We wish to extend our sincere appreciation to all who made this program possible.

One for One—A Foreign Missionary for Every Pastor at Home!

Those who attended the National Fellowship meetings will remember that the foreign-mission poster gave prominence to the above goal. Such a goal was first suggested in our foreign board meeting by Dr. Alva J. McClain. The entire board saw the reasonableness of such a goal and have thus presented it to our entire Fellowship of churches. And why not? Why should we not have a missionary on the foreign field for every Brethren pastor in the homeland? Why should not any local Brethren church feel it as necessary to care for a missionary on the foreign field as to care for its pastor at home? It's possible! It's probable! To do it will supply many badly needed missionaries.

What One Church Did

One local congregation, the People's Church of Toronto, Canada, at its recent annual missionary conference, presented an offering of $262,000 for foreign missions. Some 55,000 different people attended the sessions of this conference. This church has been caring for the allowances of some 315 different missionaries; they will now be able to add another 25 to that list. Last year our entire fellowship of churches gave $223,000, and the goal for the year ahead is only $250,000. We have often heard of the "saturation point" in foreign-mission giving, but it is evident from what this one church did that we have not yet reached that dangerous point.

Honor to Whom Honor Is Due

The National Women's Missionary Council will probably make further mention of this fact, but we feel constrained to make an appreciative acknowledgment here. Local units of the WMC have saved birthday offerings toward the support of a missionary lady on our foreign field. They may choose a different lady for different years, but they have desired to give special honor to the one who will receive this support for the first year of this new plan. This is a testimony of their appreciation for the fact that she is the missionary on our oldest field, having spent the longest period of service there. They have chosen Mrs. Loree Sickel, who serves in Argentina. She and her husband, the late Dr. Clarence L. Sickel, began their service in Argentina in 1919.

10,000 East Germans

Recently at Hamburg, Germany, some 60,000 evangelicals crowded the public square outside of Michaelis Church. In this crowd there were said to be 10,000 residents of East Germany and some 1,600 foreign guests. Later some 15,000 German youth crowded into the fairgrounds for a service, and of these about 2,000 were from East Germany. Such attendance is clear evidence that the evangelical faith is not dead in Germany, but there is great need for Bibles and for trained leadership to feed the hungry hearts. We continue to look toward Germany as a field of Gospel testimony for the Brethren, and we look to the Lord to supply funds and workers.

BISHOPS TO ARGENTINA

Rev. and Mrs. Donald Bishop have had a steadfast look toward Argentina for a number of years. Brother Bishop is a member of the West Tenth Street Brethren Church, Ashland, Ohio. He studied for three years at the Bible Institute of Los Angeles; he spent three years in study at Whitworth College, Spokane, Wash., receiving his B. A. degree in 1950; and he graduated from Grace Theological Seminary with the class of 1953. Mrs. Bishop, formerly Hazel Belcher, is a member of the First Brethren Church, Sunnyside, Wash. She studied for one year at the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, two years at Whitworth College, and for one semester at Grace Seminary. The Bishops have one little daughter, Gail, aged 14 months. During their years of training they have assisted in the work of our Brethren churches in the communities where they have lived.

Brother and Sister Bishop have now completed their training and have been appointed to missionary service in Argentina. They have already received their passports and have made application for permanent visas. It will take from four to six months for these visas to be issued. It is hoped that the outfit needs of the Bishops will be supplied in the immediate future so that they may make purchases, box outfit supplies, and be ready for sailing by the time the visas arrive.

Missionary candidates should look to the Lord for the supplying of outfit needs, and the supplying of these needs is at least one means by which the Lord places His stamp of approval upon the proposed missionary service. There are varieties of ways by which the Lord may supply—personal earnings by the candidates, gifts from relatives and friends, gifts from home congregations or other specially interested groups, and by gifts through the MISSIONARY OUTFIT CLUBS.

The minimum needs for the Bishops, including the original purchase of outfit, shipping costs, and customs, will amount to at least $2,200. We wish these funds might reach the maximum amount of $3,700. In many of our churches there are the Missionary Outfit Clubs where the members of the club have covenanted together to pray for the new missionary family, and to give at least $1 toward the outfit needs of each family. By the time you read this article your pastor or Missionary Outfit Club chairman should have received full information and materials in regard to the Bishops. Please help through your club or church, or, if more convenient, send your part in helping this new missionary family to our Brethren Foreign Mission Office, Winona Lake, Ind., marking such for the Bishops.

THE PRICE OF LIGHT

A poor blind woman in Paris put 27 francs into a plate at a missionary meeting.

"You cannot afford so much," said one.

"Yes sir, I can," she explained.

On being pressed to explain, she said, "I am blind, and I said to my fellow straw workers, 'How much money do you spend in a year for oil in your lamps when it is too dark to work nights?' They replied, 'Twenty-seven francs.'"

"So," said the poor woman, "I found that I save so much in the year because I am blind and do not need a lamp, and I give it to shed light to the dark, heathen lands."—Christian Endeavor World.

"LET YOUR LIGHT SHINE" (MATT. 5:16)

At a Jewish missionary conference in Europe many converted Jews were asked what was the first thing that made them begin to move from Judaism to Christianity. Always the answer was the same: "An act of disinterested kindness from a Christian." Dr. J. S. Conning backed this up by saying that "a careful examination of 120 converts (Jewish) in America revealed that 98 percent gave the same answer.

LOVE shining in a consistent Christian life works as well in seeking to win gentiles to Christ. Someone has pointedly asked, "Do your friends and acquaintances and relatives want to be Christians because they know you?"—Christian Victory.

"The primary purpose of Christian missions must be the preaching of the Gospel. This may be done with the aid of medical science or education, but they can never become substitutes for the heart of missions, which is evangelism."—The Alliance Weekly.

ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST

From Recent Foreign Mission Board and Society Meetings

From the many and varied items of business considered at our recent board and society meetings we present the following:

THE MEMBERSHIP OF THE BOARD of trustees remains the same—Homer A. Kent, Charles W. Mayes, Alva J. McClain, W. A. Ogden, Glenn F. O'Neal, Bernard N. Schneider, in addition to the three reelected for another term of three years—Kenneth B. Ashman, Herman W. Koontz, and Ward A. Miller. Russell D. Barnard is an ex-officio member of the board. Nominees for the 1954 election are: Homer A. Kent, W. A. Ogden, Bernard N. Schneider, Gerald B. Polman, Lewis C. Hohenstein, and Vernon J. Harris.

OFFICERS AND OFFICE PERSONNEL include Charles W. Mayes, president; Bernard N. Schneider, vice president; Homer A. Kent, treasurer; Kenneth B. Ashman, recording secretary; Russell D. Barnard, general secretary; Ruth E. Reddick, financial secretary; and Marcia Lowe, office secretary.

CANDIDATES APPOINTED are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bishop for Argentina, to go to that field as soon as visas and sufficient outfit funds have been received; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burk for Brazil, to go as soon after the close of this seminary year as outfit needs have been supplied; and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Cone, Jr., for Africa, to leave for language study in France as soon after the close of this seminary year as outfit needs have been supplied. Miss Dorothy Robinson was approved a year ago for service in Baja California, but will continue in seminary training for this school year and begin her work next summer.

"SOME AFRICAN LINKS" is the title of the 120-page booklet just printed. It is a most interesting account of the many experiences of Miss Mary Emmert, the author, during her years in Africa. The board has decided to give a complimentary copy to all who have given $5 or more to foreign missions during either of the last two years—one booklet to each family. Distribution will be made at the beginning of our next foreign-mission period, or about February 1.

MISSIONARY INSURANCE is carried by the board on all missionary personnel to the amount of $1,000 in cooperation with the Brethren Board on Ministerial Relief. Those missionaries desiring it as a part of their estate pay the premiums personally, and for all others the board pays the premiums with the Foreign Missionary Society as the beneficiary.

INCREASES IN MISSIONARY ALLOWANCES were approved by the board. The fields in Africa, Argentina, and Brazil now have the same allowance basis—$825 per year per adult for the years on the field, and $1,200 per adult for the year of furlough. Other fields receive proportionately equal amounts. There was also an increase made for the missionary children on any field who must board away from home as they go to school. These increases, although not large, have increased our total expenditures by about $10,000 per year.

AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE. The board carries automobile insurance in all our fields, and this is becoming a very expensive proposition. In Africa alone for the year the cost is over $1,000, and that includes liability and property damage only.

MAGAZINE SUBSCRIPTIONS for the missionaries. The board allows $10 per missionary family per year for magazine subscriptions, aside from the subscription to the Brethren Missionary Herald, which is arranged for in other ways. This would form a very fine project for some group, or groups, desiring to help in such matters.

NEW BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT are needed on our various fields. The board has made appropriations for at least three or four missionary residences and for one, and possibly four automobiles to be purchased during the year. Any one of these items would form a very challenging project and would supply a very great need.

MORE ALUMINUM ROOFING in the amount of a little over 5,000 pounds has been ordered for the field in Africa. This, with the amount already on the field, will care for our building needs for some time in the future. We very greatly appreciate the fact that the Women's Missionary Council has set as one of its project goals the giving of $2,200 to purchase this roofing.

PLUMBING IN RESIDENCES. Some eight or nine of the residences in Africa have been equipped with full plumbing facilities and then, because of the need for economy, the field council suggested we discontinue this equipment. The board of trustees believes that, since each residence can be thus equipped for $150, we should continue these installations until all residences have been cared for. Therefore, the board has authorized that all new residences shall be so equipped, and that up to three of the older residences be converted in this respect each year. The $150 necessary for each residence would make a very excellent project.

ESTIMATED EXPENDITURES for the calendar year 1954 will be about $250,000. This will be quite an increase over the $223,000 received last year, but at least that amount will be needed.

VISIT TO SOUTH AMERICAN FIELDS. For a number of years the board has desired that the general secretary visit our South American mission fields. It seems now that this visit will be made soon, possibly from about December 1 to March 1.

ANNUITIES AND BEQUESTS are urgently needed

by the Foreign Missionary Society, as well as by the other interests of our National Fellowship of churches. Our organizations have come to the place where we have great difficulty in meeting the challenges of expansion and increased costs through the regular offering channels. It will be largely as we receive annuities and bequests that we will be able to meet these greater challenges. Brethren annuity investments in addition to Brethren wills and bequests are needed by our Brethren organizations.

TWO CENTERS OF ACTIVITY in Baja California. The Roy Howard family has already moved to Calexico, which is some 150 miles in from the coast at the border between California and Mexico, opposite Mexicali, a city of some 120,000. The Haags will remain at the San Ysidro-Tijuana border crossing, where there are some 80,000 people. We believe these two centers of activity will greatly increase the effectiveness and the outreach of our work in Baja California.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION and by-laws. Two amendments were proposed and passed by the society. One discontinues the active membership granted when organizations make a gift of $25. The other makes possible the appointment of missionaries by mail during the year by contacting the membership of the society.

GOODMANS TO FRANCE. The results of the polio attack on little Anne Goodman make it very improbable that the Marvin Goodman family will be able to return to Africa for a period of years. They and we believe that they might be able to serve in France and in that land receive such treatment as would be necessary for little Anne. Providing the conditions are found to be satisfactory, they will probably leave for France yet this fall.

GERMANY. We continue to look with very great anticipation to a Brethren testimony in Germany. We ask you to continue to pray that funds and workers may be supplied.

A NEW PRAYER BOOKLET will be prepared just as soon as possible. Following discussions with the Home Missions Council, it has been decided to continue the prayer booklet for foreign missions only.

EASTERN REPRESENTATIVE. Mr. Charles H. Croker, 715 Chandler St., Philadelphia 11, Pa., is being continued as the eastern representative of our board and society. He assists us in a very great way in helping missionaries when they arrive in or leave the United States, and also in the purchasing of supplies and equipment. His services are very greatly appreciated.

PROJECTS. A number of projects not suggested in the foregoing paragraphs have been approved by the board and are here presented:

(1) A tent for Argentina for revival meeting work—probable cost about $500.

(2) Vibraharp for France—very greatly needed in our services and especially in the tent meeting work to begin next summer. The cost, between $400 and $500.

(3) A tent for France to be used in revival meeting work. We hope to have it ready for use next summer. The cost is about $500 and this has been cared for by the Camp Bethany young people.

(4) Chapels for Brazil. At least two or three of these will probably be built during the year at a cost of between $400 and $500 each. The society builds the chapel and then the national believers, through their offerings, return one-half of the amount expended and this becomes part of a chapel fund for building more chapels. The Brethren Boys Clubs have accepted the responsibility of building one of these chapels.

(5) Motor for Boat, Batangafo, Africa. Bro. Robert Williams, our missionary at Batangafo, Africa, is planning to build a boat during the season ahead, and we hope to supply an inboard motor for the boat at a probable cost of $500.

The estimated cost in relation to all of these projects includes not only the purchase in this country, but transportation to the field and the customs which are necessary for the item to enter the country.

JUNGLE—FRIEND AND ENEMY

The African jungle comes right down to the road. Rather, one should say that the road is hacked through the jungle. The grass, vines, bushes, and other vegetation, whose names the white man does not know, are always trying to retrieve the ground that they lost to the white man. He is always just a step in front of Jungle, but not more than that. If he should leave Jungle alone for just a while, he would come back to find no road.

The giant trees that line the road like the columns of a medieval cathedral are beautiful in the sunlight, which light they allow to reach the ground only filtered and scattered. Passing beneath them one feels like an intruder; perhaps he is convinced he is an intruder if he should happen to be on the road during a storm. It is then that the trees, urged on by Storm, seem to get revenge for their fallen brothers by themselves committing suicide across the roads, blocking the way of Man and forcing him to wait hours or even days.

In the jungle, however, the African has found all that he needs for food, clothing, implements, and even some medicaments. To him the jungle is not so much an enemy as a friend. He knows each tree, each vine, each little bush, insect, bird, and animal by name. Most of them are useful to him.

The African knows that God provided these things for his good. He only has to be reminded of it. God is good. He did His best for man. It was man who rebelled against God and brought strife between members of the same family, tribe, and nation. It was sin that brought the weeds that forever choke up the garden that the African tries to maintain. The weeds will not be taken away until the millennium, perhaps, but God does take away the sin that brought all the curses. This is salvation. This is the missionary's message.—William J. Samarin, M'Baiki, Africa.

---

During the months of investigation necessary before actually getting started in the work one gets restless. It is then that it seems the Lord will come before one even gets to the field to testify for Him. It is then that one needs to be reminded of these words—"It is oftentimes easier to work for the Lord than it is to wait for the Lord."—Alys Haag.

THE FIELDS AT A GLANCE

(Editor's Note—In this issue and the next Foreign Mission Number we are presenting excerpts of vital interest from the annual reports of our six fields of missionary endeavor. Two reports follow—Dr. Orville D. Jobson has supplied the information for the report on Africa, and facts from Bro. Fred Fogle form the basis of the report on France.)

AFRICA

A retrospect of the work of the African Mission for the year 1952-53 reveals the deep need of missionary body and African church alike for a spiritual awakening. No ordinary ministry can avail to convict men of deep-rooted sin and arrest them in their downward dive to hell; no ordinary service can provide spiritual food to strengthen and impart stamina to confused believers. This is the work of Spirit-filled men and a Spirit-led church.

The door to French Equatorial Africa is still wide open to missionaries and we are free to preach the Gospel in towns and villages. Evangelization has extended to hitherto unreached villages and hundreds have turned to the Lord. During this report year 2,100 have followed the Lord in baptism. Some of the African church leaders have been subjected to severe trials and testings, but have stood faithful to their Lord.

Nationalism, fed in some instances by Communistic propaganda, racial hatred, and open rebellion, has characterized some sections of this great continent. Such waves of social upheaval, though not openly manifest in Oubangui-Chari, have a decided influence on the masses here. These influences are also felt in the churches.

Facts and Figures

There is a decided increase in offerings. The following table will show the systematic increase during the last five years.

Report Year	Offering in Dollars
1949	$1,938.65
1950	3,396.25
1951	4,000.00
1952	5,271.00
1953	8,894.00

When in February 1951 the field council of the mission recommended that we request the necessary missionary pastors to provide continuity of ministry in the seven districts of the mission, we began to pray with high hopes for a speedy answer to that need. Since the board approved the "two missionary pastors per district plan," four pastors have arrived on the field in answer to that appeal. However, four districts still remain with only one pastor each and, what is more serious, there are none to replace them when furlough is due. Present appointments to the mission districts are as follows:

District	Missionary Pastors
Bassai-Bozoum	Pastors Sumey and Garber
Yaloke-Bossemebele	Pastor Hill
Bellevue	Pastors Sheldon and Kennedy
Bekoro	Pastor Kliever
Bouca-Batangafa	Pastors Williams and Snyder
Nzoro	Pastor Miller
M'Baiki	Pastor Samarin

We cannot possibly fill the needs of these districts without increasing the need of some other district unless the Lord undertakes in a miraculous way and sends us additional pastors. He is able to do that. Lord, help our unbelief! The 13,000 members and the 6,000 converts of the African churches can only be strengthened against the "wiles of the devil" and the "spirit of the age" by the teaching of the Word of God, and that teaching can be done best by the missionary pastor and his fellow workers.

Good attendance continues throughout the field, with about 10 percent of the population attending the Sunday-morning service. We desire to mention in particular the growing attendance at Bossemebele, where the Sunday-morning service has reached over the 1,000 mark on several occasions.

Book sales for the year have totaled over 13,000, including booklets and pamphlets. These sales are distributed as follows: Bibles and New Testaments, 2,077; Scripture portions, 1,761; songbooks, 4,169; other literature, 5,595.

Translation and Printing

During the year we cooperated with the Mid-Missions (Baptist) in continuing the translation of the Old Testament. The following books have now been completed: Genesis, Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther, Daniel, Joel, Obadiah, Jonah, Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi. Genesis is now being printed for circulation and the other books are being mimeographed. The translation committee meetings, which convene from four to six weeks at a time, have demanded a total of many weeks from our missionaries serving on the committee.

Translations of the Scriptures in three of the vernaculars employed by the mission—Kabba, Pana, and Gbea—have continued. The Gospel of Matthew, completed by Brother Sheldon in Gbea, was printed by the British and Foreign Bible Society in 1952, and it is now in circulation among the Gbea churches.

The mission press, located at the Bible Institute, has once again been of real service to the mission and the African churches. A 5,000 edition (actually 4,600) of an African reader was completed which we look forward to using in catechetical schools when our regular day schools have been launched. Church membership, pre-baptismal, and medical cards have been run off to the total of over 15,000. Elementary Bible-school textbooks and workbooks have been begun on the press, and already some 5,000 have been printed.

For the aid of new missionaries in learning the Sango lingua-franca (trade language), our Brother Samarin has prepared, mimeographed, and copyrighted a Pedagogical Grammar. This work, approved by field council, is now in circulation for missionaries.

Schools

The Bible Institute graduated a class of 23 fine young men, prepared for an enlarged ministry in their churches. This year's class numbers 21 new students.

District Bible schools, which are elementary in teaching preparatory to entrance into the Bible Institute, operated in all districts for the first time during this report year. A total of 244 students attended these schools which were in session for an average of 14½ weeks. Special textbooks and workbooks are being prepared for the courses of these schools, thus completing a goal set many years ago to standardize the teaching in these classes. Mr. Dunning has done a great deal of commendable work in preparing this material and serves on the committee responsible for this work.

In December 1951 the field council changed the location of the Missionary Children's School to Yaloke, where the medical guest house could serve as a dormitory. Hence, the school has operated at Yaloke during this last year with Misses Kent and Mishler again serving as teacher and house mother. This is a unique ministry. There are needs in this school for more accommodations and support, and we ask for special prayer that the Lord will provide.

Many of the native Christian parents and the church workers in particular are looking forward to seeing their children educated in Christian schools. The Lord has answered the prayers of years in providing a qualified missionary for this task, and now we must continue to pray that funds will be forthcoming to support such schools. The present plan is to begin with a normal school to train native teachers. With such qualified African teachers we hope to be able to operate schools at each station of the mission. The schools anticipated are primary graded schools, taking students through the sixth grade. The cost of each school will be from $600 to $800 per year, with three African teachers required to operate each school of six grades. This arrangement will permit a total enrollment of 150 students in each school.

Medical Work

The medical work of the mission continues to increase with each year. The dispensaries at Basfai and Nzoro have not functioned full time during this year because of the shortage of nurses. This need has been met and we look forward to complete operation of the dispensaries next year. Authorization from the French government to make a charge for medicine and treatment will enable us to continue this department without additional cost of operation to the mission, it is hoped. The treatment of lepers in general is now given at all of our dispensaries. However, this has not affected the ministry of the leper colony at Bekoro, where the number of outpatients continues to grow. (Patients—14,905; treatments—91,406.)

The Year Ahead

As we look forward to the year ahead we are encouraged. New missionaries are on the field to fill in the ranks of those taking furlough. The door for evangelization is wide open. Better-trained African ministers are alive to the perils about them and are prepared to teach the Word as never before. All mission districts have at least one full-time missionary pastor resident in the district. The medical work, with an enlarged ministry, has increasing possibilities to reach men for Christ. We are on the threshold of a new beginning for regular day schools where our African children can receive their schooling under Christian influence. Work with the women and the children is on the increase in our churches. And, what is more, our God is with us to bless.

One for One

FRANCE

Our Brethren testimony in France is just beginning, having been in an established location only since January 1953. We have just the one missionary family resident in France—the Fogles. They are living in Caluire, a town of almost 20,000 located just north of Lyon. In fact, it is so close to Lyon that the division is imperceptible. Others have been in France for study, but they have been in the Paris area.

Our testimony is being centered in Lyon, the third largest city in France, having a population of about 800,000. There are very few evangelical believers, so that the field is almost a wide-open area for possible expansion. In the general area of Lyon there are a number of smaller and larger cities just as unoccupied as Lyon as far as evangelical Christian faith is concerned.

Activity Report

Some 1,500 large Bible text posters have been placed in 14 different towns, cities, and villages. Over 13,000 tracts in 10 different centers and 8,000 handbills, besides New Testaments and Gospel portions, have been distributed. Bible classes for both adults and children have been conducted. There were two short evangelistic meetings with commendable attendance. All of this has been through the activity of our one missionary family.

Future Plans

A second series of short evangelistic meetings is to be conducted at the end of this year. By next summer we hope to have a new tent in France and conduct tent meetings in different strategic centers. Our Brethren youth of Bethany Camp have undertaken the project of supplying a tent for France, and about $425 of the necessary $500 has already been given. Future plans include more missionaries for France and Europe. We believe things are moving in the direction of a second family to go to France for permanent work about the end of this year. France is only the first step in Brethren testimony on the continent. We hope Germany may be the next step in the not-far-distant future.

COMINGS AND GOINGS AT BIBLE INSTITUTE

By Mrs. Harold Dunning, Bozoum, Africa

The slanting rain, driven inexorably by the wind, roared down on the aluminum roof, shutting out all other sound and most of the afternoon light. The veranda, which also serves as a dining room, was awash from the flood straining through the screen. The deafening crashes of thunder, one after the echo of each succeeding one, tensed nerves and indicated hits which must be close.

The native children's groups were already assembled in their rooms, each with a Bible Institute student as teacher. The rain came with little warning just at the time Marguerite Dunning always goes to take charge of their chapel hour and then to remain at a class. It seemed a time made to order for that article so long delayed.

Harold Dunning was in his office making out exams for the students. After next week there will be a 10-day vacation from classes, during which time Pastors Sumey, Williams, and Dunning will meet at Bassai to work on junior Bible school material.

Afternoons are a little more elastic as to schedules. There are always a multitude of odd jobs to be done—the oddest and most wonderful to the African mind being the operating of the well driller by Wayne Beaver. There are things that need to be done in the house—putting up cupboard doors, making furniture, and, on rainy days, making investigations to find where the roofs leak.

The mornings follow a regular routine. Breakfasts at all households are over at 7, except sometimes for a few small fry who need urging to clean up their plates. The same cooked cereal day after day gets to be an awful bore! Before beginning classes at 7:15, Wayne Beaver has given orders to the workmen, and Harold Dunning to the carpenter. At about the same time Clara Schwartz can be seen—a white-gowned figure—cutting across the circle in a beeline to the dispensary. And as soon as small tummies are pronounced full enough, and instructions have been given to the boys for their chores, Dorothy Beaver and Marguerite Dunning are off to their jobs teaching the students' wives.

The first class is for the nonreaders. The other women join them at 8. Marguerite has the new students, and they read through the Gospels, taking up the life of Christ chronologically, using all four Gospels. They enjoy this, but some are so involved in the mechanics of reading that even after the story is read the third or fourth time they have little idea of what they have read. Dorothy teaches the second-year women. They read through the Epistles and study certain portions therefrom. Pray for these future leaders of African womanhood.

Then comes chapel. Monday is the day for teaching the "song of the week" by Harold Dunning. (Sometimes it takes considerably longer than a week on a song!) This song is sung every day at chapel during that week. Tuesday through Thursday are regular chapel days, with students preaching. On Friday there is always a praise-and-prayer meeting.

Immediately following chapel there is a 15-minute break for coffee at either Beavers' or Dunnings' house. Then the men go back to the classroom and the women occupy themselves with housekeeping. Around this time the dispensary work is over for the morning, but the nurse knows that is just one phase of her job. A good part of her time is spent as a pharmacist and she can expect meals, and even sleep, to be often interrupted to answer a sick call.

Recently the mission staff here was doubly and very happily invaded. The white children came home from school for a vacation of seven weeks, increasing the number of missionary kids here to a half dozen. Just a week later the long-awaited and prayed-for new missionaries arrived. The Garbers went to live on Bozoum Hill, but the Kennedys and the four nurses occupied the duplex. This swelled the number of missionaries at the Bible Institute to three men, eight women, and seven children. The Dunnings recall one year during their first term when there were only three men on the field, counting all the stations. How we all praised God anew for the way He has poured out His blessing on us in recent years!

After this influx of new inhabitants (also 125 or so baby chicks from France), there was an air of general excitement all around as the flurry of unpacking began and Sango lessons were started. Before two weeks were up the new missionaries were housekeeping in their own domiciles, and about the same time they began helping out in classes. They really are a help in teaching people to read, but at the same time they are getting valuable lessons in pronunciation and intonation which only the native can give them.

Before long now their time of language study will be up, and they will be going to the places which need them most. Mary Ann Habegger will remain here at the Bible Institute to take the medical work after Dorothy Beaver leaves for furlough. Clara Schwartz has returned to Bellevue to pack up for furlough, and the schoolgirls have returned to Yaloke.

In the midst of comings and goings the work of the Lord goes steadily on. Your prayers on behalf of your missionaries out here bring the needed wisdom, grace, and strength for all that they face. May the Lord richly bless you who pray, and keep us all faithful in His vineyard till He comes.

ARRIVED

By Dr. Floyd W. Taber, Yaloke, Africa

Four brand-new missionary nurses have actually arrived in Africa!

Just east of us, Mid-Missions received six nurses and three doctors last year! But for Oubangui-Chari Mission four new medical workers in one lot breaks all records. However, it still is not the time for those who have been carrying the brunt of the health ministry to rest on their oars—four experienced medical workers are going on furlough this year.

Even though it is four gained and four lost (that is, on furlough), it will do a world of good to our medical program to receive new blood, new energy, and new methods. If nothing else, it is good for us "old-timers" to have to "get on our toes" and wipe the dust off our books to keep the newcomers from finding out how completely we have been buried in Africa and lost contact with the ever-changing world of medicine.

Four new nurses, full of enthusiasm, are ready to start applying modern medicine to the "open sore of the world." But to them it will no longer be one great open sore. It will be suffering mothers, crying babies, rotting lepers—one by one.

Yes, before they have been on the field a year, their pity for the ONE will begin to be crushed by the MASS and the INERTIA of Africa. If they use correct technique in caring for ONE, a HUNDRED will die in the bush with no care at all. If they give the medicines that would be prescribed in a hospital at home to the HUNDRED, the stock will be gone, and there will be nothing for the THOUSAND. So they will use simple techniques that can be taught to African helpers, and cheap medicines that can be paid for out of African wages. This is the obvious solution, but a difficult adjustment for those whose whole training has consisted in learning to do things the RIGHT way.

The thing that is hardest to accept, because it seems so easily avoidable, is the lack of equipment. It is a far cry from the thousands of dollars worth of equipment which is considered necessary for the simplest hospital in the States to the few meager instruments that must serve all our needs in a mission dispensary in Africa.

For each of the four new vest-pocket dispensaries built by Al Balzer, we asked for $500 worth of equipment plus an equal amount for the costs of getting it to the field, and for $100 worth of furniture to be built out here—a total of $1,100 per dispensary. The people of the First Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio, have gone beyond this amount in equipping the leper dispensary at Bekoro—the Roy Patterson Memorial Dispensary. Groups in other churches have given generously. Still we have not been able to secure all the items on our minimum list of absolutely necessary equipment.

Yet, with what they have these new dispensaries are the envy of Bellevue and Yaloke, where we are using instruments over 20 years old, and we never have had some things included on the minimum list for new dispensaries. And Bassai! Last January the Bassai dispensary burned to the ground. So we need a new building and a complete new set of equipment.

Of the new nurses, Marian Thurston and Mary Ann Habegger are appointed to Bekoro and Bible Institute, where they will have new buildings and new equipment. Edith Geske is coming to Yaloke, where she should have laboratory equipment in order to use the special training she took before leaving home. And Gail Jones is going to Bassai, where her total resources consist in foundation stones and a pile of bricks!

These girls represent a considerable investment. They received R. N. training at their own expense before applying to the board. They supported themselves through Grace Seminary by nursing. Two of them spent an extra year in laboratory training. They were supported in Europe for 10 months while engaged in language study. If the Lord tarries, the Brethren churches will invest thousands of dollars in their support year after year. Will that be a good investment? The answer is partly tied up with the question of whether a few additional dollars will be invested in good instruments.

First of all, they are missionaries; secondarily, nurses. They are interested primarily in souls, afterward in bodies. But they realize that they are representatives of the Lord Jesus Christ in all they do and that slipshod medical work is not an honor to Him. Being primarily interested in souls does not justify our letting bodies suffer when we can help it. The Christian medical worker must do a better job technically because he is a Christian.

These nurses have studied HARD that they might be prepared to do a good job. No one knows how hard, unless he has tried studying tropical medicine in French after only five months in France.

They are giving their best. How good will that best be? That depends on the tools that YOU put into their hands.

INTO THE HEIGHTS

PROPHECY

Christ's Inspection and Judgment on Christendom

REVELATION 2:1-7

IN THE second and third chapters of Revelation we have the judgment of God upon the seven churches. Christ's walking among these churches suggests that He is disturbed because of the conditions He finds in them. They have gotten away from Him.

To each Church Christ says, "I KNOW," and on the basis of His knowledge He commends or condemns. To each church He reveals a way of escape from the things He condemns. He also offers rewards to those who overcome.

We must always keep in mind these seven churches represent the decline of the church from the apostolic days until the second coming of Christ.

The messages to the seven churches are badly needed for the day and age in which we now live.

Why did God select these seven churches and neglect some others that seem to be more important? There is the church at Jerusalem, the one at Antioch, or the one at Rome. The seven selected manifested the gradual development of the church in general and also pointing out the elements of decay from one age to another.

If you would take a map and study the location of these churches, the seven cities would make almost a circle and that circle is located just about the center of the earth.

The first church brought under examination is the church located at Ephesus. This church enjoyed the ministry of the greatest preachers who ever lived—men such as Paul, John, Apollos, and Timothy.

When Paul first visited this church he found a people who received the truth with honest hearts. But when Paul was about to make his departure he gave a solemn warning. Hear his words: "For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock. Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them." See Acts 20:29-30.

Things turned out just as Paul predicted, because the Holy Spirit was giving Paul this knowledge. The trouble with the church at Ephesus did not all come from WITHOUT, but much came from among those on the INSIDE.

Christ had several things about which to commend this church. "I know thy works, and thy labour, and thy patience" (Rev. 2:2). From this we gather the church was filled with good works—works that were laborious or difficult to accomplish. It was a hard-working church. Better still, the saints there were patient. When the going was tough and rough, they kept right on. They met obstacles and by God's grace and help overcame them. This church was noted for its separation from all that which would dishonor God. For a while this church was a real witness against sin.

The church at Ephesus, at the beginning, is the kind of a church we need today. These characteristics make for a powerful church. It is not a case of adapting our message and methods for the day in which we live to be a power for God in this world. We need a new emphasis upon the work of the Holy Spirit, a new emphasis upon the great doctrines of the Gospel of the grace of God.

By—

Rev. William A. Steffler
Dayton, Ohio

Churches need to know their utter helplessness unless they have received the Holy Spirit in His matchless power and blessing. We must not think for one moment that a successful church depends on men, machinery, and money.

As long as the church at Ephesus remained true to her God-given program, all was well. But when the wolves crept in and began their damaging work, the once powerful church became a weak, struggling congregation. As long as she dealt with bad conduct and deeds among the members she was powerful, but when the bars were lowered she began quickly to lose her testimony.

What a rebuke to the church today! We seldom hear the matter of discipline in the church mentioned, let alone practiced. Church members can live just as they please and still hold offices and places of honor.

Let no church think she is so powerful and strong that she cannot fall! Listen to God's complaint against this church at Ephesus: "Thou hast left thy first love" (vs. 4). The word "somewhat" is not in the original. The word "somewhat" might convey the impression the charge God is making is of little consequence. It is a serious matter—so serious, if the matter is not cared for, God threatened to remove the candlestick. The candlestick is a channel of light, used

A HEART FOR SOULS!

EVANGELISM

THREE BIBLICAL ESSENTIALS FOR REAL REVIVAL

By R. Paul Miller

Revival is God's business, not man's. David cried, in Psalm 85:6, "Wilt thou not revive us again: that thy people may rejoice in thee." And again, Habakkuk pled, "O, Lord, revive thy work in the midst of the years" (3:2).

Only God can send a revival. The early church realized this without question. In Acts 4:23-31 we find the way they sought for power to bring about victory for the Gospel, and the glorious way in which they received it. They didn't count on advertising, or thrilling music, or comfortable seats. They just counted on God to show His mighty arm and work in His own way. Today we try to make God work in our narrow little groove. He is too great for our plans. We want to put Him in harness. Instead of trying to persuade God to bless our plans, our concern should and must be to seek His face to know His plans. Revival may start a long time before the evangelist arrives. Revival was rolling along in Wales for months before Dr. Torrey and his song leader, Alexander, arrived. Most of the great revivals in Finney's day were going widespread before he was even sent for.

One great mistake today is that revival is expected to begin only after the evangelist arrives. A short time ago a preacher wrote to me and said, "Brother Miller, the revival is already on here. People are coming to Christ now. I baptized eight yesterday. I can't hold it back." I replied, "Don't try to hold it back; let it go; I'll just come and help you take care of it." He and his people had been seeking the face of God for months for revival. They were looking to the right source. They got what they sought. God wants revival. He will send revival to any place where people are brokenheartedly seeking it.

But there are conditions that must be met before He can work. They are set forth in II Chronicles 7:14: "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven, and forgive their sin, and will heal their land." And God hasn't changed His program one iota from the day these words were given! Here three basic essentials are given.

FIRST, there must be humility in the hearts of believers. "If my people will humble themselves." Says James, "God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble." Undoubtedly some churches cannot have revival at all. They are too proud. Prayed the Pharisee, "God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are." There are congregations in which we have worked that were so proud of their theology, their beautifully planned and impressive services, the chimes in their church tower, their famous Bible conferences, that they simply can't feel the need of revival. And yet if their pastor knew of the worldliness that was rampant among them, he wouldn't be able to sleep.

We must lose our self-righteous strut if we expect God to even listen to us when we pray, much less to send revival. Church members who are too proud to ring doorbells for Jesus, too proud to bring that poor family in your car to the meetings, too proud to have others hear your voice break, or see your tears fall for lost friends and loved ones, simply must give up the hope of seeing God's mighty hand working among you.

SECOND, there must be broken-hearted prayer and the seeking of God's face. Never has the professing church talked more about power, prayed more for power, preached great swelling sermons about power than today. Never have we held so many conferences about spiritual power, sung so many songs about Pentecostal power, and had so little power as today! We admire the early church and extol their wonderful powers in prayer, and of the great revivals they held, and sort of imagine that by glorying in what they experienced that we shall have the same.

But our altars remain cold. The early church fathers paid the price for power. They sought God's face, and stayed with God for days and weeks. But they saw the power of God shake their community and turn thousands from sin. If we desire power, God's power, revival power, as they had, we must meet the conditions as they did. God has not changed. He answered then. He will answer now!

THIRD, repentance must sweep the church. The trouble has never been with the world. It has always been with the church. If the people in the church are living right, there is little trouble getting the sinner to believe in the Gospel and receive it. God says, "If my people . . . will turn from their wicked ways." The wicked ways of members of the church have caused, and are still causing, the sermons of their earnest pastor to fall fruitless at the pulpit.

Many a pastor has wondered why his efforts to win the neighbors of his church members are so fruitless. Perhaps if he knew of the gossiping, slanderous, fiery, lying tongues of some who pray for their neighbors he would understand. If he knew of the sharp business practices, the forsaken family altars, the bad habits, the worldly example that those neighbors see in his church members, he would know why revival did not come to his church.

Meet the conditions, and God says, "Then will I hear from heaven." REVIVAL IS WAITING IN THE HAND OF GOD.

NATURAL RELIGION

Adapted from a sermon preached at the First Brethren Church, Phoenix, Ariz., August 23, 1953, by Robert W. Betz, now a student at Grand Canyon College, Phoenix, preparing for Christian day school and high school teaching and administration.—Ed.

(Scripture Reading: Matt. 16:1-17:5)

"There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death" (Prov. 14:12) certainly characterizes the world today. Man has put religion in a separate pigeonhole from the rest of life, but because we are responsible to God for our every action, every phase of our lives has a religious aspect, a definite relationship to the God of creation and redemption. To be accurate, every antireligious group (such as atheists, etc.) must be classed along with all non-Christian sects, cults, and isms because they have certain attitudes in common.

First, let us consider natural religion and the person of Christ. Our Lord probed the depths of natural wisdom when He asked His disciples, "Whom do men say that I the Son of man am?" Since "the world by wisdom knew not God" (I Cor. 1:21), it is not strange that they saw Christ as a mere human being. Unaided natural man is unable to discover the true identity of Christ, but to Peter's "Thou art the Christ the Son of the living God" came the Lord's "Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven."

Because of this failure to recognize who Christ is, natural man is unable to appreciate what He is doing and has done. There is a definite relation between natural religion and the passion of Christ. Having informed His disciples of His purpose to suffer death at the hands of ungodly men, Peter was quick to express all of his natural reasoning powers when he said, "Be it far from thee, Lord: this shall not be unto thee." Our Lord's answer assures us that Peter was now speaking according to natural understanding, for He said, "Thou savourest not the things that be of God, but those that be of men" (vs. 23). Man has no appreciation for the sufferings and shed blood of our Lord and Saviour, and this is characteristic of natural religion.

Behind the scenes of the natural man is a person and we will consider briefly natural religion and the enemy of Christ. Christ rebuked the same Peter He had so recently commended, because of the one empowering Peter to so respond. He said, "Get thee behind me, Satan: thou art an offense unto me" (vs. 23). This rebuke was directed against Peter's counselor, "the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience" (Eph. 2:2). Natural religion is designed and directed by Satan, the archenemy of the soul and of Christ.

Because of the failure of natural man to recognize the deity of Christ and to appreciate the value of His sufferings, he will not be ready for Christ when He returns. There is no anticipation in natural religion for the coming of Christ. Its adherents, both within and without Christendom, concur in asking, "Where is the promise of his coming?" (II Pet. 3:4). Natural man will not appreciate the coming of Christ in judgment for man's failure to appropriate the benefits of the substitutionary sufferings of a divine Saviour. This is manifest in all natural religion.

The only hope for those who worship what appeals naturally to them is the message of Christ. Though Moses and Elijah appeared at the transfiguration of Christ, it was to Jesus that the Father spoke from heaven saying, "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him" (17:5). It was to Him that the Old Testament saints were looking and waiting. There is and was true salvation in no other. True religion supersedes all that is only natural in being based upon Christ's Word, recognizing His deity, accepting by faith His suffering, rejecting the power behind the natural altar of worship and enemy of Christ, Satan, and looking with anticipation for Christ's coming.

You may believe it or not, but true Christianity will result in a changed life (cleansed by the precious blood of the Lamb). Will you heed Christ's tender message of love, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Matt. 11:28)?

"TWO DIED FOR ME"

A ship had been wrecked, and when the boats had been let down it was seen that there was not room in them for all. Lots were cast, and among those who had to remain behind was a young and very wicked sailor. He was very pale, and those near him heard him mutter, "Lost—lost eternally." But he was picked up bodily and thrown into one of the boats. The man who had done that called to him, "You are not ready to die yet, but I am, and am willing to die for you. But mind that I see you in heaven." An old sailor who had often told him of Jesus and asked him to receive the Saviour, thus died in his stead. Ever after, the young man, who really accepted Christ, was wont to testify in these words: "For me two have died."—Glad Tidings.

Over 200 Enroll at Grace Seminary

—By Dr. Homer A. Kent, Registrar

Registrations for the fall semester began at Grace Seminary the morning of Friday, September 11, at which time new students were registered in both the seminary and college divisions, continued on Saturday, the 12th, when returning students were registered, and continued through the first week of school, which began on Monday, the 14th. The total enrollment now stands at 215, which is a record for this institution. Never before have we reached the 200 mark.

In the latest enrollment there are 92 new students. This is the largest number of such students we have ever experienced. In the total registration 147 are in the seminary division, which compares to 141 at the corresponding time a year ago, while there are 69 in the college division, which compares to 29 a year ago. There are 5 students who are enrolled in both the seminary and college divisions, so that there are actually 211 students who have entered school thus far this semester.

In the seminary there are 137 men and 10 women, while in the college there are 45 men and 24 women. Over-all there are 179 men and 32 women in the school.

The cosmopolitan character of our school is seen in a geographical breakdown of the States from which the students have come. The distribution is as follows: from Pennsylvania, 49; Ohio, 40; Indiana, 36; Michigan, 15; Virginia, 11; Iowa, 9; California, 8; New York, 7; Illinois, 4; New Jersey, Massachusetts, Florida, Oregon, and Maryland, 3; Washington, Kansas, District of Columbia, West Virginia, and Tennessee, 2; and 1 each from the States of New Mexico, Mississippi, Missouri, Georgia, Rhode Island, Kentucky, Nebraska, Minnesota, and South Dakota. There are also 2 students from Canada. Thus there are representatives from 27 States of the Union, the District of Columbia, and Canada. Doubtless there will be a lot of geographical viewpoints expressed ere the year is over!

The varied educational backgrounds of the new students is suggested by the fact that they have come from 33 different colleges, seminaries, and Bible institutes located in all parts of the country.

The denominational breakdown shows that there are students from 15 different denominations or groups in the entire student body. Brethren students take the lead by a considerable margin, followed by representatives from the Baptists, Independents, Mennonites, Methodists, Presbyterians, Evangelical and Reformed, New Dunkard Church of God, Plymouth Brethren, Christian and Missionary Alliance, Christian, Primitive Methodists, United Presbyterian, Evangelical United Brethren, and the New Creation Fellowship. Surely there will be abundant opportunity for an exchange of views in matters of theology and church polity!

We believe that God in answer to prayer has sent this splendid group of young people to Grace Seminary and College to be trained for a fuller Christian service. The faculty and staff of the school keenly feel their responsibility in directing the lives of these students. We need the prayerful support of our readers that this responsibility may be faithfully discharged.

THE SEMINARY LIBRARY IS GROWING, TOO!

Mrs. Ben Hamilton sorts some of the 1,500 books recently cataloged preparatory to placing them upon the library shelves.

Students and staff of Grace Seminary and Grace College are finding a new index of growth in the library. New shelves have been added to accommodate the influx of new books. The vacant space to the right of the library door has stacks waiting to have books placed there as soon as the librarians can make the needed change.

Since Easter 1953 more than 1,500 books have been cataloged and added to the seminary and college libraries.

Recently Rev. Conard Sandy has graciously given many fine new books to the library. These include excellent materials in the field of history and biography—late books giving top-grade research data on vital phases in American history. Brother Sandy has also given other desirable items for the seminary library. For all of these contributions Grace Theological Seminary is indeed grateful and, as the students and staff make use of these books, they will prove to be a genuine blessing.

The library growth is further evidence that every good gift and every perfect gift comes down from the Father.—Ben Hamilton.

Home Missions—

1. Pray for the new Cedar Rapids pastor, Richard Grant, as he carries on the program of that church, and labors to establish another church in the Davenport area.

2. Pray for the Navaho mission work and especially for the new teacher, Miss Priscilla Zimmerman, as she teaches the Navaho children the English language.

3. Pray for the rapid construction of the much-needed new building at Washington Heights, Roanoke, Va. Also remember in prayer the Brethren construction crew who will be working on the church.

4. Pray for Lester Pifer as he accepts the responsibility of assistant field secretary in the work of Brethren home missions.

5. Pray that the Sunnymede Brethren Church, South Bend, Ind., will make a real impact on the community through the Christ for Everyone campaign and the Christian Life Sunday school contest.

6. The 1954 home-mission budget has been set at $166,000 and we desire that every Brethren pray that the Thanksgiving offering might even exceed this figure, so that we may accept new opportunities we believe the Lord is going to give us in 1954.

Youth—

1. Pray for the youth director as he visits churches in the East and Southeast districts this fall.

2. Pray that the boys clubs, launching out in full swing this fall, may be blessed, and that the leaders may give the time and interest necessary to keep them a success for the Lord.

3. Pray for wisdom for the youth director, and others who help him, as they prepare program material for BYF use through the year.

4. Continue to remember our many young people in school, that they may take advantage of each opportunity to prepare themselves for the work the Lord has called them to. Especially pray that many of our young men may be led into pastoral ministry.

WMC—

1. Praise the Lord for the splendid number of WMC women at National Conference.

2. Pray for the fall district rallies that God might be glorified both in our planning and in our giving.

3. Pray that our WMC women will receive a real vision for service.

4. Pray that more women will participate in the 15th of the month prayer fellowship.

SMM—

1. Pray for the newly elected officers—national, district, and local—that they may be used of the Lord to lead the SMM in a greater year for Him.

2. Pray that the devotional topics for the coming year may inspire the girls to live more beautiful lives for the Master.

3. Pray that many more SMM girls may feel the need of the "QT" each day.

Grace Seminary—

1. We praise God for His faithfulness to the seminary in raising up friends who have met most of our needs with special gifts during the summer months when envelope offerings dropped off.

2. We also praise God for the designated gifts that have come in to pay for chairs and other equipment and for campus improvements, such as roads and landscaping.

3. Pray much for the school as the new year opens and both teachers and students adjust themselves to the year ahead. Pray that all students may get satisfactory living quarters and jobs adequate for their material needs.

4. Pray for the new students, especially those in college, many of whom will be leaving home for the first time. Continue to pray that the testimony of the school in the community may be a powerful witness through the lives of consecrated students.

Foreign Missions—

1. Pray for the home-mission offering at Thanksgiving time, that Brethren throughout our churches may give sacrificially in order that new churches may be built in the many centers where folks are ready for a Brethren church.

2. Pray for the general secretary as he makes plans to leave the States around December 1 for a visit of about three months to our South American mission fields.

3. Pray for the Marvin Goodman family as they consider service in France, in view of the fact that little Anne's physical condition will not permit their returning to Africa for some years. Pray that the Lord will open doors for proper medical treatment for her in France if that should be His will.

4. Pray for Brother and Sister Roy Howard and family, who are now located in Calexico, Calif., just across the border from Mexicali, Baja California, where there is a vast opportunity for Gospel testimony. Pray that a house and the proper location may be found for this family—they are temporarily housed in a trailer. Pray also for the Haags, who are continuing the testimony in the San Ysidro-Tijuana area.

5. Pray for the missionaries on furlough, that the Lord will give physical strength and rest, as well as enable each one to have a part in deputation work. Pray especially for Mrs. Roy Snyder, that she may be completely restored to health.

6. Pray for Dr. Harold Mason and his family, who are still in France. Dr. Mason is now beginning a three-months course of study in tropical medicine, following which the Masons will leave France for Africa.

7. Pray for the new missionaries in Africa who have been studying Sango, the trade language, since their arrival from France. They are now moving to their respective stations to assume their many new responsibilities.

8. Pray for the Maconaghys, who have arrived back in Argentina following furlough, and for the Balzers, who have returned to Africa, that the Lord will give each couple another fruitful term of service for Him. Pray also for Miss Ruth Snyder, who expects to leave the States on October 28 to return to Africa.

Herald—

1. Pray for the Herald staff as it endeavors to so broaden the scope of our printed material as to include all ages in our reading family.

CHRIST'S INSPECTION . . .

to hold the light. God is threatening to choose another channel through which light would be given.

Let us heed this warning. A church may be so busy for Him, so full of good works, that Christ Himself is lost sight of completely—like Martha, so busy doing for Christ that she had no time for sweet communion with Christ. Departure from the faith many times can be traced to failure in private devotional life with Christ.

Let us examine our life—let a church examine herself. HAVE WE LEFT OUR FIRST LOVE? Have we lost our testimony?

The same God who called on the saints at Ephesus to repent calls us to do the same thing.

Do we have a spiritual ear? Then let us hear what the Spirit says to the church at Ephesus, because it is the same message the Spirit would get across today. Live the overcoming life! To those who overcome God promises them to eat of the tree of life (vs. 6). Why that is the very thing Adam lost!

Examine your life, dear one. Have you lost your first love? Do other books have more attraction for you than the Bible? Have you lost interest in attending public worship service? Has spiritual obedience become wearisome? Do you lack interest in the salvation of precious souls? Are you no longer interested in missionary work; no longer concerned over personal sin? Has worldliness crept into your life?

May God help each one of us to strive to be an overcomer, for that is the victorious life. If you want YOUR CHURCH to be a powerful church, we must not allow her to lose her first love. If YOU want to be a powerful Christian, you too must be careful not to lose your first love.

Salvation is by grace, apart from works, but overcomers are enriched with joys and added grace which belong to them alone. Claim all that God can give you in this life and you will be a powerful Christian.

Now With Christ

Rev. D. F. Eikenberry

David Franklin Eikenberry, a Brethren minister for 56 years, was "loosed away upward" September 9 at the ripe age of 82. Memorial services were held at the Grace Brethren Church at Yakima, Wash., September 12, with the writer in charge. Interment took place in Canton, Ohio, where he was laid to rest beside his wife.

Brother Eikenberry was born November 9, 1870, near the town of Flora, Ind. He graduated from Ashland College in 1903 and served Brethren churches at Canton, Ohio; Akron, Ohio; Altoona, Pa.; South Bend, Ind.; Hudson, Iowa; and in Illinois.

He had lived for the past six years in Yakima with his daughter, Margaret, and her husband, Rev. Russell Williams, pastor of the Grace Brethren Church there. At the time of his death he was teacher of the adult class at the church.

The writer wishes to bear testimony to the fine Christian spirit and sweet submission manifested by our departed brother during the months of weakness and suffering he endured prior to his homegoing. It was our privilege on several occasions to participate in the administering of the anointing service at our brother's request. In each instance the Lord graciously undertook and relieved his suffering. It was a joy indeed to have had fellowship with him in the Word and prayer, and we do praise the Lord for the fragrance of his life. For him to depart and be with Christ was far better.—Rev. Jesse Hall.

For Your Book Shelf

The Brethren Missionary Herald Company offers to its readers the opportunity to secure additional books for your library. With the ordering of any one of the following books, cash with order, you will receive a coupon. For every four coupons sent to the Brethren Missionary Herald Company you will receive in return a complimentary copy of a book you would be proud to place in your library. If you order one or more of the following books by October 15, 1953, and cash accompanies your order, you will receive a coupon with each book purchased.

THE CREATION—FACTS, THEORIES, AND FAITH, by Theodore L. Handrich. Moody Press, 1953. Cloth. 211 pp. Price, $3.95.

This book is especially written for young Christians who question the scientific accuracy of the Bible. The theories of glaciation and geology are critically considered, together with the recent theory of radioactivity as an age indicator.

THE INDESCRIBABLE CHRIST, by Charles J. Rolls. Zondervan Publishing House, 1953. Cloth. 215 pp. Price, $2.50.

The author selects 84 of the conspicuous titles, names, and offices of the Lord Jesus Christ, and shows the inadequacy of the English language to describe the glories of the risen Christ.

ADVENTURES IN FAITH, by M. R. DeHaan. Zondervan Publishing House, 1953. Cloth. 192 pp. Price, $2.50.

Selecting the mountain-top experiences in the life of Abraham, Dr. DeHaan portrays in words how Abraham lived a life of adventure in faith. The purpose of the book is to stimulate Christians to live by faith, and to pursue deeper studies into the life of the patriarch. The manner in which the author applies the experiences of Abraham is challenging and helpful.

THIS HAPPENED IN THE HILLS OF KENTUCKY, by John Vogel. Zondervan Publishing House, 1952. Cloth. 382 pp. Price, $3.95.

The story of how God answered prayer and rewarded faith, resulting in the establishment of the Galilean Children's Home. Inspiration and humor are woven together in this real-life drama. Your heart will thrill to see how God used one of His chosen vessels to accomplish His purpose.

MOUNTAINS SINGING, by Sanna Morrison Barlow. Moody Press, 1952. Cloth. 352 pp. Price, $3.00.

The reader will relive this modern missionary adventure story in the Philippines, and marvel at the absolute faith the two servants of God manifested and how the Lord rewarded them through the daily supply of their needs.

FAITH'S CHECKBOOK, by Charles H. Spurgeon. Moody Press, 1953. Cloth. 374 pp. Price, $3.00.

With a precious promise and a brief comment for each day of the year, this book may be likened to a "check payable to order" of you. This book could well be adapted to regular reading before or after meals, as a family devotional.

THE VITALITY OF THE CHURCH

The vitality of a church is often judged by the splash it makes in the weekly social calendar. Needless to say, there is no guarantee that church is spiritually alive because it has a pot-luck dinner Monday night, a Tuesday-afternoon tea, a luncheon forum Wednesday noon, with a choir practice and a fellowship hour following on Thursday.—Presbyterian Life.

The Need of the Hour: Purity, Passion, Power

MODERATOR'S ADDRESS

By ARNOLD R. KRIEGBAUM

According to the gracious providence of God our Saviour, we are again assembled on this hallowed ground in this 64th annual conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches.

Surely no assemblage should have the joy of the Lord in their hearts more than we. As we gather in this mutual fellowship and counsel, the beneficence of our blessed Lord during the past twelvemonth demands that we offer our tribute of praise and thanks unto Him! The admonition of the Apostle Paul to the church at Philippi, "Rejoice in the Lord alway: and again I say, Rejoice," should literally be felt in our hearts.

"The Need of the Hour: Purity, Passion, Power" is the theme our executive committee has chosen for this conference. There can be no doubt that almighty God was leading by His Holy Spirit when this theme was chosen.

Every born-again believer is keenly aware that we are living in momentous days. Strife, dissatisfaction, distress, perplexity, and distrust prevail everywhere. Leading economists and financiers predict colossal collapse. Defeatism, despondency, and despair have shaken the United Nations Organization until the world, like a drunken man, reels between the reality of bankruptcy and the philosophy of Epicureanism.

The Need of the Hour

In such an hour of world history, one would suppose that the church of Jesus Christ would unitedly stand forth and in clarion call invite men to return to the eternal plan of God. One would expect religious leaders to be incited to contend for "the faith once delivered unto the saints." But not so. Instead, supposed prophets of God sit by, mouthing words trippingly on the tongue, like actors upon the stage. Their words are dead and powerless even to produce the utopia for which they are hoping.

In this hour of international strife and confusion, it is not difficult to find an eloquent Apollos preaching the philosophy of Spinoza or Kant, but how difficult it is to find a man with the conviction of Aquilla. It is easy to find cynics who are the "stooges" of Karl Marx and his socialistic ideology, but how difficult is to find an Apostle Paul whose fierce zeal for Jesus Christ causes men to cry out like the Philippian jailor, "What must I do to be saved?" The tragic fact is apparent: many modern religious leaders are rubbing socialistic salve on exteriors, while the cancerous condition of sin eats away at the internal souls of men. Indeed the need of the hour is Purity, Passion, and Power.

I. THE NEED OF THE HOUR: PURITY.

A. There must be purity of doctrine. The advice of Paul to Timothy to "preach the word; be instant in season, out of season" (II Tim. 4:2), rings a greater challenge today than when it was spoken centuries ago. The Holy Spirit, in the most lucid manner, warns throughout the pistles that the time would come when sound doctrine would no longer be endured; rather, that men would give heed to seducing spirits and to the doctrines of demons (I Tim. 4:1). Consistently Jesus portrayed the close of this age as being days of spiritual darkness and spiritual delusion with no assurance given of another world-wide revival near the end of the age of grace. Our Lord Himself asked the question: "Nevertheless when the Son of man cometh, shall he find the faith on the earth?" (Luke 18:8). True, there has been apostasy in every period of the age of grace, for the mystery of iniquity was already at work during the days of the apostles. However, in this 20th century we are beholding the most subtle attack of Satan, the effects of which have shaken even historically conservative circles.

With the advent of the so-called "higher criticism" in the early part of the 19th century, Satan began his infernal attack upon the Bible, denying the infallible revelation of God. So clever was his scheme, and so undermining his program, that by the early part of the 20th century the doubting of the Holy Scriptures was spreading like wildfire, and soon the educational institutions which were built by God-fearing men and women had become dens of destructive criticism where the old Serpent changed his diabolical infidelity into the minds of youth that have now become the preachers and teachers of our present era. Baptized infidels in caps and gowns undermined the eternal truths of the Word of God, and filtered their poisonous pantheistic philosophies into the cups of the young Hamlets. Then, in 1935, the so-called father of progressive education, John Dewey, at Moscow University declared: "The existence of historical Christianity is a detriment to our American society." Today we are experiencing the impact of this Satanic plot.

Guised under the name of "neo-orthodoxy" Satan is hurling his most dangerous weapon of the ages. "Neo-orthodoxy" is a man-made idealistic philosophy robed in the terms of the critical and presented in the name of religion. The thesis of this cult places man on a pedestal with God-like potentialities by which man can supposedly attain unto his ideal. Such doctrine is from the pit of hell. Such doctrine is not new at all; in essence, it is the philosophy of Kant and Heidegger. Neo-orthodoxy affirms to believe all the commonly accepted doctrines of conservative theology, and then employs neologisms to explain away the truth. The fact is that these neo-orthodox theologians rank with the unbelievers of all ages, and they absolutely do not believe the Bible to be the verbally inspired Word of God.

The supreme need of the hour is purity of doctrine. This being true, we as a fellowship of Brethren churches should thank God that we have in our beloved denomination an institution such as Grace Theological Seminary, which stands without apology contending for the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Within the walls of this institution men and women are not being inoculated with hellish neo-orthodoxy, but to the praise of almighty God, the hearts and minds of the students are being filled with the truth. The faculty of Grace Theological Seminary believe in a pure, unadulterated Gospel. As students sit at the feet of such teachers their spiritual swords are sharpened for battle against the forces of hell.

The Lord be praised that we need not make apology for the academic standards of our school, for laboring at financial sacrifice are a corps of professors who are not only proficient in their fields, but who have the zeal of the Lord as well as a love for the Brethren Church. They believe the Brethren Church is contending for the whole counsel of God.

Whereas, the evidences and the influences of liberalism and modernism are prevailing in Christendom, we recommend:

1. That this conference thank God and commend the faculty and the board of trustees of Grace Theological Seminary for contending for a fundamental and conservative position in these apostate days; and,

2. That this conference demonstrate its appreciation and faith in the administration of Grace Theological Seminary by urging the full support of the "dollar-a-month" plan, in addition to the January offering; and let us pray and give that at the annual meeting of this Fellowship in the year 1960 we might burn the mortgage; and,

3. That this conference go on record as being in full agreement with the step of faith taken by the faculty and board of trustees in the establishment of Grace College. This is but another step in our "contending for the faith." As the moderator of this conference, I would not for a single moment desire to say or infer one unkind or ungracious word against the many fine Christian colleges which many of our young people have attended. However, one thing is certain, namely, many of our capable young people have been lost to the Brethren Church simply because they enrolled in other denominational or interdenominational colleges where they heard of every field of service except the Brethren. Special acknowledgment is given to the Brethren Youth Council, who saw this problem and put a full-time man on the field to partially meet the need through personal contact with these young people.

The interdenominational schools are doing a commendable work in their sphere, and yet it is not difficult to see that Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian professors in these institutions are not preparing Brethren preachers and missionaries. It is absolutely certain that in such schools one would not find those subjects being taught from the Word of God, nor practiced, which every well-instructed Brethren holds precious. If there is to be a Brethren Church, there must be a ministry that understands and is genuinely confirmed in the particular teaching of God's Word which the Brethren Church has practiced and defended from her conception. This will make for purity in doctrine.

4. That this conference reaffirm its disapproval of the National Council of Churches and its various affiliates, which are infiltrated with neo-orthodoxy, biological evolution, communistic socialism, and liberalism; and that our fellowship continue its independent battle for the faith.

B. There must be purity in conviction. The days in which we live demand positiveness. The most dangerous position for one to take is compromise. Every compromiser is a liberal, regardless of the realm or degree in which a concession is made. The solemn duty of every believer is to be absolute in his decision to stand faithful to the Lord Jesus Christ.

It was the uncompromising conviction for the faith that resulted in the martyrdom of scores of souls during the first century of the Christian church. It was the stalwart stand of the Reformers, who had deep convictions, that resulted in thousands of them being placed in torture chambers, or being tied to the stake for the cause of Christ. These spiritual giants cared not for the applause of men, nor for the honor that man might bestow upon them. These Christians were deeply desirous of the blessing and power of almighty God. They were desirous that God's Word should not be adulterated. However, with all of their desire to return to the faith of the first century, by the 1500's some doctrines and truths had been so deeply buried in the fancies of worldly philosophies that in this 20th century we are still required to shovel off the worldly rubble.

In this 20th midcentury era we see what has happened during nearly 1000 years of development of the apostasy, and the end is not yet. The trend, however, is the same. Apostasy is a gradual process of departure from the truth, in which one point of doctrine is question, and then another, until finally the whole truth is lost.

The motto of the Brethren Church is: "The Bible, the whole Bible, and nothing but the Bible." May it never be otherwise. And yet, it is possible for us to talk out of two sides of the mouth at the same time, acclaiming our belief in the "whole" Bible, and at the same time fail to show conviction toward certain doctrines that are taught in God's eternal Word, which Word cannot be broken. I think of the oft-said statement of that great warrior of the faith, the late Dr. L. S. Chauman, "It's in the Book, what are you going to do about it?"

If we are to stand true to the whole counsel of God, and to the historic, Biblical position of the Brethren Church, there are four specific doctrines that need to be re-italized. A few might say, Who wants to stand by a historic position? To such I say, Stand true to the colors under which you march or join the ranks where you conscientiously can stand according to your conviction.

The four specific doctrines to which your moderator refers are:

1. The doctrine of separation. The Brethren Church finds its beginning in the Pietistic movement of the 17th century, and from the day the Brethren Church was born in the German village of Schwarzenau, in 1708, until this present moment she has stood for separation from all that is of the world, the flesh, and the Devil. Is it possible that in this 20th century we are confused on this doctrine of separation? We have all but come to mean by separation that we don't go to shows, we don't smoke, and we don't play cards. Brethren, this is not separation. These compose simply a limited set of negative standards, trumped up by man. Scriptural separation is positive dedication of life to the Person of Jesus Christ! One cannot be separated from the world, in the Scriptural sense, until he has been transformed from within by the Holy Spirit of God. In Romans 12:2 believers are admonished: "And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God."

The reason we are seeing so much evidence of the world and the flesh in the lives of many professing Christians is because we have either failed to preach Christ, as we are admonished in Galatians 3:1, or having preached thus, the people are too bewitched by error to surrender to the person of the Lord Jesus Christ. Then, too, conservative Christianity has become too much involved in a fancy for "religious entertainment" and "spiritual sideshows," thinking this is the way to reach men and women for Christ. Not so! Mere carnal feeding of the emotions will never satisfy the souls of men and women, nor will weekly "binges" equip men and women for the conflict they are bound to face in a Satanically controlled world. Instead of succumbing to the un-Scriptural methods which today are, and tomorrow are not, let us "put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil." And having done all, let us stand firmly convicted that God can only bless where believers have separated themselves unto the Lord Jesus and are seeking His benediction.

2. The doctrine of nonconformity. Romans 12:1-2, I John 2:15-17, and Galatians 6:14 are certainly admonitions of the Holy Spirit to every believer to refrain from conforming to the world in speech, dress, habits, pleasure, business, and social relations.

Your moderator feels that we need to lay new emphasis on this teaching, lest the coming generation in the Brethren Church look to Hollywood for her standards of dress and custom, rather than to God's Word. Ministers and their wives and church officials must take the lead and set the example of modesty and conservatism in all things (I Tim. 3:4-7).

Effective teaching on this subject must be the result of consistent example and practice in the home. Christian parents should show spiritual backbone, and refuse to permit their children to conform to the world in dress and practice, and yet this teaching too should be done in a positive manner. The basis for nonconformity to the world is a love for the person and work of Jesus Christ.

Brethren, let us not just make a mouthy profession, but let us manifest purity in the practice of nonconformity. Whereas a great majority of the letters received from the moderators of our districts revealed concern over the matter of separation and nonconformity, we recommend:

(1) That we urge our people to earnestly pray that the Brethren Church shall be kept pure for the glory of God in these days of apostasy, and that she maintain her pilgrim identity for the cause of Jesus Christ.

(2) That this conference suggest to the National Fellowship of Brethren Ministers that some unified program be adopted in our churches to cope with this deficiency. By a program your moderator has in mind Bible conferences in our local churches dedicated to the matter of these problems, and positive propaganda delivered through the Brethren Missionary Herald.

3. The doctrine of marriage and divorce. Last year this conference approved the partial report that was submitted by the Committee on Divorce and Remarriage and Church Membership. This partial report can be found on page 17 of the Brethren Annual of 1952.

Whereas this partial report was published in the minutes of our annual conference, and not likely read by the great constituency of the membership of the Brethren Church, we recommend:

(1) That this conference request the editor of the Brethren Missionary Herald to publish this full report in an early issue, that the entire denomination might know the position of our National Fellowship on this very important doctrine.

4. The doctrine of nonresistance. Many a denomination is floundering in the valley of liberalism, simply because they have forsaken unpopular doctrines in God's eternal Word. It is perhaps correct to say that the doctrine of nonresistance has faced more criticism in the Brethren Church than any other doctrine which we hold precious. And yet there has been more written on this subject, and more resolutions passed affirming belief in it, than any other doctrine. The fact is, that for an individual to question the doctrine of nonresistance is cause to question his position on the doctrines of separation and nonconformity. These doctrines have a common premise in Romans 12:1-2.

Your moderator has stated that in these days we must be positive. Certainly this is true of this doctrine of nonresistance.

Several years ago, during World War II, your moderator was engaged in conversation in a ministerial fellowship which represented some eight denominations. One brother, pastor of one of the largest churches in the city, and who now holds a national office in his denomination, spoke out bluntly with a "crack" against "that bunch of pacifists who hold to the doctrine of nonresistance." Not desiring to be guilty of being "resistant," the speaker held his peace, but still he did not shirk. At the opportune time, privilege was granted that the Biblical position might be stated. When the speaker had finished, that brother pastor admitted that the Brethren position was Biblical and logical, but not popular.

Brethren, we need conviction! We need to be positive! Let us refrain from this apologetic attitude, and by the grace of God let us stand firm for this doctrine that is taught in the Word of God.

Since 1708 the Brethren Church has consistently affirmed her belief in this Biblical doctrine, and because it is in the Book, your moderator feels keenly that any Brethren minister who refuses to teach this doctrine of nonresistance or who uses his influence to undermine conviction in this historic position of the Brethren Church is ethically guilty of a moral breach and should prayerfully reconsider his position and relationship.

Whereas there will be wars in this old world until the Lord Jesus calls His church up to glory, we recommend that the fellowship reaffirm its position on war as set forth in the resolutions of our 51st General Conference of Brethren Churches, as recorded on page 5, the Brethren Conference Number of 1940, in the report of the Resolutions Committee, under paragraph 12; and that this paragraph be read in full before this fellowship.

Under the matter of purity in conviction, permit your moderator to suggest that we jealously guard those ordinances which every well-instructed Brethren appreciates.

The Brethren Church is the recipient of wonderful instruction in several practices or ordinances which the Lord Jesus commanded His church to observe. Each of these ordinances is a symbol of a cardinal doctrine in the Word of God. These ordinances are symbols of the cardinal doctrines of justification, sanctification, and glorification. Absolute understanding of these doctrines is fundamental to genuine Christian living. Does not Satan know this only too well? Most every cult and ism is found to be at odds with the Scriptural teaching on these doctrines. For this reason our Lord instituted the ordinances in order that He might ever hold before His children the picture or symbol of each doctrine, lest the doctrine be misunderstood.

When one fails to appreciate the great truths symbolized in these ordinances he not only fails to see one sphere of profound truth, but misses a blessing nothing can replace this side of heaven. We need deep, pungent, positive conviction.

No liberal is ever positive, but he begins his mischievous plan by questioning the integrity and worth of what he terms "minor things." To become liberal or impure in our conviction on the symbols is the first step toward liberalism in our teaching. Impurity in teaching results in impurity in life.

Whereas these ordinances are precious to the heart of every Brethren, and whereas they are clearly taught in God's Word, and substantiated by church history, we recommend:

(1) That this conference recommend to the National Fellowship of Brethren Ministers that they go on record urging more stringent examination in Brethren history and doctrine as applicants for licensure or ordination appear before the district ministerial examining boards, and,

(2) That we urge our ministers to make exhaustive studies along these lines, and to prepare copy for small tracts to be presented to the Brethren Missionary Herald Company for consideration and publication.

C. There must be purity in the translation of God's Word. The Apostle Paul gave due warning to Timothy, saying: "Evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived." We are living in a generation that prides itself in its intellectual achievements and sophisticated ideals. The fact is, there has never been a more gullible generation than there is in this one of ours. Barnum, the showman, one time said that the American people like to be humbugged. Needless to say, one need not traverse very far into the woods until he discovers how true this is in the realm of the religious, for it is full of every kind of cult, ism, fancy, and panacea, each one offering its sure cure to health, a short cut to wealth, and secret happiness.

The old story is told of a group of college boys who put together the head of one bug with the body of another, and the wings of still another. Then they asked their old professor in etymology what sort of bug it was. His reply was: "It looks like a humbug!" The modern religionist who takes a pinch of the Bible, three spoons of religion, five cups of philosophy, and two drops of ethics, has nothing to offer to the world but a religious "humbug."

Whereas, the latest attempt of modernism and neo-orthodoxy to "humbug" the world was the translation known as the "Revised Standard Version," we recommend:

(1) That this conference should go on record as utterly opposed to the new Revised Standard Version, and

(2) That we give full sanction to the contents of the pages of the Educational Number of the Brethren Missionary Herald, Vol. 15, No. 1, dated February 28, 1953, as this related to the Revised Standard Version, and that we affirm this to be our position on the subject, and,

(3) Whereas the Evangelical Theological Society is a conservative organization which is contending for the faith, and whereas its membership is made up of conservative theologians who hold advanced degrees in the academic sphere, and whereas the exploratory committee for a new translation of the Bible includes such men as Doctors Martey, MacRae, Neuberg, Tenny, and Wyngaarden; therefore we can wit-confidence encourage them in their labor, and recommend that this conference go on record as petitioning the Evangelical Theological Society to proceed at an early date to produce a new translation of the Bible which will meet the needs and approval of the evangelical scholars and believers in the English-speaking world.

II. THE NEED OF THE HOUR IS PASSION.

There are two spheres in which the truly regenerate believer will have a real passion.

A. There must be a passion for the Lord Jesus. History affords the best example of this as we turn to the experience of Judah. For 52 years Uzziah reigned over Judah, and his rulership had resulted in half a century of military progress and monetary prosperity. It had been an era of ease and plenty for Israel. But as always, her victories in war, her rich harvests, and her great commerce had left the nation abandoned to flaccid and licentious living. As creeping paralysis, sin and indifference had come upon them in their flush of prosperity.

With the worldliness of the people, there was coupled the spiritual decline of the king, and with a proud heart, he flagrantly arrayed himself in the priest's garments and in blasphemous fashion burst into the temple altar to burn incense. This was the first recorded sin against the king, yet God was not slow in His judgment. The king was struck with the scourge of leprosy upon his forehead where it was visible to all the people, and it was contrary for a leper to discharge the office of king, and so Uzziah was dethroned. Soon after, Uzziah died, and this left the nation in a state of degeneracy.

But not for long, for God raised up

His prophet Isaiah, whom He divinely commissioned to give perhaps the most prophetic utterance ever spoken. While Isaiah was brooding over the desecration of the temple by Uzziah, in front of the temple of Jerusalem, suddenly there burst forth before him the scene as recorded in Isaiah 6:1-3: "In the year that king Uzziah died I also saw the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up, and his train filled the temple.

"Above it stood the seraphims: each one had six wings; with twain he covered his face, and with twain he covered his feet, and with twain he did fly.

"And one cried unto another, and said, Holy, holy, holy, is the Lord of hosts: the whole earth is full of his glory."

Isaiah saw the Lord Jesus Christ, who, after His resurrection, sat down on the right hand of the Father, not only as Saviour, but as King of kings occupying His throne high above the throne of earthly kings. Although Uzziah was dead, and the young Jotham had ascended to the throne, yet Isaiah saw not these, but rather his soul was filled with a passion for the true King of Israel, the Lord of hosts. When Uzziah died we see the King. The heavenly King is not revealed until the earthly king dies. At that time that we die to self, then we shall see the glory of the heavenly: His "train" shall fill the temple of our lives, and with holy reverence we shall, as the seraphim, cover our face in holy awe lest our eyes burst from the glory of His presence. As the seraphim we shall cover our feet, for indeed we are unworthy to stand in His presence. As the seraphim, we do fly as swift messengers of His grace, to execute the obligation that is ours to a lost world, for the passion of Christ constraineth us to cry, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God almighty.

What would the result be in the Brethren Church during the coming year if every member had such a passion for the Lord?

B. There would be a passion for the lost. Passion for the Lord is the very secret of a real passion for the lost. Not until we have a burning passion for Christ and His Word will we know a passion for the lost. Not until believers recognize the truth that our fellow men are eternally lost and headed for hell will the passion of the Lord Jesus grip our souls. Where there is hell for the sinner there is personal work for the saint. Not until we go into our sphere of influence, which is our home, our store, our office, our shop, our school, our fields, seeking opportunities to be Christ's disciples, will we manifest the passion for the lost. The same spirit of passion for the lost should rule everywhere; there is no distinction between ministers and laymen, men and women, missionaries at home or abroad, nor between Africa and America. Geographical location does not govern our passion for Christ and for the lost.

What is the story in America? Last year, according to our annual statistical report, our total membership was 20,242. In 1952 in our annual Brethren Home Missions report, we had 1,969 members, which leaves a total of 18,273 members in our other churches. According to the 1952 statistics, a total of 132 churches were reported; of this number 32 were home-mission churches and 100 established churches. The net gain of the 32 home-mission churches was 323 members, while the total net gain of our denomination was 131 members, according to the statistical report. The home-mission gain overbalanced the loss. If every church in our national fellowship had made gains proportionate in membership as our home-mission churches did, we would have had 3,320 new members in the denomination last year instead of 131. The Lord be praised for His blessing upon our home-mission program, and for the generous spirit in which all our church sacrificially contributed.

The 1953 statistical report reveals a much more encouraging report. This year our statistician will report that the Lord gave us a net gain of 725 members, of which number 291 were in our home-mission churches, or about one-third of our total net gain.

This conference has reason to praise the Lord for the 1,459 souls that came to Christ and were baptized according to God's precious Word; but Brethren, with a greater passion for souls, we could see that number tripled or quadrupled. Where there is no vision, the people perish.

God grant that such a passion for Christ and souls shall grip our hearts that we shall get down on our knees before the Lord in an all-day prayer meeting and pray that the fires on the altars of our churches shall glow more brightly for the Lord Jesus. Let us pray that the Brethren Church might be baptized by the Holy Spirit of God with a revival that will give us a burning passion for Christ and for the souls of men and women.

Let us pray for and support the Board of Evangelism and the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade in its proposed program of revival and personal evangelism in the Brethren Church.

Let us pray for and support the National Sunday School Board in their effort to activate an evangelistic Bible school.

God grant that we might employ every force at our command to bring about a great revival in the Brethren Church.

What about our passion for the lost in other lands? Last year the Brethren Church gave to the cause of foreign missions about $10 per member. To break this down, we discover that 44 percent of our members gave less than $5 a year to foreign missions, and 9 percent of our members gave less than $1 a year. Think of it, over one-half of the members of our denomination do not have enough passion for the souls of men and women in foreign lands to give $5 a year to win souls for Christ where they have never heard the glorious Gospel of the saving grace of our Lord. Brethren, your moderator repeats his statement, we need a revival. We need to set aside a day of prayer when the fire of revival will be rekindled upon Brethren altars, and we see the glory of the Lord filling the temple.

At the present moment the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church has a waiting list of dedicated missionaries to send to the lost souls of the world, but funds are not sufficient to send them. While we live in luxury, with fine automobiles, radios, television, beautiful homes, fine clothes, and extravagance, the lost souls of Brazil, Africa, Argentina, France, Germany, Japan, China—yea of the world—are going to Christless graves and the only concern that one-half of our membership has in whether they go to heaven or go to hell is $5 a year. God help us to get a passion for the lost that will revolutionize the Brethren Church within the next five years, and we will not have a picture which should cause us to drop our heads in shame. Our prayer should be that of Habakkuk, "O, Lord, revive thy work in the midst of the years."

Thank God for the fine work being done by the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church, and our corps of missionaries, but Brethren, we need a burning passion for Christ to take the Gospel to the lost.

Whereas we are confronted with a record that fails to manifest a deep passion for the Lord Jesus, and for the souls of men, we recommend:

That this conference manifest its concern in this regard by faithfully attending the prayer sessions of this conference, and we recommend that following the devotional period of the prayer meeting, that we divide up into smaller groups for prayer in order that much prayer might ascend unto the throne of grace. We urge every pastor and delegate to this conference to be at every morning prayer meeting. Revival always begins where one person or several persons become concerned and begin to pray for revival.

III. THE NEED OF THE HOUR IS POWER.

A. There is need for power in the home. The fundamental need of the hour in society is a Christian home life. Out of the home proceeds that which elevates or degrades a nation. We can talk about our achievements in the educational realm, but no system of education will replace the influence and training that is received in the home. The fact is that the weakest link in our system of Christian education is the home. Unchecked in its present tendencies, Christian home life will be unknown in another generation, and this will be sufficient to ruin the opportunity of the church to do her best for Christ in the closing days of this age of grace. Christian home life has been surrendered to the diabolical materialism of modern living, and to the fiendish psychology that runs counter to New Testament Christianity. Rare indeed is the family that gathers together in a family circle for intellectual, social, and spiritual fellowship.

Joshua faced a similar problem in his day. In the 24th chapter of Joshua we read that Joshua gathered together the elders or fathers of Israel and rehearsed the many things that God had done for them. He sought to impress upon them the fact that God is with those that trust Him, and that God alone can lead out of the problems when man sees not the way. Many were the times that Israel found themselves up against a "stone wall," but it was then that God manifested His grace and led them out.

It did not take much for Joshua to convince Israel of the truth he presented, but history records that Israel was glib in her attitude and unwilling to pay the price that she might know the power of God in her midst. Joshua cried out, as every godly man should cry who is a husband and a father, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

Christian home life in America has disintegrated, and the family altar is as obsolete as Grandmother's kerosene lamp. The state of the average Christian home is characteristic of the moral and spiritual upheaval that has blighted and cursed the earth. The average young person today does not believe that "mid pleasures and palaces, there's no place like home." Young people today are at the house they call "home" just long enough to eat some meals and get a few hours of sleep. They live elsewhere, either at a recreation center, the corner drug store, school, amusement hall, snack bar, or in a dime novel. In many a so-called Christian home the hellishness of the 20th century has entered, and the orgies of immorality, drunkenness, and infidelity are frequently on the increase right under the noses of fathers and mothers who are leading officers in the church. Thus death looks on with sunken eyes as a giddy, jazzy, materialistic, and sinful age glides toward the brink of inevitable destruction.

Chief R. W. Nebergall, of the Iowa State Bureau of Investigation, said some time ago that the principal reason for the steady increase in juvenile delinquency and juvenile courts is "the loss of the old traditional home life we have known in America."

The consistent influence of a godly Christian life of a father and mother is more precious than gold. Paul's admonition to Timothy is worthy of our consideration. In I Timothy 3: 13-15 Paul declares: "Continue thou in the things which thou hast learned . . . knowing of whom thou hast learned them, and that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus."

Timothy was the product of a powerful godly home. We may be very sure that the Biblical faith of Eunice was also a practical faith, livable and workable in the daily life in the home. The influence of Eunice was no doubt the result of a living faith which enabled her to surmount life's problems, and thus in turn was more powerful than a dozen oral exhortations.

One might say, "Yes, but we live in a different age than that when Eunice lived!" If this be conceded, we need but cite another case. We have the record of a God-fearing woman named Jochebed, who raised her son, Moses, in the very heart of heathenism. Despite all the ungodliness, and all the handicaps of environment, the effect of the consistent godly life of Jochebed and her training produced a champion of righteousness for the glory of God.

However, Jochebed never would have accomplished this had it not been for her faith in and faithfulness to the Lord God. Even so today, the need for power in the home will only be realized when we rebuild the old family altar in every Christian home in America.

We faithfully pray for foreign missions, home missions, our church, our Sunday school, and many other worthy works, but how much praying do we do in church, and in private devotions, for our homes, and yet they are the secret to a strong and powerful work by any church. The secret of a powerful church is found in the homes of the members of that church where the power of God is known and family relations are on a high spiritual plane, where husbands and wives, parents and children, enjoy the deep devotional life which is the result of a living faith in Jesus Christ. How can we expect power for God in the home where there is constant bickering and backbiting?

Inasmuch as it is generally conceded that the spiritual quality of our Christian homes has not improved with the past decade, we recommend:

That a committee be appointed by this conference to study ways and means of laying new emphasis upon Christian home life. We commend the Women's Missionary Council for their efforts in working with the pastors in the establishing of family altars in every Brethren home, and suggest that the committee selected by this conference counsel with the executives of the Women's Missionary Council and bring back to this conference a report with suggestions as to how we can assist, challenge, and encourage Christian parents to consider carefully their own home life.

B. There is need for power in the church. Today the church seeks to manifest the genius of Milton with lettered preaching, enameled with poetry and rhetoric, but the church lacks power. In this day there is much philosophy preached which demonstrates the profound wisdom of Plato and Cicero, but the church lacks power. The church seeks to background the preacher with gold crosses and burning candles, but still the church lacks power. What is the secret of the power that the church needs today?

1. The secret of power in the church is the people. The secret of power in the church is not to be found in more machinery nor more organization, nor more novel methods, but the secret is in a praying people. God has never anointed methods, but he has and does anoint men—men who are on their knees. Yet this is not a day of prayer. The monthly day of prayer in our beloved church on the 15th of each month is attended by only a handful of those who could attend. Our midweek services should be a powerhouse meeting, but too often it is cold and staid, with few tears and feeble concern for sinners doomed to an eternal hell. Our closets are unused rooms in spite of the fact that God has promised to answer with power. If we are to see God's power in the church then we must have men and women who, like Jacob, prayed until he was the princely intercessor; we must have men and women who, like Elijah, will pray until the famine-stricken church shall bloom as the land of plenty.

We can have revival meetings, and evangelistic crusades, well-trained ministers, and beautiful churches, but until we see a people become absolutely earnest in prayer, we will know no power in the Brethren Church as an evangelistic power for God.

2. The secret of power in the church is the preacher. While the church is looking for elegant, dynamic preachers with methods and personality, God is looking for men who know how to spend time alone with God.

E. M. Bounds, in his booklet, "Power Through Prayer," says: "The character as well as the fortunes of the Gospel are committed to the preacher. He makes or mars the message from God to man. The preacher is the golden pipe through which the divine oil flows. The pipe must not only be golden, but open and flawless, that the oil may have full, unhindered, unwasted flow.

"The man makes the preacher. God must make the man. The messenger is, if possible, more than the message. The preacher makes the sermon. As life-giving milk from the mother's bosom is but the mother's life, so all the preacher says is tintured, impregnated by what the preacher is. The treasure is in earthen vessels, and the taste of the vessel impregnates and may discolor. The man, the whole man, lies behind the sermon. Preaching is not the performance of an hour. It is the outflow of a life. It takes 20 years to make a sermon, because it takes 20 years to make the man. The true sermon is a thing of life. The sermon grows because the man grows. The sermon is forceful because the man is forceful. The sermon is holy because the man is holy. The sermon is full of the divine unction because the man is full of the divine unction. . . . Dead men give out dead sermons, and dead sermons kill. Everything depends upon the spiritual character of the preacher. . . . It is not great talents or great learning, or great preachers that God needs, but men great in holiness, great in faith, great in love, great in fidelity, great for God—men always preaching holy sermons in the pulpit, by holy lives out of it. These can mold a generation for God."

A praying people and a praying preacher cannot be legislated. It must be a personal surrender to the Holy Spirit.

CONCLUSION

Finally, brethren, every evidence is on the horizon warning us that the hour of world calamity is near at hand. The return of our blessed Lord in the glory of His Father is near at hand, for Jesus warned that when certain things took place, we were to look up for our redemption. Brethren, that hour is here, and the immediate need is for every born-again child of God to know the purity, passion, and power in his life that is the result of absolute surrender to the Holy Spirit. God grant that every delegate to this conference shall return home to become a spearhead in the local churches for purity in faith and practice, with a passion for the Lord Jesus and the souls of lost men and women, and knowing the power of God in our lives. God grant that we might see a heaven-sent revival in the Brethren Church that will result in greater love among the Brethren, greater love for the lost, but above all, a greater love for Jesus Christ and the Word of God.

Additional Suggestions

Lying outside the scope of the message is one matter which your moderator desires to present for the consideration of this conference.

The Brethren Church is governed congregationally, and this form of government must be defended and reserved at all and any cost. However, in our form of government there is no way to properly care for two problems that frequently exist, namely, pastorless churches and churchless pastors. As we might seek a solution to this problem we must move with fear and caution, but we should move, never forgetting the autonomy of the local congregation.

Your moderator suggests that a committee of five be selected by conference, whose duty it would be to keep a list of pastors who contemplate a change, as well as a list of ministers who are available for pastorates. Local congregations could contact this committee, not for recommendations, but for a list of men who would be available for a call. The church would be required to make the contact with the minister of their choice to determine his interest. The committee would never recommend any man to any pulpit. May the Lord grant us His wisdom, that in all things our blessed Lord might have the preeminence.

DEVOTIONAL SESSIONS OF THE 64TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Monday Evening, August 24, 1953

The 64th annual conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches convened at Winona Lake, Ind., August 24, 1953, at 7:15 p. m., with the moderator, Rev. Arnold Kriegbaum, in charge. The opening hymn, "In the Service of the King," was led by Conference Song Leader Rev. Harold Painter, pastor of the La Loma Grace Brethren Church, Modesto, Calif., with Rev. Charles Bergerson at the organ.

Moderator Arnold Kriegbaum officially declared the conference in session.

Clyde K. Landrum, conference secretary, led in the opening prayer. Mason Cooper, president of the national laymen's organization, led the Brethren Challenge Hour, which was sponsored by the laymen. Dalta Meyer led in prayer. Rev. Walter Lepp, evangelist for Crusade Team 2, spoke on the work of the team. The three members of the team, Brethren Walter Lepp, Charles Bergerson, and Frank Coffin, sang a trio number. Leo Polman spoke on the Crusade's work in his church, while Clyde K. Landrum told of the East District's response to the crusade. Frank Coffin led the audience as the chorus, "Everybody Ought to Know Who Jesus Is," was sung.

The hymn, "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," was fervently sung. Wesley Haller read I Corinthians 2: 9-16, followed by prayer by Lewis C. Hohenstein.

Conference worshiped in receiving the offering, which amounted to $136.64.

The Crusade trio sang very beautifully the old hymn, "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning."

A challenging message was presented by Vice Moderator William H. Schaffer.

The service was dismissed with prayer.

Tuesday Morning, August 25, 1953

"We're Marching to Zion" was directed by Conference Song Leader Harold Painter as conference began the day. Following this, there was the singing of the hymn, "Sweetest Name I Know." Vice Moderator William H. Schaffer presented Moderator Arnold Kriegbaum, who delivered the moderator's address on the theme, "The Need of the Hour: Purity, Passion, and Power."

Following this stirring message conference joined in singing, "Faith of Our Fathers."

Tuesday Afternoon, August 25, 1953

This session was devoted to the annual meeting of the Brethren Missionary Herald Corporation.

Tuesday Evening, August 25, 1953

Rev. Harold Etling opened the evening service by leading in the singing of the hymn, "He Lives," and the chorus, "We Want You to Come to Our Sunday School." Lester Pifer led in the opening prayer to introduce the Brethren Challenge Hour, sponsored by the Sunday School Board. The Moody film, "No Vacant Chairs," was shown and an announcement made that this film is available through the Sunday School Board for showing in the churches.

Norman Nelson sang the beautiful hymn, "I Have Been Born Again." Harold Etling led in prayer. Harold Painter led in the singing of several songs, followed by the reading of the Scripture by Rev. Gerald Polman. James Hammer led in prayer.

The offering, amounting to $134.52, was received, followed by a solo by Norman Nelson, "Holy, Holy Is What the Angels Sing," accompanied by his wife.

The evening message, entitled, "Purity of Life," was brought by Thomas Hammers. The closing hymn was "His Way With Thee." Victor Rogers closed the meeting with prayer.

Wednesday Morning, August 26, 1953

The singing of the hymn, "Standing on the Promises," introduced the Bible Hour. Gordon Bracker led in the morning prayer. Ward Miller brought a stirring Bible message entitled, "Abraham." Conference very appropriately applied the message by singing, "Calvary Covers It All."

Wednesday Afternoon, August 26, 1953

The afternoon session was given over to the Brethren Home Missions Council Corporation.

Wednesday Evening, August 26, 1953

Conference opened the evening session by singing "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus." Rev. Russell H. Veber led in the evening prayer.

Rev. L. L. Grubb led the Brethren Challenge Hour, which was sponsored by the Brethren Home Missions Council, and in which reports were given by various home-mission workers.

Moderator J. L. Gingrich was in charge of the conference session at 8:45. Harold Painter led in the singing of "Oh, How I Love Him." The scripture lesson, taken from the Book of Acts, was read by John Burns. The message of the evening on the subject, "A Passion for Souls," was brought by Bruce Button. The evening offering amounted to $119.41. The service was brought to a fitting close with the singing of the hymn, "Calvary Covers It All."

Thursday Morning, August 27, 1953

Conference Song Director Harold Painter led in the singing of some hymns to open the morning session. In the absence of the vice moderator, Secretary Clyde K. Landrum presided. Prayer was offered by Pastor William Gray. Moderator J. L. Gingrich brought the message of devotion and blessing on the subject, "Joseph."

Thursday Afternoon, August 27, 1953

This session was devoted to the Grace Theological Seminary Corporation meeting.

Thursday Evening, August 27, 1953

Edwin Cashman opened the evening service with a trumpet solo, followed by the singing of the hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers." Dr. H. A. Kent led in prayer.

Dr. W. A. Ogden led in the dedicatory service of the memorial tablet for Dr. L. S. Bauman. Others who spoke in this service were Dr. C. H. Ashman, Sr., Miss Johanna Nielsen, Rev. George Peek, and Dr. A. J. McClain. Dr. Paul R. Bauman and Mrs. L. S. Bauman unveiled the memorial tablet. A special offering for Grace Seminary, amounting to $1,807, was received.

Raymond and Truymond Haddix played and sang. Edward Lewis led in the evening prayer. Conference worshiped by presenting the regular offering, amounting to $66.33. Vernon Harris brought a fine Bible message on the subject, "Power for Service." Harold Painter pronounced the benediction.

Friday Morning, August 28, 1953

"Praise Him, Praise Him" was the opening hymn for the morning session, following which Paul Mohler led in prayer. A fine Bible message was brought by George Peek on the subject, "Moses." After the singing of the closing hymn, R. H. Kettell led in prayer.

Friday Afternoon, August 28, 1953

The afternoon session was given over to the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church for the Corporation meeting.

Friday Evening, August 28, 1953

Dr. R. D. Barnard led the Brethren Challenge Hour, which was sponsored by the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church, and during which several missionaries spoke. The evening offering, amounting to $136.07, was received.

Following the singing of a hymn and prayer, and some remarks by Mrs. J. Keith Altig, Brother Altig brought a thrilling message on Brazil.

Saturday Morning, August 29, 1953

Harold Painter led us in the singing of "Bringing in the Sheaves" and "Work for the Night Is Coming," with Charles Bergerson at the organ. Dr. Homer Kent, Sr., led us in prayer. Moderator J. L. Gingrich introduced Homer Kent, Jr., to speak on the subject, "Elijah." After the singing of a closing hymn, C. H. Ashman, Jr., led us in prayer.

Saturday Night, August 29, 1953

Saturday night was "Youth Night," with special numbers and testimonies by the young people under the direction of Ralph Colburn. A message by Galen Lingenfelter stirred our hearts. There were several decisions in response to the invitation given following the message and the singing of "Is Your All on the Altar?" The evening offering amounted to $90.47.

Sunday Morning, August 30, 1953

The Lord's Day services began with a praise and prayer service at 8 o'clock.

Sunday school convened at 9 o'clock under the direction of Harold Etling. The total Sunday-school attendance was 593, and the total offering amounted to $117.77.

The morning worship service was in charge of Rev. Herman W. Koontz, pastor of the Winona Lake Brethren Church. The message of the morning was brought by Rev. Russell Williams. The morning offering was $144.73.

Sunday Afternoon, August 30, 1953

Dr. L. L. Grubb opened the All-Missions Rally. Harold Painter led in the singing of the song, "He Keeps Me Singing." Dr. R. D. Barnard was introduced. He took charge of the foreign-mission portion of the rally. Keith Altig read Romans 10:8-17 and Miss Johanna Nielsen led in prayer. The following new missionaries were presented: Mr. and Mrs. George Cone, Africa; Mr. and Mrs. Don Bishop, Argentina; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burk, Brazil.

L. L. Grubb had charge of testimonies by home-mission pastors. The afternoon offering was received in the amount of $66.21. L. L. Grubb closed with prayer.

The afternoon rally was broadcast over Station WMBI, Chicago.

Sunday Evening, August 30, 1953

The song service was led by Harold Painter, using the hymn, "Leaning on the Everlasting Arms," to open the service. Prayer was offered by Ord Gehman, followed by a special number by Tony and Cora Luna. The Scripture lesson, taken from Isaiah 1:1-18, was read by Harold Etling. The offering in the amount of $21.90 was received. After another special number from Tony and Cora Luna, Rev. R. H. Kettell brought a fine Bible message. Dr. Herman A. Hoyt closed with prayer.

BUSINESS SESSIONS OF THE 1953 BRETHREN CONFERENCE

FIRST BUSINESS SESSION—

Tuesday, August 25, 1953

The business session convened with prayer by Moderator Arnold Kriegbaum. The Membership Committee read the initial report of delegates as follows: ministerial 128, lay 263, for first-day total of 391, as compared to the first day in 1952 of 385. Conference officially seated the delegates reported.

Conference proceeded to organize under the direction of the Rules and Organization Committee. The following officers were elected: Moderator, J. L. Gingrich; vice moderator, Ward Miller; secretary, Clyde K. Landrum; assistant secretary, James D. Hammer; treasurer, Byron Fetters; statistician, C. S. Zimmerman; Committee on Committees, Kenneth Ashman, Harold Etling, and V. A. Ogden.

After extending the time until the completion of the election, conference was adjourned with prayer.

SECOND BUSINESS SESSION—

Wednesday, August 26, 1953

The moderator, Arnold Kriegbaum, called the business session to order as Vernon Harris led in prayer. The minutes of the previous session were read and approved. The Membership Committee reported five additional ministerial and 22 additional lay delegates for a new total of 418. The additional delegates were seated by conference.

The conference Executive Committee submitted the following agenda for conference, which was adopted:

Wednesday—Election of new Executive Committee, recommendation of Central District, report of the statistician, report of Board on Ministerial Relief and Insurance, report of Board of Evangelism, report of Auditing Committee, and fixing of time and place of 1954 conference.

Thursday—Report of Radio Board, report of Committee on Denominational Interests, report of Sunday School Board, report of Youth Fellowship.

Friday—Report of the Committee on Moderator's Address, report of Committee on Divorce and Remarriage, report of the Committee on Resolutions, report of the Committee on Finance, report of Membership Committee (final).

Saturday—Report of the treasurer.

The Central District presented the following petition, which was adopted:

Central District Fellowship of Brethren Churches

TO: The National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, assembled at Winona Lake, Ind., August 24-30, 1953.

At the 1952 conference of the Central District Fellowship of Brethren Churches a committee was formed to study the matter of the division of the Central District. After several months' study, this committee submitted a division plan to the district churches which was ratified without dissent by the individual congregations.

At the 1953 conference held in Winona Lake, Ind., on July 20-23, 1953, the following plan for district division was unanimously adopted by the assembled delegates. The Central District will be divided into three districts, to be known as the Michigan District, the Indiana District, and the Southern Ohio District.

The initial membership of the Indiana District shall be composed of the Brethren churches at Fort Wayne, Berne, Flora, Osceola, Peru, Winona Lake, Sidney, Clay City, Leesburg, South Bend, Sharpsville, Huntington, Elkhart, and Wheaton, Ill., with a combined membership of 1,391.

The initial membership of the Michigan District shall be composed of the Brethren churches at Lake Odessa, New Troy, Alto, Berrien Springs, and Ozark, with a combined membership of 331.

The initial membership of the Southern Ohio District shall be composed of the Brethren churches at Dayton (First, North Riverdale, Patterson Park, and Bethany), Clayton, Clayhole, Ky.; Camden, Covington, Troy, and Sampleville, with a combined membership of 1,533.

Upon the passage of the above plan, the new proposed districts met in separate business sessions and formally organized.

Upon instruction of the Central District Fellowship, we hereby certify that the above action has been taken and hereby petition the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches to recognize this action by the seating of the following persons from the three new districts as members of the National Executive Committee:

From the Michigan District—Richard Jackson, Jr.

From the Indiana District—Ord Gehman and Arthur Cashman.

From the Southern Ohio District—William Steffler and C. S. Zimmerman.

For the Central District:

James D. Hammer,
Moderator.
Charles Turner,
Secretary.

Conference elected the National Executive Committee as follows: Atlantic, John M. Aeby; California, Charles W. Mayes, Glenn O'Neal, Charles H. Ashman, Sr.; East, Mark Malles, H. Leslie Moore; Indiana, Ord Gehman, A. D. Cashman; Iowa, Richard P. DeArmey; Michigan, Richard Jackson, Jr.; Midwest, Sam Horney; Northern Ohio, Charles H. Ashman, Jr. (see minutes for Saturday, August 29), Russell Ward; Northwest, Glen Welborn; Southeast, Paul Mohler; Southern Ohio, William Steffler, C. S. Zimmerman.

The national statistician presented the following report:

Auditing Committee—Frank Poland, Blaine Snyder, James Boyer.

The Board of Evangelism submitted the following report, which was adopted.

Whereas, the Board of Evangelism last year appointed a Crusade Committee to promote the work of evangelism in the Brethren Church, and

Whereas, the Board of Evangelism and the Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade Committee, after careful study during the past year, have mutually agreed that the Brethren Church should have the most efficient far-reaching program possible in the coming year, and

Whereas, the Board of Evangelism from now on will promote the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade, thereby dissolving the Crusade Committee, and

Whereas, the Board of Evangelism feels that additional qualified and zealous workers are urgently needed to serve on the Board of Evangelism,

The Board of Evangelism requests of this conference the privilege to enlarge its board from 9 to 12 members.

Conference elected the following men to three-year terms on the Board of Evangelism: Arnold Kriegbaum, Herman Schumacher, Clyde K. Landrum.

Conference increased the Board of Evangelism from 9 to 12 members by the election of the following men to the terms indicated: Owen Hacker (three years), R. Paul Miller (two years), Mason Cooper (one year).

Conference moved that the time and place of next year's conference should be the first item of business tomorrow morning.

Retiring Moderator Arnold Kriegbaum installed the new officers, and J. L. Gingrich took the chair as moderator.

Conference moved to adjourn. Arnold Kriegbaum led in the closing prayer.

THIRD BUSINESS SESSION—

Thursday, August 27, 1953

Seven lay delegates and one ministerial delegate were seated, giving a total of 426.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Invitations to hold next year's conference at Portland, Oreg., were read from the Northwest District, the Portland Chamber of Commerce, the mayor of Portland, and the governor of Oregon.

A motion to accept the invitation to hold our 1954 conference at Portland, Oreg., was referred to the new National Executive Committee, with instructions to report their recommendations to conference at tomorrow's business session.

A letter from the Brethren Conference of Southern California regarding the imprinting of "In God We Trust" on all postage stamps was referred to the Resolutions Committee for action.

The executive secretary read the following cabled greetings from Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise, of Honolulu:

GREETINGS FROM GRACE CHAPEL HONOLULU. PRAYING GOD'S RICHEST BLESSINGS UPON ALL YOUR SESSIONS. (Signed) Mr. and Mrs. Foster Tresise.

The following report from the Auditing Committee was adopted:

August 27, 1953.

The financial records of the following unincorporated boards and committees of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches have been audited and found to be correct, to the best of our knowledge, with balances verified by bank statements:

Brethren Boys Club.
National Youth Council.
Brethren Youth Fellowship.
National Sunday School Board.
National Fellowship of Brethren Churches
Conference Treasurer.

(Signed) Frank J. Poland,
Bruce L. Button,
Blaine Snyder.

Conference elected the following to three-year terms on the Brethren Youth Fellowship Board: Lewis Hohenstein, Kenneth Ashman, John Burns.

The Committee on Divorce and Remarriage reported.

Conference extended the time of the business session 10 minutes.

A motion to adopt the report of the Committee on Divorce and Remarriage was tabled, to become the first item of business at tomorrow's business session.

Conference moved to adjourn. Henry Rempel led in the closing prayer.

FOURTH BUSINESS SESSION—

Friday, August 28, 1953

One lay delegate was seated, giving a total of 427 delegates.

The minutes of Thursday's business session were read and approved.

The Committee on Divorce and Remarriage requested to be placed later on the agenda.

Conference adopted the recommendation of the National Executive Committee that we make it a policy that we do not move the conference from Winona Lake more often than once in every five years, provided that such move does not jeopardize our position at Winona Lake.

Conference adopted the recommendation of the National Executive Committee that we accept the invitation of the Northwest District to hold our conference in Portland, Oreg., but that it be held there in 1955, provided it does not jeopardize our position at Winona Lake.

The motion to adopt the report of the Committee on Divorce and Remarriage was removed from the table.

A substitute motion prevailed to adopt the following recommendation of the Committee on Divorce and Remarriage:

Whereas, in the discussion of the committee's report, the debate has moved over into a wider and more serious doctrinal field, having to do with the nature of sin in general as set forth in the Bible, and

Whereas, the discussion has indicated some unfortunate confusion between two distinct things, namely, the guilt of sin and the practice of sin, and

Whereas, there is not sufficient time at this conference for a full and considered discussion of these important matters;

We, your Committee on Divorce and Remarriage, recommend that the entire matter, including the whole report of the committee, as given last year and this year, be referred back to this committee for further study, possible suggestions, and revision, to report back to the National Fellowship of Brethren Ministers and then the 1954 conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches.

A motion prevailed instructing the National Executive Committee to secure the use of conference grounds for a week in 1954 comparable to the week occupied this year.

Conference instructed the Committee on Committees to bring in nominations for the three conference members of the Committee on Divorce and Remarriage.

Conference adopted the following report of the Committee on Moderator's Address:

The Committee on Moderator's Address commends the moderator, Arnold R. Kriegbaum, for the address given before the 1953 National Fellowship of Brethren Churches. The following elements of the address exhibit reasons for commendation.

1. The entire address was expressive of a moderator who was concerned for the deep spiritual welfare of the entire church.

2. The moderator struck at the very heart of the need in this present hour of our beloved fellowship, a need for an unadulterated purity issuing in passion and power.

3. His emphasis on purity of doctrine is paramount. The committee believes he is right in urging support of Grace Seminary and College where "the faith" is believed and taught.

4. Insistence on a passion for our blessed Saviour and His mission into the world to save men is in order. Therefore, every member of the National Fellowship should join hands with every organized effort in the church to that end.

5. Special point made of reviving the spiritual life and power of the fundamental institution of society, the home, is commended by the committee because it is the first step to power in the church.

The committee approves several recommendations, and urges the National Fellowship to follow their instructions:

1. That this conference adopt the position of Grace Seminary toward the RSV and give its moral support to evangelical scholars now working in the direction of a new English version.

2. That this conference set up some sort of a clearing house for pastors without churches and churches without pastors.

Finally, it is the recommendation of the committee that this address be printed in the 1953 Annual number of the Brethren Missionary Herald in order that it might be as widely disseminated as possible throughout the church.

Respectfully submitted by the committee,
Gordon Bracker,
Wesley Haller,
Herman Hoyt,
Chairman.

Conference adopted the following activities-and-recommendations report of the National Sunday School Board:

REPORT OF THE NATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL BOARD

Activities

The Sunday School Board conducted 75 conferences and rallies in the various churches throughout the Brotherhood. In addition, the board was represented at most of the district conferences. The first National Sunday School Convention was held this year on the Sunday and Monday preceding national conference, with an excellent response. The objective of these conferences and rallies is to arouse the enthusiasm among the people for "BUILDING BROTHERN CHURCHES THROUGH BROTHERN SUNDAY SCHOOLS," and to direct this enthusiasm into practical avenues of Sunday-school activity. All conferences and rallies, thus far, have been conducted by members of the Sunday School Board who are also busy pastors. The response from the churches has been most gratifying, with the pastors and people encouraging us to expand our endeavors as much as possible, looking forward to placing a full-time man in the field who could lead this work.

Recognizing the tremendous task before us and the extreme importance of strong denominational leadership in the Sunday-school field, the Sunday School Board plans to place a full-time "National Sunday School Director" in the field as of January 1, 1954. The responsibility for the support of the work devolves upon our local Sunday schools from whom we are requesting only 50¢ per enrolled member—less than one cent per week (per pupil) for this vital work. We recognize the importance of the pastor and superintendent in support of this effort and sincerely seek their enthusiastic support and advice. It is the unanimous opinion of the members of the board that the placing of a full-time man in the field NOW is most strategic to building Brethren churches through Brethren Sunday schools.

Respectfully submitted,
The National Sunday School Board of the Brethren Church.

Conference adopted the financial report of the National Sunday School Board as follows:

This first year of work under the Crusade has been one of getting started. A work destined to be national in scope cannot be fully established in a day. The work done this year has been that of one team. Our second team starts work among our Brethren churches September 1. We are planning to launch a third team September 1, 1954.

We have a Crusade representative in every district.

The Brethren Crusade Committee and the Board of Evangelism have now been incorporated into one body and this promises far greater achievements as the work of evangelism spreads over the Brotherhood.

Because so much of our work is in new fields where financial support cannot care for expenses, we petition our National Fellowship to designate one day as "Evangelism Sunday" with an offering for national evangelism each year.

Respectfully submitted,

Clyde K. Landrum,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE TO THE 64TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE NATIONAL FELLOWSHIP OF BRETHREN CHURCHES

We, the delegates to the 64th annual conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, assembled at Winona Lake, Ind., August 24 to 30, 1953, do hereby set forth the following resolutions:

ARTICLE I. Be it resolved to give grateful praise and adoration to our glorious God and Father for all of His bountiful blessing upon our Brotherhood throughout the past year; for His blessing upon the preaching of the Gospel in the salvation of souls through faith in our Lord Jesus Christ; for His daily guidance and sustenance through the ministry of His Holy Spirit in preserving His saints from sin, and causing them always to abound in the work of the Lord; for His gracious provision of every spiritual and physical need of those who call upon Him; and for the guarding of our land in peace, and the continued allowance of freedom in religion.

tion to worship Him according to the dictates of His Word. Philippians 2:13, "For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure."

ARTICLE II. Be it resolved to give hearty commendation to the following groups and organizations for their conscientious labors and splendid achievements throughout the past year:

(1) To the boards of trustees of our various corporations, for the safeguarding of our investments, and for the sacrificial giving of their time and strength in the conducting of the business of these corporations.

(2) To Grace Theological Seminary, for the expansion of its curriculum, and for the fine work of the faculty and administration in maintaining the high standards of Christian training, and promoting Christian education in the Brethren Church.

(3) To the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, for the increased circulation of its literature, for the addition of new publications, and for the vital service rendered to the Brethren Church in distributing the message of the Word of God through the printed page.

(4) To the Brethren Home Missions Council, for the establishing of new Brethren churches, for the opening of new home-mission fields, and for urging upon us the importance of reaching the vast populace of our own native land as one of the fruitful harvest fields of the world.

(5) To the Brethren Foreign Missionary Society, for the development of new foreign-mission fields, for holding before us the vision of prospective fields of the future, for bearing diligently for the needs of our present missionary staff, and for laboring so arduously in seeking to carry out the Great Commission of a world-wide missionary program.

(6) To the National Sunday School Board, for the progressive strides they have made during the past year in their program of building Brethren churches through the Sunday school.

(7) To the Brethren Youth Council, for the work it is doing in leading and coordinating the youth activities of our churches through the Brethren Youth Fellowship, the Brethren Boys Clubs, the Sisterhood of Mary and Martha, and the conducting of summer young people's camps.

(8) To the Women's Missionary Council, for the furtherance of the work in missionary endeavors, and for the gifts they have donated to both home and foreign missions through the undertaking of special projects.

(9) To the laymen's organization, for the renewed zeal and enthusiasm which has characterized their undertakings in the furtherance of evangelism and personal soul-winning in our Brethren churches.

(10) To the National Board of Evangelism, for the tremendous progress it has made during the past year in the holding of evangelistic meetings, and in the providing of a second evangelistic team for the winning of the lost to Christ.

(11) To the members and friends of our Brethren churches for their faithfulness in interest and prayers, and their generous response in financial giving for the carrying on of all of these very important works.

(12) To the Warsaw Times-Union, for its favorable coverage and reporting of the events of this conference.

ARTICLE III. Be it resolved to give sincere reaffirmation of our belief in the following items:

(1) The fundamental doctrines of the Christian faith as partially expressed in the published statement, "The Message of the Brethren Ministry."

(2) Our historic Brethren position in opposing the engagement of Christians in the taking of human life through carnal strife.

(3) Our opposition to the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, the World Council of Churches, and all of their various affiliates, declaring that the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches is not now, and never has been, associated in any way with these apostate organizations.

ARTICLE IV. Be it resolved to give the following thoughtful recommendations to this conference and to all of our churches:

(1) That the entire Brethren Church exercise greater faithfulness in prayer and devotion to Christian duty as prescribed in God's Word, in the performing of all of its responsibilities throughout the coming year.

(2) That the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches go on record as opposing the Revised Standard Version of the Bible because it is an inaccurate and unacceptable translation of the Scriptures from their original languages, and that we do not accept this version for use in our Brethren churches.

(3) That this conference go on record as endorsing the bill introduced into the United States Senate by the Honorable Mike Mansfield, Senator from the State of Montana, instructing the Post Office Department to place the inscription, "In God We Trust," on all of our postage stamps, and that copies of this resolution be sent to Senator Mansfield and to the Brethren Missionary Herald.

(4) That in view of the surging tide of worldliness which threatens to engulf many Christians on all sides of us, the doctrine of nonconformity to the things of the world be emphasized in our pulpits, in special Bible conferences in our local churches, and in the ministry of the Brethren Missionary Herald (Rom. 12:1-2; I John 2:15-17; Gal. 6:14).

(5) That in the light of the present-day devaluation of the observance of religious symbols among evangelical groups, Brethren ministers and teachers be encouraged to devote more study and emphasis to the observance of the ordinances of the Christian church as set forth in the New Testament, and believed and practiced in the Brethren Church.

(6) That, in keeping with the suggestion of our moderator in his commendable address, a committee be appointed by this conference to keep a list of ministers available for pastorates, that local congregations may be provided with a list of potential candidates when seeking a pastor, and that we refer this to the National Fellowship of Brethren Ministers.

(7) That, in keeping with the resolutions adopted by the 62nd annual session of this conference in 1951, "next year's Executive Committee present to the Resolutions Committee a clear-cut outline of those items which merit and call for resolutions which would deserve the consideration of our conference" (Brethren Annual, Vol. 13, No. 43, p. 20).

Whereas, Bro. W. V. Findley so faithfully served this conference as its treasurer and was called from this life to be with the Lord during the last year, that this conference acknowledge the service rendered with appreciation.

Edward Lewis, chairman.
Sewell Landrum.
Russell Ogden.

The Committee on Expansion of the Brethren Ministry reported partially. Motion prevailed that we receive the partial report of the committee, and that their work be continued.

Motion prevailed that we recognize the provision as outlined by our constitution and by-laws in regard to credential fees and that we revert to that.

Motion prevailed to establish the last Sunday of February as National Evangelism Sunday and that an offering be received for national evangelism.

The minutes of this meeting were read and adopted.

A motion passed that conference adjourn.

The conference was officially adjourned sine die.

J. L. Gingrich closed with prayer.

Minutes

—of the Annual Meeting of the Brethren Missionary Herald Corporation, held at Winona Lake, Ind., August 25, 1953.
Following the singing of the hymn, "Higher Ground," Dr. Herman Hoyt led in prayer and Rev. Mark Malles read Romans 10:1-17.

The meeting of the Corporation was declared in session by the president, Rev. Walter A. Lepp.

Printed lists of the Life and Sustaining Members of this Corporation were distributed. A motion prevailed that those whose names were listed and read be voted members of this Corporation with power to vote in this business session, provided they are also members of the Brethren Church.

The secretary reported the ballot election of the trustees which election had resulted in Mr. Bryson Feters, Rev. Ord Gehman, Rev. William Schaffer, and Rev. Clyde Balyo being reelected for a term of three years.

The resignation of Rev. Arnold Kriegbaum as a member of the Board of Trustees was accepted.

The following recommendations of the Board of Trustees to the Corporation to nominate new trustees were presented (three are to be elected for three-year terms):

Robert D. Crees—Clyde Landrum
Walter A. Lepp—K. E. Richardson
Herman A. Hoyt—True Hunt

One for a term of one year:

Gene Farrell—L. W. Marvin

A motion prevailed to accept the nominations as recommended by the trustees.

No additional nominations were presented by the Corporation.

The annual report of the company was presented by Bro. Conard Sandy and a motion prevailed that the report be received.

The Board of Trustees presented the following proposed amendment to the Code of Regulations of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Inc.:

ARTICLE III—Section 1, Paragraph a now reads: "The Board of Trustees shall consist of 11 members of whom 6 shall constitute a quorum for any meeting." It shall be amended to read: "The Board of Trustees shall consist of 12 members of whom 7 shall constitute a quorum."

ARTICLE III—Section 1, Paragraph b now reads: "All 11 members of the Board of Trustees shall be elected by the members of the Corporation." It shall be amended to read: "Eleven members of the board shall be elected by the members of the Corporation. The editor-business manager of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company shall be a member of the board, ex officio, by virtue of his office."

Bro. Robert Miller spoke briefly concerning present and future plans for the publication of our Brethren Sunday-school literature, and urged pastors and churches to adopt this material into their Sunday-school curriculum.

President Lepp presented our new editor-business manager, Rev. Arnold Kriegbaum, who in turn made a statement regarding the new order blank system to be instituted by the Herald Company.

Trustee Robert Crees presented information relative to the plans for the immediate and future publication of Brethren tracts.

The minutes of the session were read and approved.

Rev. Robert D. Crees closed the meeting with prayer.

Respectfully submitted,

Clyde G. Balyo, Secretary.

NATIONAL WMC OBJECTIVES—1953-54

1. Daily Bible reading of your own choice or Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, and the Acts.

2. Strong emphasis on the establishment of family devotions in every home. Stress this objective in the month of January. Practical demonstration would be valuable here.

3. Monthly devotional meetings using the program packets.

4. Encourage individual witnessing by visitation and tract distribution. Urge each local tract chairman to watch the Tract Corner in the WMC Herald for suggestions where and what to buy in tracts.

5. A birthday offering to be received for the support of a WMC missionary on a foreign field. Send this offering to the national financial secretary-treasurer by July 10.

6. Each council enlisting prayer warriors from the congregation. For guidance in prayer continue the use of prayer booklets and prayer pointers in the Herald. Continue using prayer covenant cards introduced last year. Use the star system at consecration service on those previously signed cards.

7. Each council taking part in the district projects and rallies.

8. Each local council send a post card with news item at least once a quarter to WMC editor.

9. Participation in five major offerings to be sent to the national financial secretary-treasurer. The thank offering to be sent by June 10.

(1) Sept., Oct., Nov.—HOME MISSIONS—$2,500—send before Dec. 10. A two-year project—building a school and recreation building for the Navaho work to the amount of $5,000.

(2) Dec., Jan., Feb.—GRACE SEMINARY—$2,500—send before March 10. Furnishing the social lounge of Seminary building, remaining money to be used for purchasing of chairs.

(3) March, April, May—FOREIGN MISSIONS—$2,500—send before June 10. Aluminum roofing for Africa, $2,200. Assistance in national church expansion in Hawaii, $300.

(4) June, July, Aug.—GENERAL EXPENSE—$2,500—send before Sept. 10.

(5) Thank offering for Brethren Jewish missions taken throughout the year and to be sent to the national financial secretary-treasurer by June 10. The suggested goal is a penny a day per member.

DISTRICT OBJECTIVES

1. Every district represented on the national board, suggesting that expenses, wholly or in part, be paid by the district.

2. A written report to be given at national executive board meeting and published in the Herald. The retiring president to be responsible for written report which will be read by the present presiding officer.

3. Each district to provide interesting material representing work done in past year for display at national conference.

4. Each district to select a prayer chairman who will encourage the enlisting of prayer warriors. The name of the district prayer chairman to be sent to national prayer chairman by September 1.

5. Promoting the organization of a WMC in every Brethren church in the district.

6. Each district to sponsor at least one project with the suggestion that said project be cleared through the national vice president to avoid duplication. Each district has the privilege of keeping the project within the district.

7. Each district contribute an annual free-will offering to be used toward furnishing and repair of the foreign missionary residence. This offering to be sent to national financial secretary-treasurer by July 10. This fund to be used as the committee in charge sees the need.

8. Each district president compile local annual statistical reports and send reports to the national recording secretary by July 31.

NATIONAL WMC RECOMMENDATIONS
1953-54

1. That a membership and consecration service be held annually in each local council, using the original covenant card and star system.

2. Each local president attending National Fellowship if at all possible.

3. That Mrs. Benjamin Hamilton be our editor.

4. That Miss Mary Emmert continue as our prayer chairman and that we encourage the observance of the day of prayer each month.

5. That we send good usable clothing to Taos, N. Mex., Rev. S. I. Horney, parcel post, or via express to Santa Fe, N. Mex.; to Indian mission, Rev. Evan Adams, Brethren Navaho Mission (located at Counselor Post), Star Route, Cuba, N. Mex., c/o San Juan Basin Lines, Albuquerque, N. Mex. That we temporarily discontinue sending clothing to our Clayhole, Ky., mission because they have a sufficient supply on hand.

6. That officers in the local councils preferably be elected in June, installed and take office by the August meeting, and have statistical reports to the district president by July 15.

7. That each council promote the evangelization of children, urging the individual women to assist in Sunday school, vacation Bible school, children's Bible classes, etc.

8. That the women in each council continue to show an increased interest in the Sisterhood in all possible ways—prayer, financial help, work projects, willingness to serve in an advisory capacity.

9. In view of the rapid expansion of our various Brethren endeavors and the accompanying need, we strongly urge that all local and district councils use Brethren talent and support Brethren works.

10. A birthday remembrance be sent to foreign missionaries and their children.

11. That the local council purchase two or more of the suggested reading circle books:

"Discoveries Made From Living the New Life," by Eugenia Price (devotional).

"Remarkable Answers to Prayer," by Basil Miller (devotional).

"This Happened in the Hills of Kentucky," by John Vogel (missionary).

"Mountains Singing," by Sanna Morrison Barlow (missionary).

"The Mystery Ship," by John Bechtel (fiction).

National Fellowship of Brethren Laymen

Officers

President—O. Mason Cooper, 1611 Staunton Ave. NW., Roanoke, Va.
 Vice President—Owen Hacker, 1621 Benson Dr., Dayton 6, Ohio.
 Secretary—William C. Fisher, 335 Fugate Rd. NE., Roanoke 12, Va.
 Treasurer—Walter Hoyt, 409 Leland Ave., Dayton 7, Ohio.
 Boys' Advisor—Neil Carey, 332 Stull Ave., Akron 12, Ohio.
 Laymen's Page Editor—Jesse Deloe, Box 251, Winona Lake, Ind.
 Student Aid Committee—Frank Poland (chairman), Wesley Miller, Don Ogden, Rev. H. W. Koontz (advisor); also one student representative to be chosen by the committee.

Under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, this organization seeks to:

1. Stimulate worship of Almighty God through our Lord Jesus Christ, His only begotten Son and our Saviour, in accordance with the whole Bible, and nothing but the Bible;
2. Promote Christian fellowship among the laymen of the Brethren Church; and
3. Effect an organization of the Brethren laymen which may offer its assistance to local churches, through local laymen's affiliates where possible, as an aid to the ministry in the salvation of souls, through the person and work of our Lord Jesus Christ, and other proper activities in which laymen can serve.

Goals

1. Daily Bible reading.
2. A family altar in every layman's home.
3. Laymen united for soul winning through personal visitation, evangelistic rallies, and tract distribution.

Laymen (continued)—

4. Give our support to our local pastor and his work.

5. Help build our Sunday schools through the national and local Sunday-school boards.

6. Start new local and district laymen's groups in churches and areas where they do not exist.

7. Start and sponsor local boys clubs.

8. Every layman a tither.

Projects

1. Board of Evangelism Crusade, $3,000.

2. Grace Theological Seminary Student Aid, $1,000.

3. Brethren Boys Clubs, $250.

4. General Expense Fund, $500.
 Total of projects, $4,750.

Grace Seminary student aid is available to worthy Brethren students as follows: A student in need, or any person knowing of a student in need, should contact any member of the committee in writing. Each member of the committee will initial the request. When the request is properly initialed by every member of the committee, the chairman will present the gift to the student and send the request to replenish the cash drawer ($50 in the hands of chairman), together with the initialed copy of the request for aid to the treasurer. Full power to accept or reject the request is the committee's prerogative.

Other than Grace Seminary student aid is handled on the district or local level.

1953 Conference Notes

Sessions 71 through 75 were held in the Westminster Hotel Rainbow Room, August 25-29.

Participation in the half-hour 7:15-7:45 p. m. service of the national conference on opening night was enjoyed by this fellowship.

At the opening of the laymen's 71st session, President Mason Cooper brought us a heart-searching, heart-rendering, and challenging message for each of our lives. He emphasized we needed the cooperation of every layman and the power of God in each of our lives to reach our goals and projects this year.

In the absence of our secretary-treasurer, Bro. W. K. Smith was elected secretary pro tem., and did an excellent job on the minutes, for which we thank him.

Committees

Committee on Committees—W. M. Hoyt (chairman), C. Smithy, Owen E. Hacker.

Attendance Committee—Bryson Fetters (chairman), Roy Lowery.

Auditing Committee—H. L. Edwards (chairman), C. H. Seitz.

Nominating Committee—I. Wesley Miller (chairman), Chester McCall, S. M. Coffey.

Goals and Projects Committee—Charles Croker (chairman), R. L. Farmer, Charles A. Snyder.

Please report all local men's news to your national laymen's page editor and secretary; also to your district secretary. We want news from every laymen's group.

BYF (continued)—*Plans

Monthly packets of programs, ideas, and party helps will be sent to all pastors and youth leaders. Each BYF and CE will be encouraged to send regular offerings to the national treasurer for this and the other goals.

Missionary projects will be promoted through our youth groups, offerings for which should be included with each church's home-mission or foreign-mission offering, and earmarked "BYF Project." Current home-mission project is the raising of $1,000 to send summer workers to our home-mission fields in New Mexico and Kentucky. The 1954 foreign-mission project is the support of the Bekoro station in Africa, $1,200.

Budget, 1953-54

Appropriation to the Brethren Youth Council .....	$400
Mimeographing and mailing costs for monthly program packets .....	180
Literature for the Brethren Messianic Witness ($10 a month pledge) ....	120
Literature for Brethren Spanish-American missions ($10 a month pledge) .....	120
Office supplies .....	100
Miscellaneous .....	80
	<hr/> $1,000

CHRIST'S INSPECTION . . .

to hold the light. God is threaten to choose another channel through which light would be given.

Let us heed this warning. A church may be so busy for Him, so full of good works, that Christ Himself lost sight of completely—like Martha, so busy doing for Christ that she had no time for sweet communion with Christ. Departure from the faith many times can be traced to failure in private devotion with Christ.

Let us examine our life—let the church examine herself. HAVE WE LEFT OUR FIRST LOVE? Have we lost our testimony?

The same God who called on saints at Ephesus to repent calls to do the same thing.

Do we have a spiritual ear? Then let us hear what the Spirit says to the church at Ephesus, because it is the same message the Spirit would get across today. Live the overcoming life! To those who overcome God promises them to eat of the tree of life (vs. 6). Why that is the very thing Adam lost!

Examine your life, dear one. Have you lost your first love? Do other books have more attraction for you than the Bible? Have you lost interest in attending public worship service? Has spiritual obedience become wearisome? Do you have interest in the salvation of precious souls? Are you no longer interested in missionary work; no longer concerned over personal sin? Has worldliness crept into your life?

May God help each one of us to strive to be an overcomer, for this is the victorious life. If you want YOUR CHURCH to be a powerful church, we must not allow her to lose her first love. If YOU want to be a powerful Christian, you too must be careful not to lose your first love.

Salvation is by grace, apart from works, but overcomers are enriched with joys and added grace which belong to them alone. Claim all that God can give you in this life and you will be a powerful Christian.

our privilege on several occasions to participate in the administering of the anointing service at our brother's request. In each instance the Lord graciously undertook and relieved his suffering. It was a joy indeed to have had fellowship with him in the Word and prayer, and we do praise the Lord for the fragrance of his life. For him to depart and be with Christ was far better.—Rev. Jesse Hall.

The vitality of a church is often judged by the splash it makes in the weekly social calendar. Needless to say, there is no guarantee that a church is spiritually alive because it has a pot-luck dinner Monday night, a Tuesday-afternoon tea, a luncheon forum Wednesday noon, with a choir practice and a fellowship hour following on Thursday.—Presbyterian Life.

"Come Ye Apart"

Mark 6:31

WORSHIP

By Mary Emmert, National Prayer Chairman

"Let me answer your question by telling you my life story," she said, as she looked up at me earnestly. "I was born in slavery. Yes, I was a bondslave. One of my most vivid recollections, as a girl, was of that day I found myself on an open slave market in the midst of quite a company of men, women, and young people, all of us chained to the slave block.

"A boisterous, oily-looking man sauntered up and down the market place, examining the various slaves. His clothes were loud, and his manner much too familiar, especially with the young girls. Some of them welcomed his attentions, but I cringed as he approached me.

"Oh, here is a sullen one! We'll soon take that out of her!" he twitted me, as he took hold of me with his clammy hands. I shrank back with terror. Oh, who would deliver me?

"Just then there appeared a quiet-mannered gentleman, whom few had noticed. I had seen him speaking earnestly in low tones to some of our company, but he had not yet come near me. Now suddenly he was by my side, and he spoke forcefully to my tormentor, saying, 'Hands off her, you villain! Leave her alone, I say!'

"To my joy and amazement, the oily one stopped his unwelcome attentions. He blustered, 'By what right do you command me?'

"I have bought the option on this whole market," answered my deliverer. 'Yes, I have paid a great price—all my ready cash in fact—to purchase any and all who will willingly go with me.'

"Oh," sneered the antagonist, 'if that is your bargain, we shall just see how many choose to go with you. Ha, ha! They know how to choose a master. They have already seen that I shall give them a jolly good time if they desire to come with me!'

"How about you?" spoke the gentle one softly to me, ignoring the other's taunts. He looked at me pityingly, with a wealth of tenderness and concern for my helpless state.

"Oh, good master, let me follow you," I begged. 'Let me be your slave forever.' He assured me that it was all settled depending on my willingness alone, and so he led me out of the slave market together with several others who had likewise chosen him as their master."

"How wonderful to have escaped the foul clutches of that wretched villain," I remarked. "No wonder you love the one you call master."

"Yes, indeed," she replied. "When I stop to think of the miserable existence I certainly should have suffered with that vile person, I cannot but adore my master for what he has done for me. I see on all sides the sad fate of those who blindly chose what they thought was a jolly pleasure-loving master. What a cruel heartless tyrant he proved to be in the end.

"You asked me why I love my master? But listen, you have only heard a small portion of my story. Can you imagine how happy I was to serve the one who had given such a great fortune to redeem me? We were a happy household indeed, and I was so glad to find a number of tasks I could do for so kind a patron.

"Sometimes I would see him for a few moments, but we lived in such a vast manor with so many servants like myself, that I became absorbed in my round of duties. I loved to serve, but too rarely did I seek out the one I served. Oh, of course, I reported dutifully each day for a few moments' chat, mostly taken up with a number of requests, but it seemed I was so busy I never could tarry long. And I felt, too, that I did not really know him very well at all.

"Then one day he took some of my regular tasks from me. And he spoke to me, 'Peace, be still. Tarry here and talk with me a while.'

"So I sank down at his feet while he talked to me. 'You do not seem to fully realize,' he said, 'that when I bought you off the slave market, I also liberated you. You are no longer a slave, but a free person. You have been serving me in a spirit of bondage, but now I wish you to understand that my father has adopted you into his family long ago.'

"How wonderful," I cried, 'but I am unworthy. Besides I am unfit for such a great position. Let me remain your bondslave. I shall willingly let them pierce my ear with the awl as a sign that I am your love-slave forever—that I have no desire to depart.'

"I believe you and rejoice when you say you have no desire to depart," he answered smilingly. 'You are doubly mine now, for I not only purchased you, but you have freely given yourself to me also. Now as to your feeling of unworthiness to take your place in my father's palace, I have made full provision for that, too. I have provided a special tutor for you. He will guide you continually and prepare you in all ways for your position in my father's house. Yes, we are living in this old manor now, where there is always sufficient for our needs but often not an abundance. But one day it will be vastly different. Just put yourself entirely in my hands; fear not, little one, you are mine, you can trust me. You are a joint-heir with my father and me of all our wealth.'

"Oh, I cannot tell you of all the long way he has brought me since that time," she continued. "I have learned this much, however. The oftener I stop to speak to my lord and master and to thank him for his love and care over me, the better he likes it and the happier I am. How ungrateful I would be if I did not pause often at his feet to tell him how I love him, and to praise him for everything he does for me."

"But why do you feel that you know him so well? How did you come to get on such good terms with your lord, as you call him?"

"Can't you see?" was the answer. "One gets well acquainted with anyone by spending much time in their company, by watching them at work, by attuning oneself to their likes and dislikes, by trying to see things as they see them.

"All of us who live in his household are very near and dear to him, and his desire is that we love one another sincerely and learn to get along well together. Just think, he has spoken of us all collectively as his bride. So now we are, in a figure, as a fiancée being trained for vast responsibilities in the king's palace. Should not our chief delight be in the bridegroom?"

"If the cry of your heart is that you, too, might know this altogether lovely one, here is another word of counsel. Do not neglect to pore over the great volume of his love letters which he has written especially for those who love him. Remember that the tutor or guide, of which I spoke, is always present to interpret them to you. If you are of a ready mind and a willing heart you will find much there that is addressed to you personally. For he satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness. Oh, worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness. Come let us adore him together."

BIBLE READING CORNER

HOW TO READ THE BIBLE

Read the Bible, not as a newspaper but as a home letter.

If a cluster of heavenly fruit hangs within reach, gather it.

If a promise lies upon the page as a blank check, cash it.

If a prayer is recorded, appropriate it, and launch it as a feathered arrow from the bow of your desire.

If an example of holiness gleams before you, ask God to do as much for you.

If the truth is revealed in all its intrinsic splendor, entreat that its brilliance may ever irradiate the hemisphere of your life.—F. B. Meyer.

Bible reading for September—Genesis, chapters 1-30.

Bible reading for October—Genesis, chapters 31-50; Exodus, chapters 1-11.

To any of the WMC ladies who failed to get started with the daily readings at the beginning of September we suggest the reading of more than one chapter each day in order to be up to date by the end of October.

We are now midway in the period in which we give our offering to the Lord for our HOME MISSION PROJECT. This year a two-year project was adopted to raise the $5,000 necessary to build an adequate school building and recreational room on our Navaho mission field. We thank the Home Missions Council for the cover pictures on this Herald which they supplied for us to bring to our remembrance some of the things we have done for the Navaho field and to challenge us for this greater project which we have now undertaken.

During past years the Lord has permitted us to supply furnishings for the main building, to purchase a Jeep for the field, and to send clothing, boots, school and dormitory supplies to these Navaho children. We praise the Lord for what He has permitted us to do and we pray that we may meet this new challenge with greater enthusiasm and deeper love for our Lord and these neglected sheep than we have ever had before. May we count on YOU to help us put this project "over the top"?

Women Manifesting Christ

AROUND THE WORLD

Our mission studies for the present year will take us all the way around the world presenting glimpses of some of our Brethren missionary women as they serve their Lord and live our WMC motto day by day. We began these studies last month with Taos, N. Mex., and your editor regrets that the mass of conference material was so great that there was not space to present to you any material on the very fine work that our missionaries are doing there among the Spanish-American people. It is the purpose of your editor to present on this page each month some up-to-date information on the particular field being studied that month in order to coordinate our paper with the program packets.

Our particular mission study for the month of October is of our Brethren mission work among the Navaho Indians. It should prove of vital interest to us this month as we are just in the midst of our home missions offering period, and our project for this year is for the Navaho work. Our mission study was written by Miss Angie Garber while she was serving as teacher to the Navaho children and her study should challenge us to give sacrificially for that very needy school building. Unfortunately her health has made it necessary for Angie to give up that work she loved so well so that others have had to take over the school this year. Your editor has just received from Joan Adams a description of the opening of school for this present year. May Angie's mission study and Joan's up-to-the-minute description of these needy Navaho children challenge us to go "over the top" in our project to give them an adequate school and recreational building.

NAVAHO SCHOOL DAYS

By Mrs. Joan Adams, Brethren Missionary

After several days of busy preparation—getting beds ready, painting, washing school dishes, and organizing the clothing—13 of our Navaho boys and girls came in today to the first day of school. Some arrived on foot, others by wagon, and others in battered vehicles. In the next two or three weeks as many more will join the group. The stragglers are at such places as the potato fields of Colorado, and the Apache Indian Fair at Dulce, N. Mex. We could easily fill their vacant beds with the many requests for admittance. But most of these boys and girls have been here two years and we don't want to lose them. No amount of publicizing the opening date of school could hurry them home, for out here everything works at Navaho speed. The parents as a whole want their children in school, but will not force a child to attend who is reluctant to do so.

We were amazed today to see how clean most of them arrived here at the mission. Compared to last year's sores and lice, cleaning them was not quite the task we anticipated. Now, as I write this, all of the children are snuggled in their beds, clothed in new pajamas provided so generously by our faithful WMC ladies, and resting on the new mattresses provided by the Iowa District WMC ladies this past summer. A hearty "thanks" goes to each women's group and individual who made so much of the clothing for the boys and girls, and also to those who have provided gifts of money and such gifts as trays, dishes, balls, and books.

Tomorrow morning will find the Navaho boys and girls eager for their schoolyard toys and for their second school meal from the school kitchen. They have well-planned, nourishing meals that will soon begin to change their undernourished bodies to fat ones, full of energy for play.

Fred, one of our schoolboys, arrived today with one of his eyes badly inflamed by trachoma, a dangerous eye disease. So, early tomorrow the truck will leave for the Government hospital, 105 miles away, to have this treated before it spreads to the other children. This disease is the cause for most of the blindness found among the Navahos.

A few tears were shed by one of the small girls tonight. Her new bed, clean clothes, and school companions could not replace her thoughts of her own hogan where her mother was tonight. A few days and the tears will be gone, but the family ties will remain strong. You cannot change a Navaho into a white man, but you can give them a new life in Christ. The "reading, writing, and arithmetic" are important for the minds of these small precious souls, but not as everlastingly important as the souls for the Lord. Remember these little "lost sheep" in your prayers.

MESSAGES FROM OUR MISSIONARIES

Corral de Bustos, Argentina.

Dear WMC Friends:

Some time has passed since the Marshall family celebrated their birthdays, but we hope it is not too late to say, "Thank you," to all of you who helped to make each celebration more pleasant. Every card and greeting, every letter, was sincerely appreciated. We would like to send a letter to every society who remembered us, but it just isn't possible. Please consider this your personal "Thank you."

This is a rather dreary winter day here in Argentina. It has been trying to rain. How we wish it would start in earnest, for we need it so much. We decided this year to plant a flower garden in our patio, but if the dry weather continues, I'm afraid we'll see few results.

Jim has just left the house to make a few calls and do a little personal work. He wants to inquire why Ramona Abaca doesn't come to Sunday school any more. She was coming faithfully every Sunday until she started to the secondary school. Now her excuse is that she has to study too much to come to the meeting, but we know the influence of the school teachers over the pupils. The same story has been repeated so many times. It helps us to appreciate the faithfulness of the few who have been able to withstand the ridicule and questionings of their friends and neighbors to attend our meetings week after week. It costs to be a Christian in this land.

MRS. LOREE SICKEL

WMC Missionary of the Year

After her graduation from high school in Sunnyside, Wash., Loree Cutright left with Ruth McClain for Los Angeles to attend the Bible institute there, choosing to serve the Lord rather than follow the career her family had in mind for her.

At the national conference of 1918 she was approved for service in Argentina. The following year, as Mrs. Clarence Sickel, she sailed for the southern continent, where with her husband she gave her life and love, enduring the hardships of the pioneer missionary, making a wonderful home for her husband and two daughters, Loraine and Miriam, and becoming with each passing year a more loved and efficient worker.

Besides being a great help to Jack and Miriam Churchill, with whom she makes her home since the upcalling of Brother Sickel, she is the head of our women's work, visiting the various churches, teaches classes in our Instituto Biblico, and has various other activities, not least of which is that of valued companion and "grandma" in each missionary family at the time when a new little missionary comes there to live.

We deem it very fitting that in this year, 1953, just 35 years from the date of her appointment to Argentina, she should be chosen the WMC Missionary of the Year.

(Editor's note: The above short biographical sketch of our first WMC Missionary has very fittingly been written by Miss Johanna Nielsen, close personal friend and colleague of Mrs. Sickel.)

Mrs. Sickel

Our two boys, Michael, aged 2, and Peter, aged 4 months, keep us happy and quite busy. Peter is quite a husky little fellow, and is already learning to defend himself when Michael's attention becomes too rough.

We are planning to send you a picture of our women's group and an article about our activities soon. We appreciated the letter we received from your president some time ago.

Thank you again for your thoughtfulness in remembering our birthdays.

Your friends in Christ,

Margaret, Jim, and Michael Marshall.

Nzoro, French Equatorial Africa.

Dear Ladies of the WMC:

Since good intentions are not able to write letters it is indeed time for me to hold a conference with my paper and pen and do that very thing—write a letter to the ladies of the WMC, our fellow workers for Christ. We have fellowshiped with you in spirit and in prayer and have eagerly digested each issue of the Herald magazine as it has come to the house on the hill at Nzoro.

Soon we will have been at Nzoro six months. So you see we have been "home" for six months. The homes of our local people are below us in the valley. The reason for our being in this land is ever before us.

As yet we have no WMC work among the women here but must wait until the women's work becomes stronger. The women who come to the reading classes are both village women and wives of the Bible-school students. They come each week-day morning between 5:30 and 6—rain or shine. Pray for these women who are children of God and are learning to read their Father's Word. Pray that they may be faithful to Him through all things that may arise in their lives. Pray that they may be strong spiritually and physically. In many ways the lives of these people are filled with difficulties. The only answer to these burdened lives is Christ and the real rest found in Him.

The best reader in my women's class has lost five babies at birth in the past years. Last month the Lord gave her and her husband a baby girl. (During the same month her husband was bitten by a poisonous snake. He came to Aunt Estella for treatment right away and the Lord undertook for him.) When my oldest girl, who was home from school, and I went to see the new mother, she was sitting on the ground in front of her house and her elderly mother was sitting beside her with the baby in her arms. ## BEAUTY OF FORM

By Mrs. Robert Miller

This sin-mad world has gone overboard in its wrong emphasis on the human body. This has been especially true when it comes to women and girls. Evil-minded men have glorified the human form to the exclusion of far more important characteristics of life. Because of this undue emphasis many a Christian girl has been sidetracked in her thinking on this subject. With the world she has come to believe that a lovely form with perfect dimensions as outlined by fashion leaders of the world is the most important thing to have or accomplish.

Now I am not one to ignore the beauty of a lovely figure. If you have been blessed with one be thankful, but please don't be conceited. After all you didn't do anything to merit or get it, did you? A nice figure can be spoiled mighty fast by a nasty spirit and cranky face. Regardless of your physical defects you can have them go unnoticed if you glow with sweet Christian grace. But we might as well face it right here and now: Christian grace will not be in evidence if you go around with a chip on your shoulder and are hard to live with!

No girl who is careless about keeping her body clean can glow with a real testimony. Nor will she ever minimize her bodily defects if she goes about with a musty, unwashed odor coming from her body. And whatever you do, don't try to cover up failure to bathe by the use of perfume and makeup. Dirt and body odors are bound to come through. Nothing takes the place of soap and water, and every Christian girl will use them faithfully. Frequent bathing and careful use of deodorants will keep you sweetly attractive.

As a further offset to figure defects you will always remember to keep your fingernails and toenails clean and neatly shaped at all times. They are much prettier without any wild-colored polish, too! Clean and nicely pressed clothes are a must. The careful girl will always keep her shoes well polished. Have you looked at yours lately? Your hair will be shining from much brushing and periodic shampooing. Above all, don't be fooled by advertisements into thinking that cosmetics will add to your looks. If God had intended for you to have fiery red lips or nails He would have provided you with them! Don't insult God by doing what the world does! Jezebel was a very wicked queen way back in Israel's history and she is the first woman mentioned in the Bible who painted her face (II Ki. 9:30). Jezebel has had thousands of foolish followers. I pray no Sisterhood girl is part of this throng.

The secret of any Christian girl's loveliness is just being her own sweet natural self. You will minimize your poverty of form or lack of perfect figure if you allow God's love and life to be reflected through you. The right heart attitude will lend enchantment to any girl.

Isaiah the prophet tells us that Christ the Messiah was "despised and rejected of men. He had no form or comeliness" (especial outstanding appearance) which appealed to the worldly wise sophisticates of His day (Isa. 55:2-3). Yet His life and death made an impact on this old world which none other has done. He was beautiful to His Father because He did His Father's will. He is beautiful to us because He died to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. Jesus Christ was holy and He did always those things which pleased His Father (John 8:29).

If you want beauty of form which really counts (and who doesn't?) you will be more interested in your spiritual form than in your physical. Your "beauty of holiness" will add to and enhance your physical loveliness. God help you each to remember this.

"Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name: bring an offering [your own self], and come before him: worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness" (I Chron. 16:29).

Perfume CORNER

"Let my prayer be set forth before thee as incense; and the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice" (Psa. 141:2).

---

Pray for the new year in Sisterhood. Don't forget your officers! They all need your faithful, prayerful support.

Pray that all SMM girls will work harder on their goals and receive a blessing from the new program.

Pray for the Lord's richest blessing and leading on our new projects and goals.

Pray for special needs of our home- and foreign-mission fields.

Pray for our boys in the service of our country.

DORRICK

How many times have you quoted the verse found in Romans 12:1? "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service." I imagine you could not count the times you have quoted or heard this verse quoted glibly. It is an easy verse to learn, but do we really have it hid in our hearts? Do you know what it really means to present your body to the Lord as He would have you to present it? God does not want a dead body, for it would be of little or no value to Him as far as the work He has for us to do on this earth. Our Lord wants a beautiful, young body presented to Him, without any "hold-backs." Many heathen in the world, even today, make a sacrifice of the most beautiful young girls to their heathen gods. We think it is terrible when we hear of such things, but do you know that many of our most beautiful girls are being sacrificed daily to the god of this world? We must be careful that we are not blinded by the bright lights, etc., but that we give our bodies unto our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, who has bought us with His precious blood.

You might be saying, "But I am not beautiful. There is much that I lack in physical beauty." Let me remind you again that beauty is only skin deep. When we speak of beauty we must also include the spiritual beauty within. If we conduct ourselves in a manner proper to Christian girls, we need not worry about any physical lack. Your friends, whether saved or unsaved, will realize that you have something far better than any physical attraction, and any friend that is your friend just because of your attractiveness, is not one that will stand the test of time.

I don't want to leave any false impressions. We must cultivate a spiritual beauty through our "QT" and Bible study, but let us not neglect the physical side of our life altogether. You cannot be an effective testimony for our Lord if you are badly in need of a physical cleansing. Our Lord Himself attracted others to His side. We must always be sure that we are not offending others when the cure lies in soap and water and some of the preparations that are on the market today. (No, I am not writing copy for a deodorant ad, but it is good once in a while to read them and ask if it could mean you.)

We must also be careful of the little things as well. Is our hair fresh and shining, our nails (I don't mean claws) well trimmed, our shoes and hose neat and clean, and our teeth shining and bright. These things all make for good grooming and no one needs to be better groomed than a Christian girl, who has given her body to the Lord. We will be better able to reach the unsaved if we are neat and clean, for who wants close contact with one who has an unsavory odor about them?

Above all, girls, let us be sure that our Lord would be well pleased with us as we step out to meet our friends or schoolmates, etc. We must certainly be modest in our apparel. Let us not be too quick to copy the styles that would not reveal to anyone who might see us that we belong to Christ. He is the altogether lovely One. He was willing to lay aside all His heavenly beauty and come to this earth as one of us that He might redeem our poor helpless souls. In Isaiah 53:2-3 we read that He had no beauty or attractiveness when He died on the cross. But remember, He died for you and for me and He was bearing the ugly sin of your life and mine that day. We praise His name that today He is in that beautiful place preparing it for us. And when He shall come to take us to our heavenly home He shall change these vile bodies and we shall be like Him forever. I am looking forward to that day, aren't you? It might be today.

Hint 1. Get a good start on your personal project this year. Start now to learn James if you are a senior or I John if you are a middler or a junior.

Hint 2. If you have not yet received some material or awards, please notify the literature secretary, Myra Joy Conner.

Hint 3. If any district or local organization wants to use the slides or tape recording from Marybeth Munn that were used at national conference, please contact the national president about it.

Hint 4. Have you had your fall cabinet meeting yet? Don't forget it! It is important to plan your whole year now. Let's have lots of honor SMM's this year.

Hint 5. This year we are offering both the diamond and emerald awards to you. You may also get an honor emblem for on your pennant if you are a member of an honor SMM. Let's work hard this year and see how many honors YOU can get.

Hint 6. Have you any writing ability? Well, whether you have or not, try your hand at writing either a short story, essay, or poem that's suitable for SMM. This would be a good way to work off one of your Martha Goals. These are to be sent to the national patroness, Mrs. Kriegbaum.

Hint 7. INFORMATION: Don't forget to write to your general secretary. She is looking for a letter or card telling about your local SMM activities.

Hint 8. LEADER FOR THE MONTH: For something different in the line of choruses, have each girl select a chorus with "love" in it, for our theme is "Beauty" and to have Christian beauty we must have a heart of love.

A CIGARETTE SPEAKS TO A PRETTY GIRL

I'm just a friendly cigarette; don't be afraid of me!
Why all the advertisers say I'm harmless as can be!
They tell you that I'm your "best friend" (I like that cunning lie)

And say you'll "walk a mile" for me because I "satisfy."

So come on, girlie, be a sport! Why longer hesitate?
With me between your pretty lips, you'll be quite up to date!

You may not like me right at first, but very soon, I'll bet,
You'll find you just can't get along without a cigarette!

You've smoked one package, so I know I've nothing now to fear;

When once I get a grip on girls they're mine for life, my dear!

Your freedom you began to lose the very day we met,
When I convinced you it was smart to smoke a cigarette!

The color's fading from your cheeks; your fingertips are stained;

And now you'd like to give me up, but sister you are chained!

You even took a drink last night—I thought you would ere long,

For those whom I enslave soon lose their sense of right and wrong.

Year after year I've fettered you and led you blindly on.
Till now you're just a bunch of nerves, with looks and health both gone.

You're pale and thin, and have a cough; the doctor says,
"T. B."

He says you can't expect to live much longer, thanks to me!

But it's too late to worry now; when you became my slave,

You should have known the chances were you'd fill an early grave.

And now that I have done my part to send your soul to hell,

I'll leave you with my partner, Death—he'll come for you. Farewell.

SISTERHOOD—IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Please do not send any more bed jackets until further notice. There are plenty on hand.

Dr. R. D. Barnard.

An African party is another added attraction for SMM devotional meetings. This idea came from the Dallas Center, Jr. SMM of Iowa. Everyone dressed up like natives, and had a backward meeting by starting with the SMM benediction.

Sewing was a project of the Jr. SMM of Roanoke, Va. All the girls made their own SMM outfits. Another interesting item in handwork was the making of wall plaques with engraved Scripture verses on them. A slumber party held recently also was enjoyed by all.

Painting usually is a man's job. But the Jr. SMM girls of the Harrah Brethren Church had as their local project painting the walls and furniture of the church. The patronesses made drapes and put up decals. They also had a birthday party for Marybeth Munn recently.

Penny pals are one solution for raising money for the projects. This was used recently by the Jr. SMM of Meyersdale, Pa., through which they collected $35. The girls sang a special song at the mother-daughter banquet some months back. For a meeting specialty they planned a picnic after the devotional meeting.

The combined SMM of Harrisburg, Pa., joined with the boys' club of the church. They have their devotional meeting as before, but their handwork will be on a larger scale. From time to time they have a special film, and also compete against the boys in a baseball game.

ISN'T IT TRUE?

A Christian woman says that when she was a little girl she prayed often something like this: "Dear Lord, make me a Christian someday, but not yet, for I do like to laugh and be happy. Don't let me die suddenly as some children do, but save me a few weeks before I die. Amen."

Too many people, children as well as older people, have the wrong idea that to become a Christian means that one must give up all joy, and become most unhappy. Nothing could be further from the truth. God is good to His children; all He takes away from one is his sins. And it is sin that makes people unhappy. Remember what David said in the 23d Psalm? "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: . . . my cup runneth over." Our Lord Jesus said, "My peace I give unto you" (John 14:27). It is the Devil who tells people that the Christian life is unhappy. Let us urge people to "taste and see that the Lord is good!"

Our responsibility can never cease so long as we have a life to live for Christ and a whole world still waiting for the Gospel.

Let none hear you idly saying, "There is nothing I can do,"

While the souls of men are dying, and the Master calls for you;

Take the task He gives you gladly; let His work your pleasure be;

Answer quickly while He calleth, "Here am I, send me, send me."

babies, when very small, is as much white as black.) Here I saw a contrast that I would like to share with you, and one that I wish you could have seen. The young Christian mother's lips were smiling and overflowing with praise to her God. Beside her sat her elderly mother with lips closed in sadness and indifference. She continues to cling to her gods. What an outward difference when Christ is on the inside!

May I share with you some of the experiences that set the joybells ringing? Last week a doctor came through the villages of our district. This was an opportunity for your missionaries, as many people came from the outlying villages to gather in the larger villages. We held services here and in a larger village several miles away. At both services a number came to accept Christ. When we first came to Nzoro the chief of the village said, after a meeting and a flannelgraph lesson on the crucifixion, "Christ was a good Man, yes, He was a good Man much." Pray for this chief that he may see that Christ is a wonderful Saviour. He does not oppose the Gospel but he does not accept the Christ of the Gospel. Just recently one of our canton chiefs accepted the Lord. This is a victory. A canton chief is over the other chiefs of a district.

Every Sunday morning the children meet for junior church. I shall never forget the feeling that came to me the first time I stood before the children—great opportunities before me and a great God beside me. The children enjoy singing and, when they know the song, they sing with much power. One of their favorites is "Heavenly Sunshine," but they sing it (translated literally), "Joy is, joy is in my heart. Jesus Christ fills. Joy is, joy is, hallelujah, this true joy." They sit rather quietly as the lesson is given. (The older ones seem to think that it is their duty to chastise their younger brothers in the Lord.) I thank God for the child evangelism helps and the flannelgraph method that we are able to use in this land. They often help to make the pages of the Bible more clear to children and adults.

Now to tell you of a refreshing experience with our "white relatives." Several days ago we went to Bozoum to take our Nancy back for another term of school. The new missionaries were still at Bozoum so we were able to fellowship with them and with the others there. The Saturday that we were there was the monthly day of prayer and, in the afternoon, most of us went to Bassai. As we prayed together there we prayed for revival—among ourselves, the catechists, and the native Christians. As different influences come into this land they warn us to hurry in going out and gathering up souls for our Christ who could return today. We will go to heaven, but how many will go there because we told them the Way? Revival must begin within me first.

Christian love in our Lord,

Lois Miller.

Roanoke, Va. Roanoke Bible Institute, founded in 1950 by Ghent Brethren Church and its pastor, Rev. Robert E. A. Miller, alumnus of Grace Theological Seminary, began its fourth year on September 21 with a record enrollment of more than 80 students, representing various denominations. Of the seven faculty members, two are Brethren. Pastor Miller teaches Bible Doctrine and Pastor W. E. Howard, of the Clearbrook Brethren Church, teaches Life of Christ. The school is accredited by the Evangelical Teacher Training Association of Chicago.

Baltimore, Md. Recent speakers at the Bible Brethren Church have been Rev. W. E. Roop, of Westminster, Md., and Rev. John Roop, of Linwood, Md. C. H. Hinegardner is pastor. This church plans to buy lots in the near future for the erection of their badly needed edifice.

Akron, Ohio. Prof. M. A. Stuckey, guest speaker at the June graduation of the Akron Bible Institute, recently presented 440 books to the institute library. Dr. R. E. Gingrich is president of the institute.

Alexandria, Va. Rev. Kenneth Teague resigned as pastor of the Commonwealth Avenue Brethren Church and will become the pastor of the new home-mission church in Wheaton, Ill., soon. Brother Teague will pursue further studies at Wheaton College.

Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. Rev. Richard Burch was ordained to the Christian ministry on Sunday afternoon, September 20. Dr. Herman A. Hoyt delivered the message.

Danville, Ohio. The Danville Brethren Church celebrated its 70th anniversary on October 11, with homecoming and rally day services. The church was organized on October 10, 1883. Rev. Neil Beery, pastor, will begin his fourth year in November.

Conemaugh, Pa. The East District WMC held their rally here on Thursday, October 1.

Beaumont, Calif. Guest speakers at the Cherry Valley Brethren Church will be Rev. Keith Altig, October 11, and Phil Kerr, of musical fame, Sunday evening, October 18.

Waterloo, Iowa. Dr. Fred Schwarz, noted authority on Communism from Sydney, Australia, spoke at the Grace Brethren Church on September 20. Richard DeArmey is pastor.

Modesto, Calif. Rev. Harold Painter, pastor for the past eight years of the La Loma Grace Brethren Church, has resigned to become the pastor of the First Brethren Church of Sunnyside, Wash.

Clayton, Ohio. The Southern Ohio District BYF (senior group) will hold a Halloween party on October 30 in the new youth building.

Los Angeles, Calif. According to Prophecy magazine, America's leading modernist, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, recently passed his 75th birthday, which was marked by a dinner in his honor at the Union Theological Seminary in New York. The liberal Christian Century magazine, in its editorial tribute to Dr. Fosdick, commented that "he has been subjected to more reckless abuse than any other Christian minister of our time." Comments Editor Keith L. Brooks (of Prophecy magazine), "Somehow it had never occurred to us to class Dr. Fosdick among the modern martyrs or to think of him as one 'persecuted for Christ's sake.'" Dr. Fosdick has repeatedly declared his dislike for those called "fundamentalists," and is proud that he is a liberal.

Grafton, W. Va. Rev. W. H. Schaffer, of Spokane, Wash., was used of the Lord in bringing several young married people to the place where decisions were made for Christ, during his recent evangelistic campaign. The meetings closed September 13. Lee Crist is pastor.

Limestone, Tenn. Dr. R. L. Rossman has tendered his resignation as pastor of the Vernon Brethren Church, and has accepted a call from the First Brethren Church of Camden, Ohio.

Long Beach, Calif. The softball team of the Second Brethren Church ended its season as the top church team in the city, with a record of 23 wins and 2 losses. This team went on to greater victories by winning the southern California championship in the church division, which is sponsored by the Southern California Municipal Athletic Federation. George Peek is pastor.

Kingsport, Tenn. The mission board of the Southeast District is requesting special prayer that God might raise up a full-time pastor for the work here.

Washington, D. C. The International Council of Christian Churches, meeting in its British Isles Regional Conference at Edinburgh, Scotland, in July 1952, adopted a project to send copies of the Bible and Scripture portions, without note or comment, to Russia, Czechoslovakia, and Poland by means of balloons carried by the wind over the borders of these countries. Christians from many churches of the denominations and countries represented by the ICCS caught the vision of this unusual missionary enterprise to convey the Word of God on the wings of the wind to those countries behind the Iron Curtain. Full permission was granted by the State Department in Washington. Upon arrival in western Germany State Department representatives were contacted at Munich, Frankfurt, and Nurnberg, and full cooperation was assured. Two days later, permission was withdrawn and to date no explanation has been given, and the entire matter has been referred to the State Department in Washington, D. C. By means of delaying tactics on the part of the State Department, this missionary work has been stymied.

Covington, Va. Miss Ruth Snyder spoke at the fall overnight youth rally October 2-3.

Covington, Ohio. The Southern Ohio District SMM met September 8. New officers were installed, with the pastor of the host church, Rev. James Young, in charge.

Conemaugh, Pa. The Singer Hill Grace Brethren Church has broken ground for the building of a parsonage.

Long Beach, Calif. A rally for all teachers in Brethren schools was held Sunday, October 11, at the First Brethren Church.

CORNERSTONE REMOVED

at the Second Brethren Church, Los Angeles

A very unique ceremony was conducted at the Second Brethren Church on September 20, 1953, at the close of the regular morning worship hour, in that the cornerstone was removed, the enclosed vault was opened, and the contents were displayed.

Since this church building has been sold to the Calvary Baptist Church (Negro), and since the church is currently writing a history of the events as they transpired in this church, it was felt that this should be done before the time when possession will be given to the new group. The contents in the niche unearthed valuable material for the writing of the church's history.

The ceremony began at 11:45 a. m. and was conducted under the leadership of the pastor, Elder Henry G. Rempel, who was ably assisted by Elder Joseph Hoffmann, long-time member of this congregation. After special music, prayer, and Scripture reading, Pastor Rempel read the following:

"In the changing course of events, it becomes necessary from time to time to make proper adjustments to meet such changes. We believe that such digressions, as men might call them, are to be found within the sovereign will of our allwise heavenly Father. Since so many of the members of this congregation have moved out of this community, it has been deemed wise to transfer this church building to another religious body of believers. Such a transfer has been effected, and as soon as the negotiation has been consummated, the equity of this edifice will be reinvested in a new Gospel testimony on the east side of our city. After the buyers have taken possession here, the Second Brethren Church will continue its work in Norwalk, California, under the new name of The Norwalk Brethren Church.

"This congregation had its inception in 1909, and was formally organized in the year 1910. The early church worshiped in a remodeled schoolhouse until the present edifice was erected and dedicated in 1924.

"The cornerstone-laying ceremony was conducted on July 13, the same year. Fain did those Brethren know, much less surmise, that we would gather here today, on September 20, 1953, to remove this stone, and to open the enclosed vault to display the contents thereof.

"We approach this unusual task with reverence and caution, yet with the inner consciousness that were our spiritual forefathers here they would concur with us in this act. We have not come to undo what they did, but we have merely come to make one of those necessary adjustments of which we spoke earlier. The cornerstone, and the contents of the vault enclosed in this niche are symbols of the foundation of and the purpose for which this church was established. This stone is a symbol of the true Cornerstone of the church, namely, the Lord Jesus Christ. As we transfer the equity of this church into a new testimony, we carry this marker with us to symbolize the fact that Christ will be the head of the corner in the Norwalk church.

"The other items collectively set forth the fact that this congregation since its beginning had a twofold aim in view; first, to preach the simple Gospel message of the shed blood of a crucified Saviour, the only means of salvation; and, second, to establish the saints in the most holy faith, through the expounding of the unadulterated Word of God.

"Since we, the members of the Second Brethren Church, transfer this equity to Norwalk, we do here and now dedicate ourselves to the same task which our forefathers so nobly performed. By the grace of God, the new Brethren Church of Norwalk shall truly be a soul-saving station, so that many in that community may find the sweet peace of

In the Secret Place

PSALM 91

By Herman W. Koontz, Pastor, Winona Lake Brethren Church

Rev. H. W. Koontz

"He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust."

A numberless host of people down through the centuries have found help in these two verses—and the remainder of the Ninety-first Psalm—as they faced the sword of the enemy, the ravage of the pestilence, the strike of the poisonous reptile, or the attack of the ferocious beast. In this psalm there is the promise of protection from such dangers to those who dwell in the secret place of the most High.

Missionaries have claimed the promises of this psalm as they have endured the dangers of untrodden jungles to take the Gospel to those who have never heard before. Christian workers have clothed themselves in its protective armor as they have ministered to the sick and dying when some killing plague has swept the land.

If Moses wrote the psalm, as many believe, the divine inspiration for writing it doubtless came when he beheld God protect the children of Israel when the plagues fell upon Egypt and then deliver them from the wrath of the army of Pharaoh. If David gave it to us, as others believe, it no doubt came out of his experiences with a host of enemies of one nature or another who could not touch him because of God's protective care. If you haven't recently read this psalm, please do it before continuing to read this article.

To Whom God Is Speaking

It is of the utmost importance to discover to whom God makes such sweeping promises as we find in this psalm. Is it to all, irrespective of their relation to Him? Is it to those who confess their faith in Him but who walk afar off from Him? No, it is clearly stated who can claim this protection: he that dwells in the secret place; he that abides under the shadow of the Almighty. It is definitely a matter of where we are that counts with God, for where we are is the evidence of what we are.

Our position near to His side is our confession to Him and to all men that we are helpless in our own strength, that He is able to protect us, and that we are trusting Him to do so. Furthermore, let it be noted that to dwell and to abide means to settle down and remain in God as our refuge and fortress. It means that we have called upon Him, we know His name, and we have set our love upon Him.

The God in Whom We Can Put Such Confidence

Four names are given to God in this psalm that do not leave us in doubt as to who He is and what He can do. First, He is called the most High. As the "most High" He is recognized as the "possessor of heaven and earth," according to the words of Melchizedek in Genesis 14:19. There came a day when Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, boasted that it was by his power that Babylon had been built. Then God brought this gentile king down to the level of the beasts of the field until he recognized that the "most High" ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will." He who is the possessor of all and rules over all is able to take care of His own.

Second, He is called the Almighty. The Hebrew for this English word is Shaddai, which according to one lexicon means "Shedder-forth, that is, of blessings, temporal and spiritual." Therefore His children can expect that He longs to bestow such care as is found in our psalm.

Third, He is called the Lord or Jehovah. This name in the Old Testament is compounded with other names to show us that the Lord is my provider, my healer, my banner, my peace, my shepherd, my righteousness. Thus in a name we have revealed redemption, deliverance, care, security, etc.

Finally, He is called God. This means the strong One. He is able "to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think" (Eph. 3:20).

The Problem in the Psalm

Is it true that God will protect those who dwell in the secret place from the dangers mentioned in the psalm? If so, what about the great physical calamities that many times come into the lives of His choicest saints? What about Allen Bennett's death by flu when as a young man he was ready to start his missionary career in French Equatorial Africa? What about those consecrated young men of God who went into the service of their country and have laid down their lives on the battlefield in the very prime of youth?

In much of the Old Testament revelation it appears that God's promises to His people emphasized the blessings of their existence in the land of Israel. Obedience as a people meant prosperity in the land and protection from the enemy, and long life. Then God's Son, Jesus Christ, came. He always lived in full and complete harmony with His Father God. There never was a time when He did not dwell in the secret place of the most High. In that place of refuge His archenemy Satan and Satan-inspired men tried to reach Him but without avail until His hour had come to accomplish the work for which He had come into the world. Then in early life His enemies took Him captive, tortured Him, and crucified Him. His work in behalf of a lost world accomplished, He ascended back to His Father.

In this dispensation of grace, God is calling out a people from the world. Such are told that they are but pilgrims and strangers here. Heaven is their home. Their time spent here is only the preparation for their heavenly existence. They are not promised ease and prosperity, but afflictions and sufferings. Their Lord and Master said, "If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you" (John 15:20). While here, we who have been born into the kingdom of God by the work of Jesus Christ on the cross are commissioned to be ambassadors in this foreign land.

The ambassador for a country always has the promise of the protection of that country back of him while serving in that capacity. God will keep His own spiritual ambassador until his work is done. No enemy can touch him apart from God's will and permission. When the ambassador has completed his work his Lord will call him to his heavenly home and blessed reward. The life of the great Apostle Paul illustrates this great truth. Few men suffered as he, yet God kept him until his work was completed. Then he permitted him to go to heaven by the martyr's pathway that he might receive the martyr's crown along with the other crown rewards.

If we dwell in the secret place, which for us is that life that is fully and completely yielded to the Lord Jesus Christ, we can take the words of the Apostle Paul in II Timothy 4:16 and apply them to our own lives: "Notwithstanding the Lord stood with me, and strengthened me; that by me the preaching might be fully known, and that all the Gentiles might hear [put here our work for Christ even as Paul was called of Christ to a particular work]: and I was delivered out of the mouth of the lion. And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen."

NEW PASTOR INSTALLED AT HARRISBURG, PA.

ATTENTION—CHURCHES AND PASTORS!

There has been a growing feeling in our National Fellowship of Brethren Ministers of the need of a clearing committee whose duty it will be to serve only as a source of information to churches without pastors, and to elders open for pastorates. Such a clearing committee was established by our National Fellowship of Brethren Ministers at our recent sessions at Winona Lake, Ind. The committee for the ensuing year consists of the secretaries of the various district ministeriums, together with the undersigned as the chairman of this clearing committee.

Accordingly, any church desiring a pastor has the privilege to contact this committee, or the secretary of the district ministerium. Likewise, it is the privilege of any elder to contact the secretary of his district ministerium to learn of churches that are seeking pastoral services.

It is not the purpose nor the intention of this committee to make any recommendations. The committee will merely supply a complete list of ministers who are available for pastorates, or to ministers, a complete list of churches seeking pastors. Any minister who is available for pastoral service will not be listed with this committee except at his own request. Likewise, only such churches as apply to the clearing committee will be listed as in need of a pastor.

This is a new venture and it is the desire of your clearing committee to be helpful to all concerned. Address all correspondence to the committee chairman, Rev. Ord Gehman, Berne, Ind.

ADVENTURE

WITH UNCLE PAUL IN THE ROCKIES

Harold and George packed up their old Chevrolet car with a tent, camp cots, oil stove, groceries, vacation Bible school material, and Bibles as they prepared to go into the far spiritually unreached lumber camps of North Park, Colorado, to teach vacation Bible school classes.

It's Uncle Paul's job to check with each group of workers before they leave, for this was the first trip for Harold and George into the "back" country. "Well, boys, let's check over your equipment to see that you haven't forgotten anything," I said. "How much bedding do you have?" Whereupon I nearly unloaded their car in my earnest quest to find the answer to my question. The answer reached in my own mind, I suggested, "You fellows had better take plenty of bedding because the nights get plenty cold up there at North Park." The fact is that there is seldom a week that is frost-free. "I think we are all fixed, Uncle Paul," retorted George, "for we also have our sleeping bags." Did you ever sleep in a bag with a mummy liner? Needless to say you can really keep warm in the coldest weather in one.

The equipment fully checked and approved, the three of us paused beside the old Chevy, and with bowed heads we prayed, asking God to bless the boys as they started out on a hard journey. In a few minutes they disappeared down the road and around the corner as they headed for Fort Collins up there over Cameron Pass, and on to Bockman Camp in the North Park region. I prayed again as they drove out of sight, for

I knew that road to the west of Fort Collins was a long, rough, winding road that was treacherous. But beyond, the boys would find that secluded lumber camp, hid away in a forest of the high Rockies, 37 miles from the county seat at Jackson.

Some weeks later I headed for Camp Id-Ra-Ha-Je (which means "I'd - Rather - Have - Jesus") for a summer camp program. During the day, as I carried on the usual work of setting up for the opening of camp, I heard a noise that sounded mighty familiar. I stood beneath a mighty giant of the forest and listened intently to what I thought was—and it was—Harold and George and their faithful Chevy. The dust curled up behind them as they completed their trip of 180 miles from North Park and came to a stop in Camp Id-Ra-Ha-Je.

"Hi, Uncle Paul," cried Harold, which was echoed by George. Greetings were exchanged, and then I saw something move in the midst of their "baggage department." While I was alarmed, and stared in a cautious manner into the rear of the car, George's face took on a half grin, and Harold chirped, "Got a surprise for you, Uncle Paul." "Surprise?" I asked. "Yep," said Harold as he pivoted toward the Chevy and cried, "Come on out, Rex!" "Rex?" I countered. "Who is Rex? Where did you get him?" "We'll tell you later," whispered George. Formally, or informally, the fellows introduced me to Rex. First impressions are lasting ones, and my first impression of Rex was favorable. A young lad about 13 years old, hair well-combed and clothes clean, although pretty well wrinkled, climbed out of the car. He looked as though his ride in the "baggage department" had been pretty hard on any former creases.

After a few "get-acquainted" words, Harold was off to the car to start unloading the equipment in preparation for a great week at summer camp, and behind him went Rex. "Tell me, George," I whispered, "where did you get the boy?" At this George and I turned and walked on down the hill toward the mess hall, and George said, "Uncle Paul, you asked about Rex. When we finished our vacation Bible school at Bockman Camp, we went on through the North Park area holding schools wherever the opportunity opened. Well, we ended up at Willow Creek Pass, where the Lord provided us with a mountain cabin in which to stay while we conducted our Bible school. Uncle Paul, it was wonderful! I never ate so many mountain trout in my life.

"It was beautiful, too," he continued, "for not far from our cabin a mountain stream flowed lazily down to the valley. And we had a wonderful Bible school there, too, and though we only had a very crude mountain building for a classroom, the Lord sent us 39 boys and girls who knew little or nothing about Jesus and His death on the cross of Calvary for their sin. While in that school, Harold and I just took to Rex. That kid is real! He took his stand for the Lord during our Bible school, and when we told him we were coming to Camp Id-Ra-Ha-Je this week, he begged to come along. It's O. K., isn't it, Uncle Paul?"

"Yes, siree!" I answered, "but tell me, did you have a good trip down from Willow Creek?" "Oh, sure," George answered, "we were only delayed about half a day." "Half a day?" I asked; "how come?" "Well, Uncle Paul," we weren't going to say anything, but we had to stop for Rex. You see, sanitary conditions are not too good at Willow Creek, and Rex was pretty dirty. We knew he would never meet the standards of Camp Id-Ra-Ha-Je, so we stopped up in the mountains, along a nice mountain stream. We undressed Rex and scrubbed him; then we washed his clothes, hung them up to dry, and then proceeded on to camp. Uncle Paul, we knew he was clean inside, for he had accepted the Lord Jesus as his Saviour. By scrubbing him on the outside, we knew he would make a good camper and a blessing to the other campers.

When the 10 days of camp had ended, and the campers started for home, Rex came up to me to say goodbye. His shining face revealed how much he had enjoyed camp, as well as the love for Christ that was in his heart. Rex went back to Willow Creek, but I agree with George and Harold, "That kid is real."—Paul Eiselstein.

sins forgiven through faith in Christ, the only Saviour of the world. To this task we do now pledge our most loyal support until the Lord comes and shadows flee away; and this we do in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen!"

After the removing of the stone by the trustees, the vault was opened and the enclosed articles were displayed. It was found by actual count that the box contained in excess of 20 items, the most important of which were: rosters of the 1924 Sunday school, of donors for the present edifice, of the charter membership; a brief history of the church covering the years of 1910-24; pictures of the old building and of the pastor of 1924, Dr. E. M. Cobb; a copy of the constitution, and the old Bible of the first pastor, Dr. Martin Shively, now deceased.

The ceremony was attended by many former members, the regular attendants currently including four charter members of the church, namely, Clarence and Hazel Shively (nephew and niece of Dr. Martin Shively), Mr. Ray Runyon, and his sister, Mrs. Edith Minyard.

The contents of the box, with the cornerstone, will be moved and placed in the new building, where the Second Brethren Church will continue as the Norwalk Brethren Church. Brethren, pray that the Lord's will shall be done in this move. In view of His soon coming.—Henry G. Rempel, pastor.

PASTORS—SUNDAY-SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS—TEACHERS

The Brethren Missionary Herald Company desires to provide for our churches and Sunday schools the best service possible. Such service is only possible as we have the full cooperation of our churches.

Beginning this quarter, as churches are billed for their previous order, each one will receive the order blank for the January-March quarter of 1954.

WILL THE PROPER OFFICER OF EACH CHURCH SEE THAT THIS ORDER BLANK IS FILLED OUT AND RETURNED AT ONCE! We would like all these orders to be in by October 30, or before. Such cooperation will assure you faster and more efficient service from your company. Thank you.

In Memoriam

Names appear in this column only when sent in by pastor.

JOHN R. MYERS, member of the Pleasant Grove Brethren Church, North English, Iowa, passed away suddenly at his home, Wednesday, September 16, at 5 p. m. The funeral was conducted by Pastor Clarence H. Lackey. John Myers was a brother of Miss Estella Myers, missionary to Africa.

CONARD PIEPER, 15, departed from this life on September 2, 1953, the result of polio. A Conard Pieper Memorial Fund has been opened by friends and relatives of the deceased, this memorial to be used in the erection of the new chapel at the First Brethren Church of South Gate, Calif.—Alfred Dodds, pastor.

WILLIAM S. WINELAND was promoted to be with the Lord, Wednesday, August 2, at the age of 79. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Robert Crees, pastor of the Leamersville Brethren Church, Duncansville, Pa., assisted by Rev. Clair Gartland, pastor of Pike Brethren Church, Conemaugh, Pa.

Pasadena, Calif. Rev. Norman Nelson, pastor of the First Brethren Church of Compton, Calif., and William Carle, former opera singer, gave a concert at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium September 14.

A PICTURE

"Here's Grandpa! He's not dead now."

Fresh from the grief of saying a last goodbye to her beloved daddy, Mother turned startled attention to the voice of her four-year-old daughter. Whatever does she mean? Seated on the floor, Althea was rummaging through some of the children's treasures which Mother terms "junk." In this collection was a picture of Grandpa. To the little girl's way of thinking that picture meant Grandpa was alive.

After regaining her composure, Mother took a precious girlie in her arms and said, "You're right, dear. Grandpa is not dead. He has just vacated his house of clay to take up his abode with God his Father."

"Will he come to see us?"

"No, Grandpa will never again come to see us on earth, honey. When Jesus takes us to heaven we'll see him. Won't that be wonderful? Oh, happy day!"

"Grandpa is on this picture and he will come." Althea would not give him up.

Grandpa's wife and daughter had given him up in vivid reality. Death was real to them and they sorrowed. No more those rare visits to his daughter's home. How we'll miss that pretty white hair and the twinkle in those blue, blue eyes. No more will we see him hold the baby and kiss the back of her little neck. No longer will his voice be heard in little children's talk urging them to be careful with the trivial gifts for them which meant so much because they were from Grandpa and Grandma. Never again will the older boys have this grandpa ask them of their plans, wag his head at their amazing growth, and talk to them in almost grown-up language. Nor will the children's daddy hear him ask amazingly, "How do you ever feed them?" —to which Daddy always replied, "We don't do it. The Lord makes the money stretch while we use our heads."

(For the sake of our many readers of "Under the Parsonage Roof," we thought it would be of interest to picture the fine family that lives under that roof.—Editor.)

Death is very real, and we sorrow. But we sorrow NOT as those who have no hope. "But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him" (I Thess. 4:13-14). Praise God for the hope of being with Him and reunited with our loved ones in the glory one day.

"Grandpa is on this picture and he will come." Because of a picture, a likeness of a loved one, little Althea was confident Grandpa was alive. Mother couldn't but wonder if the picture she shows to others is a true likeness of Christ. Does her testimony convince others that He is vitally alive and "able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them" (Heb. 7:25)? Jesus Christ not only arose from the dead and lives today making intercession, but He is very real and alive in Mother's heart.

May it be that all who have named His name as Saviour will present a clear, undistorted picture of their living Lord.

"You are writing a gospel, a chapter each day,
By deeds that you do, by words that you say.
Men read what you write, whether faithless or true.
Say, what is the gospel according to you?"

Ground-Breaking at Washington Heights (Roanoke), Va., on September 6, 1953

Washington Heights (Roanoke) Brethren Break Ground

By W. Carl Miller

The deep joy that filled the hearts of us all at this blessed occasion was truly uplifting beyond expression. Though at times it seemed our ground-breaking was delayed, we know the Lord is never too early or too late. May we also say that we know this new work in the northwest section of Roanoke is largely the result of earnest prayers and faithful efforts of a few members formerly of Ghent who have lived in this part of the city for many years.

Sunday, September 6, was an uncertain day in regard to the weather. In fact, just as several of the men were ready to transport the chairs and benches from our present meeting place to the lots for the 3-o'clock service, it looked as though it would pour rain at any moment. However, we were reminded again to trust the Lord to hold back the rain. How could a service of this kind be held inside, away from the lots, and be at all effective! It not only pleased the Lord to hold back the the Lord, assuring us of their continued prayer and financial support.

Among the other ministers who spoke words of admonition were Rev. George Donahue and Rev. Archie Lynn. Brother Donahue, who is a retired pioneer minister of the Southeast District, helped us when he said, "You must build on your knees, ever remembering the wiles of your great adversary, the Devil." Illustrated to us by Brother Lynn was the need, above everything else, to give ourselves anew to the Lord even above our money, reminding us that a church is effective only to the extent that each and every member enters into his personal responsibility for cooperation in reaching the lost. The vice moderator then presented the shovel to the pastor for the first shovelful of ground. The building committee, comprised of B. H. Conner, O. R. Keith, and John Wright, each had their turn with the shovel. After the benedictory prayer offered by Brother Conner, the pastor announced the beginning of construction upon the soon arrival of the Brethren Construction Company from Dayton, Ohio.

Despite its being so small, the present rented house in which we are meeting has been serving quite well because of its natural divisions for Sunday-school classrooms, but we need more room immediately for Sunday-school expansion. Our Intermediate Class has been meeting at the home of one of our members for almost a year. The temporary answer to this urgent need has been realized by way of this member's opening up his whole house for Sunday-school use.

At the time this is being written (September 23), the excavation for the basement has been completed. May we ask for your continued prayers for the building program, especially that we may be able to get sufficient loans to complete the building without any delay. Above all, we plead your prayers with us for souls in this community as we await the completion of the new building for the Washington Heights Brethren Church.

rain, but also to grant a gathering of at least 150 people. We were indeed greatly encouraged by the pastors with their delegations from our churches at Clearbrook, Covington, Ghent, Hollins, and Radford. Some of the churches in our district were not represented because of the distance and time factors, but all expressed their desire to attend had it been possible.

The pastor opened the service as he led in the singing of the grand old hymn of the faith, "How Firm a Foundation." After the reading of the third chapter of I Corinthians by Rev. Robert E. Miller, pastor of the Ghent Brethren Church, Rev. Paul Mohler, of Covington, led in prayer. Bro. Alva Conner, our building committee chairman's son, played on his cornet one stanza of the missionary hymn, "Send the Light," in the minor key and then another in the major key as a testimony to the blessed harmony Jesus Christ alone can bring to hearts, homes, and communities that give Him His rightful place as Saviour and Lord. A brief message of challenge and inspiration from God's Word was delivered by Rev. William Howard, pastor of the Clearbrook Brethren Church. All of the visiting ministers of the district were given an opportunity to speak a few words. The president of our district mission board, Rev. K. E. Richardson, of Radford, spoke first, with comforting thoughts as we entered into this building program for

Come Over and Help Us!

This Macedonian call is heard over and over again in Brethren home missions. Letters coming to our office from isolated Brethren all over the nation are saying, "Come and help us establish a Brethren church." Many of God's people, refusing to compromise with modernistic denominational programs, are gathering themselves into groups and requesting organization of a Brethren church. Such opportunities are coming to us in a flood.

One dear Brethren woman says, "The Lord and I have $3,000 to put into a church here when we can have one." She is starved for Brethren fellowship. A Brethren layman has written, "We should get a Bible class under way in this city immediately, else we will lose our opportunity." In another city where a Bible class has been started, but we have no pastor or location for a church, the leader of the group says, "There is something we can do even though we do not have a leader or a regular pastor. We have $182 on hand and this could be used in a radio broadcast to bring our class before the people." Another writes, "About 50 members have withdrawn from a church. There is no fundamental church here and folks are driving miles in all directions seeking something spiritual. This ought to be followed up at once."

This is what is happening all over our nation. What a challenge to all of us!

Unprecedented Growth Possible

No limits—would describe the possibilities before Brethren home missions NOW! If our churches can see the white harvest field NOW and pray and give NOW many, and perhaps all, of these wonderful opportunities may be grasped for Christ. Never in the history of the Brethren movement has there been such possibilities for growth. We want to see the scope of our testimony for Christ greatly increased. NOW IS THE TIME to plunge into the breach for Christ!

Brethren Construction Company Building New Churches

Brethren men are building Brethren churches! With Tom Bailey as superintendent, the Brethren Construction Company has just completed its first project in Dayton, Ohio. Many thousands of dollars were saved in the construction of this building by using our own men on the job. Five men and their families now form a fine corps of workers in our first Brethren construction crew. We hope to amplify this with several more such crews operating all over the nation in new church construction. As far as we know this is something new in denominational church expansion.

Washington Heights Next on the List

The Brethren Construction Company has now moved from Dayton with all its equipment to Roanoke, Va., where a new Brethren church building is under construction in the Washington Heights area. Here we have a fine group of Brethren who have been meeting in a house for months awaiting the time when they might have a new church building. In the meantime they have built up a sizeable building fund.

Just as ministers and foreign missionaries have received a direct call to this specific service for the Lord,

The three men shown here, Mr. Vernon Latham, Mr. Paul Circle, and Mr. Thomas Bailey, represent the first families to form the company, and they will be joined by Mr. Don Sellers, and Mr. Ed Rife, with their families, at Roanoke, Va. All five families are members of the Sidney (Ind.) Brethren Church. The lower picture is the equipment trailer.

so have our construction men and their families all felt definitely called by the Holy Spirit into this special work for our Brethren Church. They have sold their property, made many sacrifices, and then in addition have invested some of their own material means in the building of new Brethren churches. We believe that this call from the Lord and its response are as important and far-reaching in their effects as any other. We MUST

Training Communist Preachers

There has been much talk and writing about communism among the clergy, and not without foundation. Some statements have been extreme and grossly exaggerated, but others have squarely presented the truth.

An excerpt appeared in the Sunday School Times recently taken from the American Mercury's article on "Reds in Our Churches." The opinion of the writer seemed to be that at least some preachers under Communist influence were rather dupes than actual Communists. However, this article pointed out one exception as being the People's Institute of Applied Religion, with headquarters in Helena, Ala. Its director, Claude C. Williams, is a notorious Communist and confessed Unitarian, besides being professionally a Presbyterian minister.

This organization purposes to extend Communist teaching to ministers in southern rural communities. In a letter from Mr. Williams to one of his assistants regarding a conference to be held in the Episcopal cathedral at St. Louis, he requests him to have "at least 10 hillbilly, honest-to-God Bible preachers" at the conference, and promised to pay their expenses. He also added that he was certain he could get his correspondent on the payroll.

It is extremely edifying to note that this payroll is none other than that of the Home Missions Council, the division of home missions of the National Council of Churches. So, those who support the National Council of Churches are supporting the training of preachers in Communist ways and doctrines.

"SAY NOT .....TOMORROW
I WILL GIVE....WHEN THOU HAST IT BY THEE TODAY" Prov.3:28

This is a subtle, Satanic scheme, and will have its effect among some ministers who are not well-grounded in the faith. However, the most serious infiltration of communism into the ranks of the so-called Christian ministry is through modernistic and infidelic seminaries and schools of higher learning. This situation should be exposed and measures taken immediately to stop such activities.

PLEASE, PLEASE, do not confuse the Home Missions Council of the National Council of Churches with the Brethren Home Missions Council, the home-mission division of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches. We assure you that they are widely different in their purposes, aims, and activities!

Perhaps we should change our name.

Testimonies by Brethren Home Mission Pastors and People

JESUS SAVES A BRICKLAYER

By David R. Garner

[Pastor's Note: This young man and his wife have both been baptized and added to the membership of our church. They are very faithful and are devoted to the Lord and to His church here in this city. Many folk could hardly believe it when David Garner started attending church. He was thought of as one of those individuals too hard for the Lord to save. In just about four Sundays he stepped out for Christ, and has been faithful ever since. This young man has a fine personality and leadership ability. Being a former high-school football star, he is a blessing to other young men in our church. I believe God has a future for this fine Christian young man.—Kenneth L. Teague, Alexandria, Va.]

It was in February 1953 in the Commonwealth Avenue Brethren Church, Alexandria, Va., while I was listening to Rev. Kenneth Teague delivering the wonderful Word of God that I realized my life was full of sin. It was then that I accepted the Lord as my personal Saviour, and surrendered my life fully to Him.

I didn't come from a Christian family and I wasn't sent to church every Sunday like some children. I didn't know much about the Word of God, and I didn't realize that I was living in sin, and what it would mean at the coming of our Lord. I wasn't saved and, therefore, I grew up to be just another "wild young fellow" who didn't have time for things of the Lord.

I am a bricklayer by trade, and found it hard at the beginning of my Christian life. The men mocked and laughed at the idea of me going to church and living and working for the Lord. However, I tried to be a testimony for my Lord even though sometimes you find yourself tempted by things of the past. But I know that by prayer and a strong faith in my Lord that I will continue to love my Saviour more each day.

I am now married and have three little boys. I know that to be a good father and a good child of God, I must be a good example for my children, relatives, and friends.

It is wonderful to know that not just the rich and important people can be saved, but that the poor and less important people can also be saved, by believing in the Lord.

Now I am looking for His soon coming to end the reign of the enemy of peace, who is now ruling this world.

and lose his own soul?" (Mark 8:36). But Jesus also placed a high value upon the LIFE of the believer.

Jesus said, "Follow me." This is for believers. Lost, blinded souls who are "dead in trespasses and sins" cannot follow Jesus. Hear what Jesus said to His disciples one day: "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me" (Luke 9:23). From within the membership of this home-mission church God has found young people who have turned their backs upon the world to "follow" Jesus. Let me name the four precious lives that are now in Christian schools preparing for full-time service of the Lord Jesus Christ.

GILBERT HAWKINS has graduated from Multnomah School of the Bible in Portland, Oreg. While in Portland he preached for the newly organized Brethren church in that city. He is now a middler in Grace Seminary. For the past two years Gilbert has held summer pastorates in the Brethren church at Beaver City, Nebr.

LEROY HAWKINS (Gilbert's younger brother) has also graduated from Multnomah School of the Bible. He then attended Westmont College for one year and transferred to the college division of Grace Seminary, where he is now in his third year. Leroy is the soloist on the Gospel Truth radio program.

BILL HOFF graduated from high school last spring and has just begun his first year at Grace College. Bill is a promising prospect for a fruitful life of service for Christ.

JACQUELINE FISHER (better known in Albany as "Jackie") also graduated from high school last spring. She has entered Bible school at Multnomah School of the Bible. Jackie's ability to play the piano and violin adds to her usefulness in serving her Saviour.

But before a life can be given to Christ, the soul must be reconciled to God in salvation. Some have been saved. The following is the testimony of one mother who, along with her daughter, accepted Christ a few months ago.

A MOTHER'S TESTIMONY

"I am writing this, thanking and praising the Lord I am saved. My young daughter and I were saved last March. I had gone to church and Sunday school as a child, but it wasn't until this year that I really accepted the Lord as my own Saviour and knew that I was saved.

"My prayers now are that soon my husband and young son will also be saved. Please pray for us."—Mrs. Maxine Harlan.

TO SAVE A SOUL AND A LIFE

By Glen Welborn

For a church to be used of God to bring a lost soul out of spiritual darkness into the "light of the glorious gospel of Christ" is not enough. To be sure, a soul saved from eternal hell is value immeasurable. "For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world,

PHOENIX FIRST BRETHREN LAY CORNERSTONE

Top—The congregation of nearly 100 gathered to witness the cornerstone service. Center—Mrs. Minnie Niswonger and Mr. Stanley L. Beam placing the last brick, with Mr. Nicholas Zoah and Mr. Don Strain observing. Bottom—Pastor J. C. McKillen, Mr. Stanley L. Beam, and Mr. George Brainard on the left, with Mr. Nicholas Zoah, Mr. Don Strain, Mr. William Wilhide, and Rev. Robert Betz in the background on the right.

She was almost affectionate to that big pumice brick as she smoothed, patted, troweled, and coaxed it into place. It had to be just right, and as she maneuvered it, Mrs. Minnie Niswonger, "first member" of the First Brethren Church of Phoenix, seemed as self-conscious as if everyone in the neighborhood was watching her. And they were.

This was the last brick of the new church building God is permitting us to watch go up here at Phoenix, Ariz.—thanks to the gifts and loans of the Brethren folk everywhere—and Mrs. Niswonger knew that she was being watched by every eye in the big crowd behind her, and was grateful for the kindly help of Masonry Contractor Frank Wagner, Jr., and Vice Moderator Stanley L. Beam. At last it was in its exact spot, and she turned with a glance of triumph, not because she had done it, but because at last it had been done, by the grace of God.

Earlier that afternoon they had sat with joyful faces as the program unfolded: Rev. Robert Betz, of the North Riverdale church, Dayton, Ohio, invoked God's blessing on the occasion; Mr. and Mrs. James H. Fulton led us in "How Firm a Foundation," and then he sang "God Leads

THE LATEST NEWS FROM PHOENIX

Dedication day for the new First Brethren Church of Phoenix has been set for November 1, 1953, at 3 p. m. Rev. George O. Peek, pastor of the Second Brethren Church of Long Beach, is to be the speaker, and will remain for special meetings on the following Monday and Tuesday.

Rev. J. C. "Bill" McKillen writes, "The contractor assures us that we can move in Sunday, October 24—are we rejoicing?" Eighty-two in Sunday school last Sunday was too many for the parsonage.

His Dear Children Along," right after the responsive reading of I Peter 1:25 to 2:10.

Rev. LeRoy D. Thomas, pastor of Palmcroft Baptist Church, a good friend of our Dr. McClain, and president of the Phoenix Evangelical Ministers' Association, brought us the message from Exodus 3, speaking of God's choosing of a land and a people for His praises. When he finished, every member knew that we had been privileged to take our stand upon "holy ground," and that we "do not stand alone."

Introductions and testimonies included Mrs. A. T. Sobey, who with her husband, now in glory, had home-steaded this ground 40 years before. The designer of the building, Ralph E. Parachek, spoke briefly; then came the genial contractor, Howard D. White, under whose energetic supervision the building is rising so swiftly. Greetings from the secretary of the Evangelical Ministers' Association, Rev. Clarence Gerig, of First Missionary Church, were suddenly turned by him into an impromptu introduction of the building committee: Richard L. Riggs, structural advisor, and Trustees Stanley L. Beam, Nicholas Zoahrt, Lester M. Wilhide, George Brainard, and Donald Strain. After sizing up these men, Brother Gerig decided they looked competent to "lift" a good offering, and then "painlessly" extracted the same from the good-natured audience.

After this, Pastor Bill McKillen presented to Vice Moderator Beam the following articles to be placed in the cornerstone: a new Bible, King James Version; the pamphlets, "History of the Brethren Church," "We Believe," and "Touchstones or Trinkets"; the Brethren Missionary Herald, June 20, 1953, showing and describing the groundbreaking; the newspaper, Arizona Republic, September 23, 1953, with its announcement of the cornerstone program; the roster of the members of this church; the Brethren Minute-Man letter, with its cry of "Help" for Phoenix to which so many of you have so wonderfully responded; the telegram received from the Spanish-American Brethren folk in New Mexico; the first announcements about the work starting at Phoenix in 1953; the $100 canceled check which was given as down payment on the property; the program of the day; and last, but not least in our sight, a dear letter written by Bro. Earl Schrock of the La Verne, Calif., church a few hours prior to his loosing away upward into the presence of his Lord. He and his wife have been prayer warriors for this work since its beginning. He knew that July 15 was our first annual meeting, with several knotty problems, and he had been praying for us much that day. Our meeting ended in wonderful harmony at 10 p. m., and at 10:10 p. m. Earl had gone to be with our Saviour.

After the documents and mementos had been locked into the metal box, all present adjourned from the shady interior of our partly finished building to the bright sunshine near the entrance pillar. Here we faced the spot left vacant for the occasion. The building committee, led by Vice Moderator Beam, quickly placed the metal box in position and then the beautiful stone, with its inscription, was mortared into place. It reads just like Grace Seminary's cornerstone: "To our Lord Jesus Christ in whom we have redemption through His blood according to the riches of His Grace." Then the last brick was put in place by Mrs. Niswonger. Rev. E. C. Eymann, dean of Arizona Bible Institute, pronounced the benediction, and the crowd with a great deal of hand-shaking and fellowship slowly melted away.

This was our cornerstone laying. But, as Brother Thomas so forcibly reminded us, there must be a cornerstone laying in our hearts—each of our hearts—and sometimes, even with our own personal cornerstone in place, we too have one last brick that needs setting. So we ask your prayers that not one of us here at Phoenix will be one bit less self-exacting than was our Sister Niswonger as she placed that last brick.

WHEAT OF ANOTHER KIND

By C. S. Zimmerman

ARTESIA, CALIF. (Adam H. Rager, pastor)—

Last Sunday was rally day. The Lord gave us 196 in Sunday school and 77 in the worship service. There was one decision for rededication and church membership. Next Sunday several are planning to be baptized. We must make more room for our growing Sunday school.

BEAUMONT, CALIF. (Gene Farrell, pastor)—

We praise the Lord for continued victory in our building program. We also praise Him for giving victory over sin in recent decisions. Yesterday morning saw two young mothers and two young people finding their way to the altar in confession of Christ as Saviour. On the previous Sunday a junior-high boy and a mother accepted Christ. Five young people from our church are now in training for His service, and it is our desire to have a Christian day school at the earliest possible date, so that more young people might be directed to Christian schools and colleges.

CLEVELAND, OHIO (Russell M. Ward, pastor)—

Praise the Lord for some wonderful victories over the week end. When the invitation was given Sunday morning a man was the first to walk down the aisle. His wife had made a confession on the previous Friday. An entire family for whom we had been praying followed, and following them two more ladies came, making a total of seven decisions in this one service. A baptismal service was held in the afternoon, at which time another public confession was made, and four were baptized. The Lord has answered prayer in a way we never thought possible.

MODESTO, CALIF. (Harold D. Painter, pastor)—

Sunday, October 18, 1953, has been set as homecoming day at the La Loma Grace Brethren Church. This will mark the close of a Sunday-school contest with the First Brethren Church of Tracy, Calif. A special program is planned with a special speaker. On this day every member, including missionaries who will be unable to attend, is requested to send a greeting.

CLAYHOLE, KY. (Sewell S. Landrum, missionary)—

We are getting ready for six weeks of real work here at Clayhole. Rev. Bob Ashman will be with us for two weeks, after which we will be working hard on the Sunday-school contest. Last year we finished in fourth place, but this year we are going to try for the No. 1 position. A plane has been secured and flying saucers will be seen over the Clayhole area announcing the contest.

After our Lord Jesus Christ had met and won the Samaritan woman who came to draw water from Jacob's well, she went back into the city to tell the good news to those who lived there. The disciples returned from their marketing trip in the meantime. He said to these men, "Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest" (John 4:35).

This field spoken of referred not to the standing wheat crop just across the path but to the people coming out of the Samaritan village to meet our Lord at the well. Many times our Lord referred to people as a crop, and the ripened grain was used as a symbol to show us the urgency of gathering in the precious grain ere it was too late.

Many of us at one time or another have lived on the farm, and have had the privilege and duty of harvesting the farm crops, among which was the wheat. Some farmers in days gone by harvested the wheat by means of a binder, which was followed by those who shocked the wheat for curing. When the wheat was cured the farmer called in the neighbors to thresh the wheat. They came with their teams and wagons and hauled the wheat from the field to the threshing machine. Thus the crop was harvested and the grain stored for protection from the weather until it was sold in the market place.

It was my privilege to go into a field a number of years ago to help the neighbor thresh the wheat that had grown in that field. That field has now long since ceased to be farm land, but has been subdivided for housing, and is almost entirely built up at this time. Among the lots laid out in this field are the three lots owned by the Patterson Park Brethren Church. On these lots the congregation has built the first unit of their building for our Lord to be used in the evangelization of this new community.

This church was organized May 31, 1950, but before its organization the group called me as their pastor. When coming to Dayton, I was shown the lots, a location of beauty, and well centered in a community built up on all sides. To my astonishment these lots were the very part of the field out of which we had hauled wheat a few years before to the threshing machine. Now we are here to help in the harvest of another kind of "wheat."

God works in many ways His wonders to perform. The lots where the church is now located were among the first to be laid out, and have remained vacant all these years, no one apparently wanting them. God wanted a church there from which location a vast field could be harvested. We have just begun. Our first unit of our planned building is now dedicated, and we are ready to go into the field to "haul" the "precious grain" to the "granary."

Harvest time on the farm was indeed a time of responsibility. If the grain were not cut at the proper time, and then threshed at the proper time much loss would be sustained, but the harvest of souls is a much greater responsibility. They slip off into eternity one by one every day of our lives. Some have heard the Word

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED IN DAYTON, OHIO

The Brethren Home Missions Council is happy to present a new Brethren church in Dayton, Ohio. On September 27, more than 200 people from all sections of the city and the surrounding area packed the new auditorium for a blessed dedication service. The first unit of a much larger church plant is a fine illustration of Sunday-school-unit building with future expansion in mind.

As we praise God for this opportunity to present another new Brethren church building to our many home-mission friends we also congratulate the hard-working and received it with joy, some have rejected it, some have not heard. It is our responsibility to care for this crop of souls with a diligence that sets all other things aside.

It may be that no one else will have the privilege of harvesting two kinds of wheat from the same field, but one thing is certain—that all of us have an opportunity to harvest from the field that is the world. Let us use the greatest care and diligence in this, and labor long and late in the field, for it indeed is white to harvest.

We request the continued prayers of our Brethren across the land that we here in Patterson Park will be diligent in this harvest, and bring many precious "sheaves" to our Lord.

HOW "CHRISTIAN" IS AMERICA?

America is called a "Christian" land, yet there are 10,000 villages that have no religious services of any kind, and 30,000 villages that have no resident pastor. According to Evangelism, there are 60,000 closed rural churches in America. Two out of every three children in America are not in Sunday school.—Selected.

THAT QUESTIONABLE PLEASURE

Eight Practical Tests

1. Will you see any harm in it on a dying bed?
2. Would you like Christ to catch you in the act?—Luke 12:37.
3. Do the best Christians you know see any harm in it?—Hebrews 5:14.
4. Is it consistent with your profession that by the cross of Christ the world is crucified unto you and you unto the world?—Galatians 6:14.
5. Can you commune with God after it as freely as before?—I John 1:7.
6. Can you look up to God for a blessing in the midst of it?—Romans 14:23.
7. Is it lawful, is it becoming, is it profitable?—I Corinthians 10:30, 33.
8. Are you WILLING to see any harm in it?—John 7:17.—Exchange.

Calvary calls all sinners, cures all sinning, covers all sins. Come to CALVARY!—Selected.

MISSION FIELD IN YOUR LAP

By Donald Walker, Editor of Christian Life Magazine

[Editor's Note: This article should be read by every Christian and particularly every friend of Brethren home missions. It emphasizes the need of the Gospel in the U. S. A., and mentions every field of endeavor where the Brethren Church is working, in addition to some others. We are printing this timely article through the courtesy of Christian Life magazine, as it appeared in the September 1953 issue. The pictures accompanying the story are of our Brethren mission fields.]

Teeming millions in New York City, isolated cattle ranchers on the Oregon Trail, Japanese laborers in Idaho beet fields, Mexicans in Nebraska potato fields, Negroes, Indians, Chinese, Jews—America houses them all, feeds them, clothes them. But frequently missing in America's provision for them is the spiritual message of redemption.

Strangely, the mission field often forgotten is the mission field in America's lap. "There's one cure for that," say home missionaries. "Come out and visit a home-mission field sometime. Stay three days or a couple of weeks. And when you return home, you'll never doubt the vastness nor the whiteness of the harvest."

There isn't a person in America who lives too far from a home-mission field to visit it, they say. It may be five miles to a city rescue mission or 500 miles to a restful vacation at a rural mountain mission.

But one of the largest home-mission fields includes the youth in every American's home town. Actually, 30 million American youth under 21 are never touched with the Gospel. Of course, aroused evangelical groups try to reach them. Youth for Christ, Child Evangelism, Inter-Varsity, Young Life, Rural Bible Crusade, and Youth Gospel Crusade are a few of these.

Some churches squawk. They say some of these movements encroach upon their field of service. True, it is the church's job to reach the youth of its community. Too often, though, the church has failed. Time and time again one of these outside agencies has snatched a skidding youth from the brink of sin's destruction and has rerouted him back into the church.

Inside the church, the Sunday school is the focal point of the youth program. And today slightly more than 15 million youth are members of Sunday schools. Yet Sunday-school leaders realize that the surface has hardly been scratched. The fact that Sunday schools can boost their attendances more than 200 percent during special contests indicates the possibilities.

As the crime rate of youth increases, J. Edgar Hoover's statement becomes more significant. "I am convinced that crime among young people would be negligible if they attended Sunday school regularly during their formative years."

Active Sunday schools today discover that they must branch out to reach youth effectively. Suburban and country areas are growing. Ten thousand villages today are unchurched; 30,000 with no resident pastor.

To plug the gap, such groups as the American Sunday School Union, the American Inland Mission, the American Mission for Opening Closed Churches, and the Rural Home Missionary Association open Sunday schools and churches.

Parts of the rural picture present a specialized problem. Through the Kentucky and Ozark mountains, for example, vacationers miss much of the true mountain flavor by traveling only the main highways. Back up the hollows and out on the ridges where the mountain missionaries labor, the dwellers are totally unreached by Christ, and sometimes almost unmarked by civilization. Here, where intermittent feuding still erupts, both homes and schools are small. Vacant churches are usually plentiful; churches still in use have services only one or twice a month.

In the hills, the schoolhouse is the scene of Sunday-school services and town meetings alike. During the week, schools fling open doors to missionaries for a Bible lesson. Missionaries may visit a score of schools on a regular route over rutted roads.

Although many mountain people are easy to enthuse, the missionary must plant God's Word in their hearts so that enthusiasm will be permanent, not transient.

Similar problems in a different locale are faced by workers among migrants. Agricultural workers in California, Arizona, Texas, and Florida, wandering from crop to crop, picking and harvesting in order to have something to eat, make one-fifth of the yearly salary of a factory worker.

A social outcast, the migrant has become suspicious of all religions. And since he moves from place to place so frequently, gospel workers struggle to gain his confidence. Ignorance and lack of education handicap the effectiveness of the Bible and of gospel literature.

Mission to the Migrants, Missionary Gospel Fellowship, and Mid-Missions are working among them.

Another work in the Southwest is among 4.5 million Spanish-speaking people, most of whom are Mexicans. These people are located in the Southwest because they can work in intense heat and because of extensive field work done by hand there. Much gospel work among Mexicans is now self-supporting, but the Mexican who has left Catholicism is suspicious about giving to churches. Hence this field still presents a big missionary opportunity.

Other neglected Americans are the Indians, 400,000 of whom are located in reservations in 26 States. Near-by a town with several excellent churches often lies a reservation whose dwellers still worship the sun. A Seminole tribe in Florida had not heard the Gospel until 10 years ago, but in five years 300 were saved.

Some Navaho Indians, who inhabit a reservation covering 26,000 square miles of territory in Arizona and New Mexico, have been evangelized. But back in the desert many Navahos have never once heard the name of Jesus.

The American Indian Crusade, the Navaho Gospel Mission, and many denominations as well as smaller independent groups are trying to do this immense task, but Indians are scattered and home folks lack interest. As Wendell Phillips said, "It is the Indian that the peoples of the United States will most dread to meet in the awful day of judgment."

Also largely neglected is the Negro race, U. S. population 15 million. Sunday schools in colored sections of large cities have been rewarding, and a few workers labor faithfully in southern rural sections. Sunday schools, such as launched by students in Chicago and church workers in Kansas City, are reaching thousands weekly, but they are limited by lack of space and lack of teaching personnel.

The most important objects of home missions, however, are God's chosen people, the Jews. With more than 5 million Jews in America and five cities each containing more Jews than Jerusalem itself, the responsibility of evangelical Christians is great. But according to one mission board's estimate, fewer missionaries per million work among the Jewish people than among any other people of the world with the exception of the Moslem.

Personal work among the Jews makes the most effective ministry. Big problems arise from Protestant indifference and Jewish antagonism to the name of Christ.

Also carried on in cities is the ministry of the gospel rescue mission. Symbolized by the Salvation Army, rescue missions bring the Gospel to slum areas and to skid rows of America. The activity of such missions as Chicago's Pacific Garden Mission is made known by the men's lives who found Christ there. In addition to spiritual help, these rescue missions frequently give food, clothing, and lodging as well.

That all this missionary activity needs to be done in our nation indicates the failure of Christians. As Denzel Osburn, home-missions director of Baptists Mid-Missions, stated, "This land of ours has been the recipient of many people from every nation, tribe, and tongue. Had we been as alert to our home-mission responsibility as we should have been, and had our missionary zeal been genuine, we would have met them at the ship with the Gospel."

But we didn't. Consequently the job is immense today. Wherever we look a mission field can be seen. At our doorstep we can find people to be reached with the Gospel. But the big handicap to activity is our indifference.

Evangelist T. W. Wilson stated, "I never was really missionary-minded until I saw a mission field just as it is. And never was my heart more stirred than when I visited a mission station in the Kentucky mountains."

This privilege and responsibility remains for Christians to see the vastness of the home field. It may mean going to an Indian reservation, staying with a Jewish worker, spending your vacation in the Ozarks; but it will be worth it when it grows a missionary vision that lasts a lifetime.

A visit to a home-mission field will reveal 30 million youth not touched by the Gospel, 10,000 villages without churches, rural churches dying 1,000 per year, Indians who have never once heard the name of Jesus, record-breaking crime rates, four million alcoholics.

This is America. What a mission field it is!

YOM KIPPUR, 1953

By Leanore M. Button

As I write these words the Day of Atonement 1953 is over. Yom Kippur—the holiest day of the high holy holidays, the Day of Atonement—is the day when Jewish people the world over fast and pray and ask God to forgive their sins, promising NEVER to sin again. As the first star of evening twinkles forth in the evening sky and they leave the synagogue to break their fast, they HOPE their sins are gone. Ah, foolish people! A people who killed their prophets and rejected their Messiah. What HOPE can they ever have that God will answer their prayers when their hands are filled with blood and their hearts are black with sin—the sin that only their own Messiah, their own Prince of Peace, can wash away?

As the sun melts down behind the purple mountains in the west on the eve of Yom Kippur, Fairfax Avenue, street of book stores, dress shops, grocery stores, and kosher butcher shops, becomes a street of silence. Not a light, not a sound, not a person is in evidence. In almost every Jewish home the candles are lit. Those homes where candles never burn on Sabbath evenings shine

ISAAC DA COSTA—POET LAUREATE

(From The Mediator, April-June 1953)

Isaac Da Costa was a lineal descendant of the famous Jewish hero and martyr, Uriel Acosta. Next to Bilderdijk, he is considered the greatest poet of Holland. Although this son of Israel was an ardent believer in the Messiahship of Jesus, the Jewish Encyclopedia, Vol. IV, p. 291, says of him:

"Da Costa's character, no less than his genius, was respected by his contemporaries. To the end of his life he felt only reverence and love for his former coreligionists, was deeply interested in their past history, and often took their part."

This poem, which we bring here, was originally written in Dutch, and is generally assumed to have been translated into English by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

THE SABBATH

By Isaac Da Costa

On the seventh day reposing, lo! the great Creator stood—
Saw the glorious work accomplished—saw that it was good—

Heaven, Earth, Man, and Beast have being; day and night their courses run.

First Creation—Infant Manhood—earliest Sabbath—it is done!

On the seventh day reposing, Jesus filled His sainted tomb,

From His Spirit's toil retreating while He broke man's fatal doom.

'Twas a new Creation bursting, brighter than the primal one.

'Twas Fulfillment—Reconcilement; 'tis Redemption—it is done!

brightly now through the gathering gloom. People examine themselves and eat their last meal for 24 hours. Then new clothes are put on and the families who can afford to do so troop to the synagogue, where seats range anywhere from $5 to $150.

What do they think about—these people who are called "God's chosen ones," even though set aside for a time? Is it honest repentance in their hearts? Is it forgiveness for sin they seek from Him? Do some of them think of the many charities they support? In an editorial in the B'nai B'rith Messenger the editor seems to think so. He says that too many Jewish people in America come to the synagogue on Yom Kippur with only one prayer—Yizkor—the memorial service for dead parents whom one is obligated to remember.

In the same issue, Dr. Abraham Elman, in commenting upon Yom Kippur in relation to Leviticus 16:6 ("And Aaron shall offer his bullock of the sin-offering, which is for himself, and make an atonement for himself, and for his house"), says that the rabbis interpreted "his house" to mean Aaron's wife and that when the high priest confessed his sin and begged forgiveness of God for them, ancient Israel realized this to the extent that the high priest was not allowed to take charge of the service unless his wife was living. No mention of the sin offering, but just Aaron's wife. Is this the message of Israel for Yom Kippur?

Poor, blind ones. Is it any wonder they cannot see today God's hand in their lives when all through their history they have refused to SEE God's marvelous works in their behalf? God's own chosen ones whom He led so carefully through the waters of the Red Sea and to whom He revealed the most wonderful works of His power; God's own chosen ones who were led by the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night; God's own chosen ones who grumbled so much at this very time that Moses told the people to stand still and SEE the salvation of the Lord—that the Lord would fight for them. But did they? Ah, no! The people grumbled and God sent them the manna, but they tired of it, so He gave them quails. And even though they promised never to forget how their God delivered them from Egypt, still they danced naked around the golden calf, and when Moses asked Aaron why this thing happened, Aaron answered, in effect, "I was just minding my own business, when suddenly out of the fire walked this golden calf."

God's own chosen ones couldn't even SEE long enough for Moses to bring them the tablets of stone but worshiped the calf as the one who REALLY brought them out of the land of Egypt.

Is it any wonder God's own chosen ones today cannot SEE they need Him? Or that, as they happily go through life buying and selling and giving in marriage, swift doom is approaching?

But some have been able to SEE because God is dealing with the Jew today individually. The time is getting dreadfully short. Are we doing our best in these last days? Are we trying to let the glorious Gospel of sal-

Here are two home missionaries that few people see and probably most of you do not know. On your left is Miss Helen Shaffer, the office secretary, and on your right, Miss Louise Blankenship, the bookkeeper. These girls are busy every day doing a real service for the Lord and Brethren Home Missions. At this season of the year they are busier than on an ordinary busy day. In the foreground of the picture is a shipment of home-mission bulletins that have been prepared for shipment to Brethren pastors across the nation. Several such shipments of bulletins, along with other materials, are sent out that you might be more fully informed about the great need in Brethren home missions. Of course, this is only one of a multitude of tasks these girls perform during the year.

TOO GOOD TO KEEP

In a wealthy residential section of Richmond, some new owners complained that the singing of a small Christian church nearby disturbed them. A petition to be presented to the city council was circulated.

The solicitors brought it for signing to a Jewish resident. He read it and said, "Gentlemen, I cannot sign it. If I believed as do these Christians, that my Messiah had come, I would shout it from the housetops and on every street of Richmond, and nobody could stop me."—The Fundamentalist.

vation shine forth into those Jewish lives? Even if we can't talk to Jewish people we can always live before them in such a way as to provoke them to jealousy because of the joy and happiness we find in THEIR Messiah. If you haven't anything else to give—give them LOVE!

The Word is being sown here in the Fairfax area; it can be sown the world over! We will never know in this life, perhaps, those who will be singing the song of Simeon: "Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word: for mine eyes have seen thy salvation, which thou hast prepared before the face of all people; a light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel" (Luke 2:29-32).

But we may be sure, if we are faithful in our living and witnessing for the Lord Jesus Christ, we will meet in that life over there many who first found evidence of Him through us, and finally accepted Him for what He really is—God, Saviour, Messiah!

TITUS

I. Presents.

A. In this letter we see the true church of Jesus Christ so far as her ecclesiastical order is concerned.

B. Presents a revelation of the true church of Jesus Christ, and appeals to the church to be true to Jesus Christ.

II. Key Words.

A. Saviour (1:3, 4; 2:10, 13; 3:4, 6).

1. Three of these refer to God (1:3; 2:10; 3:4).

B. Sound or healthy doctrine (1:9, 13; 2:1, 2, 8).

C. Sober or sound-minded (1:8; 2:2, 4, 6, 12).

D. Good works, as the practical issue of faith is a recurrent phrase (2:7, 14; 3:1, 8, 14).

III. Key Verses.

A. 1:1—"The truth which is after godliness." Motive for church order.

1. Negatively to convict the gainsayers (1:12), "The Cretians are always liars, evil beasts, slow bellies."

2. Positively to show that Christians were to live soberly (2:11-13).

B. 1:5, gives the method of church order.

1. The work of the elder (1:6-16).

C. 2:11-13, gives the might of the church's order.

1. The dynamic that came from the cross.

2. The inspiration that comes from the crowning.

IV. Key Outline.

A. Man to man (1:1-4).

B. Titus' mission (1:5).

C. The kind of men to be used (1:6-9).

D. The field of labor (1:10-16).

E. The blend of doctrine and life (2:1-10).

F. The doctrinal background (2:11-15).

G. The blend of doctrine and life again (3:1-11).

H. Personal matters (3:12-15).

V. Key Thoughts for Today.

A. The church shall be true to Jesus Christ, who is the Truth.

1. The inclusive responsibility of the Christian church is to adorn the doctrine (2:10).

2. The individual Christian responsibility is to carefully maintain good works (3:14).

a. The consequent responsibility of those in oversight is to affirm confidently these things.

B. The church is powerful in the measure in which she is revealing the truth of God in her own life.

1. The church is not influential because she is able to manipulate the affairs of the state.

C. The power of the overseer is that of the truth, and not that of his office.

D. "The test of success is not the crowd, but the souls transformed under the power of the Word who adorn the doctrine, and thus fulfill the holy function of being the pillar and ground of the truth" (Morgan).

Winona Lake, Ind. Rev. Herman Koontz, pastor of the Winona Lake Brethren Church, is improving rapidly from his recent fall, and it was not necessary to place him in a cast, as doctors first thought necessary.

Wheaton, Ill. Mrs. Clara Torrey, 94, widow of Rev. R. A. Torrey, died at a nursing home in Wheaton after a brief illness. Dr. Torrey was associated with the Bible Institute of Los Angeles for many years.

Washington, D. C. (RNS). The Federal Bureau of Investigation has just released statistics revealing that 1953 is the greatest crime year yet. James V. Bennett, director of the U. S. Bureau of Prisons, in his August report, has stated that the prisons are overflowing. There were 2,478 more adult prisoners in State and Federal institutions on January 1, 1953, than there had been the year before.

Wheaton, Ill. Wheaton College has decided not to enter the Associated Colleges of Illinois, an organization of schools to solicit aid from industry. Reason given by Dr. V. Raymond Edman was the fear that some unwholesome industry such as a distillery or brewery might contribute, and in all good conscience Wheaton would have to refuse such aid.

What Is Our Defense?

—By the Editor—

The supreme question in the minds of governmental officials as well as the average citizen concerns our defense against the A-bomb and the H-bomb, if used by an enemy. It is speculated, if not concluded, that Russia has the know-how for these bombs. Be that as it may, our national leaders are determined that we must strengthen our defenses against any potential aggressor.

Kept on 24-hour alert, U. S. jet-fighter units, strategically located, are ready for combat; a highly developed radar network is in constant search for approaching planes; a corps of over 300,000 air observers scan the skies to identify each passing plane; and battalions of men are constantly readied to defend this beloved nation. To retaliate, if an enemy should attack this nation, are 40 to 50 air wings of large U. S. bombers. All this, and more—and yet, with the spending of billions of dollars, and the alertness of millions of men, still Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, declares in This Week that our defense is inadequate to meet any H-bomb attack by the enemy. What, then, is our defense?

For 2,000 years man has beaten his plows into spears, ever seeking after peace but constantly finding himself involved in bloody battles and gory onslaughts. Today the story is the same. From one side of the mouth man talks around a peace table, while from the other side he barks his orders for more implements of war. Why do we have such double talk? Why is that pathway to peace, so desired by man, an apparent impasse?

The only reason for war in this old world is the fact that man crucified the Prince of Peace, having bitterly cried, "Let him be crucified." Stubbornly man has refused to acknowledge Jesus as Lord, and the result has been that man retreats more and more to a beastly nature as sin develops in his heart.

If man continues to retrogress, only the omniscient God knows the extremity to which man will go in sin. The fact is that man schemes to develop his fanciful utopia by bypassing the incarnate Christ of God. Not until man will recognize that the Jesus Christ of history was God in the flesh, and is willing to acknowledge Him as the only source of salvation, can man hope to find the solution to the catastrophic issues of this present world system. Absolute faith in the incarnate Christ is the only way out of the jumble. The only defense we have is to be found in the One who left heaven's glory and descended to this old world of sin, and was robed in human flesh. The only defense we have is to be found in the One who was crucified, buried, and was subsequently raised from the dead. Faith in Him gives salvation to the sinner, and courage to the saint.

Jesus Christ is our defense! He is the source of defense, not only to the believer in this present world, but throughout eternity. While all about us things give way, the Lord Jesus is the constant stay of the child of God. He is not a deistic Creator, but rather the infinite Son of God who tabernacled in human flesh, and as such tasted and experienced every testing of humanity, but remained apart from sin. This is the Christ who is more real than a brother, more faithful than a mother, and of a truth is God.

The late F. D. Gordon told of a Christian mother who continually sought to teach her child implicit faith in the Lord Jesus. This mother sought to impress upon the child the truth that she need fear nothing at any time, for the Lord Jesus was always near. On one occasion this mother had tucked her little girl into bed, turned off the light, and had gone downstairs. Some little time later a terrific storm arose and the blinding flash of lightning, together with the deafening crash of the thunder, caused the little girl to cry out, "Mama! Mama! Come and get me!" With tender love the mother hurried to the room and picked up the little child and sought to quiet her.

The godly mother, seeking to impress her teaching upon her child, said, "Sweetheart, you need not be afraid, for the Lord Jesus is always near, and He would never permit anything to harm you." The little girl clung to her mother about the neck and said, "Yes, Mommy, I know Jesus is always near, but when it thunders and lightnings, I want someone near me with skin on 'em."

Ah, beloved, the God of heaven sent His only begotten Son into the world, and put "skin on Him," but a godless world crucified Him. He came to establish peace, but with man's rejection of Him, man "let slip the dogs of war." However, this same blessed Saviour that the world crucified gave us the promise that He would come again. When He comes, He will not come riding into Jerusalem on the foal of an ass, but, according to Revelation 19, He will come riding out of the heavens on a mighty charger, and the redeemed shall cry as the psalmist, "He only is my rock and my salvation: he is my defence; I shall not be moved" (Psa. 62:6).—A. ## The Real Secret of Christian Victory

By Richard L. Burch, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio

God's directive will is that every born-again believer should live a victorious Christian life. This is not a goal which can be achieved by some method of trial and error. It is, rather, an experience to be realized in accord with certain well-defined Scriptural principles. Probably the most clear, concise, and comprehensive statement of these principles is presented in Galatians 2:20: "I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me."

According to the average conception, the precious truths outlined in this passage are ideal rather than actual, beyond the experience of this present life and reserved only for that which is to come. Let it be emphasized, however, that the Apostle Paul describes this as "the life which I now live IN THE FLESH"! This means that everyone who has received Christ can be a victorious Christian in the fullest sense here and now! In the verse which is before us God unfolds the secret.

What Is the Secret?

Actually there is but one Person in all the universe who can, in His own strength, live a life of complete victory over the world, the flesh, and the Devil. This is none other than Jesus Christ Himself. And it is this very same victorious Christ who, according to God's testimony, "liveth in me"! The real secret of Christian victory, therefore, is to permit this indwelling Christ to live HIS life, unhindered, in and through us. But how can this be done, when self is so prone to get in the way? God does not leave us without an answer.

How Is This Accomplished?

According to God's reckoning, we are dead to sin, no longer to live therein, but to walk in newness of life (Rom. 6:1-4). The way of real victory is to reckon these facts true in our practical, day-by-day experience (Rom. 6:11). But how? Only by a once-for-all presentation of self to God (Rom. 6:13) which issues in a continual, moment-by-moment obedience to His will (Rom. 6:16ff.).

In other words, Christian victory is achieved not on the basis of struggle but of surrender—complete and continual surrender of self and selfish desires to the perfect will of God. Self must be put to death! Only when we can sincerely declare with the apostle, "I am crucified with Christ," and truthfully say, "I die daily" (I Cor. 15:31), will Christ's life, the life of supreme victory, be our life!

How Can I Know?

How can I know, beyond all shadow of doubt, that triumph comes by trusting rather than by trying? These vital facts of Christian experience must be perceived not by feeling but by faith—"the faith which is in the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself up for me" (ASV). If I cannot trust the One who loved me enough to lay down His life for me, then who in all God's universe can I trust? He has given us His Word in order that we might know the way of peace, joy, and victory. Let us believe it with all our heart!

When Can This Be Realized?

Can I actually experience a life of victory today? Or must I wait until some future time when I am a more mature Christian? Again let us remind ourselves that this is—or can be—"the life which I NOW live." Every single moment holds for us the glorious fact of a living, triumphant, indwelling Saviour! It need not matter if your life has been defeated up to now. For by a complete surrender of self to the Saviour, you can begin immediately, this very moment, to enjoy the life of victory which God offers to every believer!

"Lord, bend that proud and stiff-necked 'I';
Help me to bow the neck and die,
Beholding Him on Calvary,
Who bowed His head and died for me."

One headline has already stated that Russia has violated the agreement. Looks dark!

They tell us there is more liquor consumed than ever before and that more of our American citizens are going insane than ever before and that whereas Christians were once concerned about liquor consumption, the problem of first magnitude is now narcotics. Looks dark!

It is no longer how much we will pay for war that becomes the problem of legislators, it is how many more billions we are willing to borrow to negotiate a war. When will we get paid up? Looks dark!

We are spending more for education than ever in past history, but the education of America is becoming increasingly godless. Princeton University, which was founded by God-fearing people, now has a professor who recently said, "Belief in cernment to know that the final solution to every problem awaits that unspeakably glorious moment when the Son of God shall break through the firmament of blue to return to this godless world. "When these things begin to come to pass, then look up" (Luke 21:28). "But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief. Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness" (I Thess. 5:4-5).

Will the problems of government, economics, society, religion, education, and human welfare ever be solved? Yes, indeed, but not until He comes again. His coming for us means that we shall be "caught up together with them in the clouds "to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words" (I Thess. 4:17-18). Looks bright!

KNOWN OF GOD

"Howbeit at that time, not knowing God, ye were in bondage to them that by nature are no gods: but now that ye have come to know God, or rather to be known by God, how turn ye back again to the weak and beggarly rudiments, whereunto ye desire to be in bondage over again?" (Gal. 4:8-9, ASV).

As a small lad I went one day with my mother to the city. As a farm boy, it was a rare experience for me to go to the city. Once or twice a year it was our privilege to go, and then it was like a page out of "Alice in Wonderland." On this particular occasion I became so enthralled in the baubles and toys of the five-and-ten-cent store that I became disengaged from my mother's purse strap. When I discovered the separation I did what any able-bodied child would do—I bawled. Through my tears I saw many who were curious about my condition; some tried to comfort me and others offered to help, but my little heart sank within me for I saw no one that I knew. Then a big burly fellow reached down and picked me up; he brushed the tears from my cheek and put a big hanky to my nose and said, "Blow." He then stated, "You don't know me, but I know you." He told me who I was and who my parents were and then assured me all would be well. And when my mother found me I was seated at the soda fountain partaking of a favorite sweet. I had known no one, but someone knew me.

To know God is wonderful, but to be fully conscious of the fact that you are known of God is sublime. As Paul addressed the Galatians he did not hint that those outside of Christ were not within the realm of God's knowledge, but that they were alienated from the realm of redemptive love by unbelief.

I. What It Means To Be Known of God.

The psalmist declares, "For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous" (Psa. 1:6). The pathway that stretches out before the child of God is known and ordered of the Lord. "The Lord knoweth the days of the upright: and their inheritance shall be for ever" (Psa. 37:18). He knows their length and all that they shall contain. "Shall not God search this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart" (Psa. 44:21). His knowledge of HIS own goes to the most secret recess of the heart. As David was credited for the building of the temple, because it "was in his heart," so the frailest and weakest child of God can find assurance in a "right heart." "Thou hast known my reproach and my shame, and my dishonour: mine adversaries are all before thee" (Psa. 69:19). We need not quake and fear before our enemies; they are marked of God.

"O Lord thou hast searched me and known me. Thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising, thou understandest my thought afar off" (Psa. 139:1-2). He not only knows what end our lives accomplish and the means which are used, but He knows the motives, even our thoughts afar off. "When my spirit was overwhelmed within me, then thou knewest my path" (Psa. 142:3). Literally the Hebrew here is, "When my spirit darkens itself upon me" or when my spirit is clouded over with the darkness of night, that pathway is known of God. Heartaches, poverty, sickness, death, HE knows that pathway and shares it with us, taking away the reproach in life and the sting of death.

By Lewis C. Hohenstein

Being known of God, as spoken of in the Scriptures, involves the most intimate relationship between God and the believer. So intimate is this relationship that it defies description or example. The Greek word ginosko used in our text (Gal. 4:8-9) always transcends the intellect and relates itself to experience. The same is true of the Hebrew word yada, used in the psalms quoted above. This is best illustrated, if I may be allowed to tread on such a delicate subject, by the fact that this word has been used since the time of Alexander to express the intimate relation of man and wife, and is so used in the modern Greek (Gen. 4:1; Luke 1:34). This word means to find a sign in a thing by which to recognize it, we are known of God because He sees us in His Son, and we are thusly recognized as His own. "Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his" (II Tim. 2:19). We as the children of God have "been sealed with the Holy Spirit of promise," the Lord knoweth them that trust in him" (Nahum 1:7).

The world of men are ignorant of God willingly. God did not choose to cast off man, but man chose to cast off God. "And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind to do those things which are convenient" (Rom. 1:28). But God sent forth His Son, the Good Shepherd, to search the creviced hillside of sin for the lost sheep. The Good Shepherd says, "My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me."

To be conscious of being known so intimately of God is to know "that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose." When this world is convulsed and shaken by a mighty earthquake or hurricane, or when a leaf is gently stirred in a summer breeze, God's sovereign power is in operation on behalf of them that are known of Him.

II. Why We Need To Be Known of God.

"Because he hath appointed a day, in which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained" (Acts 17:31). None will be able to escape that judgment but those who are known of God. It is all-important that you are known or else you will have to depart from His presence forever.

When Jesus was bringing His great manifesto to a conclusion in Matthew 7:22 He said, "Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity" (Matt. 7:22-23). Having been known of Him by the intimate relationship brought about by regeneration is the insurance of the believer against His day of wrath.

III. How To Be Known of God.

"But if any man love God, the same is known of him" (I Cor. 8:3). This condition seems simple enough; it leaves no doubt but that anyone capable of loving God could be, or would be, known of Him. The thing which must be determined then is, What is meant by loving God?

It does not mean just to believe that He exists. A recent poll showed that 99 percent of Americans believe in God. Does that mean that all of these Americans are intimately known of God. No, for all of America could believe that there is a God and all could be lost. Satan, we are told, believes and trembles. Only a fool could believe that this universe was not the result of an intelligent being, God. Such a belief, however, makes greater the responsibility to love Him.

Some will say that sincerity toward God is loving Him. Certainly there must be sincerity in love, but sincerity apart from a consideration of fact is foolishness. Religious sincerity crucified our Lord, religious

OUR MODERATOR SPEAKS

The time of day is now 6 a. m. All is quiet and dark outside. Your writer has been asked to furnish a series of articles as captioned above. As I sit here taking stock of the immediate past experience at national conference, I confess that mixed emotion possesses my soul. Much talk is made of the two major political parties in the United States. At the present one has difficulty in learning who is the "titular" head of the party not in office. It just occurs to me that perhaps the moderator might be recognized as the "titular" head of our denomination and as such speaks for the entire church. If this be true, how extremely careful one must be as he dares to express opinions. Referring to the darkness mentioned above, I am reminded that Satan is the prince of the powers of darkness. Christ is the Light of the world. How these two forces are pitted against one another. Thus there is presented a great challenge to our people.

"CHALLENGE" is the word that should challenge us today. My dictionary is open before me and I observe that among other things this word means "to dare a person or power to a contest or trial; to call out to a duel." Your moderator, therefore, is sounding forth a CHALLENGE for the ensuing year. Two powerful forces are operating simultaneously in this age. In such an age, when the world is at its worst, the church should be at her best. I challenge you to deny the fact that the world is at her worst. BUT the church, far from her best, is most confused.

WE BELIEVE in and subscribe to some indisputable tenets of Christian sincerity has caused more bloodshed and war than any other thing, yet we would not dare to say that such sincere devotion is loving God.

Then some believe that loving God is keeping commandments, doing good works, or going through rituals or ceremonies. Many of these things will be the result of loving God; they are the fruit that hangs on the tree of love.

The only way that an alienated sinner could love God is to receive God's love for him. "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he faith: first, God never changes (Heb. 13:8); second, in spite of man's futile attempt to do otherwise, the Bible continues to be the final court of appeals and never changes; third, God is pleased to use this age, through the Holy Spirit, as a sifting time for His saints. Surely the church is being prepared for the last change and awaiting the upward call.

IN VIEW OF THESE sobering facts, your moderator challenges every church and church member during the coming year to "put on the whole armour of God" and prepare for the conflict. We must FIGHT our three common enemies, viz., (1) our external foe, the world (worldly living); (2) our internal foe, the flesh (base selfish ambitions); (3) our infernal foe, Satan (ever bothering those who bother him). Verily, there is a duel on. May God count on us?

loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins" (I John 4:10). Just as a baby can only love its parents by allowing the parents to love it, so an unregenerate sinner can only love God by allowing God to love him. This He did when He sent His only begotten Son into the world to redeem us from sin. To be intimately related to God and known of Him requires only that you receive His Son, "who loved us and gave himself for us."

Beloved, do you know God?—or rather are you known of Him?

YOUNG RUSSIAN CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

Dear Friends of the Young Russian Christian Association:

I am sure that some of you are anxious to know how things are going for us here in Mexico City. It can all be summed up in the Scripture, that He is "able to do exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think."

We traveled the west coast of Mexico coming down. Going through the State of Sonora was not so bad, but both in Sinaloa and Nayarit we hit their tropical storms that washed out bridges over some big rivers. One place we waited two days to be ferried across on a not-too-hefty barge. It was a real adventure and the Lord gave us a safe trip.

We have visited both the Minister of Foreign Affairs and the Minister of Education, with splendid results from both. We found them to be very wonderful people and sincerely interested. Although no papers were obtained at the Foreign Affairs Office, he advised us not to try to get them. "They probably would not be granted and if they were it would take a lot of time and red tape," he said, and then proceeded to give us some wonderful advice as to how we could manage our building legally and safely. Our 6,000 adobe bricks were made in faith that such a thing would be forthcoming.

Then at the office of the Minister of Education we obtained papers from Señor Gomes, the Minister himself, recommending to the local authorities that we be allowed to have the fifth and sixth grades in our building with our own teachers. What an answer to prayer! Perhaps the uniqueness of the colony, being Russian, brought on the leniency, for they are usually not too generous with foreigners, we are told.

We are driving a Señor Villalpando back with us to San Diego. This is also of the Lord, for he is the Minister of Exterior, and has a great deal of influence with such things as passports, etc. How we praise the Lord for this contact and we pray that we may water the seed in this man's heart that has been planted there as he has dealt with the Wycliffe Translators.

Pray for us that the Lord will continue to lead and that we will be good followers.—Jack Green.

CHAPLAIN LEE JENKINS ASSIGNED TO CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C.

Chaplain (Lieut.) Lee Jenkins has received orders to report to Camp Lejeune, the Marine base in North Carolina, following the completion of his training at the Chaplains Indoctrination Unit at the Newport (R. I.) Naval Station.

Brother Jenkins was a member of a group of chaplains which included for the first time at the school representatives from the Plymouth Brethren denomination and our own.

During the course of their schooling, according to Brother Jenkins, the Navy issued the information that at all times the chaplains were to preach exactly what they believe. They are to cooperate whenever possible, but they are not to compromise on their belief.

When Chaplain Jenkins reports to Camp Lejeune (in early November)

he plans to send for his family when housing facilities are found. His wife and children are now living in Winona Lake. They are asking that prayer be made on their behalf that the Lord may open doors to them and permit the truth to be proclaimed to those who in many cases would not be subjected to it any place else.

"HOW OLD ART THOU?"

On the tomb of Dwight L. Moody, at Northfield, is graven the sentiment, "He that doeth the will of God abideth forever." The passing of the years has ever served to remind us of the rapid flight of time and the amazing brevity of our life on earth. But our faith reminds us that lives lived for God and humanity defy the grave.—Selected.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL ORDERS

Attention Pastor and Sunday-School Superintendent

Your church has received its order blank for the next quarter (January-March 1954). Please make out your order and return at once and your quarterlies will be in your hands one month early.

If you have not received your Sunday-school material for January by December 15, notify the Brethren Missionary Herald Co. at once. To accomplish this, however, your order must be received immediately.

Accuracy in filling out order will make for speed and satisfaction in service.

Winona Lake and the Grace Seminary and College Campus

Grace Seminary and Home Missions

This month and next Grace Seminary joins in urging every member of the Brethren Church to give his best toward what should be the largest offering in the history of Brethren home missions. This year the school has 29 of its alumni and former students working under the direction of the Brethren Home Missions Council. They are active in almost every branch of our home-mission work, including church pastors, the Jewish, Spanish, and Navaho works, administration, and church construction. Grace Seminary had a real privilege in training these. Let us recognize our present opportunity as a real privilege also.

Businessmen Believe in Grace Seminary

Within a week's period recently the editor was engaged in separate conversations with four different businessmen in the Winona Lake-Warsaw community, none of whom were members of the Brethren Church. One was a contractor, another an insurance man; the third was a banker, and the fourth was a policeman. All spoke so highly of the character of the students of Grace Seminary that their testimony brought genuine rejoicing of heart to your editor. One of these businessmen sent us a check for $25. A second backed up his estimate of the school by presenting us with a gift of $200 and saying that he hoped for the day when his accumulated gifts could reach $1,000. Businessmen know the value of investments. Do we of the Brethren Church know this as we should?

Those Requesting Projects

Several groups have written the school requesting projects for their local work. Grace Seminary and College must receive the bulk of its support through the monthly offering plan and the annual offering. But we are always glad to have local churches, groups within them, or individuals undertake projects not covered in the regular budget of the school. These are many and usually represent some kind of needed equipment. The cost of such projects ranges from $10 to $1,000 and more. Several of these projects are under way at the present time, and a report of them will be given in the magazine next month. We are always glad to furnish a list of suggestions to those writing in. Your letter should state the amount you plan to give.

Our Cover Picture

The first aerial photograph ever taken of the 33-acre campus of Grace Theological Seminary and College appears on the cover of the magazine this week. Almost at the very center of the picture is the seminary building. Although it appears small, the building is actually 182 feet in length. The main visible portion of the building is the chapel wing, 90 feet long. To the rear of the building may be seen the large parking lot. Your editor's home may be seen just above the lot. Beyond the water tank and to the left just below the large building (Winona Lake School of Photography) with a gabled roof at each end is a three-and-one-half acre property owned by the seminary and reserved for future expansion. Immediately below the seminary building and stretching out to the left is the space being developed into the school's athletic field. To the right of the large clump of trees just below the building may be seen the trailer camp and the home of the custodian. Left of center and toward the lower part of the picture is a large pit from which the school has taken many tons of gravel for its parking lot and driveways. The space now being prepared for lawn is the large area between the building and the front road. All the way across the picture between the campus and the lake is the town. Winona Lake now has a population of approximately 2,000 people. Because of the angle from which the picture was taken, neither the town nor the lake appear to be their proper width. The lake itself covers an area of more than 900 acres and has nearly 10 miles of shoreline. It is one of the largest of 97 lakes in Kosciusko County. All who have been to Grace Seminary and College agree that the Lord in His goodness has placed the school in a lovely setting.

Church Membership Statistics

Dr. Benson Y. Landis, associate research director of the National Council of Churches, recently called attention to church membership gains in the United States. He says that while in 1951 the United States population rose 1.7 percent, church membership increased by 1.8 million, "a healthy jump of 2 percent." The 1951 increase brought the total membership in churches of all faiths to 88.6 million people, "an all-time high" of 58 percent of the population. Of the more than 88 million church members, there are 52 million Protestants, 29 million Catholics, and 5 million Jews.

It is a little difficult to reconcile Dr. Landis' optimism with the increasing godlessness and lawlessness of our country. Statistics show also that America has more fine church buildings than she has ever possessed in her history. But what do these alone mean in the work of Christ? Recently, in Cleveland, Ohio, we were shown 2 new church buildings, costing $250,000 and $400,000 respectively. Neither congregation has Sunday evening or midweek services.

Sometime ago, in California, a lady commented on the "splendid attendance" at a summer Sunday evening service in one of our Brethren churches. She inquired as to what the special occasion might be. When informed by the pastor that it was only one of his regular

"A TIME TO GATHER STONES TOGETHER"

By Alva J. McClain, President

Our friends who have visited the campus of Grace Seminary recently know that the building is now completely surrounded with a wide and massive concrete sidewalk, costing about $2,500, and paid for by the gifts of the National Women's Missionary Council. Furthermore, the area between the ring of sidewalk and the building is now green with a nice lawn. But since the building is set back from the street about 500 feet, we had an area of between 2 and 3 acres to sow to complete the lawn in front. Because of the high cost of seed we did not feel able to sow this area, but two good friends of the seminary, Mr. and Mrs. J. Marion Hoffman, of Dayton, Ohio, made a very generous gift for this purpose. Five hundred pounds of seed were purchased, and we were ready to plant—except for one more problem! The lawn on Seminary Hill was formed by glacial morain, and in preparing the soil for seeding hundreds of stones were brought to the surface. Perhaps "thousands" would be more accurate!

In this emergency, it occurred to us that perhaps we might get some help from the students. And of course the president was chosen to deliver the exhortation. Feeling that a Biblical text might be useful, I read from the Book of Ecclesiastes the following words: "To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven . . . a time to plant . . . a time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together" (3: 1-5). Then, knowing that the freshman class in the college was in process of being initiated, I asked the other students whether they thought it might be a good idea to have the freshmen go out and pick up stones, to which I got an enthusiastic response. Then I asked the freshmen whether they didn't think it would be a still better idea to get all the other students to help, and to this suggestion the response was terrific. Then I asked all the students whether they didn't feel that the faculty should get their coats off too. The vote was unanimous!

As a result of all this cooperation the stones have disappeared and we are ready to float the ground and sow the seed. Then all we shall need is the proper amount of rain. The Lord "watereth the hills from his chambers. . . . He causeth the grass to grow" (Psa. 104:13-14).

QUALIFICATIONS FOR A GOOD PASTOR

By Dr. Homer A. Kent

What kind of a man should a good pastor be? In an issue of the Bulletin of Fuller Theological Seminary, President Harold J. Ockenga has presented the following requirements for a good pastor in a metropolitan area. He says that for a rural pastor these qualifications would be somewhat different, but surely there would be many similarities. We present his suggestions, thinking that they will be of value. He names seven requirements.

1. SPIRITUAL LIFE. He should know the basic truths of our Christian faith in experience. He cannot lead his people to a higher realm than he has reached himself in this matter.

2. PREACHING ABILITY. The pastor must be a preacher able to present the Word of God in an attractive manner. He must be able to make the Word live for our day. In order to do this he needs to possess eloquence, sincerity, simplicity, intelligence, fearlessness, and passion.

3. MISSIONARY ZEAL. He must be a man of missionary statesmanship, vision, and passion.

4. EVANGELISTIC EMPHASIS. He must be an evangelist. Dr. Ockenga calls attention to the fact that liberals can build a ministry by being brilliant and scintillating or by emphasizing psychiatry as a substitute for the Gospel, but an evangelical who is not an evangelist will have a pulpit die on his hands.

5. EXECUTIVE ABILITY. He should not handle all the details of the business affairs of the congregation. Others should do this. But he must be the ultimate, strategic director.

6. EDUCATION. The pastor should have a good education. A good education will enable him to cope with the various aberrations which are bound to appear in his ministry.

7. EXPERIENCE. Dr. Ockenga feels that a city church needs a minister who has had a ripe experience. He thinks such churches should consider men up to the age of 55 in order to command the maturest and ripest service of a life.

GREETING THE MEMBERS OF THE STAFF

MEET THE DEAN OF MEN—

What would you think if you woke up some morning and found your family responsibilities increased by 25 or more boys? Would you cry for mercy, turn and flee, or praise the Lord? It sounds like a staggering surprise, and I can assure you that it was such a surprise to me when I found I was appointed to be the dean of men of Grace College. When I attended school, the position of dean of men was the one which I least envied, but suddenly that is what I found myself being called. I am happy to state that the first few weeks have been mostly enjoyable and invigorating to me, in spite of my anxious forebodings.

My first inspection of the dormitories to be used was a pleasant surprise. The living quarters for this year are modern, pleasant, and sufficiently spacious to make living very comfortable, even to the convenience of a private bath for every room of boys. The dining hall is close to the rooms. It also is a fine place for them to gather for their soft drinks and chatter after a hard grind of studies. They are just far enough from the school to supply a nice healthful walk each day for the unattached, and a romantic stroll for those whose interests have broadened to reach beyond the study of books.

The boys were all cooperative in the moving-in, and we had a good time in spite of some of the backaches that were received in lifting the heavy furniture. I am not sure they were too happy about the cleaning-up process afterward, but what boy have you ever seen who liked to mop floors and dust furniture?

One of the most pleasant things about the coming of these younger boys to our campus is the enthusiasm which they have brought into the school. The testimony meetings resound with the voices of these college students who are filled with a zeal for the Lord, and have come to get some knowledge of the Word in order to balance that zeal. It has caused me to think back to the days when I was first in college, and the vision which started me on my way into Christian service. It is a good thing for us to remember the vision which the Lord gave us of the fields which were white unto harvest, and I believe the enthusiasm of our college boys is taking us back to that vision again. The coming of the college to our campus has been a real blessing from the hand of the Lord.—George Cone, Jr.

... AND THE DEAN OF WOMEN—

"O the depths of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!" (Rom. 11:33).

I shall never cease to praise my heavenly Father for leading me to Grace Theological Seminary. I feel that I have been experiencing the depth of some of the riches of God since I came to the seminary this fall. As I look back over my life I can say from my heart that surely God's ways are

MUSTACHES AND CONES

Many who attended our national conference sessions last August will recall being startled just a bit by the new and somewhat dense growth upon the upper lips of father and son, George Cone, Sr., and George Cone, Jr. The elder Cone is custodian at the seminary, and George Jr., is instructor in science and physical education. Some of us were to learn that there was a story behind the mustaches.

It seems that when the two Cones visited some more Cones at a family reunion in Kansas last May, an older brother insisted that neither of the Georges was "man enough" to raise a mustache. Now a challenge like this never goes untaken by a Cone, so both father and son made good use of the summer growing season, and at the summer's end they proudly displayed luxuriant fields ready for harvest.

Shortly after the beginning of school the senior Cone appeared on the campus one day with his upper lip neatly and completely reaped. But for some reason, unknown at the time, the junior Cone continued to nurture his mustache. A bit of careful inquiry revealed that the young professor had solemnly vowed to leave the undergrowth until the arrival of his first child.

George, Jr., and George, Sr.

Should it be a boy the mustache was to come off, and should it be a girl it was to remain on.

The suspense was ended on the morning of October 14, when George Junior appeared for his classes, somewhat sleepy-eyed, but with his upper lip absolutely naked. The new Cone is Kimberly Joe, and he weighed six pounds, eleven ounces at birth. Since that time the school has been offering its congratulations to the proud parents and the equally proud grandparents, who rejoice that an heir has arrived who will be able to carry on the family tradition.—P. R. B.

past finding out! I marvel at the way God has led in my life.

When the Lord laid the burden on my heart for the foreign mission field in French Equatorial Africa, I realized that I would need further training beyond the Christian college education which I received at Bob Jones University. Miss Myers, one of our pioneer missionaries to Africa, was the one whom God used to lay a greater burden on my heart for the natives of Africa. She also suggested that I go to Grace Seminary. God not only has given me the privilege of being a student but also a real opportunity to serve as dean of women at Grace, which position I held in a western school last year. We have a fine group of girls and it is a real joy to work with them.

Since my arrival on this campus I have been impressed most of all by the spiritual atmosphere of the entire school. I am convinced more than ever that this is God's school and that the leaders are men who are filled with the Holy Spirit. It has been an inspiration to me to sit in the classes here and listen to professors who are men of God's choosing and who are well qualified to teach their subject matter.

The Brethren Church has a great treasure in this school of learning. I am thankful that God has permitted me to be even a small part of it. Again I say, His ways are past finding out!—Evelyn Schumacher.

WOMEN'S DIRECTOR OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION—

The first month of school at Grace College has been a time of real blessing and learning. After having spent several years in a secular college, I especially enjoy this happy, joyful Christian atmosphere that is so prevalent, whether in the classroom, chapel, library, or in other group activities.

I am indeed thankful for the opportunity of instructing the collegiate women in their physical education. For this year we have planned activities which will help us in a physical sense as well as helping us in future work among children and young people's groups. At present we are participating in group or team sports, which will be followed by a unit in individual sports and a unit in recreational leadership. Our prayer is that whatsoever we do in word or deed that all will be for His glory.—Edisene (Mrs. John) Whitcomb.

ASSISTANT OFFICE SECRETARY—

I am one of many wives who work to help put their husband through school. You might say we are working for our P.H.T. degree (putting husband through). I do not begrudge it one bit, but am glad I can help in some small way in the preparation for the work to which God has called us.

My husband is a middler at Grace Seminary and I work in the seminary office. I can truly say I enjoy my work and especially the environment among Christian colaborers. My work consists of many different jobs, one of which is to record and make receipts for every gift that comes in for the seminary. Believe it or not, that in itself is quite a job. I think the monthly seminary plan is a fine idea, and I can truthfully say every gift, large and small, is greatly appreciated. I just pray the Lord will continue to lay it upon the hearts of Christians to give generously to a school which is founded upon the Word of God and from which men and women are being sent into the fields that are white unto harvest.—Ella (Mrs. William) Male.

Sunday evening services and that he did not consider the crowd exceptionally good, this lady then told him that she belonged to a million-dollar church in the city of Pasadena. On the previous Sunday morning she said that there had been about 1,500 people present in her church, but only 25 people attended the evening service, so the board decided to close this million-dollar church on Sunday evenings for the remainder of the summer.

No more than some church buildings are used these days, even with the heralded increases in membership, the investment in dollars is not worth while, even from a worldly standpoint. With our increased membership, with so many people who appear to feel as if they are doing God a favor when they attend church once a Sunday, and with so many pastors preaching a watered-down milk-and-water gospel that is no gospel at all, Dr. Landis and his crowd would do well to consider Christ's own characterization of the church as it will exist at the close of this age. To the Laodicean church it was written: "I know thy works, that thou are neither cold nor hot: I would thou wert cold or hot. So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth. . . . Thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked. . . . He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches" (Rev. 3:15-17, 22).

THE PROPHECY OF NOAH'S SONS

By John C. Whitcomb, Jr.

The ninth chapter of the Book of Genesis contains one of the most interesting and, at the same time, one of the most misunderstood prophecies in the entire Bible. This prophecy, spoken by the Spirit of God through the lips of Noah, followed upon Noah's discovery of the wicked deed which his son Ham and his grandson Canaan had committed. The prophecy reads as follows (ASV):

"Cursed be Canaan; a servant of servants shall he be unto his brethren. . . . Blessed be Jehovah, the God of Shem; and let Canaan be his servant. God enlarge Japheth, and let him dwell in the tents of Shem; and let Canaan be his servant."

The Cursing of Canaan

Canaan was the third being in Scripture to receive the curse of God. The first was the serpent (Gen. 3:14); the second was Cain (Gen. 4:11); and the third, as we shall see, was Canaan. The fact that Canaan received the curse rather than his father, Ham, indicates that Canaan must have had an important part in the dastardly act described in verse 22. But more than this, it indicates that the purpose of God's curse was not only to punish Canaan, but also to shape the entire history of Canaan's descendants and to give a prophecy of that history. When we turn to Genesis 10:2 we discover that in addition to Canaan, Ham had three other sons: Cush, Put, and Mizraim (Egypt). God did not intend that all of Ham's descendants should partake of servanthood, but only the descendants of Canaan. Therefore, the Negro race (which did not descend from Canaan, but from one or more of Canaan's three brothers) is not subject to this curse, as many southern preachers in Civil War days mistakenly believed.

Now who were Canaan's descendants, and how does this prophetic curse work itself out in their history? A study of Genesis 10:15-17 reveals that the Canaanite tribes, consisting primarily of the Sidonians (Phoenicians), the Hittites (Heth), the Jebusites (who occupied the future site of Jerusalem), and the Amorites were the very peoples whom God turned over to the Israelites for conquest and extermination when "the iniquity of the Amorites" had filled its allotted measure (Gen. 15:16-21). In that sense, Canaan finally became the servant of Shem as predicted in 9:26 (ASV): "And let Canaan be his [Shem's] servant." Furthermore, the Phoenicians (who were descendants of Canaan through Sidon), were ultimately overcome by the Japhetic Greeks and Romans, especially when the Romans destroyed Carthage, an important Phoenician colony in North Africa. Through these events, the last phrase of 9:27 (ASV) was fulfilled: "And let Canaan be his [Japheth's] servant."

Before we turn our attention from Canaan to Shem and Japheth, let us be perfectly clear in our minds and hearts that this cursing of Canaan's descendants had nothing to do with personal salvation! Rahab was a Canaanite, but experienced salvation through faith in Jehovah (Heb. 11:31). In the New Testament our Lord commended the faith of a Canaanitish woman in the region of Tyre and Sidon (Matt. 15:22-28). On the other hand, our Lord said to some of the "cream" of Shem's descendants: "Ye serpents, ye generation of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of hell?" (Matt. 23:33). Therefore, we see that Noah's prophecy does not decide anyone's eternal destiny, but merely marks out the main characteristics of humanity's three branches.

The Blessing of Shem

Notice first of all that it is Jehovah, not Shem, who is directly spoken of here. But since Jehovah is specified as the "God of Shem," we see that Shem's blessings are spiritual in nature. That is, Shem's descendants are to be blessed only to the extent that they recognize and receive Jehovah as their God. The prophecy clearly shows, then, that it was to be through Shem, not Ham or Japheth, that the promised seed of the woman was to come, who would finally bruise the serpent's head.

The Blessing of Japheth

The very name "Japheth" means "to be wide." Thus the prophecy fits his name ("enlarge" and "Japheth" come from the same root word), even as Canaan's prophecy fits his name (which means "to stoop" or "to submit"). Therefore, Japheth's descendants would be characterized by the large area of the world which they would inhabit. A study of Genesis 10:2-5 indicates that Japhetic peoples spread into Europe, and probably also into India, China, and the Western Hemisphere. The name "Jehovah" does not appear in this 27th verse, but rather the name "God," or "Elohim." This suggests that Japheth's blessings would be primarily earthly rather than spiritual. Whatever spiritual blessings they would enjoy would come indirectly, through dwelling "in the tents of Shem." When the Japhetic Romans conquered Palestine, and in that sense came to "dwell in the tents of Shem," they learned of "Jehovah, the God of Shem" (ASV) and thus received from these "tents" far more than material blessings.

How utterly amazing are the truths of God's infallible Word! A few verses of Scripture, such as these, can contain within them far more than volumes can tell. The same God who somehow makes the mighty oak from an acorn to grow, has planted within His living Word the tiny seeds of prophecy whose branches reach upward to heaven.

On the morning of October 14, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Goossen welcomed the arrival of their first child, Dwight Paul, who weighed eight pounds, two ounces. We of the seminary family heartily congratulate them on their new addition.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE DOCTRINE OF IMMACULATE CONCEPTION

Many scholars, including Schaff ("The Creeds of Christendom," Vol. I, p. 117), think that Irenaeus, in the second century, planted the seeds of the doctrine of Immaculate Conception. This is based on the fact that Irenaeus suggested that whereas Eve was not free from sin Mary was. Irenaeus points this out in his "Against Heresies," book III, chapter 22, and book V, chapter 19, paragraph 1. However, a foreshadowing of Mary worship, culminating in the idea of the Immaculate Conception, was rebuked by Christ (see Luke 11:27-28).

Not until around the fifth century, though, did the idea that Mary was immune from sin, or the stain of original sin, gain headway. Thomas Aquinas, great Catholic theologian, disapproved of the doctrine. But the Scotch Catholic church of the Middle Ages strongly prevailed in extending the idea through the rank and file of the Roman Catholic community. The doctrine was not defined by the Council of Trent (16th century), but suggested it by declaring that the Council of Trent statements on original sin did not apply to Mary.

The first definite step to make the doctrine of Immaculate Conception official was taken when Pope Pius IX's encyclical of February 2, 1849, invited bishops to express an opinion on whether the Apostolic See should define Immaculate Conception. Pope Pius IX said: "You know full well, venerable brethren, that the whole ground of our confidence is placed in the most holy Virgin. . . . God has vested in her the plenitude of all good, so that henceforth, if there be in us any hope, if there be any grace, if there be any salvation, we must receive it solely from her, according to the will of him who would have us possess all through Mary." (The doctrine of an impotent Christ!)

More than 600 bishops responded. Four were unfavorable and 52 thought the proposed dogmatic definition inopportune. Archbishop Sibour, of Paris, thought the proposed definition unnecessary because it could not be proved by Scriptures or tradition!

At St. Peter's, Rome, December 8, 1854, the papal bull which defined the doctrine of Immaculate Conception was read, following mass. "The shouts of the assembled multitude, the cannons of St. Angelo, the chime of all the bells, the illumination of St. Peter's dome, the splendor of gorgeous feasts, responded to the decree. Rome was intoxicated with idolatrous enthusiasm, and the whole Roman Catholic world thrilled with joy over the crowning glory of the immaculate queen of heaven."

THE DANGERS OF THE DOCTRINE

1. It is not according to Scripture. The Catholic interpretation of Genesis 3:15b, as used to bolster the doctrine of Immaculate Conception, is not based on the Hebrew nor the Septuagint (which is more highly regarded by many Catholic authorities than the Hebrew or Vulgate). The Vulgate rendering of Genesis 3:15b was a deliberate translation made by Jerome to give added impetus to Mary worship.

The Catholic view of Song of Solomon 4:7 and 12 is perversion.

The Catholic teaching on Luke 1:28—that the words

"highly favoured" should read "full of grace"—is incorrect exegesis of the Greek. The word translated, in English, "highly favoured" (King James Version) is in Greek the word kecharitoomenee, a perfect participle of the verb which basically means "to be honored with favor" or "made acceptable." "Made acceptable" is the way the King James Version translates the same verb (used of Mary in Luke 1:28) in Ephesians 1:6!

Luke 1:28 does not teach that Mary was without stain of sin. This is further shown to be the case in Luke 1:47. For if Mary were immune, and/or free, from the stain of sin she would need no Saviour, and in Luke 1:47 Mary calls God her Saviour! Mary realized her need of deliverance of sin and her spirit rejoiced in God because He saved her—rescued her—from her sins and their stain.

The perfect participle in Luke 1:28, mentioned above, points out that the moment God chose Mary to give birth to Christ God favored Mary. The abiding effect of that decision would result in Mary becoming an acceptable instrument for the fulfilling of God's redemptive plan.

Use of an apocryphal book, not in the Hebrew Bible, as support for the doctrine of Immaculate Conception, is flimsy support. But to use a general text, applicable to no specific person, to apply to Mary is willful, wrong wresting of a text.

2. The doctrine of Immaculate Conception encourages misuse of plain Bible teachings. The doctrine, as explained in the encyclical circulated among bishops by Pope Pius IX preceding the formal 1854 declaration of the doctrine of Immaculate Conception suggests that Mary was immune from sin. If this were true, and if Mary were equal with Christ (with regard to sin, as the Catholics instruct), then Mary would not have to be gathered with those stained with original sin to pray to God (see Acts 1:13-14). But Mary did pray and ask Christ for guidance like the rest. Jesus was Mary's Saviour as much as any other person's.

3. The doctrine of Immaculate Conception is simply to make Mary an idol. It was a wonderful illustration of God's love and grace that he should select a lowly Jewish maiden such as Mary to be a divinely selected vessel for bringing Christ, the Saviour of men, into the world. But Christ Himself never intended that Mary should be given worship—certainly it was not God's plan that Mary should be more honored than the Son of God nor be made the queen of heaven, an idolatrous goddess.

Luke 11:27 shows that a woman tried to give Mary elaborate and unwarranted praise and also tried to sow the seeds of Mary-worship. Look at Jesus' answer (Luke 11:28): "Yea rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it." Not worship of Mary, not the doctrine of Immaculate Conception make God's own people blessed. Rather hearing God's Word (not papal encyclicals and bulls) and keeping God's Word by being doers of the Word is what every born-again believer is to do.

Let's keep God's Word by not referring to 1954 as the Year of Mary. For 1954, as the years before and after, is still Anno Domini (year of the Lord)—not Anno Mari-ano!

Introducing Additions

REDDING, IOWA—

I can truly see the marvelous working of the Lord in my life even before I became a Christian. I am thankful that the Lord has seen fit to save me from a world of sin. I had never really thought very much about college and never expected to go to college myself. But after graduating from high school I did not seem to be satisfied with the work I was doing. Then in September of last year I had the opportunity to come to Winona Lake with a girl from my home town who was entering seminary that fall. I lived and worked in Winona Lake last winter and became acquainted with several of the students. I enjoyed the fellowship of the school and also the church here. Spending the summer here was truly a great blessing to me also. I felt that the Lord had led me to Winona Lake for a purpose, and, after much prayer, I decided that it was His will for me to enroll in Grace College. I am certainly enjoying the fellowship of the Christian students and the many blessings that the Lord has for each of us here at such a wonderful school. I am truly depending on the verse which I have chosen for my life, Philippians 4:13—"I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me."—Helen Olney.

COMMODORE, PA.—

Proverbs 3:6—"In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy path." I can truly say without a doubt that the Lord has directed my paths. I am thankful to Him for leading me to Grace College, where the Word of God is being taught along with secular subjects. A Christian education is needed very much today in order that the work of the Lord be done properly and efficiently. Christian young people should take advantage of the opportunities given at Grace College and then put them to received into use for the glory of the Lord Jesus Christ. These are the "last days" before Christ is coming very soon; let us work for the Lord as never before.—Dorothea (M. Larry) Lawlor.

ASHLAND, OHIO—

When I was just a child I accepted Jesus Christ as my personal Saviour. I can truly thank God for my Christian home, for there are so many children who do not have the benefit of such a background. I had been planning to engage in the ordinary duties of a housewife, but due to the death of my husband in Korea, I found it necessary to alter my life plans. In the providence of God this change has brought me to Grace, and while my plans for the future as to a field of service are uncertain, I know the Lord will lead in each step of the way. Recently Proverbs 3:5-6 have become increasingly precious to me: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths."—Carol Becker.

AKRON, OHIO—

During the district conference at Portland, Oreg., Dr. McClain gave an inspiring message on grace. In his message he announced the new four-year college opening this year. I had planned to go to another Christian school, so I made up my mind not to listen, but did so in spite of my resolution. It seemed that he was speaking straight to me, so I had to listen. The Lord spoke to me in that meeting, and it was there that I made my decision to come to Grace.

Then, after the time came nearer, I didn't know if I wanted to go to school or not. I prayed about it, and the peace He gave me after I submitted myself unto Him was just marvelous. "Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you," has become very real to me since I entered Grace College. I thank Him for leading me to Grace.—Janet Etling.

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA.—

Having been called of the Lord, I was faced with the decision of fulfilling the command of Christ. He said, "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." After much prayer, I am sure that it was the Lord's will that directed my footsteps to the halls of Grace Seminary to prepare myself both spiritually and academically to tell others of our one Saviour and His atoning blood which leads to salvation.

Grace Seminary completely fulfills both spiritually and academically the requirements I deem necessary for my preparation for God's ministry. I praise and thank the Lord continually for giving me the strength and faith to rely on Him to strengthen my faith to have Him work out in me what He would have me be. My one prayer is that I will always allow myself to be led of the Spirit and thus glorify the name of Jesus Christ our Saviour.—William H. Albany, Jr.

RITTMAN, OHIO—

The first two years of my college life were spent in a denominational school which is no longer true to the faith. You can understand, therefore, why I am really praising the Lord for making it possible for me to attend a genuinely Christian college. The presence of the Lord is constantly felt here at Grace, and we are conscious of His working and leading at all times. I came to Grace because I felt the Lord was leading me, and I can now say that for the first time in my life I have a goal—Christ's service. It's truly a wonderful feeling.—Walter Blackwell.

JEROMESVILLE, OHIO—

From the time I met Jesus I felt the hand of God on my life, and realized that He would have me give my all for His service. I started searching for His will, and a school which taught the whole plan of God.

I applied at several schools and was accepted at one of them, but still I wasn't sure I was in God's will. So I still searched. Bro. Jack Mellick, a former student of Grace, advised me to go to Grace, and wanted me to look it over. While attending the Winona Bible Conference for Jewish Evangelism, I decided to tour Grace and look into its possibilities. To my surprise, the school appeared to be a different place than I had expected. It put forth a zealous attitude and way of life which I didn't think existed at Grace. I prayed about the matter and asked God to show His will. The missing parts of the school puzzle then seemed to fit together when I decided to enroll in Grace.—Paul Newmeyer.

KOKOMO, IND.

I realized that the decision as to which college to attend was too great for me. With three sound Christian schools in mind, I went to the Lord in prayer. The Lord opened the way to Grace College and closed the way to the three I had in mind. The month that I've been at Grace has been a busy and joyful one. The greatest blessing to me has been the emphasis on a balanced Christian life.—Jesse E. Roberts.

One of the fine features of a school with the Christian atmosphere of Grace College and Seminary is the opportunity given for a well-balanced social life. On Saturday evening, October 24, the students gathered at the county fairgrounds for a Halloween party. The accompanying picture was taken at a similar gathering last year and is shown here inasmuch as there was not sufficient time to secure a photo of this year's party before the magazine went to press.

Brethren Laymen

Jesse B. Deloe, Editor

At the September meeting, the men at Findlay, Ohio, heard reports from those who attended National Fellowship. Bro. Jason Thomas reports God's blessing on the work there and tells us they hope to be in their new building by the first of December. . . . Rev. Arthur J. Mouw spoke at the Brotherhood meeting Sept. 15 at Whittier (First), Calif. He told of pioneer missionary work among the "head-hunters" of Borneo. . . . Bro. Arthur Collins sends us news of the Men's Fellowship meeting of the Sunnymede church in South Bend, Ind., Sept. 15. Prof. John Rea, of Grace Seminary, showed pictures of his work with the archeological expedition in Palestine under the leadership of Dr. Free of Wheaton College. David Welborn is president of the laymen. . . . Laymen of the Atlantic District met Oct. 3 at Hagerstown, Md. . . . Bro. Frank Coffin, president of the group at Uniontown, Pa., sends news of the reorganization of the laymen's group and at their first meeting they had 18 present. One of their main projects is to work with the Sky Pilots, and at a joint meeting with them, there were 27 boys present. Tract distribution is also to be stressed. . . . At the September meeting of the men at Meyersdale and Summit Mills, Pa., Billy Yoder was elected president; Walter Fike and Jack Yoder, vice presidents; H. Nicholson, secretary-treasurer; Carl Grew, assistant secretary-treasurer; James Morrison, pianist. On Oct. 17, a covered-dish dinner was held at which Jesse B. Deloe of Winona Lake, Ind., was speaker. . . . Bro. Carl Uphouse, secretary of the East Fellowship laymen, reports that men from five of the churches in the Johnstown area met in the Riverside church October 5 in a rally featuring the Lepp-Bergerson-Coffin Crusade Team. The offering was designated for the Board of Evangelism. October 19 was the next date for the district rally at Leamersville. . . . Canton, Ohio, officers are Bob Meiser, president; Clyde Davenport, vice president; Tom Robinson, secretary; George Owens, treasurer. . . . Conemaugh, Pa., laymen are planning big and great things for their church and the winning of lost men is the report we get from their September meeting. . . . Bro. Owen Hacker tells us that the men of the First church, Dayton, Ohio, invited the First Team of the Evangelistic Crusade, Rev. R. Paul Miller and Bro. Max Williams, to hold a rally of the men of the Miami Valley, Oct. 1. We are anxious to hear a report on this. The Dayton laymen have again agreed to contribute 10 percent of the national budget, $475, in 1953-54; $125 of this amount has already been received. . . . Men at Pond Bank, Pa., near Chambersburg, had a time of fellowship on Sept. 20. Pastor William Wiles gave them the opportunity to take charge of the morning worship service. Bro. Frank Cordell, Pond Bank, read the Scripture; Bro. Paul Baker, from the York Gospel Center, led in prayer; Bro. Frank Cordell received the morning offering; and John W. Ritchey had charge of the services and brought the message on "Personal Evangelism." . . . From Secretary R. E. Neil, of the group at Leamersville, comes the following note of interest: "The Men's Brotherhood of the Leamersville Brethren Church have a sign committee in action and have a creditable report to make. ### TESTIMONY OF BILLY F. YODER

In regards to my promise to write a testimony and a notation of my work: I am an electrical serviceman working for a farmers' cooperative. I am 34 years old, have a good Christian wife and three children, two girls and a boy.

I have been a trustee in our church at Summit Mills and a Sunday-school teacher, but I never realized the joy I could have until I met with the laymen's group at National Conference. Since then I have had some real Christian experience.

We have organized a laymen's fellowship in our church here and at Meyersdale, combining the two groups. The men elected me as president for the coming year. I have hopes of a very profitable year for the Lord, with His help, for I feel entirely inadequate for the job without His help.

So with your prayers to strengthen me I leave you with this quotation: "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another."

In His name,

Billy F. Yoder.

FROM OUR TREASURER

This is the treasurer's report from Aug. 1 to Sept. 30, with our projects.

Board of Evangelism ($3,000) . . .	$219.50
Student Aid ($1,000) . . . . .	5.00
Brethren Boys Clubs ($250) . . . . .	3.00
General Expense Fund ($500) . . . . .	134.69

I will try to send a report the first of each month. I do think the laymen will support these projects this year.

Thank the Lord that I can make this report.

Yours in His service,

Walter Hoyt.

ern States. These signs read as follows: 'LIFE IS SHORT—DEATH IS SURE—SIN THE CAUSE—CHRIST THE CURE' and 'DO NOT WORRY—FRET AND CARE—JESUS WILL—YOUR BURDENS BEAR.' A third set of signs are ready to be placed, and they read: 'DEATH AHEAD—FOR EVERYONE—GET PREPARED—ACCEPT GOD'S SON.' Work has been started on large single signs which we trust will glorify our Lord. It is our prayer that these testimonies might be instrumental in leading lost souls to the saving knowledge of our loving Lord and Saviour." . . . This is late news, but the reason Secretary "Bill" Fisher wasn't at National Fellowship was because Stephen Wray arrived Aug. 19 and Papa just couldn't get away from their home in Roanoke, Va. . . . The Men's Fellowship at Winchester, Va., at their September meeting elected Earl Hildebrand, president; J. G. Rogers, vice president; Gilbert Grimm, secretary-treasurer. The attendance of 18 men was the highest ever to attend a regular meeting. . . . "Ladies' night" was held Oct. 13 by the men at Whittier, Calif., First church. "The Prior Claim," a Moody Institute of Science film, was shown.

Thanks, laymen, for your wonderful response to the appeal made for news for this page. Keep up the good work!—J. B. D.

Operation Sunday School

Several days ago a yellow folder came to my desk, the outside cover of which had written across it the words, "OPERATION SUNDAY SCHOOL!"

Of course I was interested, for I did not know just what kind of an operation the Sunday school needed. I had not even heard that the Sunday school was ill. Quickly I opened the folder and was happily surprised to see that this was the announcement of the National Sunday School Convention to be held in Minneapolis October 13-18. Operation Sunday School was not a needed surgical operation, but rather the announcement of a Sunday-school offensive.

Why should the Sunday school open an offensive?

Why should the Brethren Church be interested in a Sunday-school offensive?

The first answer to that question comes to us from the command of the Lord Jesus Himself, who said, "Go ye into all the world." In the story He told of the great supper, He said, "Go out . . . and compel them to come in." Soldiers in the military forces of our nation never question a command. Even though it may mean hardship and sacrifice they are taught to obey. Dare we who are the soldiers of Jesus Christ do less than the soldiers of our nation? Jesus has commanded us to "go and compel." Let us obey.

A second reason is found in the fact that we have the equipment. The Brethren Church has long held as its motto, "The Bible, the whole Bible, and nothing but the Bible." It has stood the test of the years. It has withstood every attack of the enemy. But remember, the Bible is the "sword of the Christian." A soldier does not defend his equipment. He uses it! He wields it to win the victory over the enemy. The time has come in the Brethren Church when we need to begin to wield the "sword of the Christian" in a real offensive campaign.

The Sunday school can be the greatest force for the church and for Christ as members of the Sunday schools across the nation go out with their "sword" (Bible) in hand to visit homes in every community, inviting men to come to know Christ, and to fellowship with the brethren in the church.

Will you join hands with other Brethren Sunday schools as we face the future in a real "Operation Sunday School"?

TEACHER TIPS

One of the finest ways we know for Sunday schools to grow and for Sunday-school scholars to grow is in "teacher preparation."

Here are four hints for preparing to teach in your Sunday-school class.

1. Prepare yourself thoroughly, not only by study, but by meditation and prayer. Think of the lesson in terms of the pupils you are to teach. Remember our task is of God and it is important enough to demand a thorough preparation every week.

2. Determine your own particular aim for every lesson you teach. This means the selection of a main thought or idea in every lesson that is essential to your own class needs. Having made the selection of that idea, prepare to use the lesson to drive home that thought or idea.

3. Prepare the pupils for the lesson before you begin to teach it. This can be done between Sundays as you visit your pupils in the home, meet them on the street, or in the business places of your community. Then, of course, you will always be on hand to greet them as they come into the church on Sunday morning.

4. Prepare your pupils by saying a word about next week's lesson before they go home today. This will awaken within them a desire to study next week's lesson and be prepared to hear it taught when they come on Sunday morning.

FROM ACROSS THE NATION

From Clearbrook, Va., comes word of a recent contest within the church in which two huge clocks became the method of keeping score. The contest aroused so much interest that on the closing Sunday 200 people jammed their way into the church.

Every Sunday saw an increase over the preceding Sunday. Congratulations, Clearbrook, for this fine report.

* * *

Clayhole, Ky., Sunday School has again entered the Christian Life and Times Sunday School Contest and is using "Flying Saucers" to interest the people of the community in attending their Sunday services. Sounds interesting, doesn't it? A plane flew over the community dropping paper saucers on which were printed the invitation to come to Sunday school. We trust Clayhole may again make the headlines in their latest venture in Sunday school.

* * *

Fort Wayne, Ind., has likewise entered the contest and is using a "jet-plane" trip around the world, with stops at all our home- and foreign-mission points as an opportunity to not only arouse the Sunday-school enthusiasm but likewise to give missionary information to every Sunday-school pupil. No wonder this church recently was able to tell us about their fine missionary giving through the pages of our Herald.

* * *

Sterling, Ohio, Sunday School held a joint promotion day and rally day on Sunday, September 27, with 124 present for the Sunday-school hour. Sterling has a completely departmentalized school with very fine facilities for classes, and a real Sunday-school enthusiasm. This is another illustration of what can be done when a church and its pastor have a real "Sunday-school vision" and a willingness to work.

Brethren YOUTH

By Ralph Colburn

THEY HAD A MIND TO GIVE!

It used to be true that campers had little spending money, and what they had was soon "invested" in edibles in the camp store. That was not true this year at National Camp Bethany. Camp opened on Monday, and it was soon evident that most of the young people had ample spending money. The offerings at Bethany Vespers (and that's the only service of the day when we take an offering at camp) were good—from $20 to $30 a night. The year before, these offerings had totaled $110 for the week, and that's the highest they had ever been, by far!

So on Wednesday night, we challenged the young people present to really dig deep, and give sacrificially, for the purchase of a tent for evangelistic work in France. We told them of the cost, approximately $500, and asked for $200 that night. We didn't get $200, but we got around $130, which, with the other offerings, made almost $200. But some weren't prepared to give that night, and came ready for the offering the next night. Gifts came pouring in, until Sunday night, at the close of the last vesper service, the total was $393. Someone wrote out a check to make it $400. Then another camper wrote out a check for $20. Another gave me his last quarter, just as he was leaving camp. Still another gave his last two dollars.

So the total was then $424.84, and is still growing. One girl who worked at the Bethany Crackerbox the week after our camp gave her wages, and BYF's in Limestone, Tenn., and Wooster, Ohio, sent in substantial contributions. A boy in Michigan talked it over with his mother, and they added $20 to the fund. Other fellows sent in dollars, and we've added $50 from the profits of Bethany, so the total is now well over $500 and still growing! That which is over and above the cost of the tent and equipment for it, will be spent in helping in the actual costs of evangelistic meetings in France next spring and summer. Perhaps it will help send a special worker over to help Missionary Fred Fogle in the work!

But that isn't the total story of the missionary giving in Bethany. On Saturday morning the boys decided on their national BBC missionary project—a chapel for Brazil—and took an offering that totaled about $60, giving them over $100 toward the project, with the balance they had on hand. And the girls in Sisterhood got a good start on their missionary project.

Then the discovery was made that one of the girls in camp, from New Mexico, didn't own a Bible. Word was passed around, coins were chipped in, and soon over $16 was given, and not one, but two lovely Bibles were purchased—one for this girl, and another for Tony Luna to take back and give to a young person in his church at Cordillera!

The Bethany Crackerbox did a thriving business for the week—over $400 worth of candy, pop, ice cream, horses necks, sloppy joes, moron specials, etc. But the 200 young people who spent most of that money also gave approximately $700 to specific missionary enterprises during the same week, and immediately afterward. Some of us didn't believe it could be done—and it's still hard to believe! But the facts are there—we can't deny them—so we praise God that our youth had a mind to give! Should we add, "Go thou and do likewise"?

INDIANA DISTRICT HOLDS FIRST YOUTH RALLY

Fort Wayne was host to the first youth rally of the new Indiana District on the week end of September 11 and 12, and more than 60 young people were registered. "Living for Christ and the Church" was the theme, and it was developed by Evangelist Bill Smith in two messages, Friday night and Saturday morning. Special music was featured from a number of different churches. Youth Director Ralph Colburn was song leader for the rally, and speaker at the banquet on Saturday noon.

BBC and SMM sessions were also enjoyed on Saturday morning, and the rally closed with a recreation period led by Camp Athletic Director Mark Jury.

Much enthusiasm was shown by this new district, and the next youth activity will be a one-night rally in Flora, Ind., in November.

THERE ARE MORE WAYS THAN ONE . . .

A little over a year ago, Lester Smitley and his wife moved to Parkersburg, W. Va., to begin a Brethren church. When they purchased a home in a newer section of the city—a home which had a large vacant corner lot next to it—Lester saw a way to win the confidence and friendship of the neighbors—especially of the young people. So he cleaned up the lot and began erecting playground equipment—a basketball standard, badminton net, horseshoe court, croquet court, etc. Of course, he got volunteer help, but most of the equipment belongs to him, and is gladly and freely loaned to all comers. And the children and young people, in appreciation, have taken remarkable good care of the equipment. The lot cannot be sold—it is city property, and reserved, for some reason which I've forgotten.

But this summer a real tribute was paid the Smitleys. Some of the boys made and carefully painted a sign which the Smitleys only reluctantly gave them permission to post. It reads, as you see, "Smitley Park, Elm and Chestnut Streets, Supervisor, Lester A. Smitley." And the "park" is popular. And some of the children and young people who play there have become attendants at the new Brethren Sunday school and church in Parkersburg. Yes, there are more ways than one to win a child!

Three of the Handwritings of God

(Scripture—John 8:6-11)

By Sheldon Snyder, Pastor Grace Brethren Church, Hopewell, Pa.

Text verse (Ex. 31:18): "Written with the finger of God."

Introduction. They tell us a man's character may be known by his handwriting. What he writes, and how he writes reveals what he is. I don't know whether this is always true, but I do know that the handwritings of God reveal the character of God. There are three occasions in the Scripture when God wrote. The Bible gives us this record. God wrote on stone, on plaster, and on sand. See how these writings reveal the character of God, how they set forth His attributes of holiness and justice. And best of all, watch how they manifest His desire to save sinners.

I. GOD'S WRITING ON STONE (Ex. 31:18).

"And he gave unto Moses, when he made an end of communing with him on mount Sinai, two tables of testimony, tables of stone, written with the finger of God."

These two tables contained the Ten Commandments. The Scriptures are plain, saying they were written by God's own hand (Ex. 32:16): "And the tables were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, graven upon tables."

1. A Revelation of God's Holiness.

First we notice that this writing was a revelation of God's holiness. The absolute righteousness required by the Ten Commandments was a reflection of the righteous character of God. The law contained in the Commandments demanded a perfect holiness, both God-ward and man-ward, in harmony with the perfect holiness of the God who gave the writing.

It is true the law could not save men, neither could it pronounce anyone righteous; but in itself it was as perfect as the God who gave it. It was weak only because of man's sin. Clearly a perfect holy God could approve of nothing less than a perfect holiness in man. It was a holy God saying, "Be ye holy for I am holy."

2. A Demonstration of Man's Wilfulness.

When Moses came down from the mount with the tables of stone, he saw the people dancing around the golden calf, and in a fit of anger he threw the holy tablets upon the ground and broke them in pieces. One would have thought a godly man like Moses would have revered and preserved those God-written tables, but this was not so. Here we have a demonstration of the reception of God's laws in the hands of man. Man will not be bound by God's commands.

3. Proof of God's Unchangeableness.

No sooner were the tablets broken than God commanded Moses to hew two more tables of stone. Despite man's disregard for God's Word, nevertheless the Word still stands. WHEN WILL MEN LEARN THEY CANNOT DO AWAY WITH THE WORD OF GOD BY REJECTING IT?

The irony of human life is that unbelieving men will be judged by the very Book they despise (John 12:48). What a day when infidels and scoffers will face the Word that they have heaped all their scoffings and sneers upon!

II. GOD'S WRITING UPON THE WALL (Dan. 5:5).

This scene at Belshazzar's feast is familiar to every Bible student. The events of the feast. One thousand guests. The irreverence. "THE HANDWRITING." Suddenly a hush of death falls upon the crowd; all eyes are turned upon the king; his face is white with terror as his eyes are fixed upon the wall, for "in the same hour came forth fingers of a man's hand" (vs. 5).

The king in great haste sends for the wise men to interpret the word on the wall, but in vain. To them it was an unknown tongue. But then Daniel appears at the door; the writing is still there (Dan. 5:25-28). The weighing was soon over. No sooner was the verdict announced than the sentence was carried out, for "in that night was Belshazzar the king of the Chaldeans slain" (vs. 30). This was written by a man's hand (vs. 5). Why a man? Why not angel? This man was the Man of Calvary, and the hand that was nailed to the cross (Acts 17:31).

Appointed unto wrath by the very One who could save them; banished from God and heaven by the very hand that is now stretched out to save them. The Saviour becomes Judge.

III. GOD'S HANDWRITING ON THE SAND (John 8:3-11).

Here we have the story of a woman taken in sin. Her guilt was plain; she does not deny it nor make any effort to defend herself. The law of Moses demanded death. What will Jesus say? It was a cunning trap of the Devil to ensnare Jesus. Jesus answered nothing, but stooped to the ground and WROTE SOMETHING. He wrote it in plain view so all could see. Jesus said: "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a

BEHOLD! A WHITE HORSE

By John W. Zielasko, Belem, Para, Brazil

"And I saw, and behold a white horse: and he that sat on him had a bow; and a crown was given unto him: and he went forth conquering, and to conquer" (Rev. 6:2).

Who is this mysterious rider on the white horse? The answers to this perplexing question have been many and contradictory, and it will not be possible here to consider every case. However, in general, interpreters can be divided into two groups: (1) those who claim that this rider represents something good, and (2) those who claim he represents something evil.

The way a man identifies this rider tends to color his interpretation of the whole of Revelation. Therefore it is imperative that we find the answer which best agrees with the sum total of Scripture.

Those who claim that this rider represents something good say it is (1) the Christ or (2) the Word of God. But the rider cannot be Jesus because He is the Lamb in heaven who opens the seals (6:1; 8:1). Besides, such a train of events that follows this rider never follows our blessed Lord. He will not take peace from the earth (6:4), but rather will bring peace to the nations (Isa. 2:4). He will not bring famine (6:6), but rather abundance (Psa. 72:16). Furthermore, Christ does not leave heaven at the beginning of the tribulation, but at the close of it (Rev. 19:11). He does not come to the earth to initiate the time of tribulation, but rather He comes to put an end to this terrible period.

It hardly seems reasonable that this rider should represent the going forth of the Word of God because God sent His Word into the world long before the time represented here in Revelation. The Great Commission of Christ (Matt. 28:19) sent His Word into all the world, and it has been conquering sin and the Devil ever since (Rom. 1:16). It has been said that this is the Word of God made naked by the rapture of the church and that because of this wonderful event many will believe. It is true that many will turn to the Lord during the tribulation period and many will be killed for the Word of God (7:9-17), but it has not been proved that the percentage of those saved then will be greater than those being saved now in this age of grace. If the preaching of the Gospel, which is the power of God unto salvation, does not lead the world to repentance, it is hard to understand why the rapture of the church, even considering the great and wonderful event it will be, will produce greater results. The Scriptures nowhere teach that the working of miracles has greater power to convict of sin and lead to repentance than the preaching of the Gospel.

In Revelation 9:20 we read: "And the rest of the men which were not killed by these plagues yet repented not of the works of their hands." And again in 16:9, "And men . . . blasphemed the name of God . . . and they repented not to give him glory." This can hardly be called the Word of God conquering and gaining absolute victory during the tribulation period. It seems more in keeping with the teaching of Scripture that there will be a lack of Scripture during this period, not an abundance (Amos 8:11).

The writer prefers to remain with the opinion commonly held in evangelical circles that the rider of the white horse mentioned here is the appearance of the Antichrist at the beginning of the tribulation.

Some of the major objections to this interpretation are as follows:

1. White is a symbol of righteousness and nowhere in Scripture, unless this is an exception, does it ever represent evil, nor is there any reason to believe that this is a false white.

We can agree fully with the above objection. It is true, as far as I know, that white is always a symbol of righteousness, and we have no good reason to claim that this is a false white. However, we are not seeking to identify the horse but rather the rider of that horse. Simply because a mean, wicked, immoral man should happen to rent a gentle horse from some riding academy does not mean that the character of the horse will change the moment the man mounts him. The horse can still be pure even if the rider is evil.

I would like to suggest that the white horse spoken of here represents the platform (campaign promises) upon which the Antichrist stands as he begins his rise to power. When he first appears on the scene he will be acclaimed as a remarkable leader. Even the nation of Israel makes a pact with him (Dan. 9:27). Surely this would not be so if his policies and programs did not appear to be righteous (white). Notice that he carries only a bow in his beginning career. He has the military potential but fires no shots. His first victories are won without war. There is, however, nothing to prevent this rider from changing horses as he gains power until at last he is demonstrated to be a beast (13:1).

2. It is further objected that this cannot be the Antichrist because of the phrase "conquering, and to conquer." This, we are told, can only mean that the rider goes forth and gains ultimate and final victory. This, only Christ will do. The Greek construction would permit this to be thought of as a purpose clause. If this is true, then such an objection is invalid. The rider went forth conquering and his purpose was to gain ultimate and final victory over the world. Napoleon rode forth with such ambition as did Hitler, even though neither attained his goal. Nebuchadnezzar rode forth (Dan. 2: 38) as did Alexander the Great (Dan. 2:39). Their purpose was to conquer and gain ultimate victory. Both of these men fulfilled their purpose. Alexander wept because there were (as far as he knew) no more worlds to conquer.

The Antichrist also rides forth conquering with the ultimate purpose in mind to gain the mastery of the world. But does he fulfill his dream? Scripture could not be clearer on this point, for in Revelation 13:7 we read: "And it was given unto him to make war with the saints, and to overcome them [conquering, is it not?]; and power was given him over all kindreds, and tongues, and nations." This sounds like world mastery, complete victory. To be sure, his reign is limited in time; nevertheless, the phrase, "conquering, and to conquer," has received a literal fulfillment. In chapter 6, verse 2, we see his rise, chapter 13 his reign, and chapter 19, verse 20, his ruin.

Bertrand Russell, an agnostic, wrote in the Atlantic Monthly for March 1951 on "The Future of Man." In this article he said, "Before the end of the century one of three things will happen to man: (1) the end of human life on this planet; (2) reversion to barbarism; (3) a single world government. . . . When a monopoly of armed force is established we will have a world in which successful rebellion will be impossible."

Here is a man who doesn't believe in Scripture, yet his third alternative conforms with Scripture. He only gives us until the end of the century—less than 50 years. His prediction would carry little weight for the Christian if it did not agree with the Word of God, but as it stands it is another testimony to the fact that God shall use the wrath of man to praise Him. The coming of Christ draweth nigh. At any moment the saints may be raptured. Reader, do you know Him who His own self bare our sins in His own body on the tree? How easy it is in this age of grace to turn to Him, even Jesus Christ, and find rest and salvation for your soul. The day is rapidly approaching when the white-horse rider will gallop forth upon this earth. Then it will be necessary to pay for your faith with your life (Rev. 7:14). How much better "to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come" (I Thess. 1:10).

THREE OF THE HANDWRITINGS OF GOD

stone at her." Notice Jesus did not deny that the woman deserved death as the law of Moses demanded.

Jesus merely commanded the stoning be done by a sinless man. The audience looked at Jesus and then at the message on the sand, and they began to disappear one by one, leaving Jesus with an audience of one woman. The sermon on the sand held her there.

1. What Did Jesus Write? This is the only record we have that Jesus ever wrote. It must have been from the Scriptures, for the scribes and the Pharisees had no argument with the writing. It is plain that whatever Jesus wrote must have convinced them of sin, as everyone was convicted and recognized that there was not a sinless man among them.

There are a number of Scriptures our Lord could have used upon this occasion, yet we believe Psalm 14: 2-3 was used. God through David says: "There is none that doeth good, NO, NOT ONE." So they went out "one by one," and when Jesus looked they were all gone. The message also brought conviction to the woman as she read the writing in the sand, and according to the Scripture she believed and was saved.

2. The Contrast as to the Reception of the Gospel.

The scribes and Pharisees went away, lost!

The sinful woman stayed and received the message to her own salvation. How can that be? "Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow" (Isa. 1:18).

EDITORIALY SPEAKING

By Russell D. Barnard

Editor, Foreign Mission Number

Into the Next Towns

I am amazed at the rapidity with which new towns and new cities come into view as locations where Brethren testimonies are urgently needed. Every week we hear of one or more places where groups of believers—believers who hold the same body of Christian truth as we do—are desiring that we come and help them in the establishment of another Brethren church. As I drive in various parts of the United States, I am impressed with the great new areas springing up in just a few months' time, and in so many of them no sound Christian testimony is being established. THE BRETHREN HOME MISSIONS COUNCIL is the agency which must face most of these opportunities and, we fear, face them with insufficient funds to meet the increasing challenges. Of course, if we're really "on the ball" as Brethren, then we are members of the Brethren Home Missions Council and so it is partly our challenge.

Gifts, Gifts, and More Gifts!

Yes, it will take gifts, tithes, offerings—a sacrificial surrendering of ourselves to this business of home missions, if we are to in any way "buy up our opportunities" in the matter of establishing these added Brethren testimonies and in carrying the Gospel "into the next towns." The kind of giving that we may extend to the poor blind man offering pencils on the street corner will never do the home-mission part of our Christian business. With all the urgency at our command we say, "Gifts, gifts, and more gifts for home missions."

To South America

The general secretary, Dr. Russell D. Barnard, plans to leave for the tour of our missions in South America on November 9 and should arrive in Buenos Aires, Argentina, on November 13. He will spend probably slightly less than two months in the Argentine area, and then he expects to go to Brazil, where he will spend most of the month of January. The plan is to return to the States in February, although the exact date has not been set.

Privately, and through the assistance of some interested friends, it is planned for Mrs. Barnard to accompany her husband. They will leave from New Orleans and plan to make the entire trip by plane. They very earnestly request your prayers as they go, not only that God will prosper the journey, but that their visits will be a spiritual blessing to the places visited.

In the General Secretary's Absence—

The Winona Lake office will continue as before, with Miss Marcia Lowe as office secretary and additional part-time help as needed. Miss Ruth E. Reddick, the financial secretary, has been asked to administer the home office and current foreign-mission business under the direction of the local members of the board of trustees of our society serving as a committee—Dr. Homer A. Kent, chairman; Dr. Alva J. McClain, and Rev. Herman W. Koontz. Just as when the general secretary is at home, matters of greater import will be presented to the entire board for consideration after first having been studied by the local committee and the financial secretary.

Miss Reddick will care for all general mail addressed to the foreign-mission office or to the general secretary, other than that marked "Personal." Such will be forwarded to Dr. Barnard unopened. Mail sent to the Barnards directly through December 31, should be addressed as follows: c/o Rev. Lynn D. Schrock, Rivadavia 433, Rio Cuarto, F. C. N. G. B. M., Argentina, South America. Mail sent to reach them during the month of January should be sent to the following address: c/o Rev. John W. Zielasko, Caixa Postal 861, Belem, Para, Brazil.

Missionary Outfit Clubs

Firstfruits, as they are being received in relation to the supplying of the outfit needs of Rev. and Mrs. Don Bishop, are most encouraging. We are asking the Lord to fully supply their needs. We and they greatly appreciate the help you have given. If you have not already helped with your gift, and you desire to do so, please care for such immediately in order that your church officials may send in the final reports. The Bishops will make purchases as rapidly as incoming funds justify.

Dual Ambassadorship—An Actuality

Dr. Joseph Simonson is the new United States Ambassador to Ethiopia. He was an ordained clergyman of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, but is thinking of himself as a Christian layman. He is quoted as saying that he believes that as a layman it will be possible for him to give Christian witness in many areas of Ethiopian life. We highly commend such an attitude and bespeak success for him in this dual ambassadorship. Not only

INTRODUCING OUR

JUNIOR MISSIONARIES

"Junior missionaries? Why I didn't know we had any junior missionaries!" Was such your comment as you read the above heading? No doubt it was.

Our junior missionaries are the children of our missionary families serving in various parts of the world. These children hold a unique place among the peoples where they are located, and the Lord uses them in many ways as witnesses for Him.

Since we have been having many requests for information concerning our missionary children, we are presenting those under 18 years of age to you in this issue of the Herald. They are grouped according to field location, with full name and birth date given. If you should have need for addresses, such are listed in the Brethren Annual, pages 44-46.

A Religion That Suits the "Old Man"

By Rev. Sibley Edmiston, Laredo, Tex.

Juan is a likeable young man and one who appears exemplary in many ways, and he is also very zealous for his religion. In talking with him the other day I learned something of his attitude which stems from the teachings he has received in his church. He believes that we are sinners and that we should feel sorry for our sins; in fact, if we are not sorry for them God will never forgive us. What he failed to account for was just how sorry we should be for them. His sorrow is one that is measured in droppers full of tears, but just how many drops should be measured out was largely bound up in the kind of sin, as well as many other noncalculable circumstances. Another thing which interested me was the fact that he could not believe that one simply believes in Jesus Christ, and by so believing is saved. He said, "You can't just believe. You must do something or show something that would make you worthy of divine forgiveness." Again, when asked just how much he should do, he became confused and as much as admitted that he didn't know.

Rev. Sibley Edmiston

It all goes to show that here is a religious teaching which lets man go on living his own life as always, with the exception that he is doing a little something to satisfy the "old man" that he is not being prepared for an endless suffering away from God's presence. Nor is Juan's religion necessarily a simple one. There is no limit to how sorrowful he can be if he so cares, nor as to how much good he can do for himself and others if he so desires. But there is a limit to how much he is required to do in order to escape any future punishment; beyond that he is free again to live his own life. If he does not fear too much a time of suffering in the life beyond, then he can relax all the more to live as he chooses for the present as long as he does not commit certain stipulated sins termed "mortal," such as missing certain days from service, or failing to confess his other sins at least once a year!

Here is a religion which makes it not too difficult for one to go on living as the "old man" pleases. These clothes suit him well. They take into account that there is a God to be reckoned with and that suffering is not so pleasant, but still they are free enough on him to let him move in his old ways as usual.

There are two songs which well answer such a convenient religion. As regarding sorrow for sin we hear,

Could my zeal no respite know,
Could my tears forever flow,
All for sin could not atone;
Thou must save, and Thou alone.

And as far as offering at least some little thing to God in order to gain His divine favor, there comes wafting back to us these momentous words:

Were the whole realm of nature mine,
That were a present far too small;
Love so amazing, so divine,
Demands my soul, my life, my all.

At least it can be said in Juan's favor that he is consistent with his teachings. How consistent are we with what we profess to believe? We who have come to see that only a new creation in Christ Jesus can ever satisfy God and allay His just condemnation. We need to be constantly on guard against the inconsistency of compromising with the "old man" and his deeds. Yet how guilty all of us are many times in this respect! It is well here to heed the words of Paul in Ephesians 4:20-24: "But ye have not so learned Christ; if so be that ye have heard him, and have been taught by him, as the truth is in Jesus: that ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness."

Juan's religion may suit the "old man," and fit him like a glove, but it can never bring any peace and full satisfaction to his heart. Only in the full and blessed release of Calvary will his true need ever be met. May he, and many others like him, come into the life of the glorious liberty of the Sons of God in Christ Jesus.

THE FIELDS AT A GLANCE

(Editor's Note—The survey of our various fields of missionary endeavor, presenting facts from the annual field reports, was begun in the Herald dated October 3, 1953. In this issue we present the remaining reports—from Argentina, Baja California, Brazil, and Hawaii. Each report has been compiled from information submitted by various missionaries.)

ARGENTINA

Our society's activity in Argentina centers in the Province of Cordoba. There are 18 different points of activity with 17 missionaries, representing 10 families, in general care of the work. We have two very faithful national pastors. Our churches are located in towns and cities of from a few hundred people to as many as 75,000. There are many, many towns and cities with no resident testimony and no contact other than an occasional visit by a missionary or national pastor. Opportunities in the Buenos Aires area alone could probably use all of the time and effort of all of our missionaries and still not have all the available opportune areas occupied.

The National Church

Our national church in Argentina is a full-scale church, with activities very similar to those in the United States, the chief difference being that the work is among a strange people, and in a language other than the mother tongue of the missionaries. In addition to the regular worship services, evangelistic meetings, and Bible conferences, there are units of the WMC, SMM, laymen's groups, Sunday school, young people's activities, and DVBS.

The fact that about 62,000 tracts and some 650 Bibles, Testaments, and Gospels were distributed during the year indicates the earnestness with which our workers pursue their tasks. The missionaries cared for much of this distribution, but a very large part of the work was done by the national church and especially by the Bible Institute students.

Throughout the entire mission the national believers are feeling and taking more responsibility for the work. With but few, if any, exceptions this is being done in a truly Christian spirit. We realize that the indigenous church is not the end in itself, nevertheless we have reason to rejoice in the progress that has been made this past year toward the establishment of the indigenous church in this field. Steps are being taken and progress made in the obtaining of the official government recognition necessary before the national church organization will be able to hold property titles.

A notable gain has been made in the offerings of the national church and this is most encouraging. Last year the total was 33,700 pesos ($2,400 U. S.), and this year the total was 42,500 pesos ($3,050 U. S.). It must be remembered that for most local situations to the Argentine believer a peso represents about the local value of the U. S. dollar.

The Bible Institute

The Brethren Bible Institute in Argentina is one of our most fruitful avenues of endeavor. In November 1952 four fine young ladies graduated from the post-graduate course and have been approved by the Argentine Council as national workers, receiving support from the national church. On November 7, 1953, there will be other graduates and two young ladies and two young men from this group will, without doubt, be approved and enter into definite service as national workers.

A correspondence course is now being offered in connection with the Bible Institute work, a course in which Dr. Alva J. McClain's little booklet, "Bible Truths," has been translated and adapted for correspondence work. We are not able to report the exact number enrolled in this excellent course, but there are around 40 in the Rio Cuarto congregation alone.

Many hearts are rejoicing in the Lord because the Brethren Church has a testimony in Argentina. Many have come out of darkness and slavery to the light and liberty of the Gospel. Pray for the Lord's blessing in this difficult but promising field.

One for One

BAJA CALIFORNIA

During the first half of the year we could see growth in the work of the Tijuana mission. The Lord evidenced His power in many ways and a few souls were saved. However, the Lord permitted us (the missionaries) to be banned from crossing the international line on December 19, 1952. Following this the work was carried on by a Christian brother of the mission, but the work had fallen off by the middle of March.

Just when things looked the darkest and we didn't know whether or not to give up the work there, the Lord sent us a Christian Mexican brother, Dr. Alberto Morales, from Tucson, Ariz., who is working in the State of Sonora, Mexico. Through his counsel and influence, Bros. Polo Longoria and Matias Fuentes offered their services until we found a pastor. These Christ-dedicated men have been used of the Lord to bring the scattered flock together again and to bring in new ones to hear the Word, so that the group is about as before and larger for some meetings of the week. The building and lot which we rent and which was for sale last year is not for sale now, but we can continue to rent it. The Lord has protected the meeting house from being closed by the government, as some others have been in Tijuana.

We are now grateful the Lord took us out of the way at the mission so that the Mexicans could carry on the work themselves. The brothers in charge are deeply spiritual and zealous men. We are still asking the Lord for a pastor to carry on the work in Tijuana and to establish the Brethren Church in Mexico for the honor and glory of Jesus Christ.

Trips

Bro. Walter Haag in December 1952 flew from Tijuana to Santa Rosalia, where he spent one week. Not much response was seen to the visit there so he moved to San Ignacio. There in the barrio San Lino, where Bro. Cruz Espinosa lives, the people were ready and waiting for the Gospel. Several received the Lord as their Saviour and seemingly were all prepared beforehand by the Spirit just to be asked to receive our Lord.

In May 1953 Brother Haag and his family began the second missionary journey, as Paul had suggested to Barnabas in Acts 15:36, to visit the brethren to see how they were doing. It was a joy indeed to see the growth of the babes in Christ and to be able to win more for the Lord in the village of San Ignacio. They were hungering after the Word. Visits were made to other villages, too. The seed was sown and we must trust the Lord for the increase. In Santa Rosalia they were encouraged by the prospects of a Gospel testimony there. Many tracts and Gospel portions were given out, as well as New Testaments and Bibles as the case indicated. Future visits are needed to establish these new believers in the Word of God. One young man is a possibility for studying for the ministry. Pray in regard to this.

Bro. A. L. Howard went to Tucson, Ariz., with the Mexican brother, Dr. Alberto Morales, in April 1953. They contacted border officials and consulates in regard to our problems and then went on into the State of Sonora, Mexico, visiting the missions that Dr. Morales had established there. Brother Howard was invited to return there in the summer.

On July 20, 1953, the Howard family, a Christian Mexican girl from Tijuana, and Miss Dorothy Robinson left San Ysidro for the State of Sonora, Mexico. They helped Dr. Morales in DVBS classes and in a summer camp during the month of August. The trip took them some 800 miles southeast from Tijuana. Next year's report will carry more details of the trip, but early reports indicate that at least 75 people accepted the Lord during this trip.

Detention Camp

Shortly after the first of the year the United States Immigration and Naturalization Detention Camp opened at San Ysidro, Calif. Brethren Haag and Howard have cooperated with some six other ministers from the area in holding Sunday afternoon preaching services for the inmates, most of whom are Mexicans. Many hands have been raised for prayer, and decisions have been made, but it is hard to keep in touch with these men. They have come from all parts of Mexico, and our prayer, as they return to Mexico, is that they will carry the Gospel with them to their communities and that they will tell their own people the "Good News."

Statistical Report

Nearly every department shows an increase, for which the honor and glory are our Lord's. We are in contact with some 23 who definitely accepted the Lord as Saviour during the year. In special meetings at the mission and in the detention camp others have indicated they received the Lord, but we are not in contact with them. The mission report is as follows:

	This Year	Last Year
Sunday school .....	56	40
Sunday afternoon preaching service	35	30
Prayer meeting .....	30	25
Saturday children's clubs .....	31	30
Friday evening Bible class—
First half of year .....	10	12
Last half of year .....	30	..
Women's Bible study (ended in December) .....	10	8

About 5,000 tracts were distributed, 300 Gospels, 100 New Testaments, and 42 Bibles.

Activities

The Howards moved to Calexico in September 1953. Brother Howard will establish a Bible-training school as soon as possible and will establish other programs as the Lord leads.

The Haags will remain at San Ysidro and will continue the present program in the Tijuana area. Through assisting in the government-sponsored adult education program in Tijuana, they have made many excellent contacts, and valuable opportunities for teaching and counseling have been extended. The desire is that the Lord will give us a Mexican pastor to carry on the work.

Trips will be planned into Mexico and Baja California from time to time to keep in contact with the people and to win precious souls to a saving knowledge of our Lord.

Laredo, Tex.

This, of course, is not in Baja California, but it is one of the Texas-Mexico border cities with many Mexican people in the immediate vicinity. Laredo has a population of over 50,000 and a large part of them are Mexicans; Nuevo Laredo, just across the border, has about 30,000 population.

During the summer Brother and Sister Sibley Edmiston and family began work in Laredo. Although they are not yet a part of our missionary program in an official sense, we are happy to count them as a part of the Brethren testimony for the Mexican people. We could wish that there could be a Brethren witness at every more prominent border crossing, that the thousands of Mexican people making the crossing into or out of the United States could be contacted for the Lord.

BRAZIL

Brazil is one of our newer fields, the first missionary family having arrived there only four and one-half years ago. Most of a very fine beginning in this field has been within the last three years. There are two centers of activity about 100 miles in from the mouth of the Amazon River, but across the river from each other and about 200 miles apart. Each of these centers has two or three outpost preaching places. Some new chapels have been built, and others are soon to be erected. These cost between $400 and $500 each, and are built on the basis that we supply the total amount. Then the national believers give offerings until one-half has been repaid, and the amount repaid goes to build more chapels.

There are now four missionary families for this field—one on furlough and three on the field. We could have at least five or six more centers like the two we now have and dozens of outpost preaching places. Workers—missionary and Brazilian—are our only limitation.

During the past year there have been 60 conversions of record and 27 of these have been baptized. The average attendance in Sunday school is 65; in prayer meeting, 35; and in the evening worship service, 105. There were 705 different meetings held during the year. Offerings given by the national believers totaled 7,213 cruzeiros ($200 U. S.). It must be remembered that the cruzeiro is the standard of money in Brazil, similar in many respects to our U. S. dollar. Offerings by the national believers take on a different proportion when this is considered.

HAWAII

We are encouraged by the Brethren testimony in Honolulu, Hawaii. Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise have been on the field since early May of this year. Before that time T/Sgt. Edwin Jones gave leadership to the work. During the latter part of the school year Brother Tresise taught in the Honolulu Bible Institute, and he has found wonderful cooperation from the fine people there in the beginning of our testimony.

A group of fine young people suggest a most promising future. There are also adults and quite a large number of children in attendance. Recent attendance has been ranging between 30 and 50. The local work has thus far been completely self-supporting, as have Brother and Sister Tresise as far as their livelihood is concerned.

We still have the privilege of meeting in the same quarters, without cost to us. It is entirely possible that within a few months other arrangements will need to be made and our society will help in this. The National WMC has underwritten help as is needed up to the amount of $300. It is too early to see the future clearly, but suffice it to say that we are greatly pleased with the progress being made, and we see a fully established Brethren testimony on the islands in the not-far-distant future.

A THOUSAND TONGUES

"O, for a thousand tongues!" we sing and hardly expect an answer. The British and Foreign Bible Society has literally answered that prayer. The Word of God has been taken to the peoples of the world in over a thousand tongues. When it celebrates its 150th birthday in March 1954 the society will have three aims.

The first is to bring home to the Christian church the significance and implications of this stupendous achievement; the second is to recall our own country to the reading of the Bible; the third is to re-equip and strengthen the society for further achievements.

Christians speaking dialects into which the Scriptures have been newly translated walk miles to obtain a copy and pore for hours over this treasured possession. We in Great Britain have had the Bible in our own tongue for 500 years. It would be a fitting response to the call of the Bible society if, in this Coronation Year, we dedicated ourselves anew to the daily study of God's Word.—World Dominion.

"Oh, so much to do and so little done."—Cecil Rhodes' last words.

Sowing Days in France

By Rev. P. Fredrick Fogle

He who earns his living by cultivating the soil, sowing seed, and reaping the harvest will tell those of us who know little about the business of farming that it takes much time and hard work before the harvest can be made. The ground must be prepared, the proper seed sown, the tender young plants nurtured; the sun must shine and the rain fall, and time must elapse before the field is harvested. In the Word of God the Lord, on several occasions, has compared this process to the preaching of the Gospel and the winning of souls. "He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him" (Psa. 126:6). See also Matthew 13:1-43.

In France today much of the ground is hard and dry. During the Middle Ages most of France stood without having received the true and powerful seeds of the Gospel of Christ until the days of the Protestant Reformation in the 16th century led by John Calvin. Though thousands of souls found Christ as their personal Saviour as the result of the efforts of many faithful Gospel-loving Frenchmen of that day, the impact was not great enough upon the nation as a whole. Unfortunately, persecution prevailed and many of these Christians fled to other countries so as to worship God as they felt led by the Bible; as a result France remained predominantly Roman Catholic. We are thankful for the Christian workers now in France, but still millions are without the experience of the new birth by faith in Christ and, what is more, they are without the least knowledge of how to be born again.

Thus it is the responsibility of the Christian to sow the seeds of the Word TODAY in France, and then work, wait, and pray for the harvest. In a real sense, the Son of God is the Sower of the seed and Christians are only helpers. It is He who prepares the ground; it is He who gives the increase; but He allows us to reap the harvest. It is my desire to tell how the good seeds of God's truth have been sown by your workers in France during the past few months in anticipation of the harvest that will follow.

Bible-Text Posters

One of the first methods used is that of Bible posters in cooperation with the Greater Europe Mission located near Paris. The posters vary in size, are in attractive colors, and have a verse of Scripture written thereon such as Matthew 11:28, Romans 10:9-10, and I Timothy 1:15. These posters are pasted on walls along the streets and in market places. At the bottom of each poster is an offer of a free New Testament for those who will write in. In this way we are able to get the names and addresses of those who are interested in the Bible. The Testament is delivered personally and a witness is given. The results of many of these visits are very gratifying. The response has been varied, as the following excerpts from letters from the Lyon area will indicate:

"For a long time I have wanted a Bible . . . thus I shall be very happy if you can send me a copy of the book indicated by your poster."

"Interested by the Bible, and having seen your poster, I ask you to send me a New Testament. If you have anything else concerning the Bible, please inform me of it."

"Having read your poster, and wanting to know more of the words of Jesus, would you send me a copy of the New Testament?"

"Very interested by one of your posters. I ask you to send me a copy of the New Testament."

To my surprise, one letter received recently asking for a New Testament was from a young student priest who has completed 9 of the 12 years of required study. It was not because he did not have a Bible, but he wanted a pocket edition. However, he told me that he had read the Bible through only once in all those years of study. I took advantage of the situation and spoke to him of salvation entirely made possible by Jesus Christ without our participation or merit.

Tracts

There is great freedom in France for the distribution of tracts, even greater than that which is enjoyed in the United States. Tracts can be placed in mailboxes without an envelope or a stamp. This is better than street distribution when they can be refused or thrown away before the person reaches home. By placing them in the mailboxes one is sure, at least, that they are received at home where there is naturally more time to read. In French cities the large majority of people live in apartments and oftentimes one finds offices and residences in the same building. Thus, when we enter, whether on business or to pay a visit, we place a tract in each mailbox. We also are following a plan to put tracts in each home in a certain area.

Public Meetings

During the month of May, with the help of some French Christians, Gospel meetings were held in two different localities in a public hall. A number of folks came to hear the Word. While the visible results of these first meetings were not great, the seed was sown. We must repeat this same method over and over so that folks will become conscious of the life-transforming and peace-giving message of Christ in contrast to the dead, cold formalism of the Roman Church.

Children's Meetings

Another opportunity for sowing the seed, and a very important one, is to teach the children. We have been able to gather a few children from our neighborhood into our home on Thursday mornings for a class. This has already been a means of reaching some parents. (As a note of interest, French schools are closed on Thursday, but open on Saturday.)

Adult Bible Class

One of the most encouraging things thus far has been a Bible class for adults, held in our home. At the present writing we have good contact with several families. We have had good opportunities to explain salvation by grace apart from works or merit. Indeed, these people have never heard of a salvation that one can be sure of. Pray with us that we might be able to win these to Him.

Village Work

In a previous article in this magazine it was said that approximately 35,200 villages in France contain about 75 percent of the total national population. At least 9 out of 10 of these villages have no evangelical witness. With this challenge before us, village work was begun this summer in those villages situated close to Lyon. These have provided opportunities for Bible poster work, tract distribution, and occasionally for personal witness. At a later time, when there are enough workers, meetings will be held in as many of these places as possible. What a thrill to see people reading a portion of the Bible that is "as a fire . . . and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces" (Jer. 23:29).

In this business of sowing the seed in France there are two things to be regretted. The first is that, beside the Roman Church which is standing in the way of the truth, there are today in France a number of cults and sects (unfortunately some of American origin) which are busy sowing their poisonous seeds of untruth and, in doing it, seem to have more zeal than we evangelicals. This should behoove us to do more for our Lord. The second thing is that the seed-sowing described in this article is of necessity only on a small scale in comparison to the need because of the lack of workers.

What will you do to meet the ignorance of the true Gospel existing in this important country of France? "And how shall they hear without a preacher? And how shall they preach, except they be sent?"

would we recommend such an attitude for governmental officials everywhere, but it has a very personal application in that born-again believers should be "ambassadors for Christ" wherever and whenever they go.

"The African Challenge"

For some months a unique newspaper has been coming to our office. It is THE AFRICAN CHALLENGE, a newspaper published at Lagos, in Nigeria, Africa, by the Sudan Interior Mission. It is published in English, but is an African newspaper for the Africans. Printing facilities had limited the editions to 50,000 copies per month, but arrangements are now being made to greatly increase the circulation of the paper. This will help supply much-needed Christian reading for the hundreds of thousands of educated native Christians in Nigeria who read and speak English, and who are being sorely tried by the beautifully printed communistic literature that is given to them.

estant Jemez Indians have filed suit in U. S. District Court here asking a court order guaranteeing their right to worship under the first and 14th amendments to the United States Constitution. The suit was brought on behalf of 90 Protestant residents of the predominantly Catholic Jemez Pueblo. The Protestants have been denied the right to bury their dead, to have their church, and have been threatened with the loss of homes, personal property, and birthrights if they refuse to become Catholic.

Winona Lake, Ind. According to R. G. LeTourneau, president of the Winona Lake Christian Assembly, more than 200,000 persons attended the conferences here this summer.

Pray for . . .

HOME MISSIONS—

1. Pray for the early completion of the four new home-mission church building programs under way at Findlay, Ohio; Roanoke, Va.; Phoenix, Ariz.; and Temple City, Calif.

2. Pray for the new personnel at the Brethren Navaho Mission, and also for the Navaho children in the school. Many of the children will be new this year.

3. Pray for a better meeting place at Wheaton, and that a new building program might be gotten under way soon. Also remember Bro. Kenneth Teague, who will be the first resident pastor, arriving on the field in a few weeks.

4. Pray for the churches at Modesto, Calif.; Alexandria, Va.; and Johnson City, Tenn.; where there will be a change in pastors, that in every case the work will continue to move forward through the transition period.

5. Pray for the five young people from the Cherry Valley Brethren Church that are away attending Christian schools. Also remember the young people from other home-mission churches who are away in school. Praise God for these young people training for His service.

6. Pray as you never have prayed before in the few remaining days before Thanksgiving that the home-mission offering will be sufficient for the proposed budget of $166,000 in 1954.

GRACE SEMINARY—

1. Praise God for the way He met our demands during the months when financial income was low. Pray especially for the finances of the school during the months of November, December, and January before the annual offering comes in.

2. Pray for the students who will be going home over the Thanksgiving holiday, that they may be used to testify to loved ones and friends.

3. Pray for the development of our college program and especially for the many young college students away from home for the first time.

4. Pray for the staff, especially for the administration, that they may have wisdom in meeting the many problems and responsibilities of our growing school.

FOREIGN MISSIONS—

1. Continue to pray that the Lord will enable Brethren people to give sacrificially and substantially to home missions at this Thanksgiving season; the needs are great.

2. Pray for Dr. and Mrs. Russell D. Barnard, who are now on their way to Argentina by plane. Pray that they, the missionaries, and the national believers in Argentina and Brazil will be blessed by their visit.

3. Pray for the Marvin Goodman family as plans are made to leave for France around December 4. Pray that the Fogles may be able to secure a place for them to live, and pray that just the right medical attention may be secured there for little Anne.

4. Pray for the Howard family, now located in Calexico, Calif., just across the border from Old Mexico. They are living in a small house trailer; pray that a suitable location and house may be found.

5. Pray for the Don Bishops, that permanent visas for Argentina may be granted, and that sufficient outfit funds may be provided for their needs.

6. Pray for Miss Ruth Snyder as she returns to Africa for another term of service; she expected to leave France by plane November 7.

7. Pray for the Beaver family and Miss Mary Cripe and Miss Marybeth Munn, who are expecting to leave Africa around November 20 for furlough; they are coming by way of France.

8. Pray for Mrs. Fogle in France as she learns to play the vibraharp; music is of great value in the services there. Also pray for the Fogles as they endeavor to secure suitable meeting places in the towns of Caluire and Villeurbanne.

9. Pray for the Tresises and the work in Honolulu; there is need for a more suitable and convenient meeting place. They are looking toward the establishing of children's classes and an adult Bible class in the community.

WMC—

1. Pray that our prayer life and our love for God's Word may both grow mightily. May we truly "come apart" for fellowship.

2. Pray that we may support our own WMC missionary, Mrs. Loree Sickel, both by our prayers and our offerings.

3. Pray for our two-year home-mission project, the building of a Navaho school building. Let us also remember the spiritual needs of the teacher and pupils.

SMM—

1. Pray that the SMM girls might be witnesses for their Lord and be instruments in winning others to Him.

2. Pray for the Sisterhood girls in schools and colleges that the Lord will bless them in their studies.

3. Pray that more girls of our churches might join the Sisterhood.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP—

1. Pray for the youth director as he visits churches and schools in the Southeast.

2. Pray for our BYF program writers that we might be effective and helpful to our young people.

3. Pray that we may be able to get some much-needed office equipment soon.

4. Pray for our BBC's, many of which have recently been reorganized, that many boys may be won and held for Christ.

THE HERALD—

1. Pray for the staff as they are continually assigned additional work with our expanding publishing work, that the Lord will sustain and strengthen them for His work.

2. Pray for the company as it seeks to improve the service to the churches of our brotherhood.

3. Pray for the writers of the Sunday-school quarterlies, that the Lord might give them His blessing in writing.

EVANGELISTIC

Revival Fires Are Evident at Martinsburg Vice President at Fremont, Ohio

One week after the revival services were over, 125 members of the Rosemont Brethren Church were present at the midweek service, and 107 the following week. This is but a part of the evidence that God has given a great revival in Martinsburg, W. Va., under the faithful ministry of R. Paul Miller, evangelist for Team One of the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade.

Rev. M. L. Myers, pastor of the Rosemont Brethren Church, reports that there were 40 decisions for Christ, seven of which were first-time confessions. Three Christians broke from liberal churches and have united with the Brethren church in Martinsburg.

Under the capable leadership of Pastor Myers, and the untiring efforts and encouragement of Evangelist R. Paul Miller, scores of calls were completed by the "seventy group" which resulted in the visitors outnumbering the regular members night after night. Through coordinated effort, 4,000 handbills were distributed, and some 800 homes of the community were canvassed door to door.

The high point of the service came on the second Sunday night, when 233 people packed the auditorium which comfortably seats 190, and heard Paul Flick, local high-school coach, former professional football player with the Pittsburgh Steelers and star at Brown University, give his ringing testimony of how he was saved.

The Rosemont Brethren Church looks with happy anticipation to a return meeting with Team One of the Crusade.

For the third time in four years, the Grace Brethren Church of Fremont, Ohio, invited Rev. Arnold R. Kriegbaum, editor of the Brethren Missionary Herald and vice president of the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade, to conduct an evangelistic campaign. According to Rev. Lester Pifer, "the third meeting was the best." There were 14 first-time confessions, one-half of whom were young husbands. There were 31 public decisions. The Lord be praised for the commendable work done by Brother Pifer, who recently resigned to assume his new duties with the Brethren Home Missions Council.

Crusade Teams at Grace Seminary

Personnel of Teams One and Two met in Winona Lake on October 28 for the first time since the second team began its work. The Brethren Evangelistic Crusade, under Arnold R. Kriegbaum, vice president, had charge of the chapel service. Evangelist R. Paul Miller and Evangelist Walter Lepp brought short messages.

Max Williams Joins Team One

Max Williams, trombonist-song leader from the Second Brethren Church of Long Beach, Calif., joined Team One in Hagerstown, Md., on September 30.

Mr. Williams completed his high-school work in Long Beach, and afterward spent four years at the Bible Institute of Los Angeles in the department of music. His experience includes six years of church choir work, and about the same time in Youth for Christ work. He is married, and has a 17-months-old son, Larry. Mr. and Mrs. Max Williams

CRUSADE

Edited by Rev. Arnold R. Kriegbaum

Johnstown, Pa.

The Holy Spirit of God demonstrated His power in the Riverside Brethren Church, and as a result of weeks of earnest praying for revival, God answered, and under the direction of Team Two of the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade there were 41 decisions for Christ, of which 18 were first-time confessions. Most of the decisions were made by adults.

Here is a young church, two years old, with only 38 members, and the place of worship is not a stately temple but only a converted house, yet God moved in mighty power, and the church had a real revival and souls were saved. The Holy Spirit moved in such power that decisions were made in every service but one.

The attendance grew steadily throughout the campaign, and by the end of the two weeks the building was crowded to the doors. Every attendance record was shattered! "We have had a real revival at Riverside Brethren Church," according to Rev. Ralph Hall, pastor.

LEAMERSVILLE, PA.

As the Herald goes to press, word has been received that the average attendance for the first seven nights has been 210. Forty-three decisions have been made for Christ, and again God is using Team Two of the Crusade in a mighty way. Revival is on in Leamersville! Robert Crees is pastor.

CORRESPONDENCE

Address all correspondence directly to THE BOARD OF EVANGELISM, BOX 15, WINONA LAKE, INDIANA. Mail addressed to personnel of the teams will be forwarded to them. All checks should be made payable to THE BOARD OF EVANGELISM OF THE BROTHERS CHURCH.

Victory at Uniontown, Pa.

The Uniontown, Pa., church has experienced a genuine revival. For months the church prayed for a mighty revival, and God answered. Under the leadership of Team Two of the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade, a three-weeks campaign was launched September 6.

The average attendance at the evening services was 152, a new high for the Uniontown church. During the three weeks there were 64 decisions for Christ, 15 of them first-time confessions. Of this number, all but four were adults, and over one-half were men. One convert was 70 years of age.

Prayer prevailed in every service for months before the evangelistic campaign began, according to Pastor Clyde Landrum. Evangelist Lepp recognized that prayer had been made when he said, "We thank God that the very first Brethren Evangelistic Crusade meeting that Team

Two has been privileged to direct was in a church and with a pastor that realized the great need for prayer."

The prospect list for these meetings was not an ordinary one. It was a list that was bathed in effectual prayers, tears, and repentance. This resulted in deep conviction and repentance on the part of those who came to make decisions for Christ.

The real test of a revival campaign comes after the meetings are closed. Since the close of the meetings the prayer meetings have more than doubled, the interest in the work of the church has been noticed, and the offerings have increased. We now have an active Brethren laymen's group, and have affiliated with the National Fellowship of Brethren Laymen. Rev. Clyde Landrum, pastor of the First Brethren Church of Uniontown, says, "This, I am convinced, is real revival."

MEMBERS OF TEAM TWO

WALTER LEPP

Th.B., Bible Institute of Los Angeles; 15 years pastoral experience; radio preacher and soloist.

CHAS. BERGERSON

Diploma, Grace Theological Seminary; pianist - organist; formerly with "America Back to God" Quartet.

FRANK COFFIN

B.S.M., Bob Jones University; served in Air Force in England; song leader and tenor soloist.

What Is Your Excuse?

By Adam H. Rager, Artesia, Calif.

"And they all with one consent began to make excuse" (Luke 14:18).

Excuse-making brings to our mind the fable concerning the lazy ox who was hitched beside a mule. He decided that work was designed for those who liked it, therefore he laid down on the job. When evening came and the mule was returned to the stable, having labored faithfully all day long, the ox was quite curious and asked, "What did the master say?" The tired mule answered, "I heard nothing, but I saw the master leaning over the fence talking to the butcher."

This business of making excuses is a deadly business, very flimsy, and it is not new. Someone has defined an excuse as "the skin of a reason stuffed with a lie."

I. Excuse-Making Is Not a New Thing.

It is as old as sin and entered the world when sin entered the Garden of Eden. When sin severed the intimate relationship between our first parents and God, their Creator and Benefactor, they immediately offered an excuse. It is recorded in Genesis 3:12-13. "And the man said, The woman whom thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat. . . . And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat."

This same attitude has persisted down through the ages of time. Cain, when confronted with his brother's murder, tried to dismiss the issue by an excuse. "Am I my brother's keeper?" When Lot was commanded to leave Sodom and flee to the mountain he sought an excuse to remain nearby—"lest some evil take me, and I die." David labored frantically to cover his sin of adultery and murder was the result. The rich young ruler excused himself from the Saviour's presence because of his riches, and Pilate endeavored to wash away the guilt of the crucifixion of Jesus. Yes, the examples of excuse-making are all too numerous and universal. Few of us can forget the well-planned strategy we used as children to conquer the cookie jar and many of us have never "put away childish things."

II. Excuse-Making Is a Flimsy Business.

Nothing is quite so revealing as a mere excuse. It reveals one of two things which take the form of a pretext or a preference. Either we desire to hide the real reason or we prefer the second-rate rather than the supreme. Notice the excuses stated in our context, Luke 14:18-20. "I have bought a piece of ground, and I must needs go and see it. . . I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them. . . I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come." All are legitimate excuses in that they reveal devotion to business and home, which is proper. But in relationship to the person and the invitation they also reveal something more important, and that is a heart determined to have its own way and to refuse God's best. Any excuse which rejects God's blessing and spurns His love is surely a flimsy business and is extremely dangerous.

Rev. Adam Rager

III. Excuse-Making Has Deadly Results.

The verdict pronounced upon the excuse-makers is in verse 24: "None of those men which were bidden shall taste of my supper." Refusal of the gracious invitation closed the door to the life-giving food. Invitation to the bounties of heaven is lovingly extended through the Lord Jesus Christ and the same flimsy excuses are damning souls to an eternal hell now as they have for centuries. The Lord Jesus is the Way, the Truth, and the Life, and no man cometh unto the Father but by Him. But there are still those who are "too busy" to consider Him, those who "cannot believe," those who hide behind "hypocrites," those who must "get rid of some habits first," and they remain condemned souls.

How many there are who refuse to enter in themselves and would hinder them that would! How many are wayward Christ-rejectors today because some parents didn't believe in "influencing their children in religious matters"! Some will still insist that "it doesn't matter what you believe just so you are sincere," even though the one who drank strychnine for essence of peppermint didn't live to tell about it.

Others will argue: "Why must I accept Christ as my Saviour? Can I not confess my sins and ask God's forgiveness on my own?" They fail to realize that all sin is a violation of God's holiness and the penalty which is eternal death must be and has been cared for in Christ's death on Calvary. "He that believeth on the Son is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God." Those who refuse Christ, whatever the excuse, are forbidden to taste of eternal life.

Friend, what is your excuse for spurning God's love and rejecting His Son?

PROPHECY

THE MESSAGE TO SMYRNA

By George O. Peek, Long Beach, Calif.

Those who are familiar with church history have observed that there is an orderly sequence in the epistles to the seven churches in Revelation, chapters 2 and 3, in which are set forth the moral and spiritual conditions of the professing church in seven successive periods, from apostolic days to the end of the Christian testimony on earth.

Strictly speaking, the second epistle (Rev. 2:8-11), addressed to the angel (messenger) of the church in Smyrna, would have a message only for those who lived in this city at the time this letter was written. However, the expression, "the things that are," in Revelation 1:9 seems to be a comprehensive term embracing all the church age, therefore there is a sense in which the message of Smyrna is for all believers.

Smyrna means "myrrh," and it not only sets forth the actual condition of the church there at the time John wrote, but in its prophetic sense reveals the suffering of the Christians who lived in the two centuries that followed the apostolic period. Myrrh was obtained from an aromatic shrub and was a basic element in many perfumes. The more it was crushed, the greater was the sweet aroma given forth.

The church in Smyrna endured bitter persecution. For 200 years following the apostolic days the followers of Christ suffered many horrible forms of martyrdom in this city. From the time of Domitian to the reign of Diocletian and Galerius 10 imperial edicts were issued commanding that the followers of Christ should be searched out and destroyed. Here in A. D. 167, Polycarp, who had known John personally, was burned to death rather than to deny his Lord.

What comfort these words must have brought to those who were enduring such suffering. They were exhorted to look up by faith to the One who had died for them and now was alive forevermore, ready to minister unto them. Furthermore, He understood all the afflictions His people were called upon to endure, but He reminds them that His followers are far richer than those who persecute them. This has always been true. The Apostle Paul recognized this and spoke of himself "as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things" (II Cor. 6:10).

There were also false teachers (Judaizers) within the church who troubled the believers with their subversive teachings. This kind had troubled the believers in Paul's day, saying, "Except ye be circumcised after the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved" (Acts 15:1). These legalists, opponents of salvation through faith, apart from human merit, have always been at work in the church and will continue to oppose the true believer until the end of the age when, according to the parable of the wheat and tares (Matt. 13:24-30), they will be separated from the true church and cast into the furnace of fire. How thankful we should be that the Shepherd calls His own sheep by name (John 10:3).

In verse 10 the believers in Smyrna are encouraged to find comfort in the knowledge that all they were to suffer was foreseen by the Lord, who has promised to provide grace for every trial. All the plans of the enemy of man's soul are known beforehand to the Captain of our salvation and His supply will meet our every need (I Cor. 10:13). Furthermore, they are reminded that Satan's power against the true believer is limited. The Devil may be the prince of this world, but he cannot go beyond the permissive will of God.

How thankful these early believers must have been for the assurance of the Lord's presence and provision for their immediate sufferings. Likewise His promises for the future provided strength for dark days: "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." This crown is not eternal life or salvation, which is a free gift of God and a present possession of every believer, but that reward which the Lord will give unto His faithful followers in the day when they stand before the judgment seat of Christ (I Cor. 9:24-25).

The first words of verse 11 remind us that these letters to the seven churches in Asia were not for them alone but for every believer in this present dispensation of grace: "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches." Therefore, the promise in the latter part of the verse is doubly precious: "He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death." No matter what a believer may be called upon to suffer in this life he can be sure that he will never have to endure the second death. The second death is the lake of fire (Rev. 20:14), and is not the "overcomer" "he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God" (I John 5:5)?

Therefore, the true believer finds comfort in the knowledge that all the suffering he will ever know will be in this life only, for in heaven "God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away" (Rev. 21:4).

FOR YOUR BOOK SHELF

---

The Brethren Missionary Herald Company offers to its readers the opportunity to secure additional books for your library. With the ordering of any one of the following books, cash with order, you will receive a coupon. For every four coupons sent to the Brethren Missionary Herald Company you will receive in return a complimentary copy of a book you would be proud to place in your library. If you order one or more of the following books by November 15, 1953, and cash accompanies your order, you will receive a coupon with each book purchased.

THE MOODY BIBLE STORY BOOK, by G. Ingwersen. Moody Press, 1953. Cloth. 639 pp. Price, $4.95.

The text of this book is based on a translation of a well-known Dutch Bible-story book, and is of practical use to parents, Sunday-school teachers, and children's workers. It carefully follows the Bible narrative, and will make the stories of the Bible live anew in the minds and hearts of the children.

BEYOND HUMILIATION, by J. Gregory Mantle. Moody Press, 7th ed., revised. 248 pp. $3.

The conflict between the old nature and the new nature of the Christian is portrayed, and the question raised why the new is not victorious over the old. The author sets forth the secret to victory as it is revealed in the Word of God.

THE HEM OF HIS GARMENT, by Argyle M. Briggs. Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1951. Cloth. 314 pp. $3.

A romance story, in which Sharon Simpson becomes bored with life in Texas and is all but despondent when Stephen Kent, a young high-school principal enters her life and they are married. The rigid decorum of the Kent family, and the departure of her husband for military service, leaves Sharon again in the rush of despair. Then it was that she discovered the secret of life.

WINE OF MORNING, by Bob Jones, Jr. Van Kampen Press, 1950. Cloth. $2.50.

If you are acquainted with the New Testament, you will thoroughly enjoy this book, with its many surprises. Mystery and excitement, fact and fiction in superb literary style blend into a story of outstanding interest and worth, especially for young people.

GRACE AND POWER, by W. H. Griffith Thomas. Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co. Cloth. 137 pp. Price, $2.

This book sets forth some aspects of the spiritual life in relation to God and man. The author calls attention to the Christian life, the demand for the highest possible standard, and the assurance that God provides the power.

THE WOLF DOG, by Ken Anderson. Zondervan Publishing House. Cloth. 151 pp. Price, $2.

A prize winner of the Zondervan $1,000 Juvenile Christian Fiction Contest. The story is one in which a boy keeps faith in his dog when all the evidence pointed him to be a sheep-killer.

RIVEN FETTERS, by Sallie Lee Bell. Zondervan Publishing House, 1953. Cloth. 215 pp. Price, $2.50.

Without the omnipotence of God, the plot of this story could not be. You, the reader, will be flushed with thrilling exultation as Christ's transforming power works physical and spiritual miracles in the lives of those who place faith in Him. Relieved of verbosity, you will be carried along with the author's flowing style among the scenes where Christ once walked.

The plot plays between a handsome bronze-skinned centurion and a beautiful young maid. The centurion becomes Pontius Pilate's pampered favorite, while the maid becomes an ugly, twisted cripple. With dagger in hand she sets out to avenge fate, when Christ transforms her.—L. K.

BRETHREN CHURCH DAY SCHOOL OFFICIALS MEET IN LONG BEACH

About 50 people, made up of board members, teachers, and pastors representing Brethren church schools in southern California, gathered at the First Brethren Church of Long Beach Sunday afternoon, October 4. This was an occasion when the personnel of all five Brethren schools were able to get acquainted, share each other's blessings and problems.

Day schools in California, directed by Brethren churches now have an enrollment as follows:

Long Beach elementary, first six grades—213 enrolled and 6 teachers.

Long Beach junior high and high school, grades 7-12—246 enrolled, 11 teachers.

Temple City, grades 1-8—126 enrolled and 5 teachers.

First Brethren Church of Inglewood, kindergarten to 4th grade—67 enrolled, 3 teachers.

Washington Blvd. (South Whittier), kindergarten to 4th grade—35 enrolled, 2 teachers.

This brings the total pupils enrolled in all Brethren schools in southern California to 687.

Twenty-six are enrolled in the senior class in Long Beach Brethren High School to be graduated in June 1954.

Throughout Brethren schools one period a day is given to the teaching of the Word of God. All teachers hold the viewpoint that Christian truth belongs in every classroom and that Christ Himself is the center of all wisdom.

DO YOU PRAY FOR YOUR PASTOR?

Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman in his first pastorate in Philadelphia was visited by a layman who frankly said to him, "You are not a strong preacher. In the usual order of things you will fail here, but a little group of laymen have agreed to gather every Sunday morning and pray for you."

Dr. Chapman added, "I saw that group grow to 1,000 men gathered weekly to pray for this preacher!"—Ashland bulletin.

"WHITE UNTO HARVEST"

Harvest time always gives reason for thanksgiving to almighty God for His bountiful blessings. At this season of the year God has provided for the Brethren Church a means of expressing our gratitude by making it possible to do some spiritual reaping through Brethren home missions. Your Brethren Missionary Herald Company urges you to give with thanksgiving to our fine home-mission program. The fields are "white unto harvest."

"Come Ye Apart"

Mark 6:31

LET US PRAISE HIM!

By Mrs. Homer A. Kent, First National WMC President

"Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits" (Psa. 103:2). It is a good thing to ponder the goodness of God and to meditate upon the benefits with which He enriches our lives. How impoverished we would be if suddenly our riches in Him were withdrawn!

Identification With Christ

Consider the meaning of being identified with Christ. Not just affiliated with a church that proclaims His name or even to have professed Christ as Saviour yourself, but to know that you are a new creature. Old things are passed away, behold all things are become new. Consciousness of such deep truth should thrill your heart and soul with real blessing.

Identification with Christ helps you to understand what it means to abide in Him. Did you know that we are commanded to abide in Him? Not just invited to do so, but expressly commanded. When you have embraced this high privilege, you soon cultivate a tranquil spirit and the peace that passeth understanding really pervades the soul. Surely we ought to praise the Lord for this gracious privilege.

Fellowship With Each Other

I sometimes wonder if we, as WMC members, recognize the blessing we have of fellowship with each other. We are essential to each other for growth in grace. We are bidden to pray for each other and to share one another's burdens. We are invited to enter into the fellowship of the saints. Loneliness dissolves when we do, and real concern for others takes its place. Such privilege is a real cause for praise to Him. I believe if more of our women considered fellowship a real blessing we would soon find increased membership in our councils. To be able to fellowship with the missionaries through prayer is more of a blessing than many have yet discovered. Somehow I always feel sorry for the sister who is bored by a missionary meeting. She hasn't learned how to enter into the fellowship of the saints. "If we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (1 John 1:7).

Ministering in His Name

Praise wells up in our hearts when we realize that a holy God has deigned to use unworthy human beings to fulfill His purposes here in the earth. Even though we accomplish so little individually, we are putting our efforts together so that souls may be gathered in. We may think our offerings are small, but every offering helps, and God is able to glorify the smallest gifts as He did the widow's mite if offered in the same spirit. Every testimony can be increased to His glory and all efforts will be magnified by Him. What a wonderful privilege He has granted us to have a part in the sobering work of reconciliation! Do not pass it over lightly. A crowded busy lifetime is far too short to ignore this great ministry. Rather praise Him for the privilege. May we humble our hearts before Him for His wonderful goodness to us.

WE CHALLENGE YOU

"And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me" (Matt. 25:40).

For a number of years the WMC has been presenting to the Lord each year a "thank offering" which has been used for Jewish evangelism. Unfortunately this offering has sometimes had the appearance of an "afterthought offering" rather than a "thank offering" in that it has always fallen far short of the amount we give for any other offering. If the thankfulness of our WMC women were to be gauged by our "thank offering" the conclusion would have to be that we are a most ungrateful group.

Desiring to see all of our WMC members enjoying a fuller measure of joy and blessing in the Lord, the national executive committee recommended a goal of one cent a day from each member for this offering during this year. Read what our financial secretary, Rae McCall, says: "Here is something I could hardly believe. Our goal for the 'thank offering' for Jewish work is one penny per day per member. One cent times 365 days equals $3.65 times 3,630 members is $13,249.50. Will we make it? Pray that each lady in WMC will give at least one penny per day as a 'Thank you, Lord' this year."

How about YOU? Will your "thank offering" be truly an expression of love to Him, manifest in a desire to win His brethren after the flesh, or will it be an "afterthought offering"?

BRETHREN

Women Manifesting Christ AROUND THE WORLD

Our mission study for this month of November takes us on a visit to our own Brethren mission work to that needy nation on our southern border, namely, Mexico. Our study proper was written by Mrs. Alys Haag, who with her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Howard, have been greatly used in the establishment of our work in Baja California. In keeping with our new policy of presenting in the Herald each month the latest developments in the particular field being considered in our devotional meeting of the month, we have asked Miss Dorothy Robinson to give us a short account of the newest plans for expansion along the Mexican border. Miss Robinson spent the summer with our workers there and is looking forward to having a large part in the development of the Bible institute to be started. At the present time she is doing graduate work at Grace Seminary to more fully equip herself for the work to which the Lord has called her.

Mrs. Haag

SCATTERING THE SEED ON THE MEXICAN BORDER

By Miss Dorothy Robinson, Missionary Under Appointment to the Mexican Border

During the early part of the summer the Haags made a trip down into the peninsula of Baja California in Mexico to strengthen believers whom they had met on former trips, and also to reach new souls for the Lord. The eagerness with which the Gospel was received at a city by the name of San Ignacio greatly thrilled their hearts. When they returned to their base at San Ysidro and Tijuana they took up the work which the Howards had been carrying on in their absence.

Dorothy Robinson

Although, for a while, the Mexican government has closed the door to their work in the Tijuana mission, yet God has provided Mexican leaders from San Diego and Tijuana to conduct the service and carry on the work there, so that the attendance and interest have kept up very well. Just recently a home in another section of the city, Colonia Libertad, has been opened for Bible classes.

Meanwhile, the Haags have not been idle, but God has enabled them to serve Him in many places, including the adult education program of the Red Cross of Tijuana, in which they give courses in home nursing and first aid. They also have continued the meetings at the detention camp for "wetbacks" in San Ysidro. The attendance of Mexican nationals runs around 75 to 80. These men, who come from all parts of Mexico, have been apprehended after illegal entry into the United States and are held there before being returned across the border. It is the hope of the missionaries that some of these men will receive the Lord and scatter the seed of the Gospel throughout their country as they return to their homes.

In the middle of July the Howards left, with car and house trailer, for a trip down the Mexican mainland, through the State of Sonora, which lies along the coast. They went directly east to Tucson, Ariz., then turning south, they crossed the border at Nogales, after which they continued in the same direction about 600 miles. A fruitful month was spent contacting Christians in that region and holding meetings for children and adults. In addition to the desire to reach the lost, the purpose of this trip was, first of all, exploratory; and secondly, the purpose was to become acquainted with the Christian people and let them know about the plan for starting a Bible institute and correspondence school in Calexico, Calif.

Mrs. Howard and native girl assistant teaching children.

Soon after the Howards returned to San Ysidro, they moved to this city of Calexico, which is an inland border town adjoining Mexicali in Mexico. They immediately began the search for property, meanwhile living in the trailer. They felt Calexico was a better place than San Ysidro to establish the school since the city is larger and the population is 75 to 80 percent Mexican. Hardly 100 people will be seen in attendance at the few Protestant churches in town, so it seems to be a good field in which to commence. Property is hard to locate, but it is their desire that soon a place will be found in which they can live and to which they can invite people to talk about the Lord. Also they need a place where they can hold children's classes. All the workers invite your prayers that the Lord will open the door to more effective service for Him, both here and in Tijuana, and in whatever other places He may choose to lead.

LETTER FROM THE JOBSONS

Bozoum, August 21, 1953.

Dear Friends in Christ,

Greetings in His wonderful name!

The lovely birthday greetings are still arriving. Mr. Jobson and I once again wish to express our appreciation and thanks to you all for your kind thoughts and prayers for us. You know it's wonderful to have Christian friends in the Lord. We have not chosen you—but through God's marvelous grace and love all this has been made possible. What a wonderful Saviour and Friend! Humanly speaking, we are separated from you by many miles of land and sea—yet we meet you at the throne with our praises and petitions on your behalf, and we do thank the Lord for each one of you.

Our women, children, and even the men love to carry these cards in their New Testaments—they use them for book markers. Then, too, we give them for reward cards, and it's an incentive for them to memorize Scripture and Bible verses. The little book markers that some of you dear sisters made are very much appreciated by the Christians. Many of the women, and men also, have a difficult time finding chapters, and they place these cards on the lesson given them for the next day. In one of our classes here on the station there are 11 men who have dedicated their lives for full-time service, but some read very poorly and find it difficult to memorize. Please pray that these men may be given keen minds to be able to hide God's Word in their hearts. There seems to be a new interest taken in reading portions of God's Word. We have asked the women to read a chapter a day—also many of the children are now reading fluently in our junior church. We try to impress the verse in Colossians 3:16, "Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom. . . ."

Thank you again for the greetings, and may God's richest grace rest upon you is our prayer.

Yours in Him.

Orville and Charlotte Jobson.

DEVOTIONAL PROGRAM FOR DECEMBER

Bible Study—"Come Ye Apart for Service."
Mission Study—"A Brethren Testimony in Hawaii."

During the three months just drawing to a close our WMC has had before it the crying need of the neglected Navaho children of our own land. Our home mission project is to provide these neglected children with an adequate school building where they can receive the care and teaching they need to lead them from pagan darkness to the light of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Our missionaries to the Navahos are living and working in very crowded and inadequate quarters. The national WMC is very happy to be able to help alleviate that situation and it is our earnest prayer that we will find ourselves "over the top" at the end of this month with at least half of the $5,000 needed to complete our two-year project. WMC always meets its goals. Have we done our best for Christ and the Navaho children this quarter? May every council feel completely satisfied that it has done all that it can.

A recent letter from the office of the Home Missions Council to our national financial secretary expresses their deep appreciation for past gifts from the WMC and asks that that appreciation be passed on to the local councils. Let us acknowledge this thanks by doing still greater things for our Lord through our home-mission projects.

Let us remind all councils that the home-mission offering MUST be in the hands of the national financial secretary, Mrs. Chester McCall, by DECEMBER 10.

BIBLE READING AND TRACT CORNER

Bible reading for November—Exodus, chapters 12-40; Leviticus, chapter 1.

Bible reading for December—Leviticus, chapters 2-27; the Christmas story in the Gospels.

Tracts of the Month

1. For OURSELVES—"How to Pray for Missionaries," by Alfred E. Street.

2. For OTHERS—"Thanks for Your Service," published by Marliss Publishing Co. This little tract, presenting the plan of salvation, is easy for the most timid person to leave at a restaurant table, or to hand to a clerk or service-station attendant when paying for a purchase. Women who hesitate to hand out tracts might find this an easy way to begin. Along the same line we would like to suggest a small quarter-size metal token, or gospel coin, which can be left with your tip. On one side are these words: "The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ," and on the other side, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved."

These tracts and coins may be obtained through the Brethren Missionary Herald Company.

S O S—TAOS, NEW MEXICO

The Sam Horneys write from Taos, N. Mex.:

"Would you put in the Herald a SPECIAL PLEA for the following:

- Children's boots and overshoes
- Children's coats
- Children's dresses and overalls

These are badly needed for the winter months."

They also remind us that Christmas is almost upon us and that candy and toys for their Christmas activities at Taos must be sent immediately. Last year most of the Christmas gifts from the various councils arrived after Christmas.

The Southeast District held its fall rally at Covington, Va., on September 24 with approximately 100 ladies in attendance. Miss Ruth Snyder was the speaker.

Approximately 100 ladies also attended the fall rally of the newly organized Indiana District at Sidney, Ind., on October 8 at which Miss Johanna Nielsen was the featured speaker.

The Aleppo, Pa., WMC recently honored their pastor's wife, Lyda Walter, with a "pound shower" at which they also gave her a quilt they had made.

According to Mrs. Irene Oliver, the Waynesboro, Pa., WMC has added several new members and has begun an active tract ministry in the local hospital.

At the recent candlelight rededication and installation service for the Modesto, Calif., WMC 8 of the 30 women signing cards were new members.

The Jr. and Sr. Conemaugh, Pa., councils held a joint meeting to celebrate the birthday of Miss Ruth Snyder, missionary to Africa. She received many lovely gifts and the party was complete with ice cream and candle-decked birthday cake. Ruth blew out all the candles at one puff, we hear.

The ladies of the Hollins, Va., church had a covered-dish dinner for the purpose of furthering WMC. The pastor's wife, Mildred Bowman, past national president of WMC, made and distributed booklets entitled, "What It's All About," and explained the purposes of WMC. A new Jr. council was organized with 10 members.

ANNUAL REPORTS FROM THE WMC DISTRICTS

IOWA DISTRICT REPORT

Greetings in His precious name! We of the Iowa District are happy to be one with you in service.

As a district we are not large in numbers, but we do enjoy real fellowship together and many other rich blessings in our labors of love for Him. Altogether there are only six Brethren churches recorded in the district, yet we have seven senior councils, as a fundamental Church of the Brethren of Des Moines also has an active WMC, and we enjoy fellowship with them. We are looking forward, too, to the time when the new work at Davenport will give us another council.

Of the six councils reporting, the total enrollment is 182, a net gain of 23. Most of the national and district objectives were met 100 percent, except in the important matter of enlisting prayer warriors and observing a monthly day of prayer, where we only rate 66 2/3 percent.

As a district we contributed to the upkeep of the Brethren Missionary Residence at Winona Lake, and also purchased 24 mattresses for the Navaho dormitories at a cost of $265.

We enjoyed a fall rally at Leon, where Mrs. Hill Macconaghy was the special speaker; also a spring rally at North English, with the speaker Mrs. Theodore Choy, who spoke of her work in China. At our district conference at Dallas Center, we were privileged to have Miss Johanna Nielsen with us and to hear more about Argentina.

Local projects have included outfit gifts to Marian Thurston, supplies and remodeling of churches and parsonages, used clothing to our mission points, help for SMM, layettes for babies, gifts for the sick, for missionaries and pastors, and entertainment for a gospel team of eight, called "God's Invasion Army."

Let us pray one for another that our service may be unto the Lord, and may count for eternity.—Mary Emmert, president.

CALIFORNIA DISTRICT

Looking over the reports of the local WMC's, it is amazing the work that is accomplished in one district during the year.

As a district, too, several worthwhile projects have been completed. A gift of $300 was given to district missions. California is increasing by the thousands daily, and it is our desire to keep abreast in building Brethren churches in our area. We provided communion equipment for two home-mission churches—$200; $50 toward the purchase of a piano for Baja California; $82 for flannelgraph for the Messianic Witness in Los Angeles; $300 college support for Janice Altig; and $100 to help send the district SMM president to national conference. We paid for sending the bandages to Winona Lake, and gave a generous gift to the WMC president for national conference expense.

These projects, you will notice, are chosen within our district—making them real district projects.

The local council reports are varied and interesting. Several have been renovating and equipping kitchens, nurseries, and classrooms of the church. Flowers are provided for church services, bandages and shirts for the leper work; six have missionary hope chests; layettes and many quilts for Navaho babies have been made also. Several missionary showers and birthday parties were given. Two hundred fifty pounds of homemade soap were given to help keep some missionaries clean. Many mother-daughter affairs were sponsored. Baptismal and choir robes were provided and repaired. One WMC started a Sisterhood (a fine project). Many gifts and Christmas boxes were sent to missionaries, 6,000 tracts to Japan, and approximately 1,700 pounds of clothing to home missions. There were gifts outside our denomination given to India, Formosa, Japan, Korean orphans, the Go Ye Fellowship, Migrant Mission, and Grace All-house. Letters were written to the service men.

The California District has three conferences each year—fall, North Long Beach; spring, San Diego; summer, Long Beach, in connection with our district conference. There are 30 councils, 818 WMC members, and a new church promises a WMC next year.—Leila Polman.

SOUTHEAST DISTRICT REPORT

I bring you greetings from our councils in the Southeast District. We have 14 councils with a membership of 258. From the reports of our councils we have great cause for rejoicing because of the many accomplishments for His glory and our gain.

For our district project we bought a refrigerator for the Lester Kennedys, missionaries to Africa. Most of our councils have kept hope chests for the missionaries, have participated in projects for their local churches, and have met the goals.

We are putting on a special drive in our district this coming year for new members, and hope to have a real good report at our next national conference.

It is with a sense of great responsibility that I assume the office of district president this year, and I covet the prayers of all members that I may be in His will and do my very best for Him.—Ethel Putt, president.

MIDWEST DISTRICT REPORT

Greetings from the Midwest District WMC. There are seven councils in our district with a total of 84 members. All but three of our councils are in home-mission churches. Though widely separated by many miles, we meet together once a year in our district conference and feel that the Lord has truly united us in spirit.

Projects for the coming year are $90 for Jewish missions and $10 to help send an SMM girl to Bethany Camp.—Mrs. M. J. Davis, president.

Our life is like the dial of a clock. The hands are God's hands, passing over and over again. The short hand, the Hand of Discipline; the long hand, the Hand of Mercy. Slowly and surely the Hand of Discipline must pass, and God speaks at each stroke; but over and over passes the Hand of Mercy, showering down sixtyfold blessing for each stroke of discipline or trial; and both hands are fastened to one secure pivot, the great unchanging heart of a God of love.—J. Ellis.

SISTERHOOD of MARY and MARTHA

BEAUTY OF FEET

By Mrs. Robert Miller

"How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things" (Rom. 10:15).

Do you pay much attention to your feet? Some people cover their feet with very little thought and go about their business. Only when their feet hurt because of neglect or punishment do they care for them.

There are beautiful feet and those which are not so beautiful. The Bible speaks of both kinds. Romans 3:15 says the unrighteous have feet which "are swift to shed blood." In Proverbs 1:16 we read that sinners' "feet run to evil, and make haste to shed blood." The world is filled with such feet today.

The feet of men whose hearts do not love God walk in sinful ways and are not beautiful in God's sight. The psalmist in 1:1 says: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly." One is only blessed or happy as he walks in God's way. No Christian girl can be happy or blessed by God if her feet walk in sin's paths. Only God's Word, and obedience to it, can keep your feet from falling. How faithful are you in reading and studying this wonderful Book? Open your Bibles to Psalm 119:105 and read that verse together now.

Any Sisterhood girl knows that God's standard for beauty is far different from man's. People put all emphasis on the outward appearance. God looks inside. Let's open our Bibles to Romans 10 and read the latter part of verse 15 together. "How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things."

When Jesus Christ went back to heaven after He arose from the dead He left the task of winning a lost world to all those who do love Him. His Word tells us that those who do go and preach that Gospel of peace have beautiful feet. Do you want God's kind of beauty? Then obey Him and be a missionary. God wants girls who love Him so very much that nothing to them will be as important as doing His will and winning souls to Christ. Many of you girls are planning your life's work now as you finish high school and college. Have you asked God what He wants you to do? Or have you told Him what you want to do? Every girl knows which of these she should do before we go on in this study.

You know of course that every born-again believer should be a missionary. You should have been a witness in your own home today. At school or work you should have given a testimony for Christ today. That is being a missionary. But it doesn't stop there. Too many young people have the mistaken idea that if they are to be witnesses away from home God will tell them so through some great or spectacular event. This is not so. The first responsibility you have toward God is to give yourself to Him and His service regardless of what He asks you to do or where He asks you to go. This may upset some of your pet plans or private dreams but there is no other way to launch your life profitably. God may not call you to preach the Gospel of peace through Christ in some far-off country. He may never lead you to some obscure part of this land to serve Him. But you should be willing and ready to go either place if that is how He leads. And make no mistake about it: your Lord will lead you very clearly when He sees your willing and ready heart.

No matter how well equipped you think you are for a certain task, and regardless of how much you'd like to do it, remember you are not a very wise judge. Why? Because you cannot see ahead into the future. Only God can do that and He leads His children into various paths on the basis of their tomorrows as well as today's.

As I work with Christian girls today I find too many who are more concerned about dates with boys than they are about having witnessed for Christ. The percentage of Christian girls who want to get married at least by the time they finish high school (if they wait that long) is appalling. Too many Brethren girls are more interested in boys and an early marriage than in being beautiful in God's sight. Now don't misunderstand me. Dates with Christian boys are a real thrill and perfectly fine in their place. I remember some such delightful occasions when I was a girl. Marriage in the Lord can be a deep source of joy, but only in the Lord and in His way. No girl who genuinely loves the Lord will date or go around with the worldly, unsaved crowd of young people. But there are some other things in life than boys and dates and wedding bells. Let these experiences be yours only as the Lord directs. Be concerned first with your beauty as God sees it.

Do you want beautiful feet? Then take the glad tidings of God's love which He showed a lost world when Jesus Christ His Son died on Calvary. In this day of war and bad news only the Christian has the good news of peace and glad tidings. God grant that every Sisterhood girl in every Brethren church across the nation will have beautiful feet.

"Worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness" (I Chron. 16:29).

NATIONAL OFFICERS

President—Patty Griffith, Bob Jones University, Greenville, S. C.
Vice President—Cora Luna, Box 711, Taos, N. Mex.
General Secretary—Nancy Weber, 835 Spruce St., Hagerstown, Md.
Treasurer—Mary Hooks, Box 262, Winona Lake, Ind.
Literature Secretary—Myra Joy Conner, Bryan University, Dayton, Tenn.
Bandage Secretary—Marie Sackett, 1010 Randolph St., Waterloo, Iowa.
Patroness—Mrs. Arnold Kriegbaum, Box 14, Winona Lake, Ind.
Assistant Patroness—Mrs. H. Leslie Moore, 112 Beachley St., Meyersdale, Pa.

"Are your feet showing?" How many of us have read this advertisement and instinctively have glanced at our feet! We are conscious immediately of our feet and wonder if they would pass inspection if someone were looking at them. We polish and clean our shoes and wash out stockings as a rigid rule each night, so that we won't be ashamed of our feet. These things are all necessary, but so often we are forgetful that our foot-steps show as well as our feet.

Do your feet make tracks to the church door every Sunday morning in time for Sunday school, each Sunday evening and even on prayer-meeting night? It makes no difference what our feet look like if they are not making marks in the right direction. We pass the shoe shops and look at the beautiful shoes there. But did you ever stop to wonder where those shoes will end?

Here is a beautiful pair of silver slippers—they look lovely and dainty, but they might be used as dancing slippers and dance a young lady into the very arms of the Devil. We must be very careful that our feet are not leading us to the den of Satan. Those shining silver slippers might stand for the glitter of the world, for they last but a short while. We would never think of wearing them to climb a mountain, for they would not last or stand the test of a climb. Therefore, we as Christians should be prepared for the climb to the mountain heights with our Saviour. Many girls (and others as well) miss the mountain-top experiences with the Lord because they are not prepared for them.

Just as the silver slippers are frivolous, we are tied up with the silly things of the world and cannot make it to the top. If you think that there is nothing exciting in the Christian life, remember we cannot see the beautiful sunset from the top of the mountain if we have to stop very often to rest our feet and adjust our shoes. The Word tells us that we should have our feet properly shod (Eph. 6:15). When our feet are fitted properly with the "preparation of peace" then others will be able to tell that we wear "heavenly shoes" by the way we walk.

In Isaiah 52:7 we read, "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace." Some Bible commentators say that this verse might refer to the inhabitants of some beleaguered city as they look out for the messengers of peace and as they see them come, running up over the top of the mountain, with the wonderful news of peace. It is not the fact that their feet are especially beautiful, but that the message they bring is one of beauty to their hearts. Romans 10:15 says, "How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things." What a privilege we as Christians have to take the good news of salvation to others. Our Lord told us we were to take this good news to every creature and at the same time calls those who take it "beautiful."

Is the Lord calling you to be swift to take the Gospel to others? Are you willing to use your two good feet to spread the good news of salvation to those who have never heard it? He gave His all for you; you can do no less for Him. There is still a shortage of missionaries in every field the Brethren Church is trying to take for the Lord. Will your fellow men be able to say of you, "How beautiful are the feet of them that . . . bring good tidings"?

PROGRAM GROOMING FOR SEPTEMBER

PRAISING VOICES—Singing unto the Lord. Open by singing theme song, "Let the Beauty of Jesus," and repeating the year verse, I Chronicles 16:29.

SWEET SAVOR—Spend time in prayer circle by referring to the "Perfume Corner."

CLEANSED HEARTS—Read Romans 10:9-17.

GLOWING LIVES—Seniors study "Beauty of Mind."

Middlers study "Humiliation Is Beautiful."

SPARKLING TALENTS—Give special number.

BEAUTIFUL FEET—Consider "Adventures With the Bible in Brazil." Close by singing second stanza of theme song, "Let Compassion for Sinners," and repeat year's devotional benediction, Jude 24-25.

BUSINESS MEETING.

SMM BENEDICTION.

WHAT SISTERHOOD MEANS TO ME

Sisterhood means to me a place where girls can get together and study the Word of God. I think it prepares us for our Christian life ahead of us. I always get a blessing from SMM and afterward I feel like I have a new start for Christ.—Patsy Webster, Wooster, Ohio, Jr. SMM.

TESTIMONIES FROM YOUR SISTERHOOD OFFICERS

President—Patty Griffith

Dear Girls:

"Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, unto him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen" (Eph. 5:20-21).

And truly He has done just that for SMM this past year. The Lord has been so good to us that we should never cease to thank Him for all the blessings. We have gone over the top in all the goals that we set last year.

But we can't live in the glory of the past, so let's look ahead for the blessings of the coming year. If every girl would do her little bit, we would have lots of honor SMM's next year. Let's have every girl make that her own personal goal this year and see what comes of it. We can do it if we ask the Lord to help us.

I thank the Lord that I can serve Him in this small way of being your president. It has been a real privilege and a blessing to me. It is my request as well as the other officers that you girls pray for us daily. We have promised to serve the Lord and you as best we know how, but we need you girls to back us up with your prayers. Will YOU pray for us?

I'll be looking for some good reports from YOUR SMM this year and will be praying for you all.

Vice President—Cora Luna

I praise the Lord, first of all, for His salvation, and not only does He save us, but He has promised to be with us "even unto the end of the world." Too often, like the nine lepers, we forget to count our blessings and give thanks. Many times, also, we neglect the Lord until we are in trouble or in direct need, but I have found in my own life that Christ is always ready and willing to help us if we only let Him. In my life there has been sickness, there have been trials, discouragements, but even for these I am thankful, for they have taught me to depend and to lean on my Lord. A stand for Christ will bring slurs and snickers from those you think are your friends, but, believe me, there is no greater joy than to serve the Lord, to show to all the world that we are His, and He is ours.

I thank the Lord also for answered prayer, especially in permitting me to go to Bethany Camp this year. For it is there at Bethany that we hear and see Christian young people give their thrilling testimonies, and this always inspires me to do greater things in my Christian walk. As an officer, I ask your prayers that I might have more faith and more time for the Lord's work. I have a full-time job as a bookkeeper in our local bank, and it is not easy to work among those who are unsaved. Pray for me as I help my brother, Tony, with his work as pastor of our mission at Cordillera. My prayer is that God will richly bless all those who are working for Him, for to every Christian each soul should be a mission field.

Treasurer—Mary Hooks

"Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord." I want to praise the Lord for His goodness to me and for the privilege of being one of His servants. I want to thank Him for His Word and the promises in it for us; and we know that our labor in the Lord is not in vain. May this year in Sisterhood be a blessed one in Him.

Assistant Patroness—Mrs. H. Leslie Moore

I am thankful to my Lord that He has seen fit to call me to salvation and that He also has called me into His service. I was saved when a girl of 8 years of age and I was encouraged by my Christian parents to participate in the various organizations of the church.

Among these was the Sisterhood of Mary and Martha, where I was taught ways of serving my Master and doing His will. I pray I may never fail to do as He bids me and that I may take Colossians 3:17 and use it as a guide for my life: "And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him."

Senior Patroness—Mrs. Arnold R. Kriegbaum

"Never aim at second best," Dr. Bauman was saying. Yes, our own Louis S. Bauman was the speaker at my high-school baccalaureate service in the little town of Berne, Ind. And there sat I, salutatorian, second highest in my class. Fresh from the country, I did not even know of such as valedictorian or salutatorian when I entered high school, so I did not aim at second best. But my parents just expected my best and when I brought home anything less than "A" on my report card, I saw the eyebrows go up in a look of askance. I knew they were wondering if I had done my best. Through God's Word and members of God's family, seeds of inspiration to be my best for Christ have been planted continuously in my life.

Nurtured from a strictly Brethren cradle, a favorable environment pursued me to be a Christian. At 6 years of age I publicly confessed Christ as my Saviour in a Bible-school decision service in the First Brethren Church of Philadelphia. Thus my home was a mighty fortress against the wiles of the Devil because there I was taught to love God and read His Word. However, when I left home for higher education I soon learned Satan pursued me, too; and only by keeping close to Christ through daily private devotions was I strong enough to turn away from the constant worldly allurements.

Missionaries were always welcome at our home and Mother entertained them as she royally knew how, as well as other scholarly Christian speakers. Their presence blessed my parental home, and in recent years, my own home. The beautiful fragrance of their lives has served to impress me with the gracefulness that so becomes a wholehearted Christian.

Authors through their books have greatly shaped my thinking. Family worship taught us the importance of putting God and His Book first. By the way, we learned to be prompt to family worship or else kneel on pins and needles wondering if we would get to school on time, for Daddy prayed until he was through; at least we children thought so. The choice light reading I recall are the Elsie Dinsmore books, by Martha Findley; Grace Livingston Hill Lutz's books; "Beautiful Girlhood"; Ingles' books; and Paul Hutchens' books. Later, when I was privileged to serve him as secretary, Paul Hutchens' real Christian living blessed and challenged me even more than his writings.

Life has taught me that anything worthwhile is not easy. Study of philosophy, religions, and peoples has convinced me that peaceful thinking and living comes only from a living faith in a living Saviour.

In order to grow in grace, we must be much alone. It is not in society—even Christian society—that the soul grows most vigorously. In one single, quiet hour of prayer it will often make more progress than in days of company with others. It is in the desert that the dew falls freshest and the air is purest.—Horatio Bonar.

Hint 1. Do you have your pennant yet? You will need one to put on all those jewels that you earn. You are eligible to get one if you fulfill the seven points of the merit system. These can be obtained from the national literature secretary for 65c.

Special. According to Newsweek, the war against religion in Poland is so severe that any snapshots which show a church, even in the background, are now banned from the mails.

New York. According to the Missionary Research Library the number of U. S. Protestant missionaries serving overseas increased from nearly 15,000 to 18,000 between 1950 and 1952.

ADVENTURE

UP THE AMAZON RIVER
WITH UNCLE EDDIE

Did you know that the Amazon River in Brazil is one of the largest and longest rivers in the whole world? Well it is, and we live right alongside of this river and every day we can see all the boats passing by. Big boats, little boats, sailboats, motorboats, "canoas," and rowboats, all of them coming to and from our town of Macapa. And you know why? Well, this river is so big that it is just full of little islands and big islands and many people live way in the interior where there aren't any stores to buy food and clothing and other things that they need. So when they want to buy some coffee and sugar and beans they just can't run down to the corner store like you can. No, they have to get into their little sailboat or "canoa" and paddle sometimes all day to get to a store. So naturally they only get to town a few times each year.

But let's take a trip with one of these Brazilian families in their little sailboat. We have to get up early, as these Brazilians travel early. Can you imagine—they even start before it is light enough to see. We put the things we want to take in a cloth sack, as most of them are so poor they have no suitcases. First we roll our bed up and put that in. You see it is very easy to take your bed right with you, as here in this part of Brazil most of the people sleep in hammocks. I imagine that most of you children have never even seen a hammock. But they are nice to sleep in. You just tie one end to a hook on the wall and the other end is tied around a post in the corner. Then you can just swing back and forth till you go to sleep. Then let's put our clothes and any other things we want to take with us in the sack. Naturally our Bible goes in too, since all Christians should take their Bibles with them.

When everything is ready, we put our sack on our shoulders and go down to the boat. We have to go barefooted as the tide is low and we have to walk through the mud to reach the boat. This tide is a funny thing here on the Amazon River. About every 12 hours the river flows in and fills up the low places with water and then without hardly noticing it, it starts to flow out again. Sometimes the water is right up to the front of these houses and other times it is far away. Because of the high water the people that live on these islands build their houses up on stilts.

Once we get in the boat we have to sit still and not move around, as it tips way over when the wind fills the little sail. In the bottom of the boat there is some dried corn (all tied in bundles), pumpkins, and even some watermelons ready to sell. Here in Brazil it is warm all the year round and so we have watermelon in December. In the back of the boat there is lots of noise, as a little pig tied by a rope to the side of the boat is squealing and at the same time some chickens in a basket are squawking to get loose too. And then sitting on top of the basket is a real parrot. We have lots of parrots here in Brazil.

A trip like this on one of these little sailboats would really be lots of fun, don't you think? But sometimes there are big storms on the Amazon River and then it is necessary to have a good pilot to sail the boat, someone that really knows how, or the waves might turn the boat over.

Did you know that one day when Jesus was here on this earth He was in a little sailboat with His disciples when a big storm came up. That's right. In the Gospel of Mark, chapter 4, it says that the disciples were afraid they were going to turn over in their boat too. But Jesus "said unto the sea, Peace, be still. And the wind ceased, and there was a great calm." With Jesus in our boat we don't have to be afraid either. The Bible says that all those who open their hearts and let Jesus come in will have peace and great calm too. I want Jesus to be my Pilot, don't you? If He isn't your Saviour and Pilot, ask Him to save you now.

Edward D. Miller

FAITHFULNESS IN PROCLAIMING THE GOSPEL MESSAGE

In the Spanish-American War, when some transports with supplies for the American Army found it impossible to find a secure anchorage off the Cuban coast, they were compelled to discharge their cargoes into boats, while they themselves cruised slowly to and fro.

It was impossible to land the horses and mules in this manner, so it was decided to push them overboard and trust in their swimming ashore. Some instinctively swam toward the beach; others swam in circles; others, more frightened than the rest, made out to sea. It looked as though many would be lost, and the ship's officers were greatly concerned. What to do they could not imagine.

Then they saw a soldier on shore running to the point of a headland. He put his bugle to his lips and blew the calls the horses and mules had learned to know during their training. The penetrating notes were heard by the bewildered, struggling animals. Some responded at once, others more tardily, but the bugler continued to sound his calls until every one was safe ashore.

NEWS from the CHURCHES

(Items in this column are compiled from reports of pastors and evangelists.)

The Grace Brethren Church of Pond Bank, Pa., is seeing definite increase in attendance, especially in the Bible school. John Ritchey is superintendent.

The First Brethren Church of Winchester, Va., enjoyed the return of Evangelist Archie L. Lynn, who directed the recent campaign that resulted in 7 first-time confessions and 45 reaffirmations. According to Rev. Paul Dick, "Our church definitely has been strengthened through this revival effort and we are praying that this revival spirit will continue throughout the year." Rev. Dick begins his 13th year as pastor of this church, and has done a commendable work. By the use of the daily radio ministry, and faithful prayer warriors gathering each night during the two weeks, God wrought a great victory in Winchester, Va.

The Clearbrook Brethren Church of Roanoke, Va., enjoyed the ministry of Evangelist William Smith Oct. 4-18. The basic work for the campaign was done many weeks before the meeting started in little prayer bands. There were 9 first-time confessions and 16 reaffirmations. Rev. William Howard has performed a faithful ministry unto the Lord, and is to be commended for the fine work he has established at Clearbrook.

The Grace Brethren Church of Hagerstown, Md., experienced a real revival, with reconciliations and rededications, and a greater passion for the lost, under the ministry of Evangelist R. Paul Miller, of Brethren Evangelistic Crusade Team One. There were 15 first-time confessions and 37 rededications during the three-week campaign. On the second Sunday morning 100 people publicly dedicated themselves to the cause of soul-winning. Although Rev. Russell Weber had arrived on the field just a few weeks before the meetings began, yet God mightily used him to get the field in readiness for a mighty working of God.

The highest attendance of 401 was reached the first Sunday morning,

The First Brethren Church of Johnstown, Pa., united with the Christ for Everyone Campaign Sept. 20-Oct. 4 in a quest for souls. Evangelist Archie Lynn, former pastor of the Johnstown church, preached the Word in the same high quality that has made him a successful pastor and evangelist. On the second Sunday evening nearly 100 persons publicly declared their desire to yield to the Lord in order that they might be of greater service to Christ. Since the meetings have closed, 13 have entered the waters of baptism and 10 or 12 more are awaiting baptism, according to Dr. W. A. Ogden, pastor. There were 45 decisions for Christ at a special decision service in the Sunday school the last Sunday of the campaign. The average attendance was 227, with the largest attendance at one service reaching 392. A large choir, under the able leadership of Prof. John Lloyd Jones, with Mrs. H. W. Darr at the organ, was a real contribution to the meetings.

The Meyersdale Brethren Church, of Meyersdale, Pa., has seen the hand of the Lord move during the two-week campaign with Rev. Miles Taber as evangelist. There were 17 decisions the first week. H. Leslie Moore is pastor.

NOTICE TO ALL PASTORS

The Brethren calendar for 1954 will be in the mail early in December. These should arrive in your hands in plenty of time for Christmas distribution. Each calendar will be in an individual envelope, suitable for mailing. Appropriate season's greetings will be imprinted. Also, your church name and imprint will be placed upon the exposed cover. This imprint is as you have ordered. In case of an unexpected delay at the printing company, the calendars will be sent without the imprint, each local church to care for the matter as deemed advisable.

Each local church will be billed at 10c per calendar, plus postage. If possible, the Calendar Committee will assume the cost of imprinting ($3). If funds do not permit, then this slight additional cost will be passed on to the church. All costs will be handled through your church account at the Brethren Missionary Herald Company.

The 1954 Brethren calendars ought to be in each Brethren home. These will make fine advertising pieces to put into the homes of prospective members. Several thousand additional copies, unimprinted, will be on hand for future use by pastors and churches. For information pertaining to the calendars, write to Kenneth Ashman, P. O. Box 1, Wooster, Ohio.

The Joys of a Sunday-School Teacher

By E. W. Baumgartner, President, First Bank of Berne, Ind.

(Reprinted by Permission of The Mennonite, and the Author)

The joy of a Sunday-school teacher cannot be realized to the fullest extent unless there has been a personal experience with Christ both as Saviour and Lord of one's life. From this follows a conviction that to teach a class in Sunday school is a calling of God which results in humble joy. Sunday-school teachers do not come by accident. They are called or sent (at times driven) to the holiest work on earth: bringing first of all to a class the truth of the saving grace in Christ Jesus, then the molding of Christian character and personality.

As teachers we stand on holy ground; into our hands has been thrust clay beyond price—often the plastic, formative years in young lives. In a sense, a teacher has a greater opportunity than his pastor who must spend so much time with the general shepherding of the flock and too often correcting in his adults the mistakes of the church-school teacher. Human life is a sacred trust; may God have mercy upon a church-school teacher who trifles with it. But this trust, by the grace of God, can also bring unspeakable joy to the teacher.

In writing this article, I lack words to express the joy I have received as a Sunday-school teacher so that I am led to say, "Great joy dwells rather in the heart than on the tongue." But I do know, too, that next to the consolations of divine grace, joy is the most sovereign balm to the miseries of life, both in him who is the object of it and in him who exercises it. It is a fact, then, that every joy which comes to us is only to strengthen us for greater labor as a teacher. We can do nothing well without joy, and good conscience is the ground of joy. To acquire the joy of teaching, one must have tasted of the fruit of the tree of life and of the fruits of the tree of Calvary.

The joy of teaching comes by steadily following the path of duty without thinking of joy, and then, like sleep, it comes most surely unsought. Joy is sure to meet us. Yes, at times the most profound joy has more of gravity than of gaiety in it. But joys are our own wings in flight to the Father heart of God. Joy is neither within us only, nor without us; it is union of ourselves with God. All who would win joy must share it. Joy, too, in teaching a class consists in finding out the way in which God is going, and going in that way, too.

Joy comes in teaching the Holy Bible. Know that Book, and know it well, its message and meaning. Get all this in your heart. You cannot teach what you do not know; you cannot give what you do not have. Believe it, love it. Teach it as a living Book, and not as a sacred obituary of men long dead; its precepts apply more to tomorrow than to yesterday. The Bible is a springboard for Christian living in this world. Practice and live out its precepts before your class. It will result in great joy.

My first experience as a Sunday-school teacher was with a class of young boys. These boys were approximately 12 years old when I took the class, and we were together until they were 17 years old. The saying is that boys or children of this age are quite a problem. I did not find it so. They took a keen interest in the lessons from Sunday to Sunday, and it was with these boys that I experienced great joy. An acceptance of Christ as Saviour by these boys was, of course, the main reason for joy. But there followed an interest in the living of a Christian life, the Bible, and Sunday school as such. It was to these boys that I was able to present from time to time great epochs of the Bible, an unfolding of God's dealing with man, Christian teachings on human relations regarding the Christian home and neighborhood, society, the struggle to earn an honest living, the use of money and respect for the law, and the relationship to those of other races and nations.

Then there was the study of the old pioneers, Abraham, Jacob, Joseph, Moses, and the New Testament pillars of the church. As these matters were taught, there came to these boys a better application of the teachings and life of Jesus to modern problems, i. e., the business of confident living. These boys, all but one who has passed on to the other world and was saved by His grace, are now men of middle age, in various professions and vocations of life and scattered from coast to coast. They still bring me much joy when I see their sincerity as Christians and workers in His kingdom. I often rejoice to hear from them by letter or word of mouth as they recall the blessings of that Sunday-school class to which they belonged. You Sunday-school teachers, don't grow weary in your work for you will be richly rewarded even in this life.

For many years I had the joy of teaching a mixed married adult class consisting of young fathers and mothers, men and women in the prime of their lives, as well as old folk in the sunset of their lives. In this class we experienced a mature fellowship one with another which not only brought joy to the teacher but a challenge to reach out into the deep. In this class was an old man who more than anyone else was responsible for my taking up the task of teaching. It was he who insisted that I listen to God's call; and it was he, too, who assured me that if I prove faithful to this call of teaching I would personally profit more by teaching than anyone else, and thereby receive great joy. He was right, and I have often thanked God for it.

At this time and for nearly 16 years, I have had the joy of teaching a young married people's class. Some of the things which bring me much joy are the loyalty and faithfulness of the members of this class in accepting assignments, attendance, and general interest in the work of the class. I know that in these families there are many family altars, and many children who are brought up in the fear and admonition of the Lord; also, they take part in the over-all work of the church, and give evidence that many will take their place as leaders of the church. Then to see them grow in their Christian lives, their Christian testimonies in daily living, their concern for the spiritual welfare of the church and community; all these things and many more bring great joy to the teacher.

There is one joy which a Sunday-school teacher can and must have which perhaps is too often forgotten, and that is the hour of preparation for the teaching of the lesson. It is at this point that one can and must have communion with God, direction to teach, to bring the class before the throne of God, to rejoice in their salvation and to share with them during the teaching hour the presence of God. It is during the hour of preparation, I think, that we realize that it is not the teacher, but the Spirit of God that works with the class members. As the teacher sows the seed, God giveth the increase. That brings joy to the teacher.

Are you ever discouraged? Ever think of giving up? Sometimes we feel our teaching is hard in this roaring, heedless generation. The opposition is tremendous; there are a thousand voices calling listeners away from us; demands upon their time and attention increase daily. Yesterday it was only movies and automobiles; today it is television. Tomorrow, what?

The world is filled with men who believe that might makes right. But remember, you have been called to teach, not just to help out until they can get someone else. God the Father has taken you by your hand and placed it on the latchstring of the door of precious souls. Go with God. You have the greatest job in the world. Enjoy it! Psalms 40:8: "I delight to do thy will, O my God." It was to Christ His meat and drink to go on with the work appointed to Him. When the law of God is written in our hearts, our duty will be our delight.

In Memoriam

CAN I GET PAY?

"Paul Kent, will you help Daddy pull the weeds from under these bushes?"

"Oh yes, Daddy, I'll be glad to help you. I'm getting big"—and the near-6-year-old pulled himself up as tall as his chubby legs would allow.

"You need me to help, don't you? Bill and David are always busy with other things. And Bob can't help because he's not strong enough."

"How right you are, son." And more to himself than to Kent, Daddy added, "Four boys, but I have to be satisfied with the help of the youngest. I've heard it said, 'One girl is a girl, two girls are half a girl, and three girls are no girl at all.' The same thing seems to apply to boys. Come along, little fellow. I'll show you where I want you to pull."

Now Daddy was called away on a house visit. "Go on with your job, Kent, and see how nicely you can clean up the weeds. I know you can be finished by the time I get home."

"O. K. I'll work hard," a self-confident lad replied. As Daddy turned away the boy called a little shyly, "Daddy, can I get a little pay for helping you? You know the girls get a 'lowance for helping Mama."

"We'll see about that later. Just let Daddy see what you can do and how big you really are."

At the dinner table that evening Daddy's "weed puller" was bubbling. "I pulled the weeds, Daddy, and did the best I could. Where's my pay?" A fat little hand opened expectantly.

"How much do you think you ought to get for the job you did?"

"About a dollar," came the swift and breath-taking response from the miniature businessman.

"Whew," Daddy whistled, "isn't that rather high for a boy your age?" And turning to Mother he added, "Even kids have inflated their prices these days. The boy ought to do all right on Wall Street."

"Well, if a dollar is too much, can you spare 50 cents?" The "Wall Street merchant" was backing down.

"That's a deal, Paul. I think you did quite well on cleaning out the weeds. When we go to the store we'll get you something you want."

A happy boy accompanied Daddy to the store the next day. He wanted a vanilla ice-cream cone and a package of chewing gum. (What Mother would like to do to the inventor of the latter!) Daddy pressed a 50-cent piece into the little hand so Kent could pay the storekeeper. Then he peacefully walked off to explore the store, leaving Daddy to accept the 40 cents change. The lad never asked for the change or to buy anything else. Even as he asked for the dollar first and then reduced the "fee" to 50 cents, Kent did not understand the full value of either amount. Those were terms he had heard used in speaking of money. As yet he had no ability to handle either amount.

There is a sequel to this story in the lives of many Christians. For a little service rendered, and that service most often of inferior quality, they ask and look for rewards beyond their ability to appreciate. In effect, this is their argument before the Lord: "I've worked real hard for the Sunday school, especially in the past. Now I want to rest on my laurels and have people recognize what I've done and meant to my church." Or, "Wasn't that good word I spoke for you, Lord, worth a special and extra blessing? You know I've never been one to talk about You. I've been fluent in talking about politics, or what I don't like about the preacher, or how they run the church affairs. But to really speak for YOU and even give the impression that I love You is SOMETHING for me. If I rate anything a little extra for this, how about some money? I just can't sacrifice any more out of my pay envelope for that extra missionary offering. So how about some help which will not involve any sacrifice for me? Otherwise I'll simply not give."

There are other cases presented to the Lord than those mentioned above. We've all heard them and perhaps at times have been guilty of doing the same thing. We ask for a loved one to be saved more because it will make life a little more pleasant for us than because it will set the choirs of heaven ringing. We flirt with the world in all its ugly, subtle devices which dull our spiritual perception. Then we pray for this need to be supplied, or this special blessing to be bestowed when we simply would not know how to handle that blessing if the prayer were answered. "Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume [spend] it upon your lusts. Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God?" (Jas. 4:3-4).

God renders to each child of His according to the motives of the heart and their ability to appreciate and use for His glory and their good those things which He bestows. There is a price to be paid for that deep-down thrill of a rich blessing from our Father's hand. How much do we really value what He is and has done for us through Christ? May the cry of our hearts be that we are willing to spend and be spent for Him without thought of reward. He will see to that. And the reward will be within the scope of our ability to both handle it wisely and enjoy its blessings.

"He that keepeth thy soul . . . shall not he render to every man according to his works?" (Prov. 24:12).

Operation Brethren Home Missions

THANKSGIVING—BRETHREN HOME MISSIONS! EQUALS NEW BRETHREN CHURCHES!

This is the time to bring a sacrificial offering to the altar for the establishment of new Brethren testimonies in America. All over the nation Brethren people are praying for a great increase in the home-mission offering. For weeks many have been laying their offerings on the altar for this basic missionary enterprise of the Brethren Church.

The extent of Operation Home Missions will be determined, as always, by the amount of the Thanksgiving offering. Today, more than ever before in the history of the world, the Lord's service demands material means for its expansion. Church locations, new church buildings, equipment of all kinds must be provided for through the gifts of God's people. These things are absolutely necessary to the efficient conducting of the Lord's business.

The amount of time a pastor can spend in ministering spiritually will determine the degree of the church's growth. So often in Brethren home-mission points it is necessary to request the pastor to work part time to support himself and family. In some respects this thwarts the purpose of his being in that field. However, God has blessed us with men who are willing to do this. But how much better if funds are provided to care for the pastor's salary from the outset.

Operation Brethren Home Missions could become one of the most rapidly expanding gospel testimonies in America—it will become that when the Lord's servants have their vision filled with the spiritual needs of our nation.

Remember—America today is one of the world's neediest mission fields!

Help us meet the challenge of opening churches in the many new fields available to us.

92, 277, 129 Church Members—But Where Are They?

Church surveys show that this number is a new high in American church membership. With an approximate population of 160 million this means that more than half of the nation's constituents are church members.

What does this mean? Where are these church members? How were they secured? Before this report can be understood all of these questions must be answered. It is extremely misleading and damaging to the cause of Scriptural evangelism for any magazine to publish such a report without any explanation, even though it may be done on the basis that the figures are simply "news." To say the least, this report leaves a wrong impression and misrepresents the true spiritual facts.

The churches which evangelize in a Biblical manner, winning men to Christ and then bringing them into the visible church, constitute an extremely small minority of this total number. The methods of acquiring church members are many and varied in other churches.

Not long ago a situation came to light in one American city where the pastor had appointed a membership committee and divided the names in the telephone book in alphabetical order to the various committee members. These people were called and asked whether they belonged to any church. If not, the suggestion was made that the names of the family be placed on the church roll. Most people feel that it is a fine thing to at least have their names on some church list. Therefore, without any great effort, and certainly without presenting the real spiritual basis for church membership, this church reported a 73-percent increase in its membership for the year. This general procedure is not at all uncommon among American churches. Sometimes a house-to-house visitation campaign is launched on the same basis and with the same results. But—where are these church members? Do they attend the church services? Are they saved?

When we see that one of the most rapidly growing church bodies in the U. S. A. is Christ Unity Science Church, claiming an increase of 63 percent with 429,951 new members in 1952, it is easy to come to the conclusion that millions of these reported church members are not saved and therefore do not belong in the visible church.

More than 30 million Roman Catholics are included in the figure also.

Recently in the Converted Catholic magazine, Editor Walter M. Montano called on the Roman Catholic Church to produce these 30 million Catholics. He emphasized several things which have a tremendous bearing on the total church membership report.

Regardless of what he does in the future every child baptized into the Roman Catholic Church is counted. Even still-born infants, if baptized, are counted. Again, all the heretics are counted unless they have been officially excommunicated. Editor Montano also points out that millions of "indifferent" Catholics also are included. He claims that 7 out of every 10 Catholics object to some teaching of the church. Protestant churches usually demand letters of transfer, but Catholics move from one diocese to another without such formality. Therefore they may be counted many times. Parties to mixed marriages are usually included in the number and sometimes even non-Catholics who sign the marriage contract are listed. Former Catholics who neglect being buried by a Catholic priest are not technically dead and are still on the rolls of the church. In many instances reports handed in by local priests are also very inaccurate.

In addition to this we might ask, "How many Protes-

WINDOWS OF HEAVEN OPENED FOR PHOENIX

The dedication-day congregation at Phoenix, with 92 present on November 1, 1953. (Inset) The congregation that met in the McKillen home for organization in November 1952, with 12 present.

The world would call it "phenomenal" the way the First Brethren Church of Phoenix, Ariz., grew in less than 15 months. We who know somewhat of the power of God, know that He just opened the windows of heaven a little wider and poured out an additional number of blessings. Possibly more prayers were offered for Phoenix would be the logical explanation for its rapid growth, but whatever the reason—glory be to God!

We believe the pastor and Mrs. J. C. "Bill" McKillen were led of God to pioneer the Phoenix work, for the results are proof. The McKillens moved to Phoenix in August 1952. They purchased a home and went to work gathering believers together, and leading others to Christ, as a nucleus for a church. They received neither district nor national home-mission support at the time, but sacrificed some personal earnings to devote full time to the Phoenix work.

Certainly their pioneering spirit, their personal sacrifice, and their prayers were rewarded in seeing a church organized November 16, 1952, plans completed, ground broken, cornerstone laid, and dedication of a $30,000 church on November 1, 1953. Twelve people were present for the organization on November 16, 1952, and 92 for the dedication November 1, 1953.

The Brethren Home Missions Council deeply appreciates the work of Pastor and Mrs. J. C. McKillen, the help of the local congregation, the financial assistance of the Brethren Minute-Men, and the prayers of everyone who helped establish this first Brethren testimony in the State of Arizona. Pray that other churches will branch out from this one in Phoenix.

PHOENIX DEDICATION SERVICE

Rev. George O. Peek, pastor of the Second Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif., was the dedication speaker for the First Brethren Church on Sunday, November 1, at 3 p. m. Other guests included Rev. Harry McGimsey, Rev. A. B. Peters, Rev. E. C. Eymann, Rev. Leroy Thomas, Dr. John Hubbard, Rev. Robert W. Betz, and Rev. Leroy Howard.

The contractor, Howard D. White, was present to turn the keys over to the pastor, J. C. McKillen. Those present to assist in this ceremony included Nicholas Zoat, Don Strain, Lester Wilhide, trustees; Stanley L. Beam, vice moderator; and Richard L. Riggs, structural advisor.

HOME-MISSION HINT

John M. Aeby, pastor of the First Brethren Church, Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "A special offering was taken on Sunday, October 25, 1953, for the benefit of the Phoenix, Ariz., church dedication on November 1. The offering amounted to $34 plus." (It would be a fine gesture if every Brethren church did likewise for each new home-mission church dedicated.)

EXPECTATIONS EXCEEDED AT ELYRIA, OHIO

Rev. and Mrs. Galen Lingenfelter (extreme left) and the Elyria class.

This home-mission church in Elyria, Ohio, is developing so fast that we are unable to keep you up to date on the developments. On July 13, Rev. Lester Pifer, of Fremont, Ohio, held the first Bible class in the home of an interested Brethren with 15 people present. Since that day the class has shown continued growth and soon became too large for a home. A temporary meeting place was hard to find, but on October 18, the Playmakers Hall was secured. Immediately plans were made to start a full schedule of church services on the next Sunday, with the attendance now up to 50. A student pastor from Grace Seminary, Richard Messner, began his ministry on October 25, and again the attendance has increased to 60 and more. Rev. Galen Lingenfelter, shown above, will begin as their first full-time pastor approximately January 1, 1954. This is less than six months from the time of the first class.

Needless to say, our expectations were exceeded. At the time of our national conference Elyria was so new it was not even placed in the budget for 1954. Now, it has developed so fast that help is needed before 1954. A more adequate temporary meeting place is needed immediately. A location for a church is needed at once! A church building will be needed as soon as possible! A pastor's salary will need to be met after January 1, 1954!

To whom could we turn for such help? Only one place, and that was the Brethren Minute-Man. The letter has gone out—the need presented—the opportunity given—the result rests with you.

BRETHREN MINUTE-MEN HELPED PHOENIX

The Brethren Minute-Men gifts in the amount of $2,676.75 helped make the dedication of the First Brethren Church in Phoenix, Ariz., possible on November 1, 1953. (See page 735).

NEW BIBLE CLASS IN MISSOURI

In the city of Carrollton, Mo., a new Bible class was recently started by Rev. Marion D. Gates, pastor of the Leon Brethren Church, Leon, Iowa. The class is held on Monday nights, and if you know of anyone who would be interested in this work, write either Pastor Gates or the Brethren Home Missions Council, Inc.

tant churches annually and carefully revise their church rolls?"

Any clear-thinking individual can see that on the basis of factual evidence a hundred holes can be shot through this report on church membership. It absolutely does not reflect anything accurate as to the spiritual condition of America except that it would be safe to say that a minority of these 92 million church members are really born-again!

If this increase in church membership is a spiritual advance it should begin to make itself manifest in the various phases of our national life. Yet crime, immorality, divorce, and other sins do not diminish but are constantly on the increase.

A major crime was committed every 4.3 minutes in America during the first half of 1953. J. Edgar Hoover says that this year will probably pile up the worst crime toll in our national history.

Church membership has taken the place of the Gospel and the new birth in thousands of American churches. As a result the church is powerless and sin rides across the land largely unhindered.

America is in desperate spiritual need NOW! God expects us to meet this need with all the resources He places at our command.

DRYHILL CHAPEL DEDICATED

THE BRETHREN HOME MISSIONS COUNCIL IN PRESENTING TO OUR FELLOWSHIP ANOTHER TESTIMONY FOR OUR LORD AT DRYHILL, KY., WISHES TO EXPRESS ITS APPRECIATION TO THE SISTERHOOD OF MARY AND MARTHA FOR SPONSORING THIS AS A PROJECT. SINCE THE PROJECT OFFERING WAS NOT SUFFICIENT TO FINISH AND FURNISH THE CHAPEL, WE ARE GRATEFUL TO THE DAYTON, OHIO, BRETHREN, AND ALL THE OTHER FOLK WHO DONATED TIME, MATERIALS, AND MONEY TO SEE IT COMPLETED FOR DEDICATION ON OCTOBER 4, 1953. THIS CHAPEL, LIKE THE PHOENIX CHURCH, STANDS TODAY AS A TESTIMONY FOR OUR LORD, BECAUSE OF THE WORK OF A PIONEERING MISSIONARY—MISS EVELYN FUQUA.

DRYHILL DEDICATION DAY

By Miss Evelyn Fuqua

Early in the morning on October 4, 1953, the sun peeped over the hill, and in a few minutes was shining in all its glory on the little white chapel. If you had been passing by the chapel at this particular moment you would probably have had to take a second sniff, for floating down the hillside was the wonderful aroma of sizzling breakfast bacon, fresh country eggs, hot coffee, and Aunt Jemima pancakes. On the front porch of the chapel breakfast was being served! Chief cook was Mr. Charley Arthur, from North Riverdale, Dayton, Ohio. His chief bottle-washers were Mr. Leroy Hodson and Mr. Paul McNealey, both of Dayton, Ohio. If you want to know just what it really tasted like, talk to the Applegate family—they were there!

At 11 a. m. the big silver bell in the steeple rang out its usual Sunday-morning call to worship. Up the hillside people began to come. It wasn't long until the chapel was filled to capacity.

The congregation was led in three verses of "The Church in the Wildwood" by Rev. Raymond Haddix, of Bulan, Ky. Rev. Haddix also led in the Scripture reading and prayer. A beautiful marimba number was played by Wanda and Lynn Applegate, from Dayton, Ohio. Words of greeting were led by Miss Evelyn. Our Brethren Home Missions Council was represented by Bro. Frank Poland, who brought greetings from the Council. We enjoyed the words of greeting from Mr. Harley Beetley and Mr. Charley Arthur, men who helped so much in the building of our chapel. A telegram greeting from the South Gate, Calif., church was read. We were sorry that many of the ones who worked so faithfully on the chapel could not be present with us.

A duet, "The Old Country Church," was sung by Sally and Betty Huff. We praise the Lord for our dedication offering, which amounted to $128.02. Just before the dedicatory message, Wanda Applegate played "The Love of God" on the marimba. The dedicatory message, "Nehemiah and the Rebuilding of the Walls of Jerusalem," was given by Rev. Gerald Polman, pastor of the Grace Brethren Church, York, Pa. Immediately following the dedicatory message Rev. Polman sang "We Dedicate This House." Dedication vows were led by Frank Poland responsively with the congregation standing. The congregation sang four verses of "The Solid Rock," and the closing prayer was by Mr. J. D. White, of Manchester, Ky.

We praise the Lord for our little chapel. We wish each one of you could see how beautiful it really is! The top part of the walls is painted a beautiful sunshine yellow; then there is a wooden trim four feet from the floor, and the bottom part to the floor is painted a pretty, light blue. We have 14 beautiful pine pews which were a gift to us. We finished the pews and the oak flooring with clear varnish. Many have said that our floors are too pretty to walk on. In the front of the chapel we have a beautiful glass-stained window of Christ sitting in a chair with Mary wiping His feet with her hair. In the background is Martha with a tray—serving. Also in the front we have gold letters "TO KNOW HIM AND TO MAKE HIM KNOWN." In the back of the chapel we have our Brethren motto—"THE BIBLE, THE WHOLE BIBLE, AND NOTHING BUT THE BIBLE."

On a bronze plaque between the two front doors is the following: "Brethren Church, 1952, 'Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood.'" On the front of the chapel we have large wooden letters painted green—"BRETHREN CHAPEL."

Many folk stayed and enjoyed a wonderful dinner together out on the grass in front of the chapel. We gathered together to dedicate this house of worship to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. As we did, we gave heartfelt thanks and praise to the Lord for having led us to this point. It is our sincere prayer that the evidence in this place of God's glorious provision for His work will bring honor and glory to Him. We trust that from the very beginning this house of worship will truly be a lighthouse to the many folk of this community, where they can come and hear the blessed gospel story of how Christ died for their sins according to the Scripture, and was buried, and rose again the third day according to the Scriptures.

Testimonies by Brethren Home Mission Pastors and People

FROM MORMONISM TO CHRIST

By Gene Farrell

Pastor, Cherry Valley Brethren Church, Beaumont, Calif.

No one seems to know much about how they started to come. We just know that we were getting pretty desperate about the fact that souls were not being saved.

Gene Farrell

Formal prayers had given way to fervent supplication as our calling program seemed to fail, and we were thrown upon the mercy and power of God.

About this time a timid, unassuming mother and her three girls walked into the old Grange Hall which we were renting for our Sunday services. They said that they had come through the invitation of one of our little Sunday-school scholars. Like the "little maid" who witnessed to the leper, Naaman, we never have found out who it was, but God knows and will remember in "that day."

The next Sunday they were back in our midst again. They seemed to be hungry for the Word, unlike many other "better prospects" (so-called) who had to be coaxed to our services, only to fall away. They were P. H. D.'s—you know, Prepared Hearts Definitely!

They went home each Sunday, singing the hymns and choruses and telling of the blessing. The next Sunday or so there were six of them instead of four, two older girls having joined up—these two of junior-high and high-school age. Five girls and a mother! And when we learned that they were Mormons—having left the Mormon meeting in town where they had been attending faithfully—and that most of the mother's family were Mormons, we knew that God was working a miracle before our eyes!

Then one Sunday morning, with a little Spirit-led urging on the part of a member of our congregation, this mother came to the altar. In just a short time the three oldest girls had made a public confession, too. Only Dad remained. Would he come? Was this to be another of those instances where the wife and children "took care of the religion in the family"?

Praise God, no! Like the wife and children, he was under conviction, too, as he later confessed. "I tried to stay away as long as I could," he said. "But when I learned that the wife and three of the children had come to Christ—well, I just knew I couldn't hold out much longer."

About that time we had a week of meetings. We well remember his face while standing there as the invitation was given. It was an extremely sad face, gaunt and lined with care, and guilty with conviction. And though we were disheartened when he failed to come through, the meetings did serve a purpose in getting him started. Then one night he, too, was asked to make a public confession. At the time we thought—and so did he—that he was coming back to the Lord, for in conversation it appeared that he might be a believer. However, as is often the case, he later testified, and does now, that he was one of those folks who thought he was saved, but had never really known what it was to be born again.

He went away from the services that night with I Corinthians 10:13 and Philippians 4:13 in his mind. We didn't see him until the following Thursday, when we were having one of our first communion services, but, praise God, he was still on the victory side! At the service he testified that God had enabled him to give up a 29-year-old cigarette habit, and that the desire for drink was gone, too. He said that he was having quite a battle with the former, but that each time the craving came he just "got out the Word" and chewed a little harder on his gum!

From that time to this, Verner Allen (just plain "Slim" to us in C. V.) has been a free man. God completely

Mr. Verner "Slim" Allen on his well-drilling machine, and the five Allen daughters on their horse. These—and the mother—make up the family in "From Mormonism to Christ."

snapped the fetters of habit because he was dead in earnest about getting free. Well known in the community, the Allen family (like the lame beggar in Acts 4) have been a great testimony, especially to their Mormon friends. And when they sought to get them back, the Allens could say with the blind man in John 9, "Whether he be a sinner or no [these Brethren], I know not: one thing I know, that, whereas I was blind, now I see."

No pastor ever had a more faithful family to work with—Sunday school, church services, Christian Endeavor, prayer meeting, they were always there. When instruction was given about tithes, offerings, and other things, they gladly accepted it. When the challenge came to teach, they did so. And God has honored them for their stand, for they have been prospered, in a spiritual way with souls and growth in the Lord, and in health, business, and every other way. They were one of those mighty foundation stones which God used to "strengthen our hands" when the laborers were few.

The Allens, by the way, are away from us now. A well driller by profession, Slim's business forced him (about six months ago) to move out near Barstow, Calif., on the desert. But they are continuing on with the Lord and are busy in His work. And not only so, but God has given Slim two well-drilling rigs instead of one. As he goes from one job to another his testimony is, "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. . . . Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again" (Matt. 5:6 and John 4:13).

GOD LIFTED ME

By Mrs. Fred Clark
Artesia, Calif.

Oh, how true are these beautiful words; not only did He lift me, but our entire family as well.

To be taken out of confusion, uncertainty, and unrest, and have our hearts lifted to find contentment through Jesus Christ our Lord, was real joy.

We, as so many sheep, had strayed from the fold, but the Shepherd found us.

Many a time we passed the little Brethren church on Carson Street, and some inner power would bid us enter. One Sunday evening while out driving about 7 o'clock, my husband and I obeyed that urge within and parked our car by the little church, waiting for its doors to open. When the doors were opened we entered. The firm handshake, the warm welcome and smiles seemed to say, "Welcome home, children, we are glad to have you back in the fold."

The following Wednesday we attended prayer meeting, and silently in our hearts we gave ourselves to God, while tears of joy ran down our faces. What a joyous feeling to lay your burdens at His feet.

The following Sunday our little family of four children, my husband, and myself went to Sunday school and church. After the sermon, when Brother Rager gave the invitation, my husband and I looked at each other, smiled, clasped hands, and walked into the fold. Our hearts were of one accord.

Oh, how He has blessed us since. We have had the joy of seeing our children accept Jesus Christ as their Lord and Saviour. We have all been baptized, and our little boy of 2 has been dedicated to the Lord.

Our family altar every evening is such a blessing to all. He has enlightened us so we can understand His Word. You may say that it was easier for those that lived in the Lord's time because they saw His miracles, and there are none now. Oh, but you are wrong! If you only look unto Jesus and have faith as we did you shall see.

One day while going on a picnic, we drove many miles out into the country. Something went wrong with our car and it stopped right in the middle of a busy highway. My husband tried and tried to start it, but to no avail—it would not start. Finally in desperation he got out and lifted the hood of the car. I didn't think it would help much because he is not mechanically minded. Soon I heard him whistling, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." I got out to see if I could help him. He said he thought it was the carburetor and we proceeded to take it off. To make matters worse, we had left the toolbox at home and only had a pair of pliers and a chisel with us.

None of us knew it at the time, but each child, my husband, and myself had prayed silently that He would guide my husband's hand. We used hairpins to replace some broken parts and other parts that dropped into the motor, and placed the carburetor back into position. "If this runs it will be because some other hand has taken over," said my husband.

He asked me to get into the car and step on the starter. I did, and the motor started and ran like it never had before. I saw my husband's face lifted to the heavens, and everyone in the car felt the unseen hand, and were in awe. Why? you ask. Because we had just witnessed a miracle. Yes, we went on our picnic. We found a beautiful shaded place in the woods by a little stream. God shaded us from the heat of the day and we ate, knelt in prayer together rejoicing in what Christ had done in our lives.

Yes, dear friends, you, too, can see a miracle. Let the Lord and Saviour into your hearts and be lifted from the burden of sin.

BUILDING TODAY FOR GOD'S TOMORROW

By Cora Luna

Missionary Worker, Cordillera, N. Mex.

"For we are labourers together with God; ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building."

I praise the Lord that He counted us among His workers, and that truly we are building for eternity. As we build and we gather the materials, we come across many obstacles and rough spots which, as any builder knows, are discouraging and delaying to the work.

Cora Luna

Here in Cordillera as we think back on the work done, we remember the good times and the bad times, giving thanks always for all things.

Some time back we had the privilege of seeing four from a family of five added to God's building. First a boy of 13 accepted Christ as his personal Saviour; then his mother was saved. Later the father declared his faith in Christ. Following a time of prayer for the other two boys, one night as the invitation was given and as the Spirit worked mightily in their hearts, one of the boys took his stand for Christ.

What a joy to see someone that you have been praying for make a decision and best of all to mean it in his heart. There were many tears shed that night as a congregation once more witnessed the saving grace of Christ. The other boy isn't saved yet, but we know that prayer changes things, and that someday he too will enter into the family of God.

We remember also the wonderful keeping power of Christ for all those that know Him and love Him. One day one of our most faithful ladies, employed in one of our local hotels, was falsely accused of theft by the unsaved and worldly people she worked with. She resigned her position there, but praise the Lord for His wonderful promise that one sparrow "shall not fall on the ground without your Father" (Matt. 10:29). That same week even before she quit, she had offers for work at several other places with better pay and better working conditions, where she could carry on her witnessing for the Lord. Speaking to her just last Sunday, she said that the Lord has greatly blessed her and that some of the women where she works now have consented to come to church with her sometime soon.

Then we remember also the rough spots, and for these and for the work as a whole we request your prayers. It is not easy to work amidst the evil influences of the Roman Church and the glitter of the world. We ask prayer for our young people, especially that they might feel the tremendous responsibility they have as children of the King.

God bless you all as you also strive to complete God's building, of which Christ is the chief cornerstone, knowing that some glad day we shall meet in those mansions that He is preparing for them that love Him.

HOW DO YOU SPEND YOUR SUNDAYS?

By Jake Maestas

Sunday-School Superintendent, Cañon Brethren Church, Taos, N. Mex.

I am writing this article to give the Brethren people an idea of how Sundays are spent here at the mission in Taos.

Each Sunday morning Rev. Sam Horney, Miss Celina Mares, and I start out in three different cars and go in three different directions to bring the people to the mission services.

Jake Maestas

Because we have a lot of miles to cover it is necessary that we leave at 8:30 a. m. One route covers 14 miles each way, or 56 miles on Sunday. Another route covers 21 miles each way, or 84 miles on Sunday (168 miles a week). By the time we get the people into the mission it is 10 o'clock and time to start Sunday school.

I, as Sunday-school superintendent, get the services under way. I also have a Sunday-school class of junior boys to teach. When Sunday school is over we go into the regular church service. When this service is over we are not like other people that go home right away, for we have to drive the same routes over again and take the people home. When we get home around 1:30 we have to get dinner and then get ready for the evening service. After reading our Bibles for a while, I look at the clock and it is 5:30—time to leave for the evening service. We do the same routes over again and get the people to the mission by 7, in time for the BYF meeting. When BYF is over the evening service takes place. When this is over all the rest of the people go home. We don't. We still have a route to make. We have from 35 to 50 people to take home. At 10:30 or 11 we arrive back home. Even though tired and weary we are still rejoicing in the part we have in the Lord's work. The Word has been taught, the Gospel has been preached, the seed has been sown, and we wait for the results. The results have been great. Souls have been saved. Weary souls have found rest. Sinners have found deliverance from sin. That is why we rejoice. He is the rewarder of the faithful.

We are His stewards. In I Corinthians 4:2 it says, "Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful." So, brethren, pray for us! My life verse is Galatians 2:20.

THE PRAYER OF FAITH

By Sam I. Horney

Pastor, Cañon Brethren Church, Taos, N. Mex.

There is nothing unusual or unique about an anointing service in the Brethren Church. The Bible teaches it—and the church practices it. The uniqueness of the following story is in the fact that some 20 persons gathered together at the bedside of a dying man to see the rite performed.

Sam Horney

One of our faithful believers has been bedfast for some six months. In the prolonged illness he has grown weaker and weaker. One day as he lay upon his bed of affliction he remembered the preaching he had heard at the mission, "Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray . . . anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord." In faith he called for the elders of the church.

Your missionary, Sam Horney, and David Tollardo, pastor of our mission at Arroyo Hondo, responded to the request and at the designated hour went to the home. How surprised we were to find a congregation waiting to witness the event. Seizing the opportunity to reach those who had never entered the door of the mission because of fear and threat, your writer gave an exposition of James 5. Following the Bible authority for the anointing service there was a lengthy time of confession of sin to the Lord in prayer. All eyes were firmly fixed on the Christian brother as he was anointed "in the name of the Lord."

The anointing service in the Brethren Church is a common thing. It is frequently practiced. But this occasion was the first time it had been practiced and observed by your Spanish Brethren. Won't you pray with us that the Lord will spare the life of this brother? If the Lord wills to do so, it will have a tremendous influence in the community. The possibilities are unlimited.

CORDILLERA'S GROWING TESTIMONY

By Tony T. Luna

Pastor, Cordillera (N. Mex.) Brethren Church

The Lord has greatly blessed in the mission at Cordillera in many ways. I want to relate one of the incidents of our work.

Last August a lady from Las Cordovas, a little village of about 12 houses, came to our services at the mission. I had gone to her home to visit her; I had never seen her before my visit, but she knew a little about me. When I told her what the Lord could do for her she became very interested, and came to our services. That night as the invitation was given she walked forward and gave her heart to the Lord. She told me later that she had never read the Bible before I gave her one to read. Now she not only reads it but she tells it to others as well. She has really grown in the grace and knowledge of the Lord. Due to sickness and other difficulties she has little opportunity to go to services. Last Sunday her youngest daughter confessed the Lord as her Saviour. Two weeks ago her husband accepted the Lord in his home. Her older daughter wants to accept Christ also. There have been many more whom the Lord has saved, all glory and honor to Him.

We also praise God for being able to make an addition to our mission in Cordillera. The walls are now up and we will be using the addition by the end of November. The Lord has wonderfully supplied the funds.

Several weeks ago two of our young people gave their lives to the Lord for full-time Christian service. One is a girl 17 years of age; the other is a boy 14 years old. Both are real testimonies for the Lord.

Brethren, won't you join with us in prayer that God will send a revival to my people to awaken them to their responsibility of going out and bringing them to Christ instead of waiting for them to come? We often have our encounters with the priests, but many times we fail to recognize that they also need salvation. Our greatest enemy therefore is the lukewarmness of Christians. We need to be awakened and revived once again.

We would request that all the Brethren pray for our missionary work among the Spanish people of New Mexico. Pray that the Lord will send a revival to our Spanish missions.

THE LITTLE VALLEY OF ARROYO HONDO

By David Tollardo

Pastor, Arroyo Hondo (N. Mex.) Brethren Mission

Arroyo Hondo is a small village of about 700 or 800 people. Of this number there are only about 50 saved people. How sad!

I remember before I was saved that I visited the valley of Arroyo Hondo, only I was being used as a tool of Satan. Who would ever think that the Lord would ever give me such a vision as to work among those people?

I remember as if it were today, on June 2, 1951, when the Lord really opened my eyes and gave me the great vision for souls even as Paul had when he said, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" And the answer came back to me plain, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mark 16:15).

I thank God through Jesus Christ my Saviour for sending me to work among my people of Arroyo Hondo. I have come to love the people there although I feel many times that I am doing so little for my Lord and for those who are still in darkness. I feel that my time is so limited that I can't find time to really work among my people of the valley and teach them the truth of God's Word.

I have been to every home in Arroyo Hondo and it breaks my heart to see my people in darkness. I pray that the Lord will open a way that I may be able to work full time for Him there. My prayer to my Lord is, "Lord, if You call me I will answer. Whenever You need me

WASHINGTON HEIGHTS CHURCH CONSTRUCTION

The ground was broken for the new Washington Heights Brethren Church, Roanoke, Va., on Sunday, September 6, 1953. The Brethren Construction Company crew, shown above, comprised of Mr. Edward Rife, a new member; Mr. Paul Circle, Mr. Vernon Latham, and Mr. Tom Bailey, were there ready to start the next day. The other photographs taken on October 26, 1953, show the progress made to that date. It also shows the crew members in action.

DID YOU THANK HIM?

A kind uncle who had just returned from Paris brought his little niece a fine French doll. "Did you thank Uncle for the beautiful present?" asked her mother, as the little girl rushed into the house all aglow with enthusiasm over the new toy. "Yes, Mama, but I didn't tell him so." This is the way with much of our gratitude. If you are thankful to God, tell Him so. If you are grateful for the kindness of a friend, express it, that the friend and you may be the better for it.—From Record of Christian Work.

A family altar leads to an altered life.—The Friendly Messenger.

"I'll be waiting. If You send me I'll be willing." May the Lord's will be done in my life.

My dear brethren, please pray that in everything I might do His will and that He might use me as a vessel of His.

CLAYHOLE EVENTS

By Sewell S. Landrum

During the past four weeks things have really been happening around the Clayhole Brethren Church in Clayhole, Ky. A new coat of paint has been put on all the buildings. We also put on a cleanup campaign getting things ready for events that were to take place in the near future.

Sewell S. Landrum

October 5 was the beginning of two weeks of evangelistic meetings with Robert Ashman, from Winona Lake, Ind., as the evangelist. The meetings started off with a good crowd the first evening and continued throughout the two weeks. We had an average of 150 people at each service.

On two different occasions there were more than 200. The largest crowd was the last Sunday evening, which was "Family Night." Nineteen whole families were present. Each family received a picture as a prize for being present. The last Thursday evening was "Surprise Night." There were lots of surprises. The best surprise was reserved for the pastor. I found out that the Clayhole people can really keep a secret. While I was running a prearranged errand for Brother Ashman they planned a surprise for me. This was on Tuesday night. Thursday evening the church presented me with $30.18, which was to be used personally.

The folk all enjoyed Brother Ashman's messages. Some of the Christians made statements such as, "His messages are surely doing me a lot of good." His object lessons in magic were a real treat for everyone present.

Another highlight of the meetings was a visit to Clayhole by our good friend, Joe Dombek, from Winona Lake, Ind. He came down to help with some signs and art work for the Sunday-school contest. Each evening Mr. Dombek drew a picture with his chalk which went with the message of the evening. The best way to describe his work is in the words of one of our Christian ladies: "It is wonderful." While he was here he helped us get off to a good start in the Sunday-school contest. We could have used him another week.

There were six decisions during the two weeks. One was a man about 30 years old. Our group was really thrilled to see this young man take his stand for Christ. The other decisions were among young folk about 12 years of age. There were eight rededications.

While Brother Bob was here we spent a lot of time visiting schools for services. In our local consolidated grade school we reached about 350 children each week. We visited two small schools up Leatherwood Creek. The children responded well to the lessons Brother Ashman gave. One day we went into Jackson to visit the Jackson City School.

We also spent a lot of time the first week getting ready for our second Christian Life Sunday-School Contest. The first event was a Sunday-school parade. The route of the parade was from the Perry County line to Jackson, the county seat of beautiful Breathitt County. There were 17 cars, busses, trucks, and jeeps in the parade. One hundred sixty people rode in the vehicles. The parade was led by a Kentucky State policeman in his police car. Behind the police car was Brother Ashman with the public-address system announcing our Sunday-school contest. Joe Dombek followed Brother Ashman.

The highlight of the parade was a float with a reproduction of the Clayhole church building. The building was six feet long and four feet wide. The pastor and Mrs. Callie Clemmons erected the building. The finishing touches were put on by Dombek and Ashman. Along the parade route flying saucers were launched from the truck carrying the float. We also threw out pencils with our church name and address on them. A large crowd gathered around our float in the center of Jackson as we stopped there to launch some flying saucers and to give out pencils. The flying saucers had

IOWA ON THE BEAM FOR HOME MISSIONS

This growing home-mission church is located at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. (Inset) The pastor, Richard Grant, and his family. In addition to being pastor of the Cedar Rapids church, he teaches a Bible class at Davenport, Iowa, each week. Elsewhere in this issue is the announcement of another Bible class started at Carrollton, Mo., and being taught by Rev. Marion D. Gates, of Leon, Iowa. Two Bible classes and one growing home-mission church, having only five other churches, is an excellent sample of a home-mission-minded district. Incidentally, the Iowa District showed the greatest percentage of gain in the 1952 Thanksgiving offering.

printed on them, "Exchange this Flying Saucer for a prize at the Clayhole Brethren Sunday School, Clayhole, Kentucky, any Sunday from October 11-November 15." They are coming back in large numbers. Many children who have never been in our Sunday school before come to receive their prize, which is one of our pencils.

As I write this article the contest is one-half over. By the time it is in print the contest will be finished. Last year during the first three Sundays of the contest we had 965 people in Sunday school. This year we have had 967, which is 2 more than last year. Our aim is to reach 400 before the contest is over. The Sunday we reach 400 we will send Bob Ashman a telegram collect. Words will not be spared when we explain things to him. Will give a fuller report after the contest is over.

Last Sunday we had about 750 people in our church for the morning and evening services. Sunday evening, the film, "Mr. Texas," was shown to an overflow crowd. People were standing all along the back of the church. As a result of this picture, six people made their decision for Christ.

Monday evening we took "Mr. Texas" to Jackson, where it was shown in the Breathitt County High School auditorium. We again had a full house of about 450. Six people accepted Christ there. This film was sponsored by the Clayhole Brethren Sunday School. The film "Oil Town" has been scheduled for sometime after the first of the year.

November 7, L. A. Hodson, from the North Riverdale Brethren Church in Dayton, Ohio, will be here with his 3-D colored slides of Palestine. He spent several weeks in Palestine during the summer of 1951. This service will be another feature of the Sunday school.

Opportunities for service at Clayhole are unlimited. New challenges come with each new day. Brethren, pray for us.

BETTER THAN LOSING IT

A chaplain was speaking to a soldier on a cot in a hospital. "You have lost an arm in the great cause," said the chaplain. "No," said the soldier with a smile, "I didn't lose it—I gave it!" And in the same way Jesus did not lose His life. He gave it. It reminds us of His purpose. He died that we might be forgiven, and go at last to heaven.—Moody Monthly.

ARTESIA, CALIF. (Adam H. Rager, pastor)—

The Lord gave us a blessed day yesterday, with three adults publicly confessing Christ as Saviour. Those decisions represent three different families and we praise the Lord for them, because adults are needed in the work. It was also a good day in Sunday school, with 192 present, making our average 188 for October. The pumphouse is being cleaned to make room for an additional Sunday-school class.

RIVERSIDE, JOHNSTOWN, PA. (Ralph C. Hall, pastor)—

Our two-week meeting with the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade team of Bro. Lepp, Bergerson, and Coffin proved to be a tremendous blessing to our church. Our folk had prayed that we might have a real revival and the Lord certainly answered. There were 18 decisions for salvation and 23 for rededication. Our prayer meetings doubled in attendance, and all other services increased after the meetings. On the closing Sunday we had 130 in Bible school and 155 in the Sunday-evening service. The majority of these were from the community and the little mission building was certainly filled to capacity. I really believe the work is going forward more rapidly than ever before.

SOUTH BEND, IND. (Pastor Russell Ogden)—

Enthusiasm is running high at Sunnymede. The Christian Life Sunday School Contest has done more to spark attendance than anything we've tried. We had 77 last Sunday—a new record for recent years—and topped it with 81 today. Pressing for 90 next week, and 100 on the closing Sunday, November 15.

Offerings totaled $200.31 last week—another record for a regular Sunday—and reached $183 today—running consistently over $150. We have $263 of our $500 goal for home missions.

The spirit of the people is good in preparation for our evangelistic campaign. Cottage prayer meetings have been well attended. We have several definite prospects we are praying for. Pray with us.

MODESTO, CALIF. (Harold D. Painter, pastor)—

Sunday, October 18, was homecoming day at the La Loma Grace Brethren Church at Modesto, Calif., and marked the close of the Sunday-school contest with the First Brethren Church of Tracy. Our Sunday-school attendance averaged 167 over the six-week period, to come in second in the contest. The highest attendance recorded for the contest was 206. The enrollment increased from 193 to 212. A special offering was received from the Sunday school of $103.98 to stucco the church social hall.

Guest speakers for the day included Rev. Marvin Goodman, Sr., Child Evangelism Fellowship director in India, Ceylon, and Pakistan, who spoke to 210 people at the unified morning service, and Rev. Marvin Goodman, Jr., missionary from Africa, who spoke at the evening church service. Both Goodman families are members of the Modesto church.

The day also was the eighth anniversary for the Painter family in Modesto. They have recently accepted a call to the First Brethren Church in Sunnyside, Wash., and will take up their new work there by January 1.

DENVER, COLO. (Tom Inman, pastor)—

Praise the Lord for the 16 who gathered to observe the threefold communion on October 30. Many others expressed their desire to attend, but illness and conflicting engagements hindered them. The Sunday-school attendance was over 60 each Sunday during October. Pray for our growing Sunday school and for our "Let's Be Thankful" Bible conference and evangelistic meeting November 22-29.

YORK, PA. (Gerald Polman, pastor)—

The Happy Hour held for boys and girls after school on each Thursday is attended by 50 to 60 children. We are thankful for this opportunity of telling them the Gospel. As a result new folk are coming to our services from the community. Ninety-two was the new record set recently in our Sunday school.

MARTINSBURG, W. VA. (M. Leon Myers, pastor)—

Pray that the Lord will show us how to utilize the space in our church for Sunday-school classes. On Rally Day this year there were 203 present, compared to 160 last year. The increase in attendance every Sunday is resulting in growth for our church. Fifteen have been baptized in a period of four months, including several families who joined the church.

FINDLAY, OHIO (Forest F. Lance, pastor)—

It has been some time since I have written a report on our work and I must write you of the recent blessings. New records were established in Sunday school, four of the five Sundays in October. We began with 74 and reached 98 on November 1. Needless to say, we need our new building right now. One class is held in a nearby home and another in a supposed-to-be cloakroom. The one class for 2- to 10-year-olds has had 40 and 41 the last two Sundays. Our new first unit building will help this condition. However, even before it is finished some can already see the need for the main unit, for several families say that they are coming as soon as our new church is completed. During the month of October the Lord blessed in giving us three first-time decisions, a young married couple and a young man about 16.

ISRAEL CALLS!

"I HAVE ONLY ONE SOUL"

By Bruce L. Button

Mrs. X was contacted by the mission about one year ago. We first met her through house-to-house visitation. At the first contact she gave evidence of a real interest in the Person of Jesus of Nazareth, so much so that she was invited to our Bible-study group. She accepted the invitation and the following Wednesday evening she attended the class. During the message she listened intently. After the message she had many questions, legitimate questions, and we were able to answer them to her satisfaction. She left the mission that evening after promising to read and study the Word of God, both Old and New Testaments. And for many, many weeks that was the last that we saw of Mrs. X in our home. However, we did not let the matter rest there. We called many times at her home. We tried to encourage her to come to the meetings, but she always had some excuse for not being able to attend. We tried to talk to her regarding the Word of God, but she always directed the conversation into other channels. All of us tried, at one time or another, to arouse the interest she once had in the things of the Lord, but without apparent success.

Now the Lord works in wonderful ways. And it took the Lord to awaken the latent interest of Mrs. X. First, He brought some financial reverses to Mrs. X—at least He permitted them to happen. From these arose a difficulty in paying a pledge to one of the Jewish synagogues in the neighborhood. And for help in this matter Mrs. X turned to the mission. She needed someone to compose a letter asking the synagogue to release her from her pledge. She was furnished with such a letter. Then summer came along and the mission staff departed for national conference. We lost track of Mrs. X for about two months.

When we returned from the east we attempted to contact Mrs. X, but were unable to do so. Miss Fraser learned that she had been seriously burned. A pressure cooker had blown up while she was using it. Miss Fraser finally contacted Mrs. X and was able to witness to her.

Although I had called at Mrs. X's home since returning from conference, I had not been able to contact her. But the Lord undertook, and late one Monday evening, as my wife and I were shopping at a neighborhood market, we met Mrs. X. She seemed very glad to see us again and was quite talkative. We drove her home in the car. As we let her out at her door she asked that I call on her. "For," she said, "I have something to tell you that will surprise you. Something very important." I told her that I would call upon her that week, and we bid her good night.

The following Wednesday afternoon I called at her home. She said she would be unable to talk as she was expecting someone to call for her. Once again I tried to interest her in the class. Much to my surprise she said she would like to come, so I arranged to pick her up in the car about 7:45. When our group met that evening it was composed of the mission staff, two Hebrew Christians, and three unbelieving Jews, one of which was Mrs. X. The message of the evening was on the second chapter of Zechariah. After the message, during a question-and-answer period, Mrs. X told us what was on her heart. With her financial losses, her accident involving the burns, together with many other things that tended to make her life miserable, Mrs. X had reached the place in her life where she did not know where to turn for help. The more she tried to straighten things out, the worse they seemed to become tangled. Finally she reached the point where she thought her reason would snap. It was then that she began to pray to JESUS CHRIST for help. And, as she put it, "Everything seemed to be all right once again." This was the reason that she was back at the class. She was seeking the truth about Jesus.

From that point on I devoted most of my time to Mrs. X. She asked question after question. Again I was able to answer her questions to her satisfaction. Miss Fraser, Mrs. Button, and the two Hebrew Christians helped in the answers. Both Hebrew Christians gave their testimony of the wonderful grace of the Lord.

Mrs. X did not confess the Lord, but we are sure that she will as we contact her further. As I drove her home that evening she said to me, "Mr. Button, I am not trying to be obstinate. I am trying to be sure. When I am convinced that Jesus is the Messiah, that He is God in human flesh, I shall not be afraid to confess Him before all my people. But I have only one soul! I don't want to lose that. If I gained the whole world, but lost my soul, I would have nothing. Do you see what I mean? I MUST be sure!"

My reply was, "Mrs. X, you keep on searching the Word of God. Pray to the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, 'Show me the truth as I read this Bible, and help me to follow the light that is given me by Thee.' God will honor your prayer and you will know the truth about Jesus of Nazareth. You will find that He IS the Messiah, God incarnate in human flesh, your Saviour."

Mrs. X will come back to our meetings. We will call on her and work with her in the problem of the messiahship of Jesus. But unless the Spirit of God works, our work will be in vain. Pray, brethren, that God will enlighten this dear seeking soul. The Lord will bless you for it.

CORRECTION

In the October 24, 1953, issue of the Brethren Missionary Herald, on page 673 the caption reading "Rev. Clyde G. Balyo bringing North Riverdale greetings," should have read "Rev. Clyde G. Balyo bringing the dedication message." And the caption, "Dr. L. L. Grubb bringing the dedication day message," should have read, "Dr. L. L. Grubb bringing greetings from the Brethren Home Missions Council." We are sorry for this error in not rendering honor to whom honor was due.

BRETHREN HOME MISSIONS

Thanksgiving! Truly we all have reason to rejoice in the Lord for His manifold blessings. As a church we have reason to rejoice as we consider the way the Lord has blessed the home-mission work until there are nearly 50 churches under the supervision of the Brethren Home Missions Council and its secretary, Dr. L. L. Grubb. The budget is tremendous for such a great number of mission points. Your Brethren Missionary Herald urges every member and friend of the Brethren Church who is thankful to God for the way our home-mission program has grown, to increase your Thanksgiving offering this week for the glory of the Lord.

increase in the arrests of teen-agers so far this year.

The answer to this terrible situation lies at the doorstep of every parent in America. Especially should Christian parents be tremendously concerned with regard to their own children and other children that should be reached for the Lord Jesus Christ. As Christian parents we should more readily see the weaknesses in our own children, and seek to direct and discipline them early. Discipline should start at the cradle, and a stern hand the first 10 years of a child's life will make discipline of 10- to 18-year-old children less difficult. Too many parents make the mistake of waiting until a child is 14 before any discipline is administered, and this is too late. Start early with discipline and be consistent!

The cause of delinquency today is the lack of proper and consistent discipline in the early stages of children's lives. "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it" (Prov. 22:6).

So often we see the inconsistencies in other parents and their children but we see no fault in our training of our children. Let us pray that the Lord will open our eyes to the need in our own home.

PLEASURE-MAD WORLD

Recent figures released by the U. S. Department of Commerce reveal that the American people spent over 12 billions of dollars during the last year on recreation. This included every form of amusement from dog racing and dance halls to theater and opera, and the receipts for the last type are very low.

These facts are more revealing when we learn that $1,286,633,160 was given for all purposes of religious work. And it must be remembered that of this one billion it can be estimated that about three-fourths or more was channeled into liberal channels which accomplished nothing for the glory of the Lord Jesus Christ.

In this pleasure-mad world men and women are spending money "like a drunken sailor" while only "drops" are channeled into doing the great work the Lord commanded us to do. Praise God for every Christian that is sacrificially laying on the altar of his substance. Praise God for every Christian that is planning for the future, and has so arranged his personal affairs so that his resources will go to the work of the Lord Jesus when his earthly pilgrimage is over. If this has been overlooked in your business, why not give serious consideration to the annuity program that is soon to be announced by the four major boards of our denomination. Invest in eternity, and not in this passing pleasure-mad world.

A POSITIVE PROGRAM

The Children's Bureau of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D. C., reports that annually better than 2 percent of the cases that come before the court range in age from 10 to 17 (Whaley-Eaton Service). This department is seeking to enlarge its influence to "help keep the nation's children out of trouble."

From a human standpoint this program would seem to be fine, but as the Christian analyzes such a program he must conclude that it is negative in its approach.

The Christian approach is positive, for we do not suggest a program that will "help keep the nation's children out of trouble"; rather, we have the absolute answer to the problem as we present Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord. We urge more and more women to assume the task of teaching in Sunday school and child evangelism classes where lives are being shaped in a positive program for the glory of the Lord Jesus and by the means of salvation through Him. More important than literary clubs and social-tea parties is the work of evangelization of lost children.

DELINQUENCY

Seeking to determine the cause for the increase in juvenile delinquency, the Senate has appointed a committee to investigate the source and the use of narcotics among teen-agers. So acute has the problem become that Senator Hendrickson, chairman of the committee, determined that his committee should create "a public ground swell" of sentiment that will aid local authorities in combating and finding the cause of teen-age crime.

Juvenile delinquency has reached such proportions in metropolitan areas that local law enforcement officers are bewildered. A Chicago judge recently declared that juvenile gangs threaten to take over the city. The narcotics racket has become so widespread that a youth told this judge that "in the lake region of Chicago it is easy for anyone to get hold of heroin." Gun-toting youth have declared they can get "the stuff" most anyplace.

Officials in Philadelphia, Pa., have declared that "greaser mobs" (gangs of law-breaking youths) are committing crimes ranging from murder to robbery and auto thefts. In this city there has been a 35-percent

“CAUSETH US TO TRIUMPH”

(II CORINTHIANS 2:14)

Many commentators liken the promised land to heaven. In all the messages I can remember hearing on this subject the speaker always compared Beulah Land to heaven into which many do not enter because of unbelief. While it is true that many will not enter heaven because of unbelief, I remember that even as a child there were some questions which kept coming into my mind.

I. How Could the Promised Land Be Heaven?

Heaven is to be a place of beauty and splendor, a place of joy and blessing, where we will live eternally in the presence of a holy God and enjoy the wonders of His grace forever. But the promised land, while it was a land flowing with milk and honey, full of blessing and overflowing, was in no sense the place of perfection pictured for heaven.

The report of the 10 spies is that the land was full of giants. History confirms the Scripture which pictures them as being sinners of the worst nature. Personally, I do not want to spend eternity in heaven conquering giants like this. Do you?

Then when the children of Israel entered the land they were far from perfect. They crossed the River Jordan at flood stage and walked on dry ground. In perfect obedience to the Lord's command they encompassed the city of Jericho and took it without the loss of a single life only to be completely routed and defeated at Ai because of their overconfidence and the sin of one man. I for one am not looking for a heaven like this.

After they entered the land they conquered and drove out many of the enemy but failed to rid themselves of all of them. Because of this failure, they drifted into sin as a nation. Certainly this is no picture of heaven.

More than this, failure to enter into the land of promise left the children of Israel wandering in the wilderness for 40 years. If the promised land is heaven, then the parallel for this wilderness wandering would have to be one of two things. Either it would be a period of purgatorial penance, which I am sure none of us would suggest, or else our sojourn here on earth after we are converted would be dependent upon our failure to enter into heaven, and certainly neither of these ideas are even suggested in the Word of God.

While the promised land cannot be heaven, I believe it has a perfect parallel in Christian experience. To understand what this parallel is, let us consider:

II. What the Parallel of the Desert Wandering Is.

If the promised land represents heaven then it would seem most logical that the desert wilderness wanderings would represent the natural, normal experience of every Christian life. If this were true then the person who is the most miserable would be the best Christian.

The desert wilderness was an unfruitful, uninviting, dreary, monotonous region covered with coarse gravel, black flints, and drifting sand. It was necessary for the children of Israel to pass through this land in order to reach the land of promise, but it was never God's desire for them to stay there.

In the wilderness, God supplied them with daily manna from heaven and water out of the living rock which is Christ. Yet in spite of all of God's provision the wilderness was always a place of murmuring, criticism, and complaint.

By Russell Williams
Yakima, Wash.

The children of Israel spent their whole lifetime wandering in such a wilderness because of their unbelief and disobedience when God offered them a land flowing with milk and honey. What is the promised land and what is the wilderness?

Egypt, without question, is a type of the world and sin. By nature that is where everyone of us live, enjoying the pleasures of sin for a season, living on the leeks and garlic of Egypt, but under hard bondage to sin.

When we cross the Red Sea in our spiritual experience we too must, as it were, pass through a desert wilderness to enter the promised land. When we accept Christ as Saviour, we are separated forever from the old life. Now God feeds us with daily manna from His Word and supplies us with refreshing living water, even Christ. But instead of being in the promised land of overflowing blessing it is often a rude awakening to find ourselves in a desert wilderness.

The desert wilderness is ever the place of little faith and partial obedience. How few really live by faith. Even Abraham started out with partial obedience. God commanded him to leave his country, his kindred, and his father's house and go out into an unknown land. Abraham left his country. He parted with his close kindred when his father died at Haran. But one day he came to the place of complete obedience and separated from all of his father's house (Gen. 13:14).

The tragedy is that there are many today like the children of Israel who live and die in the wilderness because of unbelief and disobedience. Paul gives at least four characteristics of such persons in I Corinthians 3. (1) They are carnal or fleshly instead of spiritual. (2) They are still babes in Christ when they ought to be mature. (3) They demand a milk diet when they ought to be able to handle solid food, and (4) they are fussy and hard to get along with when they should manifest the love of Christ. It might be well for each one of us to check up on our-

"THE WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT"

It was an awe-stricken group; their eyes piercing the clouds with reluctance as the outline of Christ's figure vanished (Acts 1:9). Jesus did not die away on mortal view, but soared away from mortal view, while the accents of His voice were still in the ear, speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God. There is an instructive conjunction between Christ's statement that there were some things not for us to know and His promise of the power of the Holy Spirit in the tremendous program and challenge, yea command, to witness. The "but" indicates that too much knowledge of the future, with their minds too full of God's overhead business might interfere with their supreme commission.

Christ never asked His workers to function without giving them the power to do it. Study again Acts 1:8. In college psychology we studied "The Expulsive Power of a New Affection." How true that when the love of God comes in, evil tendencies are driven out. Acts 1 is the chapter of promise and waiting. The second chapter begins with a portrait of the waiting company as the moment of fulfillment arrives. They were "all" there and they were "with one accord." Individualistic purposes and self-seeking had subsided. Prayer, supplication, and continuous praise were the order. The church was not to be a pretty hothouse plant. It had a rugged mission to a lost but wicked world to perform. The church is not on dress parade, although one might get that impression. She is on the battlefield. The militant church today will become the church triumphant eventually. These are the days of our humiliation. Soon, perhaps very soon, we will enter the days of our glorification. Power, God's power, is needed to be faithful in our peculiar task. The Holy Ghost had been with them before, but now He filled them—empowered them. This should be the experience for all believers.

They tarried and trusted. Have you ever thought that it might require more power and poise to tarry and trust than to work in our own feeble strength? The more I try in my own strength to do something, the less I seem to get done. It is when I go to my knees and seek His guidance and His power that I see permanent good accomplished.

A locomotive is no less grand in its construction and appearance without steam; no less grand than when it is endued with power. It is a costly mechanism which the company cannot afford to create and place under shelter simply to be admired. But before it can fill its place it must be supplied with the magic power of steam and must also have a governor at the controls. So the church to be useful must have the power. But God will not supply the power until due conditions are met, which must include a willingness to be guided by His Word and His Spirit as the "Governor" of the machine.

Brethren, unlimited opportunities of witnessing and evangelizing lie ahead for us during the ensuing year. God has promised to supply sufficient power for this need. All the combined power of heaven and much of earth—as yet—is at our disposal. Why wait? Shall we not rather meet His conditions and requirements and take the field for Christ and His church? God is able IF we are willing. Shall we join Paul in his cry, "I do not frustrate the grace of God" (Gal. 2:21).

selves in the light of this and see just how spiritually mature we are.

If the desert wilderness is the place of little faith, partial obedience, spiritual immaturity, and less than God's best for your life,

III. What Is the Promised Land?

We might answer simply by saying it is all that the desert wilderness is not. It is the land flowing with milk and honey. It is the place of overflowing blessing. It is the place of complete faith and obedience to all of Jesus' commands. It is the place of victory and joy. It is God's best, his perfect will for your life and mine.

There is such a place for every child of God. In II Corinthians 2:14 we read, "Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ." In those days there was constant warfare between cities. Whenever one city conquered another the victors would take the leaders of the conquered city, tie a rope around their necks and lead them in a great triumphal procession back through their home city. Paul here literally says, "Thanks be unto God who always causeth us to lead the triumphal procession in Christ." Remember this, in Christ no Christian ever needs to be defeated by Satan or sin, for everyone of us can tie the conqueror's rope about the enemy's neck and march forth in triumph. This is the way of victory.

The victory at Jericho tells us something about the way of victory if we would enter and dwell in the promised land. It is a way of absolute and complete obedience in faith. The children of Israel crossed the Jordan River on dry land because they obeyed and they conquered the city of Jericho because they obeyed. If they had marched around Jericho once each day for six days and six times on the seventh day—if they had marched around the seventh time but failed to blow the trumpets, the walls of Jericho would never have fallen. Even so, we cannot ex-

"HIS UNSPEAKABLE GIFT"

(II CORINTHIANS 9:15)

The Apostle Paul, in admonishing the Corinthian people in their giving, had presented in the eighth chapter the greatest of all examples. He speaks of giving as a grace. The ultimate example of this grace was that of our Lord, "For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich" (II Cor. 8:9).

In chapter 9 he again encourages us to exercise this grace to the point of becoming a "cheerful giver." He points out that God will never become a debtor to us, "And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work" (II Cor. 9:8). Finally he brings to light a glorious work of thanksgiving, which to those who know Christ in reality, should be a continual source of gratitude, namely, that God gave us a gift of salvation in the person of the Lord Jesus Christ, which is unspeakable in its infinite effects upon our lives.

The Gift

The need for a Saviour became evident to man at the very moment of the fall of Adam in Eden. To God it was evident long before this time as is revealed in Ephesians 1: 4-5: "According as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love: having predestinated us unto the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to himself." Thus God knew that man was going to choose the way of sin and could not be "holy and without blame before him" without a Saviour from sin.

The prophets heralded the coming of the Saviour in the old economy. Our Lord vindicated the fact in His coming and indicated His divine purpose on a number of occasions, "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost" (Luke 19:10). That this was in harmony with God's plan is seen in the announcement of Christ's birth to Joseph, "And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall save his people from their sins" (Matt. 1:21).

Our Lord's ministry was a very inclusive one. In dying upon the cross, He paid with His life the ransom for our sins, taking away the guilt and penalty of that sin. To a world of lost men Christ became a sufficient sacrifice on God's altar of righteousness, satisfying every demand of God in regard to man's sin from the day of Adam's transgression until the child of God is ushered into His divine presence in heaven.

This gift of God's grace is in every sense a gift. It was free. Nothing was given in exchange nor will anything ever be asked for it. Men have nothing that they can give which would be acceptable to God. It was a voluntary gift, prompted by divine compassion and love. It was an undeserved gift. Men deserved condemnation, but are set free and declared righteous. It was a continuous gift. Salvation starts with Christ's entry into the heart, but will continue throughout eternity.

Truly it is an unspeakable gift! The apostle knew of its value, its splendor, its efficacy, its scope, and its nature. It was so great that he could not command words to describe it. To the one who accepts this gift of grace, Christ will become a Saviour from sin, a Sanctifier of life, a Security that guarantees the future in heaven with Him. What man lost in Adam's transgression is gained back in Christ, and infinitely more. Oh, what a wonderful salvation! The words of the songwriter ring in our ears:

"There is a fountain filled with blood
Drawn from Immanuel's veins:
And sinners, plunged beneath that flood,
Lose all their guilty stains."

The Giver

In the provision of Christ as the Saviour of mankind we get a keen insight into the character and motives of God. You will remember when addressing the poor woman at the well, our Lord Jesus Christ said, "If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water" (John 4:10). God is the giver! He is the God of all grace. He is the holy God. He is the righteous God. Therefore, anything which comes from His blessed hand would be given in grace and would certainly be holy and righteous for us.

Men give when there is good will. If someone has "crossed your path" or spoken harshly or evil of you, very seldom is your heart moved to give. But God's giving is in striking contrast to this spirit of giving. Men are at enmity with God in sin. They are strangers from His covenants of promise. Many have been the times when they have blasphemed, cursed, and even given open expression of hatred against God, His people, and His work. In spite of all we have done against Him, without any demand of recompense, freely and undeservingly the gift of His grace comes to us.

It may be remembered that in God's gracious giving the good of His child is at heart. He knows the need long before one becomes conscious of it. He knows the answer to the need and will provide it so. In the matter of the sin problem the provision of the Sinless One, even Jesus Christ, was the only possible provision which could be made. In the fullness of time God gave His Son as a sin offering for us, a sacri-

"MY GRACE IS SUFFICIENT"

In First Thessalonians 5:18, Paul writes, "In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you." Immediately one great thought stands out, namely, "The Christian is to be continually thankful regardless of how the sovereign God deals with him. This admonition takes on new significance when one recalls that Paul was writing particularly to a group of believers who were suffering for the cause of Christ (I Thess. 3:1-8).

Let's Check Up

Brethren, most of us need to exercise more spontaneously the Christian grace of thanksgiving. Like prayer, it should exist under all circumstances, and even flourish in the atmosphere of adversity. Let's do a bit of checking. When God makes possible a better job, a new home, a new automobile, or even new clothing, do we humbly recognize the true source of such blessings? When souls are saved in the church; when the revival comes; when the building program has been successfully completed, is our thanksgiving to the heavenly Father, the Giver of "every good gift and every perfect gift"?

It is quite human for one to feel his accomplishments are his own. And yet, strictly speaking, behind every human accomplishment is the sovereign God. He it is who gives ability to those of His own choosing; He it is who imparts knowledge and wisdom and spiritual gifts. To some He wills to give more abundant gifts. Wherein then dare any Christian boast in himself. Rather, our boasting always should be in the grace of God.

THREE PILLOWS

Old John Foster lay dying and, after a night of weariness and pain, was asked by a friend, "How are you feeling this morning?" "Ah," he said, "wonderfully well. I have my head down on three pillows: the pillow of God's infinite wisdom, the pillow of God's infinite power, the pillow of God's infinite love. I am well. I am resting on three pillows."—Selected.

By M. L. Myers
Martinsburg, W. Va.

But this admonition does not apply only to those events or things which we term as good. The "every thing" of First Thessalonians 5:18 includes the dark days as well as the bright ones; the times of divine chastening as well as the times of divine favor; the seasons of poverty as well as the seasons of prosperity. Most Christians show some degree of thanksgiving for the blessings, but they are prone to grumble at the testings. And yet these shadows in our lives are as much a part of God's grace as the bright spots.

Paul's "Thorn"

The Apostle Paul learned that. He was serving the Saviour well, and God in grace imparted to him divine truths not given to others. But even in the life of Paul there was a tendency toward self-exaltation because of "the abundance of the revelations." His old nature was yet very much present with him. And so, to keep him humble and usable for Jesus, it was necessary that he be given a "thorn in the flesh." In Galatians, Paul intimates this "thorn" was something in his body which made him look contemptible in the eyes of others as he preached. It has been suggested that it was "a high-pitched voice" or a "homely appearance." Indeed, he may have appeared very ludicrous to those not of the elect as he delivered the Gospel. Regardless of what the thorn might have been, its purpose was to keep Paul humble. Three times the Apostle prayed for its removal; three times his prayer was unanswered. Then God revealed, "My grace is sufficient for thee," and Paul responded, in effect, "If it is necessary for me to carry the thorn that I may have the power of Christ, I will glory in it" (see II Cor. 12:7-9).

All a Part of Grace

Yea, Christians, the thorns, the adversities, the afflictions are as much a part of God's grace as the seasons of joy and blessing. The same Apostle Paul who was given the thorn in the flesh wrote, "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose" (Rom. 8:28). We may not always understand how some trial is bringing glory to God and good to ourselves, and yet through faith we know it is. We see only the present, but the sovereign God sees the end from the beginning. Our responsibility is to humbly submit to His will, and to fully, in childlike faith, trust Him. Just as your children trust you, though they may not understand your dealings with them, so we should trust our heavenly Father.

"In every thing give thanks." Christians, when the joys or sorrows come; in times of blessing or times of adversity; in health or in sickness, always "give thanks." Paul adds, "This is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."

pect to enter into the land of promise and live a victorious Christian life unless we are willing in simple faith to fully obey our Lord.

Simply stated, the promised land is not heaven, nor is it any particular location, neither is it some mystical experience. For any individual it is God's best, His perfect will, the place of victory, of complete faith and implicit obedience. It is God's best, His perfect will, for your life and mine. Truly all who are in such a position are living in a land flowing with milk and honey and the fragrance of such a life will overflow on all about them.

The promised land was offered to the whole nation of Israel, yet Caleb and Joshua were the only ones of that generation who ever entered the land. Even so today the life of victory is offered to every child of God, yet many like Israel spend their whole lifetime feeding on manna from heaven, refreshed with living water, and wandering in the wilderness. Because of lack of faith, they never enter the promised land of victory, the land flowing with milk and honey.

Where are you living today? Are you still in Egypt, in hard bondage to sin? The Lord offers you deliverance. Are you perhaps wandering in the wilderness, sustained with manna from heaven, refreshed with the living water, yet living a life which is unfruitful, uninviting, dreary, and monotonous? It may be that you know of, and have even spied out, the promised land of overflowing blessing, but you are afraid of the giants you must overcome in order to enter in. Why not do like Caleb and Joshua of old: believe that God can cause us to triumph in the victorious life?

fice acceptable to God, but one that man could never provide for himself. In providing this, the character and attributes of God are seen. He, our omniscient God, knows the need of every person; He, our omnipotent God, provided in His marvelous power a Saviour who could break the power and penalty of sin and give freedom and liberty to the soul; and He, our omnipresent God, made it possible that His Son (God incarnate in human flesh) could pay the price for sin.

The Receiver

It must be remembered that the recipients of this gift are human beings. Christ was given to the human race, not to any other realm of beings. Even the angels of heaven have never and will never receive such a gift. Men are fallen human beings and as such deserve only condemnation. But in this gracious gift they become through Christ sons of God, a position vastly higher than the angels of heaven.

The Apostle Paul's expression in this verse, "Thanks be unto God," gives us some fine admonition on the attitude that men should have toward God in response for the gift of salvation. The word "thanks" has its root meaning in the original language in the word "grace." Thus, the grace which brought us salvation should produce in the human heart a reflected gracious attitude of thanksgiving back to God. It should be spontaneous, beginning at the new birth. It should be continuous, running throughout man's experience of the Christian life here on earth. It should be increasingly gratuitous. The more of salvation we experience, the more knowledge we gain, the more time we spend with Christ the deeper should be our appreciation of it. Our gratitude then should increase with the years we spend in Him.

There are many ways in which we can express our gratitude. Through the lips in testimony at every opportunity given, through the heart in psalms and hymns of praise to God alone, through prayer in the presence of others and in secret, through the daily life and conversation at whatever tasks that may be ours, and through constant and active service for His glory. By these and many other ways we can express our love and gratitude as Paul did in His life.

During this thanksgiving season our first paeon of praise should go to God, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. For the gift of salvation through Christ the words of the song writer should be our expression of thanksgiving:

"Dear dying Lamb, Thy precious blood

Shall never lose its power,
Till all the ransomed Church of God
Be saved, to sin no more. . . .
E'er since, by faith, I saw the stream
Thy flowing wounds supply,
Redeeming love has been my theme,
And shall be till I die. . . ."

Things for Which We Thank God

By President Alva J. McClain

With the largest student body we have ever had here at "Grace," we are still learning to know all of them, but with the first semester half completed we have already gotten some very definite impressions.

First, we thank God for our students' cooperation and spirit of mutual helpfulness. As I write this article, we have just now closed our fall Day of Prayer, and I could wish that all our friends could have been here to share its great blessings, to hear the testimonies, and sense the Christian love manifested as the students prayed for each other's needs. During the requests for prayer, Dr. Bauman mentioned a need of the school which would require a substantial financial expenditure. When the last session of the day was about to close, the president of the student body asked for the privilege of saying something that the Lord had laid on his heart. To make the story short, he came to the platform and, after expressing gratitude for the school, he asked for an offering. While I do not have the exact figures on the result, I understand that the special need was almost completely met by what was given!

Second, we thank God for the students' deep interest in and love for the Word of God. Some years ago we had a young minister from another denomination who wanted to take one or two classes in addition to the theological course of study he had taken in a seminary of his own church. After about a week he came to me saying that the thing which astonished him most in Grace Seminary was the interest and genuine enthusiasm for Bible study manifested by the students. Well, it is still that way here today. When I recall the indifference, and sometimes actual rudeness, faced by able teachers in colleges where I have been, I feel that we have great cause to be grateful for students who let you know that they are deeply interested in the studies conducted at Grace Seminary. When this spirit prevails, the problem of classroom discipline never rises.

Third, we thank God for the good reports we hear regarding the conduct and character of our students. A great deal could be written about this, but let me mention several testimonies. The president of one local bank recently said to me that he had never dealt with a finer group of men in financial matters. The owner of a local hardware store told me that he was getting a nice business from our students. I asked him if they paid their bills! He replied that he had not found even one who was not completely reliable, and that one student, having bought an article which required payments, refused to take the article out of the store until the last payment was made! To the merchant, this attitude was something new under the sun.

Finally, we thank God for the absence of unbelief among our students. Looking back over the years, if I ever had in one of my classes a student who rejected any fundamental truth of the Christian faith, I do not recall it. Therefore, the teachers here can spend their time teaching truth instead of trying to destroy unbelief in the minds of students. Does it pay to support Grace Seminary? It does!

"Now Concerning the Collection"

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Dean

Every great doctrine has its practical application, and such is true of the great doctrine of the resurrection. Throughout the entire 15th chapter of I Corinthians the apostle unfolds the doctrine of the resurrection until it rises to a trumpet blast of victory. Then with that studied logic for which he is noted he drives home the application to our hearts. "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord. Now concerning the collection . . ." (I Cor. 15:58-16:1).

"Therefore" means so then, as a result of the fact that, issuing from the fact of the resurrection. And here is what should issue from that—"be ye steadfast." These words mean to stick to the task in the work of the Lord. There are many who grow weary in their well-doing. The way becomes long and the tasks grow heavy and strength ebbs away. This is the time when the exhortation is so much needed, "be ye steadfast." Stick to your task. Strengthen the feeble knees. Rise up with new vigor to carry on the task that has been committed to you.

Of all those duties that have been committed to believers there is none where it is so easy to grow weary in the way than in giving. Small wonder, then, that the first specific item mentioned by the Apostle Paul should be the collection, that ministry of giving for the welfare of others. In this case it was the poor saints of Jerusalem and vicinity who had suffered so heavily for their faith in Christ. An abiding principle is here, however, that every saint of God needs a vision of service beyond himself. To that end he should give himself and his substance.

Shortly now such opportunity will be given again for

IN CONFERENCE WITH THE ADMINISTRATIVE COMMITTEE

Dr. Bauman

Dr. Kent

Dr. McClain

Dr. Hoyt

God's people in the Brethren Church to give to the work of Grace Theological Seminary. Here is a work that in 16 years of ministry is scarcely begun. Yet already the wide sweep of its training program is being felt around the world. Its far-reaching ministry will never be computed this side the portals of heaven. And yet, I repeat, that its ministry is scarcely begun. This ever-widening ministry, however, depends upon the consecrated steadfastness of the people of God in the grace of giving.

Your hearts would warm to see the increase in the number of those who are now attending both the college and the seminary. It would encourage your hearts to see the greater number of subjects and courses added to the curriculum. It would arouse your spirits to realize how the teaching staff of the school has been enlarged.

But as I pointed out earlier. This is just the beginning of an ever-increasing ministry. Surely Brethren people have caught a vision of this ministry and its value and will answer the call to steadfastness in giving at this season of the year. At this moment we are standing at the break of dawn in a new and ever-widening ministry of Grace Theological Seminary and Grace College in providing a Bible-centered, Christ-exalting, holy-cultured education for young people who seek such.

It is estimated that in the next 10 years there will be more than a 100-percent increase in young men and women seeking such education. Will you help us to provide for them?

Food for Thought

By Dr. Paul R. Bauman, Vice President

If you were seriously ill and in need of a delicate surgical operation, you would want the best doctor you could find to do the work upon your body. You would expect to pay him well for this important service. If you need work done upon your teeth, you see the dentist of your choice, and you always expect to pay for his work. If you need expert legal help you fully expect the lawyer to charge you a fee which will help to defray the cost of his expensive education. When your car is in need of attention, the ordinary self-taught mechanic will no longer do. If you are like most people who value their car, you want one who has attended a mechanical school and is trained to make the delicate adjustments which modern machinery demands. You expect to pay more because you demand more, and you realize such training costs money. If you have children, you want them in school, because you know that they need teaching to face life and its problems. You are not satisfied with half-way instruction, and you know that the good teachers you demand must be trained for the job, and their education is costing you money.

Now think a moment! What do you demand of those who minister to the needs of your soul? Will anyone do, regardless of background or training? Perhaps you are one who realizes the need of a ministry well-trained and skilled in the Word. It may be that you are one who demands such a ministry because you realize that the spiritual welfare of your very soul and the souls of your children calls for the very best in preparation for the task. BUT, how much are you actually paying to guarantee the kind of a ministry which you desire to have now and in the years that lie ahead? The young man in training NOW may be YOUR future pastor. His present training is your guarantee for the future. Are you getting by with paying less for his training than you do for the doctor's, the dentist's, the lawyer's, the mechanic's, or the school teacher's? Take inventory of your giving. It will furnish you with food for thought

A Worthy Investment

By Dr. Homer A. Kent, Registrar

A short time ago the writer met an aged Christian brother in one of the banks in Warsaw, Ind., with whom he had fellowshiped on previous occasions. He belongs to a church pastored by one of the students of the seminary. Knowing something about the church, having ministered there on a good many occasions himself, he asked the brother how things were going and how the young pastor was doing. The brother quickly responded with a note of enthusiasm as to the progress of his church and the character of the preaching they are receiving. He went on to say that he had been away from the church on several occasions recently and had attended other churches and listened to other men preach. "And, do you know," he said, "when I come back to my own church I am more impressed than ever with the kind of preaching the men you send us from Grace Seminary give us." He went on to say that the present student from the seminary is a real man of God and preaches nothing but the Word of God. In his recent visits to other churches, the brother said that most of the preachers he and his wife had listened to talked on current events, politics, and other things, with very little Bible in their messages. But the men from the seminary always preach the Bible and nothing but the Bible, he said.

Naturally, the writer was glad to hear the good report concerning the Biblical preaching of this student pastor in the little rural church. He was sorry to hear that some other churches in the area are not receiving this type of ministry but was truly glad that Grace Seminary men are men of the Book. Many testimonies come to us from time to time similar to that of the brother we met in the bank. Many churches in the area where the seminary is located are being fed the Word of God by men who are receiving their training in Grace Seminary. Then, of course, each year a fine group of graduates go out to bear the message of life to the ends of the earth.

Those who are helping to make Grace Seminary a dynamic force in the church by their prayers, interest, and gifts ought to be encouraged by the results which are being realized through its ministry. Where is it possible to realize greater dividends of a spiritual nature than an investment in young men and women who are being fitted to give themselves as pastors, evangelists, missionaries, Christian teachers, and other kinds of Christian workers? Are you having a part in this ministry? Only eternity will reveal what the dividends will be.

AS GOES THE SCHOOL . . .

By Dr. James L. Boyer, Financial Secretary

"As goes the school so goes the church" is a maxim proved true in the experience of many denominations. The orthodoxy, or the lack of it, the faith, the practice of the theological seminary today is a prefigure of the church tomorrow. For the pastors and missionaries and leaders of the future church are college and seminary students now. The teachings and influences which mold their lives will ultimately shape the church.

Thus, Grace Theological Seminary stands at the very heart of our Brethren Church. If we are interested in Brethren home missions, in Brethren foreign missions, in the Brethren Missionary Herald, in Brethren evangelism, in Brethren pastors and Brethren churches, then we are of necessity concerned with Grace Theological Seminary.

I was saved and brought up, and served several years in another denomination. There I saw at first hand the tragic decline into modernism and worldliness of an entire denomination, which once believed the Bible to be God's Word and preached Christ as the Saviour of lost sinners. Long before this cancer of unbelief became manifest in the local churches, the Devil had sown its seeds in their theological seminary, and in their colleges. Gradually a generation of pastors and leaders which had come through those schools began to make their insidious teachings vocal in the churches, and today Ichabod is written large over the whole system.

Grace Seminary is standing true, and wants to be worthy of its place in the Brethren Church. If it stands true to what it should be, Satan is sure to oppose it for all he is worth. He knows from experience the importance of striking at the schools and he would like to silence the testimony of the Brethren Church.

So, along with your other support, don't forget to pray for Grace Theological Seminary.

PRESENTATION SPEECH FOR SENIOR CLASS GIFT

By John Strom, President of Seminary Senior Class

Editor's Note: Student body and faculty alike were pleasantly surprised at the school's chapel service on October 21. When opportunity for student announcements was given, John Strom came to the platform to make the following presentation speech. Members of the student body, faculty, and office secretaries all are grateful for the addition of another piece of greatly needed equipment.

This is quite a bit of fanfare with which to adorn a normal student announcement. In fact, it appears that either the announcer or the occasion must be decidedly abnormal, and I hope you decide in favor of the occasion. For really, it is the nature of the occasion which suggested such a flamboyant introduction as the procession afforded. The seniors are taking this opportunity to present to Grace Theological Seminary the class gift—an electrically driven A. B. Dick mimeograph. In a few minutes you will receive the sample sheet which you have seen the machine reproducing. We hope that we are not usurping authority or privilege in this morning's action. We are aware that class gifts are usually presented in the commencement program and we will be glad to continue that tradition. However, we realized the need for such a machine and were anxious that it be available for use as soon as possible. Also, we could not forget that one of the delights of life is a pleasant surprise. It is with an effort to maintain that element of surprise and at the same time be of immediate service that we make known the gift in this fashion.

At various times in his training here each student has doubtless felt compelled to manifest his thankfulness for the ministry which God has given Grace Seminary. A singular privilege of the senior is to be able to express his thankfulness, tangibly and publicly. In reality it is only a symbol of that which fills the heart. When true grace is rendered its very nature establishes that it is beyond recompense, volitive—the product of love. The best which we can do is respond with kindred action, the offering of true thanks. Not only do the members of the senior class wish to indicate their heart-feeling to the school, but even to our Lord. It is He who has made possible the work of the school and is yet using it. With these thoughts in mind, the senior class is most happy to be able to present to Grace Theological Seminary this gift. We do so in the warmth of Christian love and in prayerful concern for this institution's future welfare.

CHRIST'S CLAIMS TO DEITY IN JOHN 8

By Dr. Homer A. Kent

In keeping with the great purpose of John's Gospel as set forth in 20:31—namely, to present Jesus Christ as the Son of God and the object of saving faith, the eighth chapter of the Gospel shows Christ affirming His deity in five ways, as follows:

1. By claiming to be the light of the world (vs. 12). As there is only one sun in the heavens to give its blessing to the physical world, so there is but one "Sun of righteousness" (Mal. 4:2) to provide moral and spiritual light to this darkened world. Christ is the exclusive Light. There is none other. He is the Light, not a light. Never was the definite article more important. The ministry of the physical sun is to warm, to purify, to produce growth, to give energy, to reveal beauty, and to provide direction. All of these things, and more, Christ does for the soul, and He only can do them.

2. By claiming identity with the Father (vss. 28-29). The phrase, "I do nothing of myself," is like many other assertions our Lord made concerning himself (cf. 5:19, 30). It meant that Christ did nothing of His independent authority. The reference is to the perfect union between the Son and the Father. The Father and the Son are one and yet there is a clear distinction, as is seen by the fact that one did the sending and the other was sent.

There is much of mystery in the union of the Father and the Son, but it is one of the mighty evidences of the deity of Christ.

3. By claiming to be the author of true freedom (vs. 36). By nature all men are in bondage to sin (vs. 34). No man has been able to break it. But Christ has set the captives free. He only has made possible freedom from the guilt and consequences of sin by His blood, freedom from the power of sin by His resurrection, and freedom from the presence of sin by His coming again. Only Deity can do this.

4. By claiming to be the central figure of Scripture (vs. 56). Not only is He central in the message of the New Testament, but He is also central in the message of the Old Testament. Abraham looked down the vista of the centuries and saw and rejoiced in the day of Christ. It is faulty interpretation of Scripture which fails to find Christ throughout the Scriptures.

5. By claiming existence before Abraham (vs. 58). The Jews well knew that this was a claim to deity. Thus they took up stones to stone Him as they did on other occasions when He made a similar claim (cf. 10:31-39; 11:38). Stronger claim to deity Jesus never made. He claimed to be Jehovah, the eternal, self-existent One.

WEDDINGS BY THE DOZEN

*Note—Whether it was the influence and example of two professors, or whether it was just a coincidence, we cannot tell. Anyway, last summer was a record season "matrimonially" speaking, for 15 weddings from the student body and faculty occurred in various parts of the country from Maine to California. The marriage of Prof. John Whitcomb to Miss Edisene Hanson and LeRoy Hawkins to Miss Ruth Clough have already been reported in the

SOMEONE HAS FAILED—WHO IS IT?

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Dean

I am constantly reminded that someone has failed. It may be that the dean of Grace Theological Seminary has failed. It may be that college officials have failed. It may be that the pastor of the local church has failed. It may be that the local selective service board has failed. But whoever it is, someone has failed. Perhaps everyone has failed, including young men who are eligible for the draft.

Everyone should read this statement and make it his responsibility to do something about it. If we all join hands we may be able to reduce the number of unfortunate cases where lack of information has finally resulted in the induction of young men into the armed services when they planned to give themselves to preparation for the ministry.

Here is the situation. The school officials at Grace Theological Seminary find out too late in most cases to help young men achieve their ambitions. A young man goes to college planning at the conclusion of that period of training to enter the seminary. He does not pre-enroll in the seminary during his college course. Therefore no statement of his purpose is filed with the draft board. Before he has opportunity to make application to the seminary he is classified IA and induction follows.

Or perhaps some young man has preenrolled in the seminary while pursuing college training. Upon graduation from college he thinks he ought to improve his finances before going on to school. So he delays his seminary training for a semester or a year. But while thus occupied the draft board checks on him and discovers he is not in seminary. He is then reclassified and inducted into service.

Here is the place to point out some very important things to young men who contemplate preparation for the ministry.

1. The draft law provides for the deferment of young men preparing for the ministry.
2. This deferment extends through seven years or more of preparation, four years in college, and three in the seminary.
3. This deferment should be obtained by preenrolling in the seminary and taking college training under the direction of the seminary. Proper papers will be provided by the seminary to file with the draft board.

4. This deferment can be kept alive only by continuous training in college and seminary except for the regular vacations.

5. This deferment is valid only as the student carries a regular load of subjects as a full-time student. Normally a minimum of 12 semester hours is considered a full load.

6. The seminary has no power whatsoever to do anything for any student outside of these provisions.

7. Let every young man also realize that good intentions, good excuses, marriage, or even children, will not make him ineligible for the draft. The selective service law recognizes none of these things.

FORMER SEMINARY STUDENTS MAKING GOOD IN HOME MISSIONS

Rev. and Mrs. Tom Hammers, Janet, and Danny.

Rev. Tom Hammers attended Grace Theological Seminary in 1940-41. Having seen the challenge of Brethren home-mission work, he left a thriving pastorate at South Pasadena to go to Seattle, Wash., where he is now engaged in starting a new church "from scratch." At the present time services are being held in the home of the pastor. However, a new location has been purchased in a very choice section of the city and plans are now under way to erect a new building which will be the home for the new congregation.

Rev. Ralph Hall and family.

Rev. Ralph Hall graduated from Grace Seminary in 1951, and immediately went to Johnstown, Pa., where he became pastor of the new Riverside Brethren Church, a home-mission project. Brother Hall served on a self-supporting basis until early this year, but the church had grown to such an extent that his full time was needed in the work. Property has been purchased across the street from the present location, and the Riverside congregation is looking forward to a building program soon. Brother Hall is just one of 30 home-mission workers who is producing results because Brethren people gave to make his training possible.

TRAINED AND SERVING THE LORD

Perhaps you have wondered what became of the Brethren young people who graduated last spring from the seminary. Here is a brief record of the whereabouts and activity of seven of them. Others will appear next month. Graduates do not wait long to get on the job after leaving the halls of the school, and the 1953 class is already giving good account of itself. They demonstrate the value of every dollar invested in their training.

Dick DeArmey Family

Roy Glass Family

Archer Baum Family

Robert Griffith is now pastor of the Lake Odessa, Mich., Brethren Church and is already enjoying the blessing of the Lord upon his ministry. His wife, formerly Joyce Polman, is an able helper.

Richard DeArmey and family have already found their way into the hearts of the people at Waterloo, Iowa, where Brother DeArmey is serving as pastor. While in school he served the Sidney, Ind., church.

The Thomas Inman family is now in Denver, Colo. Tom is pastor of the new Grace Brethren (home mission) Church, and it is already showing real progress under his ministry. Tom also goes to Cheyenne, Wyo., one night each week to conduct a Bible class there until a new pastor is called to that field.

The Roy Glass family is now located in Cumberland, Md., where Roy is undertaking to develop a new work under the direction of the East District Mission Board. Pray for this new missionary project.

The Sibley Edmiston family is now in Laredo, Tex., doing missionary work among the Mexican people. Classes are conducted on both sides of the border, and 20 to 30 Mexican young people are now attending the club meetings each week. Already more than 15 souls have been led to acknowledge Christ as their Saviour.

The Archer Baum family is serving the Lord in San Diego, Calif. Brother Baum is pastor of the First Brethren Church there, and good reports have come to us concerning his ministry.

Russell Ogden and family are in South Bend, Ind., where Brother Ogden is pastor of the Sunnymede Brethren Church. He is already active in the youth work of the city. Recently the church closed a campaign under the direction of Evangelist Mickey Walsh.

WOMEN OF AFRICA PROVIDE CHAPEL BIBLE

By Mrs. Rose A. Foster

Truly, Grace Seminary has been well named. From its beginning it has been endowed with the grace of God. Not only has it been blessed with this great gift, but it has also been blessed with material gifts from many parts of the world.

Perhaps one of the most unexpected gifts has come from a group of dark-skinned women in the heart of Africa. Women who, not too many years ago, were saved out of the slavery of heathenism—who believed the "Good News" and were born into the family of God. Their teacher, Mrs. Orville Jobson, not only taught them the way of salvation, but also to live for the Lord and to serve Him.

One of the Christian graces that they learned early in their Christian experience was tithing, and to give their offerings to the Lord instead of the sorcerer. Then they began to pray for an outlet for their gifts. They soon found that they could help their local church in many ways; also that they could help the native workers that were going out preaching the Word of God.

Several years ago the first Women's Missionary Council in Africa was organized from this group of women. They chose Alice, a sincere Christian, as their first president. When they heard that a new school had been built in our land for the training of pastors and missionaries, they were interested. They asked what they could do to show their appreciation to the Christians at home for the missionaries that had already been sent to them and for those who would be sent from that school in the future.

A Bible for the pulpit was suggested to them. They were interested and heartily agreed. They trust that this open Bible will be a constant testimony to the marvelous grace of God and our Saviour Jesus Christ. "For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men" (Tit. 2:11).

THE REST OF THE STORY

By Paul R. Bauman

Perhaps you will be interested in the story of the African women's gift after it reached Winona Lake. The amount sent to the seminary was $10 in American money—a large contribution to the African, but hardly enough to purchase a pulpit Bible of sufficient size or quality for the chapel. For that reason the money lay in the bank for several months.

But, the Lord always has ways of making provision under such circumstances. One day, as on several other occasions, the problem came before the administrative committee. Suddenly it occurred to me that in going through one of the desks moved from Washington, D. C., after the death of my father, I had found among his possessions a new family Bible and had wondered what to do with it, for Mrs. Bauman and I had been given one exactly like it a year or two before. In discussing the matter with my mother, we felt that nothing would please my father more than to have this Bible adorn the pulpit in the chapel of the school he so dearly loved and whose cause he so enthusiastically championed from the very beginning. We felt it would also be appropriate because of the many years he had served as financial secretary and treasurer of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church.

Accordingly, the Bible was purchased with the money supplied by the African WMC in order that the gift might be wholly theirs. Mother and I considered the money a little too sacred for us to keep, so a check for the same amount was given to the school. In due time the Bible was formally dedicated at a chapel service, with three of our veteran missionaries from Africa present.

"You can find anything in the average church today from a humming bird to a turkey buzzard."—Billy Sunday.

Chicago, Ill. Dr. William Culbertson, president of Moody Bible Institute, was elected president of the Accrediting Association of Bible Institutes and Bible Colleges. One hundred six persons from 43 schools assembled in this seventh annual meeting.

Chicago, Ill. The Chicago Daily News made a survey of children's programs presented by four TV stations in the Chicago area. The survey revealed that there were "295 violent crimes, including 93 murders, 78 shootings, 44 gunfights, 33 sluggings, 9 kidnappings, 9 robberies," and other similar crimes. What a contribution to the already existing problem of juvenile delinquency!

Ibaque, Colombia (EP). Protestant Christianity here is undergoing tremendous persecution. During the last five years 42 church buildings have been completely destroyed, 110 Protestant primary schools have been closed, 51 Colombian Protestants have been murdered because of their religious faith, and the property damage sustained by churches amounts to $148,000. In spite of all this, the membership of the Protestant church in Colombia has increased from 7,908 members to 11,958 in this five-year period.

THE FALLING AWAY

II Thessalonians 2:3

By KENNETH TEAGUE
Wheaton, Ill.

In this passage of Scripture we find one of the most difficult and mysterious prophecies in the Word of God. To some, it is a mystery which defies interpretation. Some moderns would say that Paul is inconsistent, that one must be prepared for a surging hither and thither of great thoughts, feelings, expectations, but in no wise were they intended to be fulfilled. Others contend that Paul was writing to people about matters which he has told them before, and that he alludes to that information which the Thessalonians had received and knew, but we, not having that information, cannot possibly understand the passage.

The writer almost accepted the latter view until he stumbled upon a statement made by J. P. Lange which led to the final solving of this mysterious portion of Scripture. Lange argues that the word for "falling away" is not to be understood politically or semipolitically, but according to universal Biblical usage, where it denotes apostasy from the faith or from God. If the word can be proved to have a technical use in Scripture, then whatever that meaning is must of necessity be applied to the passage which we are considering. With these thoughts in mind we hasten to the task that lies before us.

There are two different interpretations applied to this text.

I. A Twentieth-Century Interpretation.

This interpretation, advocated by Dr. Schuyler English and Dr. Allen MacRae, was first mentioned by a Benjamin Douglas, of Chicago, in an article on "The Book of Daniel," written in 1888. It is a very ingenious and appealing idea, for it seeks to substitute for "the falling away" the new idea of "the departure." Thus our verse would read, "... for that day shall not come, except there come the departure first [that is, the rapture of the church], and that man of sin be revealed . . ." Surely this is a wonderful statement, for it warms the heart of every true premillenarian at the possibilities wrapped up in such a view. The writer likes the idea that is presented, for it is definitely taught in the Scripture, but such cannot be found in II Thessalonians 2:3.

This critical examination is published with the permission of Grace Theological Seminary and is a condensation of a critical monograph.

The writer at this point will present only a brief refutation of this theory.

1. The apparent difficulty is cleared if it is recognized that the "Day of Christ" and the "Day of the Lord" are not synonymous.

2. The use of the article definitely points to something that was known by the Thessalonians, but to say that it could not refer to apostasy is to miss the point entirely.

3. The whole context shows that Paul merely alludes to the apostasy and the man of sin, and is somewhat surprised that his converts had not remembered what he said on this subject (vs. 5).

4. It is hardly true that the Acts 21:21 passage would convey the proper meaning if "depart from" were substituted for "forsake." The point to be made is that one did not simply depart from Moses. If he left Moses at all, it was in the nature of a forsaking, a turning against.

5. The tracing of the verb aphisteemi, frequently translated "depart," is consistently translated "rebellion" in the LXX usage of the word. However, during the New Testament period, the word is used with the extended meaning of "depart."

6. The final argument is a question. Is there any logical reason why this word apostasia should refer to the usual words for the coming of the Lord and the rapture of the church? This is a pertinent question for two reasons. First, the word would be used in the sense of the translation of the saints only here in the New Testament. Paul would take a word that in every other text of Scripture means "rebellion" and make it here mean the translation of the saints. Second, the apostle has just used a word for the translation of the saints in verse 1, episunagoges, which cannot be misinterpreted. The use of the word again in verse 3 would settle the point beyond any doubt.

II. The Traditional View.

The traditional view refers this verse to the great apostasy that is going to come in the end time. There are three reasons for concluding that "the falling away" of II Thessalonians refers to the apostasy and not to the rapture of the church.

1. The general use of the verb aphisteemi, from which we get the noun form apostasia, is that of revolt (II Chron. 36:13; Ezra 4:1a; 4:19).

2. The form apostasia, which is a noun, is used in a technical sense in Scripture and is always translated "religious revolt." This is the key to our verse, for here the noun form is used (Jer. 2:19; 29:32; II Chron. 29:19; 33:19; Josh. 22:22). In these five passages the word is translated "forsaken," "rebellion," "cast away," "trespass," and "rebellion." In all five passages the action is against the one true God and against divine authority.

3. Since this is a doctrinal expression of truth, first elaborated in the Old Testament, the term apostasia in II Thessalonians 2:3 will mean what it means in the Old Testament. The Old Testament allows but one meaning and that is "religious revolt," therefore the conclusion one must reach is that the word must be translated "apostasy" and not "rapture."

II Thessalonians 2:3 is a warning of a coming religious revolt, rather than a promise concerning the rapture of the church.

EVANGELISM

THREE REASONS WHY WE CAN EXPECT A HARVEST

Someone asked me the other day, "How is this country receiving evangelism?" Others have said, "Evangelism in our modern civilization is impossible; you cannot have a real evangelistic effort in our present society, because the present picture is too black and sin is too rampant for men's hearts to be touched."

Those statements are all foolish. God is giving to America a chance to evangelize the world. We are to begin at home and spread the message of evangelism around the globe. Men's hearts are still able to be touched by the message from the Bible.

There is a great difference between evangelism and revival. A revival meeting has been as confused as any other theme that engages a Christian's attention. A revival is not an evangelistic campaign. A revival is not a drive for church members. A revival is a work of God's Spirit among His own people. David prayed, "Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free spirit. Then will I teach transgressors thy ways; and sinners shall be converted unto thee" (Psa. 51:12-13). That is God's order, and He has never changed it.

To evangelize is to so present Christ Jesus in the power of the Holy Spirit that men shall come to put their trust in God through Him, to accept Him as their Saviour, and serve Him as their King in the fellowship of His church.

There are three reasons why we can expect to see a mighty sweep of evangelism in this day in which we live.

I. The Time Is Ripe for Evangelism.

The conditions in America, as well as the entire world, call desperately for evangelism. Your attention is focused on the drink problem, the sex problem, the crime problem, the educational problem, the home problem. All these call for evangelism immediately. There is plenty of discussion of evangelism, ways and means of evangelism, causes of revival by evangelism; the only thing lacking is converts by true evangelism.

Some of us are so afraid of "sticking our necks out" that we never have the courage to even speak for Jesus Christ. When the odds are against us, we are silent. How can God work through us if we become discouraged by circumstances?

Think back over world history and Biblical history—the picture has been black before. It was a dark hour in England 200 years ago, but the course of England was changed because one preacher was on fire for God. John Wesley did more in England to make for a transformed nation than all the experts and reformers. It was also a cloudy day when Elijah climbed to the top of Mount Carmel. Nevertheless, God answered prayer and demonstrated His power. Think of Nineveh when Jonah was there. Sin was rampant and things looked dreary, but God worked.

We are inclined to tell ourselves not to get too excited over evangelism. The fact is, we could stand a little emotion nowadays. The World Series baseball games almost stop business entirely in many cities and sections of our land. But we are afraid to become too active in spiritual things lest people complain and say that we are crazy. We need to evangelize NOW; the world is ready for evangelism.

II. Security Has Become a Magic Word.

Millions are asking themselves, What does the future hold for me? What lies just ahead? Whither are we bound? Are we facing peace or war—prosperity or adversity?

These are the questions that are forcing themselves upon Americans

By Evangelist Bill Smith

at this time. Men know not which way to turn. Uncertainty characterizes the attitude of the population at this hour. A spirit of greed and lust for power dominates human hearts. As we stand on the threshold of the future, we are inclined to cry out, "What next?"

Evangelism is able to meet the need for security. For security, insure your life with Christ.

III. God Gives Us the Authority and Power for Evangelism.

The Biblical authority for evangelism may be declared to be twofold: the desire of God for men, and the provision which God has made for the realization of His desire.

That desire of God for man found perfect expression in the words of Ezekiel: "As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live" (Ezek. 33:11). That provision of God is perfectly described in the apostolic words, "God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Rom. 5:8).

These two statements not only authorize, but command evangelism.

We must speak as one having the authority to speak. We must have the confidence of the Lord. After all, are we not commissioned by Jesus himself?

Then let us do the work of evangelism as one sent by God, as a spokesman from God to a lost world.

FROM OUR PULPIT

"Follow Me"

When Jesus our blessed Lord was here upon earth, He called men unto himself and said, "Follow me." The primary reason for calling men unto himself is for fellowship with redeemed souls. "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost" (Luke 19:10). He saves us first, then He calls us into various fields of service. There are several things we should note about the Person who calls.

I. Who Is He That Calls?

In this day of liberalism and a turning away from the truth, men teach that Jesus was a good man, a fine example, and a pattern for our lives. But God's Word declares that the One who calls today is Jesus the Son of God (Rom. 1:3-4). We who believe the Scriptures to be the holy, authoritative, infallible, divine, verbally inspired Word of God know Him who is the very Son of God. God the Father said, "This is my beloved Son . . . hear ye him" (Matt. 17:5).

Do you know Him as your own personal Saviour from Sin? As the Holy Spirit calls to your heart, let Jesus, the very Son of God, come into your life.

II. Why Does He Call?

According to John 3:18, we are lost without Him and under condemnation. He wants fellowship with man, but sin separates us from God. The Scriptures teach that "every mouth may be stopped, and all the world [inhabited earth] may become guilty before God" (Rom. 3:19). This being true, we need Him, and then only can we enjoy His saving grace and wondrous blessing.

He calls us from every walk of life, first for a life of obedience and yieldedness to His will, then for a life of service. He depends upon our bodies to dwell in, our hands to carry the message, and our lips to tell the Gospel. He needs us to tell His wondrous grace to others.

III. To What Does He Call?

His call is that we might yield our lives to Him in full surrender. We are saved to serve as useful vessels, not to sit idly by (Rom. 12:1-2). Jesus said, "Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men" (Matt. 4:19). To Peter He said, "Feed my lambs" (John 21:15). That is why our missionaries have gone to Africa, to South America. That is why we have home-mission work and local pastorates. The Lord Jesus said, "Follow me." He is calling you today!

The Lord Jesus calls every believer to be a witness for Him. "And we are his witnesses of these things" (Acts 5:32). Not only is this the preacher's task, but the task of every born-again believer. He calls you to be a personal soul-winner. Love those who are lost for their soul's sake and seek to win them.

He is calling you to work in your home church as a teacher in the Sunday school or as an efficient church worker. True blessing is to be found only in the center of His will.

IV. How Does He Call?

Sometimes the Lord Jesus calls in a mysterious way, as when He needed a prophet for His own people Israel. Therefore God called Samuel in this mysterious fashion, and Samuel replied, "Thy servant heareth" (I Sam. 3:9). There was another need in Israel when God needed a prophet. The Lord said, "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?" Then said Isaiah, "Here am I; send me" (Isa. 6:8).

By Rev. Stanley Hauser

One day He called a man on the Damascus road. He spoke to that man, who was none other than the Apostle Paul, and Paul replied, "What wilt thou have me to do?" (Acts 9:6). Today He speaks through the written Word, and as you hear God's Word proclaimed by His servants, permit the Word to speak to your heart and life.

If you know not Christ, will you receive Him into your life? Will you list to His call? Jesus is calling, "Follow me." The hymnwriter puts it in this manner:

"Jesus calls us; o'er the tumult

Of our life's wild, restless sea,
Day by day His sweet voice soundeth,

Saying, 'Christian, follow Me.'"

DO IT NOW!

On a tombstone in an Austrian cemetery is this tragic inscription: "Here lies a king who, with the best of intentions, never accomplished a single thing." What a pathetic commentary on a life!

Yet many of us, in a lesser degree, are guilty of the same thing. We intend someday to begin reading our Bibles. We intend sometime to really study the Word and memorize choice passages. We promise ourselves that soon we'll witness to that new acquaintance. "When this rush is over" we'll be more faithful to church and get into the work better.

But procrastination, the thief of time, scores another coup. We put those things off until we've forgotten about them, or until our conscience has become dulled to them. We're much like the man, noted for his laziness, who said, "Whenever I feel like doing a good day's work, I just lie down until the feeling goes away."

Life is short, and the "coming of the Lord draweth nigh." We may not have much more time, or many more opportunities to serve the Lord, and to do those things for others that we have intended to do. Feel like you ought to speak to someone about their soul, or invite them to church? Do it now! Have you been thinking about your need for more Bible knowledge? Get it now! Maybe you've thought that sometime you'd like to teach a Sunday-school class, or help in the youth work in your church? Volunteer now!

Opportunities not even grasped at are often lost forever. Let's buy up all of them we can for our Lord!

"Only one life, 'twill soon be past;
Only what's done for Christ will last."

Uniontown Sky Pilots line up at close of squadron meeting for words of instruction and encouragement from Squadron Captain Collier.

After a summer in which no meetings were held, the Sky Pilots squadron at Uniontown, Pa., was reorganized recently, and at the first meeting there were 30 boys and 12 men present, including the pastor and squadron commander. Youth Director Ralph Colburn was also present at this meeting, and took the pictures, and brought the devotional message.

Boys in the squadron are building model airplanes, from gliders to gas models, and some of the older boys are studying radio. Photography may be added to the club activities later.

The recent revival with the Evangelistic Crusade Team Two stimulated a number of the men to become helpers in the squadron, and through their faithfulness a wonderful year with the boys is anticipated.

REVISED STATEMENT ON THE BRETHREN PUBLICITY CALENDAR

The Brethren Calendar for 1954 will be mailed to our churches in time for distribution before January 1. The calendar, a 12-months pad of Brethren pictures and information, should be in each Brethren home. Calendars will be imprinted with local church information. Each calendar will be individually packaged for mailing or efficient distribution. Several hundred additional calendars will be available to churches which did not place orders in time for imprinting. The cost of the calendars will be 15c each. This increase over the suggested price of 10c has been made necessary due to the increased cost of production and due to the number of churches not ordering, thus making for a smaller number being printed. The calendars will be sent postage collect to the addresses submitted to the calendar committee. The calendar costs, plus the imprinting charges, will be entered on the individual church accounts at the Brethren Missionary Herald Company. All payments should be forwarded to that office. Statements will be issued upon shipment of the calendars.—Kenneth Ashman.

The EDITOR of the page respectfully calls your attention to the treasurer's report below. Comparing it with last month's report you will readily see that we have taken in about one-sixth of our project goal for the Board of Evangelism, which is good, but how about the offerings for Student Aid, Brethren Boys Clubs, and General Expense? Think on these things! . . . Twenty-five men were present at the meeting in UNIONTOWN, PA., when Evangelist R. Paul Miller and Song Director Max Williams were guests. An offering of $23 was given to the Evangelistic Crusade. Frank Coffin is president. . . . At MEYERSDALE the laymen have set a goal of 25 men for the November 24 meeting. ## GOVERNOR LANGLIE TESTIFIES OF HIS LOVE FOR CHRIST

Minneapolis, Minn.—Gov. Arthur B. Langlie, of Washington, declared that the need of the hour is for laymen to witness for Christ, as he spoke at the 165th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A. Governor Langlie declared: "How this country and the world needs Christ! Yet for material things, for honors, for fear of being ridiculed, we brush aside the opportunities that are with us every day to really live. If we love our Christ, it is easy to find many ways to prove to our neighbors and our friends we do have love. . . .

Owen Hacker, of the First Brethren Church, DAYTON, OHIO, furnishes us with this information: "We had a glorious rally on October 1, with men from five churches in our new district. R. Paul Miller and Max Williams did the honors. Some 60 men were present and a good offering was received and sent to the Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade. ## Annuities—Investments for Eternity

WHAT IS AN ANNUITY?

Here is an example of an annuity. In the good providence of the Lord a man has $1,000 he would like to give to some worthy cause. However, his need for an income makes it impossible to give this money before his death. He finally decides to purchase an annuity bond from some institution. The contract drawn up states that the principal is a gift to this institution and also that the giver shall receive a fixed rate of interest during the remainder of his life. The principal is safeguarded during the lifetime of the giver by being invested in protected property rights. At his death the principal is fully released for the use of the institution.

WHY INVEST IN BRETHERN ANNUITY BONDS?

1. They provide a regular income similar to income from other types of bonds.
2. They provide a secure income because the principal is invested in protected property rights as long as the donor lives.
3. They pay a higher rate of interest than most other investments because there are no paid field representatives.
4. They provide a definite means of making Jesus Christ known as the only Saviour and Lord of life.
5. They give a sense of satisfaction to the giver in that he has promoted the Brethren faith which blessed his own soul.

WHAT IS THE RATE OF ANNUAL RETURNS?

The rate of interest is computed on the basis of the age when the annuity bond is purchased.

Up to age 54—	5%	65-69—	6½%
55-59—	5½%	70-74—	7%
60-64—	6%	75-79—	7½%
		80 or above—	8%

RIPENING FOR JUDGMENT

The Prophet Isaiah records the conditions which precede God's judgment and which conditions make it necessary for Him to rise in judgment. "Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter! . . . Therefore is the anger of the Lord kindled against his people" (Isa. 5:20, 25).

We cannot help but sympathize with a mass of true believers in the great Methodist Church today who, no doubt, love our Lord and would receive the Gospel if they could but hear it. Much is being written concerning leaders of the Methodist Church who are reported either as members of the Communist party or as diligent promoters of Communist fronts.

The Bishop Unchanged

Bishop Oxnam claims to have been exonerated when he appeared in Washington, D. C., to defend himself and his activities which had caused him to be branded as sympathetic with the Communist cause. Needless to say, there are multitudes of others who do not agree with the bishop that he was cleared in the hearing of the case. Regardless of all this, Bishop Oxnam seems to be moving on in the same circles as before, for just recently greetings from Bishop Oxnam were read at a great peace convention held on September 26 in Sydney, Australia. The convention was reported to be the product of the Communist program and the Prime Minister of Australia stated that "the Communist party is behind this convention and hopes to exploit it."

Bishop Oxnam is not alone in the Methodist Church in his activity for Communist front organizations. Recently the Rev. G. R. Van Eerde, Methodist minister from Sydney, Australia, wrote a pamphlet, "A Great Step for Peace." The Rev. Van Eerde quotes Y. T. Wu, chairman of the newly created Christian Reform Committee which is leading the Christian movement in China, "The Chinese Christian Reform movement has gained momentum in a short time because the Chinese Christians have seen the achievements of their government in defeating imperialism, feudalism, and bureaucratic capitalism, thus giving China a clean government for the first time in her history."

We wonder under what circumstances any true minister of the Gospel could so evaluate any government directed and imposed by Moscow. It seems that when men turn their backs upon the truth of the Bible there is no limit to the extremes they will go in substituting some other philosophy or ideology for the Christian faith.

Deceived About the Kingdom

In the same article written by the Rev. G. R. Van

Eerde we find this statement: "After witnessing what is going on in China today, the thought came to me time and again that maybe this is how the kingdom of God will come to earth, in an unexpected way and through unexpected channels, like the Babe at Bethlehem 2,000 years ago." Imagine Chinese Communists bringing in the kingdom!

In consideration of the movement within the Methodist Church in the last generation, informed believers understand clearly that the church has been practically captured by the modernists. The leaders have denied the fundamentals of the faith for a generation. Having denied these fundamentals, the inevitable result now faces the Methodist leadership. Modernism, instead of believing what the Bible tells us about the kingdom coming with the second coming of Christ, has tried to find some other avenue by which the kingdom may be brought in. The social gospel has failed to bring it to pass, society has continually become worse, and the world has not been converted.

Now the Methodist leadership must turn to some movement in the world which looks like the fulfillment of their dreams. Communism, having the wisdom of the Devil himself, has set a trap, preaching a great Utopia on the one hand and atheism, the fundamental Communist philosophy, on the other. Not wanting the one hand to know what the other is doing, Utopian promises have made a bid for the apostate churches. Gullible bishops and preachers have swallowed the bait, lined up with Communist front organizations, thinking they are now bringing the kingdom of God to pass through a great social revolution.

What Shall We Do?

All this indicates that, so far as delivering the Gospel to a lost world is concerned, others besides the Methodists will have to pick up the torch which once they carried and deliver the gospel message to the world.

The apostasy before our eyes in professing Christendom should shock the Brethren into an all-out effort to preach and teach the Word of God without any adulteration or apologies. This is the task of missions—home and foreign—in the Brethren Church at the present time.

An Ocean Between Us FOR HIM!

New York, Oct. 27, 1953

Dear Friends,

Once again it is the eve of departure from the homeland for another term of service on the field in Africa.

The past months spent with you in the homeland have been months of blessing. How I thank each of you for the joys you have given and for the encouragement you have given in things of the Lord's work. As our paths again crossed for this short time, I can truly say you have done me good and the provision of the Lord was exceedingly pleasant.

Now we must once more turn our separate ways and serve in the places which are far distant in this world. May the Lord richly bless all of you who pray for the missionaries. Let us trust Him for all the future, knowing that we are all one in Christ Jesus though the ocean rolls between.

May we all be faithful until He comes.

Your fellow laborer, who took time from a busy schedule to prepare such for our thoughtful consideration.—R. E. R.

NEWS OF THOSE TRAVELING

Dr. and Mrs. Russell D. Barnard, after brief stops in Panama City and Lima, Peru, arrived in Buenos Aires, Argentina, on November 13. Following a short visit in that area, they went on to Rio Cuarto to be present for the Bible Institute graduation on November 21. Their travels will take them to all of our Argentine mission points, as well as other places, during the next six weeks.

Miss Ruth Snyder arrived back at her station—the Bible Institute, Bozoum, Africa—on November 16 to resume another term of service.

As you read this, Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Beaver and family and Misses Mary Cripe and Marybeth Munn should be in the United States. They were due to arrive on furlough from Africa, coming by way of France, on December 1. The Beavers expect to go to Somerset, Ohio, to spend the holidays with relatives, and the girls will leave shortly to spend the holiday season with relatives and friends on the west coast.—R. E. R.

GREETINGS FROM THE BARNARDS IN BUENOS AIRES

(Just as this issue of the Herald was about ready to go to press we received two letters from Brother Barnard, one written November 14 and the other written November 18, telling of their trip. The following interesting excerpts are from these letters.)

We arrived in Buenos Aires yesterday, November 13, at about 1:30 p. m. and were met by the Hoyts and Maconaghys. It was certainly good to see the familiar faces while we were yet behind the gates waiting for the immigration officials to check us and our baggage. We had no difficulty—the Lord raised up a friend, whom even the Hoyts and Maconaghys had never met until yesterday morning, to help us through. God is good!

From Lima to Buenos Aires

We had a pleasant and uneventful flight from Lima, Peru, to Buenos Aires, Argentina, stopping only once, and that was at Santiago, Chile. This stop was for about 30 minutes, but I stuck my foot off the sidewalk and actually touched the soil of that strange land. Since we were about one and one-half hours late leaving Lima, it was daylight when we were about half way to Santiago. Sunrise was the most beautiful thing I ever expect to see this side of heaven. We were riding at 15,000 feet above sea level, above all the clouds with a perfectly clear sky. First, light began to appear in the east, then redness; soon the first top edge of brilliant red, then the big red ball coming up out of the low cloud bank. But what of the cloud bank? Well, it was like a sea of fluffed cotton, all rather tufted, yet from that great height all as smooth as a quilt. It was all snow-white, except as it approached the big ball of fire where it was blended into the deep red of that ball of fire. My, how poor words are to tell it!

Coming over the Andes Mountains—we crossed them twice—was certainly thrilling and beautiful. We rose to almost 20,000 feet in a plane where the air pressure is kept the same as it would be at 2,000 feet. To our left the steward pointed out the highest peak in the Southern Hemisphere—I believe he said 28,000 feet. It looked like we could almost reach out and touch it, but I guess we would have needed quite a long arm. All was covered with snow with just bare rocks jutting out. I'm rather glad the pilot didn't take a notion to land just then.

Flight Over Argentina

Soon we knew we were over Argentina because, first, we were told not to take our cameras out of their cases (that's an Argentine rule); second, we leveled out over the most beautiful farm country I have ever seen. Next week we will backtrack 350 miles and see from the ground what we saw from the air, but I am sure it won't be so beautiful. There were farms everywhere—every shape and description. Imagine every quilt design you have ever seen, then imagine a few hundred more, and put them all together and you will have the picture of what we saw for two hours, flying at 300 miles per hour. Finally we came low enough that we could see the cattle in the fields—at first they didn't look any larger than flies.

We were with the Maconaghys for a day or so. They have a most pleasant place in which to live—a large, comfortable home (the only one they could find, so it must be the Lord's will for them to be here). On the lot they have a vegetable garden, flowers in bloom, oranges, lemons, and various other fruits.

Arrival at Hoyts'

On Monday evening, November 16, we came over to the Hoyt home and we will be here until Friday morning, when we start inland to La Carlota, then to Rio Cuarto, where the Bible Institute graduation is to be on Saturday evening. We have almost walked ourselves to death—the only transportation here is by railroad, bus, and streetcar. There are almost no taxis, no porters, and even though there are trains every 10 or 12 minutes on these lines and the trains may have 5 to 10 coaches, they are almost always full, with people hanging on the outside, on the steps, and everywhere.

The Hoyts live about eight miles out of downtown Buenos Aires and the Maconaghys live out about 13 miles. They are on two of the spokes of a wheel—the two next to each other, yet they live about five miles apart. This city of Buenos Aires is a tremendous city. We could put all our Argentine missionaries in this one city and still not really greatly affect the unoccupied areas. Today (November 18) we met with a group of Free Brethren. They have been in this land for about 57 years and they have over 300 assemblies with outposts from these.

Meetings in Tent

Brother Hoyt is engaged in tent meetings just now with Bro. Jack Churchill preaching for this week. I believe Brother Siccardi is to come later and help. There were about 80 out last Sunday night, a good crowd on Monday night, then we were rained out Tuesday night, and there were about 40 tonight (November 18). I believe they will have excellent results.

From now on a very heavy schedule is outlined for us. We will spend three or four days at every location where there are missionaries and visit for about a day at the other places. Continue to send mail in care of the Schrocks. Keep praying for us—the Lord is indeed good!

"WHAT THINK YE OF CHRIST?"

Youth: Too happy to think—time enough!

Manhood: Too busy to think—more money first!

Maturity: Too anxious to think—worry over work.

Declining years: Too aged to think—fixed habits.

As Death approaches: Too ill to think—weak and suffering.

Death: Too late to think—the spirit has flown.

Eternity: Forever to think—God's judgment day.

A Little Bit of Everything

By Mrs. William Samarin, M'Baiki, Africa

You couldn't help noticing the man across the aisle in church. He wore a white dress shirt, gray flannel trousers, white socks, and crepe sole shoes. You may not think that worth noticing but, you see, the man next to him wore only a loin cloth, and they were both Africans. But that's the way it is at M'Baiki—we have a little of everything.

The well-dressed man is what we call a Salawisi. A Salawisi is an African who has left his tribe to seek employment in the way of the white man. Leaving his village, he soon forgets all its laws and restrictions and quickly learns the sins of the white man, thus becoming a very wretched man. Living with one woman after another, traveling from job to job, his only goal is money to buy clothes. Yet God has worked among the Salawisi. The man across the aisle makes a great deal of money as a tailor, and he is a fine Christian and a pillar in the M'Baiki church. God's children gather daily in chapels on large plantations throughout this area, thus giving forth the Word of God in the very camps of Satan.

But who is the other man? He may be from any of the five or six tribes that make up this area. White men have lived in his midst for 30 years, but they have not changed his way of life. The witch doctor in his skins and beads still reigns supreme. He dances, mutters, and accuses—and the people listen! Recently the French police captain said he was going out to discipline a village that was discovered using cannibalism in its tribal ceremonies. But God has worked in their midst, too. One by one God raises up His saints among them.

Siki is the first of three wives of an Isongou chief. Years of sorrow have lined her face. A year ago she came to church and believed. She has grown in the sweetness and grace of the Lord. Tears come as she prays for her people, so few of whom know her Saviour. But they, too, are coming one by one, receiving a changed heart and a new way of life.

There is a third man who isn't in church at all. The pygmy stays hidden in the depths of the jungle, only the brave ones venturing forth to trade for a little salt and cloth. Even though there are between 5,000 and 6,000 of them, I have seen only two or three. One little fellow came to our back door to sell a chicken. He could speak very little Sango and he was so frightened that he shook all over. The pygmy can only be reached on foot and by canoe. He must be taught his own language. Who will go? The missionary already has more villages than he can reach without going into the jungle depths. How these little people haunt us! God has not had a chance to work in their midst. It is 1953 and they are in darkness as great as the day Livingstone first came to Africa.

The Salawisi, the tribes' people, the pygmy—some 80,000 in all—this is our parish. This congregation is separated by rivers, jungle, and muddy, bumpy roads. How helpless we are unless the Spirit of God works. He will hear your prayers for us.

PRAYER IS LIKE . . .

A pitcher—to carry the water of life.
A chemist—that turns all life to gold.
Incense—with which to worship God.
A bow—to carry the arrow of our need.
The porter—to watch the door of our lips.
The guard—to keep the fort of our hearts.
The hilt of the sword—to defend our hands.
A barometer—to show our spiritual condition.
The chariot—to hold our petitions, the Spirit being the wheels thereof.

The tuning of an instrument—to get us in tune with heaven's melody.

The key to religion—to wind up in the first place, and to keep it going each day thereafter.

THERE IS STRENGTH . . .

- In silence, that speech does not know.
- In faith, that bluster can never imitate.
- In love, that hate can never realize.
- In quiet, that noise never understands.
- In prayer, that comes in no other way.
- In right, that might always envies.

"Now, you see it's this way, Uncle—all that we want to do is answer any questions that any of these people around here might have as to what the Bible teaches," pleaded Baltasar.

"No, I will not permit you to say even one word in this house about your doctrines. If you want to stay here for a few days, then that is fine, but do not say anything about what you believe to anybody," repeated the uncle.

This was the way in which Baltasar and his friends were welcomed by the owner of the house. The young fellows had been commissioned by their local church board to go to this rural neighborhood to visit and to witness to some of their friends and relatives. They had spent their boyhood in this district and, after going out into the world to have a good time and to earn a lot of money, they came in contact with the Gospel. Now they had a burning desire to tell these folks all about the real happiness that they had found in the Lord Jesus Christ. They knew all too well that their old acquaintances had never heard the truth of the Bible and that their lives were oppressed by many burdens as a result of sin and ignorance.

As the two young laymen sat down very much discouraged and with little hope of attaining their goal, a man came up and asked them if they were evangelicals. Then he said that he would like to talk to them if they would just wait a minute. In a few minutes he was back and very eager to discuss the matter of religion. Baltasar's companion immediately guessed that the stranger was carrying a Bible or some other kind of a book and so asked him to show whatever he might be hiding. With that as an invitation he took out a special Catholic edition of the four Gospels. It was very evident that he came prepared to hold up his own pet ideas, but soon discovered that the laymen were better equipped than he was. As the discussion grew, so did the number of listeners and so Baltasar's uncle could do nothing as he realized that the neighbors were anxious to hear both sides. In this way the two lay preachers gave out the Gospel for at least two hours and a half.

The next day they went on to the home of a friend where they were received with more kindness. While they were talking about the things of God to a few hearers, a man came up to them and seemed to be almost beside himself with emotion and fear. He questioned the speakers as to their political inclination and if they had any respect for the virgin. Hastily looking at his watch, he said, "It is time to hold a special little religious service in honor of the blessed virgin. Won't you accompany us?"

Because the man seemed a little mentally off balance, the two friends did not know what to expect, but agreed to at least observe the simple ritual. When the ceremony was concluded, the man suggested that the two laymen say a few words, but with the condition that they speak on the same text that the village priest had used that very morning in the town nearby. As Baltasar and his companion had not even been near the village that day, they had no idea whatsoever what the sermon might have been and much less would they know the text.

God came to the aid of the two laymen. With much

Children . . . Black or White . . . All Are Precious in His Sight!

Manya Samarin, daughter of missionaries in Africa.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it" (Proverbs 22:6).

"But Jesus said, Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me: for of such is the kingdom of heaven" (Matthew 19:14).

"And Jesus called a little child unto him, and set him in the midst of them, and said, Verily I say unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven. And whoso shall receive one such little child in my name receiveth me. But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea" (Matthew 18:2-6).

anticipation Joaquin opened his Bible and his eyes fell on the Beatitudes. He began to read, and noted a marked reverence on the part of all. Then he understood that the Lord had directed him to read exactly the text that was used that morning in the village church. This won the respect of all the listeners and they heard for the first time the real Gospel. The Lord Jesus Christ is seldom asked to forgive them of their sins, since they have been taught to look to another "redeemer."

During the three days that they dedicated to testifying for their Lord in this area, Baltasar and Joaquin distributed 85 pieces of gospel literature, visited in eight homes, and explained the Bible at length to four groups of listeners. How thrilled were the other church members when they heard the report of what God did with just two laymen!—The Missionary Standard.

Mary Lyon, a domestic servant in the house of Jonathan Edwards, was one day cleaning his study when she saw on the flyleaf of two books these quotations: "Prayer and patience can do anything," and "If I light a candle for Jesus Christ, no one can put it out." She did not know that these were the words of two of the first missionaries to the Indians, but the words made a deep impression. She knelt beside the desk of Jonathan

THE NEEDED TOUCH

Once on a storm-beaten shore a scant crew was trying in vain to drive the heavy lifeboat to the surf to rescue the survivors of a sinking ship. But their combined strength was just too little, and they sent to the nearby village for reinforcements. There was nobody left but one poor cripple, and he might have said, "What can a cripple do to launch a lifeboat?" But his added strength was just the increment they needed, just the few pounds more of added weight that moved that resisting mass; and as he threw his weight upon the cable, it slipped along the sands and in a few moments was out in the roaring tide. That one touch launched the lifeboat, saved the shipwrecked sailors, and accomplished the work of that one day of rescue. Beloved, your touch, your help, your consecrated weakness thrown upon the Lord's side may win the day.—A. B. Simpson.

Edwards and there made a vow that someday she would establish a school for women. This vow she carried out in 1837 when she founded an academy for women at South Hadley, Mass., which in 1888 became Mount Holyoke College. Any candle lighted for Jesus is inextinguishable—"the darkness has not (and will not) overcome it." If the lighting of such a candle is accompanied by prayer and patience, it can dispel any darkness and time cannot extinguish it.—Selected.

Huinca Renanco, Argentina—

A letter written November 13 by Mrs. Carson Rottler gives cause for praise to the Lord, as well as cause for more prayer. "Brother Schrock left yesterday after a nine-day evangelistic meeting. We rejoiced to see about 25 decisions. One was a young fellow with whom Carson had been dealing every week since we've been here. He shows every evidence of sincerity, for which we praise the Lord. Although there was a merry-go-round and a gypsy circus in town at the same time, we had a very good attendance. We really felt the presence and the working of the Holy Spirit throughout the meetings.

Mrs. Rottler

"We expect to begin our vacation Bible schools as soon as possible. We will have four—one here, one in Realico, one in Canada Verde, and one in Laboulaye. Practically every week of the summer is filled with something special. (Yes, it is now summer in Argentina!) We have a child evangelism class or meeting every day except Monday, so, with these and personal work, visitation, translation, and so on, we keep fairly occupied. The need here in Huinca Renanco is so great that it is like beginning a new work.

"The Lord is blessing over in Canada Verde. The Catholics have given much opposition in the schools. They have even thrown pebbles at us and followed us through the streets shouting, 'Long live the Pope, the Roman Catholic Church, the true church.' When there is opposition there is more growth, it seems, and the children are coming even though they're told that they'll 'flunk out' in school."

Rio Tercero, Argentina—

Recent word from Bro. Jack Churchill tells of progress in the work. "Here in Rio Tercero we have finally, after long months of waiting for the Lord to open the way, been able to secure a lot on which we hope to soon begin building a meeting hall. This is wholly an Argentine project—that is, no foreign funds are being used in the securing of the property nor in the actual building. One of the believers in Almafuerite has loaned us a mold for making cement building blocks and we are gradually building up a pile of them to have ready for the time when we can actually start construction. Right now there seems to be a shortage of cement, but we trust it won't last long.

Jack Churchill

"While the work of securing a lot and constructing a building for meetings is important, I cannot help but feel at times that we are going ahead faster in that aspect than we are in seeing souls come to a saving knowledge of Christ and becoming a part of the 'spiritual house' composed of 'living stones.' As we build our building of cement blocks, may it be an instrument that will form these 'living stones' that the Lord so desires to see."

Bellevue, Africa—

Brother and Sister C. B. Sheldon, in a recent letter, wrote as follows: "This afternoon the sun is shining nicely, but how it rained this morning! It made it hard on the many lepers who come on Wednesday for their medicine. It is wonderful the way they are improving under the treatment and they themselves are so encouraged. Some of those who were crippled and unable to get around are now able to make gardens and get around.

C. B. Sheldon

"A short time ago we spent a week out in the bush up Kouki way. We had a good time visiting some of the chapels that we hadn't been able to see of late due to going to the Cameroun and other duties. This being the heavy planting season we didn't find as many people as sometimes, but they were all glad to see us and know that the Lord had answered their prayers for us during the operations in the Cameroun.

"The Kouki road is being worked on by the road builders, and many cement bridges are being put in for the big road from Bangui to Tchad. The road is completed to Bossangoa and now they are working hard to complete the Kouki road section. It is rumored that the government post is to be moved from Kouki to the new road at the Nana River crossing, which is some 20 kilometers away. Lots of changes are taking place.

"We learned while out that the priests and nuns at Bossangoa have left and are being replaced by another order of Italians. We pray that somehow the Lord will work this out to His glory.

"The work on the brick church at Bossangoa has now stopped due to a shortage of bricks and funds. The walls are up to the tops of the windows and doors and it looks very nice. How we wish it were completed! I don't know yet how we are going to get timbers for the iron roofing, but we are looking to Him!"

Bassai, Africa—

A letter, dated November 12, just arrived from Miss Grace Byron, in which she commented as follows: "Dr. Kent's article (in the Herald) about the confusion of using different versions of the Bible in church services made a great impression on me. What would he think of a service in which some of the songs are sung in the tribal language, some in Sango (the trade language), a prayer in Sango, another in the tribal language, the Scripture read in Sango, and the sermon in Sango, translated into the tribal, the invitation given in the tribal and the closing song in Sango—all this in one service where all the natives are of one tribe. We expect a lot more of the natives, it seems. Pray that they will not be too confused.

"We have some very bad ulcer cases in the dispensary. A little boy about three has an ulcer on his face. The eye is affected, the nose is half gone, and so is half of his upper and lower lips. The flesh of his cheek is all gone, exposing his teeth. He is a pitiable sight. The little boy is a friendly little fellow, but he just doesn't want to have his face dressed. He fights every second, so it is almost impossible to bandage it. His mother is very patient and cooperative. It will be good to have Gail back again—a nurse is so greatly needed."

You will have cause for praise and prayer as you read a bit from the most recent letter from Mrs. Minnie Kennedy. "The past months have truly been rich with blessings, seen and unseen. The station Bible school will soon be over for this year. This week is the last, and the students will be going back home. Some will be getting ready for their departure for Bible Institute at Bozoum, others will be working in their home areas assisting their pastors and teaching classes. Some will be coming back again for next year's school.

Mrs. Kennedy

"Our rains are over now for six months or more, so that means our bush work begins soon. We are planning on more extensive work in the bush villages, visiting chapels and helping the pastors with their work. We want to help them so that more of their people will learn to read. Some pastors have very good reading classes and we want all of them to have steady reading classes. It takes special effort in some areas to get the people interested, so we want to help in creating more interest. Pray with us that we may have the strength and wisdom needed for this great work.

"Our hearts were gladdened and strengthened just last week. The pastor of the one area which has been so hard to reach came in to report that he has over 100 young people who have accepted the Lord as their Saviour and want to learn to read His Word. The Lord is answering prayer and we pray that there may be a great awakening everywhere."

Macapa, Brazil—

The last letter received from Brother and Sister John Teeter reports concerning some of their activities. "We have been intending to write you before this, but have been kept very busy with our language classes and other duties. A few weeks ago we found quite a colony of English-speaking Negroes from San Lucia in the British West Indies. After inquiring around we found that there are almost 50 of this group here in Macapa. We have started a little Bible class in English for this group—they meet on Monday nights in our home. We are praising the Lord for this opportunity to reach some of these folks down here, even though we still do not have the Portuguese language down pat as yet.

"Jack went to call on one particular man of this group shortly after he had suffered a stroke and was partially paralyzed. He gave Jack the assurance that he was saved. Just about a week later the man suffered another stroke and was very low. Again Jack called on him, prayed with him and, even though the man could hardly talk, he thanked Jack for this. The next evening he died, and we were surely thankful that the Lord had given us the opportunity to contact this man before he went out into eternity. We are trusting that we'll be able to contact more of these folks and reach them for Christ.

"We believe with all our hearts that the Lord has called us to this field where there is great opportunity for His work, and we're so anxious that we might be able to speak Portuguese fluently in order that we might work with the people." (Please pray much for the Teeters—the Edward Millers will be coming home on furlough in the early spring, leaving the Teeters in charge of the work at Macapa.)

YOU CAN'T EAT AT TWO PLACES AT SAME TIME

There once was a boy whose father was from one village and his mother from another. These two villages were close to each other. Once he was very hungry, for mealtime had come, so his father said to him, "Son, stay here and eat; then you can go to the village of your uncle."

The son replied, "Father, wait a little for me. I'll go to my uncle's village to eat first and then I'll come back to eat, for I saw that the food is already on the fire." He wanted to eat at both places.

So the child ran to his uncle's village to get some food, but when he got there he found that they had already made and eaten the food. Consequently, he didn't get any. So he decided to return home to eat at his father's house. On his way home a leopard found him and ate him up.

The elders of the village used to tell this story with the following application: When you put your heart on two things, you won't be able to eat even at one place. The best thing to do is to put your heart on one thing, then you'll be able to get something to eat.

Thus, the African Christian pastor says, "The man who puts his heart in this world and in heaven cannot find the way. The best thing to do is to put your heart only in heaven, then you'll be sure to get there."

This story was told to me by Mbu Andre, one of the students at the Institute from Bekoro district. He was thoroughly trained in the ways of his fathers and later spent over a year at a Mohammedan "seminary," but now he is a valiant witness for Christ.—William J. Samarin.

A TRAGIC RECORD

A certain pastor recently reported that 55 percent of his members were not at the morning service, 76 percent were not at the evening service, and 89 percent were not at the mid-week prayer service. Without a doubt these statistics could be repeated in many churches — yes, Brethren churches.

These figures not only cause godly pastors grave concern, but how this condition must rend the heart of almighty God. Certainly the Lord is not honored when approximately one-half of His professing children are not enough in love with Him to attend the morning service of the church to worship Him. This is tragic! More tragic is the fact that only about one-quarter of the membership are constrained to be at the evening "evangelistic" hour, and only about 11 percent at the prayer service.

Such a spiritual state reveals the need for an old-fashioned revival that will set men's hearts aflame for God. God bless pastors who are concerned about the spiritual welfare of their people, but we need concern on the part of the congregation. An old-fashioned revival will result in a love for Christ that supersedes tired bodies, love for pleasure, and the feeble excuses used by so many.

PILL-EATING AMERICANS

Harry Henderson, writing in Collier's magazine (Nov. 27, 1953) under the title, "The Original Miracle Drug," reveals the amazing fact that the American people are the most inveterate "pill-eaters" in the world.

The American people now take 485 aspirin tablets every second, or 28,152,000 tablets every day. We spend $96,000,000 a year for pain-killing pills which have an aspirin base. We take them in all colors and sizes to relieve the tension and to calm our nerves.

No one would deny the fact that the tension and rush of this age is astounding. Even professing Christians become so "keyed" to an accelerated church program that their own spiritual life frequently suffers. Under the tension they retreat to the aspirin bottle so they can continue the pace.

Perhaps we could well learn a lesson from the rest of nature which moves at a snail's pace, while we rush to and fro, hither and yon, relieving our tensioned minds by pills. If we spend more time at the feet of Jesus, we will need fewer pills and we will accomplish more for His glory. God help us to live more "by faith" and less by aspirin.

NO NEED FOR MOODY?

Charles B. Templeton, until recently the evangelist for the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., has expressed chagrin that "evangelism is fashionable again." Seeking to warn his audiences against evangelism, he recently declared that "we do not need another Dwight Moody today; what we need are 20th-century Christians who will study the needs of 20th-century people."

Someone should inform Mr. Templeton that the need of 20th-century people is identical with the needs of those first-century people—they need Christ! Twentieth-century philosophers (like Mr. Templeton), psychiatrists, psychologists, and sociologists are having to admit that they do not have the answer to the needs of people today. Social techniques have utterly failed to release man from the tentacles of sin.

Contrary to what Mr. Templeton has declared, the fact is that we need hundreds, if not thousands, like Dwight Moody, pointing men and women to Jesus Christ. In the slurring remark concerning Moody, Mr. Templeton slurred the God of Moody. God give us more preachers like Moody and fewer like Templeton.

CHRISTIANITY AT HARVARD?

For the first time in 44 years a president of Harvard University attended the convocation service of Harvard's divinity school. Dr. Nathan M. Pusey, president of Harvard University, delivered an address to the divinity school in which he declared: "For President Eliot (in 1909) the enemies to his true faith were churches, creeds, priests, anything supernatural, any concern for a life after death, anything that professed to be sacramental. I suspect . . . that he would have considered the doctrine . . . that Christ came into the world to save sinners, as so much twaddle." Then Mr. Pusey observed that "churches and creeds and metaphysical complexities persist, and we have need of them still. . . . Theology should not be thought of as a minor intellectual exercise. It is expected to carry an answer to our deepest hungers and need."

It is utterly impossible to know the full extent of a man's convictions with regard to the fundamentals of the Christian faith from so few words, but at least Mr. Pusey borders on truth.

Certainly no individual acquainted with the theological position of Harvard Divinity School would conclude that it has joined the ranks of the conservatives, but at least we can thank God a little spark of truth has manifested itself at Harvard University.

GRACE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

The months of December and January of each year are set aside for our special offerings to Grace Seminary. The Brethren Missionary Herald Company urges each and every member of our Herald family to pray and give liberally to our school. There is an immediate need for our gifts that the school might carry on the tremendous program that God is using to His glory. The influence of Grace Seminary is worldwide. We should praise God and give hilariously.

CHRIST IN YOU FOR SOULWINNING

"Christ in you, the hope of glory" (Col. 1:27). "The Spirit of God dwelleth in you" (I Cor. 3:16). In the person of the Holy Spirit, Jesus Christ indwells every genuine Christian. The purposes of the indwelling of the Spirit are to represent Christ, form Christ-character, bring a realization of Christ, produce the Christ-life, and maintain the mind of Christ within.

"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 2:5). Preeminently, the mind of Christ was that of SOULWINNING. He came "to seek and to save that which was lost." He was a personal soulwinner. He won Nicodemus, Zaccheus, the Samaritan woman, and many others. He looked upon the multitudes as lost sheep without a shepherd. He beheld the world as one vast harvest field of lost souls. The purpose of Christ's birth, life, teachings, death, resurrection, ascension, and everything He was and did, was to save the lost. The "mind of Christ" was EVANGELISM.

If Christ "liveth in me," if the indwelling Spirit is permitted to create and maintain the mind of Christ in me, then I am face to face with the responsibility of being a winner of souls for Christ. Every Christian is held responsible for the greatest amount and degree of soulwinning possible.

If the mind of Christ rules within me, I am face to face with the incentive of the reward for soulwinning. There is rejoicing on earth and greater rejoicing in heaven over a soul coming to Christ. There is glory and gladness in salvation. I share in that rejoicing if I win souls. Paul testifies that his "crown of rejoicing" will be to meet "in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming," those whom he had won to Christ. "He that winneth souls is wise" (Prov. 11:30).

If I permit the mind of Christ to rule in me I will yield to the appeal of the romance of soulwinning. Responsibility! Reward! Romance! What a triple appeal! Every figure employed by the Spirit for soulwinning just glows with appeal. To win souls for Christ is compared to bringing in precious sheaves of golden grain. It is compared to inviting folks to a feast. It is compared to catching fish, to rescuing the perishing, to seeking lost and wandering sheep, to winning a sparkling crown.

"I give you a watchword for the hour,
A thrilling word, a word of power,
A battle cry, a flaming breath
That calls for conquest or to death.
A word to rouse the church from rest
To heed the Master's high behest.
The call is given; ye host arise,
Our watchword is 'EVANGELIZE.'

"The glad Evangel now proclaim Through all the earth in Jesus' name,
The word is ringing through the skies,
EVANGELIZE! EVANGELIZE!
To dying men, a fallen race,
Make known the gift of Gospel Grace,
The world that now in darkness lies,
EVANGELIZE! EVANGELIZE!"

—Dr. George W. Truett.

"Open my eyes, that I may see
This one and that one needing Thee.
Hearts that are dumb, unsatisfied,
Lives that are dead, for whom Christ died.

"Open my eyes in faith, I pray;
Give me the strength to speak today,
Someone to bring, dear Lord to Thee;
Use me, O Lord, use even me."

EVANGELIZE! EVANGELIZE or FOSSILIZE!

FROM OUR PULPIT

Someone has said that Bible study without prayer lends to formalism, while prayer without Bible study lends to fanaticism. This is merely another way of saying that the fellowship of the believer with God is not to be a one-sided conversation.

Definition of Fellowship

When two people fellowship they converse and exchange thoughts with one another. If only one of the two speaks there would be no fellowship, but only the expression of one's opinion. Even deaf mutes find a way of conversing with one another for fellowship. If a person is not too selfish-minded, he desires to speak and to be spoken to, so as to exchange ideas and fellowship with the one to whom he is speaking.

In Genesis God shows His desire for fellowship when he walked with us through answered prayer and His written Word.

Many Christians fail to realize that to neglect the reading of the Word of God is to refuse to listen to God as He speaks to us. This would be considered rude in human circles. Think how God must feel when we refuse to hear what He has to say, when we fail to read His Word.

When we do not read the Scriptures regularly, we are refusing to listen to what God wants to tell us. Our Lord prayed a prayer to the Father asking Him to sanctify us through His Word (John 17:17). This shows that a Christian's progressive sanctification can only come through his faithful reading of the Word, or listening to what God has to say in His Word.

We are commanded by God to study the Word. "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (II Tim. 2:15).

Our Lord Himself defeated Satan's temptations with the use of the Scripture. This very definitely shows the importance of God's Word being in the Christian's heart. "Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee" (Psa. 119:11).

Prayer to God

Prayer is man's means of communication with God in the circle of fellowship. God then in turn gives man answers to prayer as a direct personal communication. The Word of God gives us a message from God, but the daily personal answers to prayer will increase our faith and fellowship still more.

Man cannot have complete fellowship with God without both prayer and Bible study. Every believer has to lean on Christ daily.

There are two types of vehicles today: the one which uses fuel and the other which depends upon electric power. The former runs as long as the tank contains fuel, the latter as long as it is in contact with the electric current. The modern electric trolley also has two overhead contacts, and both of these must make connection to cause the current to flow. So also, the Christian must be in constant contact with God for fellowship, through prayer and Bible study.

FELLOWSHIP

Adam in the garden. God has always wanted to fellowship with man, but man is the unwilling party. "If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth: but if we walk in the light as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (I John 1:6-7).

Avenues of Fellowship

There are two means of personal fellowship with God. One is our avenue to God and the other is God's avenue to us. We speak to God through prayer and God speaks to

INTO THE HEIGHTS

PROPHECY

It might be well at the outset to point out again that about one-eighth of the entire Book of Revelation is devoted to the seven messages comprising chapters 2 and 3. This in itself should offer sufficient reason for studying them with care. We should also realize that these are the very words of our Lord himself to the church and constitute His final message to it. And finally we have the sevenfold repeated admonition to hear "what the Spirit saith unto the churches." These reasons, we believe, make the chapters worthy of our most careful consideration.

Historical

That these seven churches were literal churches in seven literal cities is practically undeniable. Thus we are not dealing with fiction but facts as we read these letters. The city of Pergamum was an illustrious city of Mysia given over almost entirely to wealth and fashion. It was not noted as a commercial center, but rather as a religious and cultural center. Its chief religion was that of nature worship. There has been no record found concerning the establishment of the church in that place and all we have about it is found in this brief passage. The address to the church is from the One who holds the sharp two-edged sword which is a symbol of the discerning and executive power of truth. The very mention of the sword speaks of sharp judgment, so we naturally look for severity in this case.

Symbolical

What are we to believe concerning these seven letters? The number "7" is commonly accepted as a symbol of completion or perfection. Since this is so, these seven letters give us a composite picture of the condition of the church in all places throughout all the years of her history. All the varying degrees of activity and purity of the church are presented to us in these seven letters. No matter what the situation may be in some prescribed era you can find it intimated within these epistles. The degree may vary, but all the elements are herein contained. It only remains for us to note some of the details of the letter to see that this is so.

By way of commendation our Lord writes to the Pergamum church that they have held fast His name and have not denied His faith. In light of the idolatrous conditions in the city, both of these would have been easy to do. The Lord knew where these people dwelt, that it was where Satan had his throne ("seat") and where his throne is there is bound to be severe testing. How precious to know that the Lord knows where all His children dwell and that in every trial and circumstance we can hear Him say, "I know . . . where thou dwellest."

THE PERGAMUM LETTER

(REVELATION 2:12-17)

By Blaine Snyder
Winona Lake, Ind.

The complaint of the church is found in these words, "Thou hast there them that hold the doctrine of Balaam" and some "that hold the doctrine of the Nicolaitanes." The historical reference is to Numbers, chapters 22-33, and can be best seen in 33:16. Here we learn that while Israel could not be destroyed by cursing, she could be overcome by evil association and corruption. Social alliances with the Moabites led to their downfall. Many of them felt that since they were God's people they were free to live as they pleased and no harm would come to them. This was an extremely foolish attitude toward sin. As to the teaching of the Nicolaitanes little can be said. The name means "rulers of the laity" and suggests the beginning of the so-called clerical class. The evils which accompanied the development of this class can best be seen in the history of the papal system.

We can readily see the danger which confronted the church at Pergamum. The church as a whole had not abandoned the name of Christ, but there were some within the church who held to these false teachings and had indulged in their forbidden sins. Because of expediency the church lacked the courage to discipline these people by expelling them from her midst. She was compromising by keeping on her roll those who at heart were her very enemies. This attitude of compromise can be clearly seen even in our own day.

Prophetical

While all the conditions described in every letter may be true in any church in any age, there are times when the particular condition involved seems to characterize an entire period in the history of the church. Thus the Pergamum period may be regarded as describing the church from about 300 to 1100 A. D., or extending from Constantine to the time of the papal supremacy. The "rulers of the people" were assuming power and authority which had never been given to any human leaders in the church. Beginning with the great compromise of Constantine when the church and state were officially brought together we can readily trace the degeneracy and corruption which culminated in the papal dominance of the church.

What then is the real lesson for us in this study? The church of Christ dare not tolerate within her borders those who lower the standard of truth's requirements. The church at Pergamum was orthodox, it had held to the truth, but made a wrong application of it. They believed that if a man's creed was right his conduct was of little significance. If the church wants to keep herself pure she must banish from her midst any who would attempt to excuse his sin because of his religious profession. The final test of doctrine is purity of conduct and character.

GRACE SEMINARY—

1. Praise God for the way He provides for every need of the school as it arises, and especially for the very fine special gifts that have been given recently for much needed equipment and improvements.

2. Pray definitely for the annual offering to be given during December and January.

3. Pray that God will use the testimony and witness of students and faculty members as they are away from the school during the Christmas holidays.

FOREIGN MISSIONS—

1. Pray for Dr. and Mrs. Barnard, now in Argentina, as they visit our field there, that their time with the missionaries and national believers may be of mutual benefit and blessing to all.

2. Pray for Miss Edith Geske, one of our missionary nurses in Africa, who is recovering from an attack of rheumatic fever. She is greatly needed on the field and is highly trained for her work.

3. Pray for the missionaries in Africa as they return to their respective stations after the annual field council meeting, which convened December 1-11. Pray that the coming year may be the greatest one in the history of our African mission.

4. Pray for the necessary government permits for the opening of the French school at our Bassai station in Africa. The Charles Tabers are now located there and are ready to open the school.

5. Pray for the Marvin Goodman family. If their visas for France arrived in time, they were due to leave the States on December 4. Pray that housing will be found for them in the Lyon area, as they join the Fogles in the work. Pray also that suitable places may be found as meeting places for the believers.

6. Pray for Dr. Harold Mason and his family, who have been so many months in France. Dr. Mason should complete his course in tropical medicine around December 22, after which the family plans to leave immediately for Africa.

7. Continue to pray for the Baja California work. The Roy Howards are now located in Calexico, Calif., where they are beginning a new phase of the work.

8. Pray for the missionaries on furlough, as they serve the Lord in deputation work among the churches and try to rest up to return to their respective fields. Pray especially for the Wayne Beaver family and Misses Mary Cripe and Marybeth Munn, who have just arrived from Africa.

9. Pray for the work and the workers in Brazil and in Hawaii, that the Lord will provide the many needs and give courage, strength, and wisdom for the problems which must be met.

THE HERALD—

1. Pray for the Sunday-school quarterly writers that they might be able to complete the writing of the lessons before deadlines, in order that these quarterlies might be gotten to the churches on time.

2. Pray that Sunday-school officers in local churches might assist the Herald Company by sending in orders early each quarter.

HOME MISSIONS—

1. Praise the Lord for the gifts to the building fund at Jenners, Pa., making it possible to complete the outside of the church. Pray that the upper auditorium will soon be completed.

2. Pray that the new home-mission work at Elyria, Ohio, will continue to grow, and that the Brethren Minute-Men will rally to the need of assisting this group financially. Pray for their first full-time pastor, Galen Lingenfelter.

3. Praise God that the Modesto church is able to go self-supporting in 1954. Pray that their every financial need will be met in taking this step of faith.

4. Pray that the many new contacts made at Clayhole, Ky., and other home-mission churches, during the Christian Life Sunday School Contest, will not only result in additional Sunday-school members, but ultimately in born-again believers.

5. Praise God for the early completion of the new Phoenix church. Pray that it soon may be refinanced.

6. Pray that Brethren organizations or individuals will provide $25 per week needed to put David Tollardo on full time at Arroyo Hondo, N. Mex.

7. Pray for the new families joining the Brethren Construction Company at Roanoke, Va., that they may be used of the Lord in this capacity of erecting new Brethren churches for His glory. New members are the Ed Rife and Don Sellers families.

WMC—

(Supplied by the California District)

1. Pray that our young women will feel the need of more knowledge of our missions and missionaries, and come into WMC.

2. Pray for our Brethren schools. Pray that Satan will be hindered in his attacks on them.

3. Pray that more of our Brethren young women preparing for the teaching field will volunteer as teachers in our Brethren schools and mission fields.

4. Pray that more people in our churches will take an interest in the Day of Prayer and attend it.

SMM—

1. Give thanks for the girls of SMM who have laid their lives on the altar for Christ.

2. Pray for the girls as they memorize either the Book of James or I John for their personal memory goal. May they hide it in their hearts as well as their minds.

3. Pray that all SMM girls may take an active part in their local church program.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP—

1. Pray for the Youth Director, as he plans his west coast trip for the first three months of 1954.

2. Pray for our BYF program writers, that they might be effective in producing helpful material.

3. Pray for our Brethren Boys Clubs, that they might have the leadership they need. This is the time of year that some leaders lose enthusiasm and vision.

4. Pray that the best selections of young people may be made for summer workers in New Mexico and Kentucky, and that funds will be available through our BYF home-mission project.

A NEW TESTIMONY FOR THE LORD

At the September ministerium of the Indiana District, each pastor was asked to give a report of the Lord's blessing upon his church. After hearing the testimonies, Pastor Herman Koontz suggested that the Elkhart and Osceola churches ought to share the blessing with the entire brotherhood. The pastors of the two churches asked Bro. Willard Secaur, Bro. Herman Schumacher, and Bro. Robert Schumacher to write brief articles concerning God's blessing upon the church division. Their writeups are combined in the following article.—Scott Weaver.

General History

For approximately two years the need for a new testimony was manifest as more and more souls were saved from the Elkhart area. Also the need for more classrooms in the Osceola church became urgent.

By 1951 the Elkhart folk in the membership at Osceola numbered almost as many as did the local folk. It was about this time that the Lord led some of these Brethren to confer with Pastor Ward Miller regarding the possibility of starting a Grace Brethren testimony in Elkhart.

Pastor Miller was authorized to search for a suitable meeting place for the group, but none seemed available at the time. People continued to pray, souls continued to be saved, and God answered prayer. A meeting of all interested Elkhart Brethren was held Sunday afternoon, April 12, 1953, in the Osceola church auditorium to discuss matters of location and organization. A building committee was appointed from the group and charged with the responsibility of investigating two known places that were available at this time, one an abandoned church building and the other a vacant restaurant building located on the south side of Elkhart on state road 33. The committee brought back their report and it was decided to locate in the last-mentioned place. This is the present location of the church.

On April 27, 1953, an organization meeting was held in the building, with the Osceola board, Pastor Ward Miller, a group of men from Winona Lake, and 17 Elkhart Brethren present. The group voted to organize under the name of Grace Brethren, and elected the following officers to serve: I. W. Miller, moderator; W. Secaur, secretary-treasurer; Robert Schumacher and Ed Kluth, trustees.

On Wednesday, June 3, the first service was held to praise God for His goodness in answering prayer and to ask Him to send us a man to shepherd the flock. On June 7 the first Sunday services were held, with Rev. Conard Sandy preaching in both services. Various men from Grace Seminary preached on succeeding Sundays until Bro. Archie Keffer came to us and remained as interim pastor until Bro. Lowell Hoyt, who had been called as a part-time pastor, could arrive. How we loved these men who so graciously helped and preached the Word of God until our pastor arrived on the field.

We are so grateful that God has blessed us abundantly and has made it unnecessary for us to be a burden on the Brethren Home Missions Council. We organized as a self-supporting work and the Lord has blessed to the point that we have been able to call our pastor to full-time service.

We give the Lord the praise and glory, for we have found Him able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us.

Harmony Between Churches

We here at Osceola are praising God for having had the blessing of the fellowship of these precious saints of God for a number of years and also for having had some small part in helping to establish a true Brethren testimony in Elkhart. Our sincere prayers and best wishes go with these dear friends and loved ones in the Lord. May He continue to bless the Elkhart church and may many precious souls come to Christ as a reward of their efforts.

Growth of the Churches

The last month the two churches were together—the month of May—the average of attendance was 219 in the Sunday school. To show how the Lord has blessed this move, the attendances for the succeeding months are arranged for comparison.

COME YE APART FOR SERVICE

By Virden Taber, Vice President

Did you hear of the woman who sewed all day, only to find at the end of the day that her needle was not threaded? Or of the man who rowed all night and wondered why he did not reach shore, only to discover in the morning that his boat was tied to a post? That would be foolish, yet how many Christians think they can accomplish something for the Lord in service to Him without first getting ready by meeting the Lord in the secret place of prayer and fellowship through His Word. After our quiet time with our Heavenly Father we will be ready to go out in service for Him. On the other hand, let's not be like the Dead Sea, spending all our time receiving, but never giving out, and thus becoming cold Christians.

As we look at David, that great man of God, we see many and varied experiences in his life. Time after time he was in danger by wild animals, King Saul, and the various enemy nations round about, which would have caused many of us to give up. As David faced these experiences his faith and trust in God increased. How about our service? Is it increasing as we meet our giants, our trials, our discouragements?

We often hear it said, "I can't do what Mrs. So-and-So does," or, "I don't have the talents." It may be you can't, but God can do through you what you can't do, for your sufficiency is of God. Therefore, do all to the glory of God. Philippians 4:13, 19 says, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me. But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus." Again in II Corinthians 9:8 we read, "And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work."

WMC offers us many and varied avenues of service. We do not need to be an expert seamstress to bring and mend good used clothing for the missionaries to use among the Spanish or Navaho people. Through this contact souls may be won to Christ. At Taos the WMC ladies have a workday. They could use needles, thread, rickrack, or scraps of new cloth to be made into quilt blocks. Perhaps if we look around we could find some books that could be placed in their library and in this way supply Christian reading material.

You might say, "I just lose my voice when I go to speak to someone about his soul." How about taking a tract with you and witness by leaving it at the table in a restaurant, on the bus seat, or on a counter. A tract has often been used as an approach to a conversation.

We can help to encourage prayer warriors in our congregations. This will greatly strengthen our denomination. The Lord's work can only prosper as God's people intercede at the throne of grace.

What greater dividends are received than those for work with children? If we can teach a Sunday-school class, a child evangelism class, daily vacation Bible school class—fine. If we cannot teach we can assist in these efforts, collect materials, lend our influence as adults, do secretarial work, open our homes for classes, invite the children, etc. Along this same line our Sisterhood girls need all the help and encouragement we can give them. If we cannot be a patroness we might be an assistant patroness. We can pray for the girls and the work of Sisterhood. We could roll bandages for the girls or help get them ready to roll. A lift could be given them on their financial projects, encourage faithful attendance at their meetings, or opening our homes to them. No doubt you have already thought of many other ways to encourage the girls.

Churches are continually being built and established. They need to be encouraged by our prayers and gifts. Each of these have many needs, such as hymnals, chairs, pews, pulpit ensembles, curtains, tables, Sunday-school equipment, bulletin boards, office equipment, public-address systems, baptismal robes, pianos, or communion supplies. The needs in detail of our home-mission churches along with our foreign work, the seminary, Sunday-school board, and youth work will be sent to each district president or project chairman as soon as they are received and compiled. Each council can then get the list from their district project chairman.

Many will be interested in doing something for our Spanish and Navaho people. These will be included in the lists sent out. In the meantime someone might know where a bell could be secured for the Cordillera mission. A used one, or any kind, would be appreciated. Someone could make covers for the new mattresses in the dormitory for the Navaho children. They do not need to be of expensive material—muslin ones would be fine. A large electric food mixer would be of much help in preparing the meals for the school children.

Now let us skip to Dryhill, Ky., and see a little of the need there. If you enjoy Story-O-Graph pictures you can be sure the people in the mountains would get a blessing from them, too. They also could use blackboards to good advantage.

As Christians we are soldiers of the cross and should

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second-class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. be constantly on duty for our wonderful Lord. Too many times we are on vacation, it seems, like the professing Christian who sold a poor bale of hay to a colonel, who rebuked him. The church member whined, "I am a soldier, too." "You!" said the colonel in a tone of disgust. "What kind of a soldier are you?" "I am a soldier of the cross," said the skinflint. "That may be," said the colonel, "but you've been on furlough ever since I've known you." Let's remember that before we can really be of service to God we must first meet Him in our private devotions. Only then can He give power to our service. God can take a worthless, sinful life; wash it, cleanse it in the blood of Jesus, put His Spirit within it, and make it a blessing to humanity.

In conclusion, to be set apart for service we must first meet God, our Heavenly Father, and then we are ready to meet others in service. Then it is that He can say of us, "She hath done what she could."

A Penny a Day for Thank Offering

The secretary of the Indiana WMC District reports that the offering at the fall district rally amounted to approximately $150, to be used for the purchase of chairs for the new church at Elkhart, Ind.

The Lord is blessing at South Bend, Ind. There were 15 in attendance at a recent meeting, in contrast to two or three at the meetings last year. A Sisterhood was also organized recently, with eight intermediate girls showing interest in the work.

The Winona Lake Senior Council is planning an extensive tract ministry. The chairman of the tract committee writes, "Last month our group sent 100 Spanish tracts in booklet form to Mr. and Mrs. Carson Rottler in Argentina to use in their work there. These tracts went out with the prayer that many souls will be reached for the Lord. We are eagerly waiting for a report from this needy field. It is our plan to provide tracts for each member of our WMC to give out during the month in our local territory. Let us pray for decisions for the Lord on the part of those who receive them."

A report from the council of Long Beach, Calif., Second indicates a strong and growing WMC group. There were 47 at the October meeting and new members are joining each month. They have a very novel way of taking the birthday offering for our own WMC missionary. They have 12 gaily decorated boxes, one for each month, into which the ladies put their offering. At the close of the year all the boxes are opened at the meeting and the ladies whose birthday box contains the most are the guests of the others at a covered-dish dinner. Last

BIBLE READING AND TRACT CORNER

Bible reading for December—Leviticus, chapters 2-27; the Christmas story in the Gospels.

Bible reading for January—Matthew, chapters 1-31.

Tracts of the Month

1. For OURSELVES—"Thoughts on the Christian Family Circle," by Good News Publishers.

2. For OTHERS—Our suggestion for this month is a simple little tract to be sent to new mothers. "A Life in Your Hands," by Herald Press Tracts.

Both of these tracts can be obtained through the Brethren Missionary Herald Company.

year the November birthdays won with a sum of more than $13 in their box.

The newly organized Southern Ohio District held its first rally at Clayton. There were 81 present. The theme was "Holding Forth the Word of Life" and a covered-dish dinner was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Phyllis Towner, of Dayton, gave a challenging message on child evangelism.

The October meeting of Senior WMC of Mundy's Corner, Pa., was an impressive candlelight dedication service in which both the Junior WMC and the SMM joined. Mrs. Teeter writes that on the 15th of the month the telephone lines are kept very busy contacting members of the council and reminding them to pray for our missionaries.

The California District held its fall rally recently at La Verne. The Lord is blessing the district under the new president, Leila Polman. She has been visiting local councils and passing on to them some of her own zeal and enthusiasm.

The WMC at Los Angeles, Calif., First had the privilege of having Mrs. Frances Ogden on hand for their September meeting to install their new officers. Frances spent some years there while her husband was the pastor, so it was rather a homecoming for her.

Word has come to us that the husband of our beloved financial secretary, Mrs. Chester McCall, has been seriously ill but is now improving. Remember to pray for our busy secretary with the added duties that this illness places upon her.

Your editor wishes to express her thanks for the news items you have been sending her. We hope that you approve of the publishing of shortened news items rather than entire letters. This plan permits keeping up to date on all news and also conserves space for more missionary material.

AROUND THE WORLD

THE BRETHREN TESTIMONY IN HAWAII

Our monthly visits with Brethren women around the world take us this month to the Hawaiian Islands, where a new Brethren testimony is slowly being established.

Mrs. Foster Tresise

This work in Hawaii has been started by a young Christian couple who believed the Lord expected them to witness where He placed them. When military service took them from California to Hawaii, the Brethren church in the islands had its birth. Mrs. Vivian Jones tells of their struggles and problems in beginning that work in our mission study for this month.

As Sgt. Jones' term of military service grew shorter and he was about to return to the United States, it was necessary to find someone else to go to Hawaii to carry on the work so sacrificially begun. The Foreign Missionary Society agreed to sponsor and advise in the work while Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise volunteered to go to Hawaii as self-supporting missionaries to carry on the work. It is planned to develop a self-supporting national church. At the present time Rev. and Mrs. Tresise are working to support themselves while building the new work. WMC has an especial interest there because we have voted $300 this year to help in the development of this new Brethren expansion project.

GREETINGS FROM AN ARGENTINE COUNCIL

The following picture and letter were sent to us by Mrs. Margaret Marshall, missionary to Argentina. We surely do appreciate both, thank her for sending them on to us, and invite other overseas groups to send us news also. How wonderful it is to know that we all are Women Manifesting Christ around the world.

"Our Women's Council of the Brethren Church of Corral de Bustos consists of about 15 persons, including women and young girls. The meetings are held once a month. The program is varied and interesting. The women who feel they are capable prepare the messages, while all cooperate in the reading of the missionary study.

"In all our meetings there reigns a spirit of brotherhood and love. At the close of the meeting we stay a few minutes for tea and cake and thus have a nice time of fellowship together.

"Besides the personal work which we do, we help with the support of our national worker, Señorita Nelida Nuñez. Our greatest desire is to be like those women who went to the tomb of the Lord, who are called the first messengers of the resurrection of the Master. Oh that He might help us to carry the message of redemption to the lost!

"For our dear sisters in North America we desire abundant blessings from the Lord, and at the same time wish to send to you our deep appreciation for the work of love and faith which you are making possible in our dear republic.—Isobel H. de Garibotti."

THE WOMAN WITH THE "BEAUTIFUL LOOK"

By Dr. Alva J. McClain

In the ninth chapter of Acts we are given the portrait of a woman well known to the Christian church for 19 centuries. Her name was "Dorcas" in the Greek language, "Tabitha" in Aramaic. Robertson says that the name means "the creature with the beautiful look." This woman may have been beautiful in face, as suggested by the name, but the Bible gives no details as to this in its description of her. What we are told is that she was "full of good works." So, regardless of her physical appearance, we know that Dorcas was beautiful in her deeds. In this respect she was the woman with "the beautiful look," which is better than what the world of fashion calls "the new look." This is a kind of beauty that never fades with age, and, best of all, it is a beauty that any Christian woman can possess.

As I was considering the statement, "full of good works," I began to wonder whether the Bible ever said this of any man. And running through my concordance I could find nothing along this line. Both Stephen and Barnabas are said to have been "full of the Holy Ghost and of faith," but only of a woman is it said she was "full of good works."

Now the "good works" of Dorcas were of a special nature. They ministered to the physical needs and comfort of those for whom they were done. How true to life and experience. It is always the "women" who think of the things which the men forget. In the Philippian church, which more than once had sent things which ministered to Paul's need in the Roman prison, I do not think it was any mere coincidence that women seemed to have been the most prominent. It was at a women's prayer meeting that Paul began his great work in Philippi. A woman, Lydia, was the first convert. An unnamed "damsel," demon-possessed, was another convert. In the epistle we read of Euodias and Syntyche, two more women. I am sure that Paul, shut up in the Roman prison, often thanked God for the women of the Philippian church, the women with "the beautiful look" because of their kindness.

In the Brethren Church we have an organization of women with the same "beautiful look," women "full of good works." We here at Grace Seminary every day see the work of their hands, the evidence of their gracious concern and thoughtfulness for others.

Every day we set our feet on the massive sidewalks which now encircle the building on Seminary Hill—a gift from the Women's Missionary Council.

Every day we enter the library and take down books from the limed oak shelves—another good work of the same women.

We look into the amply furnished and efficient kitchen which ministers to the needs of the students—another provision from the hands of the women.

Every day we enter and enjoy the quiet and comfort of our beautifully furnished chapel—and again we see in the pews and carpeting the ministering hands of the women.

And this year the same women are undertaking as a special project to furnish the student social lounge, a large room 30 by 60 feet. Probably nothing represents a more important need, especially since the college is bringing in younger students who should have such a place to meet for social and spiritual fellowship.

Grace Seminary Chapel

One thing we have learned through the kindness of the Women's Missionary Council, namely, when these women undertake a project, they always carry it through. Truly, these women of the churches by their "good works" have manifested "the beautiful look" which is suggested in the Book of Acts.

ANNUAL REPORTS FROM THE WMC DISTRICTS

CENTRAL DISTRICT

We of the Central District WMC are happy to greet you in the name of our wonderful Lord. We have added three new councils to our district this past year, making a total of 27. These new councils are Alto, Mich.; Elkhart, Ind.; and Winona Lake, Ind., Senior. Twenty-four of the 27 councils reported 535 members.

Just a portion of the local projects include sending clothing to our mission stations at home as well as helping our missionaries on the fields; clothing to Korea; CARE packages to refugees in Europe; hope chests; helping the Sisterhood girls; giving to the seminary; sunshine boxes to the sick; canned goods for the missionary residence; and helping in the local churches.

The Fort Wayne WMC was host to our fall rally in October. Mrs. Rose Foster and Miss Grace Byron presented a skit of the work in Africa.

As district projects this year we gave $108.50 to Grace Seminary; $108.50 to the National Sunday School Board; and communion sets to the Ozark and Jackson, Mich., churches.

The Central District WMC contributed to all the national offerings and projects.

A spring meeting for all presidents in the district was held in Fort Wayne. The time was spent in discussing local problems and getting better acquainted with each other.

Our district conference convened at Winona Lake in July. Truly the Lord was with us in a marvelous way because many plans and decisions had to be made for the coming year. It was at this conference that the district divided into three districts—Indiana, Michigan, and Southern Ohio. By thus separating, we feel that we will be enabled to launch out into new fields to establish new churches and in time new councils. The councils in each district will be closer together and we are trusting that this will mean larger attendances at our conferences and rallies. We were privileged once again to have Mrs. Rose Foster as our speaker.

It has been grand to serve as district president this past year, although at times the burdens seemed heavy. All the ladies have been wonderful to work with, remembering our work in prayer, and serving whenever called upon to do so. May I say that it is only when we as a WMC put the Lord first in all things as we start a new year that each district will see the Lord's blessing on our councils. Let us all work together that we may serve the Lord better in the year ahead.—Mrs. Robert Boone, president.

NORTHERN OHIO DISTRICT

Like the writer of Lamentations 3:23, the women of the Northern Ohio District wish to say, "Great is God's faithfulness."

When the annual statistical reports were requested, every council in the district responded, and we understand our district was FIRST to get their completed report to the national statistician. As they were faithful in their reporting, they have also been faithful in working during the past year.

The October district rally was held in the Mansfield,

Ohio, church, with Mrs. Bernard Schneider as special speaker. Her talk about their trip to Germany was extremely interesting and made us all realize how good God has been to us that we were born in the good old U. S. A. At this rally our project was to buy a mimeograph for the new church at Findlay, Ohio.

The midwinter rally was held in January at Middlebranch, Ohio, with our beloved Althea Miller as guest speaker. She challenged us to the need of family altars. The project was to raise funds to pay for a supply of the Mediator, which is used by our Jewish missionaries in Los Angeles.

Three afternoon sessions were held during the district conference in April at Rittman, Ohio. The project at that time was for a fund to be given to the Fogles in France. The following projects were accepted for the coming year: missionary residence upkeep fund; $200 toward the educational expense of Marguerite Taber; $200 for the school building which has been erected at Yaloke for the missionaries' children. Miss Ruth Snyder gave us a new insight into the land of Africa during this conference.

The July rally was held at Fremont, Ohio, at which time we received a good offering for the missionary residence fund, and Miss Angie Garber enlightened us about the work among our American Indians with whom she has been laboring recently. We believe her message will help our women to increase their project offerings to the extent that we can meet our new goal of $200 for the next rally.

This district has 21 councils and 539 members. Every council participated in the national project offerings and we understand from the national treasurer that we have done nobly in this respect. Seventeen councils have observed the day of prayer; 16 sent thank offerings, and 20 are sending birthday offerings for the support of a WMC missionary.

We believe that the project displays which were shown at Winona fully explain the many and varied projects which have kept our ladies busy for the Lord during the past year. We realize we could have done nothing except as the Lord had first saved us, and then caused us to see the necessity of putting HAND AND FEET TO PRAYERS, knowing that God uses people who love Him to do His work today.—Mrs. Frank Lindower, president.

It is no loss of time to pray. Many think it chiefly or wholly lost time. They are so full of business, they say, and assume that prayer will spoil their business. I tell you that your business, if it be of such sort as ought to be done at all, will go all the better for much prayer.

Are you studying? It is no loss of time to pray, as I know very well by my own experience. If I am to preach, with only two hours for preparation, I give one hour to prayer.—Charles G. Finney.

BEAUTY OF THOUGHT

By Althea S. Miller

The thought life of an individual is more important than many realize. In fact, there are people, many of them young like yourselves, who seem to believe that what goes on in your mind, or what goes through your mind, does not show in the life. How Satan deceives! You "cannot think crooked and live straight." Medical men have long said, "You are what you eat." Physically speaking, this is true to a very great degree. It is likewise true that spiritually you are what you think.

The Bible recognizes this as a truth. There are many references to one's thought life. "For as he [the individual] thinketh in his heart, so is he" (Prov. 23:7). If you entertain unclean thoughts and evil desires you are bound to fulfill those thoughts and desires openly sooner or later. As you reflect and think on the good and noble and right in the light of God's Word, those things will be in evidence in your life's activities.

Let us open our Bibles and read together Philippians 4:8. Notice that this is addressed to believers, "brethren"; brothers and sisters in Christ. The unbelieving heart is unable to think on the right and good and noble because that heart is bent toward sin. Only the believer in Christ is able to discipline his thought life, and he is able to do it only because he can claim the power of God in his life. Think on whatsoever things are true, honest, just, pure, lovely, and good report. Do you notice how all that is untrue, dishonest, unjust, impure, ugly, bad report which is gossip (yes, I have heard SMM girls gossip) is automatically ruled out? What about your thought life, young lady? Does it stand acceptable before God whom you cannot deceive?

When a person thinks it seems to be understood that you must know something. If your head is a vacuum you can't think! Very few of us have a vacuum head. We think about something. When it isn't good, it is evil. Satan sees to that. He works overtime to make righteous thinking difficult to accomplish and evil thinking easy. You all know how true that is.

Since thinking and knowledge go hand in hand it is good for every girl to notice that God wants her to know certain things. He puts no premium on (does not approve of) ignorance. An ignorant Christian is both unhappy and a discredit to her Lord. Are you an ignorant believer? If you are, get busy and learn what God wants you to know.

One of you may ask what you should know if God wants you to have knowledge. He wants you to be diligent in learning what is taught in school. But what you learn must only be believed in the light of, or as it agrees with, God's Word. Turn to a couple of passages in the Bible with me now. In II Corinthians 2, the Apostle Paul is teaching believers to forgive one another. He concludes by saying: "Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices" (vs. 11). It appears then that the first thing we should know is that Satan is loaded with devices which he uses to deceive God's children. He deceives not only in matters which pertain to the Bible, but he covers education with a fine veneer (imitation) of the real truth in order to get control of minds. Don't YOU be ignorant of the fact that he has schemes and devices by which he knows he can deceive you if you are not on daily guard by prayer and Bible reading.

Now look at II Peter 3:5. Here is a case where people are "willingly ignorant" of the fact that "by the word of God the heavens were of old." This passage deals with some of God's judgments which He brought upon the earth which He created and which He has every right to judge as He sees fit. Today even high-school teachers have joined the university professors to teach that all and every part of this great universe just somehow "happened" from some original cause. In all their blind ignorance they can't explain how or where that first "cause" originated. But they don't really want to know the truth. I have known young folk in our own churches who have tried to show these teachers the truth about creation from the Bible only to be laughed at by these "blind leaders of the blind." They tell us that conservative Christians who believe the Bible from cover to cover are very narrowminded and pride themselves on their broadmindedness. But when it comes to trying to set them right on matters of creation and God and the

PROGRAM GROOMING FOR JANUARY

PRAISING VOICES—Have a period of testimonies and favorite choruses. Repeat the year verse.

SWEET SAVOR—Spend prayer time in the "Perfume Corner." *

CLEANSSED HEARTS—Read the Scripture—Ephesians 6:11-18.

GLOWING LIVING—Seniors study "Beauty of Thought." Middlers study "Beauty of Meditation."

SPARKLING TALENTS—Give special number.

BEAUTIFUL FEET—Consider "Adventures With the Bible in Brazil." Close by singing second stanza of theme song, "Let Compassion for Sinners," and repeating year's devotional benediction, Jude 24-25.

BUSINESS MEETING.

SMM BENEDICTION.

*Prayer Circle—Through the years we have had the prayer circle in Sisterhood. The purpose of this is to give every girl the opportunity to learn to pray aloud. The prayers do not need to be long, but keep them short enough so that every girl will have time to pray.

Bible they are the ones who are utterly narrowminded. They are "willingly ignorant." God pity their souls some day when they stand before Him. And regardless of what they teach you, remember you are to "know," not to be ignorant of Satan's devices along this line of controlling minds, and don't let him get hold of yours! Test every bit of knowledge on the basis of God's Word.

If thinking cannot be apart from knowledge, we must remember that knowledge comes by study. You must study of the world around you in which you live. But in all your study never forget that nothing is so important to study as God's Word, the Bible. There is a vast difference between studying about God's Word and studying the Word itself. Paul charged young Timothy to "study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing [discerning] the word of truth." The Sisterhood girl who wants to really be approved by God and who really loves Him will not only read her Bible each day in a period of devotions alone with God, but she will study some portion of the Word each day. If you would study nothing else of the Bible but your Sunday-school lesson each week you would be doing some actual studying of the Word. How about it, girls? This is January, the first month of 1954. Along with all your other resolutions and promises, how about getting down in dead earnest in this matter of your thought life? You know God does not want you to be ignorant of His Word. Start studying NOW! Also renew that Q. T. hour. You've been slipping lately and allowing other things to take the time which you should be spending on your face before your wonderful Lord.

Renew your vows to Him as you "worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness" (I Chron. 16:29).

ATTENTION, ALL LOCAL SISTERHOODS!

How Would You Like to Have This Beautiful Trophy?

It can be yours if you meet the following requirements:

- (1) Must be an Honor Sisterhood.
- (2) Must have the highest offering per girl.
- (3) Must have the highest percent of girls receiving the diamond award.

Will This Trophy Be Yours?

Let's Have Some Keen Competition!

REMEMBER: IF YOU WIN THE TROPHY FOR THREE CONSECUTIVE YEARS, IT IS YOURS PERMANENTLY!

NOTICE TO ALL SISTERHOOD GIRLS: For all Sisterhood materials write to the literature secretary, Myra Joy Conner. The general secretary does not have these items.

KNOW YOUR SISTERHOOD OFFICERS

NANCY WEBER
General Secretary

"After all He's done for me, how can I do less than give Him my best and live for Him completely, after all He's done for me." Being born in a Christian home, and a preacher's at that, I had Christian training from the very beginning. But it wasn't until 1948 at the age of 11, that Jesus became Lord and Master of my life. The young people of the world try to have a good time, but real peace and joy do not come until we've come face to face with Jesus at the cross of Calvary.

I never dreamed that I'd be the national general secretary of Sisterhood after attending national conference and camp in August. At first I wanted to say, "I can't," but the verse came to me, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." The job is a big one, as I have already found true, and I request your prayers that I may have wisdom and power from God to do my very best for Him. The Devil often tries to discourage us, but as we read in the Word, "Greater is he that is in you than he that is in the world." As we labor together in this year of Sisterhood, my prayer is that the girls will receive a blessing and help from the program, and Christ will receive all the glory and praise.

each of you is that the beauty of our Lord may really be seen in each of your lives as well as in every phase of your life.

MARIE SACKETT
Bandage Secretary

"I've never been sorry I heeded God's call,
I've never been sorry I yielded my all;
My walk with the Master grows sweeter each day;
I've never been sorry one step of the way."

Although I was born in a Christian home, I too was a sinner and needed His call and accepted Him as my own personal Saviour as a small girl. I can truly say I've never been sorry.

A verse that has meant a lot to me and I have chosen as my life's verse is Proverbs 3:5-6, which says, "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths." In school and other places many trials and temptations face us, but if we truly trust in the Lord with all our heart and acknowledge Him in all our ways He will direct our paths.

It is a great privilege to serve the Lord as bandage secretary and I'm looking forward to this year as being a bigger and better year for Sisterhood.

MYRA JOY CONNER
Literature Secretary

It is quite a privilege to serve in Sisterhood as your literature secretary. It really makes me humble to feel that the Lord can use me in such a small way for Him. I certainly do enjoy hearing from all of you, even if it's just an order for a hundred announcement cards

The Lord has certainly been wonderful to me in giving me a fine Christian home. It was through the influence of my parents that I came to a saving knowledge of the Lord Jesus at the age of 6. How many times I'm afraid I was ungrateful for the Christian training I had at home, but as I look back on things now, I really praise the Lord for this training.

Even though I accepted the Lord as my Saviour early in life, it wasn't until the spring of 1952 that He actually became "Lord" of my life. Since then there have been many trying and testing times, but I really do thank the Lord for these hard times because I have been drawn so much closer to the Lord through them.

How wonderful it is to know that our Lord is concerned about each little detail of our lives. I've come to realize this so much more since coming to Bryan University this year. I really praise the Lord for leading me to such a Christ-centered school as this. The Lord has become so much more real to me than ever before.

I certainly do covet your prayers in my behalf as I seek to know the Lord's will for my life. My prayer for

"Let my prayer be set forth before thee as incense; and the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice" (Psa. 141:2).

1. Pray that a number of SMM girls may feel led to memorize the personal memory project.
2. Pray for our girls who are away at colleges or schools, that they might be a testimony for the Lord even when away from their home church.
3. Continue to pray for Marybeth Munn and especially as she is home on furlough, that her body might be strengthened.
4. Pray that the devotional topics might help the girls to live closer to the Lord.
5. Pray that the project of supplying furniture for the mission in New Mexico will be met and each Sisterhood girl will give prayerfully to this project.

A tourist was driving through the beautiful mountains of Pennsylvania. It was in the fall of the year and the mountainsides were ablaze with color. This man did not see any beauty, for he was intent on watching the road so that he might be over the mountain before nightfall. We think this man foolish, for if he had only taken time to stop a few moments he could have taken in the scenery with satisfaction and he would have seen the beauty placed there by our Heavenly Father.

As we journey through life as tourists we oftentimes miss the beauties our Lord has for us because we do not stop and take in the beauty around us. This is a busy world, and we are in a hurry to get through one day. What for? So that we may hurry through the next. Here is the place where we must stop and THINK. In your school life you are often admonished by your teacher to "think." We do many thoughtless things, don't we? It may be a smart answer to Mother or a friend. Or maybe we neglect to do or say something that is right because we "didn't think." I know a lovely girl whose favorite saying was, "I wasn't thinking." It is a sad thing to admit, in these days when education is at a high peak, that we cannot use the faculties that the Lord gave us. Let us not be thoughtless. It is not God's will that we be "scatterbrained."

If we are not to be thoughtless, what are we to think about? Surely we could all name some things that we would like to think about. A lovely new dress, that handsome boy that sits next to us in school, a party where we surely will have a good time; this list could go on and on. But in Philippians 4:8 we read, "If there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." Will our thoughts stand this test? To be sure you will think about the above-mentioned things. It is only natural that young girls will, but we must be careful that our thinking on these things will not crowd out the things that God wants us to think about. He would have all people, yes even teen-age girls, think on virtuous things. It is hard to keep our minds pure, but let us try, with God's help, to do it. Many times we are ashamed if we realize that others can tell our thoughts, but remember, our Lord is able to see our thoughts, and even the intents of our hearts, at all times. Be sure your thoughts are fit for His holy eyes to look upon.

We know that when we want to be pure in mind and thought that there is only one way to do this. That is by reading God's Word DAILY, and meditating on it. Don't just glance hastily at the words and then jump up to do something else. Let those words sink in our minds and hearts so that we can bring them to our remembrance throughout the day.

To think properly we must be intelligent about the subject we wish to think about. In Paul's epistles we read many times, "I would not have you to be ignorant." Paul was writing the mind of God and in II Timothy 2:15 he gives us the remedy for our ignorance. When Paul says, "Study to shew thyself approved," he does not mean that we should read all the books we can get our fingers on that might tell us about the Bible. He wants us to study THE BIBLE. His Holy Spirit will be our teacher, if we will only allow Him to work in our minds and direct our thoughts. May this be our prayer as we seek to "Do God's Will"—"Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer" (Psa. 19:14).

Hint 1. GENERAL FUND OFFERING is due January 31. Let's not forget this and get it in on time or even ahead of time.

Hint 2. WRITING CONTEST—Your stories, poems, and essays are also due January 31. Please send to Mrs. Arnold Kriegbaum, our national patroness.

Hint 3. Have you sent in your post card news item yet? If not, send a card to Nancy Weber, general secretary, telling about the activities and blessings of your SMM. We'd like to share them, too.

Hint 4. A good way to work off a Martha goal is to plan and present an SMM program in your church. You might have a musical program, a play, or just an inspirational program. This is a good way to acquaint the people with SMM—its aims, projects, and goals. This would also be a good way to raise money for our national projects.

FURNITURE NEEDED! HELP WANTED!

Come on, girls! Keep giving to your national project. As you know, our goal is $1,700 and we'll never make it unless you continually give your offerings and make a special effort to reach this goal. Remember, we are supplying furniture for the Navaho work in New Mexico. Don't let us down! We're depending on you!

TOO MUCH TO CHEW? Is that what you thought when you were asked to memorize the Book of James? It would not be if you would break it up into little pieces. Starting this month, just by learning a few verses a week you could memorize it by the required time. So girls, let's have more of you participate in this goal than ever before! It really isn't so hard.

ADVENTURE

A TRIP TO THE INDIANS
WITH UNCLE EDDIE

Not too far from where we live in Brazil there is a tribe of real live Indians. I suppose you have read about the Indians that used to live in America long ago, who hunted buffalo with their bows and arrows and used long wooden spears with a sharp point on the end to catch their fish. Of course you don't see these Indians all over America any more, but here in Brazil there are lots of wild Indians that live in the interior.

Uncle Eddie

Would you like me to tell you about the trip I made to visit these Indians? We started out one afternoon from Belem in a large launch, which is a large boat driven by a motor. We traveled about two days and two nights until we finally reached a large waterfall about 90 feet high. Of course our boat could not get up over these falls, so we had to get out at a little village and walk around the falls. It took us about two hours to get all our baggage from the launch to the top of the falls. We had to take enough food to last about two weeks, as there were no stores to buy anything up the river where the Indians live.

Finally we had all our sacks of food and clothing and other things in a little motorboat on the other side of the falls and we were ready to go. The river wasn't very deep and there were lots of rocks sticking out of the water. Our trip was very exciting now, as there were monkeys, parrots, and many other wild birds jumping around in the trees along the shore. If you have never seen any monkeys and parrots you ought to come and visit us sometime in Brazil because we have lots of them here.

The first night we stayed in a little house along the river, since we had not reached the Indians yet. And how do you suppose we slept? Of course they didn't have enough beds for all of us, but we came prepared with our own hammocks. It's really fun to sleep in a hammock and lots safer, too, because the bugs and insects can't crawl up on you so easily.

The next day we traveled all morning in our little motorboat without seeing anyone. Then in the afternoon we were suddenly surprised to see something swimming in the water in front of our boat. It was an animal that looked like a big dog, only he was yellow with black spots. You know right away what that is, don't you? Yes sir, a panther, and they are dangerous, too! Well, it didn't take us very long to shoot it with our rifle. Later on that day our guides skinned the panther so we could keep the hide.

It was on the third day after leaving the falls that we first saw the Indians. Late in the afternoon we were coming around a curve in the river when suddenly a small canoe with a whole family of Indians appeared. At first they were afraid of us, but when they saw that we weren't going to hurt them they came alongside to see what we wanted. They really looked like Indians, all right, with their red skin and long black shiny hair. They didn't have many clothes on, but they had strings of beads around their necks and arms and legs. In the bottom of their boat they had some fish they had just speared and a wild pig they shot with their bows and arrows.

This was probably their supper, since they have to hunt for all their food in the jungle.

That night we stayed in the village with our new friends, the Indians, and slept in one of their huts. They were very friendly to us and they gave us some bows and arrows in exchange for the beads that we gave to them. The chief was a real tall man and very strong too. He gave us all some monkey meat to eat for supper. But, you know, we couldn't talk with them because they didn't speak our language. Of course they couldn't talk in English and they knew very little Portuguese. They have a language all their own and we have to learn it first before we can talk with them.

Now I want to tell you something sad about our trip to the Indians. They don't have any churches or Sunday schools like you do there in your town, and no one has ever told them about Jesus. The Bible says that Jesus died on the cross because He loved us and wanted to be our Saviour and that whosoever believes in Him will be saved. But these Indians don't have any Sunday-school teachers to teach them and tell them this story of Jesus. So they still have gods of stone and wood. Don't you want to pray for these Indians? Ask Jesus to send someone to learn their language so they can tell the story of the Good News to them. And maybe someday you can come to Brazil as a missionary and help tell the Good News of Jesus too.

DON'T BE ASHAMED OF YOUR BIBLE!

Recently I've been running across high-school and college Bible clubs whose members advocate and practice carrying their Bibles along with all other schoolbooks. It's a healthy and admirable habit, for God's Word is still the "dynamite" of God unto salvation, to all who will believe.

However, carrying your Bible as a charm or fetish is of little value. But carrying it to use is another, and better thing. When you have it with you, you'll find odd moments here and there when you can read a few verses, and draw strength from its pages. And you may be surprised at how many people will ask you questions about it, and thus open a way for a real testimony. Don't be afraid of technical or scientific questions that you aren't able to answer; remember that if the Bible has done something for you, your changed life is an argument for which they'll have no answer.

Maybe it takes courage to carry your Bible to school, and to like places, but it is courage that will be rewarded. After all, most of our troubles are caused by too much bone in the head, and not enough in the back.

LONG BEACH BBC SHOWS PROGRESS

The Brethren Boys Club of the First Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif., which meets every other week at the Brethren High School, has shown outstanding growth and initiative under the leadership of Club Chief Floyd Strawsburg. They can claim the distinction of having the first two swordsmen in all our clubs, and to our knowledge, the only two top-ranking club members in the country. (Swordsmen is the fifth and top rank in BBC, and requirements for earning it are tough, and include winning a soul to Christ.)

David Hocking earned this rank about a year ago, and David Wilkerson only recently. A number of other boys in different clubs are close to this rank, but to our knowledge, no others have as yet received it.

The Long Beach club also sponsored a handicraft contest recently, and the winner was an eight-year-old boy, Douglas Ihnen. The boys were building Strombecker solid model kits, and the three best were mounted on a display board shown in the picture. Second and third places were won by Paul Scanlan and John Price.

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR BYF

(These were originated by Tony and Cora Luna and used effectively at Taos and Cordillera, N. Mex. We thought them timely enough to pass on to you!)

1. Thou shalt not chew gum inside the church.
2. Thou shalt not eat candy, peanuts, piñon, or like food inside the church.
3. Thou shalt not sit in the last two rows of benches on either side of the main auditorium.
4. Thou shalt not talk, whisper, or giggle during a service unless otherwise instructed.
5. Thou shalt not all crowd into one bench, when there are several others to sit on.
6. Thou shalt not make fun or laugh at the attempts of others to serve the Lord.
7. Thou shalt bring your Bible to church with you.
8. Thou shalt listen quietly and

NEWS from the CHURCHES

(Items in this column are compiled from reports of pastors and evangelists.)

The Mountain View Brethren Church, Hollins, Va., engaged in a one-week revival service with their pastor, Rev. Edward Bowman, as the evangelist. According to Pastor Bowman, "The Lord blessed in these meetings. The attendance was fine, and 246 visitors were present for the first time during the meetings. The closing Sunday night 192 were present. There were five decisions for Christ."

The Leon Brethren Church, Leon, Iowa, closed a two-week campaign for souls under the leadership of Crusade Team Two, with Evangelist Walter Lepp. Rev. Marion Gates reports a real victory for the Lord as he writes, "We praise the Lord for the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade, which we believe God has raised up for such a time as this. Our church has been revived; 110 people came down the aisles, 22 for first-time confession and 88 for rededication. The church has taken on a new look and we are ready to do business for the Lord."

The Clearbrook Brethren Church, Roanoke, Va., sends an additional report of the recent revival meeting conducted by Evangelist Bill Smith. According to Rev. William Howard, pastor of the church, "A man that we have been praying for for two years came to the Lord to publicly accept Him as Saviour. Another man for whom we have been praying for almost a year came to Jesus Christ. . . . Altogether 24 made decisions of respectfully when someone else is singing or speaking.

9. Thou shalt surely do, willingly and joyfully, all duties assigned to you by the leader, pastor, or teacher.

10. Thou shalt stand or sit as requested by the leader during a service.

All these things thou shalt surely do, if thou desirest to please the Lord, and to grow in grace and knowledge of His Word. (And all God's people said AMEN!)

The Christian's Christmas

Much has been said in recent years about the fact that we ought to put Christ back into Christmas, but unless we who are Christians do something about it the truth is that it simply will not be done. One of the finest places to begin is in our planning and programming for Christmas in our Sunday schools. Of course your committee will already be thinking about these things, but let us make sure that we include them in this year's Sunday-school plans.

Shall we stop by simply urging our Sunday-school pupils to be sure their Christmas cards include a Scripture text and possibly a Christmas tract? This is a good beginning, but what about the gifts which our Sunday schools give to the boys and girls? For the amount that most of our schools spend for these little gifts of candy we could supply a good book for every pupil in the school, which would not only be a lovely Christmas gift, but one which would be a real blessing to the pupil and perhaps even the parents of the pupil. Some of the books advertised in the catalog of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company would bring untold blessing to our boys and girls.

Again, when giving the gifts remember that we have a real privilege as well as a real responsibility of teaching our pupils the Christian ideal of gratitude. How often we have seen Christmas gifts passed out in churches without an opportunity given to pupils to say, "Thank you," to teacher, superintendent, or even to the Lord Jesus, who is the Giver of every good and perfect gift. What an appropriate time to teach the whole school a lesson in "thanksgiving" for the wonderful blessings of life.

Then Christmas is a natural time for giving of gifts, but let us remember that it is the birthday of Jesus that we celebrate. This is a wonderful time to include an opportunity to give gifts for Christ. We heard recently of a class of junior boys and girls that decorated the Christmas tree in their room with birthday gifts for the Lord. Several weeks in advance of Christmas each child was given a money container cut in the shape of a star. These were made of heavy construction paper and in many colors. They were stitched together with colored thread to add to the decoration. Each star had a slot in which money could be placed, and had a loop of yarn by which it was fastened to the tree. On Christmas Sunday morning a tree had been placed in the front of the room. As the pianist softly played Christmas carols, the children marched around the tree and hung their stars on the branches. Then the class sang, "Happy Birthday, Dear Jesus," and a prayer of dedication was made for the offering. This offering could be used for home missions, for Grace Seminary, for foreign missions, or any other worthwhile project of your Sunday school.

Another important part of Christmas in your Sunday school is its public program. Christmas is an important day in the life of every member of your school. Why not use the opportunity to the best advantage?

What would Christmas be without a Christmas party? Our churches and Sunday schools have them regularly. But do we include Christ at our parties? Why not include some original games about Christmas, gleaned from the Bible? Everyone loves to sing at Christmastime, so let's use the Christmas party as an opportunity to sing the old familiar carols and to teach the stories of the carols. These stories may be secured in most libraries in our villages and cities. Then too, it is a wonderful time to have someone tell one of the familiar Christmas stories as a fitting climax to an evening of real Christian fun. The thing in which we are interested is that in all our Christian giving, and programming, and parties we keep Christ central.

While we are thinking about Christmastime, are you going to do anything for your teachers by way of gifts? By all means every class ought to remember its teacher with a gift for the faithful service rendered throughout the year.

FROM ACROSS THE NATION

The First Brethren Church of Kitting, Pa., Rev. Gordon Bracker, pastor, reports splendid gains in every department of their Sunday school. They reached a goal recently of 325 present, with more than $100 in the offering. The Sunday school has adopted the six-point system of records and reports it is accomplishing much for them.

The Rosemont Brethren Church, Martinsburg, W. Va., reports a "bulging at the sides" condition in their Sunday school. The attendance is reaching new heights every Sunday. Congratulation to Rev. Leon Myers, pastor, and to the Martinsburg church.

The Grace Brethren Church, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, is in the midst of an attendance contest which Rev. Richard Burch reports is bringing results, with an increased attendance each Sunday.

In Memoriam

Names appear in this column only when sent in by pastor.

REV. JOHN E. PATTERSON, of Hollins, Va., was loosed away upward to be with the Lord on Sunday morning, November 22, 1953. He had been in failing health for several months due to a heart condition. Death came rather suddenly at his home.

Rev. John E. Patterson

Brother Patterson, who was 70 years of age, had held the longest continuous pastorate of any minister of the Brethren Church, having served the Hollins church for 40 years. He retired from his pastorate last April. He was ordained to the ministry June 4, 1904, at the Red Hill Brethren Church, near Roanoke, Va.

Brother Patterson was known far and wide in this section of the Shenandoah Valley. The Lord had given him a great gift of comfort in the sickroom and in homes where death had come. He was greatly loved by young and old in his congregation.

An estimated 600 people attended the memorial service held at the Mountain View Brethren Church on Tuesday morning, November 24. The service was in charge of Rev. K. E. Richardson, pastor of the Fairlawn Brethren Church, Radford, Va. He had been associated with Brother Patterson for a number of years. Rev. Edward Bowman, present pastor of the Mountain View church, assisted. Thirteen ministers were present, eight of whom were Brethren of the Southeast District.

The music was provided by the choir of the Ghent Brethren Church, Roanoke. They sang, "Wonderful Peace," "The Lord Is My Shepherd," and "It Is Well With My Soul." The Scripture was read and prayer offered by Brother Bowman. Brief tributes were offered by Brethren Bowman and George Donahue, the latter having known the deceased for over 50 years. Brother Richardson delivered the message, using as his text the words of Paul in Philippians 1:21, "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

Brother Patterson leaves his widow, Mrs. Cora Patterson, and two foster sons, J. W. Patterson and J. H. Oyler; four sisters, and eight grandchildren.

The Brethren Church has surely lost a great warrior who stood for the faith throughout the years. Our loss is his gain. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints" (Psa. 116:15).—Edward Bowman, pastor.

HENRY LEPP, 71, father of Evangelist Walter Lepp, departed from this life to be with Christ on November 11, after a faithful life for the Lord for 50 years. He was a resident of Saskatoon, Sask., Canada. Rev. Walter Lepp, engaged in evangelistic meetings in Leon, Iowa, was unable to attend the funeral service on November 16.—Rev. Walter Lepp.

MRS. MARGARET DICK departed from this earthly sojourn to be with the Lord on Sunday morning, November 8. Mrs. Dick was a member of the Conemaugh Brethren Church, Conemaugh, Pa., and is survived by 11 children. One, Blair S. Dick, is a member of the First Brethren Church, Johnstown, Pa., and another, Rev. Paul Dick, is pastor of the First Brethren Church, Winchester, Va. In just six months, less one week, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Dick lost all four parents. Romans 8:28.—Dr. W. A. Ogden, officiating minister.

VINCENT REIGHARD, 78, for many years a loyal member of the First Brethren Church of Johnstown, Pa., was called from this life to be with Christ on October 7. Brother Reighard was known throughout Johnstown for his ministry of tract distribution.—Dr. W. A. Ogden, pastor.

HARVEY DRURY, of Clearspring, Md., departed from this life November 18. Funeral services were conducted November 21. Rev. Russell Weber.

GLENNA GREENLEAF was promoted to be with her Lord on October 22, following a heart operation.—Rev. Robert Crees, pastor.

MRS. CHARLES BOAL, deaconess and faithful member of the First Brethren Church of Uniontown, Pa., went to be with the Lord on November 27.—Rev. Clyde Landrum, pastor.

one nature or the other." Pastor Howard reports that the "following Sunday another man and his wife made a decision for the Lord . . . the next Sunday a young mother presented herself for membership. . . . The Clearbrook people are still praising God for these wonderful two weeks and God's continued blessings."

The Mountain Brethren Church, La Crescenta, Calif., closed a week of special meetings with Rev. Charles Underwood, pastor of the First Brethren Church of Glendale, Calif., as the evangelist. There was one conversion, a 19-year-old girl who comes from a home where she is forbidden to go to church.

The Vernon Brethren Church, of Limestone, Tenn., was engaged in an evangelistic meeting October 19-November 1 with Rev. Ord Genman, pastor of the Bethel Brethren Church, Berne, Ind., as the evangelist. According to Lelia Arnold, recording secretary, the attendance throughout the meeting was good, and the Word of God was faithfully proclaimed.

The Grace Brethren Church of Wheaton, Ill., reports the Lord is blessing the work. Mr. Clark Myers writes that services are now being held in the Wheaton Christian Grammar School located at 534 E. Harrison St., just north of Wheaton College. The actual location of the new church will be some distance from this present place of worship, but it will be located in an unchurched area of about 150 new homes. Recent speakers at the church have been Bro. Galen Hunts, who has been engaged in missionary work in Alaska, and Dr. Homer Kent, of Winona Lake, Ind. Mr. D. A. Spangler is Sunday-school superintendent, and under his leadership the children of our school are helping to support some of the children on the foreign field. Pray for the Wheaton work as the effort is made to reach the Chicago area. Rev. Kenneth Teague is pastor.

"AND I KNOW THEM . . ."

She sat pensively on the hall floor tugging at pint-size socks. Nearby at the bathroom sink Aunt Althea stood washing out some hosiery. Suddenly little Jan looked up at her and said, "Just two more days 'til Mother and Daddy come home." She held up two chubby fingers for emphasis.

"You'll be glad to see them, I know."

"Uh huh, I sure will. They've been away lots of days."

With older brother Rus, Jan had been guest at Grandma's while Mother and Daddy took a little vacation trip. Despite the fact she was having a great time rollicking with visiting cousins, her little heart missed Daddy and Mother more each day.

"Say," her voice took on new animation, "if you hear Rus scream and the dog bark, that means Mama and Daddy are home." Now back to the task of getting that other sock on. With other things on her mind, the five-year-old had quite a time getting socks and shoes on this morning. One shoe was on when Jan abruptly stopped. Looking up at her aunt she said in a small, half-frightened voice, "I hope they know us when they get home."

This was just about too much for the aunt. Swiftly stepping into the hall she put her arms around the little miss, assuring her that Mother and Daddy would certainly know their children. She helped with that second shoe, and a more cheerful little girl skipped off to play.

Like a refrain Jan's words, "I hope they know us," kept running through Aunt Althea's mind. Jan's parents had been gone but four days! "I hope they know us." Can a mother forget her bairns? "I hope they know us?" Their own flesh and blood and not know their children?

Jan's "I hope they know us" was based on the limited experience of a five-year-old. How could she know anything of full appreciation of the tenacity of parents' love?

Because of the fickleness of the human heart some professing Christians cannot really appreciate the tender yet tenacious love of their Father God. Far too many folk live as though God does not know them or remember that they once professed to love Him as Saviour and Lord.

The Scriptures came back with renewed force to Jan's aunt. The believer belongs to God on two counts. God's right by creation cannot be denied. "But now thus saith the Lord that created thee . . . Fear not: for I . . . have called thee by thy name, thou art mine" (Isa. 43:1). Man was created for God's glory and fellowship, but in sinning he could no longer show God's glory nor have fellowship with Him. So now through salvation in Christ, because men receive Him as Saviour, God says of His own: "My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me; and I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand" (John 10:27-28). Wondrous truth to the beleaguered heart. God knows His own, and the proof of this is in their following Him.

Do you follow close to His side, or do you follow afar off? "AND I KNOW THEM." Do you know the lover of your soul through faith in His blood spilt on Calvary? Confess Him now and know the depths of peace which comes from being known of Him.

For Your Book Shelf

The Brethren Missionary Herald Company offers to its readers the opportunity to secure additional books for your library. With the ordering of any one of the following books, cash with order, you will receive a coupon. For every four coupons sent to the Brethren Missionary Herald Company you will receive in return a complimentary copy of a book you would be proud to place in your library. If you order one or more of the following books by December 30, 1953, and cash accompany your order, you will receive a coupon with each book purchased.

THE PRESENT TENSES OF THE BLESSED LIFE, by F. B. Meyer. Zondervan Press, 1953. Cloth. 127 pp. Price, $2.

Suggesting the danger of Christians becoming so absorbed with the many responsibilities of life that they become "bogged down," the author offers a Scriptural solution. Admonishing Christians to consider what God is to us, rather than what we are to God, will result in victorious Christian living. Only in this sphere can we fully know the present tenses of the blessed life.

MOSES THE SERVANT OF GOD, by F. B. Meyer. Zondervan Press, 1953. Cloth. 189 pp. Price, $2.50.

Moses is presented as a man whose life was shaped through his experiences with God. Although Moses was not unlike any other man, yet through his obedience, faith, and communion with God, the holy purpose of God was achieved. This book is challenging with its practical analysis of the man Moses, and what the grace of God accomplished in his life.

DAVID SHEPHERD, PSALMIST, KING, by F. B. Meyer. Zondervan Press, 1953. Cloth. 160 pp. Price, $2.50.

The story of the life of David is comparable to that of many Christians of this generation with its progression in spiritual things. From a shepherd boy to the throne of a king, and all the experiences encountered which God used to develop his servant, is a challenge and an inspiration to any believer.

THE HONOR OF PRESTON REED, by Louis Harrison McCraw. Moody Press, 1952. Cloth. 248 pp. Price, $2.75.

This is a historical novel of the days preceding the Civil War. Lively Catherine Twyman and her sister, Nancy Belle, figure prominently in the story, as do Bushrod Kyle, a plantation owner, and Preston Reed, a young seminary graduate who takes the Gospel to the Kansas Indians.

LIGHT FROM THE CROSS, by Friedrich A. Tholuck. Moody Press, 1952. Cloth. 293 pp. Price, $3.50.

Dr. J. C. Macaulay in his introduction says: "I regard it one of the greatest sermonic works on the cross ever given to the English-speaking world, directly or through translation." To appreciate more fully the work of Jesus Christ on the cross of Calvary, one needs but read this volume.

PEACE WITH GOD, by Billy Graham. Doubleday, 1953. Cloth, $2.50.

The purpose of the author is to give a clear understanding of the new life in Christ. He sought to write the book so the man of the street can comprehend the absolute source of help in this hour of crisis and confusion.

QUEEN OF THE DARK CHAMBER, by Christiana Tsai. Moody Press, 1953. Cloth. 160 pp. Price, $2.50.

Christiana Tsai has written a fascinating story of her life. In her girlhood she was exposed to every fanciful delight that Chinese mind and money could produce. Buddha was her god and she did not desire to "eat" Christianity. However, through true Christian missionaries Christiana came to know and love Christ as her Saviour. As a result, her missionary endeavors, her keen spiritual knowledge, and glorious daily living, in spite of her inability to walk for 22 years, moves Christians with a fresh realization of God's power, and the worth of foreign missions. This book is worth more than one reading.

TO OUR BRETHREN FAMILY:

May the Lord's richest blessings be yours at this Christmas Season and during the New Year.

"When the Fulness of the Time Was Come"

At this time of the year many of our thoughts are turned toward the giving of gifts, to whom we should give, what we should give, and then, how to pay for what we have given.

While the giving of gifts plays such a prominent part in the economy of men it is appropriate to turn our thoughts heavenward and think upon God's infinite gift to all the world.

Writing to the Galatians Paul summed up the whole glorious plan and purpose of redemption in two wonderful verses.

"But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law,

"To redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons" (Gal. 4:4-5).

There are those who ask, "Why didn't Christ come sooner?" Certainly men were sinful and depraved and in need of a Saviour thousands of years before the Redeemer came. There is no conclusive human answer to this question. But there is a divine answer. It was "when the fulness of the time was come" that Jesus appeared on earth. When the cup of God's time was filled His sovereign will was made manifest in the first coming of Christ. God is purposive. He has a complete plan for the universe and for the life of each of His children. He always works strictly on a planned and prearranged schedule.

Even from a human standpoint it is apparent that the coming of Christ at that particular time was very strategic. It was at a time when all Old Testament prophecies could have easily been fulfilled. It was at a time decreed by Jeremiah, Isaiah, and others for the appearing of the Messiah. So, it was indeed a fulfillment of prophecy.

Now, after all the schemes and plans of men for salvation had utterly failed, and the human heart was as black with sin as ever, Jesus came. During a period of 4,000 years the minds and talents of men had been active in an endeavor to legislate men into righteousness. Rome was full of temples, gods, idols, etc. But all failed to satisfy the spiritual craving of the human heart.

It was one of those rare periods when the world was relatively peaceful, and there was little hindrance to the movements of our Lord across the lands of His nativity.

Alexander the Great had made the world largely Greek-speaking, and communications, such as they were, stood at their best. At the same time the Jews were spread widely and with their knowledge of Old Testament Scriptures were a possible source of witness.

Our all-wise Heavenly Father knew what He was doing in revealing himself through His blessed Son almost 2,000 years ago in Bethlehem.

At this Christmas season we should be reminded that He is the same sovereign God who desires the primary worship and allegiance of His children. We should remember that Christ is still the Redeemer and that the world lieth in the lap of the wicked one.

Even though the message of redeeming grace has been preached since the cross of Christ, the task of evangelization is far from finished.

Support Grace Seminary

True-to-the-Word seminaries are tragically few in America today. When a called servant of God begins his search for a fundamental seminary in these days he is limited to a very small minority of the institutions which class themselves as theological seminaries.

It is worthy of praise to God that our Brethren Church has a seminary in that minority category. Grace Theological Seminary is a thoroughly orthodox school with high academic standing. It is worthy of the consideration of any young person preparing for full-time service in the Lord's vineyard.

No tuition is charged to seminary students in this school. Instead it is fully supported by the voluntary offerings of the Lord's people. December and January are the months set aside in our calendar for special gifts to "Grace." We trust that Brethren around the world will rise to the challenge in generously supporting the institution which helps to meet our needs for pastors and missionaries.

Are You Partially Responsible?

Somebody has miserably failed! When Philadelphia police can round up 975 teen-agers, many of them girls, in a weekend drive against a juvenile reign of terror—somebody has failed. When cops finally disperse 70 teen-age girls who have tried to force a seven-year-old girl to smoke a cigarette and then beat her almost to death when she refused—somebody has failed. When officers find two five-year-old boys with pockets stuffed with jewelry and trying to steal a small radio—somebody has failed.

This is a picture in practically every American city. Congressional investigation is bringing to light some of the most brutal and cold-blooded crimes of history—the work of teen-agers. Never in the history of America has there been a situation quite so serious among our young people.

Who is responsible? It is easy to saddle the youngsters with all the blame. Of course their hearts are depraved and responsive to the advances of Satan and the flesh. They cannot be excused in their sinning. But, what about the parental delinquents? What about the mothers and dads who even profess to be Christians, yet have no family altar, and who fail to encourage their children in the realities of the Christian experience. What about the parents who never have time for their children? When they should be attending to the needs of God-given children they instead farm out the children and abandon themselves to fleshly pleasures. Let the parental delinquents take their place in judgment with the juvenile delinquents if justice is done.

AMERICA NEEDS THE GOSPEL AS NEVER IN ITS HISTORY!

ADVANCING TESTIMONY AMONG THE NAVAHOS

By Evan Adams

We have not had a native Christian interpreter for sometime, but have managed to have a continuing attendance at the services. Those who can understand English have, of course, profited most by the services. However, we try to incorporate as much Navaho participation as possible, in the form of testimonies, prayers, songs, so that all who attend can understand something that is going on. We have seen a great deal of growth in the spiritual lives of two Navahos, husband and wife, for which we daily praise the Lord. Also some of the schoolchildren show spiritual growth and understanding. In the past weeks, on Sunday afternoons, we have been memorizing Scripture in Navaho. We have learned a total of seven verses which cover well the facts of salvation. On a coming Sunday we will hold a contest to see who can be first to stand and quote all seven verses.

Last Sunday we had somewhat of a revival among some of the Navaho Christians, some of whom had grown cold and had failed to stand when the test of separation came. One woman who had been very indifferent for some months stood and gave a testimony. After the service we had a special time of prayer for all Christians who wanted to confess sins, to seek a closer walk with the Lord, and to ask forgiveness for their failures in the Christian life. There were eight native Christians who took part in the prayer meeting, some who had not shown any active participation for sometime.

We are beginning soon to launch a "gospel team" program for the schoolchildren. The new program will meet the need in several ways: the camp work is sadly neglected, due to so many mission tasks, and also being without a competent interpreter. We can now use the schoolchildren who have had three years of schooling and give them a chance to put their Christian lives to practical use, and before their own people. The children need to be under supervision after school time, and this way they can be under supervision and be used at the same time. Also it will enable the mission workers to do the task which is first in their hearts, to get out among the people with the Word of God. We are hoping that this program will help us develop some potential Christian workers and interpreters from our own schoolchildren.

First Weeks in Navaho Land

By Priscilla Zimmerman, Teacher at the Navaho Mission

On a mid-September evening a well-loaded gray-green coach wended its way northward on Highway 44 in New Mexico. The somewhat weary driver searched the roadside eagerly for a sign bearing the welcome words, "Brethren Navaho Mission." Once the sign was found in the quickly lowering darkness, she was soon inside the mission and made comfortable for the night.

Morning brought the inspection of some 20 pairs of dark eyes as their owners peeped to see what the new teacher looked like. Another pair of dark eyes scanned theirs just as eagerly to learn what the new pupils were like. Soon just as many personalities as there were pairs of eyes began to emerge.

In a few days school was in full swing, and the teacher was learning far more than the pupils this time. Little by little she began to realize that what seemed a lack of response was due to the lack of comprehension on the children's part. Was not the teacher speaking in a foreign language? Were not many of the things happening in the stories of the average schoolbook just as foreign to these children's experience? When they heard of country fairs, parks, farms, and cities, few if any could think, "I saw that." Back and back the teacher must go to a point of understanding between herself and the children.

Now by this time the teacher is being impressed not so much with the differences as the likenesses between these and all other children. They all walk in the mud without overshoes, run in the rain without coats, and lose their pencils along with their other belongings. They can turn out bubbles with their gum just as big as any child. When they have modeling clay they'll fashion just as many miniature cowboys as in any eastern school.

The one great similarity of the Navaho with all other children in this country and the world over is their great need to know the Lord and His Word.

WANT TO ADOPT A NAVAHO CHILD?

Twenty-six children like the girl shown here with Mrs. Evan Adams are enrolled in the Navaho Mission and Boarding School. Many of them have been adopted by various groups, organizations, and individuals of the Brethren Church, and are supported in the school by them. A few of the children as yet have not been adopted, and if you would like to help in some way, just contact the

DEDICATION DAY AT PHOENIX

By J. C. McKillen

Editor's Note—The following material on the Phoenix dedication arrived too late for the November Home Mission Number. We are sorry, but because of the few days between the dedication day and press deadline, we could not include it at that time.

About 110 folk gathered at 3 o'clock Sunday, November 1, 1953, for the dedication service. What Rev. George O. Peek, pastor of the Second Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif., had to say on the subject of "Why Build a Brethren Church in Phoenix?" would make good advance reading for any group intending to build a church, and excellent review reading for any church already functioning—to see if they are really functioning as God would direct. It was by no means "Brethrenism." It was Christianity being alerted to the commands of Christ and the demands of our day, to get the Gospel message to every neighborhood—even in pagan America.

To many of us the highlight of the day was having with us Dr. John Hubbard, formerly of Biola, and now at Arizona Bible Institute. His prayer, just before the sermon, was the prayer of a dear saint—down to earth but up to heaven—and we are so glad this dear "gladiator" could be with us. Rev. A. L. Howard, Brethren missionary to the Mexican border, surprised us by driving several hundred miles to join with eight other ministers present for the service.

We wished that all our members could have been present, but already we have some who have moved to Winona Lake, Seal Beach, and San Diego. The greetings elsewhere in these pages from some of our members, and from the last person to make public confession of Christ in the parsonage, are just "samples" of how all of us feel out here in this oasis which is Phoenix. Right now we're a little wearied in body, but the crest of the wave on which you folk, supporting the Brethren Home Missions Council, have swept the First Brethren Church of Phoenix off its parsonage sandbar and onto the boulevard is now receding. As we look around us, still doubtful as to whether we're still dreaming and about to wake up back in the parsonage-church—we find we're really wideawake! Yes, there is a pile of good old Arizona in the wrong place. There are some clods that need breaking up. There is a vast expanse of future lawn—right now just bare ground. There is a lovely spot for some roses, and alongside the church, room for masses of green shrubbery. Inside? Oh yes, see those places that need polishing, and even that dust in that corner. Tch! Tch! Yes, we are awake! Yes, we have dedicated the building, but we are still dedicating every sweep of the brooms, every swing of the picks, every swish of the rakes through the rank weeds—dedicating our united strength to the job that you, Brethren, have made possible for us to tackle, on a big-time scale. Thank you so much! And pray for Christ's abiding presence as we distribute ourselves to the job. It takes a heap of lovin' to make a house a home—and God's house here on Bethany Home Road needs to become a home-place to the hundreds of unsaved ones all about us. Dedication to such a task cannot be done in a day, nor told on a page. Brethren, pray for us!

SAVED IN AKRON—SERVING IN PHOENIX

By Mrs. Nicholas Zoagt, Pianast

"Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think . . ." (Eph. 3:20). Truly this has been so in Phoenix, Ariz. We thank God for the Brethren church He has given us, which would have been impossible had it not been for the Brethren Home Missions Council. My husband and I were saved in the First Brethren Church, Ellet, Akron, Ohio. We moved to Phoenix for health reasons and we were lost without a Brethren church. So you can see why our hearts are overflowing with joy that we are able to serve again as God would lead. We thank Him for the Minute-Men who have answered the call for this work. Our prayers are that we may serve Him faithfully until He comes.

CHURCH DEDICATED—LIVES REDEDICATED

By Mr. Stanley L. Beam, Vice Moderator

As we look back over the past 15 months we can only marvel at the miracles that God is able to perform. We are indeed thankful to our Lord for you who have helped us. Our new building is dedicated to the spreading of the Gospel of our Lord, and we as individuals dedicate ourselves anew to the Lord's service, that many should hear and believe. We want to voice our thanks to the Brethren Home Missions Council, and to all who have contributed. It is a great joy to us to work with you. We ask for your prayers that the Lord will guide us and keep us humble.

THE BRETHREN FOLLOW THE BIBLE

By Miss Mary Strain

I have belonged to only two churches in my lifetime, but I have attended many different ones, and I find Pastor J. C. "Bill" McKillen and Mr. Nicholas Zoagt working on the future lawn.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second-class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by the Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Walter Lepp, president; Robert D. Crees, vice president; Clyde Balyo, secretary; Ord Gehman, treasurer; Bryson Fettes, member-at-large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, William Schaffer, Robert E. A. Miller.

the Grace Brethren folk following nearest to what the Bible teaches. In Revelation 2:2 it says: "I know thy works, and thy labour, and thy patience." Christ was speaking about the church at Ephesus then. But I believe the same thing holds true in the Brethren churches today for me. I've seen and helped in their work, and they seem to be the most patient and peace-loving people at all times. Another reason I like them so well: it seems there is such a friendliness on the part of everyone, and this cannot be bought at any price. When you have found a church with all these fine qualities, plus so many others too numerous to mention, I believe one has found a church pleasing to the Lord, in which we may gladly worship Him.

PHOENIX BUILT ON THE RIGHT FOUNDATION

By Miss Patricia Burkholder

"For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ" (I Cor. 3:11). I'm so glad to know Christ as my own personal Saviour, and to belong to a church whose one desire is to win the lost to Him. I know that it is a miracle from God that we have been able to dedicate our new church. I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every person, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Canada to Mexico, for their support of the Brethren Minute-Men for Phoenix. May God bless you all.

GRATEFUL TO MY LORD AND YOU

By Mrs. Richard L. Riggs, Sunday-School Teacher

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the Brethren Home Missions Council and everyone who had a part in making possible the First Brethren Church of Phoenix. It is an answer to prayer and a beautiful place to invite others. I feel it is a challenge to everyone of us to reach for Christ those at our very doorstep.

Our pastor, J. C. McKillen, and Mrs. McKillen are real laborers for the Lord, and their ministry is bearing fruit. I am grateful to be associated with them and the Phoenix brethren. I pray that the Lord will continue to bless us in the future as He has in the past. We covet your prayers for us.

A LETTER TO MY LORD

(Note: Mrs. Moore, an invalid through advanced lung ailments, never away from her oxygen tank more than three hours safely, was the last person to publicly accept Christ as Saviour in the parsonage services.)

Dear Lord:

Only Thou and I know how many letters I've written that haven't been mailed. Well, now I'm writing to Thee, although anything I say will not be news to Thee because Thou knowest what is in my heart, and how this mind of mine thinks. Of course, Thou knowest how I hurried that Sunday morning, but still I was late, and the services in the "house with a garden" were already

DIVINE BLESSING IMPOSES NECESSITY

By Dr. Paul Bauman, President

The blessing of the Lord often imposes new necessities in various angles of His work. This has been true of Brethren home missions. We cannot speculate whether the original directors of the Brethren Home Missions Council expected such an outpouring of God's power and blessing as is seen in the work today, nevertheless, it has now grown to proportions which make it impossible to properly execute the work with such limited personnel. This is a good sign and we praise the Lord for imposing this necessity upon us.

For quite a while the members of the Home Missions Council have realized the need of additional personnel in the field. With 46 home-mission points on the list, the need for additional publicity, and the multiplying number of new opportunities needing investigation together with the much-increased detail work, the board decided that the only course to follow was to increase available personnel.

Thus the board extended a call to Rev. Lester Pifer, former successful pastor of the former home-mission church in Fremont, Ohio, to become assistant field secretary. This call was accepted by Brother Pifer, who has now taken up his residence at home-mission headquarters in Winona Lake, Ind.

under way. I remember how grateful I was to find an empty chair near the door—a comfortable one with arms.

Also Thou knowest that I came that morning to worship and pray with the dear kind people who had brought me to renew acquaintance with Thee—to really know Thee as I never had before. Of course, it was Thou who sent Mrs. Niswonger to my home at a time when I thought I could not bear up under my troubles. She in turn sent Rev. Bill McKillen and his wonderful wife, Edna, and they in their desire to serve Thee to the fullest have spent many hours of their time trying to teach me Thy ways. In so doing, they have comforted me, and given me a greater measure of peace of mind than I have known since I was a little girl.

Getting back to that Sunday morning, I came to pray and ask Thy guidance. I could have stayed at home and prayed, but I felt the need to be with Thy people. When Brother McKillen extended the usual invitation to come forward and publicly accept Thee as Lord, I found myself walking calmly up the aisle. After all, had I not come to ask Thy help, and how could I without yielding? When I took Thee to be my own personal Saviour it was the least I could do in appreciation of my many blessings. I thank Thee, Lord, for these, and I thank Thee for letting me be privileged to be at the dedication of this wonderful new First Brethren Church of Phoenix. The beauty and simplicity of its western styling make me feel near to Thee, as I do when I gaze up at the mountains in this desert land. Lord, if it be Thy will, give me the ability to help others find Thee, and please help me to make of good use the remainder of my life.

Sincerely,

Lillian Moore.

Testimonies by Brethren Home Mission Pastors and People

RAILROAD FAMILY NOW ON THE RIGHT TRACK

By Mrs. John Summers

We are a railroad family. My husband, John, is a section foreman for the Union Pacific Railroad. His section is along the Columbia River, 33 miles east of Portland. When we were married seven years ago, he was an extra-gang foreman, and up to a year ago we lived in a bunk car right on the tracks anywhere from Portland to Huntington, Oreg. We never knew where we would be stationed or how long we would be there, so we used this as our main excuse for not attending church or for taking our boy, Richard, now five years old, to Sunday school. We always promised ourselves that when we got a permanent section we would begin attending church.

Six months after we did get permanently located, I started taking Richard. One Sunday on our way home Richard said he wasn't going to go to Sunday school any more because Daddy didn't go and he didn't have to either. Being a morally upright man, John realized that he would have to go to keep his son going.

It was at the Bridal Veil Sunday School that we met Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kluehe, members of the Grace Brethren Church in Portland. God is using them to bring the Gospel to this community. They came to our home one evening and gave us their testimony and made us realize our lost state. They invited us to attend their church and gave us their friendship. Because of them, I knelt beside my bed one day in June and asked the Lord Jesus into my heart as in Revelation 3:20.

After my salvation we drove into Portland (33 miles) every Sunday night. On July 6 John and I went forward together and publicly confessed Christ. With the help of Pastor Harris we are growing strong in our faith. We were baptized October 4 and welcomed into the membership of the Portland Grace Brethren Church.

Having the Lord Jesus in our home has truly made a change. We now give thanks for every meal, read our Bible daily, study our teacher-training course, study our Sunday-school lessons, and have family devotions every evening. We tithe, and receive blessings, and we give our precious Saviour praise for all He has done for us and for all we have in Him.

Before I was saved I was a "worrier." Now I pray, and let my Saviour carry my burdens, and the word "worry" has been taken completely out of my life. Also before I was born again I used bad language, and He has taken that away from me, too. I'm sure I am a better mother and wife now than I ever was before because I can always count on the Lord to help me with all my problems.

John gave up smoking, with the help of the Lord, and also the habit of swearing.

We are looking forward to our second child in January. We give thanks every day that this child will have a Christian home from the day it is born. We are so thankful we found Him when we did. Our boys loves Jesus, too, now. Life is so much easier when you are on the Lord's side.

Beaumont, Calif. (Gene Farrell, pastor)—

Fourteen young people came forward following a message by Rev. and Mrs. Roy Snyder when they visited Cherry Valley. Four were first-time confessions, and the others rededications. Last Sunday two other couples came for rededication of life and a young wife made her first public confession of Christ. Several other confessions of Christ were made during our Sunday-school contest. As a result of the contest many new people are coming and the opportunities are greater than ever. We need the Lord's help to meet this need.

Harrisburg, Pa. (Conard K. Sandy, pastor)—

Indeed the Lord has been very good to us. We have another public confession to report—this one making a total of four—all of which were boys and men. Last night after the service a young married couple, with two small children, accepted Christ as Saviour, and we expect them to make a public confession soon. Many unsaved people are attending, along with many from other denominations who are hindered by modernism, unbelief, and indifference in their own churches.

Chico, Calif. (Phillip J. Simmons, pastor)—

Sunday morning three of our men, with four from other churches, made up a gospel team that went to a prison camp about 15 miles away. It was a great joy to see the Holy Spirit working through the entire service, and have six men respond to the invitation to accept Christ. On a previous Sunday our hearts were thrilled to have a 70-year-old man and his wife accept Christ as Saviour.

York, Pa. (Gerald Polman, pastor)—

WE CERTAINLY ARE PRAISING THE LORD FOR THE WONDERFUL HOME - MISSION OFFERING THAT HAS COME IN THUS FAR HERE IN YORK. IT NOW STANDS AT $1 OVER DOUBLE THE GOAL, AND THE GOAL WAS SET AT 25% OVER LAST YEAR'S OFFERING. THE GOAL WAS $300, WITH $601 IN, AND MORE YET TO COME. NEEDLESS TO SAY, OUR FOLKS BELIEVE IN HOME MISSIONS.

ISRAEL CALLS!

I MEET A RABBI

By Leanore M. Button

I almost turned away from the door. The morning had been one of those seemingly fruitless ones—cold disinterest or downright refusal of the Mediator. But I noticed the card read that no previous contact had been made. Two calls previously had notations: "M NA," meaning the Mediator had been left in the door because no one answered. This time, however, the buzzer sounded (upstairs apartment) and I opened the door. At the top of the steps stood a small, gray-haired, typical Jewish man. He was smiling in a friendly way.

"I am bringing you the little paper, the Mediator," I said, as I went up the steps.

"I don't need a mediator!" he cried, throwing up his hands.

"Um, you don't? Then why did the Jewish people have a high priest and what exactly was Moses?"

He grinned. "Come in and sit down," he said. "We'll discuss this further. I am a rabbi."

When one is talking with Jewish people it is always wise not to let the conversation get out of hand. That is, it is well to do the questioning yourself and not let the other person take the initiative. This man was willing to admit the Old Testament was the Word of God. He said he believed every word of it. He at first refused to admit sin, but finally agreed that ALL men are sinners. Messiah was to come, he said. I asked him about Genesis 49:10: "The sceptre shall not depart from Judah, nor a lawgiver from between his feet, until Shiloh come; and unto him shall the gathering of the people be." He had no answer. By this time he was pacing the floor—walking back and forth, as many Jewish people do when talking about the Word of God.

We talked about the prophecies concerning the Messiah. Why, I asked him, wasn't the 53d chapter of Isaiah read in the synagogue? His answer to this was that it was written wrong. I asked him why I was doing the work he should be doing—that of witnessing—and called his attention to Isaiah 43, where it says: "Ye are my witnesses."

The Jewish people use the first chapter of Isaiah to show why they no longer need to use a blood sacrifice or any sacrifice. I told him to get his tenach (Old Testament) and we would discuss it together. He did, and surprised me by bringing out the Old Testament in English. Naturally, it was the same as mine. We read the first chapter completely and I told him God wanted sincere love from the Jewish people—He wanted their hearts and not their sacrifices—that they could not come to Him as sinners and disobedient people. If they couldn't come to Him as He asked, then He didn't want any of their "vain oblations."

We talked of the Shema. He admitted the Jewish people no longer tried to teach their children about God. Finally he went into another room and returned with a little notebook.

"Let us go to the New Testament," he said. "Jesus never claimed to be God, or Messiah." His notebook contained passages of refutation. It was the same point, mainly Matthew 19, where the rich young man came to Jesus to ask the way of eternal life. He called Jesus "Good Master" and Jesus said: "There is none good but God." I explained that He was saying in effect: "I am either God or I am not good. I'm either what I claimed to be or I'm not qualified to tell you the way of eternal life." Then I took him to Matthew 5, where Jesus actually intensified the law in Matthew 5:22 and 28, where He says: "But I say unto you . . ." Only God could change the law in this manner. Then we went to Hebrews 1:8, John 8:58, and others. Then I asked him what he thought of the Book of Romans.

"Ach!" he said. "They are wrong. They are all written wrong."

So much had been said there was no point in remaining any longer. So I took my leave. As I went downstairs he followed me, saying: "You understand my position, don't you?"

"I can see your position," I told him, "But I can't understand why you maintain it." And with that I started for the next home. As I looked back he waved, and I thought he looked old, tired, and not a little wistful.

I do see the position he is in; he has been taught to read and understand the Old Testament only in the light of the Jewish commentators. He has been taught to regard the Lord Jesus as the center of all the suffering the Jewish people have experienced. He has been taught to regard Jews who have accepted Jesus as Messiah and God as traitors who have gone over to the side of the enemy. He has been taught acceptance of Jesus as Messiah and God means rejection from the community of Israel. Again I say I can see his position. But I cannot understand why he maintains that position. This man has intelligence. He has read the Prophets time and time again. He has read the New Testament. And his attitude that day demonstrated that he had doubts in his mind relative to the position of Judaism regarding the Lord Jesus. He even seemed to wish that he might have that peace of mind which I have with regard to the sin problem. His position is that taken by so many Jews. It is a position of fear—fear of the opinion of their brethren—fear of rejection by gentile Christians.

This fear can be overcome only by LOVE. And we who love the Lord can display that love for this man that he will not be able to resist the call of the blessed Lord.

Temple City Fellowship Dinner

Temple City Appreciation Meeting

Temple City Church Nearing Completion

Field representatives of the Brethren Home Missions Council received a pleasant surprise during their November 5 visit at Temple City, Calif. First, the attractive new modern building is nearing completion. The walls are up, the roof is on, and rapid progress is now being made to complete the building for dedication for the Christmas season. The building, an innovation in home-mission architecture, is going to be one of our most practical church first units. It will house the San Gabriel Academy, and will serve as the lovely home of the Temple City Brethren Church.

Secondly, an appreciation service to the Lord and to the Brethren Home Missions Council was planned for the evening. The meeting began with a fellowship dinner, which was followed by a lively song service, words of appreciation from representatives of the various departments of the Sunday school, from the moderator of the church, from Mrs. Leila Polman, the pastor's wife, and from Dr. Francis Altig, representing the San Gabriel Academy. The words of appreciation should have been recorded, for they expressed so sincerely the heartfelt thanks of every representative group within the church and Sunday school. Dr. Grubb received the greetings and appreciation and expressed the joy of the Council in working with the Temple City Brethren in this needy home-mission field, and commended them on the splendid job being done. Rev. Pifer brought the message of the evening with pictures of the home-mission work being done and the challenges of the home-mission field.

Ground Is Broken for New Brethren Church and School

Los Altos Ground-Breaking Service on November 1, 1953

More than 200 people recently gathered on the new lots for the Los Altos, Calif., Brethren church and school, and broke ground for the beginning of construction of the new building. Largely through the vision of Dr. Charles Mayes and members of the First Brethren Church of Long Beach, Calif., this new movement was initiated.

Literally thousands of new homes have been constructed in the new area northeast of Long Beach and known as Los Altos. Through the providential working of God we were enabled to secure lots at a strategic location. On these lots, as we write, a Christian day-school building is being constructed and totally financed by the First Brethren Church of Long Beach. In this building the new Los Altos Brethren church will be holding meetings. Plans are already made for the construction of a church building in the future as the work expands.

This is only one of the unlimited opportunities for Brethren church expansion in the Los Angeles area.

CLEVELAND DEDICATES BULLETIN BOARD

The new bulletin board shown above was presented to the First Brethren Church as a gift sponsored jointly by two adult Bible classes and the Northern Ohio District SMM. The photograph was taken on a recent Sunday when a special dedication service was held for the gift. Christmas is the season when gifts claim our attention, but we are grateful to the Brethren and organizations who contribute gifts throughout the year for the benefit of Brethren home missions and ultimately for our Lord.

- B. The courteous approach (3-7).
- C. The body of the letter (8-21).
- D. The compliment (20-21).
- E. The postscript (22).
- F. The closing of the letter (23-25).

New York. Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Beaver and Misses Marybeth Munn and Mary Cripe arrived on furlough from Africa on December 1.

London, England. According to radio and press organs in Iron Curtain countries, workers have been exhorted to labor on Easter Sunday, which the Communists call "Spring Day." During the past few years, Communist regimes have abolished the observance of many Christian feast days as workless days.

Seattle, Wash. Formal organization of the View Ridge Brethren Church was completed on Sunday, Nov. 29. Rev. Tom Hammers is pastor. There were 13 charter members.

Fillmore, Calif. The new address of Rev. and Mrs. Max Brenneman is 344 Sespe, or 422 Central, if addressed to the church. Brother Brenneman has only recently sold his photography studio in Huntington Beach, Calif., and is moving to Fillmore to assume full pastoral duties at the First Brethren Church. Mrs. Brenneman is Elaine, the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Leo Polman.

Harrisburg, Pa. The Melrose Gardens Brethren Church gave their pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Conard K. Sandy, a surprise thanksgiving food shower.

Chicago, Ill. Some 500,000 are expected to attend the 48th annual Founder's Week Conference of Moody Bible Institute Feb. 1-7. Speakers will include Dr. William Ward Ayer, Rev. Alan Redpath, Dr. Jack Shuler, Miss Ruth Stull, and others.

Pittsburgh, Pa. (RNS). Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, states clerk of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., told the 50th anniversary convention of the Religious Education Association that there are "only three dynamics powerful enough to be, in the 20th century, the controlling center of education—God, American fascism, or international communism." Mr. Blake warned that unless religious leaders and groups agree to press for the "reintroduction" of God into public schools, education inevitably will waver between fascism and communism.

Taos, N. Mex. From the estate of Dr. Victor Thorne, wealthy New York physician, the executors of the Taos Foundation, Inc., have awarded the Brethren Spanish-American Mission a check in the amount of $50 to be used at Christmastime to benefit the girls and women of the mission in accordance with the Foundation's charter. Dr. Thorne has never visited the Brethren mission, nor is he known by Rev. Sam Horney, pastor.

Temple City, Calif. The following note was dropped into an offering plate on Nov. 31: "To the Temple City Brethren Church. We attended the Sunday-morning service at your schoolhouse church about nine weeks ago and observed that a new building was in the process of erection. Knowing the importance of music in the church, we made inquiry about a grand piano and found that the church did not have one. Since that time we have searched and found a piano originally valued at $2,500 which has been completely reconditioned and is now in excellent working order. When we explained the mission which the piano would fill, the owner permitted us to have it for $700. The piano has been purchased, including moving and final tuning charges, and will be placed in the church when you are ready for it. Please accept this piano as a $700 gift designated to the Temple City Brethren Church from friends who remember you daily in prayer. Anonymous."

Norwalk, Calif. A special groundbreaking service was conducted Dec. 6 for the Norwalk Brethren Church. Dr. Charles Mayes was the speaker. H. G. Rempel is pastor.

New Troy, Mich. A record attendance was set at the New Troy Brethren Church on Dec. 2 when 52 were in attendance at the midweek prayer service. Crusade Team No. 1 completed a campaign in this church only recently, and the evidence of revival continues. Rev. Richard Jackson, Jr., is pastor.

New York, N. Y. The World Day of Prayer has been set for March 5 by the American Council of Christian Churches. Programs are available to churches ordering them from the Council office, 15 Park Row, New York 38.

Canton, Ohio. The First Brethren Church had a record attendance recently on a regular Sunday when 244 were present. John Dilling is pastor.

Listie, Pa. Rev. Wayne Baker and family were honored on Nov. 25 by the congregation of the Listie Brethren Church. Brother Baker has been acting as supply pastor for the church, and in appreciation for his faithful ministry unto the Lord, the church gave him a gift of nearly $90 and gifts of foodstuffs. Rev. John Burns is the recently called pastor.

Johnstown, Pa. Dr. Robert R. Fritsch was guest speaker at the First Brethren Church, under the auspices of the Christ for Greater Johnstown Committee. Dr. W. A. Ogden is pastor.

Mansfield, Ohio. The Second Brethren Church will formally dedicate their building to the Lord on Sunday, Dec. 20. Dr. L. L. Grubb will deliver the dedicatory message. Gene Witzky is pastor.

Middlebranch, Ohio. Six first-time confessions and nine rededications were made during the recent one-week revival meeting conducted by Rev. Stanley Hauser, of Conemaugh, Pa. Rev. Edward Lewis is pastor.

Five Minutes With Your Herald Editor

The Star of Bethlehem

According to United Press, Astronomer Wagner Schlesinger, director of the Adler Planetarium in Chicago, has declared that when the three wise men saw the star of Bethlehem "they probably were witnessing a grouping of three planets." "What they probably saw was a close grouping of Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn, which happens once each 805 years, and apparently happened in 6 B. C. . . . The only Biblical reference to the star indicates that no one but the three wise men saw it," Schlesinger declared.

There are two or three things that we should carefully note before we draw any conclusions as to whether the star of Bethlehem was a natural phenomenon or a supernatural demonstration.

One should give special attention to the several phrases used by Mr. Schlesinger, such as "they probably were," "they probably saw," and "apparently happened." Does this sound scientific? Indeed not! It is pure speculation! Such statements as these would put the astronomer in a class of imposters with Simon in Acts 8 and Elymas in Acts 13.

Secondly, Mr. Schlesinger declares that these wise men were priests of Zoroaster, and were believers in astrology. On the contrary, they were the descendants of Ishmael, and they knew only too well that a star would arise out of Jacob as prophetically declared in Number 24:17. One thing is absolutely certain, and that is, they sought the Saviour with believing hearts and when they found Him, they worshiped Him and not the star that led them there.

Finally, let us notice that Mr. Schlesinger affirms that only the wise men saw the star. It is an absolute law of eternity that no man can see God except by the avenue of faith. Those wise men had the faith to follow the star, and their faith was rewarded. Unlike some modern astronomers, those wise men demonstrated their faith by associating the appearance of the unique body in the heavens with the coming of Jesus into the world.

Would it not be strange indeed that this triad of planets should leave their orbits and go "before them, till it stood over where the young child was" (Matt. 2:9)? It takes less faith to accept the supernatural demonstration of a star over Bethlehem at the time of the birth of Christ than it does to accept the theory of an astronomer that is "probably" wrong.

Old-Fashioned Paddling

Mr. John Gutknecht, prosecutor of Cook County, Illinois, recently discussed the matter of delinquency with Senators who are investigating teen-age crime in Chicago. Mr. Gutknecht told the Senators that the real problem is not juvenile delinquency, rather it is parental laxity, and that "old-fashioned paddlings" would be a very effective method of solving the problem. The county prosecutor agrees with the Scriptures: "He that spareth his rod hateth his son: but he that loveth him chasteneth him betimes" (Prov. 13:24).

Shintoism Returning in Japan

Shintoism, the former national religion which was exploited by the militarists, is making a comeback. This last October, for the first time since Shinto fell at the close of World War II, the Emperor sent an emissary to the autumn festival at Tokyo's Yasukuni Shrine, where the war dead are buried. Each subject had to pause and bow while passing. In addition to this, the government is now appropriating about 20,000,000 yen annually to guarantee the upkeep of these shrines.

While faithful missionaries have entered Japan with the Gospel, and have scored percentagewise, still they have only touched a fraction of Japan's 85,000,000 people. Pray for those who are seeking to proclaim God's Word in this irreligious nation.

What God Thinks of Santa Claus

There is a gospel tract, published by Pilgrim Tract, in which the writer demonstrates that one cannot mix Christ with falsehood any more than you can mix oil with water. The message of the tract is herewith given.

"Several years ago I was invited by a kindergarten teacher to come play Santa Claus for her pupils. I complied with her request, doing the best I could to make a success of the occasion. I had never seen children so deceived; their eyes fairly popped with wonder. I began to feel condemned for my deception. On my way home God spoke to me, saying, 'You had no business deceiving those little children like you did today.'

"One night I started to church where an evangelistic service was in progress. When I came to the door, two boys, perhaps 10 years of age, were peeping through the crack between the swinging doors. They were trying to hear and see what was going on inside. Finally one boy asked the other, 'What do you think about what they are saying in there?' The other boy came back with a ready answer. He said, 'I think it is just another Santa Claus story. You know we once thought there was a Santa, but we finally found out there wasn't, and it will be the same way with this story about Christ.'

"The Santa Claus myth is not so harmless if it serves as a Fifth Column in the heart of a child to prepare the way for the shock troops of materialism.

"A pastor of a church played the part of Santa Claus at their Christmas celebration. After the program he went to his study to change clothes. When he was changing, a small boy who had been watching him unobserved, stepped out and said, 'So, you are Santa Claus!' The pastor said, 'I guess I am.' 'Well,' said the boy, 'I am going to investigate this Jesus business a little farther to see if it isn't a fake, too.'

"In the celebration of Christmas today, the dollar mark has eclipsed the Star of the East! 'Jingle Bells' has the preference over 'Silent Night.' Millions of children are taken to worship at the mystic shrine of Santa Claus who never have or ever will hear the call to family worship."

The Arrival of the Saviour

A Radio Message by Rev. Lester E. Pifer

The prophets of the Old Testament time foresaw the coming of the Lord Jesus Christ. They looked forward with eager anticipation to the coming of one who would deliver them out of their bondage and sin. Malachi was the last of the prophets to herald the coming of the King who would bring righteousness and peace. After this voice of postexilic days died out there was no voice from heaven for nearly 400 years. During this period of time Israel turned away from God; yet even greater anticipation was built up for the One who would deliver men from their sins.

Zacharias, a priest in the temple, was about his work, and while placing the incense upon the altar, was the first to hear from heaven at the beginning of the New Testament time. Zacharias and his wife, Elizabeth, were righteous before God and were inquiring of Him that the barrenness of Elizabeth might be overcome and that she might have a man-child. They had been praying for this, and as he put the incense upon the altar, which is typical of the prayers of God's children ascending to heaven, an angel appeared to make a startling announcement. God was going to honor the prayers of His children and Elizabeth would bring forth a son which was to be called John. John, who was later called John the Baptist, was to be the forerunner of the great Messiah King, the fulfillment of the desire of all Israel.

Six months later another messenger was sent from heaven to announce to Mary, the cousin of Elizabeth, that the child Jesus was to be borne by her. This marvelous birth, a miracle in the physical realm as well as the spiritual, would be the manner of the birth of Christ, just as Isaiah of old had prophesied so clearly many years before.

Following the decree of Caesar Augustus, Mary and Joseph traveled from Nazareth to the city of David, Bethlehem. Luke tells us the following: "And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn" (Luke 2:7).

Note the earthly conditions surrounding this marvelous birth. "There was no room for them in the inn." What was the inn? When we read that, we may think the reference was to a caravansary, a hostel, or, in our modern language, a hotel. That is not the meaning of the word

Rev. Lester Pifer

"inn." There are two words in the New Testament used for the word "inn." One is pandocheion, meaning a "caravansary," "a place with a host," and "provisions and apartments."

Then there is another word, kataluma, which was a mere enclosure by the side of the road where the shepherds stopped with their flocks. There was water, always water, but no food, no host, no entertainment. There was no room even in the enclosure for cattle.

What happened then? In the supreme hour which permits no delay, they had to find some place for a dwelling, and there the baby was born, and the mother laid Him in a manger. No palace, no dwelling place, no caravansary, no room even in the kataluma. He was born outside of everything, even the place where the cattle might be sheltered through the night. So He came. The glory of it—the wonder of it! When He came He passed the court, and passed the palace, and He passed the dwelling place, and passed the inn, and was born into this world so low down that no baby can even be born lower.

Then notice the pathos of the main part of the verse. "She brought forth . . . and wrapped him in swaddling clothes." It is very beautiful, but oh the pity of it; the tragedy of it; the loneliness of it; that in that hour of all hours, when womanhood should be surrounded by the tenderest care, she was alone. The method of the physician-writer is distinct. She with her own hands wrapped the boy with those swaddling clothes and laid Him in the manger. There was no one to do it for her. Again I say, the pity of it, and yet the glory of it to the heart of Mary. When I was thinking of this, there came to me the memory of something Jesus once said, and never before had it occurred to me in this connection. It must be that Jesus was thinking of His own mother. "A woman when she is in travail hath sorrow, because her hour is come: but when she is delivered of her child, she remembereth no more the anguish, for the joy that a man is born into the world" (John 16:21). That surely was the story of Mary, especially in the light of the fact that this was the Son of God.

The phrase, "no room in the inn," is characteristic of many in this day. Christ has come that He might have a place of preeminence in our lives and yet so little room is given. Many are like the innkeepers there at Bethlehem when they must have replied to Joseph on several times, "No—no room!" The Saviour comes and begs admission to the heart's door and yet so comparatively few allow Him to come in.

But why all this sacrifice on the part of the Son of God? What was the reason for it? Was it necessary? The Scripture answers the questions. Yes, it was necessary. Note what the angel said when the announcement was given to Joseph. "But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream saying, Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost. And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins" (Matt. 1:20-21). In this word from the messenger the purpose of the coming of Christ is stated in plain words. "For he shall save his people from their sins." Every step of the life of our Lord, from His conception here on earth to the last breath and even the last word, was ordained of His Father for the purpose of saving men out of their sin.

There are some who think that to talk about the awfulness and terrible conditions of sin is distasteful in these modern days. But awful, terrible, filthy, or distasteful, or however it is, the Word of God must be proclaimed. Jeremiah, the prophet of the last days of the Israelite kingdom just before the southern captivity, said, "The heart is deceitful and desperately wicked, who can know it?" Paul said, "There is none righteous, no, not one," and "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." These passages and many others indicate the condition of unsaved mankind. Man in this condition cannot help himself. He must lean on the arm of God. He must be saved by the grace of God. He must accept the work of God in salvation. Anything that he would do would be tainted with sin. Anything that he might think would be perverted by a sinful mind. God knew all this, and it was in love that He sent His only begotten Son to die in our stead.

Therefore, when Christ came into this world as a babe in the manger, He came to die. That was the sum total of His purpose in coming into this world of sin and woe. He came to do for mankind what they could not possibly do for themselves. And in doing so He was manifesting the grace and love of God, grace and love such as this old world never had seen before and known. Everything about the birth of Christ seems to indicate this. The clothing that was wrapped about Him, "swaddling clothes" were grave clothes. The gifts of frankincense and myrrh were often used as spices at the time of death. Even the words of the angel rang in the heart of Mary and Joseph having known that He was going to die for men in order to pay the price for men's sins.

The Apostle Paul knew what it was to walk in sin. He knew the de-

Holiday

Tinsel dust, and star-shine, and moonlight on the snow,
These are things we think of as we remember Him;
Wreaths and scarlet ribbons, a candle's fitful glow,
Now are symbols of the One who walked gray roads and dim.

Colorless and rugged, the fields wind-swept and brown;
All the land was darkened on that first Christmas night,
Save one lone star gleaming; but now in each small town
Casements glow and trees shine, where baubles glitter bright.

Bethlehem or Nazareth, or any town He knew,
Was not lighted for Him through all His earthly house;
Now men thread the cities with jewels, through and through,
Draping streets and parkways with blinding fireflowers.

Lonely and forsaken, rejected and despised,
Christ, the Man of Sorrows, went on His quiet way.
Does He now, I wonder, turn grave and questing eyes Back along the old roads, as we keep holiday?

—Grace Noll Crowell.

livering power of God. He tells us in the Corinthian epistle, "Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift." Paul remembered well that day on the Damascus road when he met the Saviour face to face and when he bowed his face in the dust and humbly said, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" He felt the surge of power of God unto salvation and the release that came from the bondage of his sin. Then he knew well the eternal joys which came with numberless blessings in those days which followed after his conversion. He traveled long and far, much of the way being hard and difficult, but always there was the smile upon his face, the radiance that comes from a heart that glows from the Gospel. The gift was so magnificent, so broad in scope, large in value, so infinite that he could only say, "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift."

I read a story sometime ago of a little boy whose father was away in the war. Christmas was approaching, and all the other children in the neighborhood were talking about the toys that they wanted for Christmas. One of the kind men in the neighborhood noted that the boy seemed sad and more or less disinterested in the idea of toys, and so he asked the little fellow, "Son, would you like a nice big red truck for Christmas?" The boy answered, "Nope." Then the man ventured again, "Son, I want to give you the biggest and best gift you have ever received—you name it." The boy answered, "I don't want any toy; I want my daddy home for Christmas." The man felt sorry for the little fellow and he proceeded to get a nice big red truck for him. On Christmas morning the neighbor went over to the little fellow's house and watched him open his gifts—many nice toys and finally the big red truck. His eyes opened wide and finally he said very politely, "Thank you." Just then the door opened and in walked his daddy. The boy leaped to his feet and grabbed his daddy by the legs and hugged and hugged him. Tears streamed down his little face, but he couldn't say a word. He was speechless at the presence of the best gift a little fellow could have.

This is the attitude that should be present in our hearts today. Multiply over and over the joy of that little fellow and you might come just a little closer to the joy that you can have if you have Jesus as your Saviour. Will you accept Him today?

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS PROCLAMATION

"What will he be when he grows up?" "What influence will his life have upon the world?" What mother and father have not asked these questions as they lovingly fondled the little new-born babe which God has given them? History is replete with men who have risen from humble beginnings to stellar heights—men who will be remembered for many years for their great contributions to society. Men like Abraham Lincoln, Benjamin Franklin, and Thomas Edison have changed the course of nations by their accomplishments. The path to success is not easy—it is fraught with many brambles, seemingly insurmountable obstacles, and many "dead ends." One must be entirely devoted to his task if he is to win in the end, and sometimes victory is not recognized until after the victor is gone.

So it was to be in the life and ministry of that new-born babe lying in the stable manger in the little town of Bethlehem. However, Mary and Joseph were not left to wonder concerning the destiny of this, Mary's child. Soon after Joseph heard of the child's conception, an angel of Jehovah appeared to him in a dream and assured him of Mary's purity, the divine conception of the child by the Holy Spirit, the safe delivery of the baby, His name, and the mission set before Him. "And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins" (Matt. 1:21). What a mission! Let us note quickly the mission set before this little babe who was indeed God, come in the flesh.

1A. The Great Need for a Champion.

All the world was under the rule of Rome. The ravages of sin were evident everywhere. The world was so deep in sin that even the Jews, those commissioned by God to represent Him before men, had sunk to such spiritual depths that only a small remnant maintained the messianic hope. Surely every thinking person will conclude that man's own efforts to deal with the "sin question" had failed miserably. Not spiritual evolution, but definite spiritual devolution characterized man's history from the time of Adam to the birth of Jesus. God's holy law was indifferently broken or twisted to fit the purposes of the religious leaders. The spirit of the law was completely lost and the letter of the law had become an intolerable burden upon the people. The Messiah had been lost sight of, for the scribes and Pharisees selfishly searched the Scriptures, not with an open heart to God's message to them, but only to validate the "traditions of the elders."

(MATTHEW 1:21)

By James Dixon, Washington, D. C.

It was into this spiritual chaos that our Saviour came as the infant Jesus. His task—"to save His people from their sins."

2A. The Great Purpose of Jesus' Life.

"He shall save his people from their sins" (Matt. 1:21). "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost" (Matt. 18:11). John tells us, "He came unto his own, but his own received him not" (John 1:11). Herod, certainly a tool of Satan himself, sought to slay Him in His infancy. The religious leaders hated Him, for He pierced their thin veneer of piety and disclosed the true condition of their hearts—hard, selfish, and unregenerate. The multitude vacillated between adulation and hate, seeking only one who would minister to their fleshly needs. Thus it has been with mankind ever since. The masses superficially acknowledge Jesus, the man, while rejecting Christ the Saviour. "We will not have this man to rule over us."

But John also tells us that "as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (John 1:12). John the Baptist pointed his own disciples to Jesus as "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." Eleven of the twelve disciples received Him. Paul, when faced with the risen Jesus, cried, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" From that time on Paul preached everywhere that "Jesus was the Christ." Then there was the small remnant who believed that this Jesus was even who He said He was—the Messiah, the Son of God. You too, friend, can be in this group if you but believe that Jesus is the Christ.

3A. The Importance of His Mission.

The importance of His mission is epitomized in Acts 4:12, "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." Jesus is the only One who could save His people from their sins.

4A. The Accomplishment of His Mission.

Many "modern" religious leaders say today that Jesus was "unfortunately cut down at the height of His career before He could accomplish His mission." Nothing could be farther from the truth. The great need of man for a champion who could "save his people from their sins" was met when Jesus gave His life on Calvary's hill. His mission was accomplished. He had paid in full our debt to God. He had made atonement for our sins. He had given himself in death as the substitute for all mankind who would by faith identify themselves with Him.

Paul declares He was the One "in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins" (Col. 1:14). Jesus' victory is summarized by Paul, "For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous. . . . That as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might grace reign through righteousness unto eternal life by Jesus Christ our Lord" (Rom. 5:19-21).

5A. The Great Results of Jesus' Mission.

These can best be summarized in the words of Paul: "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ: by whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we

A HUMBLE BEGINNING--A CROWNING END

(LUKE 2:7)

By Paul E. Dick, Winchester, Va.

Rev. Paul Dick

"And she brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn" (Luke 2:7). The very suggestion of this verse brings to our minds the birth of Christ and the Christmas season and all that accompanies it. When we think of Christmas we think of many things including the snowfall, welcomed by some and hated by others. Each tiny snowflake composes a pattern as intricate and beautiful as that of the finest lace and yet it yields itself unresistingly to our heedless feet. The snowflakes are not intent on proudly preserving their delicate beauty but, by cooperation with each other, they perform a service. They provide a protective blanket for vegetation and every year deposit minerals worth many dollars on the acres of ground.

Is it possible that the little things in life are of far more value than we realize? Who would ever have thought that the birth of a child in a stable with many unusual surroundings would determine the destiny of every human being in the course of world history? And yet, this is exactly what has happened. Our acceptance or rejection of the Lord Jesus Christ, born of a virgin and crucified for our sins, will determine our fate for eternity.

The manner in which the Lord Jesus Christ came into the world characterized His entire life and ministry. It was an entrance of humility.

I. Humility Defined.

It would seem to be the attitude growing out of the proper evaluation of self in relation to God and to one's fellow men. Philip Brooks said, "The true way to be humble is not to stoop until you are smaller than yourself, but to stand at your real height against some higher nature that will show you what the real smallness of your greatness is. Humility is the taking our place in God's presence as believers to be nothing but a mote dwelling in the sunlight of His love."

II. The Supreme Example of Humility—The Lord Jesus Christ!

He said, "Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart" (Matt. 11:29). He, the Creator and Sustainer of the universe, deigned to be born the helpless, sinless baby of the Virgin Mary. He, the owner of all wealth, said, "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head" (Matt. 8:20). Then in Isaiah 40:11, 15 we have a striking contrast between His humility and greatness as we read of Him, "He shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with young. . . . Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the small dust of the balance: behold, he taketh up the isles as a very little thing."

It was the Creator of the world—before whom every knee shall bow—who washed His disciples' feet. Oh, what love and condescension! In John 13:3-5, 12-16 we read, "Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he was come from God, and went to God; he riseth from supper, and laid aside his garments; and took a towel, and girded himself. After that he poured water into a bason, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded. . . . So after he had washed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was set down again, he said unto them, Know ye what I have done to you? Ye call me Master and Lord; and ye say well; for so I am. If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet. For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you. . . . The servant is not greater than his lord; neither he that is sent greater than he that sent him."

The great example of our Lord's humiliation is supremely evident when He, the source of life, died on Calvary's cruel cross for the remission of sins. This event brought to a crowning finish His work of redemption. This is vividly expressed in Paul's letter to the church at Philippi in Philippians 2:6-8, "Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross."

As we come to the Christmas season may we remind ourselves anew that the Babe of the manger, the Lord Jesus Christ, God manifest in the flesh, humbled himself and became obedient unto death on the cross, that we who were sinners and lost, might have eternal life by trusting in His finished work. The Lord Jesus Christ is God's gift to us if we will trust Him by faith as our own Saviour. Will you receive Christ now as your Saviour?

stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God" (Rom. 5:1-2); and, "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus" (Rom. 8:1).

No more enmity, no more condemnation, but a wonderful abiding peace which issues forth into sweet fellowship with God and with one another.

Beloved, this peace has been the goal of all men throughout the centuries. Torn within and without by fears and selfishness, man has "fought" his way "toward peace," but has never found it. This peace is found only by the one who comes to God by faith believing that Jesus is God's only begotten Son who came to "save his people from their sins," and who recognizes that he is one for whom Christ died. "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name."

Annuities—Investments for Eternity

WHAT IS AN ANNUITY?

Here is an example of an annuity. In the good providence of the Lord a man has $1,000 he would like to give to some worthy cause. However, his need for an income makes it impossible to give this money before his death. He finally decides to purchase an annuity bond from some institution. The contract drawn up states that the principal is a gift to this institution and also that the giver shall receive a fixed rate of interest during the remainder of his life. The principal is safeguarded during the lifetime of the giver by being invested in protected property rights. At his death the principal is fully released for the use of the institution.

WHY INVEST IN BRETHREN ANNUITY BONDS?

1. They provide a regular income similar to income from other types of bonds.
2. They provide a secure income because the principal is invested in protected property rights as long as the donor lives.
3. They pay a higher rate of interest than most other investments because there are no paid field representatives.
4. They provide a definite means of making Jesus Christ known as the only Saviour and Lord of life.
5. They give a sense of satisfaction to the giver in that he has promoted the Brethren faith which blessed his own soul.

WHAT IS THE RATE OF ANNUAL RETURNS?

The rate of interest is computed on the basis of the age when the annuity bond is purchased.

Up to age 54—	5%	65-69—	6½%
55-59—	5½%	70-74—	7%
60-64—	6%	75-79—	7½%
		80 or above—	8%

THE ANNUAL OFFERING

And the Needs of the School

By Paul R. Bauman, Vice President

This is the season set aside for Grace Theological Seminary and College to make its needs known among the churches of our National Fellowship, and for the churches themselves to receive a special offering for the work of the school. Some may be wondering just what the needs are at this time, especially in view of the offerings that have been sent to the school during the year through the Monthly Finance Plan.

The estimated cost for operational expense as originally set up in the school's budget was $72,000 for the year, or $6,000 per month. This was the amount considered necessary for the General Fund only, and did not include the amounts needed for such items as furnishings, sidewalks, shrubbery, grading the roads and campus, seeding the lawn, etc. All these items were paid for, if possible, by special gifts.

The figures below show the receipts of the school for its General Fund during the first 11 months of 1953. Month by month they were as follows:

January .....	$4,775.15
February .....	5,820.91
March .....	9,082.42
April .....	7,412.95
May .....	2,987.25
June .....	4,270.08
July .....	3,773.41
August .....	5,324.37
September .....	4,956.83
October .....	3,644.33
November .....	2,363.01

Total receipts to General Fund..... $54,410.71

ATTENTION PASTORS, FINANCIAL SECRETARIES, OR CHURCH TREASURERS

If you have not ordered a supply of envelopes for your annual offering to Grace Theological Seminary and College, or if you need monthly plan envelopes, special church bulletin covers, and letters, please address your request to the school immediately. Or, if you need an additional supply of any of the above items, please let us know. Boost Grace especially during the coming month.

From the above figures, it is evident that the amount necessary to complete the budget for 1953 amounts to $17,589.29. This might be properly called the school's minimum need, for the necessary expenditures from the General Fund during the year have shown that, with its expanding program, Grace Theological Seminary and College must have more than the originally estimated $6,000 per month to fully care for its needs.

How can the educational program of the Brethren Church be cared for? The answer is really not difficult for a church the size of ours. There are two things just now that every member of the church can do: (1) Give a substantial offering to Grace Seminary and College through your local church in December and January; (2) Secure a packet of monthly offering envelopes immediately, and contribute something each month to the work of the school.

Gifts to Grace Seminary and College are investments in lives—the lives of those who “go for us” and the lives of the thousands to whom they go. Will you pray about this need, and then give as the Lord directs?

Theological Training in the Laboratory of Experience

Note: Recently at the school a chapel service was given over to the members of the Practical Works Department. Members of the student body and faculty alike were thrilled by the reports and testimonies given at this service. The editor has asked some of those who spoke to tell something of the work being done each week by the students representing different aspects of the work. As the magazine goes to press two of our young women are spending a considerable amount of time at the county courthouse in Warsaw, having gone at the request of a woman who is standing trial for the murder of her husband. The girls, Miss Eva Godfrey and Miss Rosella Cochran, visited her at the county jail, and she found in them the kind of counsel and friendship one needs most in the greatest crises of life. Perhaps more of the story can be told next month. In the meantime, consider some of the thrilling experiences our students are having.—P. R. B.

WHAT PRACTICAL CHRISTIAN WORK DOES FOR THE STUDENT

By Don F. Locke, Student Director

We who stay in Winona Lake the year around always welcome the sight of new students who arrive early for the school year, and we do our best to interest them immediately in our Practical Works Department.

Such was the case of Jacques Crapuchettes when he came to us last summer. He had been here only a short time until he was accompanying us on our Saturday-night street meetings. His first night out we asked him to lead in prayer as a part of the service, and he consented. We arrived, set up our equipment, conducted our meeting, and then left. As we journeyed home Jacques said, "Boys, I have a confession to make. If I had known that you were taking me to a street meeting I never would have gone. I thought you fellows were having a meeting in a church."

You can imagine our surprise. "What is wrong with street meetings, Jacques?" we asked. "Nothing," he replied, "only I had intended to wait until I had more schooling before taking part in such activities." "Why," we said, "we thought maybe you would like to preach for us next Saturday night." "Oh! I could never do that," he answered, swallowing hard. "I would only hinder the work." To make a long story short, Jacques preached his first sermon on the street corner just three weeks later. Now no one forced him to do this, for our practical work is all voluntary. But by the time school started Jacques was going every Sunday to the Plymouth hospital and jail. Just last week he graciously consented to take charge of street meeting activities.

Jacques is only one of many such students who come to Grace. How we can praise God for a school that teaches the Holy Scripture in all its truth and also encourages a program whereby the student can apply himself as he learns.

As a Brethren student, I feel it a great honor to be able to share in supporting and maintaining such a school. Certainly Grace College and Seminary is sending forth the light of Christ into a world of darkness.

Won't you ask God what He would have you do to help support this school? May God bless you all.

A MURDERER LED TO CHRIST

By George E. Cone and Donald Tschetter

One Sunday afternoon as I entered the cell block of the Columbia City Jail, I was faced by a man who had his head swathed in bandages and a bitter look upon his face. He had killed his wife and attempted to kill himself. He was hard and unyielding in his attitude the first Sunday that I met him. As I read the Word and discussed the plan of salvation and prayed, he was not interested.

After several more visits to the jail, Ralph Leedy began to soften, by the work of the Spirit, and soon he made a profession of Christ. I did not have faith to believe that it was real, but the next Sunday the change in the man proved to me that he had met Jesus. Just through the simple plan of salvation and his interest in the Word, he gave up his bad habits, became a mild-mannered man, and was resigned to the will of the Lord for his life. Even the sheriff's wife noticed the change in him as she brought the meals each day, and her comment to me regarding the man was very encouraging.

Ralph was sentenced to life in the Michigan City prison. During the following summer, I received a letter from him telling me that he was reading the Word, praying, and witnessing for the Lord. He had given himself wholly over to the Lord and promised that if he were to ever be released, he would go into the work of the Lord for the rest of his life, but if he wasn't released, he would serve the Lord there in the prison.

I didn't hear from Ralph again, but this good word comes from one of those who is now going to the jail each Sunday.

Probably one of the greatest sources of encouragement in soulwinning is to realize that the person to whom we witnessed has accepted Christ and is giving evidence of the fact by his own life. Such is true in the life of Ralph Leedy as pertains to John J. Hall. I met Mr. Hall in the Columbia City jail a few days after he had been led to the Lord by the Gideons in that city. This man had truly come to the end of himself—and realized that his life was meaningless and endless apart from Jesus Christ. He related to us that during his imprisonment at Michigan City, Ralph Leedy had spoken to him about his need of Christ many times and had taken him aside to pray with him. He had, however, refused to accept Christ during that time. He was now rejoicing that he could go back to Michigan City, where he was again to be imprisoned, and tell Ralph that he too knew the Lord as his personal Saviour. Surely it is true that we are not always conscious of the length to which our testimony will be used of the Lord. It encourages us to be faithful in this work.

"PERSUADING MEN" AT THE NURSING HOME

By Herman H. Hein, Jr.

Having served three years for the Lord in the Alfran Nursing Home, near Pierceton, Ind., witnessing and preaching for those dear old folks, I wish to pass on to those of you who will be carrying on the work a few precious gems.

Winning those who are well along in years to the Lord Jesus Christ is a work that requires much time and not a little patience, along with a great deal of prayer. This can be said from experience, having seen at least five aged men make professions of faith during my three years of service there, four of them at my invitation personally.

The secret of this work is learning who is unsaved, then selecting one of them by the guidance of the Spirit. Visit this one every Sunday afternoon, winning his confidence, showing him that you have a personal interest in him and his soul. Don't give up dealing with that one until you see him come to the Lord. It can be done.

I am thinking of one Mr. Clark who always would come almost to the place of acceptance, then refuse. Seven long months this went on until one Sunday afternoon he could fight God no longer, and he gave his heart to the Lord Jesus Christ. That man's face and life show that he is a new creature in Christ, and his testimony rings true to the Word of God.

I have found at this nursing home work a real outlet for service for my Lord, and am happy to be able to tell a little of my experiences there. I want to take this opportunity to praise our dear Lord and Saviour for what He has done for me since I have been at Grace Seminary.

PRESENT WORK AT THE NURSING HOME

By Ernest Lee

My aim is to present the procedure of the work at the nursing home and some of the difficulties involved. We have about one and one-half hours at the home. For those who are able to gather we have a 45-minute service similar to our Sunday-morning worship services including singing of favorite hymns, Scripture reading, prayer, special music, testimonies, and a short message from God's Word. Only a few can come, but others can hear through our loud-speaker system.

During the other 45 minutes we deal personally with the patients, reading the Word to them and praying with them. Some of the saints are often an encouragement to us as well as being encouraged by us.

The chief difficulties lie in the condition of the patients. Many no longer retain their reasoning faculties and so cannot understand the Gospel; others are so filled with false doctrines as "sinless perfection" and "salvation by works" that they cannot see the truth. Finally, many have hearts so hardened that they will not listen. Only last Sunday when I went to speak to one man he said, "Go on, get out of here!"

Despite these difficulties the team has experienced the joy of seeing fruit from their labors. Some souls have been saved, and others have been strengthened. We who labor have profited by learning needed lessons in patience and faith, for in this work, especially, the Lord must be depended upon for results.

HOSPITAL VISITATION AND PASTORAL WORK

By Jack Peters

I praise the Lord for Grace Theological Seminary and that the Lord led me here for further preparation for His service. I received the impression somewhere that Grace Seminary was noted for its critical handling of the Word of God and that not much emphasis was placed on practical work, such as the work of the gospel teams, etc.

Shortly after arriving at Grace, I realized that I had received the wrong impression, and I was happy to learn that the school had a Practical Works Department in which the students participated in various types of Christian service. Immediately after learning of such a work in the school, I inquired and was assigned to the McDonald Hospital in Warsaw. I shall never forget the rich blessings that I received each Lord's Day in ministering to those who were ill. It was wonderful to watch the Lord work after we had prayed and asked the Lord to lead us to some needy soul. There were many who made decisions for Christ.

I now have the privilege of being a student pastor of a wonderful little church. Now, as never before, I appreciate the practical experience that I had with the Practical Works Department of Grace Seminary at the McDonald Hospital. Not long ago I had the privilege of calling on a friend of one of my parishioners, who was ill. This man made a decision for Christ, and the next week this dear man went to be with the Lord. I praise the Lord for the many gems of truth that I have laid hold on in the classrooms of Grace Seminary and also for the practical experience that I have received at the same time.

PREACHING ON THE STREET CORNER

By Earle E. Peer

It happened eight years ago on a cold winter night. Saturday, November 3, 1945, was the night that our Bro. George Hoagland was born into the kingdom of God at the conclusion of a street meeting conducted by the students of Grace Seminary. A revival meeting was in progress at the Sidney Brethren Church, but Mr. Hoagland was careful to avoid these services. This particular night Mr. Hoagland was sitting in a cigar store in Warsaw with a group of men who were playing cards and smoking. Hearing the music, Mr. Hoagland went out on the street corner to listen to the students from the seminary sing and testify. It was not the singing nor the sermon preached that night which brought our brother to the Lord, but the faithful witnessing of a student who pressed home to his heart his need of knowing Jesus Christ. There on the street corner he was saved; he never again entered that cigar store! Brother Hoagland is one of the most faithful members of the Sidney church today. His favorite song is, "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder." I'm sure of this! When the roll is called up yonder, Brother Hoagland will be there because of the testimony of the street-meeting team on a wintry November night.

Hospital visitation has brought me new joys, blessing, and challenges in serving my Lord—joys, blessings, and challenges which I never had experienced before since I have known the Lord as my Saviour. Visiting at the bedside of those in the hospital has afforded me the opportunity of witnessing to the saving grace of Christ. This I had longed to do but had not been able to realize it before in such a manner.

Not only have I had the privilege of visiting the unsaved in the hospital, but I have met with many who have professed to know the Lord as their Saviour, yet who have not had the assurance that they could know now that they would go to heaven. To one lady in particular I was able to show from John 5:24 that we can know now that we have eternal life and are assured of heaven when we die. It was indeed a joy to have her thank me over and over again for helping her to see the truth from God's Word.

I also had the privilege of talking to another lady who thought that if she would have enough faith she would be saved. When I told her from Scripture that it is by faith in the Lord Jesus and by His righteousness which is put to our account we are justified by God, she was able to trust fully in Christ for her salvation.

People like these two and many more are contacted for the Lord from week to week by others and myself as we visit in the hospital.

ALUMNUS MAKING GOOD IN HOME MISSIONS

Meet Rev. Lester Smitley, of Parkersburg, W. Va. Brother Smitley came to Grace from the Bethel Brethren Church at Berne, Ind., having completed his college training.

Lester Smitley

After graduating from Grace Seminary with the class of 1952, he took his family and moved to Parkersburg, where he was able to obtain a job in a Sears and Roebuck Company store. At that time he was developing a new Brethren church. They have been meeting in a community hall in the city of Parkersburg, and in recent months have found a suitable location which they have purchased to erect a new home-mission church. This is a type of the pioneering spirit that is paying off with new Brethren churches in many of our cities today. Brother Smitley is expected to give his full time to the pastoral work approximately January 1, 1954.

WHERE DID WE GET OUR CALENDAR?

Our modern calendar, which numbers the years from the birth of Christ, was introduced by the Roman abbot, Dionysius Exiguus, in the sixth century. It came into general use two centuries later during the reign of Charlemagne. Testimony is borne to the incarnation of Christ every time we write the date 1953 A. D. (Anno Domine, "in the year of the Lord"). The previous system of dating numbered the years from the founding of the city of Rome. When the present calendar was adopted, the year 1 A. D. was made to correspond to 754 A. U. (Anno Urbis, "in the year of the city").—Prof. Homer Kent, Jr.

THOSE THREE ASHLAND ALUMNI

Donald Farner

Harold Morr

Donald Bishop

At the commencement service last spring, the West Tenth Street Brethren Church of Ashland, Ohio, was distinguished by having three young men graduate at the same time. They were Donald Bishop, Donald Farner, and Harold Morr. In the work they have undertaken since graduation, they illustrate very well the various avenues of service that are open today for young men who are trained for the job.

Brother Bishop and his wife have been approved by the Foreign Missionary Society for service in Argentina. Just now they are in the Pacific Northwest engaged in deputation work. They will return to Winona Lake shortly after January 1 and are making preparations to sail for South America in March. Pray that all the doors will be opened for their entry.

Bro. Don Farner has undertaken to develop the new church in Sidney, Ohio, and is working there on a self-supporting basis. The Brethren Home Missions Council is working with the Southern Ohio District Mission Board in this new venture. Temporarily the people are meeting in a hall.

Harold Morr (Chaplain Harold F. Morr, 720 Putnam Ct., Lackland Village, San Antonio, Tex.) has received his commission as a chaplain in the United States Air Force and is now stationed at the Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio, Tex. In a recent letter to his pastor, Rev. Miles Taber, Harold tells of the blessings the Lord has been showering upon him and another chaplain with whom he is working. Here are some excerpts from his interesting letter:

"In the first place I have a new chaplain to work with. He is a Southern Baptist and is also interested in bringing the lost to Christ. . . .

"We have located two talented men to play the organ and piano. The one played with Billy Graham for six months. We did away with the ritualistic program and launched into a new evangelistic emphasis. . . . You can imagine the thrill of hearing the men sing, "Do Lord," as they march along while training. Often one can hear the words of a chorus floating through the night as the men sing in the showers and barracks. . . .

"Our attendance is increasing each week. . . . We have two services on Sunday, one at 0800 and one at 0900, and the Wednesday-evening service. Last Wednesday night the chapel was overcrowded. During the invitation approximately half of the 350 men held up their hands and admitted if they should die that night they would go to hell. Soon my heavy heart was rejoicing when over 40 of the men crowded into the aisle to come forward. The place was so full we dismissed the rest so those who desired could come forward.

"We have visible results in almost every service. I believe this is only the beginning of a great harvest the Lord has for us here. The job is big and our responsibilities are tremendous. Constantly we realize our inabilities and our helplessness without His power. We need your continued prayers."

Pray for these three young men, and remember that your gifts to Grace Seminary at this time and throughout the year are making it possible for others like them to enter fields of service for Christ around the world.

SUPERSTITION ABOUNDS IN THESE DAYS

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt

The following paragraph is quoted verbatim from a brochure on baptism taken from the Fides Album, a Roman Catholic publication prepared for the laity. It reads:

"The power of water when used with the invocation of the Holy Trinity is wondrous. Several years ago, in a large city hospital, a baby was born whose survival was doubtful. His mother wished him to be baptized a Christian at once. It was, coincidentally, Christmas night. Few people were in the hospital, and they were all non-Catholic. Finally, a young lady, an interne, who was not even a Christian, took water, poured it over the head of the little baby, saying, 'I baptize you in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.' She was a nonbeliever (who, incidentally, later became a Catholic), but she had baptized the baby validly. The child was now a Christian, capable of beatitude. The water and the invocation of the Holy Trinity had done their work. These essentials suffice for a valid baptism in the time of emergency."

How amazing that this superstition can be propagated and people will believe it, and people who boast intelligence. But how wonderful to know that despite the ritual of pouring water and reciting an invocation, the child was already saved from the only guilt he had, namely, that of Adamic sin, by the blood of Christ. And how wonderful to know that the blood of Jesus Christ clears away the guilt of Adamic sin in every human being, for the work of Christ on the cross went just as deep and just as far as the sin of Adam (Rom. 5:18).

THE CALL OF ABRAHAM AND HIS TESTINGS

By John C. Whitcomb, Jr.

The Book of Genesis is clearly divided into two main sections. The first 11 chapters deal with the history of the human race, and the last 39 chapters deal with the family of Abraham. In the 12th chapter, therefore, God turns our attention from a rebellious humanity recently scattered by the judgment of Babel to this one family through which the Saviour of the world would ultimately come. Let us examine now the all-important call of Abraham, recorded in the first three verses of chapter 12:

"Now the Lord had said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee: and I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing; and I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all the families of the earth be blessed."

Sacrifices and Promises

In the first verse we find God calling upon Abraham to make a threefold sacrifice, which would have staggered a man of lesser faith: "Get thee out of (1) thy country, (2) and from thy kindred, (3) and from thy father's house." To leave relatives, friends, and familiar surroundings for the sake of God is often one of the most difficult aspects of missionary work today. The Book of Hebrews immortalizes this deed when it says that "by faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went" (11:8).

But God's requirements and calls for personal sacrifice are always more than compensated by promises of blessing. How infinitely true this was for Abraham! The threefold promise of God involved (1) a land, (2) a seed, and (3) a blessing. These may be found in the words "unto a land that I will shew thee: and I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing." The entire life story of Abraham may be gathered about these three focal points in the call of God. Concerning each one of these promises, Abraham was severely tested, that his faith in God might be purified and come forth as gold.

The Land

Notice first of all how Abraham was tested concerning the promise of the land. No sooner did Abraham, Sarah, and Lot arrive in Canaan than they discovered that "the Canaanite was then in the land" (12:6). As though the presence of these wicked people was not enough to shake his faith, "the promised land" was soon smitten with a famine so grievous that he had to escape to Egypt (12:10). And when he returned from Egypt with Lot, "the land was not able to bear them, that they might dwell together" (13:6). Furthermore, the land was soon invaded by kings from the east, and Abraham was forced to rush to Lot's rescue (14:14). Even until the day of his death, the only plot of ground in Canaan that he could legally call his own was the field of Machpelah, which he purchased from a Hittite to bury Sarah (23:19)!

The Seed

But Abraham was also tested concerning the promise of a seed. God had said to him, "I will also make of thee a great nation" (12:2). But in the face of this clear promise, Abraham had to admit that Sarah was barren and that Eliezer of Damascus would be his heir (15:2). Ten years later, Ishmael was born of Hagar, but God would not accept him as the promised seed (17:18-19). And then, when Isaac, the promised seed, did finally come, God told Abraham to take him to a high mountain, and there offer him as a burnt-offering (22:2)!

The Blessing

Finally, Abraham was tested concerning this promise: "thou shalt be a blessing." Now with this in mind, think of Abraham's experience in Egypt. He lied to Pharaoh concerning Sarah, and as a result Pharaoh's house was smitten with great plagues (12:17)! No sooner did he return to Canaan, after having been expelled ignominiously from Egypt (12:20), than his herdsmen got into a bitter quarrel with Lot's herdsmen, and the two men had to separate (13:7). Still later, he lied to Abimelech about Sarah and brought sorrow to the entire royal household of the Philistines (20:9)!

The Fulfillment

But faith triumphed over all of these bitter testings, and Abraham, with the other patriarchs, "died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth" (Heb. 11:13). From the vantage point of subsequent history and prophecy, we can see that the land which God promised to Abraham actually did become the possession of his descendants, and shall yet become theirs in the fullest sense (Amos 9:15). As for the promised seed, we discover that not only the physical descendants of Abraham, but also all those who share in his saving faith are counted as his children (Gal. 3:7), thus multiplying his seed "as the sand which is upon the sea shore" (Gen. 22:17). And as for the blessing, who could have realized that our Lord Jesus Christ, "the son of Abraham" (Matt. 1:1), would be in the deepest sense Abraham's seed (Gal. 3:16), through whom all the families of the earth would be blessed!

Let us learn, as Abraham learned, that God's ways are best and that His promises, though long delayed, will never fail. "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!" (Rom. 11:33).

A FITTING MEMORIAL

By Paul R. Bauman, Vice President

Anyone who was acquainted with Rev. Joseph Foster, one of our pioneer missionaries, knew something of his great love for the souls of men and women in the dark continent of Africa. All who were intimately acquainted with him, especially those who worked with him on the mission field, knew also that he had another love—a love for the handiwork of God which he saw all about him, particularly in the trees and plants that grew nearby. Notwithstanding the discouragements peculiar to the tropics, such as the weather, pests, and marauding animals, his garden and orchard always seemed to flourish just a bit better than others, and everything was planted and maintained with the neatness that characterized this man. As a result, many of the fruit trees which he planted are today bestowing their blessings upon those who followed him.

Brother Foster is now with the Lord where he has doubtless been able to see something of the real results of seed patiently sown, not only in the ground, but especially in the hearts of the thousands who heard the gospel story for the first time because he went to Africa. Many to whom he ministered the Word of life have also stepped across the threshold into the gloryland. What a joy it was to plant the seed and watch it spring forth into life and grow, but how much greater the joy of seeing the harvest itself. That joy now belongs to him.

Several months ago his beloved wife, Mrs. Rose Foster, presented the seminary with a sizeable sum of money to be used for something that would form a fitting memorial for her husband. Knowing something of the present need on the campus for trees and shrubs, and recalling also Brother Foster's great love for growing things, she chose to have the money used for this purpose.

During the past two months 74 beautiful shrubs have been planted along the front of the building (which is 180 feet in length, exclusive of the offset at the main entry). Additional shrubs will be set out as soon as weather permits in the spring. This is the first step in beautifying the seminary's campus, and we know that the Foster Memorial is pleasing to the Lord who created such things for our pleasure as well as His own. Thank you, Sister Foster.

ATTENTION, HIGH-SCHOOL OR COLLEGE GRADUATES

The second semester at Grace Theological Seminary and College begins January 22. If you completed your college or high-school work last spring and did not enroll at the beginning of the fall semester, or if you are graduating at the end of the first semester, it is not necessary to wait until September to continue your schooling. Why not consider coming to Grace immediately? If you desire a catalog and further information, address your letter to Dr. Homer A. Kent, registrar, Winona Lake, Ind.

New Troy, Mich. The New Troy Brethren Church has organized a "Crusaders Band" for the purpose of systematic visitation. This group is formed into 11 teams which, according to plans, will make 44 definite calls during December. Richard Jackson is pastor.

Fort Wayne, Ind. Rev. James D. Hammer, pastor of the First Brethren Church, and Rev. Carl W. Brown, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church, were granted time on radio station WOWO (50,000 watts) Dec. 6, on the program "The Pastor's Study." Time was allowed to refute charges made by the regular speaker on the program that the American Council of Christian Churches is "a very small group . . . whose only purpose is to embarrass the National Council."

Conemaugh, Pa. The community Christmas sing will be conducted in the Conemaugh Brethren Church on Sunday evening, Dec. 20. Stanley Hauser is pastor. Rev. Edward Lewis will conduct a three-day Bible conference here beginning Jan. 3.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Rev. and Mrs. Richard Grant are the proud parents of a 7-lb. boy, Charles Robert Grant, born Dec. 7.

Middlebranch, Ohio. Rev. John Neely preached here on Dec. 13. Edward Lewis is pastor. Mr. Joe Dombek, Christian artist from Winona Lake, Ind., will draw at the New Year's Eve service.

Los Angeles, Calif. A Business Women's Missionary Fellowship has been organized in the First Brethren Church. Glenn O'Neal is pastor.

Fort Wayne, Ind. The Indiana District Sisterhood of Mary and Martha has taken as a project the securing of a bell for the mission in Cordillera, N. Mex., according to Mrs. Geraldine Snyder, district patroness.

Rome, Italy. Vatican Press Service has disclosed that the Catholic population in the State of Israel has dwindled from 40,000 to 8,000, and that most of the Catholics there are Arabs.

Elkhart, Ind. Dr. Herman A. Hoyt conducted a week of meetings in the Elkhart Grace Brethren Church Dec. 6-13. Lowell Hoyt is pastor.

Meyersdale, Pa. Two young men who are members of the Meyersdale Brethren Church and also students at Grace College, Winona Lake, Ind., had charge of the evening services on Sunday, Nov. 29.

South Gate, Calif. The Tithers Club is a new organization in the First Brethren Church. Alfred Dodds is pastor.

Philadelphia, Pa. Dr. Bella V. Dodds, a former Communist leader, testifying before the House Un-American Activities Committee, asserted that to her knowledge there were Communists among Philadelphia schoolteachers when she was an active member of the Communist party.

New York, N. Y. Dr. J. Palmer Muntz, director of the Winona Lake Bible Conference, and pastor of the Cazenovia Baptist Church here, was challenged several weeks ago by a New York supreme court justice to prove Communist charges against the three nationally known churchmen, Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, Dr. E. Stanley Jones, and Dr. Claude C. Williams. Dr. Muntz obliged the supreme court justice, George T. Vandermuelen, and documented material was provided, but Justice Vandermuelen refused to attend the service to hear the evidence. The justice also withdrew his membership in the Cazenovia Baptist Church. (Editor: I John 2:19.)

Colombia, South America. Missionaries in Colombia, South America, have been ordered by the government to leave the country. The official order was dated Oct. 19, 1953. The State Department of the United States has received an avalanche of protests.

Chicago, Ill. The Evangelical Press Association and the Christian Writers Conference and Workshop will convene here January 26-30. Speakers include Mr. Kenneth Butler, of Northwestern University; Mrs. Helen Sigrid, former Communist writer; and Mrs. Charles L. Ramsey, well-known religious cartoonist.

Long Beach, Calif. Miss Johanna Nielsen, retired missionary from Argentina, was given a housewarming by the WMC of the Second Brethren Church. George Peek is pastor.

Los Angeles, Calif. The ministers and their wives of the California District Conference of Brethren Churches assembled at the First Brethren Church Dec. 14 for a time of fellowship. Glenn O'Neal is pastor.

Wheaton, Ill. Youth for Christ International has announced that the 10th annual convention will be conducted at Winona Lake, Ind., July 4-18, 1954. Major speakers will be Bob Cook, Billy Graham, and Torrey Johnson.

Seattle, Wash. Religious services were conducted on a plane Dec. 6, with Wing Chaplain (Maj.) W. H. Schaffer, pastor of the First Brethren Church of Spokane, Wash., in charge. Nine Civil Air Patrol members were being flown back to Spokane when the plane was grounded waiting for clearance to fly. While the pilot waited for clearance orders, Rev. Schaffer conducted a preaching service—until the noise of the four motors drowned out his voice. (Editor: Now the entire brotherhood knows one time when Brother Schaffer had to admit defeat in speaking louder, but please note it took four airplane motors to do it.) When the service was over, a member of the group passed the hat for an offering.

Los Angeles, Calif. Thieves entered the Second Brethren Church and stole over $600 of their home-mission offering. Henry Rempel is pastor.

Toledo, Ohio (RNS). Dr. E. J. McCormick, president of the American Medical Association, speaking at the fourth annual Campus Conference on Religion, held at the University of Toledo, declared that most medical schools fail to place proper emphasis on religious training. "No one without sound moral principles has any place in medicine. . . . Physicians must be concerned not only with the body but also with the soul," he declared.

BROKEN VOWS

By George M. Richardson

George Richardson

The most grievous incidents of life are many times precipitated by a common cause—the broken vow. This was true in those days when the Lord Jesus walked among men as it is today. The calendars of our civil and criminal courts are crowded with cases which are the direct results of promises made and never kept. Divorces are granted at an ever-increasing and alarming rate because of broken marriage vows. Tragedy stalks the pages of our newspapers. Story after story unfolds before a background of human error—a betrayed confidence, a repudiated contract, a violated treaty, or some other failure in human relationships. So many seem all too eager to break a priceless human friendship for paltry human gain. Too many have forgotten that faithfulness is a wellspring in the wilderness of our pilgrimage.

One of the most heartrending incidents in sacred history is the story of a broken vow. Peter, impulsive in action and word, spoke so vehemently when he said, "If I should die with thee, I will not deny thee in any wise." Peter really meant every word he spoke, as did the other disciples when they reaffirmed his stand. The Scripture bears its own record, "Likewise also said they all" (Mark 14:31). How these avowals of loyalty and love lift us high up to the mountain top of joy. Our joy is only for a moment as the record almost immediately plunges us into the abyss of sorrow when just a few verses later we read, "And they all forsook him, and fled" (Mark 14:50).

Vows made in haste were soon broken. Jesus was left to stand alone in the midst of his enemies. Only Peter followed Him as they led Him away to appear before the high priest, but he followed his Master and Lord afar off. It wasn't His enemies and their false accusations that brought great heartache to the Lord Jesus that day. It wasn't the threats and abuse of those that hated Him. It wasn't the thought of the suffering and agony of the cross just ahead. It was the heartache of loneliness. He stood alone in the midst of the cold yet searing ashes of the empty broken vows of friendship and love. No wonder He was called a "man of sorrows." There is no sorrow deeper than the sorrow of a broken love-covenant.

Pastor, Christian leader, deserted wife or husband, you know what I mean, for you have walked the way of loneliness with Him. Never was the heart agony of the Lord Jesus brought clearer to my own mind than when I once stood in the presence of my accusers and about me, "following afar off," were those who had made their avowals of love and loyalty and yet broke those vows by keeping their silence. The waters of sorrow are never so deep as when you stand in them alone.

God looks upon the vows that men make as sacred things. A vow should never be made hastily or unadvisedly, but soberly and in the fear of God. A broken vow is a broken word. A broken word is a broken character. A broken thing regardless of how well restored, is never as beautiful nor as trustworthy as before the break. There always remains the unsightly rivet, the line, the weakness. Its former beauty and value are gone. No wonder the Holy Spirit speaks so forcibly when He warns us to watch our step and guard our lips lest failure to do so would result in sin.

"Keep thy foot when thou goest to the house of God, and be more ready to hear, than to give the sacrifice of fools: for they consider not that they do evil. Be not rash with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be hasty to utter any thing before God: for God is in heaven, and thou upon the earth: therefore let thy words be few. For a dream cometh through the multitude of business; and a fool's voice is known by multitude of words. When thou vowest a vow unto God, defer not to pay it; for he hath no pleasure in fools; pay that which thou hast vowed. Better is it that thou shouldest not vow, than that thou shouldest not pay. Suffer not thy mouth to cause thy flesh to sin; neither say thou before the angel, that it was an error; wherefore should God be angry at thy voice, and destroy the work of thine hands? For in the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers vanities: but fear thou God" (Eccl. 5:1-7).

As Christians, our promises to our fellow men and our personal resolutions made before our fellow men should be as binding as our promises to God. This is the season of vows and resolutions. How much better to be slow in vowing than to be as equally slow in keeping it. Remembering that we have a testimony to maintain before God and man, would it not be better to think upon our way than to be free and easy with our words and doubtful in our works? Someone has truthfully said that "the tongue so far controls the whole body that when it is tamed, he may be considered to have well nigh attained perfection."

HAGERSTOWN CHURCH HAS VISION

TEAM TWO IN IOWA

Rev. Russell Weber

The Grace Brethren Church of Hagerstown, Md., has a real vision for Christ. Unselfish is not the word! Here is the story.

Several months ago Rev. Sam Horney wrote to Rev. R. Paul Miller, evangelist of Crusade Team No. 1, desiring to know if his team could conduct a tent meeting at Taos, N. Mex. Brother Horney wrote, "We would have persecution from the priests, for they would have rocks thrown at us, but I am sure we would have a harvest of souls. We couldn't finance it all, but we surely need it."

While Crusade Team No. 1 was engaged in a recent campaign in Hagerstown, Rev. Weber took this matter of Taos to his people, and they responded as only real believers would. They opened their hearts, and also their pocketbooks, and raised an offering to cover the expenses of a tent campaign in Taos, N. Mex. Brethren, this is an answer to the prayers of the Taos congregation, and also an evidence of a passion for souls in Hagerstown, Md. May God bless Rev. Weber and his fine congregation for this missionary vision. To show his support of this work, Rev. Weber's three daughters, Nancy, Janice, and Janet, plan to provide music for the Taos meeting and assist in the personal work program. PRAISE THE LORD!

LEAMERSVILLE, PA., MEETING

Seventy-seven public decisions were witnessed in the meeting conducted by Team No. 2, under the ministry of Evangelist Lepp. Of this number, 16 were first-time confessions. Attendance averaged 211 for the meeting, and $135 was given to assist in some meeting on a smaller field.

Rev. Charles Bergerson

Rev. Walter Lepp

Mr. Frank Coffin

Leon (Nov. 1-15). Rev. Marion Gates has written that "Leon church has experienced a revival the like of which has not been seen for at least 15 years." There were 110 decisions, of which 20 were first-time confessions. Evangelist Lepp has declared that "never have we seen God working in a more definite way," and this in spite of the fact that it was a difficult meeting.

Garwin (Nov. 17-29). Rev. R. Paul Miller, Jr., writes, "We have just closed a 12-day meeting with Crusade Team 2. There were 12 public decisions, all for restoration. . . ."

We believe that many have become keenly aware of their spiritual condition. . . . We thank God for sending the team to our church." Evangelist Lepp writes that the true evidences of revival were not present in the meeting.

North English (Dec. 1-13). From the very opening of the meeting, the services were well attended. Revival fires were manifest on the first day of the meetings when there were six first-time confessions and five restorations. What a blessing, writes Evangelist Lepp, "to be in a church where the Spirit of God is working."

ELDERLY COUPLE CONVERTED

In the recent meeting of Crusade Team No. 1 in Berrien Springs, Mich., an elderly couple, Mr. and Mrs. Williams (86 and 83 years old, respectively) were brought to the Lord under the testimony of Mr. William Weaver, 94 years of age. In the picture below are (l. to r.) Max Williams, song leader; Mr. William Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, and Evangelist R. Paul Miller.

NEW MEMBER JOINS TEAM ONE

Mr. Jesse Gingrich (above) member of the Melrose Gardens Brethren Church, Harrisburg, Pa., will join Team No. 1 January 3 in York, Pa.

Brother Gingrich is the son of Rev. U. L. Gingrich, and graduated from the Bible Institute of Pennsylvania (1948), and then completed his college work at Northwestern Schools in Minneapolis (1952), and spent a year in Grace Theological Seminary. Brother Gingrich is an accomplished musician, and will be pianist for the team.

The "biggest religious revival in 50 years" is under way in Australia, according to an article by the well-known journalist, J. Blyth, in the Brisbane Courier-Mail. The basic reason for this, Mr. Blyth said, is that Australians "are worried about their own lives and the progress of world events."
